The Progressive Thinker is the great Educator of the Present Age... Induce your neighbor to subscribe for it.

SPIRITUALISM—Progress, the Universal Law of Nature: Thought, the Solvent of Her Problems.—SPIRITUALISM

CHICAGO, ILL., MAY 16, 1903.

VOL. 28.

SAD FACTS STATED.

Crass Ignorance of Some Mediums and

In an article on "Mediumship," published April 25, Mr. D. W. Hull said some very plain things, with nearly all of which the writer is in accord. But nothing in this article was more worthy of emphasis than a statement contained in the last paragraph to the efeet that much of the odium now rest-ag upon Spiritualism is one of the res of placing half-fledged, unedu mediums before the public. Probably no observant person would question that statement. And the evil

In one of the most beautiful cities of the world, reputed to be a center of literary and spiritual culture, of educated, refined and scientific minds, there exists at this day a Spiritualist society boasting a name that is suggestive of all these things. It maintains a public meeting which is advertised in the city press each week. A stranger would naturally expect to hear from such a platform refined, educated speakers capable of interesting, instructing and entertaining an audience by presenting lucid expositions of the spiritual philos-Nothing could be further from the reality. The lecturer who has re-cently held forth on that platform never mastered his native tongue nor learned to speak it logically. This is over-looked by some, because he professes to lecture under "spirit control." On rising to speak he closes his eyes, there is a momentary twitching of the facial muscles, a short shiver of the body and straightway his admirers imagine all he says to be the quintessence of heavenly wisdom. They are unable to discern the difference between a self-hypnotized egotist talking nonsense and an illuminated brain scintillating with spiritual To call his rambling, ungrammatical, illogical, contradictory, mis-taken and disconnected utterances lectures would be to crown them with unmerited dignity. The discourse usually begins nowhere and with a "hop-skipand-jump" encompasses a bewildering world of nothingness!

What sort of an impression must such an address leave on the plastic mentality of a refined and educated person drawn to that meeting by the misleading name of the society? Of course, the innocent stranger never returns.

Imagine such an address followed by one or more half-developed mediumscoarse of feature and unrefined in anpearance who also continually misuse the English language, going among the audience and attempting to give tests. merly. The reason is clear. While the When their efforts are directed to new and consequent strange movement strangers they result in many cases in provoking only laughter and derision, attracted audiences. The novelty wore In the presence of such a spectacle, is strange that Spiritualism is treater with scorn by many who regard its exponents as either frauds or ignoramuses?

In another beautiful city—said by some to be the second in beauty and natural attractions in the United States tended a "lecture" delivered from the platform of a chartered society in which reference was made to "times when angels talked to men"-angels never incarnated in the human formand it was solemnly averred that "some of them had four wings, some had six. and some of them eight!" "Just think," remarked my friend, "we mortals are not to have even one little pair of

And this in the name of Spiritualism! If Spiritualism were not founded on fact, it must long since have been strangled to death by its professed If the conditions herein indicated are at all widely prevalent, how can they be changed and a better order inaugurated and maintained?

The half-developed medium takes to the platform because it welcomes him and his crudities, and he wants, above all things, to gain publicity, and if possi ble to attract pupils or patrons. He is ignorant of his unfitness for the work and incapable of realing the disintegrat ing and demoralizing influences often thus generated. Having been caioled by some ignorant or mischievous spirit through another medium, into the fond belief that a "great work" is before him and that he is chosen to be one of the brilliant lights of a new dispensationa modern Moses who shall lead the peo ple out of bondage to material conditions!-he mounts the platform and displays his ignorance with all the egotistical confidence of an old-time religious exhorter. Some societies exist merely as feeders of private pay seances. Our modern Medusa-a magnetic charmer-sits in the shadows and manipulates men She is not seeking to strengthen the cause of Spiritualism, but to weave her spell over the minds of the ignorant, the unsuspecting and the credulous stranger so that he shall bend to her blandishments. But, it may be hoped, she is the exception, not the rule. Back of crudely organized societies may sometimes be found one who is really their direct beneficiary. He or she may be a good psychic but a poor Spiritual ist, if one may be so called who is indifferent to the welfare of others. "familar spirits" of all such mediums are neither spiritually-minded nor wise, If they were, they might be obliged to seek other mediums.

So far as societies may be able to corevils mentioned, the writer's suggestions may be summed up in two sentences: Select level-headed officers persons who cannot be "run" by any medium, who have minds of their own. know how to use them, and are not afraid of shadows. If they have not sufficient common sense and energy to see that only qualified persons appear on their platforms, they might profit-ably go and sit at the feet of Moses! WALTER P. WILLIAMS.

Washington, D. C.

In law nothing is certain but the expense.—S. Butler. Virtue itself offends when coupled with forbidding manners.—Bishop Mid-

RACING.

The Positive and Negative in Human Expression.

It has always been so. Growth demanded it. It was the perfect expression of the dual principle in nature, imperfectly expressed in the savage man. A completed civilization will give man an even, sustaining balance. With the well rounded character a strong, whole-some zest manifests. The absence of this active principle, and evolution would not be.

The critical, scientific mind, and the smooth flowing ideal poetic mind are harmoniously adapted; the two parts of the one principle work in unison. The perfect positive and negative principles n nature represent the imperfect positive and negative temperaments

Man's perfect expression is in his future. He has made great growth. He has the pleasure of more delightful growth in store. His race is not fin-

The Quaker religion failed from onesidedness. It was all negative and no positive. It waited for everything; and is waiting still. Christianity, with a fabulous foundation, yet embraced a positive and negative condition. It was positive to man, and negative to its ideal God. Will Spiritualism do better? Yes. Its platform is sound, and a just balance of the positive and negative forces inhere in it. It is the perfect expression of naturalness all the way up. t involves no guesswork about the future life.

The present Spiritualism differs from all past Spiritualism in that it is to be an educated Spiritualism. No past age had sufficient development to sense this need. Here and there a single individ-ual would be greatly unfolded, for his time, but the mass was not.

The Quaker religion opposed educa-tion, and reaped the inevitable. The Christian religion was shrewder, and got proportionate results. Human evolution has now passed to a stage where only a universal education can have eternal endurance.

There have been military aristocracies; intellectual aristocracies, position aristocracies. Severally they have The reason was, too narrow a

An educational aristocracy, that extends its field over entire communities, and which is the true one, is now fairly on its feet. It does not yet race, but it no longer creeps.

Complaint is made that the number of Spiritualist meetings is less than forwas novel, any sort of public expression off. A demand was made for the new, dress. He must be trained to better logic and sweeter melody. A lull folowed. It did not have to wait for long. The general intelligence was equal to the situation. Spiritualist meetings will soon dot the land again an hundred to every one heretofore.

The ablest scholars are becoming the salvation of Socialism. The uneducated were sufficient unto its start. They were unequal to its finish. Science is controlled, directed and sustained by the keenest of education. Science deals with nature exclusively. The little child has no difficulty with Christianity. Indeed the less knowledge the more success. Spiritualism is naturalism. Its scope is not only two worlds, but innumerable worlds.

Man's unpleasant racing will decrease with the increase of his continued growth. Concord, harmony, mellowness and melody will be the ripe fruitage of the perfect understanding etween his grandest temperaments, the positive and negative. E. W. BALDWIN.

Madison, Wis.

THE YET-TO-BE.

I have stood by the bed of death; Heard the last sigh of the failing breath When weak hands groped for the waiting hands, Leading them into the unknown lands: When the light that shone from the dy-

Was light from the glory of Paradise. have heard the cry of a triumph gained Of a heaven given, a joy attained.

And my spirit was lifted high to see The radiant shores of the Yet-to-be. A glory beyond all tongues have sung From the open gates of that land out-

And a peace that passes all peace of earth Crowning the hour of the spirit birth.

And the star bright faces, tier on tier Massed in the light and lingering near Is this the terror which waits on death And darkens life with its under-breath? This? O soul, be thy wings unfurled To the uttermost ends of the woeful world. And carry the message near and far, Of things that seem and of things that This to the hearts bowed down in gloom; Mourner, up from the empty tomb, Look with the eyes of faith and see The deathless life of the Yet-to-be.

Lean your soul on the silence dim— Angel, cherub and cherubim Circle near, and the mourned as dead Stand in the living light instead. Dream you, then, that a hand is lost. A love-bond broken, a river crossed?

Ever some loved one whispereth Close to your side, "There is no death." Near, not far are the angel bands, Yearning faces and outstretched hands, Tear the vell from your eyes and see The mighty hosts of the Yet-to-be. Hear their hymn to the wide world cast: "Io triumphe, for death is past!" NORCISSUS AGAPA.

Through Beatrice St. George.

His face was of the doubtful kind that wins the eye and not the mind.—Scott.

Elizabeth Cady Stanton's Message

To My Co-Workers:-Oh, how different I see things! My greatest mistake lay in keeping back a part of the truth that I saw lest I lose my influence. The sex question is the question of questions. The ballot is of but little account when compared with an understanding of the fountain of life within our own bodies. This is the power that the race must wield intelligently

THE SEX QUESTION.

it can triumph over death, and all that leads to death, all sin and suffering. ELIZABETH CADY STANTON.

The Unexpected. To the Editor:—It is said that the unexpected happens. It is certainly true n my case, for, of all things even hoped for. I never once thought of such a thing as Elizabeth Cady Stanton coming to me. We have an unassuming intelligent woman here who is clairaudient, and sometimes clairvoyant, who has no desire to nose as a medium. though she has been one from her child There is a little spirit girl who has been with her about five years, who calls herself Rose Pink, and an other, a much older spirit who has been with her from childhood, who is called Songbird. She sometimes sees but often hears them. It was who first told me of Mrs. Stanton, and Songbird has since confirmed it. Sev eral times when I have been at the lady's house Rose Pink has told of Mrs. Stanton's presence, but not until re-cently did I feel her myself. This lady is of Mrs. Stanton's form, and once she came to me looking so much like Mrs. Stanton as one person can look like an-

Yesterday (April 19), while preparing my morning meal, Mrs. Stanton came to me. I knew it was her, but did not yield to her influence for some three hours. I knew she wanted to write something, but feared my own mind would be mixed with what was written. Finally I sat down and took my pen and so controlled I could hardly handle myself, I wrote the message which I en-ceived an important and unexpected communication, and that I wished to know if it was from the one it claimed to be. I did not tell them who or what but got full confirmation that it was from Mrs. Stanton and that she wished it published in The Progressive Think er, and in other papers if I saw best, with the added statement that she would stay and work with me. And, now, my friend, if you are kind sh this evalenation also LOIS WAISBROOKER.

The Editor-at-Large.

Mr. Hudson Tuttle, of Berlin Heights Mr. Hudson Tuttle, of Berling Heights, Ohio, to be "Editor-at-large," and to combat the numerous misrepresenta tions in regard to Spiritualism and its great truths (which the intelligence of the last half century has given to the denizens of earth), was most timely and a move in the right direction. I am in receipt of a leaflet by Hudson Tuttle, is sued by the N. S. A. for free distribution, which is devoted to a very import ant subject, "The Spiritualism of the Bible.

While I do not attach immense im portance to what the Bible does or does not disclose, as evidences of a future ife, yet I must say that intelligent Chris tians who pin their "faith" to that "holy book," owe a debt of gratitude to Hud son Tuttle and Moses and Mattie Hull, for their indefatigable industry in 'searching the scriptures" for numerous texts that prove incontestably the truth of the philosophy of Spiritualism as it is voiced by its numerous able advocates to-day. The Christian clergy of the 19th century should hide their heads in shame and cover themselves 'in sackcloth and ashes," when they en-counter a Spiritualist who possesses mowledge of the future state independent of the sacred writings so-called.

There probably has been no time in the last fifty-five years when so much truthful literature in regard to the future state has been given to the world and almost "without money and without price," as there is to-day. For its almost free dissemination, we ought to thank also J. R. Francis, the fearless editor of The Progressive Thinker, of the "wicked" Christian city of Chicago. In the language of that "holy book." "Render unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's!" As I may not often thrust myself ipon the public in the future, I take this occasion to thank many friends for and words often expressed in private letters and the public prints, religious and political, and to assure them of my distinguished consideration and regard and the assurance of meetings them in future state of existence.

· C. H. MATHEWS. New Philadelphia, Oho. P. S.-I may add in this connection hat the publication of so much free literature by the N. S. A. is attended by considerable expense, and that contri butions from those who order this print ed matter will be acceptable.

In such a world as ours the idle man s not so much a biped as a bivalve. Horace Mann.

The smiles of infants are said to be the first fruits of human reason.—H. N. Hudson. Slander is the revenge of a coward and dissimilation his defense. John The innumerable star shining in or der, like a living hymnighten in light.

Who plays for more than he can lose with pleasure stakes his heart.—Herert. -

Give up no science entirely, for science is but one.—Seneca.

THE MAN OF TO-MORROW

A Study in Spirit Return, by Charles Dawbarn.

CHAPTER THIRD. Spiritualist shakes his head, and says neither retina nor optic nerve. We have exactly the same have made him wise, so that he earth life. But to be seen the appear-KNOWS that the "human form divine" ance must first be reduced to our vibranatural fact that form is always the product of conditions. If conditions change, either form will change, or, like early prehistoric forms, it will cease to exist. We are now face to face with a fact that will startle the student of form. We notice that man's form of to-day, that is before death, is the result of conditions acting upon a myrad other forms, which, when all bleading and acting together, constitute what is called "the human form divine." Therefore if that form is to survive death as form, every form within that form will have to do the same. This is a logical statement of a natural fact. So my brother and sister humans, when you are insisting upon your own immortality as yours by divine flat, you equally insisting upon the immortality of myriads of other forms, which, blend ed together, constitute man the mortal at least so far as his form is concerned

With all due respect to the theolo gian, salvation has to include salvation of the microbe as much as the man. In fact, the man as we know him; could not be saved if the microbe be left behind, for his form is built up of microbes and atoms that are each entities. Leave them behind and Homo disappears. Ego may remain, and Spirit return proves that he does remain, but our query is as to his shape, compelled as it will be by his new surroundings. It is therefore startling to discover that he could not retain his old shape—his old form divine-unless myrlads of migood to be true, I went to Songbird's five senses of to-day are founded upon atoms and important and atoms and microbes. He is just a huge conglomeration of other molecular forms, which must all pass through death unchanged, if man is to remain man "over there." As a matter of fact we know that a tremendous change has taken place, for the old physical form, with its mortal senses of sight, hearing, smell, and touch has been left behind. That just the same form "over there" he The sensitive in earth form sees without optic nerve and eyeball. He hears without any ear drum, which ear drum is most emphatically shaped and limited by the necessities of earth life. Odors impress themselves on this brain that have no inlet through nasal organ. In other words, the mortal organ is only for mortal service, and not needed for the higher or inner life. So when the student has imagined himself outside earth life, as we suggested, he must also realize by his imagination that he will not be needing the organs through which his five senses of earth life have done their work. If he finds himself with new senses, it will be because he has new organs with new shapes Even if at first he carry with film some of the old organs and senses they would soon disappear by the law of use, which holds to form only that which is needed. When unused the form disappears. So our very first step is startling, for it implies a totally new "form divine," as the old organs will not be needed, at least in the old shapes, which were only Spirit return offers no help to our esearch, for, of course. Ego, when he comes back, can only appeal to our mortal senses and experiences. The other day a returning spirit was described for identification as having very red hair, pock-marked face, and a nose pointing to the north star. It was declared to be magnificent test, but pock-marked angels with turn-up noses and red hair are unsupposable. Yet change that into an imagined perfection of spirit form and the lady in question has lost her identity. Remember those special features by which that lady was known were all left behind in the casket, and their microbes and atoms found occupation elsewhere.

Death is evidently one of Nature's ritical points, at which she forsakes her old past, and plunges headlong into new future. We all know that at a certain point in vibratory temperature solid ice becomes liquid water. Again further on the water vanished, and steam appears. In its turn steam merges at a critical point into gaseous vapor, beyond which the mortal cannot follow such evidences of indestructibil-

ity. Each critical figure marked a change of form, which involved the breaking up of old molecular combinaions and the aggregations of others to take their places. If then death be recognized as one of Nature's critical points it will and must laffect every form that has passed it be it microbe mammoth or man. The pld form was the product of conditions which we crudely call "the survival of the fittest," and the new form, forn amidst to-tally different conditions, cannot repeat the old shape.

We cannot segregate nian from all other life, and claim any different law as governing his formal. He is just an animal all through and through. bone, muscle, nerve and organ is shaped to a previous pattern, in some older form, afterwards improved by time and experience into a human organism. where intelligence becomes more pow-erful than matter. He mas, at last, evolved intelligence to a point where impatient of the present form limitation, it is reaching out to greater sensiforms, though dogs, 201888 and birds out envy. Rochefoucauld.

have repeatedly manifested clairvoyance, After death, what next? The old and clairvoyance is a sight that needs

We have exactly the same proof of the problem solved by spirit return of the last half century. The Eastern mystic claims that centuries of experience have made him made continues to be just as divine, after death as before. Neither seems to the writer to have taken into account the natural fact that form leading to the shape of or a truly fact that form leading to the shape of or a truly fact that form leading to the shape of or a truly fact that form leading to the shape of or a truly fact that form leading to the shape of or a truly fact that form leading to the shape of or a truly fact that form leading to the shape of or a truly fact that form leading to the shape of or a truly fact that the shape of or a ceive that we really know no more of the shape of animal form beyond death than we do of that of man. The unalterable fact now remains and faces us that form cannot be the same beyond death, because conditions have changed. What would be the use of fang and poison sack to cobra or rattle snake if there he no poison in air or soil over there? The sweet songster we call a mosquito could not put his six magnificent surgical instruments to profitable use where malaria and yeliow fever are unknown to spirit boards of health. And the dear little microbe, without whom the modern physician would cease to affright the public, will have a changed form, unadapted to propagation of cholera or plague. All organs for slaying and torturing have to disappear, if the new life be really a step away from the brute. Man's friend, the dog, could not get mad if he wanted to "over there," for the microbe of hydrophobia will undoubtedly have become a useful member of society in his new and changed form after death. Everything from microbe to planet has an aura; that is to say, its form really now outstretches our limited senses, and the aura of our lanet is undoubtedly to-day giving foothold to these new forms in process of adaptation to new conditions. The change that comes to man himself, amidst his new surroundings, must be still more startling. We are reading almost week by week geographical and socialistic essays and tales that make our mouths water with delightful anticipation of the future awaiting us. But, alas, such novelists take a hop, skip and a jump over the death scene, and quietly remark that "all is about" the same 'over there,' only a little improved." They ignore the all important fact that death is one of nature's critical points, at which all molecular combinations must assume new shape amid new conditions. To them ice is ice, all taste through the temperature degrees of water, and beyond into steam and hymeans that unless necessities demand drogen gas. But nature laughs as she listens to the tale told in the name of enough to publish the communication, would have, for instance, no spirit return. She changes form at evically one of her important steps onword and upward.

The good, old-fashioned believer will ask us to stop for a moment, just here, and answer a question of deep import. He will tell us that spirit forms have been photographed under conditions precluding fraud, as in the published experiments of Sir William Crookes with Katie King, and her mortal medium, Florence Cook. The inquirer will lemand, and has the right to demand. how such forms could be photographed if they have no existence "over there" The genuineness of spirit photography, at least in some instances, has been attested, and accepted as proved in courts of law. That is to say, it is under natural law, and not by miracle, that in the presence of certain sensitives, peculiarly organized, faces of dead forms have appeared on photographic plates, some few of which have been recognized by those well quainted with the mortal. The student will here notice a most important fact that throws light into this shadow.

Although the sensitive has been absolutely freed from legal suspicion by strict scientific precautions, yet it has been found again and again that the spirit face and form has been an exact duplicate of some existing portrait or photograph. This has been attested many times, and the fact published in the columns of Light, the well-known English Spiritualist paper. This is absolute proof to the student that the forms and faces so pictured are flashed from existing spirit life, but mere copies of molecular arrangements by which the mortal was identified as a person in earth life. This important fact carries us logically much further, for if these spirit photographs are in these instances but replica of existing portraits, then the similar photographs, attested as genuine but not copies of any portrait by a mortal artist, must, all the same, be reproduced by memory of the mortal form, at least in cases where they have been accepted as identified.

And in the myriad of unrecognized faces and forms, apparently genuine, we have to face the same startling fact. Though so-called "spirit photographs," they are really evolved from earth life although they may be the genuine work of invisible operators. In other words spirit photographs are never portraits of the spirit, but always of the mortal. This must be so. We may not know by what process a figure is thought onto a photographic plate, any more than we know how the genuine written message is flashed onto slate or paper, but the point we are making is that all such "spirit return," being from a life entirerepresent itself dwarfed by our limitations. Therefore we are not getting facts of spirit life, but facts of mortal life, reflected as from a mirror by scientists of the invisible, of whose shapes and forms we thus remain in total ignorance. (To be continued.

San Leandro, Cal.

Sow good services; sweet remem rances will grow from them.—Mme de Stael.

Like clocks one wheel another on must drive, affairs by diligent labor tiveness than the old organs can supply. Only thrive.—Chapman.

He is now gradually adding or perfecting senses almost letent in lower with great qualities is to be born with

THE MASS-MEETING.

Reasonable, Seasonable, Sensible Questions and Facts, by Dr. T. Wilkins.

Besides the social features of these mass-meetings they are very instructive to the inquiring public; they are the best representatives of true Spiritualism, its divergent lines of thought and multifarious methods of presentation, aside from the spiritual press.

There need be but little concern for the opinions of a prejudiced press. There need be little notice taken of the ealousies among mediums and speakers for these will always be among us vhile mankind is imperfect.

Just why people who are working for he same good cause should not pull together is certainly very obscure to an ınselfish person. Just why persons having the good of he cause at heart should find fault with a co-worker for doing more than they, for being an energetic, pushing, driving leader, is not obvious to a broad-minded observer of progress and ts dauntless onward movement. Just why people who should be chartable, generous, noble, large, should ry to make themselves believe that all others should see as they see, think as hey think, and be as perfect as they, or even form new opinions upon their ideas and basis, is not plain to a gener-ous and charitable soul.

Just why those whose philosophy, or religion, if you prefer, teaches that no wo creatures are alike, can be so narrow as to claim by word or act that theirs is the only true way, the only true light, is a puzzle to the oldest. Just why people who are not above the average in intellect and profound-ness, in culture, refinement and spirituality should imagine themselves any more a divine being than are those around them, is very shadowy to the dind, loving, deep and truly wise. These are some of the thoughts that forced themselves upon us as we attended the conference meetings at the recent Spiritualistic series of convoca-Do we not know, after over fifty years' experience, that biblical Spiritualism does not appeal to an agnostic brain, and that materialistic Spiritualism cannot be forced into a mind wholly idealistic? and is it not questionable how any set rules can be formulated for the education of the rising genera tions into the numerous lines of thought comprising Spiritualism as a whole with any hope for future great results? common school education, shorn of all religious bias, will aid them in ex pressing opinions independently formed and give them boundless opportunities 'o express the highest that is within their natures.

Do we not know that one may mani-Do we not know that one may manifest an aptness in executive affairs and the pale of nature, and would not benot know one note from another or even have a liking for music, flowers, poetry or a beautiful landscape?

Do we not know that one may be a rare genius in poetry and have neither taste nor faculty for financiering and managing; in fact be dumb to parliamentary usages and to the value of money?

Do we not know that one can be me chanically pumped full of grammar, or thography, rhetoric and even "homiletics" and still not be adapted to the rostrum?

Do we not know there never yet has lived upon the earth a man or woman who escaped the criticism, the faultfinding of even those for whom they la bored?

Do we not know that even the ruling power or powers of the universe have been the recipient of the most senseless accusations from this little thing called man?

Then why need President Warne expect to escape? He is pushing ahead in the straight line of his sacred duty, as every fair-minded person can see his duty as he sees it; his duty to the cause he loves and the cause that needs his services very much at the present time, and the cause that asks him to hold fast to that which is true at the sacrifice of all else, and he shall not only succeed in that which he has undertaken to accomplish, but will succeed in placing Spiritualism before the people of this state thoroughly reno vated, purged of the element that has long threatened the extinguishment of the voice of Spiritualism.

This is neither a dream nor a laudation of a man who is undeserving. The eyes of the spiritual hosts are upon Dr. Geo. B. Warne, and the eyes of the most substantial, the broadest-minded Spirit ualists and all honest investigators are upon him. He has the approval of all who care to see Spiritualism simmer down to the solid foundation of truth, be it ever so simple.

He has the sanction of the spiritual press in his effort to elevate the cause to the ranks of the highest institutions of the world and establish for that cause just recognition everywhere, He is at the head of the State Association by right of adaptation and because the spirit world and the material world decided that he would be the right man in the right place, and until his work is done, that work which is so essential at the present time, he must be retained, and now that he has been tried and not found wanting, now he understands the work thoroughly now that he has proven his sincerity and fidelity to the cause and his im muneness to the vituperations, to the brimstone of its worst enemies, Spiritualism wants him to remain in the harness for a while longer.

We listened to all the unkind thrusts made against him at the meeting so re cently carried to a finish. We listened to his kindly, yet positive defense of his own position upon which he was criticised, and the clearness, the calm ness and the wisdom in his words and acts are too highly commendable to go without praise

We heard criticisms on the side and the critics, for their words were of so of their own smallness, and that is all the rebuke needed for any one. He may have faults and shortcom-

SPIRITUALISM.

NO. 703;

What Do Spiritualists Believe?-What Do They Know?--What is a Spiritualist?

"What do Spiritualists believe?" is a question often asked by inquirers. They believe anything they choose or prefer. Some believe things that others do not. Some believe things that are utterly false, while they also believe things that are exactly true. We cannot make a statement of Spiritualists beliefs, for they are not bound by any creed or ritual or faith, nor any such thing, but all are free to believe as they like. What do Spiritualists know? is a more important inquiry. They know that spirit existence is a fact—know it by investigation, proofs, facts, demonstration, evidence, experience. They know that life continues beyond death-that communication with the spirit world is a fact—that spirits live right on, bearing their identity, individuality, character, knowledge, memory, faculties and powers. There is nothing to interfere with a person's liberty to think, learn, know—to believe or disbelieve anything. A knowledge and recognition of spirit existence and spirit communication is what makes a person a Spiritualist-no matter how limited that knowledge may be-no matter what may be the condition, station or environment of the individual-no matter what faith. Spiritualists know what they have learned, and some know more than others; yet there is no limit to the education, development and knowledge attainable. It is the science of life here and hereafter, based upon known facts, demonstrated by them.

Death does not affect the spirit morally or mentally. The knowledge, attainment and experience of the earth life form the basis of the spirit life. Spirit manifestations are the evidence of future existence, leading upward to grander conceptions, to higher effort and achievement. Right here I want to repeat a few houghts expressed by Lyman Howe: "No one is likely to deny that facts may be used for good or evil. Is it not equally true of religion and all kinds of belief? Belief in a God has led men to the most terrible crimes, cruel persecutions and diabolical deeds that history records. Modern Spiritualism introduces itself to the world by means of facts demonstrated through mediums. It opened a progressive acquaintance with millions of human beings who have passed the death line, in endless variety and legrees of unfoldment.

'Without more or less abuse of our privileges, and perversions of spiritual teachings, and human folly attendant long to this world. Mediumship, phenomena and messages, and the great superstructure of spiritual science and moral philosophy are inseparable and indispensable; and Spiritualism is the one word that expresses all these."

Sometimes the question is asked, 'How shall I become a Spiritualist?' We answer, Investigate—go to a medi-'um and learn the facts of spirit existence and communication, and you will find the evidence in abundance. You can stop the pursuit of this knowledge at any desirable point, yet the fields of education are endless and boundless. There is a great body of spiritual literature open and available to every earnest student and seeker after knowledgeenough to occupy an ordinary lifetime.

Spiritualism is not distinctive because it mingles with the various orders, classes, grades of humanity and they accept its facts, to some extent. It comes to any and all who desire it who are ready and willing to receive itpermeates all sects and classes without distinction of sex, nativity, station, condition; yet it does not teach nor hold any of their errors. It is there to teach the truth only. It grants to all freedom, independence and the liberty to hold any belief they like, until they learn the truth which will release them from the bonds of error. It is opposed to religious divisions and distinctions. and teaches the opposite principles of unity, equality, fraternity, harmony, tolerance, liberty; aiming to finally destroy the distinctions of old organic bodies, founded on error, ignorance and superstition.

The countless divisions of humanity into organic bodies under distinctive names are the greatest impediment to human progress.

People investigate and learn the facts and principles of Spiritualism in some degree, and accept the facts as far as they understand them. That makes them Spiritualists, no matter where they stand among the various classes and masses of men. At the same time they may hold loads of errors in their minds, from which they will be finally emancipated as they progress beyond

Weak or strong, good or bad, high or low, rich or poor, intelligent or ignorant, perfect or imperfect, we are all one family or fraternity in Spiritualism, which takes all humanity into its communion and benevolent domain: therefore, we can not conceive how any honest, intelligent person can aver that it A. H. NICHOLAS. is distinctive. Summerland, Cal.

recommendation and the second ings, but cannot feel lonesome in this condition while on earth; but up from the human soul should reach strong love for the man or woman who tries to do right. Out from the mind of every truth-loving person must come the strengthening thought waves for those whose aims and motives are lofty. We know of whom we speak and speak with no thought but that for the greatest advancement of the Spiritual cause. We have no fault to find with any of the present officers of the State Associonly pitied the narrow limitations of ation, but do most profoundly deplore the conditions under which they must little weight they were made conscious strive and worry and push, when the road ought to be made clear and the streams bridged.

DR. T. WILKINS.

heaven come down to you—and I suppose that heaven will be in accord with each one's spiritual or mental develop-mento. This picture resembled a garden, with fruits and flowers, that surrounded a mansion of great beauty, sit-

Zurilda Wellington.

Her Life in Two Worlds. The Lifting of the Vell.

BY MRS. M. PASQUIER CURRAN, MEDIUM, ST. LOUIS. MO.

TO THE READER.

bring to earth's inhabitants a knowledge of life beyond the grave, that I, a mere child, have rent that veil to light the path of those who yet remain in doubt I who felt the withering blight doubt. Take her to the nursery," he is neart, in meart, of sorrow; scalding tears rolled down my cheeks, and I begged to stay with missed, as the servant had announced that our rector and his wife were awaithand. "Take her to the nursery," he is not condend to the path of those who yet remain in hand. "Take her to the nursery," he is not condend to the path of the withering blight." and the power of doubt darken my young life, feel that I have a duty to perform in giving my little life history to those who may need the redeeming power of Divine love.

Unbelief has closed the door between man and the angel world, and the ministry of the departed ones, who come to comfort those who mourn their absence. It would be well for those who have shut out this divine ray of light if they would let it penetrate the darkness that envelops their vision. Those who claim to be born of God and are the heirs of that salvation bought by Jesus Christ, should look within, and see if that infinite compassion and love to God and man, be his ideal and stand-

It is for those who are in darkness and doubt in relation to the future life that I, and others, have rent the veil of death and rolled the stone from the sepulchre to hold communion with earth. Some of these minds tasted of death ages that are passed.

It was before I had passed through the gates of death that I was born of the spirit, and held communion with my mother and others.

Intercommunion between the two worlds has ever been. Love cannot die, thought cannot perish, but lives on and on; and we, who have passed beyond the confines of mortal life, feel the throbbings of your hearts and hear the cry for a positive knowledge of life beyoud the tomb. To demonstrate this fact I, with a band of wise minds, strive to give a knowledge of that life. It is not death that has come to us. but the angel of life; and by the law of love we have come to comfort earth's

ZURILDA WELLINGTON.

"God writes His thoughts in facts, in solid orbs, In living souls; His revelation is the concrete world.'

and made free, by spiritual growth, prise me with the interest that you take from the bitter memories of earth life, in our studies of God's holy book." made bitter by one who, above all oththat warmed and guided the life he had light beamed on me; and a vast range projected into being; a soul which was of thought seemed to lay open before yearning for that parental love that was here by a divine and natural law, but was repulsed by him in every attempt to impart its love and filial trust, but can now from the plains of spiritual freedom look down with Godlike love. mortals might be redeemed through a and they served me well in a trying he is a man who has made a great name knowledge of the laws of life.

scorn in return, will now give to earth's sire to know something of my mother's children an account of my childhood life and death. So intense was this de-

for the history of my infancy. gling for physical existence my mother

fell on my father like the simoon on the way;" said this bright one. "I am your appointed or predestined by a divine desandy desert, drying and withering his mother and will control your destiny. hopes. When he had recovered in a It is I whose lullabys have lulled you in measure from this blighting storm, and your cradle bed. It was I who whisrealized that he had a new duty to per- pered, 'Hush, my dear, lie still and form in the care of a motherless infant, slumber, holy angels guard thy bed.' he resolved to rear his child to his And I have often dropped a tear upon ideal of womanly beauty.

first step was to procure for me a nurse and guide. This was no easy task, as he felt that he must be careful in the his ideal. In due time he procured the in life's grand design. I have aid him in this work.

It was necessary, he said, that my like that of other children, save the ab- have come. I have waited long for thissence of a mother's personal care; and triumphant hour, to give you strength, yet it was unlike that of those who have a mother's care in person. At what age father told me she was dead.

"What is that, papa?" I asked.
"Why, my dear child," he said, mean that God in His wisdom saw fit to said. take your mother to heaven to dwell with Him when you were very young." This strange statement startled me, and I asked, "Where is God, and heaven, papa?" "You are now too young to under-stand such things," he replied, "but was anxious that I might be ready for when you are older I will tell you all higher studies, as he said. about God, heaven and your dear mother."

My eyes filled with tears at this statement, and I said, "No, no, mamma is not dead, nor gone to God in heaven; she is with me all the time.'

"No," said my father; "Miss Agnes is history. not your mother, but your nurse and

'Oh, papa," I said, "I do know my mamma, and I do know Miss Agnes, you

"Zurilda," said my father, "you do not know what you are saying; you must not talk so. You do not understand me, my dear child."

Miss Agnes has taught you. What was your last lesson about?" asked my father. not talk so. You do not understand me, my dear child."

"Yes, papa, I do; because I feel what I say here," and I laid my hand on my breast. This seemed to surprise him and he said:

"Has Miss Agnes told you this?"
"No, papa, but mamma did," I an-I was sitting on my father's knee, and he said to me: mother if she had only lived to see you now. Oh, God! why didst thou take God." "Papa." I said, "mamma has not gone to God in heaven; she is with me all read it there."

"Zurilda," said my father, with a Holy Ghost, too; which makes three stern look, "you shall not talk so; now Gods, that we call the Trinity, and I her take me out of his presence, as I her the mission of Jesus on earth; also It was to unbar the gate of death and been naughty.

This scene filled my little heart full heart."

> said. When we had reached our apartments, my nurse said: "Oh, Zurilda, why were you naughty?"

> "I was not naughty, Miss Agnes; no, was not," I said.

"But, my dear, your papa said you ere. What did you do?" were. "I did not do anything," I said. "What did you say, then?"

time; and he said I was naughty. Is really before you in person." that naughtv?" "My dear, what do you mean by talking in that way?" said Miss Agnes. "Why, Miss Agnes, mamma is standing there by my little bed now; can't silence followed, then Mrs. Wise said: you see her?? Don't you think I know ish you, too, if you tell such stories." nurse opened a flood of childish questions in my mind, and I asked my To these remarks the rector replied:

While thus engaged in questioning their graves all the dead." my nurse, my father announced his presence by a rap on the door, and requested my nurse to instruct me in the three as witnesses to that other life." primary branches of his church's teachings. "You know," he said, "that seeds of truth, to be lasting, must be sown early; begin at once to plant the immortal principles of our religion in her hear from that other life; have our heart. She has her mother's sweet, dear ones come to us, and tell what pure nature, and will soon be interested they have seen and heard?" n the plain gospel stories. You know I have an ideal of Christian beauty to your faith—is it dead, or so cold that rear that child to, and I want the foun- you need the personal presence of dation laid now. Engage her sympathy some one to assure you that there is anin the Master blessing the young chil- other life?" dren, and such instruction as you may feel a benefit to her."

I could read a little and write a few lesson that was my daily task, and af-When the soul was lifted above that ter a few months it was a pleasure to me to be instructed in the Bible. One which pertained to its earthly condition day my teacher said: "Zurilda, you sur-

From the manger to the cross I was ers, should have rendered that life led step by step; then back to Bethle-bright, but who smothered its flame in hem and to Jerusalem, where the youth-bethe led its the most interesting suba dungeon, and sought by such means ful Jesus confounded the wise men, ject that enters my mind."

to obliterate the rays of divine light priests and teachers of his day. A new My father then said to he was a successful of the light priests and teachers of his day. freedom look down with Godlike love taught me. So plain and simple was well-being. You know Bishop Sutheron those who were blinded by ignorance her language that it took possession of land?" and cast fetters about it—then it be my mind at once. These lessons had a came my mission to lift the veil, that firm and lasting hold on my memory,

I, who poured my heart's warm love on a parent and received rebuke and fell on my ear, and awoke in me a defended as the propeller that swept him out on the hour. and riper years.

To my spirit mother I am indebted sire that one evening while I knelt in prayer, as I had been taught, I felt the pressure of a hand clasping mine, and, With the first cry of an infant strug- on looking up, a very beautiful form tined to excel his father." was bending in prayer over me.

your infant head. Dark was the shadow I being his first and only child, he that fell on my spirit's birth, mingled twined around me his affections. His with pain and anguish, with my infant's faint cry."

selection of a woman to train his child mother's tenderest love. I have sought be a boy. Now, Mr. Wise, I think that and mold its young mind in the form of your earthly home to ald you, my child, services of a lady whom he felt would for this time, and for strength to guide you in temptation's hour."

A gleam of heavenly brightness surroundings should be such that no passed before me, and seemed to enone might interfere with his plans, for velop me, folding me in like a curtain he felt that there was a power in the in- of light; and from without there came terchange of personal magnetism that a voice in tender tones: "Oh, a mothmight retard, or even blight, his high er's love is weakness, but it is divine hopes; and to guard against this, my and can triumph over death; it can be nurse and her charge were in a meas- trusted, for it is guided by a mighty ure isolated. My infancy was not un- hand. It is to teach your soul that I courage and freedom from thraldom.' There I lay in sweet repose; not a I realized a mother's care I do not thought of fear fell on me, but a joy know, but I do know that I had felt and and delight in the confidence of a mothseen her bending over me as I lay in my er's love and care. My eyes filled with cradle bed. I did not know that my tears, so great was my joy. "Zurilda," mother was not a mortal being until my said my teacher, calling to me from the other room, "are you not well, my dear?"

"Oh, yes, I am, and so happy, too," I These visits of my mother were made oftener and grew longer, and I soon learned to watch and wait for her. I had now reached my seventh year. and was being instructed in music and Church History.

"I think that Zurilda is too young in years," said my teacher to my father one evening, as he offered some suggestions in relation to my studying church

"Then let me hear her in those scripteacher. I know that you love her very tural lessons that you have been engaged in," he said. "Perhaps you will be better pleased if

"About God," I answered. "Well, what have you learned about

"That there is only one true God."
"What do you learn about Jesus

"That he was a good man, loved little nee, and he said to me:

"What a joy you would be to your dear that was good."

"It was good."

"Oh, how happy it makes me feel when my mother comes, and all those beautiful ones with her." "Stop," said my father, "He, too, was fine art and fine artists, but never such

"I do not think that, papa," I said, ments out in vivid life-likeness as she for the Bible does not say so; I did not displays in these pictures."

"Yes, Jesus Christ was God, and the ture," said Mrs. Wise. remember what I say, for I will punish want you to remember this. Miss Ag. a heavenly scene, and of master nes, you will please see that she does manship; but I will try to outline it for We then rang for my nurse and bade not forget this, and I want you to teach you, and you will have to draw on your representation for local societies was

"The good and godly man," as the people called him, came in smiling and happy to see us engaged in the study of God's holy book. Mrs. Wise, his saintly wife, gazed at me for a moment, then folded me in her arms and said: "Oh, Zurilda Wellington, from your home in heaven I see you looking at me through those eyes of liquid blue!" as she brushed the tears from her eyes.

"Why, papa said my mamma was "Wife," said the rector, "what do you gone to God in heaven, and I said she mean by this outburst of feeling? One was not; that she was with me all the would think that Mrs. Wellington was "Pardon my weakness, husband, but really that dear child is the living embodiment of her mother." "That was a heavenly glimpse, and a foretaste of the joy yet to be." No one "Zurilda," said my nurse, "you must replying to her, she continued: "I have not say such things. I will have to pun-often thought that our dear ones gone before come to us and linger around us, These commands from my father and for I have often felt their presence near nurse, "Why has God taken mamma to "If wishing the dead back would bring neaven, and where is heaven and God?" them, you, my dear, would call from

> "Well," said Mrs. Wise, "I would not wish all the dead back, but some two or "Do you lack proof of life beyond this?" said my father to Mrs. Wise, "No, indeed, I do not. But do you not

"Wife," said the rector, "where is

This conversation was interrupted by a call from my father's lawyer, and his son, Albert. Albert Howard had been lines in my childish way; that enabled my playmate on the lawn at such times me to follow my teacher in the Bible as my father and his father were in the library engaged in business. Mr. Howard did not remain long, saying that he would call on the morrow.

After a few moments my father said: "It seems very strange the turn that our conversation has taken this even-"Yes," said the rector, and Mrs. Wise

My father then said to Mr. Wise: "I have a plan in my mind that I have never spoken to you of, and this is as

"Yes," said the rector. "He and I were very dear friends and classmates; in the ranks of the ministry."
"Yes," said Mrs. Wise, "and that is ocean of popularity."

"Wife, are you not going too far?" aid the rector.

"Now," said my father, "his son Louis is with him in his travels, and he is des-

"Cause and effect, happily concealed cree," said Mrs. Wise, with an air of knowledge that caused my father to look with astonishment.

"As I have told you," said my father, "he and I were classmates and very dear friends; and before we left the university we agreed, on the subject of marriage, that both of us would marry and rear a family, if God should see fit to bless us with children; and if my This pure, sweet face bent over me first was a girl, that I should give her in and said: "I will shield thee with a marriage to his son, if his first should God has heard our desires, and answered us." "Mysterious are the ways of God," said Mrs. Wise.

"Yes," said my father, "so it seems. And I hear his son, Louis, highly spoken of, and that he is soon to be ordained a bishop. The subject uppermost in my mind is to prepare Zurilda by a thorough education in church history, that she may be a helpmate to him. teacher, Miss Agnes, is and has been instructing her in the Bible for three years. I want her to excel in all the Christian graces that adorn and dignify a woman, and I have formed an ideal that I am trying to rear her after. Our religion needs woman, and woman needs religion; for it is she that exalts. lignifies and embellishes Christianity. "Religion is goodness, is distinct from theology and is the performance of all known duties to God and man, said Mrs. Wise.

"Zurilda is bright," said my father "her intellect is of a high order, and her mind is being rapidly unfolded; her talent for music exceeds her years indeed, the higher branches seem to be at her command." "Does she draw and paint? asked the rector.

"Oh, yes," said Miss Agnes; "I wish you could have seen the picture she lrew vesterday.' What was it?" asked my father.

"My mother's spirit home, or home in heaven "What do you mean?" said my father, rising from his seat in an excited man-

"While at her lesson yesterday, I noticed that she was gazing at or out of the window, and I said to her, 'What are you looking at, Zurilda?' At that questioned her yourself," said beautiful picture on the window-pane, my teacher.

"Bring your book and let me see what paper.' 'Picture on the window-paner I said. 'Yes, Miss Agnes, on that pane,' large pane of glass. pointing to a large pane of glass 'Please tell me what it is,' I said, 'as ' cannot see it.' 'Yes, Miss Agnes, I will, and it is beautiful indeed.' I asked her to let me look at it. Her eyes filled with tears as she came to me with the paper. You must explain this to me, I said. Please do not punish me, Miss Agnes. Oh, how happy it makes me feel when ful ones with her.' I have seen some

> "Give us a description of the pic-"I cannot, it is beyond my descriptive powers," said Miss Agnes. "Oh, it was skill in the art of bringing the life ele-

rounded a mansion of great beauty, sit-uated on ashigh elevation that gradu-ally sloped to where a boundless river flowed in rippling waves. Many per-sons were in this garden; some very aged looking people, as though they had lived in the days of Jesus. Some seemed to belong to the Oriental times; this I indeed from their costume. From this I judged from their costume. From this giver there arose a misty substance that was very clear and bright, in waves that were floating out and away from the river, coming to the earth. The scene was one of great beauty and grandeur and held me spellbound, while Zurilda looked at me with mingled joy and fear. 'You will have to explain this to me, I said. 'I can only tell you what mamma said it meant, was her reply. Well, that beautiful garden, with fruits and flowers, is the habitation of earth's children after they have left earth life. Those flowers are emblems of the beauty and the unfoldment of the soul, as it throws off the earth darkness that held it in ignorance. These fruits are the rewards of a well-spent life on earth. That boundless river is the river of life, that flows from God to His children everywhere. And that mansion is to designate a home or abiding-place, eternal in the heavens; but this mansion is not reached as soon as one leaves this earth, but by the unfoldment of the soul, like the unfolding of flowers. The garden is to represent a condition of growth; and we must till the soul, so that it may be beautiful and fruitful in all that God has endowed it with. Now, Miss Agnes, I have told you what my mamma said, but not all, for she told me, oh, so much more-all about those people; how long ago they lived on the earth; and, oh, I do not know it well enough to tell you just now!"

While Miss Agnes was narrating this oleture and its significance, my father stood like a statue of marble; not a muscle in his face moved, and his eyes were fixed on the speaker. The rector gazed at him with a look of bewilder-

(To be continued.)

WISCONSIN.

The State Spiritualists Association Convention.

The fourth annual convention of the Visconsin State Spiritualist Association which was held in the city of La-Crosse, on April 21, 22 and 23, was in many respects one of the most successful conventions in the history of that association, and was brought to a close on the evening of the 23d. The talent was excellent and the work done was on the whole yery satisfying to the audiences; that assembled. Much business relative to the work of the state association was discussed and successfully carried to an issue. It is not too much to say that the outlook for Spiritualism in this state is decidedly bright and hopeful, and we who are interested in that organization feel that we are on the eve of a new awakening, and one of the right kind

The meetings were held in the beautiful new Masonic Hall, situated in the centre of the city, and fortunately for those who have passed their fiftieth milestone in life, was upon the first floor of the building, which fact gave much comfort to those who had been for years climbing to the second and third floors for their meetings. This is indicative of the fact that Spiritualists are beginning to realize the value of getting in on the ground floor.

The meetings opened with an informal reception in the parlors of Mrs. les residence, tendered to the vis iting delegates and speakers. The reception was well attended, many of the friends and investigators of the philosophy of Spiritualism being present to greet our visitors. Remarks were made by Moses Hull and Mrs. Stewart, the state president. The utterances of the speakers were well received by all present. I wish it were possible for me to give in detail all that was said at this gathering, by the visiting delegates. The musical part of the program was taken charge of by Mrs. Francis Wheeler and Mrs. Draper. The first actual business session of the convention was called to order at 10:30 a. m., Tuesday, with President Stewart in the chair. At this meeting. the necessary committees were appointed and assigned to their respective duties, after which the meeting was declared informal and remarks were made by the workers present, including the delegates, and their friends. Many excellent ideas were advanced along the line of the work of Spiritualists. and the state association in particular. Each person seemed bent upon making the association better, and threw themselves into the work with a will. The afternoon session was called to order at 2:30, and all were soon activey engaged in the work of the convention. The reports of secretary, treasurer and president were read and handed to the committees whose duty it was to act upon them. After much other work was attended to we again made the meeting informal, and those present entertained us with their pithy remarks. It is the opinion of the writer that at this session there was more than one excellent sermon presented in condensed form. Each speaker had something to say, and said it in a way that none could be misunderstood. This fact was particularly noticeable throughout the convention. At the evening session, a splendid au ience assembled, and we had a first class meeting in every respect. The speaker of the evening was our time-tried Moses Hull. The writer has heard "out Moses" a great number of times, but liever has he heard him deliver a more forceful and logical address than upon that occasion. It held the audience in rapt attention, and when the speaker closed his all too when the speaker closed his all too short sermion, the audience demon-strated their appreciation of what had been said, by vigorous and prolonged applause. On every side was heard the verdict that "Moses Hull never talked more strongly in the city of LaCrosse and he has given a number of fine ad dresses there."

Mrs. Eva McCox, of Marshalltown, Iowa, followed with tests and messages, which were well received by those to whom they were given. Many messages were received by those who came eager to hear from that loved. eager to hear from their loved ones who had passed into the great Beyond. The musical part of our program was on this occasion entirely in the hands of Mrs. Francis Wheeler, Mrs. Draper, and Miss Clara Branger. The songs were beautiful and appropriate. The kind-ness of these ladies throughout the convention was most marked as they were ever ready with their aid in bringing harmony through their fine singing. Wednesday morning found the work well on its way, and throughout the entire day, committees and delegates worked faithfully and well, and when the time for adjournment arrived much good legislation had been accomplished.

imagination and fancy that you see considered, and many interesting ideas were brought out in the discussion. Dr. Geo. B. Warne, president of the Illinois State Association being present, took part in the discussion, advancing many valuable suggestions. The result of the conference upon that point was the appointment of a committee of three instructed to confer with like commit tees of other state associations, to con sider the matter of local representation for societies, with a view to estab-lishing a legitimate basis of representation for all. At the evening session, Rev. T. Grafton Owen was the principal speaker, and gave a splendid discourse, taking as his subject, "A Ghost From the Lab-oratory," which proved to be a scien-tific and logical exposition of the laws of materialization, and made many points more clear than they had ever been to many of those interested in the subject. The remark, "I have never understood that phase so well before," was made by old-time Spiritualists who heard Brother Owen's lecture. Mrs. Eva McCoy was again the message medium of the evening, bringing words of comfort to many present. Two beautiful vocal duetts by Mrs. Wheeler and Mrs. Draper, and two exceedingly fine musical selections rendered by Messrs. Tippmann, Arenz and Wheeler, and remarks by Brother Warne of Illinois, completed a very successful evening's Thursday, the business sessions were devoted to the closing of convention work and the election of officers for the ensuing year. The election of officers resulted quite satisfactorily to those present, the following persons being again placed in the harness: Mrs. Clara L. Stewart, president; Rev. Nellie K. Baker, first vice-president; J. C. Rumo, second vice-president; Will J. Bump, second vice-president; Will J. Erwood, secretary; Dr. C. W. Sanderson, treasurer; and J. H. Houston, J. S. Cowan, Mrs. Hattie Smith and F. J. Bristol, trustees.

Another thing of importance was the voting on the camp question, which resulted in the decision in favor of camp, and the executive board was instructed to go on and hold the camp, which-will be done, the camp-meeting to be held in Waukesha, from July 17 to August 17. The committee on resolutions presented many fine resolutions which were adopted as a whole. In the afternoon, a meeting for the public was put on, with Dr. Geo. B. Warne, of Chicago, as principal speaker. Dr. Warne delivered an address that brought forth much applause from the audience, and made many friends for him, in La-Crosse. He made a manly eloquent other and fearless plea for clean Spiritualism, and no one could hear the address

Dr. F without feeling that the sentiments advanced were beneficial to the cause. At this meeting the messages were again given by Mrs. McCoy.

At the evening session, in spite of the inclement weather, a goodly number of people gathered to hear the closing discourse by Moses Hull. The subject of the evening was "The Adaptation of Spiritualism to the Needs of Man." It was handled in a masterly way, and was greatly appreciated by all. I wish could tell all the favorable things that have been said of that address, but space forbids. Suffice it to say that at any time during Mr. Hull's discourse one could almost have heard a pin drop, so close was the attention. The message work at this session was presented by Mrs. McCoy and Mrs. Francis Wheeler, both mediums giving many messages from the friends across the border. The work of both of these mediums is well known among the Spiritualists. At this session as at all of the others, Mrs. Wheeler, Mrs. Draper and Miss Clara Branger furnished the music which helped to make the meetings the success they were.

WILL J. ERWOOD,

Secretary W. S. S. A.

The following lines were suggested by an account given in a New York paper of an aged gentleman, who, on the death of his beloved wife, remained inconsolable until she appeared to him one evening at his own home, assured him of her happiness and abiding love for him. He was considered insane by friends and relatives who were ignorant of such manifestations of spirit return, and measures were taken to restrain him in the control of a large estate, but they failed and he remained firm in the belief that God's angels are sometimes permitted to visit their loved ones on the earth plane, and change their sorrow into joy unspeakable:

Many years we lived together, Minding neither wind nor weather, Wife and I. Happy were we in our union, Daily held we sweet communion,

For in heart we were united, Wife and I. Heart to heart in love united,

Wife and I, Wife and I. Smoothly as a placid river

Flowed the current of our life. And I learned how great a blessing Is a gentle, loving wife; For in heart we were united, Wife and I,

Wife and I. But one day the angels called her, And we parted, sadly parted, Wife and I.

Soul to soul in love united,

Sad my heart was then, and lonely Seemed the remnant of my life, Till one evening in the gloaming, I beheld my angel wife And again we were united.

Wife and I, Heart to heart in love united. Wife and I, Wife and I. White her raiment was and shining,

In her hand a palm she bore,-Emblem of the blessed triumph, Love achieves forevermore. For in soul we're still united, Wife and I, Heart and soul in love united.

Wife and I, Wife and I. Shirley, Mass. BELLE BUSH. TO WOMEN WHO DREAD MOTHERHOOD!

Information How They May Clive Birth to Happy Healthy Children Absolutely Without Pain-Seat Free,

No woman need any longer dread the pains of shild-birth, or remain childioss. Dr. J. H. Dye has devoted his life to relieving the sorrows of women. He has proved that all pain at childbirth may be entirely banished, and he will gladly tell you how it may be done dissolutely free of charge. Send your name and address to Dr.J.H.Dye, Box is? Buffalo, N. Y., and he will send you, postpaid, his wonderful book which tells how to give birth to Appy, healthy children, absolutely without pain; iso, how to cure sterlilty. De not delay, but Srite to-day.

PLEASE TRY NOW To Extend the Circulation of The Progressive Thinker. Now is the time to do it. We are now running a series of lectures by that remarkable English psychic, C. W. Leadbeater. They alone will be worth more than the price of subscription, saying nothing of other equally important features of the paper. Induce your Spirit ualist friends to send in a dollar for the paper.

DR. J. M. PEEBLES' Most Important Books.

REDUCED PRICES.

What is Spiritualism? Who Are These Spiritualists? and What Has Spiritualism Done for the World? By J. M. Peebles, M. D., M. A.

An excellent book to put in the hands of inquirers. Goth, 75 cents. Did Jesus Christ Exist?

Is Christ the Corner Stone of Spiritualism? What Do the Spirits Say About It? Wm. Emmette Coleman vs. Hudson Tuttle on Mahomet and Jesus To which is appended a controversy, Arthur J. Owen vs. J. M. Peebles, on the origin of the Lord's Prayer and Sermon on the Mount, and an exhaustive paper by Wm. Emmette Coleman on the Historical Origin of Christianity. Paper, 15 Three Journeys Around the World.

A large, handsomely bound octavo volume, 500 pages, finely illustrated, describing the Pacific Islands, New Zealand and Australia, India and her magic, Egypt and her pyramids, Persia, Ceylon, Palestine, etc., with the religious manners, customs, laws and habits of foreign countries. Price, $1.50. Immortality, And the employments of spirits good and evil in the spirit world. What a hundred spirits say about their dwelling-places, their locomotion, their social relations, infants, idiots, suicides, etc.

Price reduced from $1.50 to $1. Postage 12 cents. Paper 50 cents. Seers of the Ages.

This large volume of 400 pages (9th edition), treats exhaustively of the seers, sages, prophets and inspired men of the past, with records of their visions, trances and intercourse with the spirit world. This is considered a standard work, treating of God, heaven, hell, faith, repentance, prayer, baptism, judgment, demoniac spirits, etc. Price reduced from $2 to $1.25. Postage 15 c.

Spiritual Harp. A book of 300 pages, containing songs, hymns and anthems for Spiritualist societies and circles. The words are afire with progress. It contains the choicest songs and music by James G. Clark and other reformers. Reduced from $2 to

Dr. Peebles' Three Jubilee Lectures. A most elegantly bound pamphlet of 122 pages, giving Dr. Peebles' lectures delivered in Hydesville, March 31, 1898, in Rochester, and later in London at the International Congress of Spiritual-These lectures, illustrated, are racy, meaty and scholarly. Price 35

The Christ Question Settled. A symposium by Hudson Tuttle, W. E. Coleman, Rabbi Wise, Col. Ingersoll, J. S. Loveland, B. B. Hill, J. R. Buchanan and Dr. Peebles. This is a handsome volume of nearly 400 pages, and treats of Jesus, Mahomet and the gnostics. What the Talmud says about Jesus. Antiquity unveiled. Child marriage in India. Col. Ingersoll's agnosticism. What the spirits through W. J. Colville, J. J. Morse, Mrs. Longley, Mrs. Everitt, Mrs. Hagan-Jackson and other mediums say about Jesus, etc.

Price $1.25. A Critical and Crushing Review By Dr. Peebles of the Rev. Dr. Kipp's five lectures against Spiritualism. This crisp and critical reply of the Doctor. while repudiating spiritism, and all frauds connected with the subject, sustains Spiritualism, considering complement of primitive Christianity.

Price 25 cents. Fiftleth Anniversary of Modern Spirit

ualism. An elegant pamphlet containing an account of the exercises at Rochester and Hydesville, N. Y., at the celebration of the Fiftleth Anniversary of Modern Spiritualism. It contains the addresses of some of the most noted speakers present. It contains the picture of the Hydesville cottage, wreath, etc. Price, Death Defeated, or the Psychic Secret of How to Keep Young.

This book goes to the foundation of things—health, the laws of health, the foods to eat, the subject of marriage, who should marry and who should not marry, the causes of divorce, the proper time for conception, gestation, the de-termining of sex, animal flesh-eating, what Herodotus, Hesiod, Homer, Pythagoras, Shelley, Graham and others ate, the foods that produce long life and how to live "immortal" on earth, etc. This book is written in Dr. Peebles' usually clear, crisp style, and attracts the reader from the very first through its facts, logic and convincing arguments. Very handsomely bound in cloth.

Vaccination a Curse and a Menace to Personal Liberty. This finely illustrated volume of between three hundred and four hundred pages, by Dr. Peebles, treats exhaustively of inoculation, cow-pox and calflymph vaccination from Jenner's time to the present. It tells how the cowpox pus poison is obtained-how the vaccine virus, while causing many deaths, sows the seed of eczema, pimpled faces, cancers, tumors, ulcers and leprosy. It gives a history of the several years' battle against vaccina-tion in England, Parliament making it 'optional" instead of compulsory. This book should be in every school library and family. Price $1.25.

Dr. PEEBLES' Pamphlets and Books

FROM INDIA TO THE PLANET MARS.

Fascinating, Interesting and Instructive.

A MOST REMARKABLE WORK.

By Th. Flournoy, Professor of Psychology in the University of Geneva.

"This is an account of the experiments with the "Geneva Medium," Helens Smith. In her trances she lives the dual existence of an Indian princess and of an inhabitant of the planet Mars. Professor Flournoy and his fellow scientists have for more than five years experimented with these astound. years experimented with these astounding physical phenomena."

This is a work of thrilling interest. It has excited great attention in this country and in Europe. Price $1.50. For sale at this office.

THE GOSPEL OF NATURE Is a most excellent work by Dr. M. L. Sherman, assisted by Prof. W. F. Lyon. Heretofore it has been sold for $2, but the price now has been reduced to $1. It is a book that will interest and instruct. It contains $20 pages, and is full of suggestive thoughts. Dr. Sherman was a medium of rare qualities, and his work is a reflection from the celestial spheres.

OUR PREMIUMS.

BEAR IN MIND.

Remember, please, that we send many of our Premium Books by ex press. If you do not receive your order promptly by mail, inquire at the express office. If not there, notify us at once. Remember, please that it costs tex cents to get a personal check cashed at a bank in Chicago. If you send a personal check, add ten cents to the amount sent.

Remember, please, that we have only two books which we send out now for 25 cents each. We cannot allow you to select any other book or books in their

Remember, please, that you are no entitled to any of these Premium Books unless you send in with your order a year's subscription to The Progressive Thinker.

Remember, please, that the safest way to make a remittance is to secure a postal order. Read our Premium Offer, AND DO NOT WRITE TO US FOR ANY OTHER TERMS. You must send $1 for The Progressive Thinker when you order one or more premium books. Please bear this in mind. Remember, please, that mistakes and trouble may be avoided by dealing direct with this office, instead of through a news agent. Every person who sends in a yearly subscription to The Progressive Thinker can have until further notice, the two following books for 25 cents each: "The Religion of Man and Ethics of Science," by Hudson Tuttle, and "Seers of the Ages, or, Spiritualism Past and Pres-ent," by Dr. J. M. Peebles, Both exceedingly valuable, and though widely different, each one fills an exceedingly important niche in the literature of Spiritualism. If you order only one book, and that one neither of the books mentioned above, the price is 50 cents.

If you order two books, and neither of them the above mentioned, the price is 90 cents. We have TEN Premium Books only and you can select from them as follows:

Any three of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $1.10. Any four of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $1.50. Any five of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $1.80.

Any six of the ten Premium Books

Any seven of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $2.35. Any eight of the ten Premium books you may order, price $2.65. Any nine of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $2.90.

Lastly all of these TEN valuable

you may order, price $2.10.

Premium Books here announced are sent out, all postage prepaid, for $3.10. co never before equaled in this country or Europe. The following is

TEN REMARKABLE BOOKS

FOR $3.10. 1-The Encyclopedia of Death, and Life in the Spirit World, Vol. 1.
2—The Encyclopedia of Death, and Life in the Spirit World, Vol. 2. 3-The Encyclopedia of Death, and Life in the Spirit World, Vol. 3. 4-Art Magic, or Mundane, Sub-Mundane and Super-Mundane Spiritism.

5-Ghost Land, Spiritualism, Occult-6-The Next World Interviewed.

7—The Occult Life of Jesus.
8—A Wanderer in the Spirit Lands.
9—The Religion of Man and Ethics of 10-Seers of the Ages, or Spiritualism

Remitting. When you send in your subscription to The Progressive Thinker, carefully look over the books which you desire in this list, and their price, and send for remitting do not fail to englose a dollar for The Progressive Thinker. These ten books, substantially and elegantly bound, and printed in the neatest style of the printer's art, will be furnished to our subscribers for $3.10, a price which modern machinery and enterprise has rendered possible in The Progressive Thinker office only. Sending out these books, however, at the prices we do, does not reduce the price of the subscription of the paper, apparently or otherwise, a single cent, for that cannot be afforded for less than

CLUBSI CLUBSI CLUBSI CLUBSI To Clubs of ten or more we offer the following terms to each one: The Progressive Thinker one year, and ONE of the following books, $1.15: "The Religion of Man and Ethics of Science": "Seers of the Ages, or Spiritualism Past and Present"; "A Wanderer in the Spirit Lands"; "The Encyclopedia of Death. and Life in the Spirit World," Vol. 8. The one who gets up the Club will be entitled to the paper one year free, and any two of the books he may select

A REMARKABLE BOOK.

The clear and very interesting account of the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, with the inciting causes of that tragedy, will serve to excite renewed chiniquy, entitled "Fifty years in the Church of Rome." In this book he exposes in the minutest details the corruption that exists in that church, and its iniquitous methods and aims.

It is a book of absorbing interest, and should be read by every patriotic American, and by every one who would be well informed concerning the evilworks ind designs of the Romish hierarchy. It is a large volume of 832 pages. Price, $2.25.

Past and Present.

Read This Carefully Before Re-

them. They are very valuable. They are intensely interesting. They are elevating in tone and will do you good. In one dollar per year, in view of the fact that we publish such a vast amount of reading matter. In conclusion, bear in mind that the postage on these ten premium books is about ONE DOLLAR, leaving this office only $2.10, illustrating the great bargain you are getting—a bargain the like of which was never known before on this material plane.

among our list of premiums.

ILLINOIS AFTERMATI

250y 18, 1902

Notes From the President of the State Association.

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Sprague have organized at Peoria, Ill., a society of fifty members as auxiliary to the Illinois State Association. Its officers are Mrs Martha Winn, president; Mrs. Martha Tamplin, vice-president; Rodney F. Green secretary, 712 Fourth avenue; Mrs. Anna Deltman, treasurer. Trusyes, Geo. H. Hess, H. P. Schnelder, dirs. Sylvester Bradley. Mrs. Gertie Huston, musical director.

This royal band has started out to redeem Spiritualism from the very low estimation in which it is held by the press and the people of Peorla because of recent work there in our name by unknown and irresponsible tricksters, who advertised great things and reaped a financial barvest. Another fakecursed city. Newspapers of the city refused to publish notice of the Sprague meeting and insulted the lady who took it to them. One impostor took one hundred and ten dollars from a poor woman and disappeared. Another told six different women their husbands would die in April. He had dancing women on the stage while himself and woman did fake ballot work, read palms and told his sitters a lot of nonsense as spirit messages. When will Illinois Spiritualists waken to the fact that they have some one else to fight besides each other? Is the truth worth a struggle to rescue it from the Local societies in Illinois will often escape bitter humiliation by not recognizing any stranger who is not endorsed by officers of their state assoclation. Always take the time and trouble to make inquiry of the latter. Their best information and counsel is at your command.

The full official board of the state association is as follows: President, Geo. B. Warne, Chicago; vice-president, Jas. Freeman, Bloomington; secretary, Mrs. Ella Johnson Bloom, 971 South Homan ayenue, Chicago; treasurer, Norman Speight, Chicago. Trustees, Orrin Merritt, Genoa; S. H. West, LeRoy; Wilber Hammond, Rockford.

A gentleman connected with the management of Handel Hall complimented the Spiritualists for the selfcontrol they displayed in listening without reply to the frenzied prayers made for them and attack upon their cause by the Farson Holiness people at the noon hour. Their wild but vain pleadings with the Lord for the conversion of just one of these servants of the devil made the taunt of Elijah ap-plicable to the petitioners: "Either your God is musing, or is gone aside, or he is on a journey, or peradventure he sleepeth and must be awakened." is not censurable for geting out of hearing, filling his ears with cotton, or sending word, "not at home."

The receipts of the recent mass-meeting were expended as follows: Music, $23; printing, $11.75; mediums, $79; hall rent, $140; total, $253.75. Amount collected at the door and by donation, was $255.03. Balance on hand, $1.28. Never before were conference meetings so well attended nor the time so completely occupied as at the recent Chicago gathering. All sides were given a hearing, even to an element which is credited with studying death certificates filed by doctors at the city hall, presumably to verify in advance

the messages to be given later on the

Camp meeting associations, like individuals, have their fool friends. One of the latter, a transient medium in Chicago, is reported to have said that a certain man was put upon the Clinton, Iowa, camp board to look after the interests of the tricksters, while two or more of his associate members were to be depended upon to support him. Such eports will not injure the association with those who know its many good workers for decency. Some grandly onest neonle summer there.

A pronounced Spiritualist of Chicago sometime since took a member of her family to a Sunday evening meeting. A medium was answering questions sent up by the audience. Among them was asking, 'Will I have any more children?" A catchy ronly more children? the effect that it was to be hoped not, for the sake of the questioner. The aforesaid visitor understood the answer was wholly inspired by unseen intelligences. He has only recently found that the same medium answered that identical question some weeks later at a camp in Indiana, and at another in Iowa. He now wants to know if the spirit controls stereotype all questions submitted to them and have their mortal instruments copyright their answers for them? Does this incident explain the source of some of the nonsensical questions often heard in our meetings?

The Wheaton society is agitating a Sunday grove meeting very shortly to which it will invite the Spiritualists of its Chicago suburb. The last one in beautiful Glen Ellyn was very enjoyable Let all good cooks dust off the family lunch baskets, and then fill them. GEO. B. WARNE.

THE VOICES.

Down in the night I hear them: The voices unknown, unguessed, That whisper, and lisp and murmur, And will not lest me rest.

Voices that seem to question, In unknown words, of me, Of fabulous ventures and hopes and dreams Of this and the world to be. Voices of mirth and music,

As in sumptuous homes, and sounds Of mourning, as of gathering friends In country burial grounds.

Cadence of maidens' voices, Their lovers' blent with these; And of little children singing, As under orchard trees.

And often, up from the chaos Of my deepest dreams, I hear Sounds of their phantom laughter, Filling the atmosphere.

They call to me from the darkness, They cry to me from the gloom, Till I start sometimes from my pillow And peer through the haunted room.

When the face of the moon at the window Wears a pallor like my own; And seems to be listening with me

To the low, mysterious tone,

The low, mysterious clamor Of voices, that seem to be Striving in vain to whisper Of secret things to me;

Of something dread to be warned of: Of a rapture yet withheld: Or hints of the marvelous beauty Of songs unsyllabled.

But ever and ever the meaning Falters and falls and dies, 'And only the silence quavers. With the sorrow of my sighs.

And I answer: O, voices, ye may not Make me to understand, Till my own voice, mingling with you, Laughs in the Shadow-land -James Whitcomb Riley,

OGGULT MYSTERIES.

SCIENTIFIC EVIDENCES OF LIFE BEYOND THE GRAVE. The Newest Researches and Conclusions as to Man's Spiritual Existence After Death.

Sister Bertha, Superior of the House of Mercy, Bovey Tracy, Newton Abbot, a person not quite well in the next room. I heard a voice which I recogfirst thought of my sister. It said, in the brightest and most cheerful tone, "I am here with you." I answered, looking and seeing nothing, "Who are you?" The voice said, "You mustn't know yet." I heard nothing more and saw nothing, and am certain that the door was not opened nor shut. I was not in the least frightened, and felt convinced that it was Lucy's (Miss Lucy Gambier Parry's) voice. I have never doubted it from that moment. I had not heard of the 10th, rather more than twelve hours before I heard her voice. SISTER BERTHA. The narrator informs us that she has never in her life experienced any other hallucination of the senses. Mrs. Gambier Parry, of Higham Court, Gloucester, stepmother and cousin of the of the narrative, writes: Sister Bertha (her name is Bertha Foertsch) had been living for many rears as German governess to Lucy Anna Gambier Parry, and was her dear est friend. She came to us at once on hearing of Lucy's death and told me of the mysterious occurrence of the night before.

Note on Case E.

Mr. Myers considers this a good example of a message sent from beyond wise have done. the grave. The dead girl appeared to I have never her dearest friend and informed her hallucination of the senses. I once that she was happy.

A Woman Sees Her Dead Lover. Mrs. Clark, No. 8 South View, Forest Hall, Newcastle-on-Tyne, England, states:

I send you a short account describing what I experienced at the time of the apparition of my friends, who was a young gentleman much attached to myself, and who would willingly (had I loved him well enough) have made me his wife. I became engaged to be married, and did not see my friend (Mr. Akhurst), for some months, until within a week of my marriage (June, 1878), when, in the presence of my husband he wished me every happiness, and re gretted he had not been able to win me

Time passed on. I had been married about two years, and had never seen Mr. Akhurst, when one day my husband told me that he (Mr. Akhurst) was in Newcastle and was coming to supper to many cases of this character, which and was going to stay the night. When he declares are well authenticated. my husband and he were talking he said my husband had been the more fortunate of the two, but he added if any thing happened to my husband he could leave his money to whom he liked and his widow to him, and he would be quite content. I mention this to show he was still interested in me.

Three months passed and baby was born. When she was about a week old, very early one morning I was feeding her, when I felt a cold waft of air through the room and a feeling as though some one touched my shoulder; my hair seemed to bristle all over my head, and I shuddered. Raising my tion belonging to friends. I escorted eyes to the door (which faced me), I them thither, and returned to attend to trousers looking at me, when he seemed did not hear of Mr. Akhurst's death for some weeks after, when I found it corresponded with that of the apparition and though my father knew of it before he thought in my weak state of health it were better I should not be told. .He was found lying in bed with his shirt and trousers on, just as he had down. Two sisters, Donnas Anna Ignez thrown himself down after taking a sleeping draught. I myself am quite convinced that Mr Akhurst's thoughts had been so con centrated upon me before the draught proved fatal that his spirit visited me on its way to that glorious land where it shall dwell in the presence of Him who said, "Come unto Me all ye that some one were holding my head and labor and heavy laden, and I will give

To me the memory of Mr. Akhurst will always be as of a dear brother, greatly esteemed and deeply regretted EMILY CLARK.

January 6, 1885. Note on Case F.

In this case a woman saw an apparition of a man amid peculiar surroundings, which she could have known nothing about, as he died suddenly, unexpectedly and accidentally. The deceased was attached to the percipient, but she had not been thinking of him at

A Letter Sounds a Death Warning. Case G.

A letter makes a ticking noise to give warning of a death. From Mrs. Anna

About twenty years ago I was living with my mother and brothers at Islington. Near us lived a family whose name is not important to the narrative.

One of their daughters married a Mr W., who went to India. Mrs. J. W. continued living at her father's house. Her father, however, changed his residence, and as Mr. J. W.'s address in India was not known at the time Mrs. J. W. could not inform him of the change of address. The house where she was living with her father when her hus band left home, passed to a family whom I will call Brown, with whom I was acquainted, as I also was with Mrs

J. W. and her family. One evening I paid a visit to Mrs Brown and she gave me an Indian letter which had arrived for Mrs. J. W. at the house now occupied by the Browns. Mrs. Brown asked me to transmit this death was given. It greatly struck me. letter to Mrs. J. W. through my brother who frequently saw a brother of Mrs. J. W. There had thus been some little de leaving England was that he was better. Jay and perhaps slackness. In getting "The January 3, was ver the letter sent on to Mrs. J. W. I prom- intended to catch my eye. ised to give it to my brother, and took

A Governess and a Visit From Dead it home. It was a dirty-looking letter, Publi.—Case E. | addressed in an uneducated hand-writing, and of ordinary bulk. I placed it on the chimney-piece in our sittingroom and sat down alone. I expected visited by her dead pupil:

On the night of November 10, 1861 (I do not know the exact hour), I was up in my bed watching, because there was a person not quite well in the next struck me then that an old-fashioned nized at once as familiar to me, and at in her bed-room must have been watch my mother always had standing brought downstairs. I went to the chimney-piece, but there was no watch or clock there or elsewhere in the rom. The ticking, which was loud and sharp, seemed to proceed from the letter itself. Greatly surprised I removed the letter and put it on a sideboard, and then in one or two other places, but the ticking continued, proceeding undoubtedly from where the letter was each time. After an hour or so of this I could bear the her being worse; the last account had the hear could be hear to hear the half to wait my brother. When he been good, and I was expecting to hear came in I simply took him into the sitthat she was at Torquay. In the course ting-room and asked him if he heard of the next day (the 11th) mother told me that she had died on the morning of anything? He said at once, "I hear a watch or clock ticking." There was no watch or clock, as I have said, in the room. He went to where the letter was and exclaimed: "Why, the letter is ticking." We listened to it together, moved it about, and satisfied ourselves that the ticking proceeded from the letter, which, however, plainly contained nothing but a sheet of paper. The impression which the ticking made was that of an urgent call for attention. My brother took the letter to Mrs. J. W. either that night (it was very late) or next morning. Opening it she found that her hus band had died suddenly of sunstroke, and the letter was written by some servant or companion to inform her of his death. The ticking, no doubt, made my brother and myself hand on the letter

> I have never experienced any other heard a strong push at the street door at the minute (for I looked at my watch) that my father died at a distance, but, though I went to the door at once and saw no one, I cannot, of course, be sure that some passerby might not have pushed the door and got out of sight, for the house was in a street with many passers. I have also heard ticks before a death, but these may very likely have been caused by the death watch insect; which certainly was not the case with the ticks which come from the watch. The incident of the letter made a deep impression on ANNA DAVIES.

more promptly than we might other-

December 22, 1888. Note on Case G

This indicates that a departed spirit may empower some inanimate object to call attention to itself or to make itself heard, as in this case by causing the letter to tick. Professor Myers refers

Case H.

From Senhor Ulysses J. C. Cabral, Rut Escobar, No. 48 Rio de Januario. After relating his first meeting in June, 1866, with "Deolinda," a child whom he had found in great poverty and taken charge of, and her death from consumption shortly afterward, Senhor Cabral continues: Some months passed and my family (which now included my wife's other sister, Amelia) went to stay at a plantasaw Akhurst standing in his shirt and my obligations in the city. In order not to be alone I accepted the invitation of o pass through the door. In the morn- my friend, Barboza de Andrade, and ing I mentioned it to my husband. I went to live with him in S. Christovam. One month afterward a sister of Barboza's, who was ill, came into his house. She grew daily worse, and after the lause of a few months had sunk so low that we had to sit up with her at nights. One night when I had taken my turn at nursing I felt sleepy and went to lie Dias Fortes and Feliciana Dias (now deceased), took my place. I had made their acquaintance but a few days before. After stretching myself on the bed I was filled with a feeling of unbounded joy. I was happy, and could not imagine what was the cause of my happiness. I had a sensation as if placing something around it.

Astonished at my experience I called o the ladies who were watching in the next room, and Donna Feliciana, though from the place where she was seated she could not see me, answered back: I see at your bedside a spirit child clothed in white. She places on your head a crown of roses. She says her name is Deolinda, and she comes to thank you for the kindness and charity with which you behaved to her." I was amazed at such a declaration, for that very day was the anniversary of Deolinda's death, and neither I nor any other person in the house had recollect ed this, besides, I had never spoken on the subject.

The two ladies were worthy of the highest respect. As for Donna Anna Fortes, who is still alive, our friendship is now of long standing, and I render her all the homage which her virtue and goodness merit.

ULYSSES CABRAL, Director of the "Atheneu Brazileiro." March 12, 1892.

Note on Case H. This is an extraordinary case, where an apparition was seen by two persons but only felt by the one in whom it was interested. The two witnesses were Sisters of Mercy, and their testimony is of the highest value.

A Sister Learns Her Brother's Death in

Mid-Ocean.—Case I. Miss E. K. Elliott, in mid-ocean, receives news of her brother's death Extracts from diary written out in Atlantic, January 14, 1847:

"Dreamt last night I received a letter from my uncle, H. E., dated January 3, in which the news of my dear brother's "My brother had been ill in Switzerland, but the last news I received on "The 'January 3' was very black, as if l quite expected, a letter awaiting me saving my brother had died on the above numed date. E. K. ELLIOTE." Worthing.

The Dead Calls for the Dying, -Case J. Miss Pearson, No. 15 Fitzroy Square, London, sees her dead nunt; come to fetch her dying aunt:

The house, No. 19, St. James place, Green Park, had been taken on asvery long lease by my grandfather, a solicit or, in large country practice; having his offices in Essex street, Strand. There my father was born and his two sisters. Ann, and Harriet. Aunt Ann died in 1858, leaving all she possessed to Aunt Harriet, who remained in the house. They had been devotedly attached to one another. In November, 1864, I was summoned to Brighton. My Aunt Harriet was then very ill there. Mrs. Coppinger, the daughter of Mr. Thomas Pearson, my father's brother, was there, and her son, Mr. George James, by her first husband, came up and down. Eliza Quinton was nursing her. She only craved to go back to the old house where she was born, and I made arrangement with the railway company and took her home. This was the second week in December. She became worse and worse. Eliza continued to nurse her, and Mrs. Coppinger, Mrs. John Pearson, the wife of a nephew, and myself helped with the night work. Miss Harriet Pearson slept in a large three-windowed bedroom over the drawing-room. The room behind was occupied by Mrs. Coppinger and myself, though one of us was generally in the patient's room at night. On the night of December 22, 1864, Mrs. John Pearson was in the room, Mrs. Coppinger and myself in the back room; the house lighted up on the landings and staircases, our door wide open.

About 1 or 2 o'clock on the morning of December 23, both Mrs. Coppinger and myself started up in bed; we were neither of us sleeping, as we were watching every sound from the next

We saw some one pass the door, short, wrapped up in an old shawl, a wig with three curls on each side and an old black cap. Mrs. Coppinger called out, "Emma, get up; it is old Aunt Ann." I said, "So it is; then Aunt Harriet will die to-day." We jumped up, and Mrs. John Pearson came rushing out of the room and said, "That was old Aunt Ann. Where is she gone to?" said to soothe her: "Perhaps it was Eliza come down to see how her mis-Mrs. Coppinger ran up stairs and found Eliza sleeping in the servants' room. She was very awe-struck, but calm, dressed and came down. Every room was searched, no one was here, and from that day to this no explanation has ever been given of this appearance, except that it was old Aunt Ann come to call her sister, and she died at 6 p, m. that day.

April 1888. EMMA PEARSON.

Note on Case J.

This is a very valuable case, because the apparition was seen by three per-It is typical of a large class of cases where a deceased person appears when some one dear to him or her is Peculiar Instance of "Death Compact." -Case K.

A girl in England sees a vision of a man friend in New Zealand while he is unconscious and dangerously ill. This letter was written to Edmund Gurney, of the Psychical Research Society, who was compelled to withhold the names:

Years ago a friend and myself made the time-worn agreement that whichever died first would endeavor to return to visit the other. Some years after I asked this man's sister to remember me to him and say, did he remember his promise, and having received for answer, "Perfectly, I hope I shall appear to ——, and not she to me," the whole matter passed out of my mind. My friend, -2s in New Zealand, his sister, I don't know where. One night I awoke with a feeling some one was in the room. I must tell you that I always have a bright light burning on a table not far from my bed. I looked about, and presently saw something behind the little table: felt myself grow perfectly cold; was not in the least frightened, rubbed my eyes to be sure that I was quite awake, and looked at it steadfastly. Gradually a man's head and shoulders were perfectly formed, but in a sort of misty material if I may use such a word. The head and features were distinct, but the whole appearance was not substantial and plain; in fact it was like a cloud, formed as a man's head and shoulders. At first I gazed and thought, who is it, some one must be there, but who? Then the formation of the head and shoulders (which are most marked in my friend) made me exclaim to myself, "Captain W-

The appearance faded away. I got up and put the date down, and waited until news from New Zealand was possible. I made inquiries about my friend, never doubting that he was dead. The answer always came, "No news." At last this also, "we are so anxious, it is so long since we have heard. We shall again wait another mail, and write to so and so." And then came the news, a mere scrap 'Have had a severe fall off the coach; can't write; head all wrong still." That was all and pretty much the exact words, as far as I can remember. In due time we heard more. He had fallen off the coach, and was insensible for some time, and then, as he had said, his head was not clear for a while. I have never had the slightest doubt that, while insensible, his spirit came here The appearance to me was coincident with the time of his insensibility. I have never had but this one experience of an apparition. E. W. R. December 17, 1883.

Note on Case K. This is recorded among the phenomena of "death compact," many instances of which Prof. Myers has examined. It because the person who projected his fore, the fact that actual bodily death is body, but that unconsciousness or a near approach to death is sufficient to permit "the spirit to show itself disassoclated from the organism.

A Soldier Sees His Dead Brother .-Case L.

Captain G. F. Russell Colt, of Gart-sherrie, Coatbridge, Scotland, Visited by his brother after the latter's death in

I was home for my holidays, residing with my father and mother, not here, but at another old family place in Midlothian, built by an ancestor in Queen Mary of Scots' time, called the Inversely House, My bedroom was a curious old room, long and narrow, with a window at one end of the room and a door at the other. My bed was on the right of the window, looking toward the door. I had a very dear brother (my eldest brother), Oliver, lieutenant in the Seventh Royal Fusileers. He was about nineteen years old, and had at that time been some months before Sebastopol. I corresponded frequently with him, and Spiritualists. "On my return to England I found, as once when he wrote me in low spirits printed and bound. Price $1.

was to cheer up, but that if anything did happen to him he must let me know by appearing to me in my room, where we had often, as boys, sat at night to gether and indulged in a surreptitious pipe and chat. This letter (I found subsequently) he received as he was starting to receive the sacrament from a clergyman, who has since related the fact to me. Having done this, he went to the entrench ments and never returned, as in a few hours afterward the storming of the Re dan commenced. He, on the captain of his company falling, took his place, and led his men bravely on. He had just led them within the walls, though already wounded in several places, when a bullet struck him in the right temple and he fell among heaps of others, where he was found in a sort of kneel ing posture (being propped up by other dead bodies) thirty six hours after ward. His death took place, or rather he fell, though he may not have died im mediately, on the eighth of September That night I awoke suddenly and saw facing the window of my room, by my bedside, surrounded by a light sort of phosphorescent mist, as it were, my brother kneeling. I tried to speak, but could not. I buried my head in the bed clothes, not at all afraid (because we had all been brought up not to believe in ghosts or apparitions), but simply to collect my ideas, because I had not bee thinking or dreaming of him, and, inleed, had forgotten all about what I had written to him a fortnight before. I decided that it must be fancy, and the moonlight playing on a towel, or something out of place. But on looking up there he was again, looking lovingly imploringly and sadly at me. I trie again to speak, but found myself tongue-tied. I could not utter a sound. I sprang out of hed, glanced through the window and saw that there was no moon, but it was very dark and raining hard, by the sound against the panes I turned, and still saw poor Oliver. shut my eyes, walked through it and reached the door of the room. As I turned the handle before leaving the room, I looked once more back. apparition turned round his head slowy, and again looked anxiously and lov ingly at me, and I saw then for the first time a wound on the right temple with a red stream coming from it. was of a waxy, pale tint, but transparent looking, and so was the reddish mark. But it is almost impossible to describe his appearance. I only know that I never shall forget it. I left the room and went into a friend's room and lay on the sofa the rest of the night. I told him why. I told others in the house but when I told my father he ordered me not to repeat such nonsense, and espe cially not to let my mother know. On the Monday following he received a note from Sir Alexander Milne to say that the Redan was stormed, but no par ticulars. I told my friend to let me know if he saw the name among the killed and wounded before me. About a fortnight later he came into my bedroom in his mother's house in Athole Crescent, in Edinburgh, with a very grave face. I said, "I suppose it is to tell me the sad news Ivexpect;" and he said, "Yes." Both the colonel of the regiment and one or two officers who saw the body confirmed the fact that the appearance was much according to my description, and the death wound was exactly where I had seen it. But none could say he had actually died at the moment. His appearance, if must have been some hours after death as he appeared to me a few minutes after two in the morning. Months later a small prayer book and the letter I had written to him were returned to Inversek, found in the inner breast pocket of his tunic which he wore at his death I have them now.

Note on Case L. Professor Myers offers this as a case where a compact made before death favors an apparition of a ghost. Captain Colt, who saw his brother in the Crimea, written a letter to him urging him to appear in case anything happened to him, and the fact that the brother had this letter in his pocket is held to have aided the apparition. Great affection is also a factor.—Chicago American.

DON'T FORGET THE OLD FOLKS

Nay, don't forget the old folks, boysthey've not forgotten you; Though years have passed since you were home, the old hearts still are true: And not an evening passes by they haven't the desire To see your faces once again and hear your footsteps nigher. You're young and buoyant, and for you Hope beckons with her hands, And life spreads out a waveless sea that laps but tropic strands:

The world is all before your face, but let your memories turn To where fond hearts still cherish you and loving bosoms yearn.

No matter what your duties are, not what your place in life,

There's never been a time they'd not assume your load of strife: And shrunken shoulders, trembling hands, and forms racked by disease Would bravely dare the grave to bring to you the pearl of peace.

So don't forget the old folks, boys they've not forgotten you: Though years have passed since you were home the old hearts still are true: And write them now and then to bring the light into their eyes, And make the world glow once again and bluer gleam the skies. -Tennessee Farmer. Never Neglect Constipation.

It means too much misery and piling up of disease for all parts of the body Death often starts with constipation The clogging of the bowels forces pois is, indeed, cited as peculiarly significant ons through the intestines into the blood. All sorts of diseases commence phantasmal self on the mind of the that way. Most common complaints other was not dead. It reveals, there are dyspepsia, indigestion, catarrh of the stomach, liver complaint, kidney not necessary to free the spirit from the trouble, headaches, etc. The bowels must be relieved, but not with cathar tics or purgatives. They weaken and aggravate the disease. Use Vernal Saw Palmetto Berry Wine instead. It is a tonic laxative of the highest order. It builds up and adds new strength and vigor. It assists the bowels to move themselves naturally and healthfully without medicine. One small dose day will cure any case, and remove the cause of the trouble. It is not a patent nostrum. The list of ingredients goes with every package with explanation of their action. It is not simply a tempo rary relief, it is a permanent cure. Try it. A free sample bottle for the asking. Vernal Remedy Co., 166 Seneca Building, Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all leading druggists.

"Poems of Progress." By Lizzie Doten. In this volume, this peerless poet of Spiritualism may be read in her varied moods, "from grave to gay, from lively to severe." It is a book to be reasured and richly enjoyed by all who love genuine poetry, and especially by The volume is tastily

BOOK OF THE AGE FREE

Money-Making Secrets Never Before Revealed

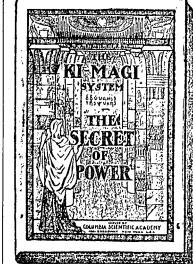

Marvelous Powers of Mind Control Hitherto Unknown

Endorsed and Recommended by Prominent Ministers of Gospel, Lawyers and Business Men

Over a quarter million of people have read this book; twenty editions have been printed. Big roller presses are now running day and night for the purpose of supplying those who accept Prof. Robertson's great free offer which oes into effect to-day.

This book describes the most marvelous, wonderful and mysterious power known to man. It reveals hidden secrets which have enabled hundreds of persons to make fortunes for themselves and others.

THIS BOOK

IS FREE

You can learn in a few days at homand exert a wonderful influence over your friends and associates entirely without the knowledge of anyone You need no subjects on which to practice. Impossibilities are unknown to those who understand the marvelous effect of mind control. After reading this work you stand amazed at the wonderful opportunities before you. It develops the will power, improves the memory, tells you how to be successful how to cure diseases of all kinds and how to eradicate all had habits and drive them from the system forever. It tells you how you may learn to read the secret natures, abilities, talents, weaknesses and vices of others at a glance You can tell the character of a man and wield a wonderful influence over him though a thousand miles away. can become magnetic, win and hold friends without number, give the most interesting entertainment ever witnessed and become a business and social leader in your community. Prof. Robertson is giving away 100,000 copies of this remarkable book He is doing it for the benefit of humanity. He is unfolding to others a knowled cret law by which men and women may change their lives from hardships and bitter disappointments to lives of happiness and financial independence. Prof. Robertson teaches men and wo men how to get on in the world, win and control people, gratify their ambitions and accomplise their desires. He makes you a man of mark, a leader of men. He does for you more than a college education can do. It costs you nothing to write him and get a free copy of his latest work. If everything is no fully explained therein, write again and Prot. Robertson will be pleased to give you full information by letter. But don't delay; write to-day. Address Prof. Robertson's secretary, Mr. L. C. Cooper. Office 159 A, 1941 Broadway

The Religion of Science. By Dr. Paul Carus. Ver thoughtful and interesting. Price, 25 cents.

AFTER HER DEATH. The Story of a Summer. By Lilian Whiting Pervaded with pure and beautiful spirituality of thought. Instructive and helpful to all who love and seek the higher and finer ways of spiritual experience. Price, $1.00.

The Religion of Spiritualism. Its Phenomena and Philosophy. By the Rev. Samuel Watson. This work was written by a modern Savior. a grand and noble man. Price, $1.00. A valuable book for the money.

Force and Matter By Ludwig Buech book. A profound work upon a profound sub-ject. Price, cloth, $1.00.

Views of Our Heavenly Home. By Andrew Jackson Davis. A highly interesting work, Price, 75 cents. Postage 5 cents. THE SUNDAY QUESTION.

Historical and critical review, with replies to an objection. By G. W. Brown, M. D. Price, 15c. Apogruphal New Testament, Being all the Gospels, Epistles, and other pleces now extant, attributed in the first four centu-ries to Jesus Christ, his apostles and their com-panions, and not included in the New Testament by its compilers. Price, cloth, $1.50.

COMMON SENSE By Thomas Paine. A Revolutionary pamphlet, addressed to the inhabitants of America in 1776, with explanatory notice by an English author. Paper, 15 cents.

POEMS OF PROGRESS. DBy Lizzie Doten. They are really valuable Price, $1.00.

Healing, Gauses and Effects. By W. P. Phelon, M. D. Deals with the fine mental and spiritual forces as applied to heal ing. Price, 50 cents. BIBLE MARVEL WORKERS,

And the wondrous power which helped or made them perform mighty works and utter inspired words, together with some Personal Traits and Characteristics of Prophets, Apostles, and Jesus, or New Readings of "The Miracles. By Allen Putnam. Price, 76 cents.

ASTRAL WORSHIP By J. H. Hill, M.D. Avaluable contribution to the current discussion of religious problems. The author by illustrations and a plansiphere (a representation of the celestial sphere upon a plane with adjustable circles), traces most of the myths which lie at the base of Christianity to their origin in sun and star worship. The astronomical facts given possess great value, the illustrations rare and curious. The book is bound in only one style—heavy boards. Price &i:

Aryan Sun Myths, the Origin of Religion. By Sarah E. Titcomb. with an introduction by Charles Morris, author of "The Aryan Race." Price, cloth, $1.00 By the Editor of the National, with Preface and Notes by Peter Eckler. Illustrated with views of the old Paine Homestead and Paine Monument, at New Rochelle; also portraits of Thomas Cilo Rickman, Joel Burlow, Mary Wolstoneeraft, Madame Roland, Condorce, Brissot, and the Inost prominent of Paine's friends in Europe and America. Cloth, 76 cents.

MAHOMET, THE ILLUSTRIOUS.

By Godfrey Higgins, Esq. This work is one of the Library of Liberal Classies. No author was better qualified to write an impartial and honest life of Mahomet than Godfrey Higgins, and this volume is intensely interesting. It should be read in conjunction with Gibbon's work. Price, 25 cents.

work. Price, 25 cents.

SPIRITUAL HARP a collection of Vo-1
Cal Music for the Choir, Congregation and Social Circles. By J. M. Peebles and J. O. Barrett; E. H. Bailey, Musical Editor. New edition. Culled from a wide field of literature with the most critical care, free from altheological bias, throbbing with the soul of inspiration, embodying the principles and virtues of the spiritual philosophy, set to the most cheerful and popular music (nearly all original) and adapted to all occasions, it is doubtless the most attractive work of the kind ever published. Its beautiful songs, duets and quartets, with plane, organ or melocton accompaniment, adapted both to public meetings and the social circles. Cloth, $1.25; post; $\xi$, e. 14 cents.

In the World Celestial. By DR. T. A. BLAND.

"It is inexpressibly delightful."-Hon. C. A. Windle.

"It lifts the reader into enchanting realms."—
Medical Gleanor.
"It is intensely interesting."—Rev. Minot J. "It is intensely interesting."—Rev. Minot J. Savage.
"Three things make this book remarkable. Its authorable, the astounding claims put forth in it, and the philosophy and revelation of a future life it contains."—B. O. Flower, in the Arena, "It will give us courage to pass through the deep shadows of death to the sun-lit clime of the World Celestial."—Rev. H. W. Thomas.

"Everybody will be charmed with it, for it is not only a great Spiritual book, but a most beautiful romance of two worlds."—Banner of Light.

It is Printed in clegant style and bound in cloth and gold. Pric $1.00.

The Mystic Thesaurus,
Or Initiation in the Theoretical and Practical screets of Astral Truth and Occult Art. By Willis F. Whitzehean, Editor Agrippa's "Natural Magic." The book treats of The Symbol of the Cross. Spiritual Gifts, Inspirational Conception, Initiative Exposition, The Astral Brotterhood, Message of the Brotherhood, The Magic Mirror, and Celestial Companionship. It is a good text book for students of the Mystic, and will be sent postpaid, in paper, for $1.00.

Memorial Oration by Col. R. d. Ingersell a warm friend of his and a great statasman, delivered before the New York Legislature, May 9, 1888. Price 4 cents.

The Devil and the Adventists

Practical Methods to Insure Success. A valuable little work, full of practical in-mental and spiritual health. Worth many times its cost. Price 10 cents.

THE WORLD BEAUTIFUL.

Series one, two and three. By Lilian Whiting Three choice volumes, each com 'te in itself in which spirituality is related to varyday lift in such a way as to make the world beautiful Price, 51.00 each.

W. H. Bach. Paper 25 cents; cloth 50 cents.

INDUCE Your Neighbor to Subscribe for The Progressive Thinker. Now is the time to extend the circulation of The Progressive Thinker. It will contain Occult and Spiritualistic news with which every one should be familiar. No other paper published on of matter so well adapted to enrich the mind. Send in a subscription now. ITS ATTAINMENT OF Womany form and features

this earth contains such a vast amount

Beauty The cultivation of personal beauty, based on Hygiene and Health Culture, by twenty physicians and specialists, and edited by Albert Turner. A valuable book for women and therefore for the whole world. Price in elegant cloth binding, $1.00. For sale at this office.

-THE-

Christs of the Past and Present By MOSES HULL,

A comparison of the Christ-work or Mediumship of Biblical Messiahs and the conditions they required, with similar manifestations in Modern Spiritualism. This is a good work to study for arguments with which to meet the very common orthodox question, "Why do you always require conditions for your spiritual manifestations?" Cloth bound, 35 cents; paper 25 cents. For sale at this office.

Were You Born Under a Lucky Star? A complete exposition of the science of Astrology, adapted from the Four Books of Ptolemy, the Astronomer on the art of Reading the Stars, with many filustrations. By A. ALPHEUS, Secretary of the Astrological Society of England and America. Handsomely bound in cloth, gilt top, with beautiful designs stamped on side and back, Price $1.00. For sale at this office.

ORIGIN OF LIFE

and How the Spirit Body Grows. By M. Faraday, Price, 10c. For sale at this office THE TEACHINGS OF JESUS Not Adapted to Modern Civilization, with the Trt 3 Character of Mary Magdalene. By Geo. W. Browtle M. D. Price, 15 cents. For sale at this office.

Out of the Depths Into the Light. By Samuel Bowles; Mrs. Carrie E. S. Twing, medium. This is a very interesting little book, and will be appreciated from start to finish by all who wish to gain spiritual information.

Price, 25 cents. Man the Microcosm. His Infinite and Divine Relations. Intuition— The Light Within. By Giles B. Stebbins, Price 10 conts.

Price, 10 cents. WOMAN: Four Centuries of Progress, A Lecture delivered at the Preethinker's International Congress, Chicago, Il., October, 1893. By Susan H. Wixon. Price, 10c.

PSYGHE is the invention of a practical medium, under spirit guidance, and is designed to develop mediumship. Many, by its use, have received long communications from spirit friends, and express great satisfaction. Price, 51, and 20 cents extra for expressage.

Discovery of a Lost Trail

BY CHARLES B. NEWGOMB, Author of "All's Right with the World." Gloth 270 pages. Mr. Newcomb made a distinct success with "All's Right with the World." which continues in the front rank of the Metaphysical books that are now so popular. The great number who have seen cheered and strengthened by him will welcome another book by this wise teacher whose words of kelp are doing so much to take the world better by making men and women better able to understand and enjoy it.

"Discovery of a Lost Trail" is a simple study of that strange and beautiful thing called life, but grand in its scholarly simplicity. It will be in demand by many who have not previously read metaphysical writings. Price $1.50. For sale at this office.

The Christ Question Settled. Jesus, Man, Medium, Martyr. A symposium by W. E. Coleman, J. S. Loveland, Hudson Tuttle, Moses Hull, J. R. Buchanan, B. B. Hill, Rabbi I. M. Wise, Col. Ingersoll—and what the spirits say about it. By J. M. PEEBLES, M. D. Whether this book sattles the question or not, it will be found eminently entertaining, and brings together a mass of evidence to establish the historical character of Jesus. A large volume. Price, cloth. $1.25.

AUTOMATIC WRITING, [So-called] with other psychic experiences. By Sara A. Underwood. With half-tone portrain and specimen nages of the writing, Hand-

Paine's Theological Works. Age of Reason, Examination of the Prophecies, etc. Illustrated edition. Post 8vo., 482 pages. Price, cloth, 61.00.

POEMS FROM THE INNER LIFE. By Lizzle Doten. These poems are truly inspirational and as staple as sugar. Price $1.00.

TERES OF SUBSCRIPTION. THE PROGRESSIVE TRIFFER Will be furnished until further notice, at the following terms, invariably in advance:

Ons year. $1.00
Sig Months. 50cts
Thirtesn Weeks. 50cts
Stock Communications Bingle Copy, RENTTANCES.

REMITTANCE.

Remit by Postorese Money Order, Registered Letter or draft ou Chicago or New York. It cests from 10 to 15 cents to get checks cashed on local banks, so don't send them unless you wish that amount deducted from the amount sent.
Address all letters to J. H. FHANCIS, No. 40
Loomis Street, Chicago, Ill.

TAKE NOTICE.

At expiration of subscription, if not re-nowed, the paper is discontinued. No bills will be sent for extra numbers. Fig. 11 you do not receive your paper promptly write to us, and any errors in address will be promptly corrected, and missing numbers supplied grading.

Whenever you desire the address of you paper changed, always give the address of the ther changed, always give the address of the ace to which it is then sent or the change can

SATURDAY, MAY 16, 1903.

TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES. The price of The Progressive Thinker per year to foreign countries, is $1.75. TAKE NOTICE.

All books advertised in the columns of The Progressive Thinker are for sale at this office. Bear this in mind.

HUDSON TUTTLE.

Editor-at-Large for the National Spiritualist Association.

Mr. Tuttle has been engaged to answer all attacks in the secular or religious press on Spiritualism. Send him clippings when an attack is made, giving date and name of paper. Address him at Berlin Heights, Ohio. ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE PUBLIC.

All money in donations or collections intended for the N. S. A. Mediums Home or Relief Fund, should be sent to this office to the secretary, if not directly paid to our authorized missionwho can show a missionary certificate of later date than October, 1902. No other is authorized to collect money for this association. Contributions, large or small, are gratefully accepted MARY T. LONGLEY,

N. S. A. Secretary. 600 Pennsylvania avenue S. E., Washington, D. C.

Packing Their Trunks for the United States.

That is what the priests and friars of the Congregation of the Holy Cross in | I will not be strung up like a dog." France are doing. They have long been a menace to the French Republic, and had become so obnoxious that even the Catholics did not object to the government ordering their suppression. The schools in which they have trained the youths in the strict law of the church, and to obey the priest first and the government a long way after, are closed. Their wealth, except personal belongings is confiscated, and they are not allowed to wear the habit of the order. Their wealth was very great, for the different establishments have engaged in manufacturing especially of cordials, pleasant beverages for ladies, of which they had the monopoly. It is to be hoped that our government will not allow of their engaging in the debauching business in establishments here.

The prospect is that several thouundesirable. They are coming with very little wealth to live on the charity of religious credulity. They are worse than drones for they instill on every convenient occasion doctrines which have for their object the subversion of the principles on which this government rests, and which unfortunately protects and shelters them in their treasonable designs.

The ignorant classes of Southern Europe are undesirable immigrants, but they are workers and are important factors in the immense construction works going forward. They are not plotting to gain control, and the only danger from their stolidity is when controlled by their superiors. The members of the Holy Cross, who are coming. are the opposite. They scorn labor. They have lived by their wits; by their influence over the credulous, and by their wits they will continue to live. Virtually every one comes as a pauper, to be supported by the people, who have been taught by these wolves, that giving to the priest is giving to God. They will come and revel on the best in the land, and their hands will not be soiled with the grime of labor.

A Badge of Shame.

Ornaments of cruelty is not an unapt designation for some of the millinery finery which adorns the headgear of many ladies who think themselves refined as well as fashionable. As is well men who would rise morally and spiritstated by a writer in the Chicago Record-Herald, too many summer hats are trimmed with "aigrettes" than which no form of feather ornament is more cruel. These dainty, graceful plumes, unlike the distorted skin of hummingbird or warbler, carry with them no suggestion of death, and many a woman on whose hat they are placed is ig- of ignorance and anger or of wisdom norant of the unspeakable wrong the taking of the feathers entails. Aigrette plumes are the wedding dress of the white heron or egret, and are worn by the female during the nesting season. The plume hunter, discovering a colony by watching the birds as they fly to and from their nests, shoots the mothers as they return with food, leaving the young to die of starvation. A Florida hunter once told the writer that with three or four assistants he had killed in one afternoon 800 egrets; another boasted that during one season his party had killed 130,000 birds. This merciless slaughter, ranging from Florida as far south as Argentina, means the extermination in America of one of its most beautiful feathered inhabitants. It is impossible to believe that if women understood the facts they would not discard an ornament, which, worn wittingly, is for them a badge of

It would almost seem that the ghosts of murdered birds, wantonly and cruelly slain, a sacrifice to gratify vanity or misdirected esthetic taste, would haunt the inconsiderate wearers of their plundered plumage, and fill unwilling ears with their dying cries of

"Just How to Wake the Solar Plex-By Elizabeth Towns. Valuable for health. Price 25 cents.

Me strangled his victims without moin fail he was a shuddering, cowering wretch, praying for mercy and haunted by visions of the punishment he knows he must suffer.

"I am guilty!" he cried in a half moan. "I have killed five women. God knows why I did it. I don't. But I' have told all now. Tell me, don't you think they'll send me to state's prison? They won't-they won't-they wouldn't since I have confessed—they wouldn't send me to the—electric chair. Would they? I'll pray to God to save me from that!"

"As I hope for pardon," he said, "I had no thought of killing the girl when I first saw her. But as I came closer to her my finger nails sank into my palms. A voice within me cried, 'Kill! Kill! Kill! Kill! I tried to fight it down, but the voice was stronger than I. I dug my hands into my pockets, and against my will they forced themselves out and stretched toward that innocent child's thoat. As I live, I couldn't resist the temptation. I called her to me and told I would buy her candy, and when she came close enough I jumped upon her, seized her by the throat and dug my nails into her flesh until the blood ran. I thought it the happiest moment of my life. I cannot describe to you the pleasure that it gave me. "And then, when I realized what I had done, the horror overtook me. I carried the body away and hid it where knew it could never be found and all the time that damnable voice within me was saying: 'Good-good-no one will ever know. Why should you care?'

"It was always so. It was that same uncontrollable desire that came over ne. I loved my wife, Annie Knapp. For months the impulse to murder had not come to me. One morning I awoke. A gray dawn was just breaking. My wife lay sleeping at my side. I turned and looked at her and in an instant my fingers twitched with that same murderous desire. And, in an ecstasy of pleasure I caught her by the throat and strangled her as she slept. I did not murder because I wanted to, but because I couldn't help it. It was not my

"Now that I have confessed and told all I have done I don't think they should be hard on me. They won't send me to the death chair, will they?"

Once again his voice quavered and his knees shook with fear. Death has fearful terrors for this self-confessed murderer of wives and little girls. "The people in this neighborhood are very excitable," he whined, like a pleading, querulous child. "They are incensed against me. They don't understand how I came to do these things. have thought that they might try to-to -to lynch me." The word hesitated on his lips and his face blanched as he glanced up at his interrogator. "That would be a crime. The sheriff must protect me. He must. It is his duty.

While there is a possibility of this man being the result of an attempted prenatal strangulation, or the maternal inclination or thought in that direction, it sounds like a real case of obsession. It sounds greatly like the ravings of a murderer swung off into eternity from the end of a rope, whispering into the clairaudient ear of a sensitive, "Goodgood; no one will ever know."

Such incidents ought, surely, to start people to thinking of the possibility of the revengeful spirits of murderers who are murdered under sanction of the law returning and wreaking the vengeance of their distorted souls upon anyone whom they may find sufficiently recep-

In nine hundred and ninety-nine cases out of every thousand the hangsands of these priests and "sisters" will | man's noose spans the neck of a person be landed on the shores of this country. Who knows nothing of the future state Wesley and his family were subject to of existence and who has never given the possibility of consciousness beyond the grave a thought, and is therefore plunged from the scaffold into darkness to grope about conscious but ignorant of the sudden change that has come upon him.

The present laws of our land are no doubt as good as the growth of the age demands as a general rule, but capital punishment is barbaric and belongs to the dark ages of superstition and ignorance, and as the world becomes unfolded the demand should not be to avenge a crime with a crime, but to enlighten the criminal regarding the inevitable consequence of murder and other violations of right, to the immortal soul, the long period of regret, the awful distortion and postponement of progress of the spirit. If a man is found dangerous to socie ty, a trespasser upon the rights of others, etc., there should be laws to restrain his evil passions and it is well to have workshops and schools combined, as prisons, where they can be made of use to their fellowman whom they would rob or slay, then educate them into an aspiring state. If they prove mpossible of unfoldment it were better that they be held away from the lawabiding, peaceful citizens, men and woually. Spiritualism does not approve of capital punishment, but on the contrary, teaches that a legal murder is more shocking and demoralizing to humanity and to the spirit than when committed during the temporary insanity that extreme anger produces upon the brain

Justice frowns upon crime, whether and deliberation.

How Much for Church influence? Prof. George A. Coe, of the chair of Moral Philosophy, of the Northwestern University, in a recent lecture, made the following statement: "The church has to a considerable extent ceased to be the recognized moral leader of society. We have the strange spectacle of a great many religious people in the church who have no moral influence in society and of many men of moral influence who have nothing to do with the church." The worst of this statement for the churches is that it is true. Only a few years ago, the ministers of a town could, through their churches, carry elections, have laws enacted, and dominate society. Now the most certain way to have a political measure defeated is to have the church engage in it. Of course when Prof. Coe speaks of the church, he means the Protestant Branches. The Catholic, has yet absolute sway over the minds of its members. There is nothing new in the statement but from its high source it will call attention, and open the eyes of the people to the fact that as noble a moral life can be lived outside the

ualism.

If the so-called Christian papers are expected to give truthful representations of Spiritualism, or to be even fair and honest, the expectation will be disappointing. The ordinary courtesies of are stock in trade with those who appear to think those who differ from them in opinion have no rights they are bound to respect.

The Christian Advocate is intensely Christian, hence narrow, bigoted, uncivil and arrogant. Its editor, the notorious Rev. Dr. J. M. Buckley, hates Spiritualism more intensely than all other reforms. His late editorial surpasses his ordinary efforts, and his vindictive ness is so apparent that his friends must feel chagrined at his descending to the cheap pettifogging of a police shyster.

So disgusting is the character of this editorial that it awakened the resentment of a Methodist minister who stands high in the opinion of his conference, and my attention was earnestly called by him to the necessity of an answer. He said in a note accompanying the clipping: "I doubt Dr. Buckley's publishing an answer, but such a hate. ful article ought to be answered in some important paper....Dr. Buckley certainly knows he has penned things that are not true. All men are dupes who do not see things as he does. Some years ago when Joseph Cook was appointed to examine and report on Spiritualism, of the slate test he reported, The pencil moved without control, No reply was made until after Cook's death, when the editor of the Western Christian Advocate had the littleness and unkindness to say !Cook was hypnotized.' Cook was there—the editor several hundred miles away. So it

Perhaps it is because the church has so wonderfully absorbed Spiritualism, and ministers find they draw best when they speak on its living issues, that Dr. Buckley is so filled with hatred. Here are a few choice pickings:

"Spiritualism from time to time throws its moss-covered tentacles around minds weak by nature or made so by grief or age.

"Nothing has ever yet been done by professional spiritual mediums that could not be explained upon natural principles, or detected as jugglery or classified under other things of the same nature that can be paralleled by the use of natural laws.

"The trance of honest spiritual mediums, whether spontaneous or the result of mental conditions artificially induced is a phenomenon that can be explained as well as anything can be that has to do with the brain and nervous system. "It is curious that in most cases old agency of female mediums, but some

by male mediums, though the latter succeed better with wealthy old women society' or among the illiterate..... Who are the "minds weak by nature," "old men" and "wealthy old women," caught by the "moss-covered tentacles" of Spiritualism? Of the thousands of names which might be mentioned of those eminent in science, statesman ship, literature and art, write Prof. Alfred R. Wallace, Prof. Varley, electrician of the Atlantic telegraph; Sir William Crookes, Flammarion, Prof James, of Harvard, Prof. Hyslop, of Columbia Emperor Alexander of Russia, Queen Victoria, Abraham Lincoln, the poet Tennyson, Robert Chambers, Heber Newton, Rev. Minot J. Savage Bishop Samuel Watson, and if these are not sufficient go on and fill columns with names equally well known. a spiritual visitation, and manifestations far more extraordinary than those of the Fox sisters. Had superstition not prevailed, the great spiritual advent would have been made then, and not restrained, and converted into Methodism. In Wesley's life as first published is a full acount of these events, but the next edition had all this portion suppressed? Why? Was it true, or did the followers of Wesley find out that he was either a deceiver or a dupe? Was he one of the "weak by nature?" Ho believed in the manifestations, and if living on earth to-day would have been an uncompromising Spiritualist. Methodism started with Spiritualism.

As for mediums entrapping "old men" or "wealthy old women," allow me to refer to the entrapping of these classes by gospel ministers, and enticing them when weak and near death, to make wills giving their property to the church, and dispossessing their children. This has become such a crying evil, that many states have enacted laws, setting aside any bequest, whereby property is given to the church, if the will is executed less than a year before the death of the testator. This charge against ministers using their influence over the sick and dying is evi-

Can trance be "explained?" Can the phenomena of Spiritualism be explained by Dr. Buckley? Then whatever explanation he adopts, it applies with the same force to the leading manifestations recorded in the Bible. The Book of Revelations was confessedly received by trance. Paul was entranced; Moses and Elias "materialized" to some of the apostles; a hand materialized and wrote on the walls of the hall at Babylon, and angels (spirits) repeatedly appeared as messengers. What shall we believe, Dr. Buckley? Give your explanation of the phenomena of Spiritualism, be it humbug, devil, or unknown law of mind," and your argument sweeps every vestige of these from the Bible. We cannot pass this paragraph, conspicuous for its unsupported audacity: "When infidels are professedly converted to Christianity by Spiritualism the presumption is that they did not believe in their infidelity.

"When professed Christians turn to Spiritualism as a means of establishing a belief in the future life, the presumption is that their Christianity did not have a very deep hold upon them, or else their minds have weakened under the circumstances mentioned above."

Christianity by Spiritualism." There electricity, hypnotism and countless has been a great number of Christians other explanations have failed, their converted to Spiritualism. Perhaps spiritual origin has been accepted. Christianity did not have a "very deep hold upon them." We presume it did if there were not, the Christian Advonot have the hold it has on such men as cate would lose its subscription. Ilst, the Christian Advonot have the hold it has on such men as cate would lose its subscription. Ilst, and the churches would be more long. not have the hold it has on such men as Dr. Buckley, for then they would not listen, were the effort made to convert them, and would misrepresent and ridicule. The Christianity of Rev. John Plerpont, Theodore Parker, Bishop Watson, Savage or Newton may be as deen as that of the editor of the Christ.

"If Henry Ward Beecher is in no better business than attempting to prove immortality by revealing the place of 'a widow's mite'—a small copper coin—that had been in his possession at one time, he is not worthy of attention." It is presumable that Beecher know appointing. The ordinary contesses in the refined society are not observed in the his identity, and he so well succeeded that he confounded Dr. Funk and called that he confounded Dr. Funk and called out editorials from Maine to the Gulf. Cannot this editor see that it is not the "small copper coin," but the intelligence back of it, that is in evidence? Henry Ward Beecher as a spirit would be Beecher, and identified himself as such. As a parallel, take the communication of the "Lord," that is of Jehovah, the great god of the universe, to Moses. about the ark of the covenant, telling him of the kind of wood to use in making it, its size, the rings in the corners, the poles to carry it, etc. We ask, is the communication such as we would ex pect from its high-claimed source? If God really communicated, why did he not give Moses something more than the way to make a box to carry sus pended by poles from the shoulders of sweating priests as they journeyed over the desert? ver the desert?

There is nothing new in the following, for it has been reiterated many

"In all the literary and professedly evealing stuff that has been attributed to spirits there is nothing which has ever contributed to the progress of natural science, to the forecasting of important or wide-reaching future events, to the unmistakable unearthing of plots of deep significance, or the revelation of hidden crimes."

If this objection holds good to Spiritualism, it is equally so to Christianity. What has ever been contributed to science; to "forecasting" the future; or unearthing of plots and "hidden crimes" by the 100,000 ministers of the gospel in the United States? If their claims be true, why do they not at once inform the police of the whereabouts of criminais? Or better, by their gift of prophecy, give timely warning, that rime may be prevented? Why has not the Bible given the world the telephone, telegraph, trolley car and X-ray, centuries ago? "Oh," they cry, "don't you know the Bible and religion are not to reveal science?"

Yes, I know, and I also know that the Bible commences with, and Christianity is founded on, an account of the creation of the universe, which has been declared infallible, superseding all science, and has given rise to the scheme of Christian salvation; the fall of man, necessitating the tremendous assumption of a sacrificed God, hell and the warfare continuous against the powers of the devil, waged by the priesthood. Yes, I know there is no scienceknowledge—in it; that the study of Genesia is a dream of the childhood of man. But the devotees believe or pretend to believe that they have the infalmen are liable to be entrapped by the lible truth and the only means of solving the problem of life and death. Why not at once convince the unbelieving or with a class of women of any age in world of the truth of their high claims.

Will the editor of the Advocate or any minister, point to the least discovery, the slightest attempt at prophecy, the criminal brought to justice, the crime prevented?

Yet we by no means admit that Spiritualism has brought nothing new, or plead the delinquencies of the Christian religion as an excuse. Anyone even passingly looks over the field of view, will at once discern that it has created a new science of spirit, and that the old psychology is made obsolete. It has introduced law into the domain of spirit, and the mental realm. It has unitized the manifestations of all ages and races. It has reduced the outlying domain of mystery, miracle, the supernatural, occult and fortuitous, to law. It has made the realm of spirit a realm of science. It has demonst immortality. It has promulgated a rule for the conduct of life a step superior to the golden rule: Do all for others. And its work of negation, of destroying superstition; of eradicating harmful dogmas and beliefs; the clearing of the ground of the brambles and poisonous weeds, planted by ignorance and nour ished by bigotry, and credulity has been no less remarkable in its world-wide re-

Dr. Buckley's decision will admirably apply to Christianity:

"Common sense judges by the consequences of a claim or belief, and mentally or orally says to the humbug or fanatic, 'You seem to prove your point, but I don't believe it'

Only we omit the "seem," for the contention of these ministers does not 'seem" to common sense, or the impartial judgment to be proven. They do not even make that claim, but say: "Oh, don't go on reasoning. It is the mystery of Godliness and you can't find it

Spiritualism has not come to furnish a spirit police force, a night and day watch, to assist the Sherlock Holmeses in the wretched work.

As for foretelling the future, the ministers when they found they could no denced by laws. The charge against meet this requirement, blundered int mediums is an assertion, quite unsup- casting was undesirable. As giving one person advantage over another, it is essentially opposed to moral recti-Suppose an operator on the tude. Stock Exchange or the Board of Trade is informed by spirit agency of the future price of stocks or grain, and is enabled to ruin many others, thereby where is the gain? Let it be understood that Spiritualism has come to spiritualize, not as purveyor of the gutter, We find near the close a passage with which we agree, and it is pleasant to find such a gem amidst the flood of ommy-rot:-"Those who love delusion can always find it. The wise never believe any thing supernatural or preternatural so long as they can show that similar things have been done by natural means, or can conceive a rational way by which such things could be done though they may not have the skill to

Never anything said more true! Spir itualists hold to the scientific method of not going to higher sources for explana tion, when ordinary causes will apply. It is because the lesser have been found inadequate, and that only one cause uniffixes and explains all the socalled supernatural manifestations and In a life-long experience we never ages it has been received. Because met or heard of anyone "converted to Christianity by Spiritualism." There electricity, hypnotism and countless phenomena of the present and all past pause for a moment, he will perceive that his method may be applied to Of course, Dr. Funk's test from the than to spiritualism. Why resort to the South Peophers and General and Alfred Russel Wallace Writes in Explanation and Defense of His Views.

To the Editor:—An American friend has sent me Mr. H. Buddha and Christ, to Socrates, Newton and Darwin. As a Spiritualism by thus applying its teachings.

But, I presume, Mr. Tuttle believes in a future life for that he also believes in a creator or creators; and as he speaks of the possibility of "other stellar systems," and "other planes of existence of which we can have no comprehension," that he believes in many—perhaps an infinite number of distinct creations. Why, then, does he seem so horrifled at more than one act of creative power in our material universe? Will he state his position clearly? Does he believe, with Haeckel, that matter and all its forces-or, perhaps more accurately, all the forces which constitute matter-existed from all eternity? But, if not, there must have been, at some epoch, a creation, or rather, perhaps, an influx, of the forces constituting matter—the material universe, from the universe of spirit. To my mind, it is unthinkable that forces such as gravitation, heat, electricity, and all the other radiations and forms of energy, can persist by themselves. They imply a constantly acting cause; an origin necessarily in spirit as distinct from matter; a conscious effort of power, not a blind, dead, unthinkable, set of

But if the constant inflowing energies which constituty and maintain the material universe, are of a spiritual, and therefore of a conscious nature, why should they not be modified at different epochs as needed to fulfill the purposes for which they are exerted? To my mind, as I have before stated, there are three such epochs, requiring the influx of other forces than those needed to maintain the inorganic world alone: (1) at the origin of the organizing force manifested in vegetable life, which seems to me absolutely distinct from anything in inorganic matter; (2) at the influx of the faculty of sensation as the rudiment of mind, again unthinkable as a product of either inorganic matter or vegetative organization; and (3) when the influx of the "living | exist. These imaginary universes have been adduced by all soul" of man occurred, at the epoch when his physical organism had advanced to that degree of perfection to be fitted to receive and to develop it.

Mr. Tuttle's view, I presume, is that of the monist school, except that he supposes a creator at the back of the universe. But ever after the first production of primitive matter, nebula, fire-mist, or whatever it may be termed, the whole thing is supposed to have worked of itself, and there was an absolutely continuous, self-acting, evolution up to Tuttle's article from your paper of March 28, and urges me Spiritualist I presume he believes that man is a spirit, and to write a few words in reply to it. I must say I have never will, after the death of his body, live a spiritual life of conbeen able to understand Mr. Tuttle's point of view. He actinuous progression. But as, during the process of evolucuses me of resorting to "miraculous interposition" to action, there was nowhere a break, then, if man is a spirit so count for the spirit of man. He says that I "cut man off must all animals be spirits, and every ape and tiger, every from the line of evolution, and made him an exception, and fish and frog, every grub and bug and mosquito and worm, miraculous creation." And he thinks I injure the cause of must all alike survive death, and as spirit-bugs, spirit-fish, etc., etc., persist in worlds or spheres of their own far more extensive than the sphere needed for human spirits, because man; and as he speaks of the "grand scheme of creation," their numbers since the dawn of life have been myriads of millions of times greater than his.

But why stop here? If there has been no break of continuity between animals and plants, or between plants and minerals, then all plants that have ever existed, all trees and merbs, all weeds and living slimes, from the eozoic period downwards, must also have a continuous life—and if these then why not minerals and elements, and molecules and atoms, since, if there has been no break anywhere in the world-long series, there can be no difference in essential na ture between the lowest and the highest. Hackel and his school avoid this difficulty by maintaining that all are but ransitory forms of matter and force—that, as the mineral is disintegrated, as the worm and the plant die, so dies man, so also will die all worlds and suns and systems, perhaps to be replaced by others, perhaps, when their store of energy is exhausted to become cold and lifeless wanderers in infinite space. They are at least logical. But Mr. Tuttle is not log/ ical unless he follows out his supposed law of absolutely com cinuous evolution in the thorough manner I have suggested? while, if he does so carry it out, I am inclined to think he will find himself in a minority of one—a solitary, perhaps glorious, but rather chilly position.

It is not necessary for me to say anything about the rest of his criticism, because it would occupy too much space to point out the numerous places in which he has misunden stood and consequently misrepresented my view. I will only state that my article is based throughout on the facts of modern science in the domains of astronomy, physics, and piology. I have nothing to do with speculations as to other universes, other planes of existence, which may (or may not) my critics, just as if I had not carefully limited my argument to-"the stellar universe"-"the material universe"-"this universe"-"our universe," so that I thought nobody could have misunderstood me. I hold with Pope, that—"We cannot reason but from what we know"-and I therefore decline to be drawn into a controversy as to the number or na ture of imaginary universes in infinite space.

ALFRED R. WALLACE. Broadstone, Dorset, England, April 10, 1903.

supreme claim that God's hand wrote on the walls of the temple at Babylon, when it may be readily explained by the cunning of Daniel?

Why believe in the appearance of Moses and Elias, when they were seen by only three disciples, chosen perhaps because they would tell any story Jesus suggested, or were readily hypnotized? Why believe the story of the resur rection when the guard told exactly how the body was removed?

We are asking belief in existence while the Christian world contend for the incarnation of the supreme God, his birth by natural means, his growth to manhood, his crucifixion, death and resurrection into the mangled body, and ascension therewith into heaven! And while every part of this scheme may be explained by natural and most common causes, it applies without a moment's hesitation to the tremendous dogma of irect interference of the

If we apply causes at hand to all phenomena, and refer spiritual agency only only realizes (after paying postage) list carefully before remitting your to such as resist all other theories, we TWO DOLLARS for TEN standard yearly subscription. may rely on the residuum and feel that our feet rest on the firm foundation of We close the case by requesting Dr.

Buckley to apply this method to his own religion and honestly report the re-Spiritualism furnishes the unknown term in the equation the world has been looking for through all the ages, and thus allows of its solution.

- HUDSON TUTTLE, Editor-at-Large National Spiritualist Association, Washington, D. C.

ZURILDA WELLINGTON.

Or Life in Two Worlds.

The above is the title of a message it does, from the spirit side of life, it will prove especially interesting. Everybody should read it.

Ohio State Association.

To the Editor:-Kindly allow me through the columns of your paper to address the Spiritualists of Ohio regarding the annual state convention. It will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 29, 30 and 31, in G. A. R. Memorial Hall in Toledo. This is one of the nicest halls in Toledo, and has a seating capacity of 800. Our programme as far as completed will consist of the following individuals: Harrison D. Barrett, of Boston, president N. S. A.; Mrs. Marion E. Carpenter, of Detroit; Mayor S. M. Jones, of Toledo; Albert W. Wadsworth, of Cleveland, president O. S. A.; F. D. Dunakin of Cecil, first vice-president O.

The musical programme is not yet completed, but will consist of piano, cornet, violin and vocal selections. An earnest appeal and very cordial invitation is hereby extended to every individual Spiritualist, every society whether under charter or not, and to all interested in the cause of Spiritualism in Ohio, to come and meet with us. All mediums are cordially invited to at-

Mrs. Carrie Firth Curran, 123 Indiana avenue, Toledo, who has the matter of entertainment in charge. The time is near at hand and we desire every friend to spread this information and to come and help us discuss ways and means for enlarging our work.

ALBERT W. WADSWORTH, President O. S. A.

"Love—Sex—Immortality." By Dr. W. P. Phelon. For sale at this office. Price 25 cents.

HOW IS IT DONE?

An Important Question Propounded.

S. T. Penna writes from Detroit, Spiritualistic and Occult works of the after death of the mortal body, and the Mich.: "I received your nine premium very highest merit, and neatly and subbooks and I wish to say that I am great- stantially bound in cloth—an ornament

I thank you for your promptness."

How is it done? is an important ques- and never before has i ly pleased. How is it done? Of course PROFIT COME IN? It would take a Byron F. Hill writes from St. Louis, to determine that fact. With full data powerful microscope or a master mind Mo.: "I received the ten premium books at our command it is difficult to tell to-day, and was more than pleased with ourself. Under the circumstances the them. I hardly expected them so soon. sale of these books as premiums must come under the DIVINE PLAN, only inaugurated by The Progressive Thinker, Mr. Penna says our scheme is into recognition by any Spiritualistic DIVINE. How can it be otherwise un- or Occult publishing house in this courder the circumstances, when this office try or Europe. Read over our premium

W. LEADBEATER.

Intensely Interesting and Valuable.

We have on file four very valuable 1. Magis, White and Black. and interesting lectures by the English 2. The psychic, C. W. LEADBEATER, which Powers. we will publish at intervals during the

2. The Use and Abuse of Psychio

The Ancient Mysteries. 4. Vegetarianism and Occultism

The above is the title of a message from the spirit side of life through the mediumship of Mrs. M. Pasquier Curmediumship of Mrs. M. Pasquier Curmedium of Mrs. M.

Or Spiritualism Past and Present.

This book, by DR. J. M. PEEBLES, this country and Europe and you can will be our LEADING PREMIUM for not find another SUCH BARGAIN as the coming year. It is a most excellent we offer. Ten exceptionally valuable work. It is neatly and substantially books SENT OUT for $3.10, postage bound in cloth, and printed in beautiful prepaid (which amounts to $1) leaving clear type. Former price, $1.25. Present price, 25 cents, postage prepaid. FORE EQUALLED. The Progressive Every subscriber should have it. Read Thinker is the only Spiritualist paper that her institutes the DIVINE PLAN. carefully our PREMIUM LIST. Search that has instituted the DIVINE PLAN.

Ban on Faith Healing.

Ban on Faith reasing.

As set forth in a special dispatch ease.

"In certain diseases the individual "In certain diseases the individual "In certain diseases the individual "In certain diseases" one to suffer from Philadeplhia, the right of the Christian Scientists to do business in Pennsylvania as a legalized corporation other types of a contagious or infectious S. A.; Mrs. Hattie G. Webster of Co- was finally denied by the Supreme nature they may be such as to endanger Court, which held that the practice of the whole community. In such cases, Mrs. Carrie Firth Curran, of Toledo, treasurer O. S. A.; F. W. Martin, of Elyria; Mrs. Dr. Wyant, Henry Dowd set forth in the books of Mrs. Mary and Mr. Knowlton, all of Toledo, and Baker G. Eddy, is injurious to the com-Master Jason Hemmeter, of Cleveland. munity and is opposed to the general policy of the law relative to the existence and treatment of disease.

The case came before the Supreme Court on appeal from the decision of the late Judge Arnold of the Common the First Christian Church of Scientists of Philadelphia. Judge Arnold, wno died last week, held that while the An effort is being made to provide free entertainment for all duly accredited delegates, and direct members who will send their names in advance to being obliged to buy certain books from Mother Eddy. In addition, Judge from Mother Eddy. In addition, Judge ion regarding the danger to the community that would result from inexpert | ciety has nothing to do."

treatment of disease The opinion of the Supreme Court up-

affected may be the only one to suffer for lack of proper attentions, but in those not possessing the lawful qualifications are equally violative of the nolicy of the law. "Neither the law nor reason has any objection to the offering of prayer for the recovery of the sick. But in many cases both law and common sense require the use of other means which have been given us for the healing of sickness and the cure of disease. There Pleas Court, who refused a charter to is ample room for the office of prayer, even when we have faithfully and conscientiously used all the means known to the science and art of medicine. "We are inclined to think that the evidence was not sufficient to support a it was conducted for profit, the church finding that the corporation itself was to be one for profit. There was proof that the individual healers sent out by Arnold wrote a long supplemental opin- their services, but this seems to be a personal recompense with which the so-

"The Attainment of Womaly Beauty holding the lower court is written by of Form and Features. The Cultiva-Justice Potter, and is in part as fol- tion of Personal Beauty, Based on Hy-"To secure the safety and protect the health of the public from acts of incompetent persons, the law prescribes the qualities of those who shall be allowed Price $1.

The Rationale of Mesmerism.=

MESMERISM AND HYPNOTISM-FOOLISH INCREDUL-Jaccordance with the facts which are known about the consti-) into the human body and thereby specialized, its particles | impression which it receives to the source from which such

This subject of mesmerism will be, I think, one of considnotism is the study of the art of putting to sleep. The word, however, has rather unfortunate associations, and a history behind it which is not very creditable. There is no question that originally the name of mesmerism was applied to all the phenomena which are now covered by the other, because Mesmer was, as far as Europe is concerned, the discoverer of the power which has been called after him. He was ridi-

Fifty years later a certain Mr. Braid, a surgeon of Man-"Neurypnology," and there are still many who suppose to be the first man to treat these subjects scient This, however, by no means represents the facts, covery, and must be called by a distinct name. Along this know why his ship moved as it did. line followed Charcot, Binet and Fere, and a number of recent writers—all taking a very partial view of the subject, all two lines, just as was the case with those other subjects of moval. Of course success may be attained along these lines, servant should be unable to pass over it—the man of course pressed. He held the existence of a subtle fluid which passed books, I should recommend Dr. Esdaile's as the best of all to aura, thus gradually stimulating the sluggish current into something held his feet, so that he could not move. And from the operator to the subject, and in this perfectly corbegin with; for his subjects were all Orientals, and they are activity. If the man has a headache, for example, there will though he made several efforts, he was evidently quite unrect assumption he was followed by the earlier French ex- on the average more sensitive to mesmeric influence than almost certainly be a congestion of unhealthy aura about able to cross that imaginary line, though he was much puzperimenters, the Marquis de Puysegur, Deleuze, Baron du white men are. That does not mean that they are necessatiently tried and recorded a long series of experiments with which is developed. sensitives, and his works deserve careful study. His first discovery was that certain young people among his patients tures that the evolution of man is cyclical in its character could, in a dark room, see flames issuing from the poles of how it consists in a descent into matter and then a rising a magnet; then a little later he found that similar flames out of it again, bearing the results of the immersion in expewere seen flowing from the tips of his fingers while he was rience gained and quality developed. There comes in the at most nothing but the pointing of his gun in a certain directable absolutely normal, and no one could have supposed him to be engaged in making mesmeric passes. It was because of this course of this cycle a lowest point, at which the man tion, while his will is the powder that moves the ball and in any unusual condition, and yet he was entirely under desimilarity that he bestowed upon the fluid which is trans- is most deeply buried in matter, and consequently least produces the result, the fluid being the shot sent out. A lusion, and therefore could easily have been led into foolish ferred from the operator to the patient in mesmerism the open to any influences from subtler forces and this point of mesmerizer who understands his business can manage just or even criminal action under the influence of an imposed name of "animal magnetism." He suspected its connection extreme materiality is often coincident with strong intellect- as well without passes if he wishes; I have known one who delusion. Experiments have shown that in such cases action with the vital force poured from the sun, and confirmed his ual development. In this way we have the combination of a never employed them, but simply looked at his subject. The may be delayed—that a person may be impressed to do a idea by a very ingenious experiment. He arranged a copper grossly material nature with a specially materialistic mental only use of the hand is to concentrate the fluid, and perhaps certain thing, say, at three o'clock to-morrow, and then wire so that one end should be exposed to the sunlight out attitude; and just at that period the man would certainly not to help the imagination of the operator; for to will strongly awakened from the mesmeric influence. But at three o'clock of doors, and the other led into his dark room. He then found be a good subject mesmerically. I do not say that his re- he must believe, and the action no doubt makes it easier for to-morrow a sudden uncontrollable impulse will come over that if the outer end of the wire was kept in the shade, the sistance might not be overcome by a sufficiently strong will, him to realize what he is doing. Just as a man may pour out him to do that thing, and in the vast majority of cases he sensitive in the room saw nothing; but if the wire was ex- but it would require more effort than it would be in the least magnetism by an effort of will, so may he draw it away by will at once proceed to do it. Uncontrollable is perhaps too posed to the sunlight, the patient was at once able to point likely to be worth while to make, and so we should call him a an effort of will, though in this case also he may very often strong a word, for no impulse is really that; but this thought out the end of the wire in the dark room, because a faint bad subject. Before that there would be a period when the use a gesture of the hands to help him. In dealing with the which will arise within the man is in no way distinguishable light began to issue from it. When a copper plate was at psychic side of him could be much more readily reached, and headache, he would probably lay his hands upon the forehead from a thought or impulse of his own, and most men do not tached to the outer end of the wire, so as to collect more of again later in his evolution it would reappear, though at this of the patient, and think of them as sponges steadily drawing greatly reason about their impulses, or make much effort to the sun's power, quite a brilliant light was discernible by second stage it would hardly be possible to control him mesout the unhealthy magnetism from the brain. That he is weigh and govern them. If the act ordered were an imthe sensitive. Through all his earlier experiments he was merically except with his own consent, for this is the truer, actually producing the result of which he thinks, he will moral one, a good and pure subject would be much horrified, under the impression that this magnetic sensitiveness was psychism in which the man possesses his powers in full con-probably very soon discover; for unless he takes precautions always a symptom of ill-health, and it seems to have been a great surprise to him when he found that one of his palat the intermediate point it is not the amount of intellect either himself feel the headache or begin to suffer from a some very unscrupulous experiments of that sort have been tients retained her power after her recovery. Further in that he possesses which saves him from mesmeric influence, pain in the arm and hand with which the operation is being tried in Paris—experiments which I should consider immoral not a question of health but of psychic faculty; and he con- conceptions. It is because he is tied down to the merely matter, and it is necessary for his comfort and well-being jectures, rightly enough, that all in reality have the power to physical plane that he resists any effort to impress him in a greater or less degree, but that in some it is only able to that way from without. come to the surface when the ordinary physical faculties are weakened by sickness. It will at once be seen that these earlier writers were much nearer the truth about such matters than many of their successors have been. Even at the present day there are probably no better records of cases of surgical operations under mesmerism, and of curative mesmerism generally, than those contained in thesia or rigidity, and many diseases may be readily cured. the books of Dr. Esdaile of Calcutta, and of Dr. Elliotson, How is all this to be explained? We must remember, first who was working in North London. At about that periodin 1842, I think it was—considerable attention was attracted that is invisible to ordinary sight. Not only has it its solid to pour in good, strong, healthy magnetism to take its place, by an operation performed at St. Bartholomew's Hospital in and liquid constituents, but there is also much that is gas, and to protect the patient against the return of the disease. London, by a Mr. Ward, who amputated above the knee the Yet when a report of this case was laid before the Royal clined to listen to the testimony, on the ground that it was in etheric matter. This part of his body, which has some true it would be contrary to the will of Providence, since in the man. We know that besides the system of veins and can only act upon the physical nerve, and through it to some pain was intended to be part of a surgical operation! It arteries, we have a system of nerves running all through the limited extent upon the fluids surrounding it; whereas meswould seem impossible that any assemblage of educated and body; and just as arteries and veins have their circulation, presumably scientific men could be so idiotic, but there is absolutely no doubt that this resolution was passed and still stands on record.

FOOLISH INCREDULITY.

Things have improved since then, but there is still a good deal of foolish incredulity with regard to this subject-and, worse still, a great deal of utterly unfounded assertion on the part of the ignorant, to which it is difficult for the student to listen with patience. On this point Mr. Sinnett, our vice-president has well written: "No one deserves blame for leaving altogether unstudied any subject that does not attract him. But in most cases people who are conscious of limited intellectual resources entertain a decent respect for others who are better furnished. A man may be nothing from the brain as a center; and secondly, there is this vital ways—so that the operator feels instead of the subject, or but a sportsman himself, and yet refrain from asserting that fluid, which is absorbed from without, and carried round that the subject feels, everything that touches the operator. chemists and electricians must be impostors, and a chemist may know nothing of Italian art, and yet may refrain from are easily visible to clairvoyant sight. Let us consider the tranced, the operator stood with his hands behind him a few declaring that Raphael never existed. But all through the commonplace world people who are ignorant of psychic science encourage one another in the brainless and absurd de a fact which can be demonstrated by various experiments. could by no possibility see it in the ordinary way) the subnial of facts, whenever any of its phenomena come up for treatment. The average country grocer, the average newsany statement relating to the work of those who are engaged | mally surrounds it, the nerve is not able to communicate in any branch of psychic enquiry. From the occult point of with the brain, and so it is precisely as though the nerve view, indeed, one can understand why this should be so, for were not there for the time—or in other words, there is no nature as that which we observe when a man has had his the incredulity of unspiritual mankind is Nature's own pro- feeling. tection against those unfit as yet to use her higher spiritual

The book from which that quotation is made is called "The

ITY-STRIKING EFFECTS-RERVE AURA AND VITAL tution of man, and his relation to the world around him. take on the beautiful resection already described, and are impressions have always hitherto come. It is as though we how exceedingly partial any merely physical view of man able weakness and languor. must be, and how easily we may miscalculate actions and Now you will begin to see what it is that the mesmerizer happenings on this plane, if we are ignorant of their causes pours into his subject. It may be either the nerve-ether or on higher levels. Mr. Sinnett, in this book just mentioned, compares our position in that respect to that of a fish which weakened or exhausted, so that he has lost power to specialculed and persecuted by the ignorant and prejudiced scien- swimming in the water, tries to understand the motions of ize the life-fluid for himself, the mesmerizer may renew his tific men of ht me, and the medical profession would have the keel of a ship as it moves beside him. He will no doubt stock by pouring some of his own upon the quivering nerves, eign control any illusion may be conveyed to the undevelnothing to his experiments. They simply denied the be able to comprehend the resistance offered by the water and so produce an exceedingly rapid recovery. The process facts of as many people now think it intelligent to deny to the keel, its deflection from a perfectly straight course by is precisely analogous to what is often done in the case of currents, and so on; but there must frequently appear motions as the reason of which he can have no conception, be- the stomach loses the power to digest, and so the body is not chester, published a little book approaching these facts from cause it belongs to another and a higher world. The slope properly nourished, and the weakness is thereby increased. a new standpoint, and stating that they were all due to the given to the hull of the vessel by the setting of the sails this The remedy adopted in that case is to present to the stomach fatigue of certain muscles in the eyelid. He called his book way or that would be to him a mysterious and unaccountable food already partially digested by means of pepsin or other movement, and he would probably suppose it to be due to a similar preparations; this can probably be assimilated, and living will residing in the creature. A flying fish might conthus strength is gained. Just so, a man who is quite unable hy- ceivably learn to understand something of the conditions to specialize for himself may still absorb what has been alpothesis leaves most of the phenomena unaccounted for; and both of the air and the sea, and so would come much nearer it seems to have won official acceptance only because it of to a correct theory; and in this respect the clairvoyant stu- an effort to resume the normal action of the etheric organs. fered a line of retreat from an untenable position. The phedent is like the flying fish—he is able to transcend his eled in many cases of weakness that is all that is needed. nomena which the profession had decided to ridicule and ment to some extent, and so to enter a wider world, in which deny were constantly occurring; here was a method by he learns many lessons. The thoughts and passions of the kind has taken place, the vital fluid has not circulated proption indicated, thereby creating a vigorous thought-form; which they could at least partially be admitted without hav- man are seen on the physical plane only by their effects, yet erly, and the nerve-aura is sluggish and unhealthy. Then and then the servant was called up and told to walk around ing to make the humiliating confession that Mesmer had they are the motive power, and must be taken into account the obvious course of proceeding is to replace it by healthy the room. He moved quite naturally until he reached the after all been right, and orthodox science wrong. So the if we wish to understand, just as our suppositious fish nerve-aura from without; but there are several ways in imaginary line, when he manifested symptoms of great sur-

We may approach this subject of mesmerism along one of ignoring any facts which did not square with this partial which I have spoken to you. We may either commence to though with the expenditure of a good deal more force than not being present. The servant was then called by his mas-Mesmer himself, the real pioneer of this line of discovery, the study of the experiments of others through the books came much nearer to the facts in the opinions which he ex- which they have written. To any man who decides for the or diseased matter, and then replaces it by healthier nerve- ered himself he declared that he must be bewitched, since Potet and Baron von Reichenbach. The last-mentioned parrily of weaker will; it is a question of the side of the man away.

You may remember how I have explained in previous lec-

STRIKING EFFECTS.

son subjugate the will of another to almost any conceivable extent, but physical results may be produced, such as anaeswithdraw from him all the solid, liquid and gaseous particles, whose center is the heart, so have the nerves their circulation, whose center is the brain. But it is a circulation not of blood but of the life-fluid, and it flows not so much along the nerves themselves as along a sort of coating of ether which surrounds each nerve. Many electricians have thought it probable that electricity does not flow along a wire at all. flowing of the vital force.

NERVE AURA AND VITAL FLUID.

Normally in the healthy man two types of fluid are connerve aura first. It has been observed that upon the presence of this fluid depends the proper working of the nerve-

FLUID-MESMERIC TRANCE-DANGERS AND CAU. Taken in that way, it at once becomes comprehensible, and carried in a constant stream over and through the whole should tap a telegraph wire at an intermediate point, and no difficulty is found in classifying and accounting for its va- body along the nerves! The man in perfect health has plenty send a message thence; the operator at each end would suprious manifestations. We must remember the Theosophical of this fluid to spare, and it is constantly radiating from his pose that the message came from the operator at the other; explanation of the different planes of nature and the corre-body in all directions, so that he is in truth shedding it would not occur to them that the signals which had always erable interest to every one who understands at all what it sponding bodies possessed by man; for since the fluid strength and vitality on those around him, even though quite hitherto come from the other station were now caused at an includes. There is a great deal of misconception as to the poured out in mesmerism is subtle and invisible to ordinary unconsciously. On the other hand, a man who from weak- intermediate point. sight, it will obviously affect the subtler part of the body, and mess or other causes is unable to specialize for his own use. We now begin to glimpse the method in which mesmeric sort of definition. In these days we hear very little of mes- consequently it is to our study of that part that we must turn a sufficient amount of the world's life-force, sometimes phenomena are produced. This nerve aura or nerve ether is merism, but much of hypnotism, and the question at once for a rational theory of its effects. It is well always to re- equally unconsciously acts as a sponge, and absorbs the the intermediary on the one hand between will and physical arises, are these two things the same? I believe myself that member that man is a being living simultaneously in two already specialized vitality of any sensitive person with action, and on the other between the impressions received worlds—the seen and the unseen; existing simultaneously whom he comes into contact, to his own temporary benefit, many people use them practically as synonyms. Hypnotism upon several of these planes of nature, and consciously or no doubt, but often to the serious injury of his victim. Probunconsciously receiving impressions from them all through ably most persons have experienced this in a minor degree, and have found that there is some one among their acquaint-When we fully realize this we are prepared to understand ances after whose visits they always feel a quite unaccountthe vitality, or both. Supposing a patient to be seriously food. When a person reaches a certain stage of weakness

There are other instances in which congestion of some which this may be done. Some magnetizers simply employ prise and terror, and cried out that there was fire in the way, brute force, and steadily pour in resistless floods of their own force in the hope of washing away that which needs redrew an imaginary line on the ground and willed that the make practical experiments for ourselves, or we may take up is at all necessary. A more scientific method is that which ter, and came briskly as usual; but when he reached the goes to work more quietly, and first withdraws the congested imaginary line he stumbled and almost fell, and as he recovsome parts of his brain, and the first step is to draw that zled and frightened to find himself in such an incomprehen-

How is this to be managed? Just in the same way as the outpouring of strength is managed-by an exercise of the will. We must not forget that these finer subdivisions of matter are readily moulded or affected by the action of the at once show us how dangerous this power might become in human will. The mesmerist may make passes, but they are the hands of an unscrupulous man. This servant appeared sciousness, and can use them voluntarily and efficiently. But to cast off the bad magnetism which he is absorbing, he will to the impulse or in victory over it. I am sorry to say that as he often proudly thinks, but simply the materialism of his performed. He is absolutely drawing into himself diseased and unjustifiable. Their results have shown that there are that he should dispose of it before it obtains a permanent over even the most determined attempt to compel it to violodgment in his body.

it and the simplest is just to throw it away, to shake it from necessary it is that every mesmerist should be good and When, however, an impression can be made, the effects are the hands as one would shake water. Although he does not pure, as he might very readily be tempted to misuse so terrioften of the most striking character. Not only may one per see it, the matter which he has withdrawn is perfectly physical, and can be dealt with by physical means. It is therefore very necessary that he should not neglect these precautions, and that he should not forget to wash his hands carefully after curing a headache or any malady of that nature. of all, that the physical body contains a great deal of matter Then, after he has removed the cause of the evil, he proceeds eous, and a great deal that is etheric. This latter constitu- One can see that in the case of any nervous affection this leg of a patient who had been put into the mesmeric trance ent plays a great part in the man's well-being, for the whole method would have manifold advantages. In most of such Spiritualism, telepathy, et id genus omne—should be taken -as good a case as the most skeptical enquirer could desire. of his body is permeated by it, so that if it were possible to cases what is wrong is an irregularity of the fluids which up seriously and scientifically if they are taken up at all. course along the nerves; either they are congested, or they As Mr. Stead remarks with regard to similar studies: "If you Medical and Chirurgical Society of London, they utterly de the form of his body would still be quite clearly marked out are sluggish in their flow, or on the other hand they may be cannot or will not examine the subject seriously, you had a manifestly incredible and absurd, and that even if it were times been called the etheric double, is the vehicle of vitality ity. Now if we administer drugs of any sort, at the best we too rapid; they may be deficient in quantity, or poor in qualmerism acts directly upon the fluids themselves, and so goes straight to the root of the evil.

MESMERIC TRANCE.

In those other cases where trance is produced, or where the rigidity of certain muscles is one of the results, the will of the operator is also concerned, and force of some sort is but along a coating of ether surrounding the wire; and if always poured in. But the will is somewhat differently dithat be so, the phenomenon is exactly duplicated by this rected; instead of thinking of curing, or of withdrawing evil magnetism, the mesmerizer is thinking of dominating the will of the subject, or of replacing the man's nerve-aura either partially or entirely by his own. When this latter is the case, the subject's nerves no longer report to his brain, nected with this system of nervous circulation. First, there but an exceedingly close sympathy is created between the is the nerve-aura which flows regularly and steadily round two persons concerned. This may be made to work in two by the nerve-aura in the form of rose-colored particles, which I have seen instances in which, while the subject was enyards away; and if some third person pricked the hand of the operator (hidden behind his back, so that the sensitive source, and acted accordingly.

This is after all only a phenomenon of precisely the same arm removed by an operation; sometimes something will part of an orderly scheme of the universe, and explain it in less though intensely active. After it has been absorbed flash external to himself. The brain instinctively refers the unito you."

A Lecture Welivered in Chicago,

upon the physical plane and the mind which accepts and analyses them. So when the mesmerist substitutes his own nerve-aura for that of the subject he can control both the actions and sensations of his patient. The nerves which normally bear messages from the man's own brain now bring them from an entirely different brain; but the muscles, receiving their message through the accustomed channel, obey it unhesitatingly, and so the man can be made to do all kinds of foolish and incongruous actions. On the other hand, since the reception and translation of all impressions from oped and therefore undiscerning ego.

MESMERIC EXPERIMENTS.

I remember seeing a very good instance of that in Burmah. Our president-founder, Colonel H. S. Olcott, is a very good mesmerist, and I have seen him try many interesting experiments. I recollect that in one case he threw into the mesmeric condition a native servant who could not speak English. The man looked as usual, and was not in any obvious kind of trance, yet as to impressions he was absolutely under the control of the Colonel's will. Our president asked (in English) what illusion should be produced, and some one suggested that a line of fire should be seen in a certain part

DANGERS AND CAUTIONS.

I have seen many such instances as that, and I think they and a struggle would arise, which might end in submission cases in which innate virtue is strong enough to triumph late its conscience; but in the majority of instances the He should therefore adopt some definite plan to get rid of temptation prevailed. You see therefore how absolutely ble a nower.

For this reason among others it is not well to dabble in mesmerism or to play with it. All psychic forces are distinctly edged tools for the inexperienced person, and all who take up the investigation of any of them will do well to prepare themselves by an exhaustive study of the results attained by their predecessors, for it is only when armed with knowledge and shielded by absolute purity that the neophyto thousand times better leave it alone. It is unwise for a boy to go fooling round a buzz saw. Anybody with a smattering of chemistry can manufacture dynamite, but the promiscuous experimenting with high explosives is more likely to result in explosions than profit. And if you feel disposed to go in "for the fun of the thing," every serious investigator has only one word to say, and that is-don't!" There is no need, however, for the peaceable member of the general public to go about in fear of having gruesome and uncanny currents of mesmeric influence poured upon him from unexpected directions. it is quite easy for any ordinary person to resist any effort on the part of another to act upon him in this way, and in all the terrible cases of which we hear, where some weak-willed victim is used as a tool in the hands of an unscrupulous villain, we may be sure that there has been a long series of previous experiments, to which the victim willingly lent himself, before that baneful control was so firmly established. It is only in novels that one glance from the eye of the bold, bad man reduces the unfortunate heroine to abject submission. In real life those who are pure and determined need have no fear.

MESMERIC CLAIRVOYANCE.

In close connection with mesmerism is the study of the various types of clairvoyance which may be developed under We know that it is possible by mesmeric passes to make a ject would immediately rub the corresponding hand, as to clairvoyance, so I am purposely omitting special reference person's arm quite insensible to pain; this is done simply by though she had telt the prick, instead of the mesmerizer. to that subject now. The connection is simply that before paper reporter, the average student of physical science, are driving back this nerve aura, so that over that part of the Presumably his nerve dura was in connection with her brain the higher faculties can be employed the lower must be conall steeped in the same dense incapacity to understand the body the flow is no longer kept up, and consequently the instead of her own, and when she received from this aura trolled, and as many persons have not yet learnt to do this propriety of respecting the knowledge of others, even if they nerve is unable to report to the brain what touches it the feeling that she would have otherwise associated with a for themselves, it is only when some external repression is do not share it themselves, whenever they brush up against as it usually does. Without the specialized ether which nor prick in her hand, she supposed it to come from its usual applied that their inner senses have any opportunity of action. But in all cases it is infinitely better for the man to manage his own affairs, and wait for psychic powers until he can obtain them naturally in the course of his evolution, The vital fluid is also specialized, and in the healthy man cause irritation to one of the nerves which were originally him in conquering his own lower nature. Steady natural de-It is present in great abundance. It is poured upon us origic connected with the flagers, and his brain will refer this send velopment is always the safest and the best; and the characnally from the sun, which is the source of life in this inner sation to its accustomed cause, and the man will assert that ter is in all cases the first point to which training should be Rationale of Mesmerism," and it is one which no student of sonse as well as by means of its light and heat in the outer he feels pain in the amputated limb. Another analogous exampled. Let him educate his heart, that it shall be pure and this subject should neglect to read, for it puts the Theosoph- world. The earth's atmosphere is full of this force at all periment is made in optical study; it is possible to produce true, and his intellect, that he may be balanced by commonical theory of the matter much more ably than I can, the autimes, though it is in much greater activity and abundance in a slight electrical discharge inside a person's head, thus afternoon so shall be be ready for psychic faculty ther being a practical mesmeriat of considerable power and brilliant sunshine; and it is only by absorbing it that our feeting the optic nerve at an intermediate point, instead of and mesmeric power when they come to him, and they shall experience. All that I can do is to give you an outline physical bodies are able to live. It is naturally invisible, like through the retina of the eye. When this is done, the brain be to him a blessing and not a curso; for now, as of old, it sketch; for the filling in I must refer you to Mr. Sinnett. It all ether forces; but as it exists around us in the atmosphere registers the finsh as though it had come through the ordiassetts; for the name and a manufacture of the state it clothes itself in millions of the particles which are color- nary channel, and it seems to the man that he has seen a His righteousness, and all these things shall be added

DEAFNESS AND by C. W. Leadbeater, London, Eng.

BY NO METHOD UNTIL "AC. TINA" WAS DISCOVERED.

Ninety-five per cent of all cases of deafness rought to our attention is the result of chronic catarrh of the throat and middle ear. The air paysages, become clogged by catarrhal deposits, stopping the action of the vibratory bones. Until these deposits are removed a cure is impossible. The inner ear cannot be reached by probing or spraying, hence the inability of aurists or physicians to cure. Ear drums are worse than useless. That there is a scientific ours for deafness and catarrh is demonstrat-

Actina. The vapor current generated in the Actina passes through the Eustachian tubes into the iddle ear, removing the catarrhal obstructions as it passes through the tubes, and loosens up the bones (hammer, anvil and stirrup) in the inner ear, making them respond to the slight-est vibration of sound. Actina has never failed to cure ringing noises in the head. We have known people troubled with this distressing symptom for years to be completely cured in only three weeks use of Actina. Actina also cures asthma, bronchitis, sore throat, weak lungs, colds and headache; all of which are directly or indirectly due to catarrh. Actina is sent on trial postpaid. Write us about your case. We give advice free, and positive proof of oures. A valuable book-Professor Wilson's 100 page Dictionary of Disease, Pres. Address New York & London Electric Association, Dep. T 929 Walnut Street, Kansas City, Mo.

ed every day by the use of

Over 72,000 already sold. Placed over the kitchen store, it purifies the foulst water. Removes every impurity. Furnishes, doicious distilled Pure Water. Beats filters. Baves lives and Dr. bills. Prevents sickness. Only safe water for children. Cures disease. Write for Bookfet and testimonies froe. Agents Wanted—Men and Women—Big Wages. It Harrison Bidg., Cincinnati, C.

The above is the number of the present issue of The Progressive Thinker, as printed at the top of the first page, right hand corner. If this number corresponds with the figures on your wrapper, then the time you have paid for has expired, and you are requested to renew your subscription. This number at the right hand corner of the first page is adanced each week, showing the number of Progressive Thinkers issued up to Keep watch of the number on the tag of your wrapper.

News.

You can do it by reading each week The Progressive Thinker. The Philoophy and the Spiritualistic and Occult phenomena it contains each week, is the marvel of the age. No one can afford to be without the paper. Its price is within the reach of all.

The New and the Old. Or the World's Progress in Thought. By Moses Hull. An excellent work by this veteran writer and thinker. Price, 10 cents.

LISBETH

An Interesting Story of Two

Elevating, Fascinating, Instructive Throughout.

This work by Carrie E. S. Twing is exceptionally interesting. She well says: "These characters which have brought out the highest and lowest in different religious beliefs, have moved me, not I them." The whole book is tracteresting, fascinating, and instructive.

A. SCHOPENHAUER ESSAYS.

Translated by T. B. Saunders. Cloth, 75 cents. "Schopenhauer is one of the few philosophers who can be generally understood without a commentary. All his theories claim to be drawn direct from facts, to be suggested by observation, and to interpret the world as it is; and whatever view he takes, he is constant in his appeal to the experience of common life. This characteristic endows his siyle with a freshness and vigor which would be difficult to match in the philosophic writing of any country, and impossible in that of Germany."—Translator.

The Blue Laws of Connecticut. Taken from the Code of 1650, and the public records of the colony of Connecticut previous to 1635, as printed in a compilation of the earliest laws and orders of the general court of Connecticut; also an account of the persecution of witches and Quakers in New England. Some extracts from the Flue Laws of Virginia. Price 25 cents

THE MISSING LINK IN MODERN SPIRITUALISM. By A. Leah Underhill, of the Fox Family.

By A. Lead Undermill of the rox ramily, interesting and valuable as a history of the beginning of Modern Spiritualism, by one of the Fox Sistors, 48 Pages, 16 libertations, including portraits of the Fox Family. History of the Hydesville rappings, as related by eye-witnesses; remarkable and well-atteated manifestations; the "exposures," etc. Handsomely bound in cloth, But few copies remaining. Publishers' price, $1.50. We will send the book postpaid for $1.40.

ORIGIN OF SPECIES,

By means of natural selection, or the preservation of a favored race in the struggie for life. By Charles Darwin. Glit top, cloth bound. This book to the grandest achievement of modern scientific thought and research. It has passed through many editions in English, has been translated into almost all the languages of Europe, and has been the subject of more reviews, pamphiets and separate books than any other volume of the ago. Most of the great scientists of the ago fully support his position. The thought of this position is the common inhoritant of the common inhoritants of the race. For sale at this office. Price 75 cta.

A compendium of Spiritual Laws. No. 1. New White Cross Literature. By Augusta W. Fletcher. M. D. In this volume the author, in the thirty-nine chapters, discusses a wide variety of subjects pertaining to Spiritualism, from a spiritualistic standpoint. She evinces the powers of a trained thinker, both in matter of thought and fine literary style, and capability of thought expression. The subjects are well handled with conciseness and yet with clearness. It will prove a rich addition to any Spiritualist's library, and a most excellent book for any one seeking information concerning Spiritualism and its teachings. Price $1.50.

Or Psychometric Researches and Discoveries. By Wm. and Elizabeth M. F. Denton. A marvelous work. Though concise as a text book it is as fascinating as a work of fiction. The reader will be amazed to see the curious facts here combined in support of this power of the human mind, which will resolve a thousand doubts and difficulties, make geology plain as day, and throw light on all subjects now obscured by time. Price, $1.50. In three volumes, cloth bound, $1.50 cach. Postage, 10c per copy.

WOMAN: A Lecture Delivered to Ladles Only, By Mrs. Dr. Huburt. On the present status of woman, physically, morally and spiritually. The divine law of true harmonial marriage, etc. Price, 10c.

THE DESCENT OF MAN. By Charles Darwin. Cloth, gilt top, 75 cents.
On its appearance it aroused at once a storm of mingled wrath, wonder and admiration. In elegance of style, charm of manner and deep knowledge of natural history, it stands almost without a rival among scientific works.

GENERAL SURVEY..

THE SPIRITUALISTIC FIELD-ITS WORKERS, DUINGS, ETC., THE WORLD OVER.

CONTRIBUTORS.—Each contributor is alone responsible for any assertions or sintements he may make. The editor allows this freedom of expression, belleving that the cause of truth can be best subserved thereby. Many of the sentiments uttered in an article may be diametrically opposed to his belief, yet that is no reason why they should be suppressed; yet we wish it distinctly understood that our space is inadequate to publish everything that comes to hand, however much we might desire to do so. That must account for the non-appearance of YOUR article.

WRITE PLAINLY.—We would like to impress upon the minds of our correspondents that The Progressive Thinker is set. compositors. That means rapid work, and it is essential that all copy, to insure insertion in the paper, all other requirements being favorable, should be written plainly with ink on white paper, or with a typewriter, and only on one side of the paper.

· ITEMS.—Bear in mind that items for adjusted to the space we have to occupy, and in order to do that they will nerally have to be abridged more or less; otherwise many items would be crowded out. Sometimes a thirty-line Item is cut down to ten lines, and ten lines to two lines, as occasion may re-

Take due notice, that all items for this page must be accompanied by the full name and address of the write will not do to say that Secretary or Correspondent writes so and so, without glying the full name and address of the writer. The items of those who do not comply with this request will be cast into the waste basket.

Keep copies of your poems sent to this office, for they will not be returned If we have not space to use them. The messages given through Carlyle two years ago, hence are in harmony with events referred to in them. Dr. W. O. Knowles passed through home in Grand Rapids, Mich. He has just closed a successful engagement at Springfield, Mo. many friends for a long-life of joy and Mrs. S. T. Penna is open for engage ments in the vicinity of Detroit, to lecture, give tests and psychometric read-Address her at No. 519 Trumbuil avenue, Detroit, Mich.

usefulness.

Dr. P. S. George writes: "It may be of some interest to the many readers of write I can look about five miles to the southwest and see the snow-capped mountains from which the snow never disappears. Red Lodge has a populaof an elevation, making it a most delightful climate from about June 1 to for the summer. exember 1. I spent about two months show them a sign; they seem to be ture under the efforts of President eager to know, as all have heard about | Pingel.' my gift of mediumship. Mediums are a very rare thing in this locality. I have never been able to find anyone gressive Thinker or any other Spiritualwill be glad to answer any inquiries in this respect."

Alfred Farlow, of Boston, Mass., of the 11th, Dr. C. E. Watkins admits for camp engagements." that Christian Scientists can cure imaginary diseases, but claims that it cannot cure organic disease. Evidently the gentleman has based his statement organic diseases through Christian Science have been recorded. Furthermore, it is not correct to say that disease is imaginary though we will admit that there is such a thing as imagination. That term is not strong enough as applied to disease in Christian Science. This Science teaches that the disease of the body is the result of an abnormal mental condition and that when the mental condition is corrected the body responds according-I anticipate that the doctor will find it somewhat difficult to draw the line between what he terms imaginary and real diseases. The uniform success of Christian Scientist practitioners would indicate that a very large per cent of diseases are 'imaginary,' if indeed any of them are imaginary."

united in marriage by Harry J. Moore. jar to be illuminated with a bluish green Mr. and Mrs. Heller joined the Engle- light which lasted for several days and wood Spiritual Union last spring dur gradually disappeared in about a forting the time Mr. Moore had charge of night. The light is cold and harmless. that society, so it was their request that Faces can be recognized, it is said, for he send them on life's journey together a distance of two yards and large type rejoicing. All mail addressed to Harry can be read by it." J. Moore, at Rochester, Ind., will be for-

been sold to the brothers of Notre judgment, sound common sense, first Sunday in June.

The Record-Herald says: "At the annual meeting of the American Oriental dist anniversary of the founding of the Society in Baltimore the other day, Dr. First Spiritualist Church of Portage, Paul Haupt made the statement that Wis., was held Sunday, May 3. This the Book of Ecclesiastes was not writ-the Book of Ecclesiastes was not writ-the Book of Ecclesiastes was not writ-the Book of Ecclesiastes was not writ-this first year of its existence. It is in not the slayer of Goliath. The learned good financial condition, having not a doctor makes an elaborate explanation cent of indebtedness, and a steadily the slayer of Goliath, but David may have been Saul's minstrel, and also it." is set up on a Linotype machine that may have been rewarded with the hand must make speed equal to about four of Saul's daughter. Nor is there any reason to doubt his covenant of brotherhood with Jonathan. Most of the a collection of popular love ditties com-piled in the neighborhood of Damascus,' the General Survey will in all cases be There should be comfort for the poets in what Dr. Haupt says. If David could rise to power merely because he was a good and pleasing bard, and if a collection of Damascus love ditties has helped to give Solomon the reputation of having been the wisest man in the world, who may guess what honors future generations may thrust upon the industrious poets of to-day? But perhaps Dr. Haupt is mistaken about the Goliath matter. If he has found evidence which tends to show that David gressive Thinker; probably the last couldn't use the sling there is still the possibility that the young minstrel got the glant in a corner and read a poem or two at him,"

UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE THIS OFFICE WILL BE CLOSED ON SAT-URDAY AFTERNOONS.

Take due notice that items for this page in order to insure insertion must contain the full name and address of the writer. Otherwise they may be cast into the waste basket.

The hypnotic effect of a locomotive headlight is one of the singular phases of evidence that will figure in a rail-road case to be tried at the present term of the Macon, Mo., county circuit court at La Plata. The plaintiff, B. C. Petersilea and now appearing in The Progressive Thinker, were written about Atterbery, farmer and cattleman of Atlanta, is suing the Wabash railroad for killing stock. Mr. Atterberry's boy, Ralph, was driving a herd across the Dr. W. O. Knowles passed through track at Atlanta, when a through Chicago last week on his way to his freight train was seen rapidly approaching. The headlight on the locomotive was burning although it was 8:30 in the morning. A few of the catof Pontlac, Mich., were united in marriage, April 17, by Mrs. Marian Carpen, young Atterherry together the case young Atterberry testified that one of ter. The happy couple left on a wed-ding tour with best wishes of their track gazing with fascinated interest at the glowing headlight and that she paid no atention to the rocks he threw at her to make her get off the track. The hypnotizing of the cattle by the headlight, improperly burning in the daytime, is one of the salient features of proof by which the plaintiff hopes to recover .- New York Journal.

The Second Church of the Soul will your paper to know something about hold Sunday service in Hygela Hall, Montana. I am at Red Lodge. As I Ogden avenue and Robey street. Conference meeting at 3 p. m. Lecture and messages at 8 p. m.

The National Sunlight Center Club will hold its monthly meeting and social tion of about 1,700, and is located in Tuesday evening, May 12, at 33101/2 Rock Creek valley, and about 8,000 feet Rhodes avenue, closing for the vacation and encampment at St. Joseph, Mich.,

Dr. J. C. Phillips writes from Clinhere last summer and am now here ton, Iowa: "The Philosophical Spiritagain to spend the summer. I have ualist Society of this city has just been found but few Spiritualists here, but all re-organized and placed on a legal most every one I meet wants to know something about Spiritualism. Many of the people here are like the Jews Grath is our speaker for the present. were with Jesus, they want you to Everything indicates a successful fu-

J. M. White writes from Glenlock, Kansas: "In this place I find several here that ever saw a copy of The Pro-ualism. I arrived here May 1, and I ist publication. This is a splendid loand I am preparing for a lecture later where a dry, cool climate is necessary. visited by workers who are in Garnett at present writing. There is a home circle for development, sitting here twice a week. Several mediums have writes: "In an article on the subject of been here in the past. I go from here healing, which appeared in your issue to Lawrence, where I may be reached

Miss E. R. Fielding writes from Washington, D. C.: "The Educational Spiritual Society holds meetings every upon his pecliar belief as to what is Compton is the speaker. A. K. Mason, needed to effect a cure rather than upon what Christian Science has accomplished. Many cases of the cure of Christian Science has accomplished. Many cases of the cure of Society has discontinued its meetings at the Masonic Temple until next Octoper. The Ladies' Aid of this society holds a meeting at Mr. P. L. O A. Keeler's Thursday evening. Many of he Washington Spiritualists will go to Lily Dale camp."

This is the right idea. Turn the little rascals into useful servants. Instead of trying to kill bacteria, in future years, who knows but we may be raising them for profit? The Scientific American says: "News has been received from abroad that Prof. Hans Molisch, of Prague, has discussed a new use for bacteria. In a communication to the Vienna Academy of Sciences, he described the specifications of a mining lamp, the light of which is supplied by luminous bacteria. The lamp consists A very beautiful wedding service oc-curred Wednesday afternoon, May 6, at 645 W. 63d street, when Mr. Phillip Heller and Miss Dorothy Crumbo were prodigiously, in two days causing the iar to be illuminated with a bluish green warded to him wherever he may be. Forster, of San Francisco, Cal.: "I can-Mr. and Mrs. Moore will serve the sonot help saying that I think you are dociety at Alexandria, Ind., the last three ing a vast amount of good, in giving such wide circulation to the most ex-There will not be any camp at Bank- cellent lectures of Mr. Leadbeater. -I son Lake, Mich. The grounds have have rarely met with so much good Dame, of South Bend. Mrs. Coffman liberality of thought and expression as had been engaged for there. Now she is contained in the series you have pubwill lecture at Lawton Town Hall the lished. I trust you will be able to continue the series." Rev. Nellie K. Baker writes: "The doctor makes an elaborate explanation of his statement, and we will quote a few of his sentences for the purpose of the best element of the city. Its first showing the trend of his argument: 'In the discussions of commentators these questions have given place to each other. First, Are there any non-Davidic poems in the Psalter? Later, Does it contain any Davidic poems at all? * * * There are undoubtedly pre-Maccabean psalms, but I have not discovered any psalms. The prototype of pre-exilic psalms. The prototype of the hymns in the Hebrew Psalter are extended for her to return as often as the aste. Let us all do our full duty, and steadily pennsylvania will not much longer lag stake. Let us all do our full duty, and the stake. Let us all do our full duty, and the stake. Let us all do our full duty, and the pennsylvania will not much longer lag stake. Let us all do our full duty, and the pennsylvania will not much longer lag stake. Let us all do our full duty, and the pennsylvania will not much longer lag stake. Let us all do our full duty, and the pennsylvania will not much longer lag stake. Let us all do our full duty, and the pennsylvania will not much longer lag stake. Let us all do our full duty, and the pennsylvania will not much longer lag stake. Let us all do our full duty, and the call our full duty, and in the full o

When writing the this paper use a pen or typewriter.

All books edvertised in the columns of The Progressive Thinker are for sale at this office. Bear this in mind.

possible. Mrs. Wheeler was no stranger in Portage, this being her third visit and a crowd of pleased and eager faces always greets her. Mr. Geo. Acers, the vice-president of the society, and an all around good worker, both as test medium and speaker, put his shoulder to the wheel, and being of rather good size, both physically and mentally, makes things usually move, and he surely did that day. The proceeds of the meet-ing after deducting local expense were given to the Morris Pratt Institute, Mrs. Wheeler generously donating her the cuneiform hymns and penitential psalms. The majority of the psalms of your progressive paper accounts of belong to the Maccabean period. It must be admitted that David was not our college, of which we should all feel our college, of which we should all feel our college. services. May we read in the columns

Mrs. Lily LeSieur writes: "The Band of Harmony held at Mrs. C. L. V. Richmond's home in Rogers Park, May 7, was a most enjoyable affair. The an-Hebrew poetry that has been preserved mual election of officers took place, and is of a religious type, but we have also some poems of purely secular character. The so-called Songs of Solomon is Mrs. H. C. Goodrich, vice-president; Mrs. A. W. Austin, secretary; Mrs. S. J. Ashton, treasurer; Mrs. L. LeSleur, corresponding secretary. The questions asked by those in the audience, and answered by Ouina, were of more than usual interest. Mrs. Turbett Stocking and Mrs. Ril y gave messages from spirit friends. We voted to disband for the summer months. This will be our last Band until next September. The Church of the Soul and Band of Harmony will join in giving a supper, at what time and place notice week in May."

The Spiritualists of Cedar Rapids, would like to correspond with some good speaker and platform test medium for engagements at this place. Address Jno. Q. Adams, 521 Fourth avenue East, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

C. T. Schneider writes from Wheeling, W. Va.: "I arrived in this city and took part in the First Spiritualist Progressive Temple services on Sunday night. Rev. Way did nicely, and things are in good shape. I expect to make a tour of the east, west, north and south, for the upliftment of humanity and the growth of the N. S. A. and the cause of Spiritualism."

The Secretary writes: "The Lynn, Mass., Spiritualist Association, Dr. Alex Caird, president, have been having very successful meetings. Mr. H. A. Parvis, of Barbadoes, was with us one Sunday, assisted by Mrs. Dr. Caird, test medium. April 8, Miss Susie Clark, the noted spiritual science teacher, gave us two good lectures and on the 19th and 26th, Dr. George A Fuller delivered, as usual, very able discourses. For the month of May, Miss Elizabeth Harlow is serving us. Miss Harlow is a prime favorite in Lynn. The Social Union connected with the society is doing a good work. Mrs. Dr. Caird, as president, is always at her post, willing to do more than her share towards carrying on the work. We are very fortunate in having a large number of firstclass mediums connected with us that can always be relied upon to give their services. The children's lyceum, under the management of W. A. Estes, is very wide awake and constantly progressing. With whist parties Monday evenings, flower circles at Mrs. Caird's, Tuesdays, Social Union, Wednesdays and a free singing class for the children on Thursdays, we are kept pretty busy-not much danger of stagnating. The services in the hall will close the last Sunday in May, but will continue at Unity Camp during the summer. Good speakers will Miss Harlow having promised to be with us the first two Sundays, followed by Miss Susie Clark on the 21st, and Mrs. May S. Pepper on the 28th of June. July 5, Thomas Acers; 12th, Mrs. Cunningham; 26th, Mrs. Pepper and others to be announced later." Miss Lizzie Beals writes from Worcester, Mass., of the Association of Spiritualists, G. A. R. Hall, 35 Pearl street: "For the months of March and April Miss Elizabeth Harlow, of Haydenville, has occupied our platform. She has given a course of philosophical lectures, ably and eloquently presented, that have attracted large audiences. We all deeply regret her departure. Friday evening, April 24, the W. A. of S. gave a reception to Miss Harlow at the home of President Woodbury C. Smith, Mrs. Harriet W. Hildreth made the presentation speech, and in behalf of the friends assembled, presented her with a gold watch as a slight token of their love and their earnest appreciation of her services. Mr. L. W. Sibley, one of our oldest members, presented her with a beautiful bouquet of pinks and roses, and Mrs. Hildreth also presented her with the unpublished poems of Fred L. Hildreth. Miss Harlow responded, thanking the friends for the gift in an impressive manner, also very pleasingly alluded to the gift of owers and poems which she greatly prized." Lyman C. Howe writes from Fredonia, N. Y.: "I got home from Buffalo yesterday, and found Mrs. Howe still improving very slowly, but is up and moves about some. Last Monday Dr. Hubbell performed another operation on my eyes for 'secondary cataract.' I see better now, and hope this ends all surgery of my eyes. I heard Carrie E. S. Twing Sunday evening in Buffalo, on Suicide. She made many varieties of suicide, some of which she thought jus-tifiable. She had a fair audience, but ought to have had twice as many. She is popular with all classes. I shall be curious to know if Dr. Buckley permits Dr. Sweringer to answer him in his own paper, where his attack was made. If he doesn't he is a coward, as well as un fair."

George A. Kiehl writes from Lancaster, Pa.: "In the summer of 1901 at the camp-meeting held at Onset, Mass., a high official of the N. S. A., in a sneering manner referred to our great commonwealth as 'the hide-bound state of Pennsylvania;' in regard to Spiritualism. My Dutch rose up, also an earnest desire that in all parts of our glorious state a stretching progress would commence to loosen the old shriveled up hide which has enclosed narrow creeds for so long. Please wake up, friends; cast out fear, and aid this glo rious work of Spiritualism. We may be slower in this state than our brethren in the east, but on the other hand, we have never burned mediums at the Always give your cult same and address when sending in Itamis and opin-munications for publication, otherwise they will find their way to the wasto handle to it, proving Spiritualism out of the Bible. Much good has been done to our society by these faithful workers, and in particular to those beginning to develop mediumship."

Geo. Acers writes from Portage, Wis.: The Progressive Thinker gives us more spiritual news than any other paper of its kind published. The stand in regard to exposing fraud is in accord with my idea, as there is enough truth in Spiritualism without any resort to fraud or deception as many are doing. Those kind of mediums should be exposed and published far and wide. That is one reason that has kept us in the background so long," W. A. Willing writes from Northwood, Iowa: "Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Kates, N. S. A. missionaries, finished a two weeks' engagement at Northwood, Iowa, the 8th of May, with splendid results. They organized the First Spiritualist Society of Northwood with 12 charter members and the prospects are bright for several additional members in the near future. We believe that Mr. and Mrs. Kates have few equals, but no superiors in their field. We feel that we owe them a debt of gratitude that we can never repay, for through them the beautiful knowledge of spirit communion was presented to us and with it the philosophy of Spiritualism which so nicely appeals to one's reason and with it comes that 'peace of mind that passeth all understanding,' Our best wishes go with them and we sin-cerely trust that their health may be such that they may for several years continue to carry the glad tidings to others."

Will J. Erwood writes from LaCrosse, Wis: "At the recent convention of the Wisconsin State Spiritualist Association, it was decided to again hold a camp at Waukesha, and with that end in view the executive board are working strenuously. We wish all who are interested in camps to remember that we will have a first-class programme at the Waukesha meeting, which is to be held from July 17 to August 17, a month earlier than last year. Many of the leading speakers and mediums of the country will be in attendance, and no pains will be spared in making this a most successful camp in every respect. Ample accommodations will pared for all comers, and the management feels justified in assuring all who will attend the camp a first-class time. A most important feature of the camp will be the inauguration and maintenance of a progressive lyceum. The lyceum work is THE important work of to-day. The Waukesha lyceum will be under the direction of that veteran lyceum worker, Mrs. Mattie E. Hull. Mrs. Hull's ability in this, as in all lines of work, is too well known to need further mention here. Suffice it to say that you will do well to come to Waukesha, and bring the young Spiritualists that may be started aright. Send for par-ticulars, etc., to Will J. Erwood, secretary, W. S. S. A., 1334 Pine street, La Crosse, Wis., or Clara L. Stewart, president, Whitewater, Wis." Nellie S. Baade writes from No. 110 Masten street, Dallas, Texas: "Dallas Texas, is still in the front ranks of

Spiritualism. During my stay in this city I have organized one of the finest

lyceums, which is well attended, and every Sunday new scholars are coming The regular society is well attended, prospering as never before. My methods are somewhat new to the Southern people but the progressive classes are falling into line, and success has crowned my efforts. Upon my part it has meant an earnest, self-sacrificing life, which has been appreciated by the earnest workers of the society, who are doing all in their power for the advancement of the cause. Several gentlemen and ladies, not Spiritualists, have contributed rather than let me return to the North desirous of knowing something of our philosophy. The Progressive Lyceum, published by John W. Ring, of Galveston, for the benefit of the Sunday schools, is well worthy the patronage of every society. It is an up-to-date production and is of benefit to both old and young. I also make use of the Lyceum Guide by Mrs. Tuttle. The songs are beautiful and the lessens elevating. With this combination the school is a decided success. The officers and teachers are all rearnest, efficient workers, and the cause is bound to grow. I find my subscription for the dear old Progressive Thinker has expired, and I hasten to renew as I would not hardly know how to exist without its weekly visit. From the General Survey I keep in touch with all of the earnest workers everywhere, and al-though I do not expect to visit any of the camps this season, I hope they will all prove a grand success. I shall do all in my power to disseminate our philosophy wherever duty calls, and as I love the sunny South and the Southern people I hope to spend a very pleasant season here. From my window I see the beautiful roses in bloom and the singing of the birds reminds me that summer is here in all of its beauty, glory and grandeur."

Rev. Dr. Strickland writes from Benton Harbor, Mich.: "I have never had the good fortune to receive sufficient evidence to convince me, and I take your paper because I admire your bold and fearless declaration of the truth as you receive it."

WHICH ONE?

One of us, dear-But one— Will sit by a bed with marvelous fear, And clasp a hand Growing cold as it feels for the spirit

Darling, which one? One of us, dear-But one— grant But one— will stand by the other a coffin bier, And look and weep, While those marble lips strange silence Darling, which one? One of us, dear ali b But one— (18 fi By an open grave will drop a tear,

And homeward go, The anguish of an unshared grief to know-Darling, which one? One of us, darling; it must be,

It may be you will slip from me, Or perhaps my lifeomay, first be done-Darling, whicheone has -Isaac Hinton Brown.

A Chance to Make Money

LIST OF CAMP-MEETINGS.

tary at Once.

also the name of the secretary who can be addressed for programmes and full particulars. The notices that do not president are incomplete. island Lake, Mich.

Lake Brady, Ohlo.

Wonewoo, Wis.

on August 13 and continues to the 30th of that month. Address for particulars, (What name?) the secretary of the Western Wisconsin Camp Association, Wonewoc, Wis.

address the president, Geo. Lazalle, Oregon City, Oregon.

The camp session of the M. Y. S. A. Mt. Pleasant Park, Clinton, Iowa, will open August 2 and close August 30. For programmes address Mollie B. An-

Verona, Park, Me.

This camp opens August 2 and closes August 30. A. F. Smith, president, Bangor, Me.; F. W. Smith, secretary, Rockland, Me.

Snowflake Camp, Mich. The fourth annual camp-meeting

Eastman, secretary, Mancelona, Mich. Ottawa Camp, Kansas.

This camp opens July 30, and closes August 9. For full particulars address H. W. Henderson, Lawrence, Kansas.

The Waukesha Camp, Wis.

closes September 2.

This favorite place of resort will open its yearly session July 11 and close August 24.

Vicksburg, Mich.

closing August 25. Etna, Wash.

Washington, will hold a grand campmeeting in Etna, from August 9 to the Opens July 13 and closes August 31. Ottawa, Kans.

September 14 inclusive, at Marshalltown, Iowa. Forest Home, Mich.

ues until August 25. Saugus Center, Mass,

The Lynn Spiritualists Association will hold meetings every Sunday, end-ing September 28, at Unity Camp, Saugus Center, Mass.

Lake Pleasant, Mass.

Send in Your Dates and Name of Secre-

Inquiries are already coming to this office in reference to the various camps. Will the officers of each camp please send at once the correct dates, etc., and contain the names of the secretary or

The Island Lake Camp Association desires to announce that the season of 1903 opens July 23, extending through the month of August. Correspondence solicited with a few more good phenomenal mediums. H. R. LaGrange, secretary, 350 Grand River avenue, Detroit, Mich

Lake Brady camp opens July 5 and closes August 30. A. G. Keck, secre-

The Wonewoo camp opens this year

Chesterfield, Ind. Chesterfield (Ind.) camp-meeting pens July 16 and closes August 30. For programs and other information address Flora Hardin, secretary, Ander-

Camp-meeting in Oregon. The Spiritualists of Oregon will hold their annual camp-meeting from July 4 to July 20 on the beautiful and inspiring grounds of the Clackamas County Spiritualist Association. For particulars,

Mt. Pleasant Park, Clinton, Iowa,

derson, secretary, Clarksville, Mo.

opens at Snowflake, Mich., Aug. 1, and closes August 23. Write to Mrs. Ruth

This camp opens July 17 and closes August 17. For full particulars address the secretary, Will J. Erwood, No. 1334 Pine street, La Crosse, Wis., or Clara . Stewart, president, Whitewater, Wis.

Haslett Park, Mich. This camp commences July 25 and ends September 1.

Delphos, Kans.

The First Society of State Spiritualists and Liberals will hold their twentyfifth annual camp-meeting, commencing August 9 and closing August 26.

Mowerland Park, Mass. Camp Progress Spiritual Association will open its season on Sunday, June 2, at the grounds in Mowerland Park, at the Upper Swampscott, Mass.

Ashley, Ohio. Camp opens Aug 17 and closes Sept

Mantua, Ohio. Camp session opens July 28 and Cassadaga, N. Y.

The camp-meeting will be held at Vicksburg, commencing August 2 and

The Spiritualists of Clarke county,

Onset, Mass.

Spiritualist Camp-meeting, Forest Park, Ottawa, Kansas, August 22 to August 30. Marshalltown, lowa.

The Central Iowa Spiritualist Association will be held from August 24 to

This camp is located at Snowflake, Mich., and opens August 3 and contin-

The New England Spiritualists Campmeeting Association will open July 28, and continue thirty days, including five Bundays.

Sunapee Lake camp-meeting opens August 3 and closes August 31.

Sunapee Lake, N. H.

Franklin, Neb.

The Vranklin Spiritualists will hold

bur eighth annual camp meeting, commescing July 11, to July 28,

Niantic, Conn.

Los Angeles, Cal.

The Southern California Spiritualist

Camp-meeting Association, of Los Angeles, Cal., will open August 17, and Summerland, Cal.

The annual camp-meeting of the

close September 14.

Tto Niantic Camp, located at a de-

Jenison Park, Mich. This camp will open June 29, and will be continued through the month of August. Briggs Park, Mich. Briggs Park Camp, Grand Rapids,

Mich., opens July 6 and closes August 3. Freeville, N. Y. Regular camp opens July 26 and

Grand Ledge, Mich.

closes August 12.

Grand Ledge Spiritualist Camp-meeting will open July 27 and close August Summerland Beach, Ohio.

Woolley's Summerland Beach Camp Association opens August 10, and closes Heart Disease

Cured. Free Sample box of to every reader of this paper who has heart disease. Write us today and you will receive by return mail a package of this wonderful remedy, Cactarine and a valuable book on heart disease, absolutely free. Have you heart disease, palpitation, shortness of breath, irregular pulse, fainting spells, rheumatism and neuralgia of the heart or dropsy? If you ralgia of the heart or dropsy? If you have, Cactarine will cure you. Many Cases Relieved with Free Sample.

CASES Relieved with Free Dampie.

GAOTARINE cured D. M. Lockridge, of Des Moines, Iowa, of rheumatism of the heart with two boxes.

Mrs. Jos. Bullman, of Ohlman, Ill., of smoth-sping apple with two boxes. ering spells with two boxes.

Mr. K. West, of Hyde Park, Chicago, Ill., of organic disease and dropsy of the heart with three hoves. orkanc disease and dropsy of the heart with three boxes.

Mrs. S. E. Pollock, of Akron, Iowa, of heart disease with half a box.

Mrs. Susan Read, of Tiosa, Ind., of heart disease cured with a free sample box.

We want everybody to try this wonderful remedy at our expense.

Kidney Disease We want every person afflicted with kidney disease to write us for free sample package of Borbarina Compound our great kidney ramedy. Welter worder remedy. Write us today. ELMO, CHEMICAL CO., 301 Good Blk., Des Moines, la.

LIGHT OF EGYPT.

The Second Volume of Most Valuable Work

This is the author's posthumous work JM or The Touch of An Angel pils in occultism, and like Volume I. is (a valuable addition and) a library on occult subjects. Spiritual astrology is especially elaborated. Alchemy, Tallsmans, the Magic Wand, Symbolism, Correspondence, Penetralia, etc., are a few of the subjects treated of in a scholarly and masterly manner, showpils in occultism, and like Volume I. is ing the author to be familiar with his subjects. You cannot afford to be with out it, as well as all his other books, viz.: The Light of Egypt, Vol. I., bound in cloth, $2; paper, $1. The Light of Egypt, Vol. II., bound in cloth only, $2. Celestial Dynamics, cloth, $1.

Three Remarkable Books

"The Divine Pedigree of Man."
"The Law of Psychic Phenomena."
"A Scientific Demonstration of the Future Life." The Divine Pedigree of Man, or the Testimony of Evolution and Psychology to the Fatherhood of God. By Thompson Jay Hudson, LL. D. A most remarkable work demonstrating the existence of the Soul and Future Life. It is scientific throughout. Price $1.50. Dr. Hudson's work on "The Law of Psychio Phenomena" is also valuable. Price, $1.50. His "Scientific Demonstration of the Future Life" should be read by all. Price $1.50.

THE GOSPEL OF BUDDHA, According to Old Records. By Dr. Paul Carus. A translation made from Japanese, under the auspices of the Rev. Shaku Soyer, delegate to the Parliament of Religions. Was published in Japan. Price, $1.

Church and State.

The Bible in the Public Schools; the New "American" Party. By "Jefferson." Third edition; 28 pages. Price, 10 cents.

ANTIQUITY UNVEILED.

The most important revelations concerning the true origin of Christianity. Reader, in bringing to your notice "Antiquity Unveiled," it is with the sincere hope that you are can-estly looking for the truth, regardless of any other consideration. If such is the case, this advertisement will deeply interest you, and after reading this brief description you will doubtless wish to give the work a careful perusal. Price, $1.50.

CONTROLS IN Spirit Life and Recent of Samuel Bowles in the First Five Spheres, Etc. Written through the hand of Carrie E. S. Twing. Paper, 30 cents.

Father Tom and the Pope, Or a Night at the Vatican. Written probably by Sir Samuel Ferguson. From Blackwood's Edinburg Magazine. This is a humorous abcount of a rolicksome visit to the Pope of Rome by Father Tom, an Irish priest, armed with a superabundance of Irish wit, two imperial quart bottles of Irish "poteen," and an Irish recipe for "conwounding" the same Paper. 25 cents; cloth, 50 cents.

BODY AND SOUL. BY J. CLEGG WRIGHT.

This volume consists of a course of lectures dilivered in the tranco state, and is certainly no finall contribution to the study of the soul. It is a good work to open the eyes to the difference between the deductive and inductive process of the sound in cloth, it. For sale at this open.

THUMBSCREW AND RACK. Torture implements employed in the 18th and 18th centuries for the promulgation of Christianity, with pictoria illustrations. By George E. Macdonald. Price, 10 cents.

SPIRITUAL SONGSTER. By Mattle E. Hull. Thirty-eight of Mrs. Hull's sweetest songs, adapted to popular music, for the use of congregations, cliules and families. Price, 10 behts, or 67 per hundred.

THE PSYCHOGRAPH

DIAL PLANCHETTE.

This instrument is substantially the same as the employed by Prof. Hare in his early investigations in its improved form it has been before the public follower than seven years and in the hands of thousands of persons has proved its superiority over the Planchette, and all other allertunents which have been brought out in imitation, both in regard to 'certainty and correctness of the communications received by its sid, and as a means or developing mediumship.

Do you wish to investigate Spiritualism?

Do you wish to develop Mediumship?

Do you desire to receive Communications?

The Psychograph is an invaluable assistant.

The Psychograph is an invaluable assistant. pamphlet with full directions for the Formation of Circles and Cultivation

of Mediumship

with every instrument. Many who were rist aware of their mediumistic gift, have, after c. few cistings better the control of their mediumistic gift, have, after c. few cistings better the control of their mediumistic gift, have, after c. few cistings the falled with commendatory lesters. Many who began with its as a nameing tc/, found that the latelligence controlling it knew more than them selves, and became converts to Spiritualism.

Capt. D. B. Edwards, Orient, N. Y., writes: "I had communications by the Psychograph) from many sther friends, even from old settlers whose gravestones are mose-grown in the old yard. They have been highly satisfactory, and proved to me that Epiritualism is indeed true, and the communications have given my heart the greatest comfort in the severational latest the provided one of the communications have given my heart the greatest comfort in the severations latest have head of son, daughter, and their name familiar to those interested in psychic matters, writes as follows: "I am much pleased with the Psychograph. It is very simple in principle and construction, and I am sure must be far more sensitive to spiritual power than the one now in use. I bedieve it will renerally supersede the latter when its superior merits become known!"

Becurrety packed, and sent postage paid from of Mediumship

Becurely packed, and sent postage paid from the manufacturer, for $1.00. Address: HUDSON TUTTLE. Berlin Heights, Ohio.

Nan and the By Rev. Arthur Chambers Spirit World Associate of King's College for Christian people who would investigate and loarn the facts of Bible teachings as well as modern spirit phenomena. Price, cloth, 81.10.

THE OTHER SIDE OF DEATH Scientifically Examined and Carefully Described.

BY C. W. LEADBEATER A Volume of 500 large pages, treating very nterestingly if Life. Death and immortality. Clairvoyance. Spirit Phenomena, Etc. as viewed by an acknowledged and cultivated exponent of Theosophy. Price $1.50.

MARK GHESTER,

A Mill and a Million. This is one of Carlyle Petersilea's most interesting works. It is purely a Psychical Romaner stein as the author is noted for producing. You need it in your library for the purpose of leading your romance-loving children out into the light of occultism. Price, cloth cover, 30 cts.

The Romance of Jule A story of the Life and Times of "The Naza-rine" and of his people. Given Through the mediumship of MRS.M.T. LONGLEY, to Ira C. Fuller, and by him dedicated to humanity. It is enough to know this work came through this excellent medium to recommend it. 174 pages of interesting reading. Price, cloth, 50 cents.

Mother.

"AS IT IS TO BE."

A VERY SUGGESTIVE WORK It Beams With Spiritual

Truths, This is a beautiful book, by Cors Lynn Daniels, and it scintillates with grand spiritual thought. An idea of this work can be obtained by reading the titles of a few of the chapters

The Process of Dying; Light and Spirit; The Law of Attraction; Senses

of the Spirit; What Is Unconscious

Will; Fear; Astrology; The God-Soul of Man; The Drama; A Day in Heaven, Price $1. For sale at this office. THE SOUL . ITS NATURE. RE-LATIONS AND EX-PRESSIONS IN HUsale. Price $1.00. This is one of the best books given by the guides of Mrs Cora L. V. Richmond. They are really lessons, published primarily, as a book of reference for those who have been members of the classes receiving them. This volume is a careful compilation from reports of lessons, containing the bases of the teachings.

DEATH ITS MEANING and Results.

By J. K. Wilson, of the Pennsylvania Bar. An absorbingly interesting narrative relating a series of wonderful psychic manifestations occurring in the writer's experience. Cloth, illus-

A MASTERLY WORK. Continuity of Life a Cosmic Truth

By Prof. W. M. Lockwood. A masterly presentation of an important sub-ject. A powerful argument along new and scien-tific lines, establishing on a scientific basis the fact of the continuity of personal individual con-scious selfhood after laying aside the physical body. A book of rare value. With several fine illustrations. Cloth, $1.00.

An Infamous A pamphlet of $2 pages, com-Conspiracy piled and published by the late Rev. J. G. White, authors a numerous anti-Catholic works. It contains disclosures relative to a villatious plot to over throw our free government. Price, 15 cents.

BONANISM Is a pamphled of 80 pages, is EXPOSED reply to Prof. David Swing Priest Cashman and Dr. With row, and is principally in defense of Protestant lam. A concise little pamphlet. Price is cents.

VEDANTA PHILOSOPHY.

Lectures by the Swami Vivekaaande, on Raja Yorst or Conquering the Internal Naterc, and other subjects; also, Fatanjail's Yoga Aphorisms, with commontaries and a conjons glossary of Sanskrit terms. Revised and enlarged; 12mo, Cloth, $1,50. Raja Yoga is an ancient system of Indian Philosophy, and one of the four chief methods that the Yedanta Philosophy offers to obtain freedom and perfection. Swamt Vivekanands became a familiar figure in several American and the Swamt Vivekanands became a familiar figure in several American on Citics during the three-years following the Parliament of Religions at Chicago he was cordisity received in America, where the breadth and depict of his toachings were soon recognized. His teachings are universal in their application. The book is cheap.

This department is under the man agement of.

HUDSON TUTTLE, Acdress him at Belin Heights, Ohio

NOTE.-The Questions and Answers have called forth such a host of respondents, that to give all equal hearing compels the answers to be made in the most condensed form, and often clearness is perhaps sacrificed to this forced brevity. Proofs have to be omitted, and the style becomes thereby assertive, which of all things is to be dep-Correspondents often weary with waiting for the appearance of their questions and write letters of inquiry. The supply of matter is always several weeks ahead of the space given, and hence there is unavoldable delay. Every one has to wait his time and place, and all are treated with equal

NOTICE.—No attention will be given NOTICE.—No attention will be given anonymous letters. Full name and address must be given, or the letters will not be read. If the request be made, the name will not be published. The not be read. If the request be made, the name will not be published. The correspondence of this department has become excessively large, especially letter opinion on this particular picture. The combine can that this man was never ters of inquiry requesting private answers, and while I freely give whatever information I am able, the ordinary courtesy of correspondents is ex-pected. HUDSON TUTTLE.

that he looked back after passing from In the photograph you can see directly this life, and saw his friends and his own body. Another says that spirits can only see the spiritual, and not the physical part. How can these statements be reconciled?

A. All material bodies are pervaded by a spiritual essence. Even the dead young "camera fiend" has stirred the body retains a portion, which makes quiet and peaceful town of Wethersfield them visible to spirit vision. That vis- into a state of excitement, while many ton takes cognizance of the spirit form, persons in various neighboring places, or permeation, and unless instructed who are susceptible to spiritual influwould have no knowledge of the material through which this was manifested.

Enquirer: Q. What is Universology? and is it a system that is received by scientific men?

A. As advocated by Stephen Pearl Andrews, it is a universal science, covering all knowledge—all sciences, philarly properties anthropy, religion and morality. Its at the Wethersfield cemetery. The principles which permeated all systems the grave of Thomas Chester, or to be and sciences, and thereby unitized them. While it is admitted that nature The dates have been worn away. A as a whole is a unit, and all sciences must harmonize and blend together, the three fundamental principles of universology, "Unism, duism, trinism," have never been accepted by scientific men as other than speculative, and as

The pretentious volume of Andrews on this subject for the moment ture, one may detect the outlines of a awakened considerable interest, and was regarded as of sufficient consecutive of photography. To be this subject for the moment quence to be attacked by leading critillevers in Spiritualism it is not a curiosics. This was short-lived and it is now ity, but is significant. Some hold a firm placed with the Positivism of Comte on opinion that the figure shown in the the library's shelf to gather dust foreground is the spirit of a man who Growing thought will not tolerate the narrowness of one-sided views.

John K. Visscher: The works of Ingersoll have not been translated into world. German or Dutch.

Reader: Q. The Ram's Horn announces that it will soon publish the story of the man who originated Spirit-in an advertising prospectus of that pa | Paul and I decided to go to the Wethper, which occupies the position to the ersfield cemetery to take some pictures. churches that bushwhackers and guer. When we reached it we proceeded to a illas do to a regular army. It is as fol-

most fortunate in locating the man snake basking in the sun on it. It was (now ninety-five years of age) who was a strange sight, considering the melanthe unconscious and, unwilling origi- choly feeling one experiences in a nator of the whole movement. Spiritism as it is now practiced, he detests grave. He was a nasty looking one, and repudiates. He has given us information regarding its beginning and its by it and Paul whispered to me that he bad ending in charlatanry and fraud." was going to snap it. Fearing the All this the readers of the delectable snake would move I picked up a stick Ram's Horn will soon have served up to with which to kill the reptile, if it at-

We are not in telepathic connection with the reverend gentleman who edits snake crawled about a foot and I was the Ram's Horn, and hence cannot fore just about to kill it when it stopped know the revelation he is bursting to and I stepped back. Charlie snapped make. We, however, know too well the history of Spiritualism to give the least credence to this story of the non-ogenarian, who with one foot in the confess through the snake picture until several days after the snake picture and we thought no more than the picture and we then the picture a the Chicago Ram's Horn.

"originated" the spiritual manifestations. They were almost simultaneously given in thousands of homes. The phenomena occurring in the family of John Wesley, founder of Methodism, John Wesley, founder of Methodism, circled by a cuff. We made another were in some respects more remark and clearer print and were dumfounded able than the rappings of the Fox family one hundred years later. Had not bigotry and superstition prevailed, Spiritualism instead of Methodism might then have prevailed.

not hampered with a lingering regard truth can gainsay it.

We anticipate what this "revelation" til it appears.

ism explained away! It's the devil, and more I am sure we never saw that any minister of the gospel who says he man's face." has communed with another minister of the gospel (as a spirit) is a liar," says It's "subconscious self," says a sci-is it? say the Psychical Researchers. have a new name.

ors of the press. This has been the standard explanation for fifty years, in existence, clever work in double exand has been handy when everything posures bringing about the result. It is his death-bed confession! It would save the churches a world of trouble oses and explanations interluded beween the constant reiteration that it has utterly collapsed and is dead! What wonderful vitality it has! What a power to be thus hated and feared!

Mrs. Rockhill: There is a crematory

A SNAP SHOT.

WAS IT A SPIRIT PICTURE?

Snap Shot in Graveyard-It Causes Excitement in Quiet Town of Wethersfield-Mysterious Appearance of a Man's Form.

To the Editor:-The illustrated article enclosed was published by the Hartford Times of April 30. The figure of the man is much more distinct in the photograph than in the newspaper cut. The boy who took the picture declares that no visible man was there on the tombstone, nor in the vicinity. The figure appeared when the negative was family say that this man was never known to wear ruffles of the period in which he lived, but always the cuffs with a soft white stock or folded neckerchief, which may account for the modern appearance of the dress. Hold John Thompson: Q. A spirit says the picture sideways in order to see it. through the hand. Hartford, Ct. A SUBSCRIBER.

The Hartford Times has the follow-

A curious photograph taken by ences, have had their interest aroused to no small degree. A half-tone reproduction accompanies this article.

The photograph was "snapped" by Charles E. Paul of Hudson street, this city, who was accompanied by John Grogan of Railroad avenue, field, both employes of the Underwood founders supposed they had discovered large slab lying on the ground marks close examination of the picture will reveal the figure of a rather intelligentlooking man, attired in modern clothing, lying, as it were, at the end of the slab on the right hand side. On still closer scrutiny, about the monument resultless in demonstration as a dream. with the mongram inscribed on its face, in the upper left hand corner of the pic > was buried alive in 1879, and who has been endeavoring since that time to materialize long enough to communi-cate this unpleasant message to the spot where a number of old graves are located. As we approached the stone "As for Spiritualism we have been you see in the picture we saw a large graveyard, to see a serpent lying on a tempted to crawl away. We were de-termined to get that picture. The terward. No, sir, no one went near it, No especial one can be said to have and all the plates were new, having been recently purchased.

A Times reporter learned of the existence of the peculiar picture and also of the strange tale connected with it. After considerable difficulty he secured one of the photographs. He then lounlism. Is there any truth in its cated the young men who took it, one of whom told the following story:

"On the first print Paul called my at tention to something which resembled the figure of a hand, the wrist being enat seeing the form of a man slowly but conspicuously appear. We were baf-fled and could not account for it. We kept quiet about it at first, but soon it ight then have prevailed.

Of course any one with imagination great demand for copies of the picture. We cannot account for it. I do not beto the truth, to common honesty and lieve in Spiritualism, but this thing is decency, can concoct a story, and a lie a deep mystery to me. Spiritualists thus started may be so nimble-footed from various places, one I remember that it will go round the world, before distinctly lives on Hartford avenue, have made frequent requests for copies of the picture, and they all tell me that will be, but will not waste argument unthe man is a medium. I try to believe it was accidental, but as I said before we can't trace the accident: further

Two well known and respectable cit izens told the reporter that at a seance held in this city several days after the photograph was taken, the medium, it is alleged, announced that he had had It's telepathy, we guess—if not, what it? say the Psychical Researchers. communication with a spirit who told him that he was buried alive in the It's animism, say the Germans. They Wethersfield cemetery in 1879, and for years has been endeavoring to material. It's a joke played on poor mortals by ize in order to tell the world of his ter the "astral shells" of the departed, say rible experience. He was unsuccessful the Theosophists. I have yet to learn until the young men appeared with a what an "astral shell" is or by what law camera, and then, according to the me it remains to befool its friends in this dium, he materialized sufficiently to be life, while the real spirit is lost in the come recognizable upon the plate in the infinite tide of reincarnation, and vir- camera. It is stated that the medium tually washed out of identified exist knew nothing of the photograph, in fact it is said the seance was held before the

It's all a fraud! cry the sapient edit- plate was developed; There are many trick photographs not suspected that the boys were in

"How Shall I Become a Medium," Fully Answered

In Mediumship and Its Laws, Its Conditions and Cultivation," by Hudson Tuttle. Price 35 cents. Send to Mr. Tuttle, Berlin Heights, O.

Now comes the final overthrow by any trick, but it is argued that perhaps the Ram's Horn! It's a fraud and the the plate, after exposure and before dethe plate, after exposure and before development, had been packed and sold. If this is true, it is certainly curious that the plate should have been used and auxlety if Spiritualism would quiet for a snap of a large snake in a gravely give up the ghost! And all these exseen, if at a former time, was an up-right, while the cemetery scene was lengthwise. The Times gives the picture and the story for what it is worth.

A Hartford gentleman has a strange looking photograph secured by a double exposure of a film. While on an outing at Old Point Comfort he "snapped" one of the battleships at anchor in Hampton Roads, and shortly after used his camera for a picture of the lawn and buildings of the Soldiers' Home. When the films were developed, on his return home, he was surprised to find a photograph, showing the white battleship apparently at anchor on the lawn of the Soldiers' Home. It was easily explained—the amateur photographer had failed to turn the film ahead on the roll after the first exposure, and so he had a combination picture.

THE OCCULT FORCE.

Hyphotism as a Defense of Crime.

As set forth in the Chicago Tribune, arrested on a charge of shoplifting, a woman being tried in one of the New York City courts, offers in defense the plea that she was impelled to the act of theft by a person who had hypnotized

This remarkable excuse presents a difficult question for the jury to decide, as it is one about which even scientists who have studied the phenomena of hypnotism are not agreed.

Few cases are on record in which this plea of irresponsibility was used successfully in defense of a prisoner charged with committing a criminal act. In one instance the celebrated nerve specialist, Kraft-Ebbing, gave testimony which secured the release of a prisoner who claimed to have acted under the influence of hypnotism, but subsequently this woman, who was a professional shoplifter, admitted that she had deceived the learned medical

In another similar case a woman was discharged and the three actual perpetrators of the crime were punished.

Several years ago a committee was appointed by the French government to determine whether it is possible for one person to cause another, who is hypnotized, to sign receipts for money not received, and whether a hypnotized person could be induced to execute a will in favor of any person determined by the party making the experiment. Both questions were answered in the affirmative. But these conclusions, it appears, were largely based on analogy and on work which was done in the laboratory. No case is on record in which either of the above acts was committed in actual practice.

A number of trials have resulted in the conviction of men who have been accused of taking advantage of women whom they had hypnotized.
Experimentally, there is not much ev dence that hypnotism is of practical use in the commission of crime. Those who take this view say that while it is possible, without the least difficulty, to induce a hypnotized person to do what is asked, the subject will still retain a certain power of control over his actions and will stop short of doing anything illegal or harmful to another. The hypnotized person will at once fire an unloaded pistol at his dearest friend, if the suggestion is given

Some investigators insist that the subject will likewise discharge a loaded pistol if instructed to do so, and challenge the doubters to try the experiment if they are so certain that no The following experiments have been performed: A young woman who was hypnotized was told to pour the contents of an inkstand over her elegant light dress. She did not obey.

A subject who carried out the instruction of assuming the character of an officer or a sailor was conscientiously restrained from acting the part of a

A woman was told to stab a man, which she at once did, with a card which had been placed in her hand. A knife was then given to her and the instruction again given. She raised her hand, but did not attempt to strike. A Jewess was hypnotized on a Satur day, when it is forbidden an orthodox Jew to accept money, and offered a gold coin. She refused to take it. Why more advantage is not taken of hypnotizable people to carry out crimi-nal acts when such would seem to be a convenient method of violating the law is easily answered.

In the first place it is generally be leved that only a person with evil tendencies can be used as a tool. It would be safer to make a confederate of such a person than trust to the complicated and clumsy method of hypnotism. The many people cannot be hypnotized, and of those whom it is possible to get under influence some may, and many often do, awake when the experimenter leasts expects it. Besides, complete loss of memory of what takes place during hypnosis is not universal. A still further drawback is the fact that the hypnotized person would act like a machine without regard to surrounding conditions and would take no precau-tions to avoid detection. He would blindly follow the instruction given, but ils actions would surely attract the attention of people who would see him. To avoid the mechanical movements of the hypnotized person, it would be necessary to give suggestions to him cover ing every possible combination of contingencies, and this would present difficulties so great as to hardly warrant the risky attempt. A recent writer on the subject says that he considers the danger of detection so great that a less practical method could be selected. In most European countries only medical men are permitted to practice hypnotism. Russian law forbids a physician to hypnotize a patient unless there are other medical men present. And even then it is first necessary to notify the local administrative authorities of the exact day and hour on which the proposed seance will take place and the names of the witnesses must be given. Publications on hypnotism which may be accessible to the ordinary reader must be submitted to a censorship. No public exhibitions may be given outside of clinics or hospitals.

That hypnotism has an injurious effect, both physical and moral, is now generally conceded by all well qualified men who have seriously considered the matter. Medical authorities all over the world have pointed out its dangers. One writer on the subject, whose experience qualifies him to express an opinion, states that the risk of mental deterioration from the frequent induction of the hypnotic state, especially for those of a nervous temperament, is distinctly dangerous. For this reason alone there is a good cause why there ought to be passed a law in the United The Time States to retrict the practice of hypnotism to the medical profession.

In France its use is forbidden even Price $1.

French neurologist, who was largely re sponsible for the sectival of the hyp notic form of treatment, almost completely abandoned its use during the last years of his lifed At present it seems destined thibe regarded more as a medical curiosity than as a useful form of treatment; with an Bernheim, a medical man with an enormous experience bwith hypnotism once had the misfortune to lose a pa tient whom he had put under hypnotic influence. The man ke was treating was suffering from pain caused by some inflamed veins off one leg, and he was put to sleep to relieve the distress which this trouble caused him. The man died in two hours.

Lombroso reported the case of an officer who had been hypnotized at a public seance and who later on was accustomed to fall into the hypnotic condition at the sight of a shining object. One night on approaching an advancing carriage which carried a lamp the officer became unconscious and would have fallen and been crushed to death had not a comrade rescued him.

A young woman who had been hypno-tized by the aid of a gong subsequently developed a tendency to go into spontaneous trance when she heard any regular or monotonous sound. One day crossing a crowded street as the church pells were ringing she staggered and fell under the wheels of a passing vehicle and was killed.

As hypnotism is beneficial only in those functional diseases which rarely endanger life, and for which many other well known and less dangerous and simpler remedles may be employed, it would seem as if hypnotism as a means of cure has a restricted field in which t must be used by medical men; and as its manifestations are pathological rather than physiological, there is every reason to demand that a law should enacted to prevent its indiscrimipate use by the laity.
F. EDWARD HERMAN, M. D.

WANTS FACTS

In Reference to Thomas Paine and the President.

To the Editor: -- May I ask you and through you all of your readers a few questions which recent events seem to make very important to Spiritualists and all Liberals everywhere.

1. Did or not Theodore Roosevelt call Thomas Paine (whose name no true lover of human race ought ever to mention without benediction forever on his head) "a dirty, little Atheist"? 2. If Theodore Roosevelt did call Thomas Paine this vile thing, that is dirty, where can the expression be 3. If Theodore Roosevelt did not use the false, scandalous and infamous language attributed to him, will not some one familiar with his books clear up the matter as a justice to-well, to Theo dore Roosevelt? . 4. Has not the time come when all Spiritualists and all Liberals ought to resent all flippant and false speeches and writings concerning them and their heroes, the heroes of humanity, though it come from statesman, politicians or war lord or whomsoever? 5. I know of a good many Spiritualists and Liberals who would like to know the truth about the alleged use of the above-quoted foul and feculent language of and concerning him whom many esteem as the first American and many more esteem as quite the fore most man of all the world.

6. Let us have the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth; as it will not do to say or think that such an expression from such a source can do no harm. I have seen it denied that he said this "dirty" thing; but others persent in alleging that he did now it and brute force to unbalanced humanity. We ought also to be ashamed of examples to alleging that he did now it and the brute force to unbalanced humanity. call attention to the allegation to that effect some time ago in your columns and say there is no denial that is authentic.

7. Worst of all, I have heard the expression very recently as a thing entitled to great weight as coming from a True, we may quote the wise words of Walt Whitman addressed to a presi-"All you are doing and saying is to America dangled mirages;

"You have not learned of nature, of the politics of nature, you have not learned the great amplitude, rectitude, impartiality;

"You have not seen that only such as they are for these states,
"And that what is less than they must sooner or later lift off from these

But all ought to feel reluctant to have to say such a thing as the poet said of another president aforetime. But who will give us the book, the page and the very place where these words were written, if they were written? Of one thing, however, I am determined as a life-long Spiritualist, and that is this. I will resent any and every such false and scandalous language from whatever source it may come, and we Spiritualists and Liberals, will never be respected or entitled to respect until we all resent such infamous language though it come from angels. Hitherto the use of foul and false language towards us has not cost

Kansas City, Mo.

E. E. CHESNEY.

The probability is that the President never used the language in reference to the noble patriot Paine, that has been attributed to him. Such language is entirely foreign to his nature. How-ever, we want facts—not surmises.

BOOK REVIEW.

The Veil of Isis is the latest published literary brochure from the pen of W. P. Phelon, M. D. It is a concise, con densed description of those wonderful tapestries of the Past, which have served to separate the Visible from the Invisible, in three differing epochs of he world. It is in a paper cover, blue and silver. It sells forwa dime at this office.

The Angels' Diary and Celestion Study of Man. By Mrs. Effie M. Shirey and her brother, Charles Samson, from the Celestial Sphere. : Discribed to Mrs. J. A. Beeds Samson wLender, (their mother), of Denver, Colorado. This volume comprises two parts, "The Angels' Diary" and "The Celestion Study of Man." The reader will find it in both parts replete with interesting and spiritualizing, thoughts. Price $1.50. Address Mrs. J. A. S. S. Lender,

A little book adapted to be a very useful assistant in acquiring a fluent use of speech in foreign, languages is "Homophonic Conversations in English, German, French and Italian," by C. B. and C. V. Waite, of Chicago.

Denver, Colo.

The conversations are arranged in parallel columns, making it very convenient indeed, and are classified under their proper headings, as: Salutation, The Time, The Weather, The News, etc., etc. The book is in handy form for the pocket. Neatly bound in cloth,

PUNISHMENT OF CRIMINALS

The Right to Punish is Morally Indefensible.

It is a moral axiom that if a same person commits a crime he deserves punishment, and the safety of the public demands that he be separted from society. Thus all people desire to have the criminal caught and confined. Some want the crime avenged, and others are not satisfied without having vengeance wreaked upon him.

When a murderer is executed physicians generally dissect the brain in a search for the incentive to commit crime, and this search has always resulted in failure. To force a man to live upon bread and water, to hose him down with cold water, to compel him to perform hard manual labor, or crowd him into a straight jacket until his hands and feet are deformed, does not change the results of his crime, nor does it change the attitude of his mind. The hardened criminal is made harder by the brutal treatment upheld by state laws. To do a man harm, to take his life because he has, in an insane moment, taken a life or committed a crime, is anything but noble; furthermore it is morally indefensible. Neither man nor state has a moral right to punish. To prove this statement to be a fact, it is necessary to plainly understand the complicated nature of a human being. Man has a spiritual nature, a mental nature and a physical or animal nature. In plajner anguage man is spirit, brain and body. To illustrate this argument take an electric dynamo with its machinery attached. The electricity drives the dynamo and this operates the machinery. The electricity, dynamo and machinery combined make a manufacturing plant.

If a dynamo fails to perform its proper work the manufacturer does not give it a hammering, tear it to pieces or throw it away. He sends for an electrician, one who is skilled in knowledge of electrical machinery. The first thing the electrician will do will be to turn on the electric current, note the cause of failure, then repair or readjust the mechanism so that it again operates and the machinery of the body. The three combined make a human being The correct moral view, then, of a criminal, is that he is an untrained spirit controlling an unbalanced mind to cause the body-to perform unlawful in human acts. Here is a mechanical mechanism and a natural mechanism very much alike. To the mechanical one we apply scientific knowledge and to the natural mechanism we apply brute force, use torture or the hammering process, trying, no doubt, to beat some sense into his head. Then he is compelled to perform hard labor, perhaps break rocks for a period of years, and finally discharged still a mental-dwarfed, weak-willed, one-sided human Hardened by punishment he goes out into the world to commit a darker crime. He is again apprehended, tried and sentenced to a longer service at the rock-pile. Over and over again has this happened, yet no concern is manifested by people or states.

Punishment does not reform a man, because it does not change his mind or motive. To do this, states prisons ought to be places for mental and moral development, as well as for a simple occupation at hard labor.

The wonderful X-ray, wireless telegraphy, and all other boasted achievements in science, as applied to the resources of nature, ought to make us ashamed of such silly logic as to apply leging that he did say it and ining the brain after the spirit has left it, because its natural mechanism is destroved.

In the mental and moral light of our age there is one crime committed that is darker than all the rest, and that is the confinement of criminals for a period of years without teaching them to know and control themselves. The penal institutions of our country should be great fields for the achieve ment of mental and moral development They represent a whole world of undis covered country for the scientific research of phrenologists and psycholo-The duty of the state is not to punish criminals but to make well-balanced human beings of them, as far as possible, by employing these scientists to kindly teach them how to readjust their faculties so as to produce a normal balance of mind. Hopeless cases there may be, but this kind of training could not fail to improve all of them. Great possibilities for scientific achievement lie in these undeveloped human beings. Beginning with worst type, it is possible that the research will end in a discovery of a method of molding the plastic minds of children so as to eliminate a large percentage of criminals before the crop reaches maturity. When we have only to read the daily press to find children committing both murder and suicide, the time seems ripe to begin. We now teach children physiology. Let us take another step forward and teach them phrenology and psychology. Graded lessons should be prepared upon these subjects and taught side by side with geography and arithmetic.

No estimate can be placed upon the value of such training. The period of childhood is the golden opportunity, for "As the twig is bent the tree is inclined." There is no reason why a child should not become as familiar with the use of his mind as he is with the use of his hands. To educate a child to control his angry passions is to begin the process of weeding out criminals. Half the battle with an enemy is won by knowing how to repulse his method of attack.

There is a trite saying that "to re-form a man we should begin with his grandfather," but as nearly every rule which applies to humanity is worked backward now-a-days, to begin with criminals will be appropriate. Then if a way be discovered by which to apply the new methods of teaching to the children, the future generations will reap the benefits when they shall have become grandparents.

MRS. M. E. VAN LUVEN. Oakland, Cal.

How Some of Our Readers Can Make Money.

Having read of the success of some of your readers selling Dish-washers, I have tried the work with wonderful success. I have not made less than 80.0 any day for the last six months. The Mound City Dish-washer gives good satisfaction and every family wants one. A lady can wash and dry the dishes without removing her gloves and can do the work in two minutes. I got my sample machine from the Mound City Dish-Washing Co., of St. Louis, Mo. Lussed it to take orders and sold 12 Dish-washers the first day. The Mound City Dish-washer Co. will start your write them for particulars. Ladies can do as well as men.

"The Spiritual Significance, or, Death as an Event in Life." By Lilian Whiting. One of Miss Whiting's most suggestive, intensely interesting, spiritual books. It is laden with rich, thoughtful spirituality. For sale at this office.

History of the

GHRISTIAN RELIGION to the Year 200,

BY CHARLES V. WAITE, A. M. Fifth Edition-Revised, with Much Additional Matter in Appendix

A standard and reliable history of the historical research in matters of fact A standard and reliable history of the earlier period of the church, giving wholly ignored by the regular church facts that are not found in the so-called historians, and throws a bright glare of histories written by churchmen. This light on points heretofore carefully. histories written by churchmen. This light on points heretolore carefully latest edition has been carefully and shrouded in darkness. thoroughly revised, and it is a reliable A large octavo volume of 556 pages, magazine of facts, such as the honest strongly bound in cloth. Price $2.25. inquirer wants. It opens up to the information of the progressive Thinker vestigator and student a wide field of office.

GELESTIAL DYNAMIGS.

Being a Normal Course of Study in the Astro-Magnetic Forces of Nature.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "THE LIGHT OF EGYPT," "THE LAN-GUAGE OF THE STARS," ETC.

A magnificent and complete course of Astro-metaphysical study, embodying Vital Principles of Life, Mental Force, Sickness and Disease. With the only true and really Scientific method of treating the sick successfully. Mental Healers, Meta-physicians, and all who practice the Healing Art Divine should give "Celestial Dynamics" a thorough and impartial study, and thus learn the real cause of their frequent failures. No Astro-Student can afford to be without this work, if he would understand the Meta-physics of Astrology. This work was specially prepared for publication to meet the demands of a large and very earnest class of people who cannot afford to pay for a regular course of instruction under a qualified teacher. And those who can afford this privilege will find the work an invaluable text-book to their studies.

The Price is One Dollar Only, and is within reach of all who seek

RENDING THE VAIL

Now compare the electricity to the spirit of man, the dynamo to the brain of Man, and All Things, and All Being

It Was Written by Materialized Forms at the House of J. H. Pratt, Spring Hill, Kansas, William W. Aber Being the Medium.

"Rending the Vail" is pronounced by and various kindred questions. All Col. R. T. Van Horn, of Kansas City, these are treated, some of them very Mo., as a most remarkable work. That fully, but all rationally understandable. Col. Van Horn is fully competent to Also phenomena, inspiration and such judge, we will say that he has been a to many, knotty subjects, are freely and member of congress for four sessions, fully discussed. an editor of a leading daily, and a pro-

Reed, who is caned the chemical control of the medium; William Denton, meeting the minutes in full were read, Thomas Paine and Michael Faraday, corrected, or criticised by those present corrected or criticised by those present and when approved incidental and mostly personal messages or dissertations on scientific, philosophic, religious, theologic and occult spirit communication. Swedenborg, of life, or religions, of scientific discoy.

Andrew Jackson Davis, and Maria King ery, and the laws of cosmos or nature—in fact the entire field of human wrote Universe automatically by typewriter. "Rending the Vall" was writer. thought. The limitation seemed to be only that of the spectators to ask ques-

"In addition to this mass of messages, the room at a desk, the form or person-in kind, in thought and style with those or in writing. to which their active lives in this world "In reading the book, and I have read on our book-shelves.

found thinker along scientific lines. dlum nor by any one connected with the He says:

"The principal contributors to the book are four in number: Dr. W. H. Reed, who is called the chemical control of the medium; William Denton, trol of the minutes in full were read, trol of and by the authors, and when approved by both laid away for the rook.

"The work is unique in the history of wrote Oahspe automatically by type-writer. "Rending the Vail" was written and spoken by full-form personali-ties and is printed as given. One re-markable thing about the writing may not be amiss here. As high as 1,200 words a minute were written by actual

"It is but just to the secretary to sa sketched at the doorway of that his work has been admirably done the cabinet and the finished picture—not only faithfully and efficiently, but handed to one of the circle and filed with excellent taste. There are no dogaway by the seceretary.

matic parentheses, no interpolations or "What will attract the attention of ipse dixits of the scribe. He simply states that "a form purpositing to be" even the non-Spiritualist reader is that states that "a form purporting to be the topics treated by Prof. Denton, So-and-So, "appeared and delivered the Thomas Paine and Prof. Faraday, are following"—stating whether it was oral were devoted—in literary character as it all, this modest, self-retiring, literal different here as in their works extant rendering of these extraordinary happenings by the secretary has been a "The Spiritualist press and its consource of constant admiration. It adds tributors are just now discussing a character to the book and inspires constant admiration. number of questions as to the nature of stant confidence in the integrity that spirit, of spirit return: the want of from the first page to the last enhances agreement between those returning as the respect and interest of the reader." to conditions in their present world; the This remarkable book, "Rending the limitations—that the organism of the Vail," is for sale at the office of The medium imposes upon communication. Progressive Thinker. Price $1.75.

BEYOND THE VAIL

A Sequel to "Rending the Vail,"

The two volumes together as a record the experiences of spirits in both worlds of practically obtained facts demon—their own account of their lives on strating the claims of Modern Spirit earth and their progress after death to ualism as to post mortal survival, are their present condition of freedom from ualism as to post mortal survival, are their present condition of freedom from unique and overwhelming.

Every communication is from a full tensely interesting, instructive and materialized spirit form, in good light, and either spoken audibly or written in Coincident with these are the profull view by the form. There is not an foundly philosophical comments of the samples.

full view by the form. There is not an iounday philosophical comments of the automatic or trance message in the controlling spirits of the seances. Prof. William Denton, Thomas Paine, Dr. W. It is illustrated by several engravings, H. Reed and others—covering, law, the originals of which were drawn in medicine, jurisprudence, theology and the presence of the circle by a full form metaphysics. There are no books in exmaterialized spirit artist.

BEYOND THE VAIL is, as a rule, istence of like character or of i authority. Price, by mail, $1.75. istence of like character or of higher

"THE UNKNOWN"

GAMILLE FLAMMARION.

"The Unknown" created a marked cluating as the most fantastic of Poe's sensation in France when first pub-tales. It treats on incredulity, credul-lished and can scarecly fail to arouse ity, hallucinations, psychic action of one lished and can scarcely fail to arouse ity, hallucinations, psychic action of one the greatest interest in this country. It mind upon another, transmission of is an eminent scientist's study of the thought, suggestion, the world of phenomena of the spirit world. In dreams, cerebral physiology, psychio touching upon the various physical dreams, distinct sight in dreams, actual manifestations the author cites many facts, premonitory dreams and diving absolutely authenticated instances, and tion of the future, etc. 487 pages, clother actions of his book are as weirdly faschapters of his book are as weirdly fas- bound. Price $2.00. For Sale at the Office of The Progressive Thinker.

OUR BIBLE: WHO WROTE IT? WHEN? WHERE? HOW? Is It Infallible?

A Voice from the Higher Criticism.

A Few Thoughts on Other Bibles. BY MOSES HULL.

Excellent as an exposition of the Higher Criticism and an analysis of the Bible from that standpoint. Of special value and interest to Spirit-unlists. For sale at this office. Price $1.00:

Private Sanitarium

Will be open May 20th.

All those who desire to become patients, should write at once and engage rooms. We shall treat all chronic cases, but Nervous Diseases and Stomach Troubles Are Our Specialties; though we treat all chrouic diseases successfully.

Terms for treatment will be made known on ication to E. T. GOVE, Mgr., Or to The C. E. Watkins Medical Co., application to friends of all worthy mediums within their bounds will find their usefulness

66 Highland Ave., Newtonville, Mass.

I am heart and soul in favor of organizing, and expect always to work to that end, no matter whether the loaves and fishes come my way, or if kicks and good things which our brother and sister workers may give to us. My health we may not go, yet we shall be there in spirit and pray that wisdom may rule harmony prevail, that each one go to the convention to be good and do good.

We are in sore need of effective work being done instead of bouquet-throwing which in the end means nothing, for SUGGESTIONS MADE

As to Some of the Speakers for Chautauqua, to Be Held in Richmond, August 28 to September 8, 1903.

To the Commercial Club, Richmond

Gentlemen: - In the interests of many people, both in Richmond and neighboring counties and towns, who welcome

the coming of the Chautauqua to our city, I write, asking your influence and co-operation in making the platform of Chautauqua liberal in thought, and bring to us, those who are able to feed the minds, reaching for Truth, truths from the Fountain of Inspiration.

There are hundreds of people yearning for intellectual, logical, philosopha liberal (free to speak your views and choose therefrom your way to think)

Intellectually, as a free government

this is the privilege of all to have

Let us have it in our Chautauqua.

on this committee, or by suggestion rec-

As a representative of humanitarian for unbiased truth, I ask for myself and the many who voice this request, that your influence be to call before our public some of the following persons, and respectfully submit these enclosed names of speakers to your program we desire to hear the Rev. Moses

Hull, whose subject is "Joan of Arc"; ad-

Mrs. Helen Palmer Russegue, address, care of N. S. A., 600 Pennsyl

Harrison D. Barrett, President N. S.

Mrs. Cora L. V. Richmond, pastor of

A., 600 Pennsylvania ave, S. E., Wash-

the Church of the Soul, Chicago. Her address is as follows: No. 3802 Ridge

The Rev. Minot J. Savage, 34 Madi-

On behalf of many followers for a representation from this list of liberal thinkers and speakers on Chautauqua

Clairvoyance Debauched.

ance is forging its way to the surface of mortal life. But like all talents in their pioneer state, it, too, will find its way through soil unfitted for its higher mission. : Scarehead - advertisements and reading notices in the daily papers unfold this to the spiritual-minded and those whose aspirations extend beyond

The experienced sensitive knows that inspiration is the outcome of his gift or talent. The experienced clairvoyant knows that diagnosing of diseases and other causal reading is the higher effect of his gift. But both know that neither was developed by confining their respective gifts to strictly material usages. Without moral aspiration or a desire to rise in the scale of spiritual progress, they remain on a low plane

What inspiration has done for the world our library of authors shows.

Clairvoyance is destined to do as much in its perfectibility; and is already doing good work in its legitimate exer-

"Handy Electrical Dictionary."

ARTHUR F. MILTON.

and can never reach perfection.

Very respectfully, ELIZABETH WILLIAMSON,

Mrs. Anna Besant, Theosophist.

vania ave. S. E., Washington, D. C.

dress, Whitewater, Wis.

ington, D. C.

avenue, Chicago.

program, I remain.

Society.

the mercenary.

on avenue, New York.

From the following others:

committee, with request for your co-opognized in results.

C, H. FIGUERS.

the flowers are dead.

Cleveland, Ohio.

much strengthened and extended.

Send for our Booklet telling all about our beautiful Sanitarium and our methods of Curing the Sick.

The Doctor

Will diagnose diseases by letter. Send him age, sex and Leading Symptom.

WHAT IS LOVE?

What is Love? Love is a song, a joy, a tear, The brightness of a godsome cheer Where stars in richest glory shine; Where the gods drink nectar'd wine Crystallized in life divine. A world of beauty that is mine!

What is Love? A dream of grandeur bathed in gold, For her I would a world enfold-Placed as a bauble at her feet Where she could stoop in posture swee And from me take! "Tis thus I'd give Her worlds of worlds if she'd receive! 'Tis thus I'd give What is Love?

world of wondrous might strength. Of height and breadth and depth and length;

A dream of power and of glory, That oft is told in song and story-A dream that makes a man a Master, Or sinks his soul in dire disaster.

What is Love? It is the laughter of the song That ripples all the sweet day long; It is the music of the spheres: It is the laughing and the cheers-The suffering, too, alas, to say, When Love perverted has its way.

What is Love? The lightning flash, the thunder-storm, The woe of strife, the war's alarm, The warmth of sun, the tempest's roar The ocean wave from shore to shore; The atoms whose intrinsic worth Reveals the love of sun to earth.

... What is Love? The mount sublime, the flower's hue, The rushing flood, the gentle dew-The magnet steel that is most true That draws my soul from me to you! Exquisite lov! Love's climax this, When heart meets heart in one fond

What is Love? music's rhythm, empassion'd power,

The harmony of hue in flower, The comet's flight across the sky; The planetary laws on high; That which wraps the world in flame, 'The Great, the Everlasting Name!'

What is Love? Though worlds may come and worlds And things may wander to and fro: The heavens may together roll

Into a yellow, sun-scorch'd scroll-There is far up, beyond, above. The Immortal, Everlasting Love!

What is Love? 'Tis to be born a rich joy-child, A Holy Infant undefiled: Love's magnet-charm of pure desire Brings Saviours to the cross of fire!-Those who in manhood's bloom and Would raise the God from out the Brute! What is Love? A heaven-born Divinity In woman's soul-virginity; A god of flame and war and fire To purify the world's desire And to it in its mirthless din

Show something lovelier than sin! What is Love? The master-thought that conquers Hate And opes to sin-sick souls the gate Of freedom unto life divine

Where great love-stars in splendor shine: And upon the world's earth-flowers Love pours down its cool star-showers! What is Love?

The magnet-charm of great thoughtwaves
That in truth's beauty lifts and saves! For he who loves is born again— Be it the least of his fellow men-Though he be dead in vice and sin A holy thought is born within!

What is Love? It is this thought, with all his scars, Lifts him one step toward the stars-For he who loves has found his heart-A heart that is of life a part-This love begun, if helped to rise, Will send that soul to Paradise!

JOHN A. MORRIS. Los Angeles, Cal.

Cleveland, Ohio.

Since anniversary day everything in Cleveland spiritually has been quiet enough. We had a short visit from "Our Moses," of Whitewater, Wis. He is an old-time favorite in Cleveland. Our state association is showing some signs of having wakened from its yearly sleep and arrangements are being made to hold the annual convention at Toledo, Ohio. President Harrison D. Barrett will be there. Possibly Moses Hull may come. Good test mediums will be in attendance. There ought to be a large attendance from all parts of the state, especially by the mediums who reside in Ohio, for there are many things that ought to come up in this convention and be thoroughly discussed, and especially ought all to be its pioneer state is simply the beautiful inforested in electing officers who both gift of clairvoyance debauched.

can and will do something.

Let the philosophy and phenomena go hand in hand, and there will be no failure; but taken separately both are practical handbook of reference, conadly crippled.

The state association that makes trical term or phrase. Price 25 cents,

Comfort Derived From Spiritualism. It was the privilege of the writer to attend a service conducted by the guides of Mrs. Cora L. V. Richmond, on the passing to higher life, of Mary Amelia Kirby, beloved wife of W. C. Conklin, at 51 Waveland Court, in this city, on Tuesday last. Mrs. Conklin was taken away rather suddenly, although she had been alling for many months. Her aged father, Mr. Kirby; her husband, Mr. Conklin; her son, a young man of fine promise; her daughter, Mrs. Corlols (and Mr. Corlois) with the three-year-old grandson of the deceased, and hosts of relatives and friends were present. There was no unseemly grief, and there was the uplifting thought conveyed all through the remarks of Mrs. Richmond's guides that the family were aware of the pres ence of the loved one who had so re cently been released from her mortal form. Mr. Kirby father of the de ceased, was an old pioneer Spiritualist, Mrs. Conklin having been reared in the knowledge of its teachings. Let those who weep without this knowledge at-tend such a ministration as was given on that day through the lips of Mrs. Richmond, and they will then know the difference between the knowledge of spiritual life as realized at that hour, and the gloomy idea of death presented under the old fear of death and what might come after. The beauty of the life of the arisen one as daughter, wife mother, grandmother and friends was touchingly portrayed.

WM. RICHMOND.

PASSED TO SPIRIT LIFE.

[Obituaries to the extent of ten lines only will be inserted free. All in excess of ten lines will be charged at the rate of fifteen cents per line. About seven words constitute one line I

Mr. Henry Sherburne passed to spirit life at his home in Schenectady, N. Y., aged 85 years. He was a Spiritualist from the time of the Fox girls, and a subscriber for many years to The Progressive Thinker.

Passed to spirit life, on the night of April 24, by an accident near Orange ville, Pa., Edward H. K. M'Guffin youngest son of the late Judge L. L. M'Guffin and Elizabeth L. M'Guffin, in blows and hard words fall to my lot. I the thirty-first year of his age.

shall do my duty as I see it and noth-ing more. We expect, Mrs. Figuers and myself, to attend this convention if our health will permit, but not to Mr. John C. Hindes, passed to higher life, May 2, 1903, from his home at Ma-rengo, Ill., aged 71 years, leaving a loving and faithful wife journeying on in earth life. Mr. Hindes has been a work; will go to listen and enjoy the staunch Spiritualist for many years, is so uncertain that at the last moment and in the quiet of his own home often received words of comfort and guidance from those already passed beyond the their deliberations, and that love and confines of the mortal form.

I. E. FRANKLIN.

> Mrs. Mary Hambelton passed peacefully to spirit life at her home at Columbus, Ohio, April 21. She was an ardent Spiritualist, and for many years a thinker. She has joined her loyed companion and daughter who had preceded her to that land where there are no more partings. She leaves one son to mourn her loss, John Hambelton, of Columbus. Services conducted by the

MARIAN CARPENTER.

Passed to spirit life, at Akren, Ohio. on April 17, Mrs. Caroline Abbot, after a long illness, with cancer of the stomach. She had been a Spiritualist for many years. Her husband, Rev. G. S. Abbot, was a Universalist minister. She was beloved by all who knew her, as was demonstrated by the large num-ber of friends who came to pay their last respect to one whom they had learned to love. Services conducted by the writer. MARIAN CARPENTER.

SPIRITUALIST MEETINGS.

It is important when a meeting is ical treatises, which can only be heard suspended, that notice be given us, so among seekers for unbiased wisdom of that inquirers may not be mislead. We want new notices of all meetings being held here in public halls at the present

The Metropolitan Spiritualist Society holds services every Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in Haymarket Theatre Buildnote your program committee has six representatives of the orthodox church ing, 161 W. Madison street. Lecture, spirit communications, and questions and one Catholic. The unrepresented majority have a right to representation answered. Mrs. Maggie Waite, pastor. Church of the Spirit Communion, Kenwood Hall, 4308 Cottage Grove avenue. Conference and messages at 3 p. m. Lecture by Dr. J. O. M. Hewitt at principles, liberal thought and a seeker 8 p. m. Messages by H. F. Coates and others. Plenty of good music. The Progressive Society holds servicès at 183 E. North avenue, corner Burling street, every Sunday at 3 and 8 p. m. Lectures delivered in English and German by Mrs. Hilbert, assisted by Mrs. Schwann and other good speakers. Tests and good music at all services. The Spiritual Research meets every Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in Van Buren Opera House, corner of Madison street and California avenue. Good music and singing. All are invited to attend.

Spiritual Union Church meets every Sunday at John Schott's Lodge Hall, corner Belmont and Racine avenue Speaker, Hon. R. Gilray; Charles J. Peterson, Prof. Edwards and Mr. G. A. Cowen, test mediums. Services, 8 p. m.

The Church of the Soul, Mrs. Cora L. V. Richmond, pastor, has resumed its regular Sunday services for the season. The meetings will be held until further notice at Hall 309 Masonic Temple, corner Randolph and State streets. Sunday-school at 10 a. m., Mrs. S. J. Ashton, superintendent. Discourse by Mrs. Richmond at 11 a. m.,

Secretary Richmond Occult Research The Spiritualistic Church of the Students of Nature hold services at Nathan's Hall, 1565 Milwaukee avenue, corner Western avenue,/Sunday evenings, 7:30 p. m. Mrs. W. F. Schu-Next to sensitiveness or psychometry macher, pastor. (also termed clairsentience) clairvoy

Church of the Spiritual Forces holds service at Thurman Club Room, corner of 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue, every Sunday. Conference at 3 p. m. Lecture at 8 p. m. Conducted by Isa Cleveland.

Chicago Spiritual Alliance Church meets every Sunday at 3 o'clock sharp, and 8 o'clock sharp at Lakeside Hall, corner Thirty-first street and Indiana avenue, where truth-seekers and investigators, as well as Spiritualists can enjoy a pleasant afternoon or evening. First-class speakers. Tests and messages by carefully selected mediums. Excellent music by (Blind) LeRoy Drake. Mrs. May Elmo, medium.

The Brotherhood of Spiritual Truth Society meets Sunday at 8 p. m. Services conducted by J. K. Hilles and wife and other mediums, who will from time to time address the meeting and give tests and spirit messages. Meetings will be held in Temperance Hall, 330 West Sixty-third street. All are invited to attend and co-operate.

The First Hyde Park Occult Society holds regular meetings every Sunday at Alliance Hall, 323 E. 55th street, between Monroe and Kimbark avenues. The best talent available will be secured to give interest at every meeting. To spread the truth is the object of this society. Eva L. Stewart, secretary, 543 with music, by C. Payson Longley, E 55th street, where all communical Price by mail, 15 cents. For sale at tions should be addressed,

VEST YOUR MONEY

It is the Wiss Investor Who Places His Money Where It Will Increase That Amasses the Fortune. It is Not What You Make, But What You Save and invest That Will Make You Wealthy

AN EXTRAORDINARY INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITY.

Are you looking for a good and SAFE investment that will pay you handsome dividends from the start, and will, at the very least, double your capital in a year or two?

If so, it will be well for you to investigate the investment opportunity offered by Dr. Peebles Institute of Health. Some months ago Dr. Peebles and his associates incorporated their medical business at Battle Creek, in order to secure certain legal protection granted incorporated companies. Believing that the earnest co-operation of the Spiritualists of the country in this great work would add still further to the wonderful growth and success of the company, the doctor and his co-workers have decided to place a portion of the treasury stock in the hands of the Spiritualists throughout the country. A large amount of the original block of stock offered has been taken, but there are a few hundred shares to be sold at the original offer before the price advances, so if you are interested write at once for particulars.

You do not need to be wealthy to share in the doctor's company; the small investor is just as welcome as the large. The man investing $50 or $100 will use his influence for the company just as will the one investing many thousands, and it is the good wishes and support that is desired more than the money.

A small amount properly invested where it will draw good dividends and continually increase in value is worth many times the same amount if allowed to lie idle, or put away in a bank where it will draw only 3 or 4 per cent at best. Money invested in Dr. Peebles Company to-day under his present offer will draw handsome dividends from the first, and, in addition thereto, the stock will increase in value so that at the end of two years at most it will be worth two or three times what you paid for it.

If you have any amount above $10 you can spare for investment, write for full particulars at once. Seven per cent dividends are guaranteed from the first, and much larger ones can be expected after the first year. Address

DR. J. M. PEEBLES, Chairman, Box 2421, Battle Creek, Mich,

The Englewood Spiritual Union meets at Hopkins' Hall, 528 W. 63d street. Conference meeting at 2:30. Lecture by Oscar A. Edgerly, of Boston, Mass. followed by messages by Mrs. J. A. Murtha, of Baltimore, Md. Every Murtha, of Baltimore, Md. Every Thursday at 2:30 the Ladies' Auxiliary holds services at which good mediums serve with tests and lectures.

Every Tuesday; at 8 p. m., meetings at Hopkins' Hall, 528 West Sixty-third street. Mrs. Cochonour and Mrs. Geh-Prof. Schaeffer will conduct Spiritual meetings in Hygier Hall, Ogden avenue and Roby street, every Sunday at 3 and 8 p. m., commencing Sunday, May 3. All are welcome. :

The Spiritual Union Church will hold services every Sunday afternoon at 3 and evening at 8 oclock, at 77 Thirtyfirst street. Mrs. M. A. Burland, pastor

"Origin of Life, or Where Man Comes From." "The Evolution of the Spirit from Matter Through Organic Processes, or How the Spirit Body Grows." By Michael Eanday: Prince 10 cents. For sale at this office. The Kingship of Self-Control." By

Wm. George Jordan. It treats of the crimes of the tongue, the Red Tape duty, the supreme charity of the world, the revelation of reserve power, etc. Price 30 cents. For sale at this office. "The Present Age and Inner Life; Ancient and Modern Mysteries Classi. fied and explained." By Andrew Jackson Davis. We have a few copies of this work by the celebrated seer Cloth, $1.10. "The Romance of Jude. A Story of the Life and Times of the Nazarene and His People." Through the mediumship of Mrs. M. T. Longley. An intensely interesting book. Neatly bound in cloth and gilt. Only 50 cents. "Right Living." By Susan H. Wixon. The author shows a wise practicality in her method of teaching the principle of ethics. She illustrates her subject with many brief narratives and anecdotes. which render the-book more interesting and more easily comprehended. It is especially adapted for use in Children's Lyceum. In the hands of mothers and teachers it may be made very useful. Young and old will be benefited by it. Cloth $1. For sale at this office.

The Commandments Analyzed, price 25 cents. Big Bible Stories, cloth, 50 cents. For sale at this office.

'Age of Reason," and a number of let- about this Catechiam' is that it tells the truth." ters and discourses on religious and theological subjects. Cloth binding, 430 pages. Price $1. For sale at this office. "Never-Ending Life Assured by Sci-strong and conclusive argument from the basis of science. For sale at this office. Price 6 cents. "The Majesty of Calmness, or Indi-vidual Problems and Possibilities." By Wm. George Jordan Another valuable ittle work. Price 30 cents. For sale at "Mark Chester; or a Mill and a Million. A Tale of Southern California." By Carlyle Petersilea. A pure psychic story, elevating and reformatory. Paper covers, 40 cents. Cloth, 60 cents. For sale at this office. "The Life Booklets." By Ralph Waldo Trine. Three daintily beautiful little books, finely adapted for holiday presents. The titles are, "Character, Building by Thought Power," "Every Living Creature," and "The Greates lining Ever Known." The matter is of high-toned spirituallicharacter and of helprul purposen Froce 35 cents each. "Why I Ame a Vegetarian." By J. Howard Moore: An address before the Chicago Vegetarian Society. Price, 25 "Child Culture, According to the Laws of Physiological Psychology and Mental Suggestion. By Newton N. Riddell. A most excellent work for all who have the care or training of children. Price 655centso. "Astral Worship." idBy J. H. Hill, M. D. For sale at this office. Price $1. "Buddhism and ItsiChristian Critics." By Dr. Paul Carus. An excellent study of Buddhism; compact yet comprehen sive. Paper, 50 cents. Cloth, $1.25 For sale at this office. "Jim; or the Touch of an Ange Mother." By Carrle E. S. Twing. Touching, full of sweet human sympa Halless Balch Charm. thy, and pure spirituality. Cloth, $1. For sale at this office. "Death Defeated; or the Psychic Se cret of How to Keep Young." By J. M. Peebles, M. D., M. A., Ph. D. Price $1. "A Plea for the New Woman." By

May Collins. An address delivered be fore the Ohio Liberal Society. For sale at this office. Price 10 cents, "Longley's Beauliful Songs." Fourteen beautiful, soul-inspiring songs, with music, by C. Payson Longley, Scientifically accurate and reliable. Captain G.W. Walrond, 1610 Glenarm St., Denver. Col., Est 1830 DR. G. LESTER LANE, D. M. The Eminent Physician and Psychic Healer for the cure of MENTAL and PHYSICAL All-ments. ORSESSION A SPECIALTY. Ad-dress 872 Huntington ave., Boston, Mass.

HOROSCOPES

HOROSCOPES

NICHOLAS BECKER, Readings by mail, Impressional and Clairvoyant. Description and names of spirit friends with messages; advice. Instructions for psychic unfoldment. Send own handwriting and $1.00 Dixon. Ill.

Trance Reading.

Being developed as a genuine trance medium through the psychic power of Prof. Dutton, of Lincoln, Neb., I am enabled, through this wonderful trance to give you such accurate test and reading as to completely convince anyone and make Spiritualists of them. I will give you a complete life reading for only $1.00. I will refund money to the dissattisfied, and where I fail to describe accurately your spirit triends and loved ones. Address P.E. WALKER, L.b. $61, Findlay, O.

DON'T READ THIS. Frances L. Loucks, the only psychic wonder living, that uses the spiritual X-ray without any leading symptom to difect, and locates all internal diseases. A trial-will convince you. Nervous exhaustion and lost vigor of both seres successfully trented, as hundreds can testify. Send name, age, acz, complexion and 10 cents in stamps, and receive a correct diagnosis of your case free, worth dollars to you. Address,

FRANCES L. LOUCKS, Lock Box 1214. Stoneham, Mass.

YOU (an Have Metted Pebble LENS Spectacles. For fifteen Quod EUGSION eyes by Clairvoyant sight to people that live in all parts of this mundane world. If you want the best spectacles write for Illustrated Circular, showing styles of frames and prices, also how you can by ME be fitted at Your Own Home. For 6 cents to pay postage. Will send sample of magnetized compound, sufficient for 4 oz of eye water. Cures sore eyes, strengthens weak eyes. If requested will send photo of Spirit Yarma.

8 Evanston Ave. Chicago. Ill.

A NEW GATEGHISM, BY M. M. MANGASARIAN.

This is a new "Catechism" in the full sense of the word. There has as yet appeared in the world of lib "Religious and Theological Works of book or reason. E. P. Powell, the well-knowa author, Thomas Paine," contains his celebrated the reviewer and critic, says: "The remarkable thing deals with the questions of Gol Immortality—the Creeds, the Clergy, the Church, Prayer and Salvation Jesus and his Teaching, the Growth of the Christian Scriptures, and many other philosophical, scientific and ethical questions with the utmost caudor, courence." By Daniel Kent Tenney. A age and clearness. 183 pages. Cloth 75c; paper, 50;

Old Testament Stories & A Unique

Conically Illustrated, # PICTURE By WATSON HESTON. & BOOK.

Nothing else can so completely upset the old superstitious Old Testament Stories as these vivid and lifelike portrayals of them. They present the old myths in the proper absurdness of their absurdity, ridicule their ridiculessness and in fact hold them up to the light af reason. It is a book of 400 pages with 200 full page pictures It will make you laugh off every vestige of the old superstitions; a good way indeed to get rid of them. Price, board, &i; cloth, $1.50.

The Science of Spirit Return. By Charles Dawbarn. A scientific rehearsal that is truly interesting. Price, 10 cents.

The Infidelity of Ecclesiasticism, Menace to American Civilization. By Prof. W.M. Lockwood. A trenchant and masterly reatise. Price, 25 cents.

MOLLIE FANCHER, The Brooklyn Enigma.

An authentic statement of facts in the life of Mary J. Fancher, the psychological marvel of the nineteenth century. Unimpeachable testimony of many witnesses. By Abram H. Dailey. With illustrations. Price, cloth, $1.50.

Solid Gold Only

PRICES:—Badge Pin. $1.50: Lapel Button, $1.50: Sunflower Brooch, $4.00; Mallese Charm, $5.00; Mallese Pendant, $5.00. This jowelry needs no other recommend than to say it is the SUNFLOWERS HADGE, the adopted emblem of Spiritualism. As the Sunflower turns its face towards the sun, so Spiritualism turns the faces of humanity from darkness and superstition towards the Sunlight of Truth and Progression. These beautiful omblems are for sale at this office.

Talleurand's Letter to the Pope This work will be found especially interesting to all who would don't to make a study of Romanism and the Bible. The historic facts estated, and the seen, scathing review of Romiah ideas and practices should be read by all. Price of Study and the seen are thing review of Romiah ideas and practices should be read by all.

hair, age, name and the leading cymptom, and your disease will be diagnosed free by spirit power.

Mrs. Dr. Dobson-Barker, Box 132, San Jose, Cal

Mrs. Dr. Dobson-Barker,

TESTIMONIALS OF CURE. Would Have Been in Her Grave Stanton, Mich., Jan. 19, 1902. Mrs. Dr. Dobson-Barker-Dear Sister:-I take my pen in hand to let you know how I am. I thank you and your band for I know I would be in my grave now, but you and your band have saved me. I suffered everything. I am happy to say I am a well woman. I was sick a long time; I do my own work; how I would like to see the woman that cured me. I let every one know who cured me. I was sick twenty-five years.

I still remain your friend, AMANDA R. GREEN.

Portland, Oct. 5, 1902. Mrs. Dr. Dobson-Barker—Dear Madami—Mrs. H ward wanted me to write and tell you are would be glad to have her testimony in print, She says if she could write, she would have written she could write, she would have written you a good many letters. She says, "No one knows how much I think of Dr. Dobson-Barker." She says, "I will do all I can for her." It is no wonder she thinks lots of you. I wish you could have seen her when she sent to you for treatment. She was a sight to see. No one thought she would live and now one thought she would live, and now she is a well woman and as happy as can be. I guess this will be all for this time. Will be glad to hear from you when you have a little spare time.

I remain your friend,
MRS. A. C. BARNARD.
Portland, Ionia County, Mich.

DR. J. S. LOUCKS

is the oldest and most successful Spiritual Physician now in practice. His cures are THE MOST MARVELOUS of this age. His examinations are correctly made, and free to all who send him name, age, sex and lock of hair, and six cents in stamps. He doesn't ask for any leading symptom. A clairvoyant doesn't need any. He positively cures weak med. Addiess J. S. LOUCKS, M. D.,

MRS. DEWOLF-KISER WILL GIVE READINGS at 251 So. Hermitage ave., for a short time. Circles Sunday and Thursday at 2:30.

SPIRIT PHOTOGRAPHS ARTISTS, Bend two dollars, your photograph or lock of pair, and receive three finished pictures from some loved ones that are wating to reach you hair, and receive three inhished pictures from some loved ones that are wating to reach you from the summerland, Mr. and Mrs. A. Normann.—The three photographs were handed me to-day, and I recognize every face upon them, and I can truthfully say these pictures are genuline, and will recommend you to the world; for such evidence is what proves life eternal, Mrs. Dr. Gregor McGregor.
2834 Chicago ave., Minneapolis, Minn.
Address with stamp enclosed and receive proof MR. & MRS. A. NORMANN, 2721. Elliott av. So., Minneapolis, Minn.

DRY HOT AIR. Osteopathy and Electricity covered for the relief of chronic Rheumatism. Mervousness, Insomila and other Hopeless Cases. My private Sanitorium is not only fully equipped with the above modes of treating, but i Psychic Help and Instruction guarantee successful treatment in every case. Terms moderate. References mailed on application, DR. C. HAGEN, Osteopathic Physician, 174 N. Pearl St., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Angels' Diary and Celestion Study of Man

Should be in every home. Its teachings, if assimilated, will give happiness and destroy all inharmonious elements of the mind. It teaches how to create our conditions, not only physically, but also mentally and Spiritually, and wipe poverty and crime out of existence. Each subscriber try and secure another. For sale, wholesale and retail; price, $1.50. Usual commission to dealers.

MIS. J. A. S. S. LENDER,
2201 Lincoln ave., Denver Col.

Annie Lord Chamberlain's Card. Dear friends, you can greatly help me care for my lind elster. Jennie L. Webb, one of the earliest mediums now in the form, by writing a letter to a spirit friend. Send it to me with $1, and I will try and get teply by independent writing or whispers. Address Mrs. Annie l.ord Chamberlein, Milford, Mass.

COLLEGEOF FINE FORCES

An institute of Refined Therapeutics. Teaches new and wonderful methods of cure. "Fast becoming of world wide fame.—Hudson Light, Color, Electricity, Magnetism, Mind, B Light, Color, Electricity, Magnetism, Mind, Baths, Has both College and Academic Courses. Its beautiful Diploma confers title, "D. M." Doctr of Magnetics; can be gained at College or at one shome. Books and instruments furnished. Send stamp for catalogue to E. D. BABBITT, M. D., LL.D., &I. North 2nd st., San Jose. California.

"NO BEGINNING."

An Excellent Work for Thinkers.

This book, "No Beginning," is by William H. Maple. The Arena says of it: "The argument is unanswerable. The book will at once appeal to the reason of every reader, and leave him more amazed than ever at the prevalence of the theory of Crestion." The Two has always been a fateful num-Free Thought Ideal says: "We found it full of glittering thoughts for thinkers, and the very death warrant of Christian superstition shines upon its pages."

Man and the as Disclosed in the Bible.'
Spirit World Associate of King's College, for Christian people who would know the college to Christian people who would know the college to the co

THE OTHER SIDE OF DEATH Scientifically Examined and

Carefully Described. BY C. W. LEADBEATER.

A Volume of 500 large pages, treating very ntorestingly if Life, Death and Immortality, Ulairvoyance, Spirit Phenomena, Etc, as viewed by an acknowledged and cultivated exponent of Theosophy. Price, $1.50.

The Myth of the Great Deluge By James M. McCann. A complete and over-wholming refutation of the Bible story of the Deluge. Price, 15 cents.

The Diakka and Their Earthly Victims. By the Earthly Victims. By the Seor A. J. Dayls. A very interesting and suggestive work. It is an explanation of much that is false and repulsive in Spiritualism, embodying a most important recent interview with James Victor Wilson, a resident of Summer Land. Price, 50 cents. Molecular Hypothesis of Nature; The Relation of its Principles to Continued Ex-sence and to the Philosophy of Spiritualism. By Prot W. M. Lockwood. Paper, 24 cents.

Healer and

Gifted Psychic HEALTH RESTORED By Common Sense Method

For the Cure of Mental and Physical Ailmend

OBSESSION CURED. For Free Diagnosis of Discas send five two-cent stamps, age, name sex and own handwriting.

READINGS AND BUSINESS VICE $1.00 and two stamps

Address 855 Grove St., Oakland, Can

Write for Circular

JORY'S TONIC TABLET

A True Serie Tonic and Stood Suilder.

An ideal restorative tonic for the cure of Gené al Debility and the various forms of nervous niphysical depression. Melancholia, Nervous Datesta, Tornid Liver. Weak Kidneys, Chros Backache, poor circulation, poor appetite, posleep, poor blood, ctc., and for improving the to of the general nervous system, the discustive functions and the blood. 50 doses 75c: 100 doses $1.1 Postage prepaid.

Write for Circular.

JORY'S BOWEL TONIC

For Constipation, Headache, Etc.

For Constipution, Headache, Etc. Are not a Purgative, but induce a Natural Health Action of the Bowels. 36 tablets, 25c. Posta prepaid. Prepared only by

H. M. JORY, Manufacturing Chemist. 6 Eddy Street, San Francisco, Cal.

Longley's Beautiful Songs For Public Meetings and

the Home. VOLUME ONE

Contains the following songs with muste:
I'm thinking, dear mother, of you. We miss on boys at home. The hand of the bye and bye. Th good times yet to be. The land beyond the stan
They are waiting at the portal. When the dear one gather at home. Resting under the daisies. Th grand jubilec. My mother's tender eyes. Dear hear come home. Come in some beautiful dream. When the roses neverfade. In heaven we'll know our own the roses neverfade. VOLUME TWO Contains 15 new and beautiful songs, suited to th home circle, seances, local meetings, mass-meetings conventions, anniversaries and jubilees. They com prise an excellent variety of poems set to easy ha mony and ought to sell readily. These books are 16ch each; the two for Sicts. For sale at this office.

Prise to book of 57 negree 3 AND 4.

This is a book of 57 pages, filled with spiritual has mony from first to last. Spiritual societies need no be calling for something new to sing to the people if they will supply themselves with copies of this book or in fact any of the ubove choice collections of Mr in one book, price 25 cts., 3 cts. each by mair, Echoes From the World of Song A collection of 50 charming songs with chorus and music, sheet music size. Price $1.00; postage 15 cts

A Very Interesting Book tor All Philosophy of This work con tains a graphi account of the Spiritual Intercourse, account of the very wonderful spiritual developments at the house of Rev. Dr. Phelps, Stratford, Conn., an similar cases in all parts of the country. This volume is the first from the author directly up on the subject of Spiritualism, and has stood the test of many years. Cloth, $1,20; postage 10c.

THE TO-MORROW OF DEATH, Or the Future Life According to Science. Louis Figurer. Translated from the Frenci S. R. Crockee. A very fascinating work. S. R. Croökee. A very fascinating work. This line volume might well have been entitled Spiritualism Demonstrated by Science. It is written in that peculiar interesting style in which French writers excel when they would popularize scientific subjects in adaptation to the needs of the general reader. The author says: "There is a true and respectable idea in Spiritualism," and regards as proved "the fact of communication between superhumans and the inhabitants of earth." Price, $1.50.

DEATH and the AFTER LIFE By A. J. Davis. An instructive and interesting work for all to read. Price 60 cents.

INTERVIEWS WITH SPIRITS A real visit with friends on the other side of life, and a familiar talk. By Spirit Samuel Bowles; Carrie E. S. Twing, Medium. Price 30c.

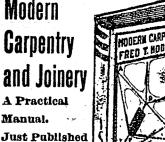

The Law of Correspondence Applied to Healing. A course of seven practical lessons. By W. J. Colville. Limp closh, 50c.

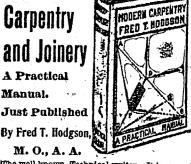

Conspiracy Against the Republic By Charles B. Waite, A. M., author of "History of the Christian Religion to the Year 200," etc. Price, paper, 25 cents. ALL ABOUT DEVILS.

It is enough to say this 50 page pamphlet is written by Moses Hull. Price 15 cents. ANCIENT INDIA.

its Language and Religions. By Prof. H. Olden-berg. Paper, 25 cents.

Apollonius of Tyana Christian Jesus. A wonderful communication, explaining how his life and teachings were utilized to formulate Christianity. Price 15 cents.

making the most intricate problems simple, def inite and easily understood. Price, $1.00.

M. O., A. A.

Deeds of Darkness Disclosed

This work devotes special attention to Auricular Confession and its relations to sacerdotal celibacy, convents, monasteries, morality and civil and religious liberty. It is intended to be an embodiment of facts and documentary evidence of the pernicious influence of the confessional; a trenchant showing up of Romanism, based upon standard Catholic authorities; an eye-opener concerning the methods and spirit, the moral turpitude and evil works of Romanism. Cloth, 75 cents.

THE AGE OF REASON. By Thomas Paine. Being an investigation of rue and Fabulous Theology. A new and com-lete edition, from new plates and new type:

The well-known Technical writer. It is one of the best works ever turned out by him. Copi-ously illustrated with diagrams and figures, STARTLING FACTS,

One number of The Progressive Thinker is often worth one dollar ... it is sent one The Progressive Thinker is the great Educator of the Present Age... Induce your neighbor to subscribe for it. SPIRITUALISM—Progress, the Universal Law of Nature: Thought, the Solvent of Her Problems.—SPIRITUALISM

VOL. 28.

OHICAGO, ILL., MAY 23, 1903.

NO. 704.

KELLAR AND THE HINDOOS

Is It Superstition?-Spiritualism the A Plan for a Working Organization. Panacea.

From the head of the article-"Hindoo Science"—in The Progressive Thinker, No. 702, I inferred that some new and extraordinary revelation might be found in it. Especially as Kellar, the magician, was to testify. But I do not find anything that savors of the supernatural, upon which the magician gives testimony. The working of wonders before an audience may puzzle the eople, and astonish the ignorant: but here is nothing in those feats of legerdemain that impresses intelligent peo-ple with awe; or implies any supernatciral agency. Because a trick that has required long practice, and close study to master, is not understood at a glance is not strange. The things that are credited to spiritual agencies must occur under circumstances, and conditions that preclude the possibility of trick. The account of a man throwing a rope towards heaven, and climbing it until he disappears, may not be impos-sible as an illusion; but in this case Mr. Kellar does not testify. He does not claim to have witnessed it; nor does he vouch for its truth. But says he has "seen things just as marvel-That may depend on the mind of the observer. If the thing really happens, it is doubtful if Mr. Kellar has witnessed anything "just as marvel-ous." But if it does not happen, and is only an optical delusion, the case is dif-Is there any way to settle that point? If these Hindoo miracles are submitted to the same ordeal that many of our mediums are, it would seem that the question of illusion could be determined. If it can be proven, beyond all question, that these spiritual adepts do climb the rope, or climb the air, it is not a trick, but a manifestation of some power, or the action of some law, not understood by the observers; and possibly not by the performers. Mediums of extraordinary psychic powers often know no more about the modus operandi of their manifestations, or the causes that produce them, than the investigators who observe them. Herr-mann, the noted magician, told Henry J. Newton that some of his most notable feats were not explainable by any knowledge in his possession. Most of his public performances were tricks that he had learned, and could explain, teach them to others; but some things that he did were dependent upon some occult presence, for which he was only a medium; and he recognized it as le work of excarnate human beings. Mr. Kellar may not know of this, and may not have the mediumship for it; but he recognizes, in this letter, that the priests have knowledge and are able to execute marvels, entirely out of his reach. He seems to take it for granted that this knowledge is purely physical, and of the earth earthy. But why this assumption? Do the priests gay so? Do they not, rather, claim that it is spiritual? But because we recognize spiritual causes, and spiritual be ings, acting a part in the affairs of this life, we are not, therefore, superstitious, relations of nature, and the laws of Mr. Kellar seems to regard the facts in Hindoo history—the transmission of knowledge through hundreds of miles without visible means, as something more wonderful than wireless telegraphy; but is it more wonderful than telepathy? Telepathy is not a miracle, any more than wireless telegraphy; the latter is no more miraculous than telegraphy by wires. It is the same law and the same agent in each case. But what is telepathy? Simply communication between one human intellect, and another, by means of a correspondence of motion transmitted through the ether; and if one of the persons so communicating be a resident of Chicago, and the other residing in the Summerland, amid the constellations of heaven, it is telepathy just the same; and governed by the same law, acting through the same natural order, as the ordinary telegraph. When such telepathic messages are transmitted between two persons in the flesh, who would think of calling it superstition to recognize the fact, and give it its proper place in the order of nature?

The superstition belongs with those who regard Spiritual men and women as supernatural, and spiritual causes as distinct from, and out of the order and

And when the message is from one out of the flesh, and bears the evidence of identity as distinctly as any other. it superstition to recognize it? Rather the superstition is manifest when people ignore the natural explanation and insist on attributing the facts to causes not known to exist, and which, if they exist, are totally inadequate to explain.

Speaking of the higher class of magicians in India—the religious devotees— Mr. Kellar says: "Of course, when their tricks are learned, it is found that the simplest scientific principles are be-neath them all." Of course, But would he have us believe that these "scientific principles" are all limited to the ordinary phases of physical nature? Would he have us fignore the psychic life that underlies and actuates all of these "scientific principles" by which matter is directed in its wonderful manifestations of life, order, and intelligence?

Consciousness is a perpetual wonder. If there be miracles, then consciousness is one of the most marvelous of them all. By means of this presence, and all the associate agencies, as volition, choice and reason, we impel our bodies. direct the movements of matter, cause cities, steamboats, and railroads to be be built, compel the electric life of nature to light our dwellings, propel our trolleys, carry our burdens, and pass our messages under the sea from continent to continent. But who can explain consciousness? Who can tell where it comes from or whither it goes? But consciousness is concerned in all telegraphy, wireless or otherwise; and if it is natural, then telepathy is natural, and all communications between different spheres of consciousness is E. H. Chapin.

BAND OF HOPE.

In support of E. K. Walbridge's suggestion for a Band of Hope that an peared in The Progressive Thinker a few weeks ago, I submit the following plan of organization. Not the only plan—simply a plan.

Who feels the inspiration is ready for a start. Let the work assume the nature of a school of discipline in which the first experimenter tries the plan on himself or herself first before trying it on others. The work could be arranged with different grades or degrees. For the ful-fillment of the first degree, require that seven weekly consecutive reports on an earnest effort to correct some personal shortcoming, be handed in. After the first experimenter has written, say, three weekly reports, let him make out an agreement something like the following and sign it:

Having satisfied myself by experi-ment that I desire to maintain the discipline of writing out reports on my good resolution, I agree to deposit seven consecutive weekly reports before considering that I have fulfilled the first degree of this work. And if I fail to report for five consecutive weeks, it will signify that my name on the mem bership roll is to be cancelled.

When the seven weeks are fulfilled and the first experimenter considers the plan a good one for himself, see if he can find a few persons who might like to put themselves through the same course of discipline. From week to week let these few assemble to relate and study the lesson learned from their failures as well as those learned from their victories in self-control.

From this small beginning in righteous persistence the effort could be broadened to include systematic good works, especially in the direction of discovering and providing for the needlest of the needy, and in imparting light and knowledge to those nearest us who are in the greatest darkness. This might be considered the second grade or degree of the work.

When the labor of systematic good works is well established, another step could be taken. Those who would be charitable if others looked at things from a different point of view than they themselves, could assemble for the study of philosophy, history, science spiritual gifts, and plans for a better civilization on earth. In these discussions it would be well to be humble in our opinions by realizing the possibility of our being in error, and also to eliminate personal discussions as far as practical by "avoiding the unimportant matter of who is right and who is wrong, and keeping to the important matter of what is right and what is with the work in its beginning more than these two doctrines: (1) that we should continually be trying to make better men and women of ourselves: (2) that we should make a systematic and persistent effort to extend the help that lies within our power unto our fel low-man. This will eliminate contention as to doctrines and give a basis broad enough for a world-wide religion if needed.

Let whoever takes up the work maintain their highest aspiration, or pray to the Ideal Ever Present One for light and guidance that the work may grow spontaneously and not become per B. W. MORRISON.

Oshkosh, Wis.

also natural; immortality is natural, and a rational understanding of Spiritualism is a panacea for superstition. Mr. Kellar says: "It only takes a very small thing sometimes to puzzle great minds; and whatever is the least bit mysterious, and baffles explanation, will make men ascribe what they see to the supernatural because of their conceit in their own intelligence." they cannot explain, they say, must be due to unexplainable powers." Is this a just statement? That it is true of some minds may be admitted. But is it true of the majority of intelligent people to-day? Do we pretend to be able to explain all of the phenomena of nature which we witness daily? Do we then say these things "must be due to unexplainable powers"? Who that witnesses Mr. Kellar's tricks ever thinks that they are due to unexplainable powers"?

Again he says: Anything that interferes for one instant with the natural law of gravitation would set things all agog with us." Of course, a natural law cannot be broken or suspended. But we are constantly interfering with gravitation. We resist, and counteract it in a variety of ways. We invent machinery to overcome it, and sometimes it is so completely deified as to make it seem as if the law itself were suspended. It has been shown on several occasions, that the weight of certain mediums can be changed without any visible cause, so as to affect the scales from 20 to 50 pounds, and apparently by the influence of some intelligent agent who knew what he was doing and how to do it. But the law of gravity was not changed only the conditions of its

Would Mr. Kellar dispute the veracity of Prof. Crooke's experiments? Would he call it superstition to attribute the phenomena of sudden increase, or decrease, of weight, to superphysical causes? If the Hindoo is so far in advance of Western science (?) is it not because they have studied and experimented in spiritual dynamics?

Free will is not the liberty to downatever one likes, but the power of doing whatever one sees ought to be done. G. Macdonald.

LYMAN C. HOWE.

It is an inevitable law that a man cannot be happy unless he lives for something higher than his own happiness.—Bulwer.

Often the elements that move and mold society are the results of the sister's counsel and the mother's prayer.-

A True Narrative of a Strange Occurrence.

WHAT WAS IT?

Every citizen of the state of Maine, who has been a continuous resident of that commonwealth for the past forty years, has not forgotten the heavy snows and extreme cold of the winter of 187-. The ground was covered with an average depth of the white crystals of more than three feet, and the immense drift that filled the roads made it seem as if a much greater burden of snow had concealed the earth from view. Transportation was very difficult outside of the cities and larger towns, while in these centers traffic was seriously clogged. Between many of the smaller towns, teaming was often utterly impossible for days at a time, and the mails were taken to them by men on snow shoes. This depth of snow was not only unusual in Maine, but what was more inexplicable, it was accompanied by intense cold. The two conditions do not often go together, even in the state of Maine.

About the middle of December of the winter in question, a terrible snowstorm set in. The winds rose almost to a hurricane and the roads were soon so badly drifted as to render them impassable even for a horse and cutter. The storm was not only flerce but it was also very cold, and every man, woman and child who could do so, avoided venturing outside of the doors of their homes. Cider, apples and popcorn were indulged in by many families of farmers on that memorable night, and they enjoyed their comfort by the fire as only these sturdy children of the grand old "Pine Tree State" know how."

Between the towns of H— and lay ten miles of hills and valleys, over and through which wound a road that was hard to travel even at its best. On this wild December night, it was blocked almost too completely to be noticed by the eye of a traveler even in daylight. Just about four o'clock in the afternoon, a traveler under force of circumstances beyond his control, was obliged to set out from H— for The storm rose higher and higher and the snow and cold increased in volume from the moment of his departure. He had a steady horse and small cutter, but his progress was exceedingly slow. After more than two hours struggle he found himself only four miles from H.—. Here he was obliged to leave his horse to proceed on his way on snow shoes. The good farmer of whom he sought shelter for the horse, protested against his attempting to proceed any further that night, stating that he risked his life by exposing himself in such a storm.

The traveler thanked his kind host, but said that he must reach C—— that night, as it was almost a matter of life The farmer said no and death to him. more but urged his guest to see to it that his snow shoes were in good condition, as he had a hard road before him. The traveler set forth once more into the terrible storm. He buffeted the winds, and drifts, for about two miles, when he suddenly found himself in the midst of a large pine forest. The great trees towered into the sky on both sides of the road forming an excellent barrier for the storm, and gave the traveler a brief respite from his battle with the elements. He made his way through the forest without difficulty, despite the thick Egyptian darkness that encompassed him about almost as a pall. road turned sharply to the left, and the fierce gale struck him with redoubled fury. He made his way slowly forward when he saw, in the open space or field, at his left, apparently some rods from where he stood, two balls of bright fire leap into the air. He was amazed. and a strange feeling of uncanniness swept ever him, almost chilling the marrow in his bones. He roused himself with an effort, and went forward as rapidly as the storm would permit. After going some eighty rods, he suddenly found himself before a large farm house, from the windows of which streamed the cheerful light of two or three lamps. It did not take him long to reach the door, and he was soon within the warm, hospitable kitchen. Here he told the story of the balls of fire to the farmer and his three stalwart sons. They resolved to act at once, so equipping themselves with snow shoes and two lanterns, they made their way, accompanied by the traveler, to the spot where he stood when he saw the balls shoot into the sky. He located the place as nearly as possible in the darkness, and then the five men struck off into the field at right angles from the spot. Not more than sixty rods from the road they found the body of a man, almost covered with snow. They took him up quickly and bore him to the house. He was not dead, but was badly frost-bitten, and his recovery seemed a matter of doubt for some time.

Snow was applied to his frozen members, and he was vigorously chafed by the willing hands of his rescuers until he once more became conscious. He the people to the meaning of Spiritual-was tenderly cared for, and in the ism, thus protecting the piblic and our course of a few days was able to go on beautiful philosophy from the bighting way. As soon as he was able he influence of these infamous rascals, and placing it on the high plane to which it belongs.

E. W. SERACHE,

The ways was able to go on the light plane to which it belongs.

E. W. SERACHE,

N. S. A. Missionary. told his new friends his story. He was forced to venture out in that awful storm on an errand of mercy. Before long he felt chilled through, and seem ingly had no power to go on. He must have wandered into the field and sunk down in a stuper, for after the feeling of numbness had swept over him, he kney no more until he found himself in the farm house. When he fell into that deep sleep that meant death for his physical body, the traveler must have emerged from the woods and witnessed the phenomenon that saved the life of the helpless man.

In any event, if the traveler had not seen those balls of fire, no one would have known of the man's exposure to the storm, and rescue would have been impossible. The strange occurrence sent the farmer, his three sons and the traveler on a tour of investigation and a human life was saved. Long and carnestly did the six men involved talk this matter over, and they closed their or it will soon rain through Owen.

GOOD WORK DONE.

MISSIONARY REPORT OF MR. AND MRS. E. W. SPRAGUE

Excellent Results Obtained The Work of Infamous Tricketers Paying $125 for Development-A Lady Tricked

We are still alive and at work. Every day brings its full portion of duties. During the month of April we held thir-ty-one meetings, including one funeral, organized three new societies and re-organized two others. Sickness inter-fered with our work the fore part of the month. Several towns were obliged o pass us by on account of it. We ope to visit them later.

At Bay City, Mich., the old society was dead, no meetings having been held for two or three years. The spiritualists were very glad of the opportunity to do something practical for the cause, and turned out to help us. We held and turned out to help us. We held three public meetings, one seince and one meeting for organizing the society in Bay City. We added a good number of new members to the old membership list, elected officers, adopted a new con-stitution and started them at work again under the old charter.

We visited Saginaw, Mich., where we organized a new society composed of fifty good and loyal souls. They start out with fine prospects of success.

I would like to give details of our work in the towns that we visited, but it would require too much of the valu able space in your paper.

At Shepherd, Mich., we found the remnant of a small society. It was once active and did much good, but had done nothing for two years or more We held two meetings in the opera house and one for organization in a private parlor. A number of new names were added to their old list, they paid three years' back dues and were reinstated with the Michigan State Spiritualists Association.

At Ionia, Mich., we held two meetings. On account of the very rainy weather the attendance was small. A small so ciety was organized which must grow in the future. We should have remained in Ionia for a longer time but other engagements prevented and we hastened on to Plainwell, Mich., where we organized a good society. Many we organized a good society. Many years ago Piainwell was a great Spiritualist center, but some of the workers moved away, others passed to the higher life and no meetings have been held until the present time for perhaps, twenty years. The people of Platitwell' are anxious to receive the truths that Spiritualism presents, and hereafter the opportunity will be open to them.

We closed our work for the month of April at the Chicago convention of the Illinois State Spiritualists Association, your paper. Within the last week we have come in contact with two poor souls have been fleeced by the infamous tricksters who pretend to be mediums. One of them was a fine young man who paid $125 cash down for his development as medium with gifts that would insure him five to twenty dollars per day, besides all the good he could do for the cause. Three days after the cash was paid over, the "developer" with the innocent boy's hard earnings The other was a poor innocent woman who was in deep trouble. The knew just how to relieve her and would do it for $500. The lady explained to As he emerged from the forest, the this "Greatest Medium on Earth" that she possessed only $125, and could not pay the amount, much as she would like to do so. Then this "Wonderful 'Psychie" concluded to turn philanthropist and said, "Since it is you, I will let you lay the $125 on the dresser there and I will magnetize it and you may come back to morrow and see me. I think things will be all right by that time. The lady grasped the opportunity, laid her money on the dresser and went home. She is waiting for the "Professor" to magnetize the money and bring her out of her trouble. But this "Greatest Medium on Earth" is not "at home." His office is closed, and the poor woman is robbed in the name of Spiritalism.

Spiritualists, there is a great responsibility resting upon us. We must expose, denounce and wipe out, these accursed tricksters and give the people our glorious truth instead. The only way on earth that this can be done is by thorough organization of the Spiritualists, and through the systematic methods of organization, educate the people to distinguish between the false and the true.

In the town where the last named robbery was perpetrated, a leading news paper positively refused to publish a notice of our meetings. The lady who presented it at the office, was insulted for her pains, and all because its edit ors and managers did not know the difference between Spiritualism and this high-handed robbery.

Spiritualists, arouse yourselves, or ganize everywhere and "assist each other and the spirit world in educating every conversation with the words, "Well, I don't know what it was do you?" ou?". Reader, you now have the story and it is true in every particular. It is yours to reflect upon, and to tell the world "What Was It?"

EVANGEL. Music is a prophecy of what life is to be, the rainbow of promise translated out of seeing into hearing, Mrs. L. M. Child.

Half the misery of human life might be extinguished by mutual offices of compassion, benevolence and humanity. —Addisón. . A lie must be thatched with another.

VERSUCHSTHIERE.

Cold-blooded Medical Science Run Mad.

Versuchsthiere. That is a hard word for English speaking people. When they understand the meaning of it, most people will think it harder still. It is a German word used by vivisectionists to designate hospital patients who are so unfortunate as to fall into their hands and are subjected to the heartless experimentation of vivisectionists. Versuchsthiere—"beasts for research," they are contemptuously called by the merciless experimenters. In our country and in England the victims of the vivisectors' cruelty are called "Clinical Material"—a softer expression to denote the same thing. Versuchsthiere" and "Clinical Material" are synonymous.

Numbers of medical men advocate the sanction by law of human vivisection, and desire that criminals conlemned to die shall be turned over into the hands of the vivisectors for pur poses of "research."

Were human vivisection sanctioned by law, it would quickly extend away beyond all limitations. No poor person, no helpless unfortunate, no friendless person would be safe from the greedy clutches of the vivisectionists. The number of criminals condemned to die would be insufficient to supply the demand for living human subjects for the vivisectors' torturesome experiments. The insatiable appetites of the vivisectors would demand yet more "clinical material," and that hospital patients, lunatics, paupers, etc., be added to the list of the unfortunates.

Greed grows by what it feeds on, and ivisectors are no exception to the rule. The penchant for cutting, tearing, roast ing, boiling and all the kinds of cruel torture that even flendish malignity could devise and cannot surpass, in creases by practice, until the hardened heart actually takes pleasure and finds actual enjoyment in the manifestations of pain exhibited by the helpless victims of torture, whether brute animal or human being.

The question forces itself upon us: Which is of the greatest consequence to the race, the cure of disease, the relief of pain, and the prolonging of life (for these are the vivisectors' claimed reasons for their cruel work); or the cultivation of kindness, justice, mercy and humanity? Which will do most for the upbuilding of highest and nohlest humanity?

The answer is plain and positive, and condemns the methods advocated and practiced by vivisectionists. No claimed or actual benefits of a material nature can compensate for moral evil: and moral evil is involved in the pain and torture inflicted in the inhuman process of vivisection. There is no human being living, whether condemned criminal or graduated M. D., who would not with all his mental might object to undergo the tortures of vivisection. I cannot, I think, end this article beter than to append the following illustrative excerpt from the Agnostic Jour-nal, of London, Eng. It comprises an article on Vivisection, by E. S. G.

Vivisection.

Mayo:

English people are loath to believe that vivisection as practiced in this country is barbarous-a sense of superiority over other nations causes them to dismiss, the thought. As a matter of fact, however, vivisection is cruel wherever it is performed. Take the ex periments practiced at the University College, London, as an example of what may be called legalized barbarity.

Dr. S. Smith, M. R. C. S., tells us of an experiment he witnessed in this place, performed by Professors Starling and Bayless, on October 19, 1900: When I first saw the animal (a small dog) he was motionless under curare A hole had been cut in the windpipe, and the bellows kept up artificial respiration. At each stroke of the bellows a little ether was pumped in with the air -a much feebler blast than that used at Strassburg (which the Doctor on page 15 declares to have been insufficient to render the animal unconscious of pain). The nerves of the neck had been dissected out, and were stimulated from time to time. The kidney had been drawn out through a wound and enclosed in a box. A tracing recorded the blood pressure and the volume of the kidney. From time to time the bellows were stopped to show the effect on the blood pressure of the asphyxia thus induced." (Scientific Research, page 36.) In 1895 Dr. G. W. Crile performed a series of experiments upon sixteen dogs, at the University College mentioned above, between April 25 and May 20 inclusive. Some of these experiments were performed under the influ ence of anaesthetics and others "under curare and morphine"—neither of which is an anaesthetic. Some of the operations, the doctor admits, were conducted "under incomplete anaesthesia," while others were performed upon animals from whom the "ether had been removed." The experiments included 'crushing of paw with forceps": "crushed foot extensively, just before cornal reflex was abolished." "The dog was in great shock when the canulae were inserted into the arteries." "The removal of the intestines caused...... the heart continued to beat for some time afterwards." "Opening the abdomen, without touching the intestines.

and pouring cold water into the cavity." Placing "the hind feet in boiling water"; 'crushing the testicles, right and left"; boiling water poured on the intestines." Some of these experiments lasted from one to two hours. (See Surgical Shock, pp. 20 to 31.)
And what is the use of all the pain in flicted? Sir Frederick Treves, F. R. C.

S., surgeon-in-ordinary to the King, when Prince of Wales, and surgeon to the London Hospital, says: "Many years ago I carried out on the continent sundry operations upon the intestines of dogs; but such are the differences between the human and canine bowel. that when I came to operate upon man, I found I was much hampered by my new experience, that I had everything

SPIRITUAL SCIENCE.

Can't some of our well-developed me-

The Koons Seances of Fifty Years Ago.

diums get in communication with the spirit of Jonathan Koons, that remarkable Spiritualist who resided in Athens county, Ohio, fifty years ago? After considerable time and trouble succeeded in finding a brother of Mr. Koons, Mr. Jacob Koons, still living, and residing at Jacksonville, Ohio, who informed me that during the time of those remarkable seances of fifty years ago, when Spiritualism was in its infancy, he, Jacob, was a near neighbor of Jonathan, and frequently attended those seances. He further says that the log seance-room was built by direction of the spirits on a spot indicated by them on a high elevated ridge in Athens county, called Mt. Nebo, and in it was a table, and on this table was kept a peculiarly constructed instrument of copper and zinc, constructed by Jonathan under direction of the spirits; also was kept lying on the table a plentiful supply of paper and pencils, and when the room was vacated and the door locked the spirits would write over this paper, when raps on the table would inlicate that the writing was finished, when they would go in and get the communications. Jacob Koons says further that upon one occasion two Frenchmen came there from Orleans, no one knowing their names or whence they came, and upon being given the privilege of a seance the door was locked and the key handed to them to hold, and when completed they went in and found their names and residences written on the paper, which they acknowledged to be correct, and also found writings in French which no one but themselves could read, no one there understanding

Now there must have been something peculiar about the location of this seance-room upon this high elevated ridge, or these spirits would not have ilrected it to be placed there. It, the ocation, must have been underlaid with nagnetic iron ore or some other mineral which assisted in furnishing artificial magnetism. The peculiarly constructed instrument of copper and zinc, made under directions of the spirits, must have been a peculiarly constructed dry galvanic battery of some kind, and assisted in furnishing artificial magnetism.

Now, what we want to know is the seculiarity or mineral formation of the ground underlying the seance-room: also the particulars of the peculiarly constructed instrument kept lying on ual cause; for whatever the peculiarity of the ground or mineral formation underlying the room may have you. Speak the truth. Treat them been, there is, I have no doubt, many other similar locations in the country which we should have the advantage of, as well as of the instrument or battery on the table, for whatever has been made can be made again, and we should have the advantage of it also.

Now this being the case, can't some of our well-developed mediums get in communication with the spirit or conrol of Jonathan Koons, or some scientific men, such, for example, as Benj. Franklin, or Robert Hare, of Philadelphia, or Benjamin Hallowell, of Alexandria, Va., and obtain from them all the information possible concerning these matters and have them published in The Progressive Thinker, that they may be duplicated and that we may have the advantage of them for the benefit of the spiritual cause, for I do assure you that if we can obtain this valuable information it will be of great service to the cause by enabling hundreds -yes, thousands upon thousands of mediumistic persons if not others, in opening communication with their spirit friends who are unable to do so without J. I. HOLLINGSWORTH. Winchester, Va.

to unlearn, and that my experiments had done little but unfit me to deal with the human intestines." (British Medical Journal, November, 1898).

Colonel Ingersoll, noble man that he was, said: "Vivisection is the inquisition, the hell, of science. All the cruelty which the human-or rather inhunan-heart is capable of inflicting is in this one word. Below there is no depth. This word lies like a coiled serpent at the bottom of the abyss....It is not necessary for a man to be a specialist in order to have and express his opinion as to the right or wrong of vivisection. It is not necessary to be a scientist or a naturalist to detect cruelty, and to do not please him, but all love mercy. Above all the discoveries anybody to curse God. Of the two the of the thinkers, above all the inven- last is far more harmless, because all tions of the ingenious, above all the victories won on fields of intellectual conflict, rise human sympathy, and a sense of justice....It may be that the human race might be physically improved that race might be physically improved if all the sickly and deformed babies were killed, and if all the paupers, liars, thieves, villains and vivisectionists devils, demons. If there is any pro-were murdered. All this might, in a fanity about the process either way few ages, result in the production of a they are equally profane. If there is generation of physically perfect men and women; but what would such beings be worth—men and women healthy teach superstitious doctrines to hold and heartless, muscular and cruel—that is to say, intelligent wild beasts? Never can I be the friend of one who vivisects his fellow-creatures. I do not wish to touch his hand. When the angel of pity is driven from the heart, when the fountain of tears is dry, the soul becomes a serpent crawling in the (Chronicle of St. dust of a desert." George, U. S. A., May, 1891.)

JAS. C. UNDERHILL. Hammond, Ind.

Half our knowledge we must snatch, not take.—Pope. All power appears only in transition

Beauty is no local deity, like the Greek and Roman gods, but omnipresent.—Bartol. The manner of a vulgar man has free dom without ease, and the manner of a gentleman has ease without freedom,-Chesterfield.

OBSESSION.

A Way to Counteract and Overcome It.

There is no fact more clearly attested than obsession, or the control and influ-ence of evil spirits upon mortals. Spirits of a low order and bad character get control of sensitive people and lead them in the ways of wrong-doing and hinder them in right thought, effort and action. The origin and cause of obsession we are not now considering—it is the remedy we are after. The question is asked: Why do not pure and wise spirits restrain the obsessing spirits? Because they cannot do it, any more than good, morai peo-ple on earth can prevent others from doing wrong. This law is the same in both worlds. It is true people are restrained from bad actions, to some extent, by force and prohibitive law, yet such measures are inadequate for the purpose. I have been under obsession for a considerable part of my life-vexed; troubled; tormented; discouraged; in jured; cursed, by evil-minded spirits, spirits, whose purpose seems to be to hinder, prevent, defeat the accomplishment of right purpose, the consummation of honest effort. I had been so often troubled and discouraged in this way that I often thought my life a failure and fate against me. There seemed to be a blight and curse resting on me, and I wished myself in oblivion.

L. W. Dexter told in The Progressive Thinker of a dreadful pain in his leg that annoyed him for years and how he got rid of it by vigorous cursing and damning. That beats Christian science and faith. The same remedy is good in obsession—good in my case, at least—a success, finally—more practical than prayers to Gods, Lords, Saviors.

Some folks would say that is rashiess, blasphemy, sacrilege. Did I repent of blasphemy? No-for I got relief from annoyance and suffering-had nothing to repent of-felt no remorse nor compunction of conscience—feared no god, hell or devil. Moreover, I repudiate the blasphemy, sacrilege and anathema of superstition, which are simply scarecrows to threaten and frighten

Obsession has much to do with crime, Obsession is a word of tremendous import, in which millions of weak, helpless mortals are made to suffer im-mensely until they gain the power and victory over this dreadful foe. A person who can, but will not, make use of the means to get relief from suffering, can blame himself or herself, in some degree. Persons who know themselves constructed instrument kept lying on to be obsessed should occasionally rethe table, for the benefit of the spirittire to a private place, alone, and talk d lairly. Advise, reprove admonish them. Show them the harm they do you and themselves. Request them to depart from you and seek more honorable employment. Give this plan a fair and patient trial.

If it proves unavailing, try a more rigorous method. Give them some plain talk, scold, command, denounce, rebuke them, for this they deserve. Call them by hard names that fit them neatly. This method of treatment will do them good and may cure the malady. When all other methods fail, try the cursing, damning process. Resist and fight the devilish spirits; consider them as hostile enemies, which they are. These degenerate parasites and cormorants prey upon their victims, to whom they make no return. With seared conscience, perversity, moral obliquity these obsessing spirits are what they have made themselves in character; and they go on in their wicked pursuits, regardless of the harm they do to mortals. Give them doses of malediction at long intervals. Spirits who damn themselves by evil designs and vicious pursuits may be called damned fools or rascals by their victims. Spirits who curse mortals should be cursed in return, when other measures fail. It is bad policy to "bless them that curse you.

There is no good reason why we should always be the slaves and tools of bad spirits. To break the bonds of obsession (which can be done) is to release a mortal from bondage and start a spirit on the highway of progression, and both will be thankful for it.

Some folks say it is all right for ecclesiastics to hurl anathemas and maledictions against the people, but all wrong for people to hurl them back. 'What dupes ye mortals be." Many are horrified at the idea of blasphemy or profanity. They think it is all right for their God to curse and damn people who myths; whereas, the mortal or individ-

If it is right for gods or devils or demons to curse and damn mortals, then it is all right for mortals to curse gods, any wrath, revenge or damnation, it should be settled upon those people in fear and bondage. false doctrines are a curse to the world. There is no sin in profaning the name of an imaginary deity, but it is a most damnable thing for religious leaders to hold their ignorant dupes in awe, dread and fear in the name of religion. These knaves and hypocrites teaching the most absurd, unprovable doctrines, based on fable and fiction, imposing on the ignorance and credulity of mankind to further their professional and creedal interests, is an infamous wrong, a monstrous imposition on mankind that should be held up to scorn.

A. H. NICHOLAS. Summerland, Cal.

That which history can best give is the enthusiasm which it raises in our hearts.—Goethe. Life, like the water of the seas, freshens only when it ascends towards heavy en.-Richter.

Zurilda Wellington.

Her Life in Two Worlds. The Lifting of the Vell.

BY MRS. M. PASQUIER CURRAN, MEDIUM, ST. LOUIS, MO.

(Continued from last week.)

Mrs. Wise was the first to break the silence by exclaiming: "Oh, Almighty King! Lord of Hosts! Thou art taking of the things that are invisible and showing them unto babes and suck-lings; of a truth heaven has been

"Wife," said the rector, "has a new star dawned on your mental horizon? Remember that this is forbidden fruit; eat not lest you die.'

"Oh, husband, has God forbidden knowledge to His children?" said Mrs.

Wise, with much feeling.
"Forbidden knowledge! Foolish nonsense, absurd!" said the rector.
"Rector Wise," said my father, "what does this mean? Is my darling de

"No, no; it only means a child's whim, nonsense; you have been keep ing that child so secluded that her mind has dwelt on such trifling things; let other children and older people be her .companions and this foolishness will

"I do not agree with you, husband," said Mrs. Wise. "No, I do feel that this is a vision, or a communion with the dear departed ones; yes, yes, it must be, for God does not mock our heart's that is scripture, too. Yes, husband, if the scriptures prove anything, they prove communion with the dear departed dead; the book abounds in fust such comforting messages as we so much need; here is one: 'And I will meet thee, and commune with thee.'"

"Oh that was for the people of that has been darkened by theology?" day, who had not the knowledge we have," said the rector, with a loud voice and a commanding air.

"For that day, indeed! are not our hearts as human to-day as then?" asked "Yes, I yearn to know something of Claudy and Saidy. Oh, my mother's heart reaches out to God a door opened in heaven for me; yes, I do; and I feel, too, that Zurilda Wellington looks through that darling's eyes at me; yes, her pure spirit is hovering around us."

"Be quiet," said the rector to Mrs. Wise: "You are hysterical; compose yourself; you are enunciating heterodoxy, not scriptural doctrines of the established church."

"No," said Mrs. Wise, "but it is the and from the spirit of Jesus, the Christ. Did not Jesus, when a child the older ones? Yea, verily, husband, you are teaching and preaching theology; it is a profession, or an occupation, that is paid for by the parish members, and it is your duty to preach any member of either house." A bad place to look for purity!" said Mrs. Wise in an under-

"You are our shepherd; protect and guide my child in spiritual things. She is ten years old, and it is time to instruct her in confirmation knowledge. Let your instructions be of the highest order, and when my friend, Bishop Sutherland comes, I wish him to administer the rite of confirmation to her, as he is well skilled in ritualism," added

"Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God," said Mrs. Wise, clasping her hands tightly together, CHAPTER II.

Studying the Bible.

- After this evening's conversation was allowed to mingle with other young companions of our parish, and ride out with Mrs. Wise, and Albert Howard. The rector soon began a rigid, theological training. He said that he wished me to comprehend and worship God aright, and that the Holy Scriptures, especially the New Testament, would be our daily study. "We will begin," he said, "by a right understanding of God, and of God's dealings with man as His my father in a stern voice to me, "and

"From the Bible and Nature, I learn that there is but one universal power, that pervades all, lives in all, governs all; and that this is an intelligent force. called by many names, but the same in all ages and in all races."

"Stop," said the rector, "we are not studying nature, but God's holy book, that treats of God as a spirit, and of His of duty. Cannot you counsel with her dealings with man as His sinful child. in this absurd idea? It is so inconsist

"That there is only one true God," I and repugnant to common sense." "And what about the Godhead?"

asked the rector. I did not read anything about God and the prescribed rules, and the duty you owe to the church of God."

Bible for three years, daily, and have ye love one another.' Go home, Mr. could be construed into such meaning new covenant to your breast, and draw as the church formula teaches. Now, fom her food for your soul. Your reayou are confounding the Bible and the son will resume its proper place, when church formula, and if you will lay the pride has fled, and the power of this formula aside and take the Bible in its mighty truth that God is now sending spiritual application to man's require to us will be felt in the soul. We have ments, in many things you will meet been taught that the dead know, not his needs; especially the teachings of anything, but the manifestations of the Jesus, the Christ. I can then under specialled dead have I heard this day; stand you and you can understand me, and I bless God that like Simeon of old, for I have been taught its spiritual ap I have heard the salvation of the Lord, that our mothers are hovering around plication by my angel mother."

Before I had finished these remarks yea, a sword shall pierce thine own the rector was on his feet, stamping his soul, for the divine man is within await foot and calling on me to be quiet. foot and calling on me to be quiet.

'Husband," said Mrs: Wise, "flear My father bowed a good day to the germ in your soul that I have come to what the child has to say before you rector and wife, and left the rectory, you, my child."

The whole of the germ in your soul that I have come to you, my child."

The whole of the child has to say before you rector and wife, and left the rectory, you, my child."

The whole of the child has to say before you rector and wife, and left the rectory, you, my child."

The whole of the child has to say before you rector and wife, and left the rectory, you, my child."

The whole of the child has to say before you rector and wife, and left the rectory, you, my child."

The whole of the child has to say before you rector and wife, and left the rectory, you my child."

at it the rector, and that is through God's ever return; and yet I must yield my love should wind its sliver cord around its divinely appointed ministers; such bability and the links ambitton's flerce desire would A ble I will not have."

said Mrs. Wise.

"Wisdom, indeed!" said the rector, "for that child of ten years to say to me that her angel mother had taught her.' "'From the mouths of babes and sucklings shall wisdom flow,' and that is scripture, too," said Mrs. Wise.

"Zurilda Wellington, take our church formula, and study it through, so that you can answer me any and all the questions I may put to you when I re-turn home. I am called out of the city for a few days," said the rector, as he dismissed me.

"'And the child grew and waxed strong," said Mrs. Wise, throwing her arms around me. Tell me, dear, of those angel visitants, as we ride this afternoon: Come now, Albert awaits

When we were seated in the carriage my mother said in her usual way of communion with me, "Tell the dear ones that you have the Bible in your heart; and that its pages are food, when we, who come from the world of "Oh," said Mrs. Wise, "great is the

The communion of the holy spirit be man; all is by law. The secrets of the with you all," said Mrs. Wise; "and that hat hat hat hat hat an ear to hear the of Him who came to bear witness of voice of the spirits, can read God's writ- that light that was the true light, that ten law. Is it mystery that a mother guideth good men. Cothed with the aucan lead her child in paths of truth, love and peace, and unfold her infant and pour out his vials of wrath upon mind in spiritual things; that she may take of the things of God, and show them unto those whose spiritual light derstand," said Elon to me, and he has been darkened by theology?" added: "Go and ye shall find an ass "But," said Mrs. Wise, "I, as a mortal, cannot understand this." "No," said my mother, "for the material law overshadowed the spiritual. There are some who are endowed with a spiritual nature, that reflects and shows spiritual imagery, as the prophprayer, and now I feel that there is and that stream is flowing earthward now, as when Jesus dwelt with man. Can you tell why one star differeth me; "he is weighed in his own balance, from another, or how the flowers emit and found wanting," their fragrance? The ancient Chaldeans worshiped the sun, as the emblem truly glad to see you, also that fine pic-of a superior power, to destroy or re-ture that you have," pointing to me store; and men who hold the net of theology over their eyes are darker in of pride. My father bowed and smiled, their spiritual natures than those who as this remark touched his vanity. "A While my mother was speaking Christ. Did not Jesus, when a child through me, Albert Howard sat in my father. Ithe older ones? Yes verily husband breathless silence, gazing on me, then "Has she at Mrs. Wise. "The Lord hath set thee on high," broke from his lips. "Set your affections on things above," members, and it is your duty to preach theology to them; as for me, I have long felt an aching void in my heart bye at the hour of death. No, I was long felt an aching void in my heart, and a desire to commune with my loved ones, and I feel that it is God's spirit that prompts me."

"Rector Wise," said my father, "my child is very dear to me, and she must be trained in the gospel truths; the blood of two noble families flows in my veins and no tarnish has ever rested on any member of either house."

by e at the hour of death. No, I was more alive to my earthly condition than dignity and authority and said: "Just the line that you and I pursued, Mr. Wellington, and I think that you have been lax in your duty to her. Danger braises to God, while her infant's cry is coming to her through the portals. No, we are not dead; your loves and hates reach us, and they uplift or depress us; they are forces for good or for evil we ences exerted over the young to induce above our earthly conditions are God's ministering spirits, sent by His mandate to guard the destiny of mortals."

"To guard the destiny of mortals," said Albert in a whisper to Mrs. Wise. "Oh, I have a mother in heaven. Does she know and love me yet? Does she love me; for I have been so wicked at and a joy, too, to train her in God's laws."

"Yes, yes," said my mother; "and we mothers turn from the heavenly shore to shield our loved ones in their hours said Mrs. Wise, of weakness and pain. Yes, all parents "and I do feel that Zurilda Wellington that soul committed to their keeping. By our efforts new strength and cour age are given, and hope is infused into the bitterest cup of some burdened soul, sad hearts comforted and the tear of sorrow dried."

"Surely thou art called, like Samuel of old," said Mrs. Wise; "and the Lord made to feel the enormity of our sins is doing a thing in this way that will while we are young; yes, the carnal cause the ears of those who hear to mind is at enmity with God. My tingle. Woe unto us who hear these mighty truths of God if we heed them not, said Albert. We had now reached the rectory, where my father and Mr. Wise were in close conversation. "Return to your home at once," said creatures. Now, what does the Bible await my coming." Then turning to teach concerning God?"

Mrs. Wise he said: "I am deeply pained at what the rector has related, in regard to my daughter; her disregard of religious teachings is indeed a surprise as well as a grief to me. To-day I received a letter from Bishop Sutherland stating that he may be with us at any moment. Zurilda's lack of religious training he will charge to me as neglect

"The Lord is abundant in goodness and truth," exclaimed Mrs. Wise. "In this it is God who directs. She was not shapen in iniquity, that evil might flow through her. No, but she is a mouthplece for the spirit of truth; that comgry look, and said: "That is profanity, Miss, and I shall require you to yield when He went to His Father." 'Be ye a perfect obedience to the requirements perfect; said Jesus, as your Father in heaven.' Mr, Wellington, that comforter is come, and is teaching me all "Mr. Wise," I said, "I have read the things; yea a new commandment, that not found in that book one word that Wellington, and fold that angel of this condemn her in this manner, for she saying: "Pretty advice from the shep may have a higher conception of Bible herdess indeed; no comfort for me in that sheephold." Oh, that undiscovered and besuty, ponetrate his soul; no, he "Truth has but one channel," said country from which no traveler can has but the semblance; the shadow, If "Childhood and youth are not all van: least, and govern my house as one who lity, as the wise one has said; no, for has authority to command; and my this child has put away childish things," pinions, too, must be respected by my

This child is set for a fall and a rise; us!

CHAPTER III.

Bishop Sutherland and His Son, Louis. When my father returned home he found the Bishop and his son had arrived and were awaiting him. The meeting between such old friends was joyous and unrestrained.
"Mr. Wellington, allow me to present my son, Louis, to you," said the Bishop. Louis arose and stood with hat in hand, and clerical dignity mantling him, as my father extended a hand of welcome. Cold and contracted in his nature, without apparent feeling, he answered, when he was addressed, with coldness, and unconcern; this frigid nature cast a gloom over my father, as well as myself. Metal covered him throughout; steel to steel were the weapons that stood out from his countenance. He had evidently armed himself to do battle for somebody's Godspirits, take of the things of God and show them in their spiritual essence to those that are incased in the flesh."

his own perhaps; or the gods of the Amorites, or the Hittites; surely not the liternal, Infinite Spirit of the universe. To me, Dante's inferno blazed around him in all the vivid colors that a deyearning for the departed."

"Stop," said the rector; "what communion hath light with darkness?

munion hath light with darkness?

"There are no mysteries," said my mented mind might portray. Looking at him, he seemed like one of John's seven last plagues. This man, who proceed that the seven last plagues. This man, who proceed the seven last plagues. This man, who proceed that the seven last plagues. This man, who proceed the seven last plagues are no mysteries, and my mented mind might portray. claimed himself a servant of the most thority of man, he could bind, and loose, whom he pleased. "Here is wisdom. Let him that hath an ear to hear, untied; but here we find an ass loosed. Who is worthy to open the book and to loose the seals thereof?" The foregoing will but briefly outline this bishop in embryo.

"Mark the perfect man, and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace," wrote the psalmist.

"Measure for measure is man's rule." said my mother softly, bending over

The bishop said to my father: "I am with his hand and smiling with an air were feeling after God through that type of pure spirituality, the contrast essence of God's truth, is of the spirit, is the testimony of God and it is sure." between the material and the spiritual is the testimony of God and it is sure." is well marked," added the bishop.
"I will rely on your judgment," said

"Has she received the rite of confirmation?" asked the bishop.
"No," said my father, "I am depending on you for that, as your superior judgment in spiritual things will enable you to judge better for her, at this are but men and women divested of our them to elude church and parental aumortal bodies. We who have arisen thority, and if you have a distinct purpose in regard to her, why have you delayed this important rite?'

His seeming animated desire for my well-being forced my father to express himself more explicitly, than he would have done, and he said: "I hope not; God knows that it has been my pride

"Has Rector Wise neglected his spiritual duty to the young of his parish?" asked the bishop.

"No," said my father, "he had commenced a course of instruction but was called out of the city."

"Mr. Wellington," said Louis, with an air of clerical dignity, "truths that are lasting must be instilled in the mind while it is tender. Innate sin and depravity in the human race form the major part of our being, and we should be father has informed me in relation to a pledge between you and him, and I had hoped to see that the religious principles of our church were deeply laid in her. As you are aware, Mr. Wellington, of my high standing and rapid growth in the theological ranks which I am making, and will continue to make until the height of my ambition is reached, it will be necessary for Zurilda, as my wife, to have a complete religious education; and I require this of you, as part of her dower."

My father bowed an assent to this, seemingly well pleased with the braying of this young bishop.

"Effect must follow cause," said the bishop, as he turned to Louis, "and you will perceive that spiritual culture is to mold and model a character by slow degrees; look to yourself, and see that Now, Zurilda, what does the Bible ent with reason or sound judgment, you possess the right elements, so that teach that God is?"

Why it is the very opposite of truth, you may emit this potent power to oth-

> While Louis was conversing with my father, the bishop was gazing at me, and I could feel that his penetrating thoughts were sinking deep into my very soul.

"Do not soar too far," said the bishop. 'You may be among barren rocks. Storms and tempests come to all." "I have chosen my path, father, and my pinions are set to soar high."

"You are dazzled by ambition, I fear, my son. Love should be the attracion; your object, to promote the truth of God's love to man, in your choice of this calling," said the bishop. "There are conditions where love is but a secondary consideration," said Louis, with a scornful demeanor. During this conversation, my spirit, mother hovered close to me, speaking of that land of rest, and winding the cords of her love closer around me. How beautiful, how cheering, to know

"Truth never changes," said my mother; "it has ever been," and can never die, It is to unfold this immortal:

BITTER SWEETS.

m 9d The Experiences of an Itinerant's Life. A System of Mental Self-Healing.

Home again! I arrived at my destimation May 6, after a pleasant five or to inquire in the direction of Nature's months' four, filling engagements for amazing secrets is not entitled to aid spifficual Kocieties. My first stop was or comfort. Without a yearning for improvement and interest of the confort of th at LaCrosse, Wis., speaking for the provement, an individual loses interest Spfritual Church, and the smiles of in himself, and it is probable that he those gooli people there haunt me still, as do the dear friends at Englewood, Chicago, and Rochester, Indiana.

At all these places I found our people among the best of citizens.

There are many "bitter sweet" things that come into the life of the circulating ininister. When one just begins to get acquainted, and sweet ties of sym- mental truth it is known only to medipathy are called into vibration that ums and to the mediumistically in-bind one, they are forced to say "good-cined. Whether one person can rebye!" and usually one finds an engagement of a month or two, as the case may be, all too short to prove one's abil-ity. But fight here I wish to say I am much in favor of the circulating pulpit, clothes, the difficulties of establishing carried on as the Wisconsin State Board the truth of spirit presence are appar are agitating for the coming season: The theory of Spiritualism is extensively established, but this must finally fall. A theorist becomes a final skepthat is to have one minister take in a district of, say four of the small towns, where they haven't financial strength enough for them to afford to keep up tic. Every person who is interested meetings for the year; then the minister could pass around this circuit, stopping a week in each place, a month, and that would give these hungry souls the benefit, and it would warrant a moderunless the top brain is both well developed and in healthful tone; its photoate living for the minister and would really be more pleasant than making graphic sensitiveness is too dormant for efficient action. I see persons such long tours and being compensed to be away from home for months. I for one hope that this order of things can the top, where mortal individuality should put forth its magnetic flower, estimated in every state: it will be

But this life at best seems to be but a journey of meeting and parting. Sad, tear-dimmed eyes we see all along the way as trembling lips repeat these sad, sweet "words, "Good-bye." But in quoting the words of the grand, good soul, Rev. Grafton Owen, I will say, This is a grand old world! There is blest living and loving here, and friendships sweeter than a June morning; beside we are heirs to a universe on which there is no mortgage!"

In the different places which I visited this winter, I found the Spiritual passing down the western slope of time, Church at Rochester, Ind., seeming to it seems probable that I had better give have the hardest pull of all to maintain | my discoveries to the world, leaving to themselves, but this is easy enough to some brighter mind the task of adding account for, as the society has passed through a shock in the past year equal to an earthquake, as I understand four of their oldest and some among them of their best sustainers were called to the good-sized pamphlet. The publication higher life. Among them was Major Bitters, who was like the center-pole to roll of honor; but this is little to me a tent. All the friends agree that he now. It will mark a new era in healwas such a tower of strength, both in-tellectually and Spiritually, as well did if I publish this dissertation the obligathey depend upon him greatly in a tion will be thereby canceled. financial way.

But he is not gone! The dear, strong, tender, loving spirit, is with them still, as was made evident near the close of my engagement with them, as loud raps wereoproduced by the invisible rapper plainly audible to all in the hall at the very place where he usually stood when acting as chairman of the meetings, so the friends said who knew his accus-tomed place, and as I boarded with his goodawife and family and occupied the room, in which he was ill and from which he passed out, I heard loud raps almost daily on the various pieces of furniture, to signify his presence no doubt, and to prove his interest in my work.

Oh, I sometimes think we as Spiritualists do not half appreciate this blessed truth; and many who are financially able do not do half they could to promote this cause; indeed, I am sorry to say it, in shame for them, that those usually who could do the most do the least, but I also notice they are always on hand to receive their share of the good things our dear friends have to bring us. Such people are vampires! they feed off the blessings the poor to pay for, and nine times out | Or a victim of drink-demons of ten drop a penny into the contribution hox or walk away and do not even say, Thank you! But I suppose we must be patient with them; they are so steeped in carnality they haven't opened their spiritual sight of justice yet.

On my journey home I attended the convention at Chicago and responded to an invitation from the dear friends of Milwaukee to visit them. On Sunday, May 2, I lectured in the Universalist church at Lodi, Wis., and had a large and appreciative audience there, as one could have heard a pin drop through the wnole of the discourse.

Brother Erwood has been doing some good work there this winter, and they are somewhat spiritually awakened. From there I went to Wonewoc and held a parlor meeting at their request. and then I started for Lady Smith, Wis So here I am. among the stumps and frogs, and they sing continually—the frogs, I mean—I think they are trying to let us know that Lady Smith is the only place in the world to raise a good crop of frogs, and I say, Amen! love the dear little critters, and I hope there are frogs in heaven, for their singing helps to make up Nature's harmonies; and Nature's God is everywhere. What a comforting thought.

And I feel the angels bending low to this way. Torturing diseases like dyswhisper in my ear, that God is singing pepsia, indigestion, kidney troubles in the frogs, some lonely heart to cheer.

Some might say that was poetic license, but for me, there is no music sweeter than the song of frog, and hum of bee; and chirping crickets that hide from me; and birds that wing the air all day; and owls that hoot their night ly lay; and whip-poor-wills and katydids, all—everything I love to hear; that God has made some heart to cheer.

We came to Lady Smith last November, expecting to make this our future home, but as our only son left on this plane of life lives near Plainview, Minnesota, as well as my mother, sisters and brother, we have determined to change; our slocation, and will start for that place the first of June, and this summer build us a home there, therefore my headquarters in the future will be there. gr

I will stilly remain in the work, and would like to make engagements for campswork for the summer. I am now engaged for two weeks at the Wonewoo camparand also expect to attend the Waulgesha camp. All other time for the comina season is open. I fear I am making this letter too long and will now close with loving greetings to the readers of this grand old journal. Addressime after may, Palinview, Minn. MRS. CATHARINE M'FARLIN.

"The Infidelity of Ecclesiasticism

Mentice to American Civilization.

By Prof. W. M. Lockwood, lecturer upon physical, physiological and psy-chic science." Demonstrator of the moecular or shiritual hypothesis of nature. Schölarly, masterly, trenchant. Price 25 cents. For sale at this office. "The Molecular Hypothesis of Nature," By Prof. Wm. M. Lockwood Prof. Lockwood is recognized as one of the ablest lecturers on the spiritual ros-trum. In this little volume he presents n succinct form the substance of his ectures-on the Molecular Hypothesis of Nature; and presents his views as lemonstrating a scientific basis of Spiritualism. The book is commended to all who love to study and think. For sale at this office. Price, 25 cents.

BETTER THINGS.

from another individual in the form, I only a little should inquire more closely

I doubt whether a bald-headed person can receive proofs of spirit presence, into this problem and its conditions.

I am occasionally able during night to commune somewhat with the res.dents of the unknown realm. With-day be much more skeptical in Spirit-

During the last fifteen years I have been working out a system of mental self-healing. I continued to make additional discoveries till the present year. I have done some incidental miracles in this line, but cannot say that I have ac-

The practice of this self-healing method will involve no expense. I have nothing to sell. Hoping that prosperity will increase in the publishing house of

MIGHT HAVE BEEN MUCH WORSE.

But it might have been much worse

J. M. HOLADAY.

The Progressive Thinker, I close.

Though we struggle on in silence

With our duties as they come,

With our ration but a crumb,

And the struggle seems a torture

Though we seem enslaved in labor

While around folks prosper well;

Though we feel oppressed and weary

Of this winding, grinding spell;

Though we may pass days in hunger

When we meet the blind or crippled,

That it might have been much worse

Though we mourn an absent loved one

That it might have been much worse

And our whole life seems inverse,

Though the clouds that hover o'er us

Is with rocks strewn to the tomb;

That small voice down deep within us Says: "It might have been much worse." DR. T. WILKINS.

It means to turn aside and throw out of the body all the woes and miseries caused by a clogged up system, and they are many. Constipation means that the bowels are weak, so that they cannot keep up that constant motion the doctors call peristaltic action

When that stops passages cease, the blood begins to absorb the poisons through the walls of the intestines and thus disease is scattered everywhere.

Death often lays its foundation in liver complaints, heart disease, headaches and a hundred and one other complaints start that way. A cure must come through toning up, strengthening and invigorating the bowels. This can be easily, gently, and permanently done by Vernal Saw Palmetto Berry Wine.

It is a tonic laxative of the highest class. It builds up the bowels, restores the lost action and adds new life and vigor. Only one small dose a day will positively cure constipation of any degree by removing the cause of the trouble. Try it. A free sample bottle for the asking. Vernal Remedy Co.,

All leading druggists have it for sale

PLEASE TRY NOW

To Extend the Circulation of The Progressive Thinker.

Now is the time to do it. We are now running a series of lectures by that emarkable English psychic, C. W. Lead-heater. They alone will be worth more than the price of subscription, saying nothing of other equally important features of the paper. Induce your Spiritdalist friends to send in a dollar for the

"Beyond the Vail." A Sequel to "Rending the Vail." Being a compilation, with notes and explanations, of periences, spoken, written and made by narrations and illustrations of spirit ex-full-form materializations; setting up a scientific and personal verification of ethics, requisite to the most speedy realization of the highest and purest folicity attainable in the future life, A very remarkable book. Large, octavo, very remarkable book. Large, octavo, p00 pages. Price, $1.75.

"Hellocentric Astrology or Essentials of Astronomy and Solar Mentality, with Tables of Ephemeris from 1830 to 1910." By Yarmo Vedra, For sale at this office. Price $1.50.

"Discovery of a Lost Trail." By Chas. B. Newcomb. Excellent in spiritual appropriyances. Cloth $1.50. For sale

suggestiveness. Cloth, $1.50. For sale

What We Shall Be," and a code of paper.

ht this office.

166 Seneca Bldg., Buffalo, N. Y.

to Cure Constipation?

Make our life one awful gloom,

And our plans the fates reverse,

Do You Know What It Means

And the path that lies before us

Though all aspirations fail us

We must know from observation

And a mighty empty purse,

Or the helpless invalid,

Who of thirst is never rid.

We meet others who remind us

In our hopes and aspirations.

In this grand old universe

Life is never so embittered

Council Bluffs, Iowa.

out these rather rare events, I would toualism than I am.

something to them.

and Mental, and would make ent.

HYPNOTISM.

VALUABLE WORKS ON SUG-The person who desires not to think GESTION.

> HYPNOTISM AND SUGGESTION, WHEN RIGHTLY APPLIED BE-COME POTENT AGENTS FOR

Spiritualism is fairly before the thinking and scientific representatives of the civilized world at last, and receiving tremendous consideration. Its Mental and Moral Culture. Hypnotism in Mental and Moral Culture, By John Duncan Quackenbos, Fellow of the New York Academy of importance is seen. As a proposition it is Medicine, Member of the New York Academy of Sciences, Fellow of the New Hampshire Medical Society, Memknown and discussed everywhere in the realm of civilization, yet as an experiber of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Bear in cined. Whether one person can remind, please, that this book treats of ceive a knowledge of spirit presence Hypnotism in Mental and Moral Culture. It should be in every family. doubt; and as two-thirds of mankind Price. $1.25. have little thought above fire, meat and

A Complete System.

Hypnotism, a Complete System of Method, Application and Use, including all that is known in the art and practice of mesmerism and mental healing, prepared for the self-instruction of beginners, as well as for the use of advanced students and practitioners. By L. W. D. Laurence. A good work for anyone to read. Price $1. Paper, 50

The Field of Hypnotism. Hypnotism, by Albert Moll. The author says: "Various recent researches in the field of hypnotism have rendered it necessary to remodel in part the earlier edition of the work. I have brought the history of hypnotism down to the present, and have throughout, I trust, presented the subject in its present state. In accordance with a wish which has been expressed by many, I have especially developed a chapter on the medical aspects of Hypnotism." This is a work of over 400 pages, and is certainly very valuable. Price $1.50. Hypnotism-Its Uses and Dangers. Hypnotism, How it Is Done; Its Uses and Dangers. By James R. Cocke, M. D. Dr. Cocke has hypnotized complished all that I desired. As I am altogether about one thousand, three passing down the western slope of time, hundred and fifty people. The greater part of these were Americans, some ne-groes, quite a number of French, a few Germans, and a few of the Northern races, such as Danes, Russians, etc. It My results-which have been placed has been his purpose to illustrate the in writing—are in two parts, Hygienic differences in the hypnotic state as they occur in the various nationalities, and in that respect the work is very valuof this work will place my name on the able. Price $1.50.

Its History and Present Development.

Hypnotism—Its History and Present Development. By Fredrik Bjornstrom, M. D., Head Physician of the Stockholm Hospital. This being a Swedish production, it will fit into your library very nicely, though you have all the other works on Hypnotism. Price 75 cents.

Mind and Body, Hypnotism and Suggestion.

Mind and Body, Hypnotism and Suggestion Applied in Therapeutics Suggestion Applied in Therapeutics and Education. By Alvan C. Halphide, M. D., Professor of the Theory and Practice of Medicine in Hahnemann Medical College. Illustrated. This work treats of the Antecedents of Hypnotism: the Development of Hypnotism: notism; the Development of Hypnotism; the Methods of Hypnotizing; the Phenomena of Hypnosis; the Theof Suggestion; Suggestion in the Waking State; Treatment in Natural Sleep; Clinical Hypnotism; Suggestion and Education; Danger in the use of Suggestion; Criminal Suggestion. Really, the work is very valuable. Price $1.00.

Rationale of Mesmerism. The Rationale of Mesmerism. By A. P. Sinnett. This work, too, is worthy the list: of great praise as it contains the results of the labors of a master mind. It treats of Old and New Theories; the Mesmeric Force; the Real Literature of Mesmerism; Side Lights on Mesmeric Phenomena; Curative Mesmerism; An-esthetic Effects and Rigidity; the Nature of Sensitiveness; Clairvoyance and Mesmeric Practice. Price $1.25.

Suggestion-A Gold Mine. Now we present a work of mar velous utility, one that should be carefully studied. It contains a mine valuable information. Its title is as follows: Treatment by Hypnotism and Suggestion; or Psycho Therapeutics. By C. Lloyd Tuckey, M. D. In this work, the new method, "Treatment by Suggestion," is exhaustively considered. Every branch of the subject is discussed in a masterly manner. Every healer should have it. Every physician will find it invaluable. Every one who wishes to become proficient in hypnotism will find it a valuable auxiliary in the work. Price $3.00.

Mental Suggestion From the French. Mental Suggestion. By Doctor J. Ochorowicz, Professor of Psychology and Nature Philosophy in the University of Lemberg. Translated from the French. The ablest work, probably, ever published in France on the above subject. It is certainly very valuable, and no one can read it without having his knowledge vastly increased. The author says: "Hypnotism is henceforth part and parcel of Science, and Suggestion, which produces most of its wonders, no longer surprises us." Price $2. An Experimental Study.

An Experimental Study in the Domain of Hypnotism. By Dr. R. von Kraft-Ebing, Professor of Psychiatry and Nervous Diseases in the Royal University of Graz, Austria. Translated from the German. This book gives the best German thought on Hyp. notism. It will prove valuable in every library. Price $1.25. If you wish to have a complete library on Hypnotism and kindred sub-jects, purchase the twelve books above mentioned. Indeed a single one of the volumes above named will prove ef great value to every reflective mind. For sale at this office.

WISDOM OF THE AGES.

Revelations from Zertoulem, the Prophet of Tlaskanata.

A Mine of Valuable Reflections and Suggestions. This work was automatically transcribed by George A. Fuller, M. D., a gentleman who stands high as a lecturer and medium. It is a mine of val-nable reflections and suggestions. The paragraphs are short, suggestive and inspiring. Every one of them leads to comething higher, grander, nobler.

FROM DREAMLAND SENT. A volume of Poems. By Lillan Whiting. Close

Price $1.00.

Bible and Church Degrade Woman.

Why I Am a Vegetarian. An address delivered before the Ohicago Vege-rian Society, By J. Howard Moore. Price,

OUR PREMIUMS.

BEAR IN MIND.

Remember, please, that we send many of our Premium Books by express. If you do not receive your order promptly by mail, inquire at the express office. If not there, notify us at once. Remember, please that it costs ten cents to get a personal check cashed at a bank in Chicago. If you send a personal check, add ten cents to the amount sent.

Remember, please, that we have only two books which we send out now for 25 cents each. We cannot allow you to select any other book or books in their place.

Remember, please, that you are not entitled to any of these Premiur Books unless you send in with your order a year's subscription to The Progressive Thinker.

Remember, please, that the safest way to make a remittance is to secure a postal order Read our Premium Offer, AND DO NOT WRITE TO US FOR ANY OTHER TERMS. You must send $1 for The

Progressive Thinker when you order,

one or more premium books. Please Remember, please, that mistakes and trouble may be avoided by dealing direct with this office, instead of through a news agent.

Every person who sends in a yearly subscription to The Progressive Thinker can have until further notice, the two following books for 25 cents each: "The Religion of Man and Ethics of Science," by Hudson Tuttle, and "Seers of the Ages, or, Spiritualism Past and Present," by Dr. J. M. Peebles. Both exceedingly valuable, and though widely different, each one fills an exceedingly important niche in the literature of Spiritualism.

If you order only one book, and that one neither of the books mentioned above, the price is 50 cents. If you order two books, and neither of them the above mentioned, the price is

We have TEN Premium Books only, ind you can select from them as fol-Any three of the ten Premium Books ou may order, price $1.10.

Any four of the ten Premium Books ou may order, price $1.50. Any five of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $1.80.

Any six of the ten Premium Books

you may order, price $2.10. Any seven of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $2.35. Any eight of the ten Premium books you may order, price $2.65. Any nine of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $2.90. Lastly all of these. TEN valuab's Premium Books here announced a. sent out, all postage prepaid, for $3.1%, a price never before equaled in this country or Europe. The following is REMARKABLE FOR $3.10.

1-The Encyclopedia of Death, and Life in the Spirit World, Vol. 1. 2—The Encyclopedia of Death, and Life in the Spirit World, Vol. 2. 3-The Encyclopedia of Death, and Life in the Spirit World, Vol. 3.
4—Art Magic, or Mundane, Sub-Mundane and Super-Mundane Spiritism. 5-Ghost Land, Spiritualism, Occult-

6-The Next World Interviewed. 7-The Occult Life of Jesus. 8—A Wanderer in the Spirit Lands.
9—The Religion of Man and Ethics of

10-Seers of the Ages, or Spiritualism Past and Present. Read This Carefully Before Re-

Remitting. When you send in your subscription of The Progressive Thinker, carefully look over the books which you desire in this list, and their price, and send for are intensely interesting. They are elevating in tone and will do you good. In remitting do not fail to enclose a dollar for The Progressive Thinker.

These ten books, substantially and elegantly bound, and printed in the neatest style of the printer's art, will be furnished to our subscribers for $3.10, a price which modern machinery and enerprise has rendered possible in The Progressive Thinker office only. Sending out these books, however, at the prices we do. does not reduce the price of the subscription of the paper, apparently or otherwise, a single cent, for that cannot be afforded for less than one dollar per year, in view of the fact that we publish such a vast amount of reading matter.

In conclusion, bear in mind that the postage on these ten premium books is about ONE DOLLAR, leaving this office only $2.10, illustrating the great bargain you are getting—a bargain the like of which was never known before on this material plane.

CLUBS! CLUBS! CLUBS! CLUBS! To Clubs of ten or more we offer the following terms to each one: The Progressive Thinker one year, and ONE of the following books, $1.15: "The Religion of Man and Ethics of Science":
"Seers of the Ages, or Spiritualism Past and Present"; "A Wanderer in the Spirit Lands"; "The Encyclopedia of Death, and Life in the Spirit World," Vol. 3. The one who gets up the Club will be entitled to the paper one year free, and any two of the books he may select among our list of premiums.

A REMARKABLE BOOK

The clear and very interesting account of the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, with the inciting causes of that tragedy, will serve to excite renewed interest in the great work of Father. Chinious, entitled "Fifty years in the Church of Rome." In this book he exposes in the minutest details the corruption that exists in that church, and its inliquitous methods and alms, It is a book of absorbing interest, and should be read by every patriotic American, and by every one who would be well informed concerning the evil works and designs of the Romish hierarchy. It is a large volume of 8.2 pages of Price, $2.25.

THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

THE WORST BUSINESS THAT EVER

CURSED THE WORLD. Yet a Man in Michigan Defends Those Who Are instrumental in Making Criminals and Causing Poverty .-We Give His Views as a Matter of Curiosity. To the Editor:—Ever since history began, the men who control the religious part of society have persecuted those who had different ideas from their own (except the Quakers), or were engaged in some occupation different from that which they followed to obtain a living.

The Catholics persecuted the Presbyterians, and this sect persecuted the Quakers because they refused to use the coat John Calvin ordered the people to wear. They also visited affliction on the Shakers, Baptists, and the Spiritualists, until they split into factions, and were unable to keep up this diabolical work, The question of the hour is, have those who stand at the head of the spiritual philosophy done any better?

They have taught that the lowest of God's children must come up out of darkness; that all men were brothers; no one had any right to injure his fellow-man by depriving him of the life

God had given.

Have the editors of the spiritual papers done this? It is with sorrow that I answer No. They have done the same as the religious fanatics before them,-slandered and robbed,-done all in their power to injure the men who make whisky and beer, and sell it to their fellow-creatures. THE EDITOR OF THE PROGRESSIVE THINKER HAS LED IN THIS PERSECUTION. AS long as this course is pursued, there can be but little progress in the spirit ual ranks. The men who make whiskey and beer are our brothers, and should not be persecuted by any person who claims to stand on the truth of spiritual communications. It is all right for the prohibition church, as they took their faith from the Catholics. and refuse to return it at this date. The Spiritualists have never made this mistake, and it is inconsistent for them to aid the prohibition fanatics in this work of persecuting the liquor dealers of this nation. The men who are engaged in this business have less selfishness than any other class who do business for commercial gain. Whiskey, beer and many other beverages are placed before the human family, to strengthen the will power of the Anglo-Saxon race, and any race of people who neglect or refuse to obey this mandate are swept off the face of the earth.

Nature has no sympathy; obey her laws, or be punished. The sufferings of women and children, cannot be considered, as the car of progress must roll onward, and upwards.

The people of India are a living example of this mandate, as they have neglected and refused to make whiskey and beer for the last 260 years, and last year three millions of human creatures starved to death by the highways of that nation. No prohibition nation can govern its people, because they are the essence of selfishness-break up into factions, and no man's liberty or life is safe for over ten days.

The Turks are a living illustration of this statement, as Miss Stone went there, was captured by prohibition brigands, threatened with a fate worse than death-would have put her in a harem unless she paid $100,000. appealed to the people who make whiskey, and her ransom was raised, and she got back to the land where they make beer and use it as a beverage. The people of Turkey make no liquor, hardly ever smell of a camphor bottle, and the most infamous acts that a man can commit are tolerated in that na-

In the face of these facts, is it not a crime against the laws of the universe, to denounce the men who make and sell alcoholic beverages when these men are the true saviors of the human family? I might give many other proofs that my position is correct, but space in a newspaper must be used with economy to give all men a hearing, hence will ask that all who read this letter will study the matter, and if they do so with a desire to get the truth, they will certainly arrive at the same conclusion that I have in this matter. I trust no spiritual paper will ever again (after reading this article) print a tissue of falsehoods about liquor dealers, and head it, "Who Is Guilty?" Let all who read this, bear in mind, no whiskey or beer, no brain; and there is no escape from this statement, turn which way you will.

Yours for Truth, W. E. LEONARD.

Port Huron, Mich.

Life and Death. The time is fast passing away when old creeds and dogmas will have any effect on a progressing, thinking mind, for they are worn out. The mind seeks a new food, a more strengthening diet on which to subsist, else it cannot broaden and grow. The soul seeks a new environment in which to develop, and every day sees some progress, till at last it bursts its embryotic shell and comes out anew. It has been said and sung, "Broad is the road that leads to death, and thousands walk together But we say broader is the road that leads to Life and Liberty.

Learn to think more of life, and less of death. Take care of life and remember there is no death. Life is continuous, everlasting and eternal. Life and love are all enduring, and the entrance to the Golden Gate is here in the now. Live for love and light and liberty, and the scintillating rays of each shall shine broadcast over the earth, till all nature shall become permeated within and without. Neither life nor death is fully understood in its broadest sense. We have demonstrated over and over again, that the soul lives after death (so-called), and can and does return to those near and dear to them in earth life. Try to explain it away as you will, it can never be done. Life goes on continuously in one uninterrupted flow. After dissolution has taken place; enters into space which has become etherized, and goes on and on, forever and forever, into unfathomable realms taking on more and more of spirit matter, till all of earth is left behind. There will be greater demonstrations of spirit power than the world has yet seen, proving beyond the shadow of doubt the continuity of life.

These things are as yet crude, and great lessons will be evolved through the human mind by the unseen forces who will yet make themselves seen and felt as never before. The world will yet be startled as it were from its foundations, and the eyes of its doubters be made to see and know the power that in them lies. Those of you who are now in the broad road of liberal belief, turn not backward nor give up one jot of the faith that is in you; but know you, there is something grander yet to for truth alone, will be pleased with it, their origin in the divine potentialities

OGGULT MYSTERIES.

WONDERFUL MEDIUM.

Draws Spirit Pictures While in a Trance.

Not only with powers to commune John J. Arnaud, who claims to be a regularly ordained Presbyterian minister, resides in humble little apartments at il Savoy street, with his wife, who is also gifted clairvoyantly to a high degree. She has an intense admiration for the occult powers of her husband, who is a man of education and intense religious feeling, and this last fact is what has prevented him from rising to a noted position among orators, for he has originality and eloquence to a high degree. He has always had the powers ceded to Spiritualists, but latterly they have become greatly developed, and for the past six years, while in trances. Mr. Arnaud has been possessed of the ability to show with the aid of pencil and paper the conditions in the spirit world, its surroundings, and the mysterious mazes where spirit beings tread. The drawings in themselves are really wonderful in their originality, allegorical in character, with a technique of a master hand, as color and contrast are both there. The pencil is handled in a peculiar manner, and plainly legible are the spirit faces, while predictions for the future are showered in profusion in the drawing, telling the past and immediate future of the one for whom it was made. That there is merit in these drawings there is no doubt, for time and again with unerring accuracy the predictions in these spirit pictures have been verified. Just how the work is accomplished and the manner in which it is done Mr. Arnaud can give no tangible account. He simply passes into the trance state and recalls nothing further until his guides awake him. Then the work is done and the intricate details of the picture surprise him as much as it does his friends.

kept Mr. Arnaud from his selected posi-tion in the pulpit. He disdained all the subterfuges, lack of independence and social afflictions of his less particular fellow-preachers, and with a high resolve left the ministry to eke out a scanty existence in the making of moulding and ironing boards and sink scrapers for the large department stores of this city. With his lands he labors, and his wife assists him, and often she goes to his little shop in the rear of 1250 Washington street, where he daily labors. It is here in this little shop that the spell works and instills the magic touch to his pencil.

Cannot Always Draw.

"I cannot draw except under this influence," said Mr. Arnaud. "I place two saw horses in position and stretch a hoard across them. Then I sit down and think, think, think. Then I balance my brain and think of nothing. Gradually my eyes close, and I know that the spirit guides of the spirit world have me in their power. My pencil moves, oh, so slowly. Gradually the drawing takes form, and when I recover it is done. Sometimes it takes three days to complete a spirit picture—thus you see it is often hard for me to complish the results."

Regarding Spiritualists, he says he knows little about them. "There are several kinds of Spiritualists," said he. 'No two are alike. There are the healing kind, the clairvoyant and the really meritorious palmists. All are clairvoyantly related. The true clairvoyant of necessity falls into a trance before the spell influences him properly. Any person with clairvoyant tendencies may fall into a true trance. It comes, how-ever; only after much practice. The way to fall into a trance is to gaze directly in front of you. You must relax all muscles and think of nothing, meanwhile maintaining a steady gaze at the object. The object itself may be a stick of wood or a cup, or anything that does not move. Utter quiet is necessary. By and by you become drowsy and then the spirit guides will close your eyes in spite of yourself. You feel that there is a change coming and there is a sensation of floating, floating, floating. You undulate along as if on waves, and then him. Subjective explanations of what you are in the trance. The suggestions come. The spirits cling to you and you are profoundly moved. There facts. Convince the religious man that is no danger. When the proper time comes the spirit guides will awake you. I do not like to fall into a trance, as the strain is so terrible on me physically." He showed a Traveler reporter one of that there was to be a change for her. she never received it, as she has left tion.—New York Great Round World. town. On the top of the picture is an Indian in head-dress, with clouds on either side. Below is the horizon of the great divide between this and the spirit world. A vessel that carries them over is dimly seen, broadside on. Of the Philosophy of Spiritualism. The waving of the earth of the spirit world is a peculiarity that lends a weird effect to the foreground. A weeping willow on the left of the picture denotes sympathy. The flowers about the cross mean good news. On each side of the cross hang spirit messages which read: "My dear daughter Mary, I am with you—two questions on your due to the fact that the participants are mind, I say yes—follow your impressibili in the primary class of investigasions, good-bye," and "A great change tion. From time immemorial mankind; is in store for you—you are to be a public led by an instinctive desire to know his is in store for you—you are to be a public medium and more, spiritual also— origin, has been striving to solve the don't worry, my Mary." On the cross problem. So-called Spiritualism is one is the message, "My burden is light." It is only a part of what he would discovered the control of the results of his investigations; but the tree with the lopped branches it is only a part of what he would discovered the control of the results of his investigations; but mean near departed relatives, and the cover did he understand the law governaxe driven into the stump is symbolical ing the manifestations of God in naof the death weapon. The pile of bricks ture. From time to time some deep on the right means that there is a thinker has, in his endeavors to discovplace prepared for her, and that she is er this law, found part of it, so to to change her locality, and also indispeak; that is, he has become aware of the party was to move away. Rev. Mr. Arnaud is happy in his own convictions, and as both he and his wife have seen spirits nothing can dissuade them from their belief.—Boston (Mass.) Traveler.

Well. This is a work of far more than part of the ground covered by its operaordinary power and value, by a bold, tions; and that the manifestations that untrammeled thinker. Spiritualists have from time to time startled the untrammeled thinker. Spiritualists have from time to time startled the who love deep, clear thought, reverent world and mystified mankind, all have who love deep, clear thought, reverent world and mystified mankind, all have the startled the world and mystified mankind, all have the startled the startle JUSTICE. | per, 50 cents. .

MARCEL PREVOST.

He Tries to Explain Spirit Phenomena, But Misses the Mark.

That mysterious group of phenomena with the spirit world, but with a gift for called psychic, which have engaged so illustrating on paper the wondrous much intelligent attention during the scenes of that shadowy sphere, Rev. past generation, can not be said to have yet received the full academic approval of science. While the indefinite and potential realm of the sub-conscious has been admitted as a legitimate field of scientific investigation, it is still so much infested with hasty generalizers, superficial pseudo-scientists, sheer fakirs and simple dupes that an air of suspicion hangs over it and makes the judicious wary. And yet there is evidently something real and objective there, which will from time to time attract the serious investigator. Marcel Prevost in a recent number of the Paris Figaro-has given us a genial appreciation of Spiritualism in which, from the standpoint of an illuminated scientific consciousness, he seeks to give it a local habitation and a name. Referring to the experience of his youth at the polytechnic school when for a time a veritable epidemic of table turning, rapping, and planchette writing prevailed among the students, and to the recent detection of the sham "rose medium," Anna Rothe, at Berlin, M. Prevost seeks to find not only some rational cause for Spiritualism but some justification for it as a cult.

Under the cover of much that is mere deceptive nonsense, he finds a certain element that is truly human, perfectly noble and scientific. "The original reason," he says, "of the influence Spiritualism has upon certain persons who are neither charlatans nor fools is the same that arouses religious faith in many others; it is the imperious need of being assured that death does not separate loving souls; it is the revolt against the idea that our dead shall see us no more, that we shall see them no more." And, then, after telling of a The shams of this wicked world have sons and a daughter, found the greatest friend who, having lost in one year two comfort in the conviction that he could still converse with them Mr. Prevost gives his justification of the Spiritualistic cult by founding it on a scientific psychology.

"The theory," says he, "is brief and easy. All the images which we evoke are in us, in our memory, in our brain.
There sleep the faces of our dead as well as the ideal figures of historic personages, fashioned in us by reading, by seeing objects of art, by conversation. But very few people are capable of recalling very clearly these images when they wish to do so; their imagination is too feeble and distraught. Spiritualism gives to that imaginative weakness the support, the powerful impulse of faith. To the man the least capable of imagination it furnishes, so to speak, a rite of imagination—as religious ritual furnishes to the most simple believer a rite of prayer. Thanks to this rite, and to this faith, the scattered elements of mental images are gathered and co-ordinated to the point of a near agreement with reality. Without the rite and without the faith, the sterile imagination would weary itself in effort, would exhaust itself in staring into the night." This theory M Pre fices to show that all is not ridiculous in the practice of Spiritualism. "For they are a means," he continues, sharpening the inner perceptions of those who are interested; they enable them to be present at phenomena which pass, so to say, upon the extreme confines of their own consciousness. These phenomena have just the intellectual quality of those who provoke them, but they lend to them also the reflection of their own sensibility.

The more capable a man is of suffering, the more they console him. That fact alone merits that we treat Spiritualism at least as chloral or morphine and that one pardon its frivolous trifles; turning tables, crystal eggs, artificial roses-simple toys for idle curiosity." There is one point at which M. Prevost perhaps deceives himself in his endeavor to be just and kind. Were his friend who suffered the frightful loss of three children once convinced of the truth of this theory, Spiritualism would have no longer any comfort for are supposed to be objective facts ultihis prayers never rise beyond his own mind, that the answer is wholly subjective, and prayer ceases to have any meaning.

Tell a Spiritualist that the visions or the spirit pictures. It was beautifully auditions of his beloved dead are only executed in lead pencil, and about five the products of his own mind and he by eight inches in dimensions. It was made for a certain woman, but, in coinmost cruel disillusion. Spiritualism in cidence with a prediction in the picture that case ceases to be a religious faith for him and becomes a vulgar decep-

GIVES HIS VIEWS SUSANNA DRAKE BISHOP. La Habra, Cal.

The recent discussion of Spiritualism consequent upon the expose of two mediums at Hartford City, partakes of the ludicrous. There has been nothing said pro or con that has been either edifying or amusing. This is no doubt cates she is to become a new creature. Its operation in only one phase. The This was verified by her moving out of result has been we have laid before the town. The room to let also signifies world for its approval and delectation, such religion and sciences, as Spiritualism, christian science, mesmerism, suggestive therapeutics, and so on ad infinitum. It has remained for science, par-ticularly psychology, during the last quarter of the nineteenth century, to lay base facts concerning the mysterious law, as tend to prove that the discov-"The Religion of the Future." By S. eries mentioned above are but a small come, this is but the Alpha, and Omega and well repaid by its perusal. For of his own nature, in other words, are its yet far away, and Eternity knows no sale at this office. Price, looth 31; pa-due to occult forces over which man the results obtained cease to be phenomenal. The word phenomena like charity, covers a multitude of sins. Sins due to ignorance and misunderstanding. The mistake most Spiritualists make is in attributing the so-called phenomena to the supernatural, when, as a matter of fact, they belong to the domain of natural law.

The writer of this has been an inves-

during that time has obtained results that were marvelous and could with apparent consistency be referred to extra mundane influence. But they were nothing more than the actions of the subjective mind brought above the threshold of consciousness by mental force alone. It has been proven by science along this line that these manifestations can be produced by anyone who takes the trouble to study and grasp the law. I know for a certainty, having proven the same, that clairvoyance, telepathy, and the ability to see absent and departed friends can be learned by anyone who is willing to give time and persistence to the task. And I further know that all of these particular manifestations or phenomena, far from being due to supernatural causes. nothing more than the result of natural law in its higher aspects. The science of psychology has done much to prove that Spiritualism and mental philosophy have much in common, if they are really not one and the same thing. The time is rapidly approaching in my opinion, when man will realize that there is within him, in the innermost recesses of his soul, a divine energy, and this knowledge will open his eyes to possibilities and capabilities of his nature that he little dreamed of. "Know ye not that the kingdom of God is within ou?" Then seek this kingdom and 'all these things shall be added unto you."-W. H. Rightmyer, in The Star, Muncie, Ind.

Gratuitous Healing.

To pay or not to pay is a question that sometimes arises in regard to psychic healing, and there are a few who invariably answer it in the negative Some of these belong to the class who are not in the habit of doing their own thinking, and their ideas being for the most part second-hand, are hardly worthy of consideration.

But when people of brains make the same assertions we pause and wonder, can such things be? They expect one who ministers to mind and body through psychic power to do so gratis; just why this should be has not been satisfactorily explained.

One writer avers that such power should only be used for altruistic purposes. This is a sentiment that sounds well, few however would find it practicable; surely not those who have others dependent upon them for support.

As a matter of fact, the true healer is apt to give too much for his own mate-rial welfare. He might say with Walt Whitman,--

"I do not give a little charity, When I give I give myself."

And yet his spiritual reward is great indeed, if his mind is great enough to re-ceive it. To him who knows the unspeakable joy and peace that comes of doing the divine will, it is a sacred privilege that rests between himself and God.

The material reward alone has to do with man, and for several reasons should never be neglected. The first and most obvious he that runs may read; since it is a self-evident truth that time is money, and money a necessity, to give the one without the other in return would soon prove disastrous -unless one were happily born with a hank account.

How humanity does hate to pay its bills. Some of us have a notion that world owes us our health as well as a living. The encouragement of this propensity is to be deplored, for as a general thing it is just as demoralizing have food and clothing gratuitously pro-

Gratitude is a good thing, and a good way to express it is to pay for what we receive. We may return kindness for kindness with our own-not so with a stranger. Real gratitude is far too rare to-day, as it was in the time of Christ; when he healed the group of lepers, one of them had the grace to come and thank him, "But where are the nine?"

The payment of a fee is an expres sion also of faith as well as appreciation. The Great Healer sometimes said, "Believe ye that I am able to do this?" Although faith may not be absolutely necessary, it makes the work easier. And downright hard work it is to exercise faculties that include in And I am weak and need your help tosome instances the ability to read the human body like an open book.

It has been said that the angels who assist in healing, cannot be repaid with money. No, but mortals can to s certain extent, and fortunately for all concerned, the opposite opinion does not usually prevail.

It is gratifying to know that the healer who has made a reputation for integrity and honor, receives a practical return for his labor that places him above the fear of want. Unhindered by petty cares he is thus free to develop to the highest degree his spiritual gifts. and is enabled to overcome distressing ailments that in many cases baffle the most brilliants minds of the medical

Does Character Count in the Exercise

of the Franchise? The New York Tribune, commenting on ex-President Cleveland's speech at the recent Tuskegee Institute meeting, says: "We should have been glad if Mr. Cleveland, while so frankly and properly avowing sympathyl with the South and telling the negroes that their only hope was to make themselves worthy of Southern respect, had with equal distinctness declared for the great principle of equal right and privilege as citizens, regardless of race, for all those whose character and achievement fit them to discharge the fluties of good cit-

Yes, it is a pity that he could not have forgotten politics and maddiffue above declaration, but it is still more to be regretted that the Tribune, while taking so broad a view of the franchise, should still be opposed to its extension to women. It is, indeed, remarkable that it should be willing to sweep away all race distinctions against "this great principle of equal right and privilege as attracts" and yet should receive the citizens," and yet should maintain the barrier of sex. If it is "character and achievement" that fit a citizen for the exercise of the franchise, then by what logic is it refused to women who possess the qualifications?

IDA HUSTED HARPER. "Taymagean Inanities, Incongruities, Inconsistencies and Blasphemies; a Reof his own nature, in other words, are due to occult forces over which man upon Spiritualism." By Moses Hull, has or can gain the mastery. Hence For sale at this office. Price ten cents. The divided in the divided by the control of the control of the control of the cents. The control of the cents of the view of Rev. T. DeWitt and Rev Frank

THE QUESTION SETTLED.

"If I Should Die To-Night."

This poem furnishes a striking in stance of how some pen productions go astray. It was written prior to 1883, for it appears in a collection of poetry tigator and student of mental science and occult force for several years, and published that year. In 1887 Myron E. Baker of Kenosha, Wis., wrote the poem which follows it, "Were I to Die Po-night," and published it in a volume the same year. The verses as they read in the anonymous original are as fol-

"If I should die to-night My friends would look upon my quiet face

Before they laid it in its resting-place, And deem that death had left it almost fair; And laying snow-white flowers against my hair

Would smooth it down with tearful tenderness, And folding hands with lingering ca ress. Poor hands, so empty and so cold to night!

"If I should die to-night My friends would call to mind with loving thought

Some kindly deed the icy hand had wrought. Some gentle word the frozen lips had Baid. Errands on which the willing feet had sped. The memory of my selfishness and pride, My hasty words, would all be put aside And so I should be loved and mourned to-night. "If I should die to-night

Even hearts estranged would turn once more to me, Recalling other days remorsefully; The eyes that chill me with averted glance Would look upon me as of yore, perchance, And soften in the old familiar way; For who would war with dumb, unconscious clay? So I might rest forgiven of all to-night. "O friends! I pray to-night

Keep not your kisses for my dead, cold The way is lonely; let me feel them now: Think gently of me; I am travel-worn: My faltering feet are pierced with many a thorn.

Forgive! O, hearts estranged, forgive l plead! When dreamless rest is mine I shall not The tenderness for which I long tonight."

As Mr. Baker rewrote them the verses read as follows: Were I to Die To-Night.

Were I to die to-night. My friends would look upon my pale, cold face, Lying so calm and still in death's embrace,

And some would deem me fair, and some more dear Would kiss my pallid cheek and drop a tear: And they would take my hand with tenderness

And clasp my dead heart in their fond caress, Poor living heart so void and cold to-

Were I to die to-night, They'd not think of my selfishness or pride, My faults and weakness would be laid aside; And they would only think, with loving thought honest debts, and especially its doctor's Of kindnesses my chilly hands had wrought Some kindly word these icy lips had said. Or willing deeds on which my feet had sped. to have health freely restored, as to And I would not be all alone to-night. Were I to die to-night, The hearts so cold and far away from me

Would turn to me again remorsefully, And they would gather round to mourn and ween: But I would rest untroubled in mysleep, And they'd think kindly of me, but, unshriven

Would vainly wish of me to be forgiven; But I would sleep forgiven all to-night. I trust I'll not to-night, But dear friends, do not wait till I am

Before the words of tenderness are said; O say them now, for weary is the way

day. Forgive me, friends, and love me now I plead, For when my rest is come I shall not The tenderness I long to feel to-night

But strangely enough Ben King's funny little skit, which is a parody on the original poem, is far more popularly known than either of the above versions. As John McGovern put it, it was "a parody that was accepted as the true original, the sun, the center of the great If-I-should-die-to-night system of thought and poetry." Ben King's stanzas read:

If I should die to-night And you should come to my cold corpse and sav. Weeping and heartsick o'er my lifeless clay— If I should die to-night,

And you should come in deepest grief and woe-And say: "Here's that ten dollars that I

I might arise in my large white cravat And say, "What's that?" If I should die to-night

And you should come to my cold corpse and kneel, Clasping my bier to show the grief you feel, I say, if I should die to-night

And you should come to me, and there and then Just even hint 'bout payin' me that ten I might arise the while, But I'd drop dead again.

SPRING VOICES,

The robins are here again darling, The robins you loved so dear,
They sit on the branch by the window And seem wond'ring that you are not here.

The grass in the garden is springing, The lilacs already are green; In the wood the violets are waking Under their leafy screen. Birds and blossoms are calling,

"Come, my darling, 'tis spring;" Church and State. Violet eyes are sleeping, Gentle soul has taken wing. ELFIN HALL.

THUMBSCREW AND RACK.

INDUCE

Your Neighbor to Subscribe for The Progressive Thinker. Now is the time to extend the circulation of The Progressive Thinker. It will contain Occult and Spiritualistic news with which every one should be familiar. No other paper published on this earth contains such a vast amount of matter so well adapted to enrich the mind. Send in a subscription now.

The Religion of Science. By Dr. Paul Carus. Ver thoughtful and interesting. Price, 25 cents.

AFTER HER DEATH. The Story of a Summer. By Lilian Whiting. Pervaded with pure and beautiful spirituality of thought. Instructive and helpful to all who love and seek the higher and finer ways of spiritual experience. Price, $1.00.

The Religion of Spiritualism. Its Phenomena and Philosophy. By the Rev. Samuel Watson. This work was written by a modern Savior, a grand and noble man. Price, $1.00. A valuable book for the money.

FORCE and Matter By Ludwig Buech-book. A profound work upon a profound sub-ject. Price, cloth, $1.00.

Views of Our Heavenly Home. By Andrew Jackson Davis. A highly interesting work. Price, 75 cents. Postage 5 cents.

THE SUNDAY QUESTION. Historical and critical review, with replies to an objection. By G. W. Brown, M. D. Price. 15c.

Apocryphal New Testament, Being all the Gospels, Epistles, and other pieces now extant, attributed in the first four centuries to Jesus Christ, his apostles and their companions, and not included in the New Testament by its compilers. Price, cloth, $1.50.

POEMS OF PROGRESS,
o By Lizzie Doten. They are really valuable.
Price, $1.00.

Healing, Gauses and Effects. By W. P. Phelon, M. D. Deals with the finer mental and spiritual forces as applied to heal-ing. Price, 50 cents.

BIBLE MARVEL WORKERS, And the wondrous power which helped or made them perform mighty works and utter inspired words, together with some Personal Traits and Characteristics of Prophets, Apostles, and Jesus, or New Readings of "The Miracles. By Allen Putnam. Price, 75 cents.

Aryan Sun Myths, the Origin of Religion.

By Sarah E. Titcomb. wirh an introduction by Charles Morris, author of "The Aryan Race."
Frice, cloth, $1.00.

MARK GHESTER,

A Mill and a Million.

This is one of Carlyle Petersilea's most interesting works. It is purely a Psychical Romance such as the author is noted for producing. You need it in your library for the purpose of leading your romance-loving children out into the light of occuitism. Price, cloth cover, 60 cts. For sale at this office.

The Rollidge of July Life and Times of "The Naza-rine" and of his people. Given Through the mediumship of MRS.M.T. LONGLEY, to Ira C. Fuller, and by him dedicated to humanity. It is enough to know this work came through shis excellent medium to recommend it. 174 pages of interesting reading.—Price, cloth, 50 cents.

JIM, or The Touch of An Angel Mother.

BY CARRIE E. S. TWING. Her dedicatory lines are sufficient to show the spirit of the book as well as the author, it reads, "Because my own children are all under the tender care of the angels, and my heart is hungry for the love of the young. I most lovingly dedicate this book to the children of the world." This book is full of soul elevating and interesting thought. Price, cloth, $1. For sale at this office.

ANTIQUITY UNVEILED.

The most important revelations concerning the true origin of Christianity. Reader, in bringing to your notice "Antiquity Unveiled," It is with the sincere hope that you are earnestly looking for the truth, regardless of any other consideration If such is the case, this advertisement will deeply interest you, and after reading this brief description you will doubtless wish to give the work a careful perusal. Price, $1.50.

Contracts in Spirit Life and Recent of Samuel Bowles in the First Fire Spheres, Etc. Written through the hand of Carrie E. S. Twing. Paper, 30 cents.

Father Tom and the Pope. or a Night at the Vatican. Written probably by Sir Samuel Ferguson. From Blackwood's Edinburg Magazine. This is a humorous abcount of a rolleksome visit to the Pope of Rome by Father Tom, an Irish priest, armed with a superabundance of Irish wit, two imperial quart bottles of Irish "poteen," and an Irish recipe for "conwounding" the same. Paper, 25 cents; cloth, 50 cents.

LIGHT OF EGYPT.

The Second Volume of a Most Valuable Work.

This is the author's posthumous work left in MS, to a few of his private pupils in occultism, and like Volume I. is (a valuable addition and) a library on occult subjects. Spiritual astrology is especially elaborated. Alchemy, Talismans, the Magic Wand, Symbolism, Correspondence, Penetralia, etc., are a few of the subjects treated of in a scholarly and masterly manner, showing the author to be familiar with his subjects. You cannot afford to be without it, as well as all his other books, out it, as well as an his other books, viz.: The Light of Egypt, Vol. I., bound in cloth, $2; paper, $1. The Light of Egypt, Vol. II., bound in cloth only, $2. Celestial Dynamics, cloth, $1.

Three Remarkable Books "The Divine Pedigree of Man." "The Law of Psychic Phonomena." "A Scientific Demonstration of the Future Life."

The Divine Pedigree of Man, or the Testimony of Evolution and Psychology to the Testimony of Evolution and Psychology to the Testimony of God. By Thompson Jay Hudson, LL. D. A most remarkable work. demonstrating the existence of the Soul and Future Life. It is scientific throughout. Price $1.50. Dr. Hudson's work on "The Law of Psychic Phenomena" is also valuable. Price, $1.50. His "Scientific Demonstration of the Future Life" should be read by all. Price $1.50.

BODY AND SOUL. BY J. CLEGG WRIGHT.

This volume consists of a course of lectures delivered in the trance state, and is cartainly no small contribution to the study of the soul. It is a good work to open the oyes to the discremental between the deductive and inductive process of mind. Bound in cloth, St. For sale at this office.

THE GOSPEL OF BUDDHA. According to Old Records. By Dr. Paul Carus. A translation made from Japaness, under the auspices of the Rev. Shaku Soyer, delegate to the Parliament of Religions. Was published in Japan. Price 8i.

The Bible in the Public Schools: the New "American" Party. By "Jefferson." Third edition; 28 pages. Price. 10 cents.

Torture implements employed in the 15th and 16th centuries for the promulgation of Onristianity, with pictorial illustrations. By George

LIFE OF THOMAS PAINE By the Editor of the National, with Preface and Notes by Peter Eckler. Illustrated with views of the old Paine Homestead and Paine Monument, at New Rochelle; also portraite of Thomas Cilo Rickman, Joel Barlow, Mary Wolstoneeraft, Madame Roland, Condorce, Brissot, and the most prominent of Paine's friends in Europe and America. Cloth, 75 cents.

By Godfrey Higgins, Esq. This work is one of the Library of Liberal Classics. No author was better qualified to write an impartial and honest life of Mahomet than Godfrey Higgins, and this volume is intensely interesting. It should be read in conjunction with Gibbon's work. Price, 25 cents.

Work. Price, 25 cents.

CPIRITUAL HAPP A collection of Vocal Music for the Choir, Congregation and Social Circles. By J. M. Peebles and J. O. Barrett; E. H. Bailey, Musical Editor. New edition. Culled from a wide field of literature with the most critical care, free from all theological bias, throbbing with the soul of inspiration, embodying the principles and virtues of the spiritual philosophy, set to the most cheerful and popular music (nearly all original) and adapted to all occasions, it is doubtless the most attractive work of the kind ever published. Its beautiful songs, duets and quartets, with plane, organ or meloit on accompaniment, adapted both to public meetings and the social circles. Cloth, £1.25; postage, 14 cents.

In the World Celestial. By DR. T. A. BLAND,

"It is inexpressibly delightful."—Hon. C. A. Windle.

"It lifts the reader into enchanting realms."—Medical Gleanor.

"It is intensely interesting."—Rev. Minos J. Savage.

"Three things make this book remarkable. Its authorship, the astounding claims put forth in it, and the philosophy and revelation of a future life it contains."—B. O. Flower, in the Arena.

"It will give us courage to pass through the deep shadows of death to the sun-lit olime of the World Celestial."—Rev. H. W. Thomas.

"Everybody will be charmed with it, for it is not only a great Spiritual book, but a most beautiful romance of two worlds."—Banner of the contains of the contains. "It is inexpressibly delightful."-Hon. C. A.

Light.
It is Printed in elegant style and bound in cloth and gold. Pric $1.00.

The Mystic Thesaulus,

Or Initiation in the Theoretical and Practical secrets of Astral Truth and Occult Art. By Williams F. Whitzensad, Editor Agrippa's "Natural Magric." The book treats of The 8ymbol of the Cross. Spiritual Gifts, Inspirational Conception, Initiative Exposition, The Astral Brotherhood, Message of the Brotherhood, The Magic Mirror, and Celestial Companionship. It is a good text book for students of the Mystic, and will be sent postpaid, in paper, for $1.09.

Memorial Oration by Col. R. d. Ingersoll a warm friend of his and a great statasman, de livered before the New York Legislature, May 9, 1888. Price 4 cents.

The Devil and the Adventists. An Adventist attack upon Spiritualism repulsed. By Moses Hull. Price, 10 cents. Practical Methods to Insure Success. A valuable little work, full of practical instruction in matters pertaining to physical, mental and spiritual health. Worth many times its cost. Price 10 cents.

THE WORLD BEAUTIFUL. Series one, two and three. By Lilian Whiting, Three choice volumes, each complete in itself, in which spirituality is related to varyday life in such a way as to make the world beautiful. Price, 51.00 each.

MEDIUMCHIP and its DEVELOPMENT, and how to Mesmerize to Assist Development. By W. H. Bach. Paper 25 cents; cloth 50 cents. ITS ATTAINMENT OF Womany its attainment of form and features Beauty The cultivation of personal beauty, based on Hygiene and Health Culture, by twenty physicians and specialists, and edited by Albert Turner. A valuable book for women and therefore for the whole world. Price in elegant cloth binding, $1.00. For sale at this office.

Christs of the Past and Present. By MOSES HULL, A comparison of the Christ-work or Medium-ship of Biblical Messiahs and the conditions they required, with similar manifestations in Modern Spiritualism. This is a good work to study for arguments with which to meet the very common orthodox question, "Why do you always require conditions for your spiritual manifestations." Cloth bound, 85 cents; paper

-THE-

25 cents. For sale at this office. Were You Born Under a Lucky Star? A complete exposition of the science of Astrology, adapted from the Four Books of Ptolemy, the Astronomer on the art of Reading the Stars, with many illustrations. By A. ALPHEUS, Secretary of the Astrological Society of England and America. Handsomely bound in cloth, gilt top, with beautiful designs stamped on side and back. Price $1.00. For sale at this office.

ORIGIN OF LIFE

and How the Spirit Body Grows. By M. Faraday. Price, 10c. For sale at this office THE TEACHINGS OF JESUS Not Adapted to Modern Civilization, with the Trt ? Character of Mary Magdaiene. By Gee. W. Browlls M. D. Price, 15 cents. For sale at this 6 mce, Out of the Depths Into the Light.

By Samuel Bowles: Mrs. Carrie E. S. Twing, modium. This is a very interesting little book, and will be appreciated from start to finish by all who wish to gain spiritual information. Price, 25 cents. Man the Microcosm.

His Infinite and Divine Relations. Intuition— The Light Within. By Glies B. Stebbins. Price, 10 cents. WOMAN: Four Centuries of Progress, thinker's International Congress, Chicago, Ill., October, 1893. By Susan H. Wixon. Price, 10c.

PSYGHE is the invention of a practical medium, under spirit to develop mediumship, Many, by its use, have received long communications from spirit friends, and express great satisfaction. Price, 81, and 20 cents extra for expressage. Discovery of a Lost Trail

BY CHARLES B. NEWGOMB, BY CHARLES B. NEWGOMB,
Author of "All's Right with the World." Cloth 270 pages. Mr. Newcomb made a distinct success with
"All's Right with the World," which continues in the front rank of the Metaphysical books that are now so popular. The great number who have seen cheered and strengthened by him will welcome another book by this wise teacher whose words of help are doing so much to nake the world better by making men and women better able to understand and enjoy it.

"Discovery of a Lost Trail" is a simple study of the strength and the the strength and is a simple study of that strange and beautiful thing called life, but grand in its scholarly simplicity. It will be in demand by many who have not previously read metaphysical writings. Price $1.50. For sale at this office.

The Christ Question Settled. Jesus, Man, Medium, Martyr. A symposium by W. E. Coleman, J. S. Loveland, Hudson Tuttle, Moses Hull, J. R. Buchanan, B. B. Hill, Rabbi I. M. Wise, Col. Ingersoll—and what the spirits say about it. By J. M. PEFRIES, M. D. Whether this book settles the question or not, it will be found eminently entertaining, and brings together a mass of evidence to establish the historical character of Jesus. A large volume. Price cloth. 81.25.

AUTOMATIC WRITING. [So-called] with other psychic experiences. By Sara A. Underwood. With half-tone portraft and specimen pages of the writing. Handsomely bound in cloth. Price, &l. Postuge, 100.

Paine's Theological Works. Age of Reason, Examination of the Prophecies, etc. Illustrated edition. Post 8vo., 422 pages. Price, cloth, $1.00. POEMS FROM THE INNER LIFE.

By Lizzie Doten. These poems are truly inspirational and as staple as sugar. Price $1.00.

COMMON SENSE By Thomas Paine. A' lot, addressed to the inhabitants of America in 1775, with explanatory notice by an English author. Paper, 15 cents.

The Progressive Thinker.

Bublished every Waterday at 40 Loomis St

J. B. FRANCIS. Editor and Publisher. Mutered at Chicago Postomes as accond-class mutter

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. THE PROGRESSIVE TRIBERS will be furnished until further notice, at the following terms, in One year.
Six Months.
Thirteen Weeks...
Single Copy.
EMMITTARCES.

REMITTARCES.

Ramit by Postowe Money Order, Registered Letter or draft o. Chicago or New York. It costs from 10 to 16 cents to get checks cashed on local banks, so don't send them unless you wish that amount deducted from the amount sent. Address all letters to J. R. FRANCIS, No. 40 Loomis Street, Chicago, Ill.

TAKE NOTICE.

138 At expiration of subscription, if not re newed, the paper is discontinued. No bills will be sent for extra numbers.

gar-If you do not receive your paper promptly write to us, and any errors in address will be promptly corrected, and missing numbers sup plied gratis.

Whenever you desire the address of your paper changed, always give the address of the place to which it is then sent or the change cannot be made.

SATURDAY, MAY 23, 1903.

TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES. The price of The Progressive Thinker per year to foreign countries, is $1.75.

TAKE NOTICE.

All books advertised in the columns of The Progressive Thinker are for sale at this office. Bear this in mind.

HUDSON TUTTLE.

Editor-at-Large for the National Spiritualist Association.

Mr. Tuttle has been engaged to an swer all attacks in the secular or religious press on Spiritualism. Send him clippings when an attack is made, giving date and name of paper. Address him at Berlin Heights, Ohio.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE PUBLIC.

All money in donations or collections intended for the N. S. A. Mediums' Home or Relief Fund, should be sent to this office to the secretary, if not directly paid to our authorized mission aries, who can show a missionary certificate of later date than October, 1902. No other is authorized to collect money this association. Contributions large or small, are gratefully accepted.

MARY T. LONGLEY,

N. S. A. Secretary. 600 Pennsylvania avenue S. E., Wash-

Adam's Fall a Boon.

Professor Geo. A. Coe of the depart ment of mental philosophy and psycholin Northwestern university, startled some of the students of that institution by declaring in a lecture that the fall of Adam was a benefit to the human race, says the Chronicle.

"According to the biblical story," declared the professor, "the curse of labor was the punishment inflicted on Adam by Providence for tasting the forbidden fruit. Work is the greatest blessing that has befallen humanity. It lies at the base of progress and is an essential of civilization. For the reason that the sin of Adam introduced the necessity of toil it has proved itself one of the greatest blessings of humanity.

"We are told that Adam was in an in-nocent condition before the fall. I believe it is better to fight evil and overcome it than to continue to live in a state of unthinking innocence. A victure and develops moral fliber. In that the fall of Adam destroyed the childlike innocence in which he lived before tasting the forbidden fruit and in that it has imposed upon man the necessity of overcoming evil it has proved a great blessing to humanity.
"Of course the story of Adam is mythical, but still it is true. It is allegorical, but it is true in the sense that the parables of Christ are true."

This view, while it contains vastly more of common sense, is far removed from the stereotyped pattern of orthodox theology and biblical interpreta-

But if Professor Coe's declarations shock the orthodox mind, what must be the nervous attack resulting from the views of Allan Hoben, a doctor of philosophy from the University of Chicago Divinity School, now a pastor at Waupun, Wis.? According to Dr. Hoben, the current interpretation of the "virgin birth" of Jesus should be revised in the light of men's present knowledge of Since the very day you were ordained the sequences of nature and historical a priest, The bible! the bible is your interpretation.

In a book entitled "The Virgin Birth," one of the historical and linguistic studies in the Decennial publication series just issued from the University of Chicago Press, as stated by the Chicago Record-Herald.

Dr. Hoben states a number of most absurd and ridiculous beliefs held by the church fathers—some of them not fit to be mentioned to refined ears, nor admissible to be printed in a secular paper of to-day, as too coarse and jarring to ordinary sensibilities; besides being utterly unscientific and contrary to nature. He then says:

"If the method and culture out of which the accepted interpretation sprang have not been improved upon, if the allegorical method still suffices. then the understanding and doctrinal import which the fathers attached to

Dr. Hoben says that in a time when it was believed "human procreation was in itself evil" the early fathers' interpretation of the virgin birth, and the only interpretation which has been given, was invented.

the virgin birth need no revision."

Verily, what is the orthodox world coming to, when its eminent professors and doctors of philosophy arrive at such conclusions and openly publish them to the world?

Quite Correct for Once.

As stated in the daily papers, Rev. W. A. Bartlett, of the First Congregational church said in a sermon, Miracles are necessary to Christianity.

Right you are, Doctor; for once we thoroughly agree with you. To substantiate the dogmas of orthodoxy miracles are necessary—genuine ones and a good many of them. . As reason and common sense fail to support your doctrines, nothing short of miracles will answer the purpose. The weak part of the plan, however, is to substantiate the miracles. That would require yet more miracles. And that, again, makes a hard row for or thodox Christianity to hoe,

SOME "SAGRED" GURIOSITIES.

Real Interesting Data Regarding Ancient Bibles That Bore Exceedingly Queer Names.

A writer in a religious weekly calls attention to the fact semiah, 8:22, "Is there no treacle (instead of balm) in Gilthat there were two printed editions of the bible which were ead?" errors of the printer and he says it is remarkable that no other important errors have occurred in printing the book. Doubtless, great care has been taken in the past, as is taken to-day in printing the scriptures, for reasons which are obvious, but the mistakes have not by any means been so ing it read, "Thou shalt commit adultery." This was in 1632 few as the writer referred to supposes. To give only a few and the printer was fined three hundred pounds. instances:

In 1551 was printed the "Bug Bible," so called from the rendering of Psaim 91:5, "Afraid of Bugs by Night." Our present version reads, "Terror by Night."

"The "Breeches Bible," was so called from the rendering of Genesis, 3:7, "They sewed fig tree leaves together and made themselves breeches." This translation of the bible, which was the result of the labors of English exiles at Geneva, was the English family bible during the reign of Queen Elizabeth until supplanted by the authorized version of King

The "He Bible" took its name from a blunder in the translation of Ruth, 3:15. "He measured five measures of barley and laid it on her and he went into the city." This should have read, she, Ruth, went into the city.

The "Wooden Leg Bible" is a name which originated in a biblical illustration of the parable of the sower in which a wooden-legged Satan was pictured in the very face of Jesus,

The "Place-Maker's Bible" was so named from a printed the Dutch Bible in 1542,) the printer was beheaded. error in Matthew 5:9, "Blessed are the place-makers (peace makers) for they shall be called the children of God." The "Treacle Bible" took its name from a rendering of Jer. | the "suppressed bibles."

The "Rosin Bible was named from the same text, but ranslated "rosin" in the Douay version.

The "Wicked Bible" derived the name from the fact that the negative was left out of the seventh commandment, mak-

The "Unrighteous Bible" took its name from a printer's error, "Know ye not that the unrighteous shall enter the kingdom of God." I. Cor. 6:9.

The "Vinegar Bible" was so called because the heading of Luke 20, was given as "The parable of the Vinegar" (instead

In the "Printer's Bible" David is made to complain pathet ically that the "printers (princes) have persecuted him without cause."

The "Murderer's Bible was so called from an error in the 16th verse of the epistle of Jude, "murderers" being used instead of "murmurers."

The "Ear to Ear Bible" was so named from the misprint, Who hath ears to ear let him ear." Matthew 13:43. The "Standing Fishes Bible" derived the name from the error, "And it shall come to pass that the fishes will stand upon it," instead of fishers. Ezekiel 47:10. A number of other printed bibles were named from the errors which they contained and some of them were suppressed, and for issuing one of which (the sixth edition of

A printed bible in Paris in 1566, a Swedish bible in 1622, a German bible in 1666, and a French bible in 1617, are among B. F. UNDERWOOD.

Chiniquy.

Father Chiniquy, for fifty years an eminent priest in Canada and northern Illinois, was summoned before his we have our eyes fixed on the thing just bishop in 1855 to answer to the charge of distributing bibles and testaments among his flock of Canadian, Belgian and French immigrants. The priest conconduct, you seem to be proud of it," said the angry hishon.

for distributing the word of God among his people."

"This is sheer protestantism," said the bishop.

"My dear bishop," replied the priest, protestantism, then our holy pope, Pius | day. VI., (1775-1799), was a good protestant, translated that holy book into Italian, ronized. but invites the people to read it."

With an air of supercilious contempt the bishop replied, "Your answer shows your complete ignorance on the subject. If you were a little better informed you would know that the translation by Martini, which the pope adfolio, which of course nobody except a man of influence and of sterling invery rich and idle people could read. tegrity. Not one in ten thousand Italians has the means of purchasing such a voluminous work; not one in fifty thousand imprudently."

"My lord," said Chiniquy, "do you lation because he knew the people could never get it on account of its enormous that he would never give such advice had the same people been able to purchase and read that holy work."

"Yes, sir. It is what I mean," answered the bishop, "for I know positively that this is the fact." "I hope your lordship is mistaken." said Chiniquy, "for if you are correct, all his followers were deceivers, and that the encyclical was a fraud, for we catholic priests make use of it all over we approve of their reading their own versions of that holy book."

that you are a disguised protestant. motto. For you the bible is everything and the holy church with her popes and bishops nothing. What an insolent, what a blasphemous word I have just heard from you! You dare to call the encyclical letter of one of our most holy popes a fraud!" Father Chiniquy tried to explain, but diocese, it was to preach her doctrines. and not to distribute the bible. If you forget that I will make you remember

This account is copied from Chiniquy's "Fifty Years in the Church of Rome," 35th edition, pages 614-616. The result of the struggle between the priest and the bishop was that Bishop O'Regan was transferred by the pope from Chicago to a diocese called Dira that has been extinct more than 1,200 years. The tranfer, however, was not for forbidding the priest to distribute bibles, but for general rascality. But the bishop consoled himself by taking we have said in regard to this fund that away with him hundreds of thousands those who desire to see needy mediums of dollars, with which he established a bank in Ireland, where he died in 1865.

Chiniquy remained faithful to his Religious Education.

The Chicago Tribune editorially says: "This age is not exactly anti-religious: Certainly, however, it is not excessively given over to the contemplation of re-ligious, spiritual, supernatural things Of course there may be a religion of material things. This has been asserted. If there is such a religion ours is the age to discover it. The history of I own to me's a secret yet. the world might be diligently and vainly 1 own to me's a secret yet, searched for an age which spent a Life! we've been long together larger proportion of its time on material things. To us most things that are not material are purely immaterial. not material are purely immater.

We do not give ourselves up, as the orientals do or the medievalists did, to Perhaps 'twill cost a sigh, a tear; Then steal away, give little warning, see matter before us and we devote ourselves to it greedily. We don't see brighter clime spirit and we haven't much time for it. Bld me "Good morning." How often does the average Chicago social interests to be interrupted by any speculations as to what final use, wha ultimate meaning, all his activity will have? We live fast, we live intensely.

perspective take care of itself." It is a fact that men rush to the brink of the grave in their mad strife fessed that the charge was true. "And for wealth, in their great ambition for instead of blushing at such unpriestly power, in their longing to be the richest man on the earth, without any special thought of a future state in which "I do not understand, my lord," said their ill-gained millions may be a mill-Chiniquy, "why a priest should blush stone about their neck in the sea of eternity.

before our nose, and we let the spiritual

Mayhaps as a slight diversion they at tend church on Sunday, put a dollar in the contribution box and get a new hold upon their conscience for the morrow, "if to give the bible to a people and in- but that is about the average spiritual vite them to read and meditate on it is observation of the business man of to-

The world is too busy to go after the for in his letter to Martini, which is possessions beyond the grave, too eager probably in the first pages of the beau- to gain possession of the earth to obtiful bible I see on your lordship's table, serve the cloud of spirits that hover of the commandment to love God and he not only blesses him for having around, hence religion is poorly pat-

Lincoln and the Proclamation of Eman-

The veteran Robert Cooper, of England, in a recent number of "Two Worlds," gives some interesting testimony corroborative of the claim always vised the Italian people to read, formed maintained by Spiritualists. He was vised the Italian people to read, formed maintained by Spiritualists. He was "Moreover, when it comes to prac-a work of twenty-three big volumes in the guest of Col. Case, of Philadelphia, ticing the loving precepts of Jesus the tegrity. In the words of Mr. Cooper, he said that he was waited on by a well-known has the time to peruse such a mass of medium, who asked him to deliver a it was by a few jealous priests and not endless commentaries. The pope would message he had received to President by the mass of the Jewish people who never have given advice to read the bible, such as the one you distribute so was surprised at the ready admittance from his triumphal entry into Jerusa-"My lord," said Chiniquy, "do you he obtained, which was explained by positively tell me that the pope ever the President saying, "I thought it was gave permission to read Martini's trans.

Mr. Chase (one of his ministers). Well, now you are here let's hear what you have got to say." The message was size and price? And do you assure me then delivered. What it was I did not understand, but expect it was urging him to visit a medium in Washington named Youngs, for he very soon did so. Mrs. Youngs was a remarkable physical medium, as I had frequently denced. With her resided a girl of 15, named Nettie Maynard, who was a trance medium, and who gave message the stern principles of logic would force me to think and say that the pope and manifestations that greatly astonished him, and he became greatly interested and was a frequent visitor. Youngs' favorite method of exhibiting the world, and reprint it at the head of her psychic powers was with a horizon our own bibles to make the people, both protestants and catholics, believe that time when she played, and President Lincoln would lie at length on the piano and "get the spirits to rock him." "Now, I see," said the angry bishop, the truth of what I have been told, cwts., rise from the floor at the word of command, the medium simply holding her hand a foot above it. It would rise and beat time when I played it, the medium touching me with a finger on my head. Thus matters went on for some time, the subject of emancipation being the burden of the communications given through the young trance medium, and at length the President was urged to is sue an edict. which was done, the words his bishop silenced him, saying, "if our holy church has in an unfortunate day,"

This is how the emancipation of three appointed you one of her priests in my millions slaves was brought about. The medium's name is now Nettie Colburn, who has published a book en-titled "Was Lincoln a Spiritualist?"

A Card From the N. S. A.

To the Editor:-In my former letter giving directions for reaching the Brookly (N. Y.) cemetery in which repose the remains of the Fox sisters, the word "Tremont" station should read, Terminal" station.

A word to the sympathetic public con-cerning the N. S. A. Mediums' Relief Fund; it seems to me that in spite of all cared for, do not realize that every penny sent to us for that fund, is used for relieving the needs of destitute church three years longer, when he aged or needy sick mediums. Contri-was constrained to leave it and become butions to this fund are amazingly small, only one dollar in April, and that from a soldier in the Philippines, who regularly contributes. MARY T. LONGLEY, Sec'y. 600 Pennsylvania avenue S. E., Washington, D. C.

LIFE.

Life! I know not what thou art, But know that thou and I must part: And when, or how, or where we met

Through pleasant and through stormy and house, on the corner of Mahoning weather; 'Tis hard to part when friends are

Say not "Good night." but in some

--Mrs. A. L. Barbauld.

An incident in the Life of Father business man allow his business and Would the Jews Welcome Jesus?..Dr. Hirsch Says Yes, Gladly.

In a lecture before the Epworth League, Chicago, Dr. Hirsch reached the following climax:

"If Jesus Christ should return to the earth to-morrow he would be welcomed in every Jewish synagogue in the land and every Jew would say with David, Life up your heads, ye everlasting doors, and be ye lifted up ye everlasting doors and the king of glory shall come

The sentiment was met by the audience with a storm of applause.

"The Jews," said Dr. Hirsch, "do not pelieve at all in original sin and inherited depravity. They believe every man is a responsible, free agent and is not involved in the guilt of his fathers or his children. Of course, therefore, they do not believe the story of the fall of man in the book of Genesis in its literal sense. They accept the teachings of the higher criticism and consider the story of the Garden of Eden an allegory.
"The Jews hold that Jesus preached nothing but Judaism. The supremacy man, the doctrine of the fatherhood of God, the doctrine that the sabbath was made for man, the abrogation of the law of retaliation, the obligation to love even one's enemies, and even the Lord's prayer, which, we readily admit is the sublimest petition ever framed in human language mall these we claim were taken from the Jewish writings, some of which were composed hundreds of years before Jesus was born.

Jews claim that the Christians have made an utter failure of it. The truth is, Jesus was crucified by a Roman governor and Roman soldiers and, though the crucifixion was instigated by Jews lem the day before. "So far as the modern Jews are concerned they regard Jesus as one of the noblest spiritual teachers that ever appeared in the world and that the Jews have furnished the only shining example of obedience. The so-called disciples of Jesus have persecuted the Jews with savage ferocity for ages, and the Jews have borne these persecutions with lamblike gentleness and silence."

Dr. Hirsch represents Judaism as it is, nearly 2,000 years after the crucifixion. It has, like every other system, advanced and become saturated with the spirit of the age. He represents the Jews as the leading agnostics represent Christianity. He might accept Jesus, if he met him coming up from the wharves, followed by a mob of fishermen, magdalens, and street urchins, and invite the crowd into the synagogue! It is possible—that is if the police did not arrest the leaders

We are not sure of the policy of the Jewish doctor in discarding the responsibility of crucifying Jesus, and holding the Romans responsible. If Jesus had not been put to death, the whole scheme of the atonement would have miscarried. As a link in the chain of the Christian scheme of redemption, the crucifixion is as essential as the life and teachings of the Master. Had he not been sacrificed, there would have been no atonement. Thus those who performed the act were benefactors of mankind, and should receive praise instead of obloquy and hatred. Dr. Hirsch ought to be proud of the leading part the Jewish: priests took in the transaction. Yet the Jews, because some high priests in their fierce bigotry, demanded the death of Christ, have been persecuted, by the Christians of all nations, even into death through all the intervening ages.

National Woman Suffrage Headquar tors Removed to Ohlo.

The headquarters of the National American Woman Suffrage Association has been transferred from New York City to Warren, Ohio.

Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton, treasurer of the National Association and president of the Ohio Woman Suffrage Association, has charge of them. Mrs. Upton is the daughter of Ezra B. Taylor, Garfield's successor in Congress, and is an all-round business woman, eminently qualified to direct the affairs of the association she represents. She is serving her second term as a member of the board of education and is prominent socially as well because of her interest in public affairs. The headquar ters are located in the beautiful Pack

Not one of the National officers re ceive a cent for all their labors. Some of them devote their entire time to the work. A greater devotion to a prin ciple so dimly seen by the many, would be difficult to find.

The presu headquarters will remain as before in Dunkirk, N. Y., in charge of Mrs. Elnora M. Habcock.

From the quietude that has preye'led, it has been inferred that the International Reform Bureau, which some pears from a recent address of its superintendent, Rev. Dr. Crafts, that it is succeeding in its project, and was never more active. This Rev. Crafts was the prime mover and has devoted all his energies in building up this society. It preach a sermon in which he brought Were we not so familiar with it this may be well to state that the object of Christ, the law of social and national life," and by forcing God and Christ into the Constitution, make this coun-

The God-in-the-Constitution Party.

In a recent sermon Rev. Crafts unmasked the policy of his society, and showed it to be one of the most dangerous foes to American liberty. The strong feeling of indignation expressed by the majority of people at the highhanded measures of the society in its attack on the Constitution, warned the leaders that success could not be leaders that success could not be schieved by open warfare. They adopted what politicians call "a still hunt," and have so successfully covered up their movements that they have not kept them in close observation.

They have ostensibly devoted themselves to intemperance, joined hands with Comstock in his "impurity" work, gambling, and Sabbath-breaking. The real object is to make the stringent Sabbath laws an opening wedge for the recognition of a state religion. The other issues are carried as a blind and for popular effect.

In his sermon, Rev. Crafts says:

"There are four ways in which we carry on our work; by instigating proper legislation, by maintaining an exten sive correspondence, by lecturing and by disseminating our literature."

Here is shown the cloven foot, the effective work of one of the most unscrupulous lobbies ever maintained in port" by the senators and representatives being constantly receiving a correspondence worked up by the society. "Instigating proper legislation," is a pretty form of expression, and covers the infamy of the business. Do the people demand stringent Sunday laws? Do they demand "God-in-the-Constitution," or the re-enactment of the Blue Laws? Until this fellow Crafts started his society, by which he is supported, no one ever made complaint, except the urrection of a new body, there cannot science can we find confirmation of this ministers, who wanted every place of attraction forbidden, that people might be compelled to endure their sermons What has the society done? Crafts tells us:

"We have been able already to do a great deal in the way of legislation. In the past year we carried four acts of national legislation. We have done much to establish the law of Christ in Washington, we have closed the St. Louis secured, through international co-operation with our own congress, the protection of the natives in Africa and the Pacific islands." These are victories that may well be the efforts of a lobby maintained for the purpose of corrupting legislation. The corrupting power has only just been orbarley, but is incontestably wheat. newed, patched and mended during life, ganized. The hint of political manipu. This is literal and exact resurrection of at last to become too worn for repair. people who elect them. The people who in these vernal days. Stand beside the believe in freedom are not represente at Washington. The infamous lobby has its own way, and the intolerance of the laws it will force through is measured only by its judgment of the patience of the people.

Not only at the National Capital, but at those of the individual states, lobbies are maintained, and one by one the states are enacting laws, ostensibly to protect the Sabbath, but really steps to religious legislation. In some states now, notably in the great state of Ohio. the Sunday laws are excessively severe, and are in the country so impractical that they are not regarded. In psychic, C. W. LEADBEATER, which Powers. cities and towns, the "Craft Society" has the officers directly under its eye and enforces observance. Crafts in his sermon, attributes the decay of Babylon, France and Spain are because they desecrate the Sabbath. Rome, Greece, Assyria and all ancient nations perished because they had no Sabbath.

"France drinks more and worse liquor than any other nation." Why Because she does not keep the Sabbath! These go together, says Crafts: "Im purity, intemperance and Sabbath breaking." Hence make a "closed Sabbath," and intemperance and the social vice will disappear! The puerile conclusion that it is because the Sab bath is kept that Germany, England and the United States are rapidly leading the world, is as illogical as most of the ministerial conclusions. The German people do not keep the Sabbath with puritanic strictness. The method of keeping it is different. Says Craft: "Spain is dying of the bull-fight Sab-bath." A reasoning man would say that it is because Spain loves the cruelty of the bull fight, and not because she does not observe the Sabbath; be cause she is ruled by the priest instead of reason and intelligence, she remains narcotized by her religious training.

And this is just what Crafts and his ilk would enforce on the American people! He would have the government a theocracy, the priest supreme! Spain is not an object lesson of non-observ ance of the Sabbath, but of priestly rule. This sermon of Crafts, leader in the movement, reveals a yawning abyss, wherein it is proposed to bury free thought, free speech and the liberty of this nation.

NEW YORK SPIRITUALISTS.

The sixth annual convention of the New York State Association of Spiritualists will be held in Syracuse, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 29, 30 and 31, 1903 at Empire Hall, North Sa-Convention headquarters, Empire Ho-

The following speakers and mediums will be present: Harrison D. Barrett, Boston, Mass.; Harvey W. Richardson, Boston, Mass.; Rarvey w. Liciacuson, East Aurora, N. Y.; Mrs. Carrie E. S. Twing, Westfield, N. Y.; Mrs. Tillie U. Reynolds, Troy, N. Y.; Charles S. Hul-bert, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mrs. Lizzle Brewer and a number of others.

Miss Victoria C. Moore, Dryden, N. is with elocutionary readings. All are earnestly and cordially invited to be HERBERT L. WHITNEY, Sec'y.,

65 Howard avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. HARVEY W. RICHARDSON, Pres. 'Gleanings from the Rostrum." A. B. French. Cloth, $1. For sale at this office.

THE RESURREGTION,

time ago exhibited so much activity, had ceased its aggressive work. It ap. As It is Represented According to Church Lights and as Spiritualism Teaches It.

forward all the arguments that can be immortality and that there would be a final resurrection of the body.

that is popularly supposed to have rentry acknowledge Christianity as the dered resurrection incredible, may fur-

"For example, death is not only that one event which terminates earthly life and which must be quickly followed by burial or some other disposition of the life is all the while consuming our tisinsensible process that our bodies to sible for a man of intelligence to be led day contain no particle of the matter so far astray by his religious training as that constituted them ten, twenty, or to say of the sown seed, "This is literal have been lost sight of by those who thirty years ago. The man of seventy and exact resurrection of the body," has again and again changed his gar- belongs to the mysteries of religion. In ment of flesh. That he has done it so the "brown field" he says before the very gradually as to be unconscious of germination of the seed, the prospect is the fact or its significance......

cumulated death that we call sudden? peared! Is it not reasonable to believe that it still persists, and that, when circum- churches can produce in its argument stances all favor, it will reappear? Not indeed in form the same, since the flesh row basis the church structure rests. Washington, and this given "moral sup- which it once wore and used has gone There is no demonstrative evidence irrecoverably; but in fact the same, since still the vehicle of the same im- tations. With this illogical and lame mortal personality, as recognizable because as individual as ever." between the constant changes in the evidence confirming the resurrection of physical body, and those which take the body, through which the spirit will place at death. The first are the activ- manifest its individuality. The Bible, ities of life, the latter of dissolution of then, does not teach the resurrection of the whole structure. And because in the body, but science confirms the bethe first instance there is constant res- lief. We ask where in all the pages of be said to be renewal in any manner by assertion! Science has only one testithe complete dissolution at death. from the time-old illustration of the these component atoms ever being seed placed in the earth:

"Here is the kernel to be placed in the soil. All that is visible of it soon taught by Spiritualism, are demondisappears. It is chemically disinte- strated by facts and have a science pargrated and distributed. It is consumed ticularly their own. The spirit is resand its ashes form new chemical com- urrected out of the physical binations. But within this flesh of the death, into immortal life. The body is fair on Sunday, and, above all, we have wheat kernel was an indestructible not like a seed which by the decay of body. No microscope could see it. No the kernel, nourishes the expanding test-tube could disclose it. But it pos- germ; but is a worn garment cast aside, sessed the marvelous power not only and to suppose the spirit can only beof persisting, but of gathering from soil come individualized, by return to its and atmosphere and rain and sun all fleshly body, is like asserting a man boasted of, and are all gained through that is needed to perpetuate itself in can only retain selfhood, by putting on other kernels, no one of which could the garments he cast aside yesterday. ever be mistaken for oats or corn or The garment of flesh, is constantly reators has been acted on; that it is the body and is going on in millions of and then thrown aside. cheaper to bribe legislators than the instances and phases throughout nature field would seem as hopeless of resurthe movement is to make "the law of applied outside of Spiritualism to prove rection as yonder cemetery. But the energy that last year made the wheat now lying apparently inert beneath this He applies science, "the very science soil has persisted throughout the violence of reaping, threshing, winnowing, the supreme power in the land, and the nish at least some hints of its credible the foundation of all legislation. bility. as it did throughout the struggles of to disclose its power. Within a few weeks the resurrection of its body will be gloriously complete. Because we have never seen this wonder in the lifeless flesh. Death is forever taking cemetery; because its winter is longer, place within us. The fire that we call and its springtime has not yet come, life is all the while consuming our tissues. As often as we eat we cast fuel ever come?"

> "So persistent and effective is this used it, was mistaken. How it is posne process does not in the least impair as hopeless as "of resurrection in yon-der cemetery." In the brown field is "By and by, however, the ashes planted the seeds of wheat or corn, each smother the fire; the flesh all dies at with a vital germ, to start the proonce, and its final combustion begins, cesses for the formation of a new bewhich means its total disappearance, ing. In the cemetery the dead husk of What of the body now? The vehicle of the body is buried, and perhaps now. identity? The seat of personality, in there is not a trace in the soil remainwhich has dwelt the recognizable, unling. The component particles have mistakable spirit that is the real man? mingled with the elemental tide of the The body has vanished with the disap- world. How vain then, to suppose that pearance of the flesh. But is it de- because a seed germinates, the immorstroyed? Having persisted for seventy tal spirit at some indefinite time will through continuous gradual come up from the spot from which evdeath, has it been obliterated by the ac- ery vestige of the body has disap-

This effort, one of the best the for immortality, shows on what a naroutside of and beyond spiritual manifesdefense of the dogma, Dr. Hamlin concludes that while the New Testament Here he compares conditions that are does not affirm the resurrection of the There is no similarity flesh, science is constantly adding its mony and that of absolute dissolution His second scientific (?) argument is of the body, and to the impossibility of brought again together.

Immortality and the resurrection as HUDSON TUTTLE, Editor-at-Large, N. S. A.

W. LEADBEATER.

Intensely Interesting and Valuable.

We have on file four very valuable and interesting lectures by the English we will publish at intervals during the

1. Magic, White and Black.
2. The Use and Abuse of Psychia

3. The Ancient Mysteries.
4. Vegetarianism and Occultism.

SEERS OF THE AGES

Or Spiritualism Past and Present.

This book, by DR. J. M. PEEBLES, this country and Europe and you can will be our LEADING PREMIUM for not find another SUCH BARGAIN as the coming year. It is a most excellent we offer. Ten exceptionally valuable work. It is neatly and substantially books SENT OUT for $3.10, postage bound in cloth, and printed in beautiful prepaid (which amounts to $1) leaving clear type. Former price $1.25. Presthis office $2.10—A PRICE NEVER BEENT price, 25 cents, postage prepaid. FORE EQUALLED. The Progressive Every subscriber should have it. Read Thinker is the only Spiritualist paper. carefully our PREMIUM LIST. Search that has instituted the DIVINE PLAN.

Dream? she had recently, Mrs. Bettie Buchan-

She has invented a grave shield, with monuments or head and foot stone attached, and has received a patent. Mr. the model of the grave shield. It can be made any size or any shape, but the Buchannan is employed in a factory model was along the old lines of moundand his three sons are also in a manu- shaped graves. The shield may be facturing concern. Mrs. Buchannan is made of any durable material. For an a member of the Central Christian adult the shield would be about three church and is much devoted to it. She has unbounded faith in prayers and Mrs. Buchannan feels that the LORD along each side at the bottom of the SPOKE TO HER IN A DREAM, giving shield is a trough six to eight inches her the idea of the invention. "I have always had a desire to invent something and have always been interested in many patents," said Mrs. Bu-channan, "and I had asked the Lord to help me to satisfy my mind on inventions by some idea as to what to do. And the answer came in my dream. I for all seasons of the year is far betten dreamed of a cousin who died in Kentucky nearly fourteen years ago, and I grave. Emblems of various lodges on thought I met her in a cemetery and st e asked me to walk around with her. piece of the shield.

"We came to a grave with a shield of some kind over it and monuments or stones fastened at each end. And thought it was so pretty—the nicest thing of the kind that I ever saw. I remember that I walked up to the grave or shield and looked at it closely, and what impresses me so is that I even nolly about it and my husband said he erybody should read it.

Did the Lord or a Spirit Induce the never heard of anything like it and he told me I had better draw the plans of the shield that I dreamed of and then It appears from a communication we went to work and fixed rough' from Anderson, Ind., to the Chicago sketches of the shield and hurried it to Chronicle, that, as a result of a dream | the patent office. When the reply came I was almost afraid that it would mean nan, wife of W. K. Buchannan, of that patent office said it was patentable and disappointment. But, as you see, the city, may receive at least $5,000 for an | we then went to work and got the pat-

Mrs. Buchannan and her husband went into their parlor and carried out the model of the grave shield. It can be top may be ornamented with one on more urns or vases for cut flowers and wide in which earth could be placed and water also held for growing plants in the trough and adding beauty to the

The advantages of the shield are that the original shape of the top of the grave is maintained and that the shield societies are also proposed on the head-

A friendly spirit instead of "the Lord" induced the dream.

ZURILDA WELLINGTON.

Or Life in Two Worlds. The above is the title of a message from the spirit side of life through the ticed just how the shield was built and mediumship of Mrs. M. Pasquier Curhow the monument or stones were fastran, of St. Louis, Mo. Emanating, as tened at each ond. It does, from the spirit side of life, is tened at each ond.

it does, from the spirit side of life, in the spirit side of life, in will prove especially interesting. Eigenvalue of the spirit side of life, in will prove especially interesting. Psychic Phenomena.

An Essay Read by Mora Batchelor, Ashland, Ore.

The object of the present discussion is to take a brief sur- the flesh? For you have in your mind the pictures of living hood on the day that the boys disappeared. It was also dis- exercise to account for the likeness of a person the medium wey of the wide, varied field of psychic phenomena, to note persons as well as those of the so-called dead, the most important phases of that phenomena, and to compare the explanations of the Spiritualist with those of the

Among scientists, in all fields of research, that hypothesis is considered the most tenable which accounts for the to give if he were really present. He will mention events greater number of facts, and which is not negatived by any fact. The moment a fact is discovered which controverts the hypothesis, the hypothesis must be abandoned or at least modified; and the more such modification is required. the less likely is it that the true explanation has been found. Bearing these facts in mind, it is our purpose to examine as briefly as possible some of the most noteworthy facts of psychic science, together with the various explanations falsehood. It is somewhat strange, to say the least, that this which have thus been offered.

LEVITATION.

First in order comes the phenomenon of levitation, that is, the moving of heavy objects, such as tables, pianos, etc., without the application so far as discovered of any known physical force. For instance, four men sit upon a heavy table. The medium, in many cases a physically frail, slight woman, merely by placing her hand upon the table, lifts table and men a foot or more from the floor. This is an old and some other person and afterward verified. 3. Where the well known phenomenon. Hundreds of people have wit subject matter is known neither to the sitter nor to any livnessed it and testified to its genuineness. One instance is ing soul, the facts given by the medium being afterward recorded in which the medium, D. D. Home, was himself verified. lifted above the heads of persons present, carried around the upper atmosphere of the room, and finally held suspended in the air while he wrote his name upon the ceiling, where it athy, a theory which all well-informed Spiritualists admit was afterward read by ascending a step-ladder.

These are facts which no one denies, facts for which the skeptic offers no explanation whatever. The Spiritualistic hypothesis explains them as the work of disembodied intelligences, whose powers over matter transcend those of mortal

DEMATERIALIZATION OF MATTER.

Closely allied to the phenomenon of levitation is that in which solid matter is apparently passed through solid mat- from spirit friends of yours who were present, and who were ter. At a seance held in Germany with the medium Henry Slade, a number of professors from the University of Leipsic were present, among them the famous astronomer, Professor Zollner, Professor Zollner desired a test. He took with him to the seance a card with his seal stamped upon it. To the all, possess an unconscious or subconscious mind; that this card he fastened with sealing wax the two ends of a cord. The card he held in his hand, allowing the cord to hang down between his knees. He then requested the supposed spirits scious mind. The conscious mind becomes aware of the to tie a knot in the cord. The request was granted. Three facts thus obtained, but it has no knowledge of how or where knots were tied, the ends of the cord remaining sealed to the card, which never for a moment left Professor Zollner's hand. How was it done? Who will explain it?

Again, Professor Zollner went to a wood-turner and had upon a cord, the ends of which he fastened to a card as be- scious mind, or subliminal self as it is sometimes called, goes forc. He then repaired to the seance and requested the out on a foraging trip. It travels about over the world from spirits to tie the cord around the ring. A few moments point to point until it comes in contact with a mind which passed, after which Prof. Zollner, glancing down at the card possesses certain facts. The subliminal self quietly approwhich he held in his hand, discovered that the ring had dis- priates these facts, hies itself back to the place of sitting appeared, although the two ends of the cord remained sealed and drops them into the conscious mind of the medium. to the card as before. The gentlemen present began a The medium is now ready to give you the facts, which he Bearch of the room, but the ring was nowhere in sight. The does without delay. This is the skeptic's explanation. table at which they had been sitting was one of the ordinary But supposing this theory, far-fetched and incomprehenfour-legged variety, but was upheld by a carved central sible as it is, to be true, we must also suppose the medium to standard, which branched at the bottom into three short be a fraud and a falsifier, for he invariably tells you that he legs. After a diligent search one of the professors discov- obtained these facts from your spirit friends who are prespred the ring upon this carved standard, at a point where the ent, and whom he describes for you. Either the medium wood above and below was greater in diameter than the ring tells you a falsehood, or the subliminal self tells one to the itself, and from which it could not be removed without the medium. If the medium himself is honest, it is strange that, no explanation to offer. The Spiritualist believes that no the information which it has gained. On the other hand, if earthly power could place the ring in this position, that it the medium is supposed to be dishonest, the question arises, tions invariably claims to be a spirit from the other world, was the work of invisible intelligences who possess the why are dishonest persons, frauds and humbugs, the only and the Spiritualist believes this is true, but the skeptic ing those elements into their original form. The ring was examined with a microscope by the university professors, ing the mind out over the world and collecting information and found to be without the slightest trace of break or rup- in this manner from other minds is possessed only by perture. The table with the ring still upon the carved standard sons who pose as spirit mediums? stands to-day in the museum of the Leipsic University, A number of queries arise in regard to the supposed workwhere all may view it who so desire.

as the only one possible, and is known throughout the world mind receive a knowledge of the direction in which to look to-day as one of the many great scientific minds which have for information that is possessed neither by the medium nor Investigated the phenomena of Spiritualism and pronounced the sitter? What directs it to the particular mind which them genuine. Other well attested phenomena of a similar possesses this information? What enables it to travel so nature might be described did space permit, but we turn now to another phase of mediumship, that of

MATERIALIZATION.

Bo closely resembling that of some deceased person as to be ers space and gather facts and information was never dis- Rub the surfaces perfectly clean and place between them a the skeptic has no explanation to offer, but contents himself itualism? with the cry of fraud. How fraud can so closely personate in form, face, voice and manner an individual the medium has never seen nor heard of, is not quite clear. How this class. Here the medium states facts which are known down with the medium at a table in broad daylight. You medium never heard, and speak to you of things known only to yourself and the dead friend which it claims to be, is a matter inexplicable on the theory of fraud. How this materialized form can be built up before your eyes from a mere bright spot of light upon the carpet to a full-sized human which the subliminal self derives the information. figure, which you recognize, and then gradually melt away again apparently into the floor, is a matter which requires explanation. How this materialized form can step upon the scribed at length in his work on Psychics: Facts and Theosigned. Your name is still there on the slate just as you scales and be found to weigh but thirty or forty pounds, ries. The story is well authenticated, and full particulars wrote it. But how came this other writing? Who did it? fifty or more, is a matter which on the theory of fraud requires still farther explanation.

Not so on the theory of spirit manifestation, which gives matter into its elements, and of recombining them into whatever form is desired. This is the phenomena which constrictly test conditions, and accounts of the phenomena which he witnessed are well known to all readers of Spiritualistic literature.

CLAIRVOYANCE AND CLAIRAUDIENCE.

ence. You go to a clairvoyant and he will describe for you with the same result. persons he has never known, friends of yours who have long been dead. He tells you the spirit form of your father, ton and consult a medium. The mother was not a Spiritualmother, brother, wife or child is there beside you, and he delist, neither was the friend, but the situation was desperate, scribes for you their form and features, tells you their and drowning men it is said will grasp at straws. The height, the color of their eyes and hair, and mentions any friend went to Boston and had a reading with a medium, little peculiarity they may have possessed.

The Spiritualist believes that the spirit form of your friend is really there by your side, invisible to you, but vis- but had afterward gone to the pond, had crept through a been done at Spring Hill, Kansas, through the mediumship old physical body. But when she did return, she found that ant is one of those persons who possess extraordinary gifts upon the pond. "Oh, dear!" said the medium, "it never was inches, and 3 inches deep. Within the box is placed a blank and that this had been the gurpose of her temporary withsess; that in addition to the ordinary sense of sight he pos. She described the inevitable result, and told the exact spot some gentleman present, who places the key in his pocket. The case of Mrs. Mosler is only one of many. If what she sesses another sense which enables him to see the refined in which the bodies were lying. It was not in the main pond, The medium and three other persons stand one at each corsaw and heard in her trance was a dream, is it not strange But the skeptic declares that this phenomenon is fully ex- shallow. "Why," said she, "you could almost wade in and day. In five minutes, or perhaps in two, raps are heard sig- of their bodies for the time being, return with the same story, plained upon the theory of telepathy, or thought transfer pick them up. They are lying close together, and as soon as nifying that the work is done. The box is unlocked, the have had the same dream or delusion concerning a beautiful ence; that you have in your mind the picture of this dead you find one you will find the other." She also stated that paper taken out, and there upon it appears the face of some spirit world and friends long dead? Such cases have puzand gives it back to you in oral description. But is it not a information. little strange that the medium should always describe for . The friend went home, wholly incredulous, and told her communication just such as your friend might be supposed precisely as the medium described them. of long ago, events and happenings known only to yourself spirit world? Not a living soul knew that the boys were in go to the Bangs Sisters in Chicago, taking with you a canvas explanation. The skeptic can only say, the medium tells a bodies were lying, a fact known to no living person. power of telepathy or mind-reading should so often be the son, he visited the famous medium, Mrs. Piper. Through

ORDINARY COMMUNICATIONS.

The phenomena of ordinary communications through a medium fall into three classes: 1. Where the subject matter of the communication is known to the sitter. 2. Where the subject matter is unknown to the sitter, but known to Communications of the first class are by far the most common. They are readily explained upon the theory of telepaccounts for the greater part of the facts.

But in communications of the second class the theory of telepathy is found to be wholly inadequate. Here the medium states facts which the sitter does not know and never has known, but afterward verifies. He tells you things of which you have never heard and perhaps do not believe. But afterward, when you go among your friends and relatives and make inquiries, you find that the medium was right, that all he said was true. He claimed to obtain this information acquainted with facts unknown to you. This explanation the Spiritualist accepts.

But the skeptic has another theory. He tells us that in addition to the conscious mind, some individuals at least, if not subconscious mind is capable of going out over the world and gathering up information which it brings back to the conit obtained them. It does not even know that there is such a thing as the subconscious mind.

Now, says the skeptic, when you go to a medium, and the medium tells you something you never knew but afterward turned a ring of a certain kind of wood. This ring he hung find to be true, this is what happens: the medium's subconwhile the conscious mind is truthful, his subconscious mind How was it done? The skeptic cannot tell you. He has is untruthful, and comes back with a false report concerning scious mind? How does it happen that the power of send-ings of this subconscious mind which it would be interesting Professor Zollner accepted the Spiritualistic explanation to have answered. From what source does the subconscious far from the body and the conscious mind? How happens it that this phenomena of the subconscious mind so frequently occurs in connection with other psychic and occult phenomena which this theory utterly falls to explain? How happens

he may, we pass on to consider communications of the third among living men a mind acquainted with the facts, from

Two cases of this class are related by the Rev. Minot J. are given, but here we must abbreviate as much as possible.

There lived in Massachusetts some years ago a lady and skeptic can only cry "Fraud!" But he cannot explain the her two sons, boys of perhaps fourteen and sixteen years refraud; he cannot detect it nor show how it is done. spectively. One day the mother, returning from an absence to the disembodied powers of manipulating matter which of several hours, found the boys gone. Night came and they and imitate their handwriting? "Oh," says the skeptic, mortals do not possess, especially the power of resolving did not return. On the following day inquiries were made "that was the work of telepathy and the subliminal self." among the neighbors, but the boys had not been seen nor heard of. The mother's uneasiness increased to a state of powers of telepathy and the subliminal self are tricksters, vinced the great English scientist, Sir William Crookes, of alarm. In the neighborhood was a pond, with a boathouse and not only that, but such exceedingly sharp fellows that no upon the margin. Upon the pond an old rowboat was found one as yet has been able to discover the trick and tell just floating, but no trace of the boys was discovered. The neighbow it is done? bors gathered, and the pond was dragged from one end to Now, these things, arewfacts. They have been demonthe other, but with no result. Time passed and no clew of strated hundreds of times, and hundreds of people have testithe missing boys was discovered. Many came to the confied to their truth. One gantleman gives an account of a sitclusion that they had run away from home. But at the earn- ting with the medium Kepler, during which he received the Next comes the phenomena of clairvoyance and clairaudi- est solicitation of the mother the pond was again dragged,

> At this juncture the mother persuaded a friend to go to Boswho at once related the whole story; told how the boys had seen a fire in the neighborhood, and had started to go to it, drawing of spirit pictures. A great deal of this work has earth, and how she hated the thought of going back into the covered that there was an inlet or shallow bay on the mar- never saw or heard of. The Spiritualist believes that this Closely connected with the phenomenon of clairvoyance or gin of the pond, which answered perfectly the description phenomenon is what it purports to be, the work of a spirit clear-seeing, is that of clairaudience or clear-hearing. This given by the medium. Grappling hooks were again secured, artist who draws for you the portrait of a spirit friend who is skeptic and non-believer in the endeavor to ascertain which same medium who describes your spirit friend will no doubt and at the first attempt one of the bodies was discovered. present. tell you what the spirit says. He will give you an intelligent The other was immediately brought up. Both were lying

Where did the medium get her information, if not from the and this friend, and remind you of things which you perhaps the pond. It had been dragged without avail, and the suppo. ready stretched upon a frame, The canvas is placed upon a tion that they were drowned, given up. Even had the medi-Again we are told that it is all due to telepathy-mind um become possessed of the theory of drowning, telepathic reading. But the medium declares that he hears the spirit ally or through the subliminal self, this would not have envoice telling him these things. The Spiritualist accepts this abled her to describe so perfectly the exact spot in which the

Dr. Savage relates another case. After the death of his gift of persons who are willing to practice deception and her he received a communication which purported to come and soon you recognize the face of your long-lost father, from his son and which said: "I wish you would go to my brother, wife or child. When completed it is an excellent room. Look in my drawer and you will find there a lot of loose papers. Among them are some which I wish you would take and destroy at once." Mrs. Piper was in a trance when this was given. She had no personal acquaintance friend. They never saw you until now, and may not even with the son and had never seen him. Dr. Savage knew know your name. The explanations in this case are the nothing of the drawer nor of the papers referred to. But he went to the room, found the drawer, and in it a number of loose papers. They contained things which the young man without the help of telepathy or the ever-ready subliminal had jotted down and entrusted to the privacy of his drawer, self. and which, the father says, he would not have made public for the world.

Where did Mrs. Piper get her information? These facts were known only to the dead son. If Mrs. Piper's subliminal self gave this communication, where and how did it ascertain the facts? It might search the world over, there was nowhere among the living a mind which could furnish this information. And why should it come with the falsehood that it was Dr. Savage's son? Why does the subliminal self always claim to be a spirit?

Another case which comes under this class of communications has recently been reported from Raleigh, N. C. A others—dim, shadowy faces, yet recognized by you as those a thorough search of the dead man's papers, no will could be there. found. The estate was about to be settled and an adminisfound in a certain drawer of a certain desk. The widow rellikeness of them there in the atmosphere around your head. plied that that drawer had been searched a half-dozen times, Your thought produced a substance which took on the feat and that no will was there. The raps replied that that particular drawer contained a false bottom, and that camera." when this was removed a number of papers would be found underneath, and on top of the pile a yellow envelop in which who strain at a gnat and swallow a camel." Though in this would be found the will. The drawer was immediately excase it is not a single camel that is swallowed, but a whole amined, a false bottom was discovered, under it a pile of caravan. Several difficulties present themselves which prepapers, on top of the pile a yellow envelope, and in the enrelope the will.

were facts known only to the deceased father and husband. would be extremely difficult to concentrate your thought The medium knew nothing of the making of the will; the family knew nothing of the false bottom in the drawer.

In cases like the three above described the theories of telepathy and the subliminal self utterly fail to account for the photographers? Why is this phenomenon confined exclu-ું તે જ કે કે કે કે કે કે કે કે

AUTOMATIC WRITING.

Another phase of mediumship is that of automatic writing. Here messages and communications are written by the hand of the medium without the slightest volition on his part. The power or intelligence making these communical feathered headdress and all—a face which you never thought again exclaims, "subliminal self!" If this be the true theory, the subliminal self must possess extraordinary powers of personation, for the communicating intelligence, whatever How then shall we account for these facts? it may be, claims to be now one individual and now another; and moreover, the handwriting, the thought, the manner of expression varies as one after another of these assumed personalities control the hand. And again, the subliminal self must be greatly superior to the other conscious self, for it has been known to write lengthy articles, essays, lectures, and even books, which display a knowledge, an intellectual ability, and a literary skill which the conscious self never possessed.

SLATE-WRITING.

Another interesting phase is that of slate-writing. If you Here we have the representation of a human face and form it that this wonderful power of the subliminal self to trav- and buy a double slate such as the children use at school. covered nor even suspected until the advent of Modern Spir- bit of pencil. If you choose, write or scratch your name on the inside of the slate. Now seal or tie or screw them up Leaving these questions for the reader to answer as best in any manner you see fit, and go to a slate-writing medium, neither to the sitter nor to any living being, but which are never let those slates go out of your hand for a single inafterward verified. In communications of this class the stant. You hold fast to one end while the medium places his subliminal self theory utterly breaks down. For be it re- hands upon the other. Soon you will hear the pencil membered, this theory supposes that there is somewhere scratching on the inside of the slate. When at last it stops, you undo the slates, which have not been out of your hands nor your sight for a moment, and there on the inside of the slates are several communications in different handwritings Savage, the noted Unitarian divine. The first of these is de- from four or five of your spirit friends, with full names

The Spiritualist answers, "Your spirit riends did it." The

How could fraud discover the names of your spirit friends Strange, is it not, that the only persons who possess these names of eleven deceased relatives and friends on the inside of a slate which he had socurely screwed together and carried with him to the seance. It is impossible to convince a man who has witnessed such phenomena that it is wrought by any other than spirit power.

SPIRIT PICTURES.

hole in the boathouse, found the old boat and paddled out of W. W. Aber. A wooden box is constructed, 14 by 18 the body had been made strong and well during her absence, deceased person which is at once recognized by some mem- zled the medical fraternity for years. They merely give a ber of the circle as that of a relative or friend. This has name, call them cases of "suspended animation," and confess you a friend who is as we say dead? that he should never story. It was found that there was a hole in the side of the portunity whatever for fraud. Supposing it to be fraud, the happened scores of times when there was positively no op- that the cause is beyond their ken. Science has nothing to ugake a mistake and describe for you some one who is still in boathouse, and that there had been a fire in the neighber greatly overworked sublimited self-must again be called into table before a window. The sisters stand one at each side with their hands upon it, supporting it in an upright position, while you sit down in front and never once move your eyes from the canvas. No paints whatever are furnished. No human hand touches the canvas. But as you watch the col- Here are the names and addresses of a few test ors begin to appear upon it. Soon the outline of a face is likeness of your friend, with which you are not only satisfied but highly pleased.

Their Explanation.

SPIRIT PAINTING.

How was it done? The Bangs Sisters never saw your same as in the other. If this be fraud, it is fraud that has never been exposed, and which could not be perpetrated

SPIRIT PHOTOGRAPHY.

Of a wholly different nature is the phenomenon of spirit photography. You go to the store and purchase a box of photographer's plates, which you take to a man who claims to take spirit pictures. You go into the dark room with him, and after making a private mark on one of these plates, you see him put it in the holder, or you may put it in the holder yourself. Now you go out and sit for your picture with this plate in the camera. When the plate is developed, there appears upon it, beside your own face, those of three or four man named Alston died, leaving a widow and children. It of deceased friends and relatives, with, perhaps, one excepwas known that a will had been made, but notwithstanding tion. You examine the plate and find your private mark still

How was it done? Fraud is out of the question. The trator appointed. There was visiting the family at this time photographer never saw your spirit friends. The subliminal a young lady who had had some success in obtaining spirit self is out of the question. Even that tricky creature cannot rappings. It was suggested that the spirits be interrogated be supposed to perform such tricks as these. What does the converning the missing will. Questions were asked and re. skeptic say now? "Oh," he says, "your mind was so intent plies rapped out. The communicating power, whatever it upon the faces of these spirit friends, you concentrated your was, declared that there was a will, and that it would be thought so strongly upon them that you actually formed a ures of these persons, and which was photographed by the

One is here reminded of the old saying concerning those vent the entire acceptance of this theory. You may not have been thinking of these friends at all, but of others Where and how was this information obtained? These whose pictures you desired more than these. Besides it upon three or four persons simultaneously, and in the second of time during which the exposure was made. Moreover, if these things are possible, why do they not happen with all facts. No explanation save the Spiritualistic seems pos- sively to those photographers who claim to take spirit pictures? And furthermore, if thought pictures can be thus produced upon the sensitive plate, why are other objects not thus produced? How happens it that the human face divine is the only object that thus appears? And yet another difficulty arises. Besides the faces which you recognize of and never saw in your life, but which you are afterward told is the face of your Indian guide. Fraud does not explain this. 'The antics of the subliminal self do not explain it. The projection of a thought force does not explain it.

The Spiritualist believes that these spirit people were actually present and had their pictures taken. It is a wellknown fact that the camera will photograph objects invisible to human sight. For instance, stars are photographed so exceedingly remote that the astronomer with the aid of the most powerful telescope cannot discern them. The light emitted by them is so faint that it makes no impression whatever upon the eye, but it does make an impression upon the sensitive plate of the camera. In the same manner, says the Spiritualist, does the camera photograph the partially materialized form of your spirit friend. This is the only reasonable explanation which has thus far been given of this phenomenon.

TRUMPET SPEAKING.

Within recent years a new phase of mediumship has been developed, known as trumpet speaking. The instrument used is generally made of aluminum, and is very much like that used by deaf persons, the object being to concentrate and intensify sound vibrations. You place the trumpet to your ear, and soon you hear a voice speaking through it. The person speaking claims to be a spirit friend of yours and gives the names of other spirit friends who are present. Sometimes the voices are those of children. In one case that has been recorded the voice of a child, speaking to its father through the trumpet, told him in response to a question what the family at home-mother, brother and sisters in a distant town-were doing and had been doing during the day, a matter unknown to the father at the time, but afterward verified.

Now, what must be assumed in order to account for the facts on any other than the Spiritualistic theory? First, the medium must be a fraud. Second, she must possess an active subliminal self which goes out and collects the facts. And third, she must possess the power of ventriloquism in order to assume a childish voice which appears to come from the trumpet. Here, then, we have offered as an explanation, fraud plus the subliminal self plus ventriloquism!

TRANCE.

Next comes the phenomenon of trance. Take the case of Mrs. Mosier, as related by Dr. Peebles. This lady is well known as a medium, and at the time of her prolonged trance had been in poor health for a number of years. When she went into this trance, three physicians pronounced her dead. A coffin was brought to the house, and preparations for the funeral begun. When she afterward revived, she told how she had stood by her body and heard and seen all that was said and done, but had been unable to make her presence known. She related how she was afterward taken away into the beautiful spirit world, where she met and conversed with Another phase of mediumship closely related to this is the friends long dead; how she was told that she must return to

(Continued on seventh page.)

Restores Eyesighs.

"Actina," a Wonderful Discovery Whis Cares Diseased Eyes, No Matter Wheth. er Chronic or Acute, Without Cutting or Drugging.

There is no need for cutting, drugging or probing the eye for any form of disease, for a new system of treating afflictions of the eye has been discovered whereby ous methods are eliminatd. There is no risk or ex-perlinenting, as thousands of people have been cured of blindness, failing eyesight, cataracts, granulat. of the eye through this grand discovery, when eminent oculists termed the cases incurable ed lids and other afflictions cases and the names of the diseases cured: Miss Reed, 500 Prospect Ave., Kansas City, Mo., eyesightrestored. Robert Baker, 80 Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill., blindness prevented. A.O. T. Pennington, Mass. Bidg., Kansas City, Mo., catar.

inington, Mass. Hidg., Runsas Chy, Mo., catarates cured. W. W. Lauber, Aledo, Ill., astigmatism cured. R. W. Randall, Chicago, Ill., blindhass prevented. W. W. Owen, Adrian, Mo., blindness prevented, General Alex. Hamilton. Tarrytown, N. Y., neuralgia of eyes cured. Hundreds of other names can be sent on applieation, "Actina" is purely a home treatment and self-administered by the patient, and is sent and address to the New York and London Elec-tric Ass'n, Dept. T, 929 Walnut St., Kansas City. Mo., you will receive absolutely free a valuable book, Prof. Wilson's Treatise on the Eye and on Disease in General SALESMEN AND AGENTS WANTED. BIO WAGES Har

The above is the number of the present issue of The Progressive Thinker, as printed at the top of the first page, right hand corner. If this number corresponds with the figures on your wrapper, then the time you have paid for has expired, and you are requested to renew your subscription. This number at the right hand corner of the first page is advanced each week, showing the number of Progressive Thinkers issued up to date. Keep watch of the number on the tag of your wrapper.

KEEP POSTED

In Current Spiritualistic and Occult News.

You can do it by reading each week The Progressive Thinker. The Philo-ophy and the Spiritualistic and Occult phenomena it contains each week, is the marvel of the age. No one can afford to be without the paper. Its price is within the reach of all.

The New and the Old. Or the World's Progress in Thought. By Moses Hull. An excellent work by this veteran writer and thinker. Price, 10 cents.

LISBETH.

An Interesting Story of Two Worlds.

Elevating, Fascinating, Instructive Throughout.

This work by Carrie E. S. Twing is exceptionally interesting. She well says: "These characters which have brought out the highest and lowest in different religious beliefs, have moved me, not I them." The whole book is tmteresting, fascinating, and instructive. Price $1.00

A. SCHOPENHAUER ESSAYS. A. OCHUYLIMHULK LOOAIO.

Translated by T. B. Saunders. Cloth, 75 cents. "Schopenhauer is one of the few philosophers who can be generally understood without a commentary. All his theories claim to be drawn direct from facts, to be suggested by observation, and to interpret the world as it is; and whatever view he takes, he is constant in his appeal to the experience of common life. This characteristic endows his style with a freshness and vigor which would be difficult to match in the philosophic writing of any country, and impossible in that of Germany."—Translator.

The Blue Laws of Connecticut. Taken from the Code of 1850, and the public records of the colony of Connecticut previous to 1855, as printed in a compilation of the earliest laws and orders of the general court of Connecticut; also an account of the persecution of witches and Quakers in New England. Some extracts from the Plue Laws of Virginia. Price 25 cents

THE MISSING LINK IN MODERN SPIRITUALISM.

By A. Leah Underhill of the Fox Family. By A. Leab Underhill, of the Fox Family, Interesting and valuable as a history of the beginning of Modern Spiritualism, by one of the Fox Sisters. 478 Pages, is illustrations, including portraits of the Fox Family. History of the Hydosville rappings, as related by oye-witnesses; remarkable and well-attested manifestations; the "expoures," etc. Hand-somely bound in cloth, But few copies remaining. Publishers' price, $1.50. We will send the book postpaid for $1.40.

ORIGIN OF SPECIES.

By means of natural selection, or the preservation of a favored race in the struggle for life. By Charles Darwin. Glit top, cloth bound. This book it to grandest achievement of modern scientific thought and research. It has passed through many editions in Hagiltah, has been translated into almost all the languages of Europe, and has been the subject of more fevriews, pamphlets and separate books than any other volume of the age. Most of the great scientists of the race fully support his position. The thought of this look has become a part of the common inheritance of the race. For sale at this office. Frice 73 cts.

A compendium of Spiritual Laws. No. 1. New White Cross Literature. By Augusta W. Fletcher. M. D. In this volume the author, in the thirty-nine chapters, discusses a wide variety of subjects pertaining to Spiritualism, from a spiritualistic standpoint. She evinces the powers of a trained thinker, both in matter of thought and fine literary style, and capability of thought expression. The subjects are well handled with conciseness and yet with clearness. It will prove a rich addition to any Spiritualist's library, and a most excellent book for any one seeking information concerning Spiritualism and its teachings. Price $1.50.

THE SOUL OF THINGS;
Or Psychometric Researches and Discoveries.
By Wm. and Elizabeth M. F. Deuton. A maryelous work. Though concise as a text book it is as fascinating as a work of fiction. The reader will be amazed to see the curious facts here combined in support of this power of the human mind, which will resolve a thousand doubts and difficulties, make geology plain as day, and throw light on all subjects now obscured by time. Price, 81.50. In three volumes, cloth bound, $1.50 cach. Postage, 10c per copy.

WOMAN : A Lecture Delivered to Ladles Only. 37 Mrs. IDr. Hulburt. On the present status of woman, physically, mentally, morally and spiritually. The divino law of true harmonial marriage, etc. Price, 10c.

VEDANTA PHILOSOPHY.

Lectures by the Swami Vivelacende, on Raia Yoga; or Coaquering the Internal Nature, and other and jests; also, Fatanjall's Yoga Aphorisms, with commentaries and a copious glossary of Sanakrit terms. Revised and enlarged, immo, Cloth, si.50. Raja Yoga is an ancient system of Indian Philosophy, and one of the four chief methods that the Vedanta Philosophy effers to obtain freedom and perfection. Beami Vivelaceands become a familiar figure in several American cities during the three years following the Parliament of Religious as Chicago; he was cordially related to Religious as Chicago; he was cordially related to Religious as Chicago; he was cordially related to the Chief Chief

.. GENERAL SURVEY ...

THE SPIRITUALISTIC FIELD-ITS WORKERS. DOINGS, ETC., THE WORLD OVER.

CONTRIBUTORS.-Each contributor is alone responsible for any assertions or statements he may make. The editor allows this freedom of expression, believing that the cause of truth can be best subserved thereby. Many of the sentiments uttered in an article may be diametrically opposed to his belief, yet that is no reason why they should be suppressed; yet we wish it distinctly understood that our space is inadequate to publish everything that comes to hand, however much we might desire to do so. That must account for the non-appearance of YOUR article.

WRITE PLAINLY,-We would like to impress upon the minds of our correspondents that The Progressive Thinker is set up on a Linotype machine that must make speed equal to about four compositors. That means rapid work, and it is essential that all copy, to insure insertion in the paper, all other requirements being favorable, should be written plainly with ink on white paper, or with a typewriter, and only on one side of the paper.

ITEMS.—Bear in mind that items for the General Survey will in all cases be adjusted to the space we have to occupy, and in order to do that they will generally have to be abridged more or less; otherwise many items would be crowded out. Sometimes a thirty-line item is cut down to ten lines, and ten lines to two lines, as occasion may require.

Take due notice, that all items for this page must be accompanied by the full name and address of the writing It will not do to say that Secretary or Correspondent writes so and so, without giving the full name and address of the writer. The items of those who do not comply with this request will be cast into the waste basket.

Keep copies of your poems sent to this office, for they will not be returned if we have not space to use them.

G. W. Kates and wife will labor in Minnesota the most of May. They desire calls in North Dakota and Montana for June and part of July. Address them, 1728 Clinton avenue, Minneapolis,

Mrs. May Stump writes from Avon "We received the Ouija board we purchased of you; had it two or three days and it wouldn't budge! We heard of an acquaintance of ours who run one, but she had no idea she conversed with any one-just called it Ouija Sometimes it told the truth, but NOT always. She came one week ago last night. I said: 'Ask who is here?' It spelled out the name of a woman who died over two years ago. Well, we talked a long time, and after she had gone it went for me alone."

Mrs. G. H. Crolius writes from 51 Olga street, Chicago: "Mrs. J. Lindsey, of Grand Rapids, Mich., is here with us for a while and would be pleased to meet all of her friends here, and will answer calls for spiritual work and lec

Mrs. Nora E. Hill informs us that she has closed her work in Chicago for the season, and is now open for engagements with camps and societies. was ordained by I. S. S. A. when G. L. S. Jennifer was president.

Ida E. Fridborn writes from Denver. "We have started an organization here called the Harmonial Spiritualist Association which meets every Sunday evening at Maccabee Hall, 1517 Lawrence street, with Mrs. E. F. J. Bulland Wyman streets, conducted by Mr. lene as lecturer. She has been on the public rostrum for years, and is a most able speaker, who is teaching us the philosophy of Spiritualism in all its phases.

D. L. Haines writes from Franklin, Neb.: "The Franklin Spiritualists will hold their eighth annual camp-meeting commencing July 17 and closing August 2. The best of talent will be employed. The celebrated Reaves Orchestra, of Asherville, Kansas, will be in attendance during the entire camp. A good time is offered to all who may attend. G. W. Kates and wife have been secured for the last two Sundays, and other good speakers and mediums for the full term of the camp. For further particulars, address me.'

E. M. Vail president of the camp at Marshalltown, Iowa, writes: "In the last edition of The Progressive Thinker I notice that you announce the campmeeting of the Central Iowa Spiritualists' Association, which is held at Marshalltown, lowa, as beginning on Aug. 25. It is not correct. The meeting be gins Aug. 23 and ends Sept. 13. expect to start out this year with more of a rush than usual, having secured the services of Rev. Moses Hull for the first two days. All of the speakers and test mediums have not yet been employed, but the program will undoubtedly be kept up to the very high standard it attained last year, and improved if such a thing is possible. We would specially like to hear from phenomenal mediums of high class, who have either previously satisfied the people of this vicinity that they are genuine, or, if strangers are willing to prove their work beyond any question of doubt. For the benefit of those who have never been pres ent at our camp-meeting, I would say that the grounds are only three-quarters of a mile from the center of the , and there is a population of about 14.000 to draw from, besides the campers and visitors from out of the city; and there is no doubt, if a physical medium does work that is first-class and at all startling, but that they will have all they can possibly do. Last year the attendance at the camp was curtailed greatly on account of the street being orn up for paving, but this year the street cars and asphalt pavement run right by the grounds. We would be pleased to hear from mediums of all phases, especially slate-writing, letterwriting, painting, trumpet, etc. Address E. M. Vail, president, Marshalltown, Iowa."

The Kansas City Star contains the following personal note about an author well known to the readers of The Progressive Thinker: "Prof. William Henry Burr, whom Ingersoll called a great 'literary detective,' is a well-pre-served old man of 84. As a pamphleteer he stands without a rival in this generation. He has been official re-porter in the United States Senate, court reporter in New York, official reporter on the Congressional Globe, and a life-long advocate of the Baconian theory of Shakspeare's authorship. He has well nigh proved to the satisfaction of many hard thinkers that Thomas Paine was "Junius;' that Lord Bacon was the Prince of Wales, being the son of Queen Elizabeth; that Governor De-Witt Clinton committed suicide; that William Morgan was murdered by Masons, and that there are 144 self-contradictions in the Bible."

E. M. Vall. of Marshalltown, Iowa, eldent of the Spiritualist camp to be held there, desires the address of the medium, Edgar W. Emerson,

UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE THIS OFFICE WILL BE CLOSED ON SAT-URDAY AFTERNOONS.

Take due notice that Items for this page in order to insure insertion must contain the full name and address of the writer. Otherwise they may be cast into the waste basket. .

"The Lodzer Zeitung publishes an account of a strange case of hypnotism and crime which is occupying the attention both of the police and of medical men of Russia. A young lady belonging to the best class of society of Lodz married M. Wasilevsky of Warsaw, who was supposed to be a wealthy man living on a large private income. When they returned to Lodz after traveling a year, Mme Wasilevsky's parents and friends were alarmed at the remarkable change in her appearance. She was pale and thin, and in a state of deep melancholy. This was the more surprising as she had been a girl of nvely temperament, and during the journey with her husband had written most cheerful letters. Doctors were unable to account for Mme Wasilevsky's strange condition, and as a last resort it was proposed to use hypnotism. Mme. Wasilevsky resisted the attempt to hypnotize her at first, but in time fell under the influence of the doctor, who obtained from her a remarkable story. From this it appears that her husband insured her life the day after their wedding, and had a clause inserted in the policy providing that in the case of her suicide he would receive the insurance money. Wasilevsky then proceeded to hypnotize his wife, and while she was in the trances to gradually influence her to commit suicide. The scheme had to be carried out slowly, as the policy did not come into force until a year after it was signed. Wasilevsky escaped arrest by flight. Investigations showed that he was a penniless adventurer, and that he had evidently married with the deliberate intention of carrying out his plan of murder by hyp-Mme. Wasilevsky has filed a petition for divorce."

A Scott Bledsoe writes from Toneka. Kansas: "The State Spiritualist Association of Kansas will hold its annual meeting in Topeka, Kansas, June 5 to 8, 1903. Rev. Frank 1. Ripley, of Chicago, Ill.: Judge H. H. Benson, of Omaha, Neb.; Dr. Julian P. Johnson, of Wichita, Kans.; Mrs. Etta S. Bledsoe, of Topeka, Kans., and other prominent and mediums will be present. All friends of the cause and investigators are kindly invited to, attend these meetings. On Friday night, June 5, a reception will be given all delegates and visitors, at the home of the president. 1618 West Sixth street." The Rockford (Ill.) Gazette savs: "At the home of I. S. Gitchel, 313 East State street, on Monday evening, under the name of 'The Spiritual Science Society,' an organization was effected with about sixty members, with prospects of having at least one hundred members before closing the charter. The officers elected were: President, I. S. Gitchel; vice-president, S. C. McDougall; secretary, J. G. Peacock; treasurer, A. M. Pierce; trustees, Mrs. F. C. Cramer, J. A. Valentine, Mrs. H. H. Howe, A. meeting will be held this evening at the Good Templar's hall corner West State and Mrs. E. W. Sprague, the national missionaries, who are doing such aggressive work for the cause of Modern Spiritualism. The public is invited to this meeting. Instead of being imposed on by fakirs and irresponsible mediums. the public as well as the Spiritualists of Rockford have listened with interest to these people of national reputation. Local Spiritualists believe it is time that an organization was effected for the purpose of protecting the public against fraud and placing the cause in a more favorable light."

Mrs. A. E. Kibby writes from Cincinnati Ohio: "Having a few open dates in the fall, I would like to open correspondence with some society who need an inspirational speaker and test medium. I would like to work in the west on my way back from California. Home address, No. 4 River View, Mt. Adams. Cincinnati, Ohio."

Married, at the residence of the pastor, Mrs. Nora E. Hill, 750 West Lake street, on the fifth day of May, Mr. Joseph White to Miss May L. Nye, both of this city. Friends of the bride were present to witness the ceremony which was simple, but very impressive.

E. A. Doty writes from Albany, N. Y.: 'Sunday, May 10. an ideal day; sunny skies, singing birds, opening buds, sweet-scented flowers, a pleasant hall, good music, an intelligent and thoroughly appreciative audience, and the Rev. Anna L. Gillespie, pastor of the People's Church of San Francisco, Cal., on the platform. These combined produced the harmonious conditions which enabled the inspiring intelligences to captivate and hold spellbound all who were within the sound of her voice. Her subject was 'Spiritualism, Its Relation to the Needs of Humanity.' The writer has been fortunate in having known Mrs. Gillespie, and of her wonderful mediumistic gifts in the years gone by, and is agreeably surprised to note the continued unfoldment which ranks her among the best workers on the Spiritualist platform. Mrs. Gillespie has consented to remain with us for another Sunday and will speak on the subject of

'Mediumship, Its Uses and Abuses.'' C. H. Elterman writes: "The Spiritualist Church Students of Nature close their yearly services Sunday, May 31, until Sunday, September 6. We thank all the kind co-workers for their help they have rendered the society; also the mediums, especially Mrs. Sigsmith. with her guide, Rosebud, who has been with us several Sunday evenings and stronger. It teaches me that all religion given good readings. Our society is ion is the way to glory it matters not growing. It is an auxiliary society of the N. S. A., by which we are chartered. We are also deeply indebted to our pastor, Mrs. Schumacher, for her untiring devotion to our cause." J. G. Burrows writes from Monrovia, California: "I read from week to week the profoundly interesting articles in The Progressive Thinker, also the wellmerited rebukes for those Spiritualists who are either too indifferent to the success of the cause of Spiritualism or too penurious to subscribe for the paper. There is not an issue of The Progressive Thinker but contains a single article worth at least half the price of a year's subscription. The people here in Monrovia, the gem of the foothills of Southern California, and almost in sight of Los Angeles, a very Mecca of spiritual unfoldment, are too hidebound to even tolerate a Spiritualist. The good old landlady of whom I rent rooms positively refused to allow me to hold a seance in the rooms for which I pay her my solid tests."

When writing for this pape use a pen or typewriter.

TAKE NOTICE.

All books advertised in the column. of The Progressive Thinker are for sale at this office. Bear this in mind.

E. R. Keech, president, and Mrs.

Mary Roberts, secretary, write: "The Religio Philosophical Society of Rockford, Mich., have been remodeling their hall, and have changed it from a single floor to two floors; the upper room to be used for meetings is plastered; the lower one for dining-room, etc., is ceiled. We think we now have a very convenient building. We will hold our first quarterly meeting in the remodeled hall on Sunday, May 31, and will have with us as speaker that grand woman, Mrs. Abbie Sheets of Grand Ledge. We also expect Mr. D. A. Herrick, of The Inter Ocean has the following: Grand Rapids, and Mrs. D. A. Morrill, both fine speakers, and we hope to have a good test medium."

"Since I have seen the western parochial schools, I have come to the conclusion that in fifty years, if things go on as they have been going, the Catholic church will actually own the west." Such was the declaration of Archbishop Quigley before the childrenof St. Mary' Sodality at the Holy Name Parish School, Chicago. The occasion was a reception given to the Archbishop by members of the Sodality and the prelate was the only man in a gathering of 300 women. "Within twenty years this country is going to rule the world. Kings and emperors will pass away and the democracy of the United States will take their place. The west will dominate the country and what I have seen of the western parochial schools has proved that the generation which folows us will be exclusively Catholic When the United States rules the world, the Catholic church will rule the world. I'd like to see the politician who would try to rule against the church in Chicago. His reign would be short, in

Correspondent writes: "G. W. Kates and wife were given a splendid reception upon their return to Minneapolis Minn., Friday evening, May 8. Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Swanson are entertaining Mr and Mrs. Kates during their stay in the Twin Cities, and opened their residence for a public welcome to their guests. The residence was elegantly decorated with plants and flowers. Mr. and Mrs Kates are cordially remembered in Minnesota for good work done during two years of service in that state."

Mrs. Etta Foster writes from Escondido, Cal.: "I look for The Progressive Thinker every Saturday as I would look for a visit from a dear friend. After we get through with them I distribute them among those that do not take a spirit ual paper. I have seven of your premium books and prize them very dearly.'

Mrs. A. T. Matthews writes from Worcester, Mass.: "According to astrology, palmistry and phrenology, I have strong clairvoyant powers, which for several years I have been trying to cultivate, but with no outside help, or I might say, visible help. I have had one materialization, which commenced at the floor and gradually built itself up until I recognized my father, who passed away when I was a child many years ago. I am fast learning to know what liberty means, and to follow the advice of my spirit guides, and to stand out in the fullness of self. I sometimes see forms, and have on one occasion seen names in what, to me, seem a strange way, flashing before my eyes like a chain of lightning, a letter appearing on each wave, until I saw the name in full, the lightning being intensely blue, and passing so swiftly I could but just read them."

Mrs Frances Wheeler writes LaCrosse, Wis.: "When the W. S. consupport the M. P. I., Sister Baker, of Portage, and myself pledged ourselves later in the morning. to hold two public meetings in Portage the proceeds to be given to the M. P. I May 3, we fulfilled our pledge, by holding said meetings, and also celebrated the first birthday of the Portage Spiritualist Society. Our meetings were well attended. I wish to say right here that a more honest, earnest worker than Sister Baker I have never met. We realized a goodly sum for the M. P. I. after all expenses were paid, and long may it live."

Mrs. E. J. Brown writes: "The First very much alive, and on the alert for all the good there is; we have interesting meetings on Sunday afternoons, and have fair developing work among our own people, yet reach for spiritual food outside of circle to scatter the seeds of truth which has been done by Mrs. Inez Wagner, trumpet medium, and Mrs. Bledsoe, inspirational speaker, of Topeka. Mrs. M. Theresa Allen, of Springfield, Mo., was with us ten days in February. We indeed had a feast from the higher power. April 3, Mr. Bledsoe, of Topeka, was with us three days and gave three lectures which were fine."

J. M. Markley, of Elwood. Ind., says "My friends, have you never read of the conversation of Moses and Elias with Jesus in the mountain? Have you never read where Peter was unchained and led out of the prison walls of Jerusalem by the angels, did you ever read where the cherry tree bent its form and its branches and bowed to the earth so as to swing its fruit in reach of the Virgin Mary? What has Spiritualism done? will tell you what it has done for me. It tells me that every word of the New Testament is true; it warns me of the danger there is in living a sinful life and the place of punishment hereafter. Would it not be a great consolation to you as well as to me, to have your departed friends tell you viey are happy, yes among all the angels? They have told me that, and they will tell you so if you will investigate. They have told me there is a heaven beyond this life where all the angels dwell. I have never found at any time where it weakens our religion at the least, but only confirms and makes our religion ion is the way to glory it matters not what church you belong to and that all the churches should work in peace and harmony.'

Prof. Ransby is now in New Philadelphia. Ohio. Dr. Juliet H. Severance has Toper dates for the camp meetings. She would also like to fill time with engagements to lecture for societies the coming season. She also officiates at funerals. Address, 578 East 60th street

Chicago. Belle.Thayer Campbell writes: "Mrs. Jennie E. Staner returned last Wednes day, after an absence of sevon weeks to the little band of workers, the Spirit ual Research Society, of which she was the founder, and has been the leader for a number of years. Those who were at the hall last Wednesday, I do not think will soon forget that afternoon; it seemed like a family reunion, as we welcomed our beloved leader home. 1 do not think there were many dry eyes when Mrs. Staner took her place on the W. P. Phelon. For sale at this office, platform and told the experience of the Price 25 cauts.

Always sive your full name and ad ress when sending in items and com nunications for publication, otherwise hey will find their way to the waste ast seven weeks, watching week after week by the side of a beloved mother as the slowly drifted from this material ife into the arms of the loved ones waiting to receive her. She stood alone in this begutiful thought of Spiritualism, and at the last conducted part of the funeral service according to our beloved truth: While there at James town, N. Do she held the first Spiritual ist meeting ever held in that place. There will be given at the home of Mrs. Belle Campbell, 305 S. Leavitt street, on the evening of May 23, a supper and entertainment as a welcoming reception to Mrs. Staner and for the purpose of advancing our work. Supper, twenty-five cents; served from half after six until eight o'clock."

Will Allen Franklin Brown, the Spiritualist lecturer, please send his address of Ezra A. Carpenter, of Wells ville. Kansas?

A. D. Jacoby, of Elkhart, Ind., writes: Mr. H. C. Sharer and Mrs. Dr. F. M. Wright were united in marriage at Athens, Mich., on May 7, and will reside in Elkhart, Ind., where she will enter in the spiritual work. She has some good speakers or helpers that control her, and we think she will develop to be a great worker in the cause of Spiritualism. We are having some very good circles at our home and we cannot get along without your valuable paper." Louis H. Freedman, M. D., writes from San Francisco, Cal.: "We are in San Francisco and will remain here until the end of June, then we will return east to some camp work for the summer. Our address is 508 Eddy street. San Francisco, until July 1. I will give some public demonstrations of healing while here, and Mrs. Freedman will give public platform tests. Let me also state that Mrs. Freedman and myself are open for engagements. I lecture on Spiritualism and give public demonstra tion of healing of a character that is seldom duplicated. Mrs. Freedman gives platform tests. She can demonstrate the continuity of a life beyond We also furnish our own music. My wife plays the piano and I sing, and those who have met us know that our music is an attraction. I can be written to by societies from Illinois, Wisconsin and Indiana. We are particular ly adapted to advance the growth and standard of Spiritualism."

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION

Was Providence When These Events Occurred?

I venture to make a few comments upon two articles in the New York Journal that came under my notice the other day, thinking that, perhaps, some of the guides to the great white throne might be able to give us some definite information in regard to the whereabouts of the kind Providence that provides for his flock.

"Death Her Reward for Act of Mercy." is the headline of one, in which a Miss McKinney, of Portland, Oregon, was burned to death while making a poultice for a sick friend. While Miss Mc-Kinney was preparing the poultice, which contained among the other ingredients, lard and turpentine, by some way it caught fire, and at once set her negligee in a blaze. The young lady rushed past her brother-in-law, out of the door, into the hall, screaming and crying with pain, and threw herself into washstand in a little closet.

Mrs. Wright, the landlady, at the risk of setting her own dress on fire tried to put out the flames which now enveloped the already dying young woman. She failed in this and then procured blanket to wran around while her brother-in-law threw a bucket vention was in session at LaCrosse, and people pledging what they could to help moned who said she was past all human aid, and death ended her agony When the blanket was removed all the skin came with it. Miss McKinney was known all over for her beauty and kindness to all. Surely, this is worse than-or at least equal to-any orthodox hell that was ever invented.

WHERE WAS THE KIND, LOVING,

OMNIPOTENT FATHER OF ALL? This is only one of the thousands of just such horrible deaths, so-called. Was she her own free moral agent in this, or was she ordained to thus suffer here, and perhaps suffer in eternity in Spiritual Society of Sterling, Kansas, is another place as bad, if not worse, than this, by one just Jehovah? "For mayhap she had no chance to

Who counts the hairs of your head. and the sparrows that fall? Perhaps he was eking out his vengeance on this beautiful, kind and lovable young lady for some trifling thing her grand-parents, or perhaps her great-grand-pa-rents had done. "And the sins of the parent shall be visited upon the chil The heading of the other article reads as follows: "Baby Passes Safely Through Dust Sweeper." We find one Thomas McQueen, whose months were welve, fell from his cab and was caught by the broom that was revolving rapidly, which filled his eyes, ears, mouth and nose with filthy dirt from the street, turned him over several times and set him down rather hard, with apparently no scratches. This, the writer says, was the act of Kind Providence which watches over children, who kept him safe through it all.

This providence business sounds very nicely when put by itself, but when you place it side by side with the above, and thousands just like it, it sinks into insignificance, and is only fit for orthodox ministers to tell their flocks, to explain to them the loving mercy God in his in finite goodness extends to all, but will never do for those who have put off their old swaddling clothes of ignorance and superstition. If God does one, he does all, and is little short of a monster whose cruelties franscend that of his Satanic Majesty 10a thousand times. Again I say, where was "or is" the Kind Providence? Let some one of the cloth answer if they can.

PROF. J. W. HUDLOW.

Washington, D. C.

JIVINVICTUS.

Out of the night that covers me, Black as the pit from pole to pole, thank whatever gods may be For my unconquerable soul.

In the fell clutch of circumstance I have not winced or cried aloud; Under the bludgeonings of chance My head is bloody, but unbowed.

Beyond this place of wrath and tears Looms but the Horror of the shade, And yet the menace of the years Finds and shall find me unafraid.

matters not how straight the gate, How charged with punishment the scroll. am the master of my fate;

I am the captain of my soul. -W. E. Henley. "Love—Sex—Immortality." By Dr.

:asket. Us

LIST OF CAMP-MEETINGS.

Send in Your Dates and Name of Secretary at Once.

Inquiries are already coming to this office in reference to the various camps Will the officers of each camp pleas send at once the correct dates, etc., and also the name of the secretary who can be addressed for programmes and full particulars. The notices that do not contain the names of the secretary or president are incomplete.

Island Lake, Mich. The Island Lake Camp Association desires to announce that the season of 1903 opens July 23, extending through the month of August. Correspondence solicited with a few more good phenomenal mediums. H. R. LaGrange, secretary, 350 Grand River avenue, Detroit, Lake Brady, Ohio. Lake Brady camp opens July 5 and closes August 30. A. G. Keck, secretary, Akron, Ohio.

Chesterfield, Ind. Chesterfield (Ind.) camp-meeting opens July 16 and closes August 30. For programs and other information address Flora Hardin, secretary, Anderson, Ind. Camp-meeting in Oregon. The Spiritualists of Oregon will hold their annual camp-meeting from July 4 to July 20 on the beautiful and inspiring grounds of the Clackamas County Spir itualist Association. For particulars, address the president, Geo. Lazalle, Oregon City, Oregon. Mt. Pleasant Park, Clinton, Iowa. The camp session of the M. V. S. A Mt. Pleasant Park, Clinton, Iowa, will open August 2 and close August 30. For programmes address Mollie B. Anderson, secretary, Clarksville, Mo.

Verona, Park, Me.

This camp opens August 2 and closes August 30. A. F. Smith, president Bangor, Me.; F. W. Smith, secretary, Rockland, Me.

Snowflake Camp, Mich.

The fourth annual camp-meeting opens at Snowflake, Mich., Aug. 1, and closes August 23. Write to Mrs. Ruth Eastman, secretary, Mancelona, Mich. Box 69. Ottawa Camp, Kansas.

This camp opens July 30, and closes August 9. For full particulars address H. W. Henderson, Lawrence, Kansas.

The Waukesha Camp, Wis. This camp opens July 17 and closes August 17. For full particulars address the secretary, Will J. Erwood, No. 1334 Pine street, La Crosse, Wis., or Clara L. Stewart, president, Whitewater, Wis.

This camp opens July 30 and con tinues to August 9. For full particulars address H. W. Henderson, president, Lawrence, Kansas, or Jacob Hey, Secretary, Carbondale, Kansas.

Ottawa, Kans.

Wonewoc, Wis. The Wonewoc camp opens this year on August 13 and continues to the 30th of that month. Address for particulars Miss Gertrude Spooner, Wonewoc, Wis.

Winfield Camp, Kansas. This camp will be held in Island Park Winfield, Kansas, commencing July 3, and closing July 13. For full particu lars write to Mrs. Mand K. Gates cor ner Second and Indiana streets, Highland Park, Winfield, Kansas. Marshalltown, lowa. This camp begins August 23 and ends

September 13. For full particulars address E. M. Vail, president, Marshalltown, Iowa. Franklin, Neb.

This camp commences July 17, and

A series of lessons on the relations of the spirit to its own organism, and the inter-relation of human beings with reference to health, disease and healing. By the spirit of Dr. Benjamin Rush, through the mediumship of Mrs. Cora L. V. Richmond. A book that every healer, physician and Spiritualist should read. Price. $1.50. continues until August 2. For full particulars address D. L. Haines, secre tary, Franklin, Neb.

Grand Ledge, Mich.

This camp opens July 26 and closes August 23. For programmes apply to A. McKelvey, Grand Ledge, Mich.

Reed's Lake, Grand Rapids, Mich. The West Michigan Spiritualist Association will hold its meeting this year at Grand Rapids, at its grounds, at Reed's Lake, known as the "Pioneer Assembly Grounds." Meeting opens July , and closes August 30. For full par ticulars address D. A. Herrick, president and manager, 296 N. Ionia street, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Haslett Park, Mich. This camp commences July 25 and ends September 1.

Delphos, Kans.

The First Society of State Spiritualists and Liberals will hold their twenty fifth annual camp-meeting, commenc ing August 9 and closing August 26.

Mowerland Park, Mass. Camp Progress Spiritual Association will open its season on Sunday, June 2, at the grounds in Mowerland Park Upper Swampscott, Mass.

Ashley, Ohlo. Camp opens Aug 17 and closes Sept lished. Send for it.

Cassadaga, N. Y.

This favorite place of resort will open its yearly session July 11 and close Au-

THE TAIMUD Selections from the contents of that ancient book, its commentaries, teachings, poetry, and legends. Also brief sketches of the men who made and commented upon it. By H. Polang, 850 pp. Price, cloth, 61 Mantua, Ohio. Camp session opens July 28 and closes September 2.

> STANDING UP FOR JESUS Or what the Editor of the Freethinker's Maga-zine thinks of him. Price, 6 cents; twenty five croiss for 56 cents.

Vicksburg, Mich. The camp-meeting will be held at Vicksburg, commencing August 2 and HUDSON TUTTLE closing August 25.

Onset, Mass.

Opens July 13 and closes August 81

Forest Home, Mich.

This camp is located at Snowflake.

Mich., and opens August 3 and contin-

Saugus Center, Mass.

will hold meetings every Sunday, end-ing September 28, at Unity Camp, Sau-

Lake Pleasant, Mass.

meeting Association will open July 28 and continue thirty days, including five

Niantic. Conn.

The Niantic Camp, located at a deightful place, Niantic, Ct., commences

Los Angeles, Cal.

Camp-meeting Association, of Los Angeles, Cal., will open August 17, and Summerland, Cal.

The annual camp-meeting of the

Sunapee Lake, N. H.

Briggs Park, Mich.

Mich., opens July 6 and closes August 3.

Freeville, N. Y.

Summerland Beach, Ohio.

Association opens August 10, and closes

A Few Words About the Devil.

And other Essays. By Charles Bradlaugh. With the story of his life as told by himself, and the history of his parliamentary struggle. With portrait. Paper, 50c.

The Spiritual Wreath.

A collection of words and music for the choir, congregation and social circle. By S. W. Tucker. Comprises sixty or more gems of song. Price, is cents.

What All the World's a-Seeking.

RALPH WALDO TRINE.

By Ralph Waldo Trine.

HARMONIGS OF EVOLUTION.

The Philosophy of Individual Life, Based

Upon Natural Science

As taught by modern masters of law. By Floras augut by modern masters of law. By Florence Huntley. An exceedingly interesting and distinctly valuable contribution to the literature of evolution unfolding its laws from the deeper and clearer spiritual aspect, and in dicating the defects of the Darwinian theory. Spiritualists and Materialists alike can gain much from its perusal. Price, finely bound in cloth, $2.

THE VOICES By Warren Summer Barlow.
The Voices contain poems of remarkable beauty and force. They are most excellent. Price $1.00.

RELIGION OF THE FUTURE.

KELIGION OF THE FUTUKE.

By S. Weil. Cloth, $1.25; paper, 50 cents. This is a work of great value, written by one of the keenest, most powerful and most truly religious minds of the day. It is particularly a work which should be put into the hands of those who have freed themselves from the dogmas of orthodoxy and from the dogmas of materialistic science, for it will strengthen the conviction of the free mind that mind and senses are not the whole of life.

The chapters reveal a new method in psychic and spiritual research. They show vivid glimpses of a stupendous moral cosmos that will supersede moral confusion, that only verifiable tenets can survive, and the childhood period of faith and fancy will be superseded by knowledge and facts.

Psychopathy, or Spirit Healing.

ESOTERIC LESSONS.

This work includes "Personified Un-thinkables," "First Lessons in Reality," and "A Tour Through the Zodiac."

This is an interesting production of occult thought and will well repay careful study and meditation by all occultists.

Price, Cloth, $1.50. For sale at this

OLD AND NEW PSYGHOLOGY

By W. J. Colville. Beports of twenty-four distinct lectures, recently delivered in New York, Brooklyn, Boston, Philadelphia and other prominent cities of the United States, have contributed the basis of this volume. Price, 81.00.

A GREAT BOOK.

THE HULLJAMIESON DEBATE.

One of Unflagging Interest Throughout

-It Should Be in the Hands of Every Spiritualist and Freethinker.

This book, containing nearly 500 closely printed pages, should have a million circulation. Price $1. It is chockful of rapid-firing ideas, and is the ablest debate, on both sides, ever pub-

Woolley's Summerland Beach Camp

Regular camp opens July 26 and

Briggs Park Camp, Grand Rapids,

August 3 and closes August 31.

Sunapee Lake camp-meeting opens

The Southern California Spiritualist

June 24, and continues until Sept. 9.

The New England Spiritualists Camp

The Lynn Spiritualists Association

ues until August 25.

gus Center, Mass.

close September 14.

closes August 12.

September 1.

Sundays.

Etna, Wash.

A LIBRARY OF SPIRITUAL The Spiritualists of Clarke county, SCIENCE. Washington, will hold a grand campmeeting in Etna, from August 9 to the 23d.

STUDIES IN THE OUTLYING FIELDS OF PSYCHIG SCIENCE.

This work essays to utilize and explain the yast array of facts in its field of research by referring them to a common cause, and from them arise to the laws and conditions of Man's spiritual being. Third edition. Price, 76 cents. RELIGION OF MAN AND ETHICS OF SCI-

PUBLICATIONS

ENGE,

Not servile trust to the Gods, but knowledge of the laws of the world, boller in the divinity of man and his eternal progress toward perfection is the foundation of this book. Price, $i. LIFE IN TWO SPHERES.

LIFE IN IWO SPHERES.

In this story the scenes are laid on earth, and in the spirit world, presenting the spiritual philosophy and the real life of spiritual beings All questions which arise on that subject are answered. Price, 60 cents.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF SRIRIT AND THE SPIRIT WORLD. THE ORIGIN AND ANTIQUITY OF MAN

Containing the latest investigations and discoveries, and a thorough presentation of this interesting subject. English edition. Price, $1,

THE SECRETS OF THE CONVENT OF THE SACRED HEART.
This book was written for an object, and has been pronounced equal in its exposure of the diabolical methods of Catholicism to "UnclaTom's Cabin." Price, 25 cents.

HERESY, OR LED TO THE LIGHT. A thrilling psychological story of evangeliza-tion and free thought. It is to Protestantism what "The Secrets of the Convent" is to Cath-olicism. Price, 80 cents.

WHAT IS SPIRITUALISM? WHAT IS SPIRITUALISM?

How to investigate. How to form circles, and develop and cultivate mediumship. Names of eminent Spiritualists. Their testimony. Eight page tract for mission work. Single copies, $\ \text{cents}; 100 for $\frac{1}{2}.25.

Spiritualists at Summerland, Cal., will Commence July 26, and close August 3,

FROM SOUL TO SOUL.

By Emma Rood Tuttle. This volume contains the best poems of the author, and some of the most popular songs with the music by eminent composers. The poems are admirably adapted for recitations. 225 pages, beautifully bound. Price, $1.

THE LYCEUM GUIDE.

For the home, the lyceum and societies. A manual of physical, intellectual and spiritual culture. By Emma Rood Tuttle. A book by the aid of which a progressive lyceum, a spiritual or liberal society may be organized and conducted without other assistance. Price, 50 cents; by the dozen, 40 cents. Express charges unpaid.

unpaid.

ANGELL PRIZE CONTEST RECITATIONS.
For humane education, with plan of the Angell Prize Oratorical Contests. By Emma Rood Tuttle. Price, 25 cents.
All books sent postpaid. Address

HUDSON TUTTLE, Publisher, 1

ANGELL PRIZE CONTEST RECITATIONS.

To Advance Humane Education in All Its Phases.

BY EMMA ROOD TUTTLE.

Lyceums and Societies that wish to get up elegating, interesting and paying entertainments can not do better than to have a Prize Contest. The entire plan, with full directions, is in the book, and may be easily managed. Nothing kindles enthusiast more quickly than an Angell Prize Contest! Nothing is needed more. Any individual may organize one in his own town and reap a financial reward.

TRY IT: PRICE, 30 CENTS. Address EMMA ROOD TUTTLE, Berlin Heights, Ohio.

Hach is building his world from within; thought is the builder; for thoughts are forces,—subtio, vital, irresistible, omnipotoni,—and according as used do they bring power or inpotence, peace or pain, success or failure.—From Title-page. The above books are beautifully bound in gray-green raised cloth, stamped in deep old-green and gold, with gilt top. Price, $1.25. For sale at this office. THE GOLDEN ECHOES: In Tune with the Infinite

A New Book of Inspirational ... Within yourself lies the cause of whatever enters into your life. To come into the full realization of your own awakened interior powers, is to be able to condition your life in exact accord with what you would have it.—From Title-Page.

CONTENTS—I. Prelude; II. The Supreme Fact of the Universe; III. The Supreme Fact of Human Life; IV. Fullness of Life-Bedily Health and Vigor; V. The Secret, Power and Effect of Love; VI. Wisdom and Interior Illumination; VII. The Realization of Perfect Peace; VIII. Coming into fullness of power; IX. Plenty of All Things—The Law of Frosperity; X. How Men Have Become Prophets, Spers, Sages. Words and Music. For the use of meetings, lyceums and home, by 8. W. Tucker. These beautiful songs have already comforted many broken hearts, and it is hoped that show may be heard in every land. Price 15c; $1.50 per dos; en. For sule at this office.

The Development of the Spirit A. How Men Have Become Prophets, Seers, Sages, and Saviors; XI. The Basic Principle of All Religions—The Universal Religion: XII. Entering Now into the Realization of the Highest Riches. For sale at this office, Price, postpaid, $1.25. mental development of the human race. Price, 10 cents.

"THE DREAM CHILD,"

A Fascinating Romance of Two Worlds. By Florence Huntley. Price, cloth, 75 cents. Books like "The Dream Child" spur humanity on to make more and more demands of this nature, and will open up new heights and depths of spiritual knowledge.—Ella Wheeler Wilcox. Will, I believe, take its place beside Buiwer's "Zanoni" and the "Scraphita" of Balzac.—Daily Capital, Topeka, Kansas. Although simple and unvarnished with any Lifammable descriptions, enthralls the mind to the exclusion of other thoughts, until reluctantly the reader closes the last page.—Minneapolis Sunday Times.

LILIAN WHITING'S BOOKS

VERY INTERESTING AND EX-CELLENT WORKS.

Kate Field, A Record. Price $2. A Study of Elizabeth Barrett Browning. Price $1.25. The World Beautiful. Three Series

Each $1. After Her Death, New Edition. $1 From Dreamland Sent, And Other Poems. $1. These books are for sale at this office.

STARTLING FACTS, Deeds of Darkness Disclosed

This work devotes special attention to Auricular Confession and its relations to sacerdotal celibacy, convents, monasteries, morality and civil and religious liberty. It is intended to be an embodiment of facts and documentary evidence of the pernicious influence of the confessional; a trenchant showing up of Romanism, based upon standard Catholic authorities; an eye-opener con-cerning the methods and spirit, the moral turpitude and evil works of Ro manism. Cloth, 75 cents.

"NO BEGINNING."

An Excellent Work for Thinkers.

This book, "No Beginning," is by William H. Maple. The Arena says of it: "The argument is unanswerable. The book will at once appeal to the reason of every reader, and leave him more amazed than ever at the prevalence of the theory of Creation." The Two has always been a fateful num-Free Thought Ideal says: "We found to full of glittering thoughts for thinkers, and the very death warrant of Christian superstition shines upon its pages."

COSMIAN HYMN BOOK. A collection of original and selected Hymns for Liberal and Ethical Societies, for Schools and the Home. Compiled by L. K. Washburn. This volume meets a public want. It comprises 258 choice selections of poetry and music, em-bodying the highest moral sentiment, and free from all sectarianism. Price, 50 cents.

THE SPIRITUAL ALPS And How We Ascend Them.

Now to reach that altitude where spirit is supresse and all things are subject to it. By Masses Hull. Priss in cloth, 60 center paper 25 cis. For sale at this offen.

This department is under the man

HUDSON TUTTLE. issuress him at Beilin Heights, Ohio.

NOTE.—The Questions and Answers have called forth such a host of re-spondents, that to give all equal hearclearness is perhaps sacrificed to this forced brevity. Proofs have to be emit-world's progress? sed, and the style becomes thereby assertive, which of all things is to be dep-being written by men just as all books recated. Correspondents often weary are written. Yet that it has been a with waiting for the appearance of stumbling bock in the path of progress, their questions and write letters of inseveral weeks ahead of the space given, and hence there is unavoidable delay. Is held. When it became a fetish, satisfied the space given is held. When it became a fetish, satisfied the space given is held. Every one has to wait his time and place, and all are treated with equal NOTIOE .- No attention will be given anonymous letters. Full name and address must be given, or the letters will hence absolutely true, remain unchangnot be read. If the request be made, the name will not be published. The correspondence of this department has become excessively large, especially letters of inquiry requesting private answers, and while I freely give wint-ever information I am able, the ordinary courtesy of correspondents is ex-pected. HUDSON TUTTLE.

Geo L. Nixon: Q. What of the Hermetic philosophy—its truths, value,

A. The Egyptian god, Thoth, was supposed to be the originator or discoverer of everything known to the the religion of the Hindus; the Book of Egyptians. He is known as Hermes. Trismegistus, or the thrice great or ran and Mohammedanism. These three-fold Hermes. Every book on sci-books and the religions founded on ence or religion known to the Egyptians them have been the means by which was supposed by them to be written by these races have progressed. That they him, and of these 36,000 were said to have subserved an important purpose exist. A few fragmentary dialogues cannot be denied. Until man can be and mystical writings are still extant, guided by knowledge it is best he be but they have been declared forgeries.
A great mass of writings have come and it would appear that this is the only from Greece and Rome, claiming road over which he can pass from the Hermes Trismegistus as their author, childhood of the savage to civilization. Here and there the old Egyptian wis. It is not because the Bible has been a dom may be preserved, but as a whole stumbling-block from the first, but be they are even bad specimens of the cause it is forced on those who have later languages, and without a doubt were written at a comparative late pe- who yet linger on the confines, that is riod. The imperfection of the style has retards. Take it for what it is worth. been used as argument in favor of their being translations from the Egyptians, and it is probable that the older Egypmore than to the other "sacred books." tian writings formed the foundation of many of these attempts at wisdom. These writings treat of astrology, God, etc. Emphasizing that peculiarity of the human mind of taking up the problems of existence, of which it has is near when with an improved instruthemselves are impossible to solve for the benefit of the world and not only without exceeding knowledge.

During the middle ages many books Rosicrucians, professing to have been composed by Hermes. It was an age of names, were attached to worthless: verbiage. Altogether these writings are worthless rubbish. They are specilations of men who are in absolute ignorance of the subjects they discuss. Of late there has been an effort made by a few to revive these pitiable efforts. to solve the problems of existence without knowledge. The ordinary schoolbox of to-day has more knowledge of causes than Hermes the thrice great, and all those who followed after him. There never was, a more deluding and deluded class of men than the alchemists and astrologers of the middle ages. Their stock in trade was falsehood and communication with the spirit world misrepresentation. They had nothing depends on certain laws and there is a their empirical knowledge of chemistry, its are endeavoring to perfect a method.

The state of t open-mouthed wonder, and give them credit of being in league with the devil. Every fragment of all these writings bears on its face the falsehood that it was written by some one who claims to be an Egyptian god.

That there is any knowledge contained in any of these books not contained in modern books is a mistake, and aside from their showing the erratic course of the mind when not restrained by facts, they are valueless.

Thinker: Q. Is there a Swedenborgian school in the West? A. The Urbana University is a Swedenhorgian school. Located at Urbana, It held its first commencement in 1854. It was chartered in 1850.

According to its report for 1903, it has for its object "the education of youth in all the branches of scientific and academic instruction, in the light of the philosophy of the New Church. This philosophy briefly stated, teaches that the spirit world has a substantial existence, more intricately and distinctly organized than the natural, and bears to the natural world the relation of cause to effect. It therefore follows that all natural science is the ultimation and embodiment of spiritual science. To education in both its natural and its spiritual sense Urbana university is

In this there does not appear to be difference worthy of mention between the Swedenborgians and Spiritualists. The necessity of a full understanding of the physical world as a preparation for higher spiritual knowledge, has been urged continually by the highest spiritual intelligences. The main difference is the acknowledgment of the great Swedish seer as the one supreme medium of communication from the spirit Yet many Swedenborgians admit that there are mediums of lesser de gree. The school is for both sexes, and has dormitories for both. The tuition The spoken word so soon forgot is $12 per term or $36 per year. The By thee; but it has perished not; average expenses of a student for a in other hearts its living still. year is $220. The course of studies And doing work for good or ill. does not differ from that of the larger colleges, except that prominence given And the lost opportunity, the Swedenborgian doctrines. The institution does not conceal the purpose in vain thou weepest, in vain cost of its founders and supporters, which was and is to instruct the youths in the New Church faith. Of course the works of Swedenborg are studied as infallible texts and the Bible interpreted by his learning which make no exactions of their pupils in religion. Parente who believe in the New Church system of destrive in the new Charge system of doctrine will have the assurance that their children will be kept in the straight path, and fully imbued with it. Students have to attend daily chapel exercises, which consist in expounding wedenborgianism.

Knowledge, the sciences, languages, mathematics are non-sectarian. They are the same for all religious faiths, and unless it is the desire of parents or stulents to be under especial theological nfluence, the schools which ignore theology are the best, as inculcating broader views, and not preoccupying the mind with speculations which will have to be unlearned in after years.

W. F. Hunt: Q. Is there any reason to believe the Bible inspired and differing compels the answers to be made in to believe the Bible inspired and differ-the most condensed form, and often ent from other books? Has it not been a stumbling-block in the way of the A. The Bible has every evidence of

The supply of matter is always sense. The fault is not as much in the cred, holy and infallible, then it became a brake on the wheels of progress. The religious sects founded on the Bible, by subscribing to creeds which they behave made historic achievement, has been over diverse courses but by similar means. The writings of their earliest leading minds have been compiled in books accepted as divinely inspired, nence sacred, and religious systems founded on the teachings of these books. Thus the Old Testament and Judaism; the New Testament Christianity; the Zend Avesta and the Kings and the Chinese system; the Kocontrolled by superstitious reverence, childhood of the savage to civilization, passed the age of superstition, by those what it claims, and not what is claimed

J. W. Nelson: Q. On page 259 of a book published in 1873, titled "Startling Facts in Modern Spiritualism," Spirit is near when with an improved instruthe least comprehension and which of ment celestial currents will be utilized convey messages from city to city, but they will become channels for the transwere written by the alchemists and mission of thought between the natural and spiritual worlds." Now did the idea of wireless telegraphy originate on forgery, and great and well-known this side, or on the higher side of life. and will not some more receptive mind be able to get the impression as to the how of opening a better method of communication between this and the spirit world, and then what developments may we look for?
A. All great inventions are received for it, and there can be no objection from the spirit world; that is the ideas and suggestions for their practical application are impressed on receptive minds and then these clothe these ideas in material form. The mind of the inventor is a receiving instrument and the more able his understanding, the more perfect the results.

but pretense. They had receipts for world-wide field for improvement and transmuting baser metal into gold, and discovery. In truth, the greatest and for concocting the elixir of life, and by most wonderful achievements are yet to come, and the most thoughtful spir-In this work, Home Circles are an im-> experimentation. The quotation from "Startling Facts," etc., has more than passing interest. It is a prophecy, which cannot be misportant factor, as furnishing a means of taken, and as such should be treasured as evidence by Spiritualists.

THE SONG HE NEVER WROTE.

His thoughts were song, his life was singing. Men's heart's like harps he held and smote, But in his heart went ever ringing, Ringing, the song he never wrote. Hovering, pausing, living fleeting,

A farther blue, a brighter mote, The vanished sounds of swift winds meeting.

The opal swept beneath the boat. Echoes of music, always flying. Always echo, never the note; Pulses of life, past life, past dying-All these in the song he never wrote, Free at last and his soul up-soaring, Planets and skies beneath his feet, Wonder and rapture all outpouring, Eternity, how simple, sweet!

"This is the life, past life, past dying: I am I, and I live the life, Shame on the thought of mortal crying

Shame on its petty toil and strife! 'Why did I halt and weakly tremble." Even in heaven the mem'ry smote-Fool to be dumb and to dissemble Alas, for the song I never wrote."

— Helen Hunt Jackson. AN ARAB SAYING.

Remember, three things come not back The arrow sent upon its track-It will not swerve: it will not stay Its speed; it flies to wound or slay.

In other hearts 'tis living still.

yearn,

Those three will never more return. -Constantina E. Brooks.

"Longley's Beautiful Songs." Four system of correspondences. We do not seen beautifully soul-inspiring songs, see any advantage this school, with its with music, by C. Payson Longley, sectarian tendencies, has over the state universities and other institutions of this office.

"How Shall I Become a Medium," Fully renswered

In Mediumship and Its Laws, Its Conditions and Cultivation," by Hudson Tuttle. Price 35 cents. Send to Mr. Tuttle, Berlin Heights, O.

Psychic Phenomena.

(Continued from fifth page.)

offer. The skeptic has nothing to say. Thus far the Spirit unlistic explanation is the only one offered.

DUAL AND TRIPLE PERSONALITY.

Another strange phenomenon which neither science nor the skeptic can explain is that of dual and triple personality! Numbers of such cases are reported by medical men, who however, are unable to ascertain the cause lying back of them. To-day the patient is his normal self, manifesting $3 usual his well-known traits and characteristics, and in full possession of his faculties and powers. To-morrow his personality undergoes a complete change. He is no longer, apparently, the same individual. He now has no knowledge of his former self, nor recollection of his former life, and manifests traits and characteristics entirely different from those hitherto observed in him. This phase may continue several hours, days, or even months, when suddenly there is a return to the former condition and the man is himself again, but with no recollection of the intervening days, weeks or months. This period is a total blank to him, and he takes up life where he left it when the change came upon him. Later, the second personality may again manifest itself, to be succeeded in turn by the first, and these changes may continue, the first personality alternating with the second for any length of time.

The most noted case of this kind is undoubtedly that of Miss Mary Lurancy Vennum, an account of which is given in the pamphlet entitled "The Watseka Wonder." This remarkable case was carefully studied at Watseka, Ill., and the facts are well authenticated. It sometimes happens that three distinct personalities are manifested by the same individual at different times, thus giving triple personality in of the sitter and never were. The projection of a thought

The Spiritualist explains such phenomena upon the theory of obsession; that is, the complete control and possession by a disembodied spirit. Now the man is himself in his normal state, and now he is under the hypnotic control of an unseen intelligence, which takes entire control of his organism. When the control leaves him he is himself again. Such changes of personality actually occur. There is no doubt whatever about it. But science has as yet no explanation to offer. It merely records the facts. But to the Spiritualist these things are neither strange nor marvelous. On the contrary, they are easily understood and found to be in perfect harmony with the law of spirit control.

DREAMS.

Now we come to the phenomena of dreams. The facts under this head are so well known that explanations are unnecessary. Doubtless every one has at some time in his life. heard his friends and acquaintances relate the story of a dream and its fulfillment, if he has not himself had the experience. Warnings, premonitions, cases in which life has been saved and calamities avoided by reason of a dream are ory of telepathy requires the supposition of fraud in order so common that thousands of instances might be given, but to help it out. The theory of the subliminal self breaks we must content ourselves with mentioning only one.

This occurred recently. A little child in one of the west. ern states was lost. It was late in the afternoon when she was missed. The neighborhood was searched but no trace of the little one discovered. Night descended, and the state of alarm greatly increased, for the country was full of prowling coyotes. Parties of men with lanterns were scouping the country in all directions. One of these, late in the evening, came to the house of a settler to make inquiries and secure help. The occupants of the dwelling had retired, but the woman arose, dressed and came to the door. The men stated their errand. "Why," said she, rubbing her eyes, and still but half awake, "I was just dreaming about a lost baby! the second ravine, and then go up that a few rods, you will They followed the line fence until they came to the second been beyond all earthly help.

with such a heading as this! Coincidences, do you say? The skeptic's hypothesis not only fails to account for the My friends, there are too many of them. It is true that the greater part of the facts, but it falls in another important woman above mentioned might have dreamed of a lost child particular. It lacks simplicity. Different explanations are because the thought of the neighborhood was at that moment given for different phenomena. No one explanation will fit concentrated upon that subject, and this thought might have them all. We are really offered, not a hypothesis, but a numreached her telepathically. But why should she dream of ber of distinct and separate theories. Three explanations the exact spot in which the child was to be found? Not a are given, only one of which has any evidence whatever to living soul knew where the baby was, nor even the direction support it. Telepathy, all Spiritualists admit, is a fact in nain which she had gone. This was a fact known only to guardian angels, if such there be.

If living minds can impress their thoughts telepathically upon other living minds, why may not the mind of a disembodied spirit impress its thought upon the living brain, especially when that brain is in the passive condition known as sleep? This the Spiritualist believes can be done and is done in hundreds of cases similar to the one above mentioned. There is nothing wonderful nor supernatural about it. The explanation is simple and easy. The spirit friends of the little girl saw the danger she was in, and finding the brain of the sleeping woman open to impression, conveyed to her the information which saved the child. In such cases as this the Spiritualistic explanation is the only one given, and the only one which seems possible.

SPIRIT HEALING.

Of the many phases of mediumship, doubtless that of spirit healing is one which results in the greatest practical good to humanity. Volumes might be written descriptive of cases in which the patient has been restored to health by a "healing medium," after physicians had pronounced a cure impossible.

In Jackson, Mich., according to Dr. Peebles, the following manifestation of spirit power was given through the mediumship of a young man named Dunn. "Five physicians had given up the case as helpless. When C. E. Dunn arrived, a lad then nineteen years of age, utterly ignorant of pathology and physiology, he sat down and was immediately entranced by an Indian spirit, who rushing into the sick room and see ing the patient, began massaging his abdomen, and rolling him rather violently. He then partially lifted him up, his feet in the air, head upon the pillow, and giving him a sud den twist, the man fell back to the bed groaning pitcousis: The Indian said: 'All right—all right be now—knot untiled.' Dr. Willis and pale-face spirits help Indian.' This was a cage of intussusception—a twisted interlocking of the intestines or a case entirely beyond the reach of ordinary physicians. This cure made quite an impression in Jackson county. was only one among scores of similar cases that I have seen diagnosed and cured by Mr. Dunn when in this unconscious faring man though a fool can understand.

What explanation save the Spiritualistic is possible such cases as the above? What was it that enabled an Irnorant boy to do that which the learned physicians, with all their knowledge, could not do?

INSPIRATIONAL WRITING AND SPEAKING.

There is yet another phase of mediumship known as in assion. spirational writing and speaking. Here the mind if the man dium is apparently seized upon by some intelligence whose powers of thought and expression far transcend those of the not only for the greater number, but for all of the facts. It medium, and utterance is given through him to grand ideas: and truths which the medium in his normal condition would be incapable of expressing. It often happens that lectures harmony with it. What more can be asked? are delivered or books written upon scientific or philosophical subjects, with which the medium is known to be unfamiliar, and in a cultured and scholarly manner quite beyond his attainments. Not unfrequently a foreign language is, thus spoken or written, of which the medium in his normal condition knows not a word.

But the skeptic has no explanation to offer. He cannot tell bow it is nor why that an uneducated man or woman, can a scholarship, and a literary ability, which in their normal is addition they do not possess,

Sixteen phases of psychic phenomena have now been dis-Aussed. These are by no means all. Others might be added, but these are amply sufficient for our purpose. The Spiritualistic explanation of these various phenomena has been given, side by side with that of the skeptic and non-believer, when he had one to offer. We are now ready for the SUMMING UP OF THE EVIDENCE. for and against these different hypotheses. But again let it be said that, among scientific men that hypothesis is considened the most tenable which (1) accounts for the greater number of facts; (2) which is not controverted by any fact; (6) which has simplicity—the less elaborate and far-fetched the better; and (4) which bears the test of newly discovered facts, that is, which requires little or no modification in order to account for new facts. The discovery of new facts in harmony with a hypothesis strengthens it. On the contrary, the discovery of new facts not in harmony with it, or for which it fails to account, weakens it.

Now, for these sixteen classes of phenomena the skeptic offers various explanations. First he brings forward the theory of telepathy or thought transference. This will account for some of the facts, but not all. Next he elaborates the fantastic theory of the subliminal self. By stretching the imagination to its utmost tension this may be made to account for some of the facts, but not all. In spirit photography another far fetched explanation is introduced, that of the projection into the atmosphere of thought pictures in the mind of the sitter. If "thought pictures" of anything save human faces were ever known to be thus photographed, this theory might account for some of the facts, but not all. For this explanation must be coupled with the supposition of fraud on the part of the artist in order to account for the appearance on the plate of faces which are not in the mind force alone will not explain this phenomenon. Neither will the supposition of fraud alone explain it.

To sum up the skeptic's theories then, we have in three of the sixteen cases: the power of telepathy coupled with fraud on the part of the medium. In three other cases, the power of the subliminal self coupled with supposed fraud on the part of the medium. And in one case, the projection of a thought force coupled with supposed fraud on the part of the medium. The term "supposed fraud" is used advisedly. For in all of these cases—slate-writing, spirit painting, spirit drawing, spirit photography—fraud has neither been detected nor have the phenomena been duplicated.

These theories are offered in explanation of seven of the sixteen classes of phenomena which have here been discussed. But what of the remaining nine? What of the other half of this great body of facts? Nothing. We admit, says the skeptic, that we have as yet no explanation to offer. Then it must be admitted that this hypothesis fails in a most important requirement. It fails to account for the greater part of the facts. It accounts for less than half of them, and for these in a most unsatisfactory manner. For the thedown without the aid of falsehood and fraud. The theory of the projection of thought forces fails to account for the facts without the supposition of fraud on the part of the Strange, is it not, that these wonderful powers of the humin mind are never manifested save in connection with fraud, trickery, and humbug? Why is it that honest people de not possess them? Are psychic powers the endowment of moral perverts only?

Answer, these questions as best one may, half of the facts remain unaccounted for. Neither telepathy, nor the sublimingle self, nor the projection of a thought force will account for levitation—the moving of heavy bodies without the appli-I believe if you will follow that line fence until you come to calion of physical force—nor for the passing of solid matter through solid matter; nor for materialization; nor for comfind her." Away rushed the men through the darkness munication of the third class, in which facts are stated which at the time are known to no living being; nor for the ravine. Up this they hurried, and there, stuck fast in the phonomena of trance; nor for dreams that are fulfilled; nor mud, was the little girl, surrounded by a howling pack of for double and triple personality; nor for the healing of bodcoyotes. Another ten minutes, and the little one might have lily ills; nor for inspirational writings and speaking. Not one of these theories, nor all of them combined, with fraud "Saved by a dream!" How often do we read accounts thrown in, will account for this mass of facts.

ture. But the subliminal self, and the projection of thought forces are theories as unsubstantiated by facts as they are incomprehensible to the ordinary mind. Yet four of the seven cases have been yielded because of these explanations. Take away these four, and only three of the whole sixteen remain to be explained upon the theory of telepathy.

And again, the skeptic's hypothesis fails in that it requires constant modification in order to account for newly discovered facts. New phases of mediumship are constantly being developed, and the skeptic is continually at his wit's end to account for new phenomena. The old explanations will not fit the new facts. Others must be invented, and this friend of ours is constantly evolving new and incredible theories. But strive as he may, he cannot keep abreast of the flood of facts which are daily brought forth by investigators and students of psychic phenomena. But he struggles manfully onward, and where he cannot explain the facts by any series of mental gymnastics of which he is capable, he contents himself with the cry of "fraud." But he cannot detect the fraud, nor does he offer to duplicate it. Taken all in all, we find that the theories advanced by this unbelieving friend of ours have very little evidence in their support.

Turning now to the Spiritualistic hypothesis, we find that it not only satisfies the scientific requirement by accounting for the greater number of facts, but that it accounts for all of them. Not half or the greater number, but all. There is not a fact in the whole sixteen classes of phenomena, there is not a fact in the whole wide field of psychic science which this hypothesis does not explain, fully, clearly and satisfactorily. There is not a single fact in the universe which controverts it. No man has ever yet been able to produce a single fact which is evidence against it. No man has ever had anything to offer against it save prejudice and doubts. But prejudice and doubts are not evidence.

Moreover the Spiritualistic hypothesis possesses simpliclty. For these sixteen classes of psychic phenomena it gives the same explanation. It does not bring forward three or fiber distinct and separate theories to account for this, that and the other phenomenon. It gives one explanation for them all—a simple, easy, natural explanation that a way.

DAnd lastly, the discovery of new facts has continually added evidence in its support. For fifty years painstaking investigators have been collecting and classifying facts in psychio science, investigating new phases of mediumship, with the result that every fact is found to add weight to the Spiritualistic interpretation, and this, too, without requiring the slightest change or modification in the original expla-

Thus the Spiritualistic hypothesis is found to possess the four necessary requirements before mentioned. It accounts is not controverted by any fact. It possesses simplicity. It is constantly strengthened by the discovery of new facts in

It is safe to say that the unprejudiced investigator, who begins the study of psychic science with the intention of ascertaining the truth and nothing but the truth, and who faithfully and conscientiously continues his research, never falls to be convinced that the power of disembodied intelligeness slope produce these phenomens. And this concinsion, too, is reached long before the sixteen phases hore discussed have been to vestigated.

in the transport soul-transportation, exhibit a knowledge, Thus it has been with men of science who have devoted their time and their talents to this work. Thus it was with Zollner, Wailson Crookes Lodge Varley Winnes.

son and Hyslop. Such a result is inevitable. For when new facts continually add testimony on the side of a hypothesis until the evidence in favor of it piles up mountain high; when it is found that every known fact is in harmony with it; that no single fact contradicts it; when all other hypotheses one after another break down and are abandoned; then the truth of this hypothesis becomes so Auricular Confession a Deep Pit of Perdition for the Priest. evident that all reasonable minds aca hypothesis, but a truth.

Thus it is with the Spiritualistic hy-Thus it is with the Spiritualistic mynothesis. To those who have investigated psychic phenomena, fully, fairly and conscientiously, it is no longer a surrender-Her irreparable Ruin.

Three Journeus Around the World

Travels in the Pacific Islands, New Zealand, Australia, Ceylon, India, and other Oriental countries. By J. M. Peebles, A. M., M. D. Ph. D. In this splendid large book Dr. Peebles has concentrated a vast amount of valuable information. It is exceedingly entertaining and readable, and Spiritualism as he found it everywhere in his travels receives due attention, making the book of special value and interest to Spiritualists. 454 large pages, finely bound, at the price of $1.50.

Cultivation of Personal Magnetism

The World's Sixteen Saviors, Or Christianity before Christ. By Kersey Graves. Now and startling revelations in religious history which disclose the Oriental origin of all the doctrines principles, precepts and mirzcles of the Christian New Testament, and furnishing a key for unlocking many of its sacred mysteries, besides comprising the History of Sixteen Oriental Crucibled Gods. This wonderful and exhaustive volume will, we are certain, take high rank as a book of reference in the field which the author has chosen for it. Printed on white paper, 380 pages. New edition, revised and corrected, with portrait of author. Price $1.50. Postage, 10 cents.

INVISIBLE HELPERS

A Very Excellent and Comprehensive Work.

point.

Self Contradictions of the Bible One hundred and forty-four propositions, the ological, moral, historical and speculative; each proved affirmatively and negatively by quotations from Scripture, without comment. Price, to carrie

With the finer mental and spiritual forces as applied to healing. Price, 50 cents.

POTTING of the Life Beyond and Within.
Voices from many lands and countries, saying, "Man, thou shalt never die." An excellent selection. Edited and compiled by Giles B. Stebbins. Cloth. $1.

Rights of Man ... 25 cts.
Crisis ... 25 cts.
Common Sense ... 15 cts. This is a splendid opportunity to secure these stand-erd works, as the price is within the reach of all. For sale at this office.

PROGRESSION Or How a Spirit Ad-The evolution of Man. By Michael Faraday.

rion, and in our country, James, Hodgcept it. It is then no longer considered chovah Interviewed.

One from the Theosophical Stand-

This work, "Invisible Helpers," written by O. W. Leadbeater, the remarkable English psychio (whose lectures have graced the columns of The Progressive Thinker), is certainly very interesting and suggestive throughout. It treats of the "Universal Belief in the Invisible Helpers," the "Angel Story," 'Work Among the Dead," "What Lies Beyond." The work is neatly bound in cloth, and the price is 55 cents.

DIFFICE Between Religion and Science, Just the book for progressive thinkers. A book that is very interesting to people who have a taste for the past religious history. By John W. Draper. Price, cloth, $1.75.

The Koran of Mohammed."

Mohammedan Bible. Cloth, $1.00

Works of Thomas Paine

THE CONFESSIONAL BY FATHER CHINIQUY.

This is a most valuable book. It comes from an Mo-Pricat, whose character is above reproach, and whe knows what he is talking about. Everybody should read it. Price, si.co. It contains the following chap-ters:

The Struggle before the Surrender of Womanly Sell respect in the Confessional.

CHAPTER III.
The Confessional is the Modern Sedom CHAPTER IV.

How the Vow of Cellbacy of the Priests is made ease
by Auricular Confession.

Auricular Confession destroys all the Sacred Tiss et Marriage and Human Society.

Should Auricular Confession be tolerated among Civaling Confession be tolerated among Civaling Confession be tolerated among Civaling Confession Civaling Confession Civaling Confession Civaling Confession Civaling Confession Civaling Ci ized Nations?
CHAPTER VIII.
Does Auricular Confession bring Peace to the Soul?

CHAPTER IX.

The Dogma of Auricular Confession a Sacrilegious Imposture. Imposture.

CHAPTER X.

God compels the Church of Rome to confess the Abominations of Auricular Confession.

Auricular Confession in Australia, America, and Franco. CHAPTER XII, Chapter for the Consideration of Legislators, Husbands and Fathers-Some of the matters on which the Prizet of Rome must Question his Penitent.

Sent Post-paid, Price, $1.00.

Daniel K. Tenney's BOOKS

Never-Ending Life,

Assured by Science Price, 6 cts. The best scientific argument in favor of a fu-ture life that has ever before been made.

Or Orthodoxy from Headquarters ... Price. 6 cts. A newspaper reporter goes up to heaven and in-terviews Jehovah.

Its, Origin, Career and Destiny Price, so cta. One of the best and most comprehensive sum-ming up of the absordities of the Christian Theology that has ever before appeared,

Holy Smoke in the Holy Land.

Price, se cts.

Susan H. Wixon says: "I have read, first and last, many accounts of Palestine, or 'the Holy Land,' but have never seen anything in that line that pleased me so well as this description by Daniel K. Tenney." The Plan or Salvation. Price, 10 cts.

In this pamphlet Mr. Tenney shows the absurdity of the Christian "Plan of Salvation" in so clear and plain a manner that any Christian whe has a spark of reason left cannot fail to see it. "Owed" to he Clergy. Price, 6 cts. An address read before the Free Thought Con-gress held in Paine Hall, Boston, Nov. 17th, 1899.

The Master's Masterpiece, Or the Sermon on the Mount Price, to eta-This is the most thorough exposition of the fal-lacies of this noted "sermon" that was ever be-fore published.

Modern Theology and Its Ideal Jesus The absurdities of the reputed teachings of Jesus are here shown up as no other writer has ever presented them before, which will convince any honest reader that the most of them are consummate apparent.

The Hon. Daniel K. Tenney, the author of these books, has been for many years the leading law-yer in one of the most distinguished law firms in Chicago, and there is not a more able writer in the

THE WOMAN'S BIBLE

PART I.--The Pentateuch

Comments on Genesis, Exodus, Leviticas Numbers and Deuteronomy, by Elizabeth Cadj Stanton, Lillie Devereux Rlake, Rev. Pheb Hanaford, Clara Bewick Colby, Ellen Battelle Deltrick, Mrs. Louisa Southworth, Ursula N Gestefeld, and Francis E Barr.

THE WOMAN'S BIBLE.--PART II. Judges, Kings, Prophets and Apostles. Comments on the Old and New Testaments, from Joshua to Revelation. The comments are keen bright, spicy, full of wit, the work of radical thinkers who are not ignorant of the higher criticism. There is not a doil page in either of these books, but each is a galaxy of the bright minds of the day and throw a new light on the Bible teachings relating to woman. Price of each, paper, 50 cents.

LIFE BEYOND DEATH

The World's Beliefs on the Subject, a Consideration of Present Conditions of Thought and Feeling, Leading to the Question as o Whether It Can Be Demonstrated as a Fact.—To Which Is Added an Appendix Containing Some

Hints as to Personal Experiences and Opinions. BY MINOT J. SAVAGE, D. D. 8vo. Cloth, 842 Pages.

After a review of the beliefs held in holds, as a provisional hypothesis, that worldliness" which it replaced, which lows:

the past concerning life beyond death. continued existence is demonstrated, Dr. Savage takes up the present condi. and that there have been at least some Dr. Savage takes up the present condi-tions of belief and considers the agnos-tic reaction from the extreme technique. tic reaction from the extreme "other-chief contents of the volume are as fol-was in turn followed by the Spiritualistic reaction against agnosticism. He old Testament and Immortality—Paul's points out the doubts concerning the doctrine of immortality held by the doubtes and the weakness of the trachurches and the weakness of the tra-ditional creeds and the lossening of Belief Concerning Death and the Life their hold upon the people. He then Beyond—The considers the probabilities of a future Spiritualistic Reaction—The World's life, probabilities which, as he admits, Condition and Needs as to Belief in Im fall short of demonstration. The vol-ume includes a consideration of the Short of Demonstration—The Society work of the Society for Psychical Re- for Psychical Research and the Immorsearch and also an appendix giving tal Life-Possible Conditions of Anothsome of the author's own personal ex. er Life—Some Hints as to Personal Ex. periences in this line. Dr. Savage periences and Opinions. For Sale at this Office. Price $1.50. Postage 10c.

THE BEAUTIFUL SOUVENIR VOLUME. By A. LEAH UNDERHILL.

The Missing Link in

Thirty-three chapters, 477 pages, superbly printed, and bound in colors and gold. 15 illustrations, 5 steel engraved portraits of the celebrated Fox Family, a full page engraving of the old house at Hydesville, which to this day, by the act of its wealthy and respected owner, Artemas Hyde, Esq., bears the inscription. "Here Spiritualism Originated in 1848."

A complete the transaction of the colors and so remained for a number of years, when they ware rescued and bound at nated in 1848."

A complete history of the initiation of additional cost, hence this valuable the movement known as Modern Spirit-contribution to the cause of Spiritualism stime from the epochal period which ism was not properly presented to the dates from March Bl. 1846. Since that Spiritualistic public, and a host of independent of the works, Spiritualism of the copy until the presented is western new Bork, Spiritualism of the copy until the presented is very against fremendous out time. Do not fall to send for a character stated before at appears of the copy of the country of the copy of the presented seaters for a spiritual before a copy and the presented seaters for a spiritual before a copy of the presented seaters for a spiritual before a copy of the presented seaters for a spiritual before a copy of the presented in the presented seaters for a spiritual before a copy of the presented seaters for a spiritual before a copy of the presented in the presented seaters for a spiritual before a copy of the presented in the presented seaters for a spiritual before a copy of the presented in the presented seaters for a spiritual before a copy of the presented in the presented seaters for a spiritual before a copy of the presented in the presented seaters for a spiritual before a copy of the presented in the presented seaters for a spiritual before a copy of the presented and bound at the presented seaters for a spiritual before the presented and the presented seaters for a spiritual before the presented and the present

Will be open May 20th.

All those who desire to become patients, should write at once and engage rooms. We shall treat all chronic cases, but Nervous Diseases and Stomach Troubles Are Our Specialties; though we treat all chrouic diseases successfully.

E. T. GOVE, Mgr., application to

Or to The C. E. Watkins Medical Co., 66 Highland Ave., Newtonville, Mass.

Itarium and our methods of Curing the Sick,

Leading Symptom.

A WORTHY PROJECT.

How to Perpetuate the Works of A. J Davis-Suggestions Received.

my note), have been received both ver- year instead of July. bally and by letter, all tending to the belief that an Incorporated Publication which to commune with nature and the Society will soon be on the way to realization—"a consummation most dehigher life. All who were visitors last youtly to be wished" by the true year, and those who wish to be visitors, sociation on a basis large enough to in- are first-class, and the general accomclude the Banner of Light Publishing modations are above the ordinary.

House, the books and magazines of Two good hotels within the blocks of many authors together with his own the camp grounds give excellent accomlist of books, under a board of trustees modations at most reasonable rates, and sub-committees to preside over, ranging from $1 per day. For those and execute various departments of the who wish to remain upon the grounds association could be incorporated under first-class meals can be obtained, and an act of the Massachusetts legislature, where also the campers can procure for the formation of "Benevolent, Charfresh fruits, ice cream, etc. In fact evitable, Scientific and Missionary Societies;" and furthermore, that the board one of pleasure and profit.

of trustees should be self-perpetuating, The talent that will be placed upon filling its own vacancies, thus becoming a permanent organization. A wide who will be present are Dr. Nelle C. range of books and newspapers could Mosier, of Kent, Ohio; Georgia Gladys thus be protected and published with Cooley, Rev. T. Grafton Owen, Mrs. Cath-

His impression is, that a strong organization of this character would at iters will be amply repaid for coming. tract ample funds from our many rich Aside from the above, the many tract ample funds from our many rich his stereotype plates, and of sheets Mrs. N. M. Hardy, medium for materialprinted for many volumes (not yet ization. This affords an opportunity to bound), he says: "Friend Clarke, I witness all phases of spiritual phenomgive, to a responsible society, my entire list of books, but I am not financially or Gertrude Spooner, Secretary, Wone able to give myself such an everlasting pleasure. This important question (as to the cost of my plates) was recently asked me by Mr. G. E. Lothron. Jr., and it no more than right that I should With form erect and sparkling eyes so frankly state the facts.

my earnings and savings (over the actual cost of a very modest style of liv- From earth's fair face was drawn, ing) in stereotype plates, engravings, one beauteous spring day's dawn, etc., and thus my property, needed for Stood gazing at a loftymountain height. aid and comfort in 'old age,' is all imbedded in those thirty volumes. The steady and almost uniform sales of drous wide, four per cent of the capital invested and employed in printing and binding.

There are ten thousand fifty-eight Like shining silver strands, plates, which cost originally about one Behold, with outstretched hands dollar a page, and it seems to me that I He hastens up the mountain's rugged should be paid $5,000 for the entire property, including about $500 in printed sheets now on hand."

Asked about the payments he would like, he replied: "The incorporated board of trustees might pay, when the plates are legally transferred, $3,000, leaving the balance ($2,000) to remain on four notes (without interest), falling due semi-annually, or annually, as the funds of the organization would reasonably warrant."

Such are Mr. Davis' very moderate terested and well-to-do persons enough in the great Brotherhood of Spiritualists, to come forward at once to pur-chase and perpetuate this monumental work of the great "Poughkeepsie Seer?" The books are selling constantly and their sale, doubtless, will increase from Now, midst the evening shadows fall year to year. As an investment, commercially speaking, the property pays a As crags and cliffs their huge, weird saving bank's interest, with very little

The purchase might be made by some liberal, wealthy, individual Spiritualist, and then, perhaps, ultimately be willed Ne'er can he that attain! as a grand contribution to the legally organized society. If such a would-be benefactor of humanity exists on earth, let him or her come forth with the needed funds, and receive the benediction of "Well done" from both men and DEAN CLARKE.

"The Spiritual Significance, or, Death as an Event in Life." By Lilian Whiting. One of Miss Whiting's most suggestive, intensely interesting, spiritual books. It is laden with rich, thoughtful spirituality. For sale at this office. Price $1.

"Jim; or the Touch of an Augel Mother." By Carrie E. S. Twing. Touching, full of sweet human sympa thy, and pure spirituality. Cloth, $1 For sale at this office.

"An Infamous Dynamite Roman Cathblic Conspiracy Detected and Exposed." "Romanism Exposed." Two pamphlets by Rev. J. G. White, author of Startling Facts. Price 10 cents each, or two for By Dr. Paul Carus. An excellent study 15 cents.

"Healing, Causes and Effects." By Price 50 cents. W. P. Phelon, M. D. Price 50 cents. Partie new song book, "The Golden "Jim; or the Touch of an Angel Mehoes," by S. W. Tucker, has found its Mother." By Carrie E. S. Twing. way into many homes, and its beautiful Touching, full of sweet human sympasongs have cheered many sorrowing thy, and pure spirituality. Cloth, $1. hearts, which they are sure to do when For sale at this office.

PASSED TO SPIRIT LIFE.

Obligaries to the extent of ten lines only will be inserted free. All in excess of ten lines will be charged at the rate of fifteen cents per line. About seven words constitute one line l

Kate Kelly, of Jackson, Mich., passed to the higher life, May 8. Julia M. Wal-ton conducted the funeral service, on the 11th inst., at the home of Mrs. Wilbur, corner West and Wildwood ave-

Hellen Davidson Burlingame, wife of Oscar Burlingame, of Shaftsburg, Mich., passed to the higher life, from her mother-in-law's home in Laingsburg. She was born in Saginaw county, in 1860. Only a husband, sister and brother survive her. Julia M. Walton, of Jackson, administered the sweet con-solation of the spiritual philotophy.

Ralph Kinney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Knnney, of Porter township, Van Buren county, Mich., passed to the higher life, Sunday morning, May 10, at the tender age of one month and twelve days. Funeral services at the home, May 11, conducted by the writer. The goodly number present and the profusion of floral offerings proclaims the highest respect and sympathy of the highest respect.
friends and neighbors.
H. L. CHAPMAN.

Mrs. E. W. Parkhouse, mother of Mrs, J. E. Staner, passed to spirit life, May 5, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Blades, at Jamestown, N. Dak. Mrs. Staner was called to her mother's bedside some seven weeks ago, where she and her sisters lovingly ministered unto her until the last hour came, which was beautiful and peaceful. Mrs. Parkhouse having for many years been a devout Methodist, the services were conducted according to the rules and by the pastor of which she was a member. followed by songs and speaking by her daughter, Mrs. Staner, which were widely commented upon by the people generally, as it was an unusual occurrence at a funeral at this place. After her remarks were closed the minister

SPIRITUALIST MEETINGS.

It is important when a meeting is suspended, that notice be given us, so that inquirers may not be mislead. We want new notices of all meetings being beld here in public halls at the present

The Metropolitan Spiritualist Society holds services every Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in Haymarket Theatre Building. 161 W. Madison street. Lecture, spirit communications, and questions answered. Mrs. Maggie Waite, pastor. Church of the Spirit Communion, Kenwood Hall, 4308 Cottage Grove avenue. Conference and messages at 3 p. m. Lecture by Dr. J. O. M. Hewitt at 8 p. m. Messages by H. F. Coates and others. Plenty of good music.

The Progressive Society holds services at 183 E. North avenue, corner Burling street, every Sunday at 3 and 8 p. m. Lectures delivered in English and German by Mrs. Hilbert, assisted by Mrs. Schwann and other good speakers. Tests and good music at all services.

The Spiritual Research meets every Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in Van Buren Opera House, corner of Madison street and California avenue. Good music and singing. All are invited to attend.

Spiritual Union Church meets every Sunday at John Schott's Lodge Hall, corner Belmont and Racine avenue Speaker, Hon. R. Gilray; Charles J. Peterson, Prof. Edwards and Mr. G. A. Cowen, test mediums. Services, 8 p. m.

The Church of the Soul, Mrs. Cora L. V. Richmond, pastor, has resumed its regular Sunday services for the season. The meetings will be held until further notice at Hall 309 Masonic Temple, corner Randolph and State streets. Sunday-school at 10 a.m., Mrs. S. J. Ashton, superintendent. Discourse by Mrs.

Richmond at 11 a. m. The Spiritualistic Church of the Students of Nature hold services at Nathan's Hall, 1565 Milwaukee avenue, corner Western avenue, Sunday evenings, 7:30 p. m. Mrs. W. F. Schumacher, pastor.

Church of the Spiritual Forces holds service at Thurman Club Room, corner of 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue, every Sunday. Conference at 3 p. m. Lecture at 8 p. m. Conducted by Isa Cleveland.

Chicago Spiritual Alliance Church meets every Sunday at 3 o'clock sharp, and 8 o'clock sharp at Lakeside Hall, corner Thirty-first street and Indiana avenue, where truth-seekers and investigators, as well as Spiritualists can enjoy a pleasant afternoon or evening. First-class speakers. Tests and messages by carefully selected mediums. Excellent music by (Blind) LeRoy Drake. Mrs. May Elmo, medium.

The Brotherhood of Spiritual Truth Society meets Sunday at 8 p. m. Services conducted by J. K. Hilles and wife and other measums, who will from time to time address the meeting and give tests and spirit messages. Meetings will be held in Temperance Hall, 330 West Sixty-third street. All are invited to attend and co-operate.

The First Hyde Park Occult Society holds regular meetings every Sunday at Alliance Hall, 323 E. 55th street, between Monroe and Kimbark avenues. The best talent available will be secured to give interest at every meeting. To spread the truth is the object of this society. Eva L. Stewart, secretary, 543 E 55th street. where all communications should be addressed: Third Church of Progressive Truth meets Sunday evenings at 8 o'clock. Lecture and tests by Rev. Mrs. Sheffer, at hall, 830 W. Wadison street. The Second Church of the Soul holds services every Sunday at 3 and 8 o'clock in Hygeia Hall, Ogden avenue and Robey street. Lecture, spirit communications, and questions answered by Prof. Schaeffer. The Englewood Spiritual Union meets at Hopkins' Hall, 528 W. 63d street. Conference meeting at 2:30. Lecture by Oscar A. Edgerly, of Boston, Mass. followed by messages by Mrs. J. A. Murtha, of Baltimore, Md. Every Thursday at 2:30 the Ladies' Auxiliary holds services at which good mediums serve with tests and lectures.

Every Tuesday, at 8 p. m., meetings at Hopkins' Hall, 528 West Sixty-third street. Mrs. Cochonour and Mrs. Geh

The Spiritual Union Church will hold services every Sunday afternoon at 3 and evening at 8 o'clock, at 77 Thirtyfirst street. Mrs. M. A. Burland, pastor.

"The Vell of Isls," as seen at Atlantis: in the Great Temple of Karnac, at Luxor, in Egypt, and in the Jewish Temple at Jerusalem, is Doctor Phelon's latest booklet. Its pages are full of ancient lore, in paper covers. For sale at this office. Sent on receipt of ten cents, silver or stamps,

DOUBLE YOUR CAPITAL.

It is the Wise investor Who Places His Money Where It Will Increase That Amasses the Fortune.

SAFE INVESTMENT OFFERED SPIRITUALISTS

Are you looking for a good and SAFE investment that will pay you handsome dividends from the start, and will, at the very least, double your capital in a year or two?

If so, it will be well for you to investigate the investment opportunity offered by Dr. Peebles Institute of Health. Some months ago Dr. Peebles and his associates incorporated their medical business at Battle Creek, in order to secure certain legal protection granted incorporated companies. Believing that the earnest co-operation of the Spiritualists interested write at once for particulars.

the small investoris just as welcome as the large. The man investing $50 or $700 will use his influence for the company just as will the one investing many thousands, and it is the good wishes and support that is and continually increase in value is worth many times the same amount if allowed to lie idje, or put away in a bank where it will draw only 3 or per cent at best.

Money invested in Dr. Peebles Company to-day under his present offer will draw handsome dividends from the first, and, in addition thereto the stock will increase in value so that at the end of two years at most it will be worth two or three times what you paid for it.

vear. Address

DR. J. M. PEEBLES, Chairman. Box 242l, Battle Creek, Mich.

BOOK REVIEW.

25 cents. Sold by the author.

The Great Psychological Crime. The Destructive Principle of Nature in Individual Life. Editor, Florence Huntley, author of

This book presents a direct challenge to the attention of every thoughtful philosophic Spiritualist, and especially "medium" of whatever class or grade. Its showing of the nature of mediumship and its results to the individuality of the "sensitive," cannot fail to awaken serious thought and sober in-not all will accept the author's conclusions in their entirety. While many readers may not and will not coincide with the author's views, they will, from the nature of the subject, find the volume of absorbing interest." It will incite thought and study and by direct on reflex action ias the case may be, it will result in benefit to the cause of Spiritualism. A more extended and critical notice of the book may be expected in due time, in our columns.

"Origin of Life, or Where Man Comes from Matter Through Organic Processes, or How the Spirit Body Grows." By Michael Faraday. Prince 10 cents

"The Kingship of Self-Control." Wm. George Jordan. It treats of the crimes of the tongue, the Red Tape duty, the supreme charity of the world, the revelation of reserve power, etc.

Price 30 cents. For sale at this office. "The Present Age and Inner Life; Ancient and Modern Mysteries Classified and explained." By Andrew Jackson Davis. We have a few copies of work by the celebrated seer.

Cloth. $1.10. "The Romance of Jude. A Story of the Life and Times of the Nazarene and Lyceum. In the hands of mothers and teachers it may be made very useful. Young and old will be benefited by it. Cloth $1. For sale at this office.

"Religious and Theological Works of

Thomas Paine," contains his celebrated Old Tortament Stories & A Unique "Age of Reason," and a number of let-Thomas Paine," contains his celebrated ters and discourses on religious and theological subjects. Cloth binding, 430 Comically Illustrated, PICTURE ters and discourses on religious and little work. Price 30cents. For sale at this office.

"Mark Chester; once Mill and a Million. A Tale of Southern California." By Carlyle Petersilem. A pure psychic high-toned spiritual tharacter and of helpiul purpose.o: Proce 35 cents each. "Why I Am a Vegetarian." By J.

Howard Moore. sAn address before the Chicago Vegetarian Society. Price, 25 "Astral Worship." By J. H. Hill, M. D. For sale at this office. Price $1. "Death Defeated; or the Psychic Se-from the French. With numerous illustrations. These lighter works of the brilliant Frenchman, an invincible enemy of the Catholic church, are worthy of wide reading. Wit, philosophy and romance are combined, with the skill of a master mind. Price $1.50. For sale hair, age, name and the leading cymptom, and your disease will be diagnosed free by spirit power. Mrs. Dr. Dobson-Barker,

"Meatless Dishes." Very useful.

Mrs. Dr. Dobson-Barker.

Box 132, San Jose, Cal

TESTIMONIALS OF CURE.

My Dear Mrs. Dobson-Barker:—I want to say, I have been alling for thirty years and you are the only one that has done me any good.
MARY JANE PEARCE.

Perris, Riverside Co., Cal., Feb. 21,

Mrs. Dobson-Barker-Kind Friend:-As I tried your treatment four years ago, and it helped me so much, I will write to you again to see if you are still practicing, and if you are I want to send to you for another month's treatment, for I can safely say that you did more for me than all the doctors on earth, and I hope you are well and still practicing. May the good angels bless you, is my prayer. Respectfully, MINA M. YANG.

Pee Dee, Ky., Oct. 20, 1902.

Stanton, Mich., Jan. 19, 1902. Mrs. Dr. Dobson-Barker-Dear Sister; -- I take my pen in hand to let you know how I am. I thank you and your band for I know I would be in my grave now, but you and your band have saved me. I suffered everything. I am hap-by to say I am a well woman. I was sick a long time; I do my own work; how I would like to see the woman that cured me. I let every one know who cured me. I was sick twenty-five years. I still remain your friend, AMANDA R. GREEN.

DR. J. S. LOUCKS

the oldest and most successful Spiritual Physician now in practice. His cures are THE MOST MARVELOUS of this age. His examinations are correctly made, and free to all who send him name, age, sex and loc of hair, and six cents in stamps. He doesn't ask for any leading symptom. A clairvoyant doesn't need any. He positively cures weak men. Adduesn J. S. LOUCKS, M. D., Stoneham, Mass

MRS. DEWOLF-KISER WILL GIVE READINGS at 251 So. Hermitage ave., for a short time. Cir-cles Sunday and Thursday at 2:30.

DR. G. LESTER LANE. D. M., The Eminent Physician and Psychic Healer for he cure of MENTAL and PHYSICAL All-ments. OBSENSION A SPECIALTY. Ad-lress 572 Huntington ave., Boston, Mass.

Readings by Mail, Stamp. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Mrs. Maggie Newman, Spring Hill, Kan.

MRS. MAGGIE WAITE

A Tried and True Medium. Clairvoyant, Tquittonal and Prophetic. Has consented to give readings by mail for a limited time, to carnest inquirers who are seeking for evidences of a future life. Full readings and three questions answered, by mail, £l. Where date of birth is sent, will give an Astro-Psychic Delineation also. Send own handwriting. Address, MRS. E. DE FOREST.

DRY HOT AIR,

Osteopathy and Electricity Are the latest and best scientific treatments discovered for the relief of chronic Rheumatism. Nervousness, Insomnia and other Hopeless Cases. My private Sanitorium is not only fully equipped with the above modes of treating, but Paychic Help and Instruction guarantee successful treatment in every case. Terms moderate. References mailed on application. Big. C. HAGEN, Osteopathic Physician, 174 N. Pearl St., Huffalo, N. Y.

The Angels' Diary and Celestion Study of Man

Should be in every home. Its teachings, if assimilated, will give happiness and destroy all inharmonious elements of the mind. It teaches how to create our conditions not only physically, but also mentally and Spiritually, and wipe poverty and crime out of existence. Each subscriber try and secure another. For sale, wholesale and retail; price, $1.0. Usual commission to deuler.

MRS. J. A. S. S. LENDER, 2201 Lincoln ave. Denver Col. 2201 Lincoln ave. Denver Co

SPIRIT PHOTOGRAPHS ARTISTS.

Send two dollars, your photograph or lock of hair, and receive three finished pictures from some loved ones that are wating to reach you from the summerland.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Normann.—The three photographs were handed me to-day, and I recognize every face upon them, and I can truthfully say these pictures are genuine, and will recommend you to the world; for such evidence is what proves life eternal, Mrs. Dr. Gregor McGregor.

2834 Chicago ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

Address with stamp enclosed and receive proof MR. & MRS. A. NORMANN,

2721, Elliott av. So., Minneapolis, Minn.

Annie Lord Chamberlain's Card.

Dear friends, you can greatly help me care for my blind sister. Jennie L. Webb, one of the earliest mediams now in the form, by writing a letter to a spirit friend. Sond it to me with $1, and I will try and get reply by independent writing or whispers. Address lets. Annie l.ord Chamberlain, Milford, Mass.

COLLEGEOF FINE FORCES

An Institute of Medined Therapeutles.
Teaches new and wonderful methods of cure.
"Fast becoming of world-wide fame.—Hudson Tuttle Light, Color, Electricity, Magnetism, Mind, Baths,
Has both College and Academic Courses.
He beautiful Diploma conters title. "D. M." Doctr of Magnetics; can be gained at College or at one s bome. Books and instruments furnished. Bend stemp for catalogue to E. D. BABBITT, M. D., LL.D., al. North 2nd st., San Jose. California.

"NO BEGINNING."

An Excellent Work for Thinkers.

This book, "No Beginning," is by William H. Maple. The Arena says of it: "The argument is unanswerable. The book will at once appeal to the reason of every reader, and leave him more amazed than ever at the prevalence of the theory of Creation. Two has always been a fateful num-Free Thought Ideal says: "We found it full of glittering thoughts for thinkers, and the very death warrant of Christian superstition shines upon its pages." Price 75 cents.

NEW GATEGHISM BY M. M. MANGASARIAN.

This is a new "Catechism" in the full sense of the word. There has as yet appeared in the world of lib eral literature nothing like this most wonderful little book or reason. E. P. Powell, the well-known author, the reviewer and critic, says: "The remarkable thing about this 'Catechiam' is that it tells the truth." It deals with the questions of God Immertality—the Greeds, the Ciergy, the Church, Prayer and Salvation, Jeaus and his Teaching, the Growth of the Christian Scriptures, and many other philosophical, scientific and athical questions with the utmost cander, courage and clearness. 189 pages. Cloth 760; paper, 500

MAHOMET His Birth, Character and Doctrine. By Edward Gibbon. This is No. 6 of the Library of Liberal Classics. It is conceded to be historically correct, and so exact and perfect in every detail as to be practically beyond the reach of adverse criticism. This work will be found intensely tateresting. Price, 25 cents.

6. WALTER LYNN

Healer and

Gifted Psychic, HEALTH RESTORED

By Common Sense Methods For the Cure of Mental

For Free Diagnosis of Disease?

READINGS AND BUSINESS AD VICE $1.00 and two stamps.

Address 855 Grove St., Oakland, Cal.

JORY'S TONIC TABLETS

For Constipation, Headache, Etc. Are not a Purgative, but induce a Natural Healthy Action of the Bowels. 36 tablets, 25c. Postago prepaid. Prepared only by

H. M. JORY, Manufacturing Chemist. 6 Eddy Street, San Francisco, Cal.

Longley's Beautiful Songs For Public Meetings and

Contains the following soings with music:
I'm thinking, dear mother, of you. We miss ong boys at home. The land of the bye and bye. The good times yet to be. The land beyond the stars. They are waiting at the portal, When the dear once gather at home. Resting under the daisies. The grand jubilee. My mother's tender eyes. Dear heart come bome. Come in some beautiful dream. Where the reases never fade. In heaven we'll know our own.

Longley's musical publications. Volumes 3 and 4 are in one book, price 25 cts., 3 cts. each by mair

Very Interesting Book tor Alf. Philosophy of This work conspiritual Intercourse, account of the very wonderful spiritual developments at the house of Rev. Dr. Phelps, Stratford, Conn., and similar cases in all parts of the country. This volume is the first from the author directly upon the subject of Spiritualism, and has stood the test of many years. Cloth, $1,20; postage 100.

THE TO-MORROW OF DEATH. Or the Future Life According to Science. By Louis Figuier. Translated from the French by S. R. Crockee. A very fascinating work. This fine volume might well have been entitled Spiritualism Demonstrated by Science. It is written in that neculiar interesting style in which ten in that peculiar interesting style in which French writers excel when they would popularize scientific subjects in adaptation to the needs of the general reader. The author says: "There is a true and respectable idea in Spiritualism," and regards as proved "the fact of communication between superhumans and the

DEATH and the AFTER LIFE By A. J. Davis. An instructive and interesting work for all to read. Price 60 cents.

INTERVIEWS WITH SPIRITS

The Law of Correspondence Applied to Healing. A course of seven practical lessons. By W. J. Colville. Limp closh, 50c.

A Conspiracy Against the Republic By Charles B. Waite, A. M., author of "History of the Christian Religion to the Year 200," etc. Price, paper, 25 cents.

ALL ABOUT DEVILS.

ANCIENT INDIA. its Language and Religions. By Prof. H. Olden-berg. Paper, 25 cents.

Apolionius of Tuana Christian Jesus. A wonderful communication, explaining how his life and teachings were utilized to formulate Christianity. Price 15 cents.

A Practical Manual. 📝

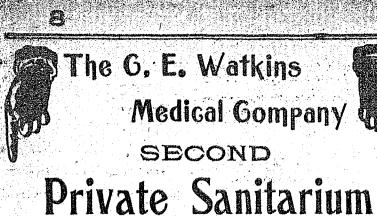

Just Published By Fred T. Hodgson M. O., A. A.

The well-known Technical writer. It is one of the best works ever turned out by him. Copi-busly illustrated with diagrams and figures. naking the most intricate problems simple, def-

This work devotes special attention to Auricular Confession and its relations to sacerdotal celibacy, convents, monasteries, morality and civil and religious liberty. It is intended to be an embodiment of facts and documentary evidence of the pernicious influence of the confessional; a trenchant showing up of Romanism, based upon standard Catholic authorities; an eye-opener con-

THE AGE OF REASON.

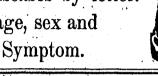

pleto edition, from now plates and new types. 186 pages, post 8vo. Paper, 259; cloth, 500

Terms for treatment will be made known on

Send for our Booklet telling all about our beautiful San-

The Doctor Will diagnose diseases by letter. Send him age, sex and Wonewoc Camp-meeting.

Those who attended and enjoyed the camp-meeting of the Western Wiscon sin Camp Association, held in Wonewoc, Wis., last year, will be pleased to learn that this association has decided to again hold their annual camp-meeting Since my first communication to the August 13 to 31, 1903. All who are inpublic relating to this important matter, many "Suggestions" (asked for in meeting is to be held in August this friends of the Great Seer.

In reply to questions, Mr. Davis says that he would prefer a Publication Ascamp meeting.

Will receive the same cordial treatment that was accorded them during the last camp meeting.

The railroad facilities

ork.
Mr. Davis thinks such a publication during the entire session, there has been provided a fine restaurant, where the rostrum is first-class. Among those out fear of loss, or forced discontinu-ance from insufficient capital.

erine McFarlin, Mrs. Edna Ford-Pierce and Will J. Erwood. This is an array of talent that is second to none, and visand loyal Spiritualists on both sides of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan will the Atlantic.

The Pleased to note that they will be in attendance at the camp, as will also

NATHAN FISK. President.

by Mrs. A. C. Littlefield, of Boston, and A youth resplendent in the dawning by many other friends, therefore I deem | A youth resplendent in the dawning

"For a long period I have invested all Just as the somber, dreamy veil of these books has yielded yearly about Within whose dewy, flowing, grassy tide The rippling waters of a river glide, > side! A shining jewel from some lofty crest breast: Upward he struggles, without thought of rest: He nears his cherished prize.

long day requirements. Now are there not in That lambent lewel led his feet astray; No threatening danger could his zeal al

> It gleamed upon a peak not far away. ing fast

And mist enshrouded he from vision passed. This youth: Humanity in ceaseless strife.

To reach that longed-for goal can never E'en though we toil throughout eternity.

Rare, glittering jewels to ambition speak: And when we gain some prize, Yet, as we raise it to our eyes, A fairer brilliant casts its tempting of Buddhism; compact yet comprehensive. Paper, 50 cents. Cloth, $1.25. For sale at this office.

"A Plea for the New Woman," By in every home in the land. For sale at May Collins. An address delivered bethis office. Price, 15 cents; $1.50 per fore the Ohio Liberal Society. For sale at this office. Price 10 cents, arose and said it was the most beautiful tribute he had ever heard paid to a mother by a daughter at such a time.

erything will be done to make your visit woc, Wis.

THE UNATTAINABLE.

With fond ambition filled his youthful

Which higher seems to rise, And starts him on in never-ending quest. Alas, poor youth! Throughout that long.

How out he thought it won! Yet in the setting sun, outlines cast, He hopes to gain his cherished prize at In vain, 'tis all in vain!

The gem: The unattainable in life; For though, with every year Perfection's shore draws near,

Far, far, away from time's majestic

Adown the endless path of future days. R. E. K. Horton, Kans.

of the country in this great work would add still further to the wonderful growth and success of the company, the doctor and his co-workers have decided to place a portion of the treasury stock in the hands of the Spiritualists throughout the country. A large amount of the original block of stock offered has been taken, but there are a few hundred shares to be sold at the original offer before the price advances, so if you are You do not need to be wealthy to share in the doctor's company;

desired more than the money. A small amount properly invested where it will draw good dividends

If you have any amount above $10 you can spare for investment, write for full particulars at once. Seven per cent dividends are guaranteed from the first, and much larger ones can be expected after the first

A Thousand Years Hence, or Start ling Events in the Xear A. D. 3,000. A Trip to Mars—Incidents by the Way By Ira S. Bunker, Portland, Ore. Price

Harmonics of Evolution, Vol. 1, and The Dream Child. Harmonic Series, Vol. 2.

quiry. Not all will accept the author's definitions of mediumship—and hence

For sale at this office.

His People." Through the mediumship of Mrs. M. T. Longley. An intensely interesting book. Neatly bound in cloth and gilt. Only 50 cents. "Right Living." By Susan H. Wixon. The author shows a wise practicality in her method of teaching the principle of ethics. She illustrates her subject with many brief narratives and anecdotes. which render the book more interesting and more easily comprehended. It is especially adapted for use in Children's pages. Price $1. For sale at this office.

The Commandments Analyzed, price 25 cents. Big Bible Stories, cloth, 50 cents. For sale at this office.

"Never-Ending Life Assured by Science." By Daniel Kent Tenney. A strong and conclusive argument from the basis of science. For sale at this office. Price 6 cents.

"The Majesty of Calmness, or Individual Problems and Possibilities." By Wm. George Jordan. It Another valuable little work. Price 30hcents. For sale at little work. Price 30hcents. For sale at little work. Price 30hcents. For sale at little work.

story, elevating and reformatory. Paper covers, 40 cents. Cloth, 60 cents. For sale at this officec "The Life Blooklets." By Ralph Waldo Trine. Threeddaintily beautiful little books, finely diapted for holiday presents. The little stare, "Character, Building by Thoughts Power," "Every Living Creature" and "The Greatest Thing Ever Known." of The matter is of cret of How to Keep Young." By J. M. Peebles, M. D., M. A., Ph. D. Price $1. "Voltaire's Romances." Translated

at this office,

HOROSCOPES Scientifically accurate and reliable. Captain G.W. Walrond, 1510 Glenarm St., Denver, Col., Est 1530.

HOROSCOPES Written in the German or English language. For terms address, Burcau of Occult Science, Milwau-kee Wis.

NICHOLAS BECKER, Readings by mail, impressional and Clairvoy-mt. Description and names of spirit friends with nessages; advice. Instructions for psychic un-oldment. Send own handwriting and $1.00, Dix-m. 111.

Trance Reading.

Being developed as a genuine trance medium through the psychic power of Prof. Dutton, of Lincoln, Nob., I am enabled, through this wonderful rance to give you such accurate test and reading as to completely convince anyone and make Spirualists of them. I will give you a complete life reading for only $1.00. I will refund money to the ilssatisfied, and where I fail to describe accurately your spirit friends and loved ones. Address P. E. WALKER, L bx 501, Findlay, O.

DON'T READ THIS. Frances L. Loucke, the only psychic wonder living, hat uses the spiritual. X-ray without any leading ymptom to direct, and locates all internal diseases. trial will convince you. Nervous exhaustion and ost vigor of both sexes successfully treated, as hungeds can testify. Send name, agg, sex, complexion and 10 cents in stamps, and receive a correct diagnosis of your case free, worth dollars to you. Address, with your order and get two extra pictures. Send for circular to F. N. FOSTER, 3017 Wabash ave., Chicago. SPECIAL NOTICE.

FRANCES L. LOUCKS, FRANK N. FOSTER, For Fifteen Years a Medium for Spirit Photography,

ves sittings by mail. Cut this adout and send by return mail, and I will Forward Free of Charge, Valuable Information,

Send your name and address on Postal Card

of Interest to All.

MOLLIE FANCHER. The Brooklyn Enigma.

Harses Watch Charm.

Suproces:—Badgo Pin, $1.50; Lapel Button, $1.50; Sunflower Brooch, $4.00; Maltose Charm, $0.00; Maltose Pondant, $5.00. This jewelry neede no other recommend than to say it is the SUNFLOWER HADGE, the adopted emblem of Spiritualism. As the Sunflower turns its face towards the sun, so Spiritualism turns the faces of humanity from Charles and superstition towards the Sunlight of Truth and Progression. These beguitful embends are for sails at this office. THE DIAKKA. The Diakka and Their Earthly Victims. By the interesting and suggestive work. It is an explanation of much that is false and repulsive in Spiritualism, embodying a most important recent interview with James Victor Wilson, a resident of Summer Land. Price, 50 cents.

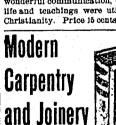

The Science of Spirit Return. By Charles Dawbarn. A scientific rehearsel that is truly interesting. Price, 19 conta

the Home. VOLUME ONE

VOLUME TWO
Contains 15 new and beautiful songs, suited to the home circle, scances, local meetings, mass-meetings, conventions, anniversaries and jubilees. They comprise an excellent variety of poems set to easy harmony and ought to sell readily. These books are 16cts, each; the two for Socia. For sale at this office.

VOLUMES 3 AND 4.

It is enough to say this 50 page pamphlet is written by Moses Hull. Price 15 cents.

Deeds of Darkness Disclosed

manism. Cloth, 75 cents.

By Thomas Paine. Being an investigation of True and Fabulous Theology. A new and com-and Physical Allmonts OBSESSION CURED.

send five two-cent stamps, age, names sex and own handwriting.

Write for Circular

A free Nerve Yonk and Blood Swilder.

An ideal restorative tonic for the cure of General Debility and the various forms of nervous and physical depression, Melancholia, Nervous Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Weak Kidneys, Chronic Backache, poor circulation, poor appetite, poor sleep, poor blood, etc., and for improving the tone of the general nervous system, the digestive functions and the blood. 50 doses, 75c; 100 doses $1.25; Postage prepaid.

Write for Circular.

This is a book of 57 pages, filled with spiritual harmony from first to last. Spiritual societies need not be calling for something new to sing to the people if they will supply themselves with copies of this book, or in fact any of the ubove choice collections of Mr.

A real visit with friends on the other side of life, and a familiar talk. By Spirit Samuel Bowles; Carrie E. S. Twing, Medium. Price 30c.

STARTLING FACTS,

gerning the methods and spirit, the moral turpitude and evil works of Homenium Cloth, 75 conts.

Echoes From the World of Song. A collection of 50 charming songs with chorus and music, sheet music size. Price $1.00; postage 15 cts.

One number of The Progressive Thinker is often worth one dollar ... It is sent one

Educator of the Present Age... Induce your neighbor to subscribe for it. SPIRITUALISM—Progress, the Universal Law of Nature: Thought, the Solvent of Her Problems.—SPIRITUALISM

CHICAGO, ILL., MAY 30. 1903.

VOL. 28.

STATE ASSOCIATIONS.

Their Importance and Advantage to the Progress of Spiritualism.

I feel like writing several chapters upon the importance of state associations to the cause of Spiritualism.

We have a strong, we might say, a solid, National Association, despite the fact that it had to be organized from the top instead of the bottom; despite the many predictions that it would be short-lived; despite the many jealousies that were engendered at its inception; despite the flings and taunts of creedalizing, ownership, etc., of those who had little or no faith in the manner of its

The proper time had come to organize, and no matter which end the people began at, they had to organize and or-ganize they did, and doubtless every en-thusiastic Spiritualist in the country will agree that it is a good thing, a proper thing, a vastly important thing for

I may not be able to subscribe to every plank and "shingle" in the dec-laration of principles, but what of that? The foundation principles are also contained therein and I endorse them and leave the others for those who endorse

The child was born many years be-fore the convention occurred at which this public christening took place, and endeared itself to us while it was in its verdant purity, and we love it still and shall continue to love it to all eternity, for it contains an eternal truth, and that is always lovable, whether it had a declaration of principles or a ten commandments, if they were in harmony with justice, kindness and the highest wisdom of this age of reason. (I the word "we" because I feel that the sentiments are endorsed by the large majority of the Spiritualists of the True, all parties have been given a hearing and have taken pains to plainly express their views pro and con. Some have battered away at the walls while others have builded, have labored with a will born of a faith in the ultimate outcome of their ceaseless and untiring effort in behalf of the whole cause. They have won a great victory, but the war has just begun. Many states have organized and become spokes in the great wheel and where there is no state organization there are local auxiliaries, and these help support the National Association. But every state in the Union should be organized and thoroughly financiered. Every small city and town where are to be found seven or more Spiritualists. should have organized and chartered auxiliaries to the state association.

When every town and city can have a society or a number of societies represented in the state association of each state and every state have a representaion in the National Association we may | not. This knowledge is strengthened if begin to feel that another, and perhaps any support were necessary, by the fact that many of my contemporaries have great contest has been gained and the cause given an impetus that all the genuineness of which there is no possiworld must acknowledge and that will make even the prejudiced bigot offer us sacred history mentions the materialithe hand of fellowship into the ranks of zation of Moses and Elias and other the greatest institutions of the age.

moved and fought unorganized, and gest the possibility and probability of swept away many of the hidebound tenets of the so-called Christian religions, but by thorough organization it is possible that every false doctrine can be supplanted by a truth.

We cannot force people to believe in the principles of Spiritualism by organizing, but by being united into one great body we will be better prepared to sift the wheat from the chaff and present but the pure to the world; we will be better able to defend our causagainst all attacks; we will be more competent to guide the honest investi gator into the right channel for the truth; and above all, we may formulate some means, invent some telescopic lens or create an instrument by which we can judge for ourselves where to find the genuine in all phases of mani festations.

These matters are paramount to all else at the present stage of our exist ence as an organized body and in order to be thorough in the work we must be more thoroughly united.

If we become substantially organized we can become equipped with better facilities for presenting the proofs de sired and anxiously sought by the world of a life beyond this and in harmony with this, and as we attract men and rise above the old-time prejudices and fear of ridicule, become so popular that men will fear to ridicule; or make cur truths so plain that people will hold our cause too sacred to be jeered and maligned, we will attract our proportion of the world's financial prosperity to build our mediums homes, not only for the poor, broken-down mediums, but homes that will render our good mediums above want, supply each with a spiritual sanctuary according to the manifestations and their absolutely required conditions, where the medium can be protected from improper influences on this side as well as the spirit side of life.

Could we place our mediums beyond want and the haunting poorhouse door we might deprive them of the necessity for dishonesty and give to the world the truth without price.
Schools might follow in the wake as we prosper and a necessity arises for such institutions. But, first and fore most in importance with Spiritualism at present are unanimity of purpose, unity of strength, and forceful effort in organizing and perfecting state associations.

Local societies are a power for good locally, but when it comes to the statuoppression and persecution we must have something that can present a larger front, wider jurisdiction and a more potent size than the local society.

By all means organize state associa-

There is no need of neglecting other Important or even minor things in complying with the requirements of this reatest necessity. As we organize we build up and gain support for all that comes under the care and protection of the state associations and N. S. A.

It is somewhat to be deplored that so much begging is done for other institutions of lesser importance, to the shameful neglect, and almost total exclusion of that most needed and most worthy institution, the Mediums' Home, and the N. S. A. fund for that purpose speaks the shame in its diminu tive size.

We will soon have the accusation of "neglect of our poor, aged and infirm mediums" very properly hurled into our spiritual (?) faces by the rest of the world.

For Spiritualism's sake, how many times must this be repeated to us ere we, Spiritualists, professed brothers and sisters, members of the "Brother hood of Man," advocates of the highest principles of charity and benevolence, claimants of the sacred knowledge of intercommunion between the children of earth and their arisen loved ones, who teach us the importance of love and sacrifice, and duty to those in dis-tress, awake to the fact that this duty is second to none other that appears to be forced upon us at the present time. Spiritualists should study present necessities, while they are being solicited for aid for other institutions. They should see to it that the poor workers who have spent time, money and the greatest energy of manhood and wo-manhood in giving the world proofs to sustain their philosophy, are properly cared for, even if, until we prosper better, many of our public speakers and mediums are not quite perfect in gram-mar, history, rhetoric, orthography and "homiletics.

Every state organization should make a special effort in behalf of the N. S. A. mediums' fund.

DR. T. WILKINS.

Skepticism Not Always Intelligent.

Skepticism is not always a mark of intelligence. I have frequently heard my parents speak of a meteroic shower which they said they personally observed in November, 1833. I believed them because I considered them truthful. I believe they saw what they said they did. This belief is strengthened, if any support were necessary, by the fact that I have heard many of their contemporaries testify to having seen the same speciacle, and, also, by the fact that I have personally witnessed an occasional star or meteor shoot athwart he evening sky, suggesting therefore, the possibility of the same occurring in great numbers, forming the spectacle of what is termed a "shower."

But, personally, I have never seen a meteoric shower, and the probability is that I never will. Am I therefore to conclude that my parents and many of their contemporaries never saw one, but were mistaken, deluded, hypnotized. or in some way deceived by their own senses?

I have witnessed a genuine materialization. No manner of logic, argument or reasoning can convince me that I did likewise witnessed materializations the ble room to doubt; also, by the fact that spirits; and, also by the fact that other It is true, Spiritualism lived and well established occult phenomena sugtheir occasional occurrence.

But my orthodox Christian, materialistic, agnostic and skeptical friends have never witnessed a genuine materialization, and, possibly, I may never witness another. Are we therefore to conclude that I never witnessed one, but was mistaken, deluded, hypnotized, deceived by my own senses? H. V. SWERINGEN.

THE HEART'S DESIRE.

My spirit stood in the light Where the earth-freed souls embark; But the cry of my love had might To draw me back to the dark, To life, and the world's despite And the woe that waits on breath. While the white-winged angel, Death, To the realms of joy took flight.

And I sighed to stand with the day In the fret of the fevered earth, For my soul spread wing on its way Through the gates of a deathless birth.

and only my heart might stay When its love clung back and cried For all that my soul denied-Earth-love and the body-clay.

And however the soul aspire Or struggle to break its chain, Held thrall to the heart's fierce fire Its struggles must be in vain, Is kindled by Love's own hands

To sever the welded bands Of the curse of the Heart's Desire. BEATRICE ST. GEORGE.

AFTER.

ove, beating down the barrier of space A soul fied forth to stand before your

You sighing, whispered, "'Tis a dream," and turned From the dim form your spirit's eyes

And thus, unknown, unseen I linger now available I do not believe that any With tender words of love you do not hear.

Or hearing, in faint spirit language, Your soul's true knowledge but some haunting dream: Or if the south wind bears my message You do not know.

Love is the spirit; and love's miracle Is to escape the grave or heaven or hell strong, treasurer; J. B. Downing, D. S. And through the infinite spaces seek its Lord, Klein Shipman, trustees. Fre-Before the earth-dull eyes it stands unknown. If I who have passed death may seek

You can not know. -BEATRICE ST. GEORGE. ILLINOIS ITEMS. SPIRIT MESSAGES.

Illinois State Spiritualist Association.

Rockford Spiritualists, in fraternal emulation of those of Peoria, have organized an auxiliary to the Illinois State Association, choosing the name of Spiritual Science Society, and enrolling fifty-eight persons as charter members. Brother W. E. Hammond, of the State Association's Board, resides there, while Mr. and Mrs. Sprague have just stirred local believers to united effort. Rockford is one of the brightest gems on the municipal breast of the Sucker state, and a center of such social and educational influence as to call for a live Spiritualist society. This last and lusty organization will become that if every one of its members will not forget that continued activity gives increasing strength, while idleness breeds indifference and death. Keep doing something. Exercise, wisely taken, stimulates appetite and improves digestion.

Address Ella Johnson Bloom, secretary of the State Association, at 892 Turner venue, Chicago.

Dr. Wilkins recently coined a happy definition of a Simon-pure Spiritualist in these words to The Progressive Thinker: "He is one who cares to see Spiritualism settle down to the solid foundation of truth, be it ever so sim-When the gathering cyclone shall burst upon our cause because of the people's rage over trickery and robbery in the name of their sacred dead, that kind of Spiritualism will become Tricksters are not so free as formerly in hurling the taunt of Fraud Hunters at laymen—they were met and matched by the invited retort of Fraud Hiders. Epithets are a poor protection against alert wills and aroused consciences.

Give us Moses Hull, or Clara L. Stewrt, of Whitewater, Wis., for a moment! The Rockford (Ill.) Star of May 3, runs a double column advertisement of "Prof. Victor Coringa, celebrated Psychic Adept, Clairvoyant, Palmist, and member of the Morris Pratt Institute Association," etc. Is this prodigy your very own? Be fair-do not leave him an outcast and orphan in this gullible world! For only fifty cents he insures marvelous business prosperity. Why not keep him at home to raise an endowment fund for the institute?

A Spiritualist from another state says of Orrin Merritt, of Genoa: "He is a noble soul—sound on the business plane and true as steel to our cause. I like him much." Brother Merritt's official associates upon the Illinois State Board concur in every word of that tribute. He is never asleep where there is work to be done. Many inquiries reach the president of the Illinois S. S. A. for the addresses of honest mediums. These requests come from Chicago, as well as from far away An entire stranger chose one from a number submitted to him and reports: 'I have had an interview with Mrs. J A. Murtha and cannot recommend her too highly. She is wonderful and I had a most satisfactory reading." Yet a single medium is rarely able to give every sitter entire satisfaction. Investigators are so advised when answering Spirit Portraits? Is it a genuine phase or a gigantic fraud? I would like to be convinced it is not the latter. Complete acceptance of it seems to increase in proportion to one's distance from Chicago. Here comes Nora Batchelor, of Ashland, Oregon, in the last Progressive Thinker, with a twenty-line endorsement of the Bangs sister's work in this speciality. Our fair defender says in a grand finale: "If this be fraud, it is fraud that has never been exposed." Has she forgotten or never read conclusions upon the canvas work of these mediums, which certain Toronto Canada Spiritualists reached? Rev B. F. Austin stood sponsor for those in vestigators as to uprightness of character. I cheerfully admit that such vet eran brethren as Lyman C. Howe, Will C. Hodge, Alonzo Thompson, Theodore Mayer and the editor of The Progressive Thinker (who has been most ardent in endorsing the Bangs sisters), are honest men and believe in this phase But they do not claim for themselves entire monopoly of the virtue of sincerity, and they know it is the honest man who is always left in possession of the worthless gold brick. Not one of them is a specialist in modern methods of producing works of art.

Before we hang any more spirit pictures in the headquarters of the N. S. A., at Washington, or endorse them by allowing their appearance in a Spiritualist exhibit at the coming St. Louis exposition, why not look scrutinizingly into the production of such work? Give us a commission of inquiry-on one side any three of the gentlemen just named. on the other, three Spiritualists who do not accept the phase; then three men or women of acknowledged repute in the world of art. Give a hearing to any medium of that phase who may ask it, provided each one will give a series of not less than three or more than six pic-And deeming it a dream, you hade it go. other plan may be better but the work ought to be done. From the evidence ought to be done. tures. Methods can not be fully studsuch portraits are ever obtained with-out the aid of human manipulations, or mechanism. Perhaps such belief leaves me lonesome in my loneliness.

The First Spiritualist Investigating Society of Genoa has been organized as auxiliary to the Illinois State Association, by Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Sprague, with twenty members on its initial ros ter. Orrin Merritt is president; Wm. Wylde, vice-president; Mrs. Mary Franssen, secretary; P. A. Quana quent and successful meetings have long been held there and the community hold the local workers in great respect. Through organization they strengthen the cause at home and in other portions of the state.

GEO, B. WARNE.

ment, is to live under the government of bad men -Plato. There is a remarkable difference be

LYMAN C. HOWE.

As Presented by the President of the Given Through Ella E. Zimmerman, Thomas Paine Not an Atheist-Presi-Medium, Salem, Ohlo.

> The first spirit that comes to me is that of a young man, fair complexion, blue eyes and curly blonde hair. I udge by his looks as he stands before me, was about 22 years of age. He brings a feeling of sadness to me, the tears are streaming down his cheeks and he says: "Kind lady, tell my poor heart-broken mother her dayling boy, as she calls me, is not lost, but with sister Katie; I am waiting your coming. I did not commit the offense and there fore was falsely accused. I often come to you and gently kiss your dear old wrinkled brow. Father, Katle and I send you our spirit greetings." Frank Spen-cer, Marysville, N. Caroling

> The next spirit gives melthe name of Robert Peely, of Wheatland, Pa., and he says: "How strange, but oh, the comfort to be able to reach leved ones on the earth plane. I never realized that after the change called death, we should go out unto a higher condition. I got so disgusted when in the flesh with so many different conditions and opinions talked of by mortal man, that I came to the conclusion that death ended all. But just say to Mary J. my wife, I am content and happy."

The spirit of a lady comes now and says: "Tell Thomas and Bertha I come with love and cheer to them from my celestial home. No doubt you think I have forgotten you. Remember the lithave forgotten you. Remember the litted in the misunderstanding between you and others will come out all right. None of be said onlooker religious or otherus in the mortal are perfect, and often unthinkingly err. Go on and do all you can to smoothe the roughered way. You will attain that which you are seeking for. Yours in spirit, Hannah Straughn." This spirit wishes to reach loved ones at South Bend, Ind.

Now comes the spirit; of a gentleman who says: "My name is Jacob Hudlemyer, and Sister Elnora is with me, also Nancy, father and mother and Brother John are in the happy home, and we all send our love to the loved ones at North Georgetown, Ohio."

Now I see the spirit of a lady about thirty-five years old; who wishes to speak to loved ones at Detroit, Mich. she says: "How different this life is to the earth plane. I am happy and content, but would like for Robert to do otherwise; he will regret the step when t is too late." Jane Thornsherry.

Next is the spirit of a child. I judge he is about ten years old, and as he comes to me he says: "Tell dear papa and mamma not to grieve so much for me. My head does not ache now and

Coming in connection with the above spirit is also a little boy about five or ple, the President owes it to himself, six years old; he has blue eyes, fair and his friends to correct this error, complexion, oval features, high fore-head and beautiful long blonde hair many thousand admirers who halved to falling in ringlets to the shoulders. He is dressed in a white sailor suit, with white straw hat, rather wide-brimmed, and set on the back of the head. He smiles at me and says: "Lady, I am glad to come; it will cheer my mamma, for she is so lonely in the big house. am Harold Smith, Sandusky, Ohio."

Next is the spirit of a young and beautiful lady, and she looks at me rather sadly. As she speaks the lips quiver and she says: "I am Pearl Stanley, of Martin's Ferry, Ohio. Well my death was rather unexpected, but Fred had nothing to do with it. I am sorry folks jump so quickly at conclusions. But just say to Fred I still love him as dearly as when in the body, and am often near him when he is alone. He must not cry over my picture so much; It was better I passed away when I did. With love to father and mother, I am yours in spirit, Pearl Stanley."

The spirit of a man by name of Isaac Strawn comes now. He says "Oh, yes, I was a Quaker by birth and religion, and now I am a Spiritualist Isn't it funny how felks will clange? I have with me my wife Hannah. We are now happily reunited. I lived at Salem, Ohlo, during the war of '61. There are not many of my old associates left on the earth plane. I belonged to the Hicksite Quakers."

Mable Sterling wishes to reach her father and mother at Beverly, Kansas. "I am not dead, and often visit the home. Make conditions so I can come into the home and communicate independent. I have much to warn you of."

The spirit of a gentleman comes and tells me to say "I am Marion Seiffert who was frozen to death during a se vere storm as I was veturning from the Klondike to Skagway. I went to gain a fortune—but lost my life. My wife and three children live at Trenton, New Jer sey, also relatives at Iowa City, Migsouri.'

"Gracious! I feel as if I had just awakened from a long sleep, and Oh, what a surprise to come back to loved ones in this way. How often I have said death ended all, but just say Phil Wershing has changed that thought now. I come with love to Jacob, Martha and Samuel, who still linger in the body. I passed away at Berne, Switzerland, and was a cabinet-maker while in the flesh:"-Philip Wershing."

Greatness is like a laced coat from Monmouth street which fortune lends us for a day to wear; to morrow puts it on another's back.—Fleiding. The punishment suffered by the wise who refuse to take part in the Govern-tween master and mind; that he that doubts the existence of mind, by doubting proves it.—Colton.

dent Roosevelt's Mistake.

In answer to the inquiry by E. E. Chesney respecting the fling against Thomas Paine by Theodore Roosevelt, 1 am sorry to say that the proof is at hand. Before me is a book entitled "Gouverneur Morris, by Theodore Roosevelt. Boston and New York, Houghton, Mifflin & Company. The Riverside Press, Cambridge. 1900." On page 288 I read:

One man had a very narrow escape.
This was Thomas Paine, the Englishman, who had at one period rendered such a striking service to the cause of American independence, while the rest of his life had been as impuble as it was of his life had been as ignoble as it was varied. He had been elected to the convention, and having sided with the Gironde, was thrown into prison by the Jacobins. He at once asked Morris to demand him as an American citizen; a title to which he, of course, had no claim. Morris refused to interfere too actively, judging rightly that Paine would be saved by his own insignificance, and would serve his own interests best by keeping still. So the filthy little atheist had to stay in prison, where he amused himself by nublishing a pamphlet against Jesus Christ.

There are infidels, and infidels Paine belonged to the variety whereof America possesses at present one or two shining examples—that apparently esteem a bladder of dirty water as the proper weapon with which to assail

It is evident that at the time of the writing of this book, Theodore Roosevelt had never read the life of Thomas Paine, or the "Age of Reason." If he had, he would have known that he was writing falsely. Evidently the author took the current Christian gossip, and pulpit falsehoods, for history, and withoutout acquainting himself with facts or reading Paine's own words, he put himself on record as an unreliable writer of history. Who has ever seen "A pamphlet against Jesus Christ" by Thomas Paine? "I believe in one God and no more" are Paine's own words, which any man qualified to write about him would know.

To call Thomas Paine a "filthy little atheist" betrays an ignorance not complimentary to the author; and a moral weakness in allowing prejudice to rule his reason, and, without trying to learn the truth, publish a libel against one of America's greatest benefactors. But there it is, in a book said to be written by Theodore Roosevelt.

That he is now the President of the United States, does not exonerate him this is a beautiful home. I come with oning prejudice, in an attempt to love to you both." And he gives me the name of Freddle Stewart, Belview, Pa. whom he knew so little, and presumed so much.

In the estimation of many good peomany thousand admirers, who helped to make him President. As it stands, it is a blight on the fair name, and wellearned fame of the author of Gouverneur Morris. You may receive other confirmations of the Paine slander before this reaches you. This is another evidence of the uncertainty of all Listory. Few writers, however cultured and capable in many ways, are thoroughly exacting and accurate in making statements. Our cause has suffered much from this tendency. The loose way of jumping to conclusions, and stating as facts, what is but fancy, imagination, or careless observation or gossip, has made skeptics suspicious of our testimony. In this respect the Psychic Researchers have made some wholesome improvements. we have had a liberal per cent of critical minds, quite as competent and thorough as the Researchers; but these have been relegated to the rear by the noisy testimonials of uncertain witnesses. By this means the careful and critical Spiritualist is discounted when his testimony conflicts with the conclusions of the Psychic Research Society. Dr. Krebs' expose (?) of the modus operandi of the Bangs Sisters in getting writings is authority, I think, with that society and many others in sympathy with it, as against the testimony of hundreds quite as honest and capable as he. My own experience is not an exception, or there might be some justification in a suspicion of my sanity, or | Mrs. Howe is about, but feeble, and remy common sense, or ability to report

I suspect that the fact that I am an avowed Spiritualist, is taken as evidence that I am not qualified to investigate and report what occurs, especially when my statements are pitted against the Rev. Doctor Krebs. I do not dispute his report, for I was not there, and do not know what may have happened. But I do know that it is widely at variance with what I witnessed; and on mature study of his analysis, I confess it reads to me more like a fairy tale, than an effort to faithfully report facts, especially when no such facts were possible in the seances I had, and since the story of the door is discounted by examination of the door itself. I have always tried to be accurate in examining and reporting facts and I do not believe any of the Researchers are more thorough than I. But when a historian makes statements of the truth of which it is easy for him to know, there seems little excuse for so flat a falsehood as that accredited to Theodore Roosevelt against Thomas Paine. But here is the book and there is the Age of Reason; and the contradiction is direct and unmis takable. History is unreliable. If we cannot trust the statements of living men, about matters so easy to know, how can we accept with any degree of confidence the statements of unknown writers who lived many centuries ago? and especially when the things wrote are often so very improbable. I am home for a season, but open for engagements or to attend funerals,

THE SPIRITUAL BIRTH. T

Eternal.

"The seed is not quickened lest it die," of a truth these words are espe-cially adapted to our mortal bodies. Verily I say unto you, except ye be born again ye can in no wise enter into the kingdom." To be born again is to a person of my belief, the spiritual birth, or the death of the earthly body, as many know will understand better. While we live first. in our earthly bodies our spirits are more or less bound to material things; in our eagerness to build up an earthly habitation we neglect the ail-important to begin our eternal life with just the knowledge we have laid by in our spiritual mind. To some of us, the beginning must be as a child in the chart class, others may take up fifth grade work; others may perchance go higher.

son, visit the city of the so-called dead. and at last both roses were unfolded. When I stand by the mound of earth The one was perfect in beauty and color. I see the dear one far away with flowers not of earth in his hands, and I think how foolish are they that build only for earth and earth life.

to me as the tired body, when I see the spirit freed from it, and from earth.
"The seed is not quickened lest it in times of sorrow will listen on bend- or beautiful. Why? approach you; not all can do so; you, above this material being and see the yourself, often build a wall of iron beauties of the soul life. around your spiritual self and no one tte; and as is often the case I had to be severence will lead us into the light.

awakened to full consciousness of the For all life evolves from within a spiritual birth by standing at the bed- so brings us into relation with the Diside of a dear brother as he was born vine Harmonies. into the spiritual world. For a brief What is the re glorious life beyond, to be ours in God's know the meaning of "Oneness." own good time. We wonder why such | And the desire of the soul will be sat-

all of us both great and small. The closer we live to the spiritual that for good, casting out all evil and part of ourselves the greater will be our living this "Divine Law" as did our inheritance when it is our time to join Master when here on earth. the host that have crossed death's golden sea.

one of us is bidden to lay his work aside and come up higher.

I often feel glad in my heart, when I read of the earthly departure of some good old warrior that has battled for is like sunshine after a storm. When truth and righteousness for many the soul is filled with this "Divine" love years; glad they have gone to the land we will be true to ourselves. We will of the shadowless skies, there to begin no longer be carnal minded. We shall again the warfare against sin and dark- be beyond all that binds or fetters the ness, knowing that their long years of soul, study this "Divine Law" of being. toiling has fitted them to nobly press on It raises the weary soul and gives hope to the perfect spiritual attainment, and light to humanity. Glad indeed that in their toiling in the spiritual world they are able to help and not hinder the ones left behind. MADAME ROBERTS.

The Dalles, Oregon. •••

alizing the weak hold she has upon all things terrestrial. But she looks cheerfully towards the eternal dawn.

Last Monday I again realized the un certainty of all plans, and incidents that are liable to overtake us at any time. Trying to improve a neglected patch of ground, I somehow failed to see an ugly stub or thorn, and thrust it deeply into my right hand at the base of the thumb. In spite of thorough treatment the pain continued all day, and at night it was much swollen. It was a good promise for lockjaw. The whole hand and arm are affected and still haunt me with pain, and a bunch in the hollow of the hand, two or more inches from the wound. I fear it will trouble me a long time. Vernal bloom invites to poetic bowers and sheds a charm over all the rough ways of the world. LYMAN C. HOWE.

Fredonia, N. Y. QUESTIONS WITHOUT ANSWERS.

Uncle, when your watch goes, Wherever does it go? Your breath-where did it come from When you said, "My breath came Blow."

What makes the parlor clock run? Why don't it sometimes walk? wouldn't have to stop so much. Does money really talk?

And uncle, when your heart beats Whatever does it beat? And, say, now, honest Injun, Has poetry got feet? -Atlanta Constitution,

DIVINE LAW,

The Progressive Thinker is the great

From the Mortal Life to the Life A Lesson From the Unfolding Flowers,

NO. 705.

We are controlled by "Divine Law." The God of whom we are a part is the great force of the universe, and in this power no evil can exist. Without the possibility of successful contradiction, I say each individual has within herself or himself this unseen power. All great forces are made known to man by small illustrations This force may and does exist sometimes for years before it is demonstrated to us personally; it is the knowledge of this power which brings duty of every one, the building of our us peace, content and comfort, knowing spiritual character. While we can have this "Divine Law" of whom and what no certain assurance of length of days we are and our true position in the here, in the land across the border we universe, and that we are placed here are to live throughout eternity.

I often think how utterly valueless all "Divine Law" and patience we find our earthly belongings and earthly trappings are. We so soon lay them down, will be the result for those who since the time to be the result of those who since the time to be the result of the time cerely seek to know this law, that life is eternal and never dies, the unity of man with God, and that all are one.

I once watched the unfolding of two flowers. Both of them belonged to the rose family. The one was cultivated and much care taken of it; the other, I often, in company with a dear one grew unnoticed in the corner of the friend who has lately placed in the yard. It was small and dwarfed, but keeping of the dear ones gone before a day by day its petals opened to the sun day by day its petals opened to the sun that she so lovingly covers with flowers, and called forth much admiration from every one.

But the little dwarfed one was passed by unnoticed, till one day, by its fragrance being wafted to me on the breeze, There is nothing so entirely peaceful it arrested my attention, and on gathering the two flowers I found the one which had been cultivated with such die." The spirit is not born perfectly, lest the body die. Oh! this vast waste of energy for earth—with after the body die.

of energy for earth—yet after all I believe all things are for the best; I am convinced that whatever is allowed by the "Power Divine" to come to His children is best, and while at the time we cannot see yet He who sees from the law." that have the pure free soul, who live near this "Divine cannot see yet He who sees from the law." dren is best, and while at the time we cannot see, yet He who sees from the beginning to the end, gives to us just what will make our spiritual self advance, albeit it is sometimes a stony path whereon we plant our feet.

There is no religion that can give so much comfort in time of great trial as much comfort in time of great trial as stood by all, for if we have a disordered the religion of a true Spiritualist. 1 mind we must perchance see disorder, have reference to the Spiritualist who for to such a mind there is nothing good ed knee to the words of comfort from close the window of the soul and will the "Power Divine," or from some of his ministering spirits. The ministering spirits will no doubt be one that can things beautiful if we will but look

Each time we lay down self we have can come near to you. I speak from ex- gained a victory in so doing, live nearen perience, for until they unbound my the "Divine Law." We may not sucspiritual ears, and unloosed my spirited in the first attempt of knowing ual tongue, I was as in a case of gran- ourselves conqueror over self, but per-For all life evolves from within and

What is the result? The spiritual space of time I saw the glory of the forces are felt, the soul has unfolded land immortal. The gates of pearl, as and enduring happiness comes. Other, t were, rolled back, and in my vision I joys are elusive at the best. To feel saw that death was only the birth of the one's self filled with this "Divine Law" spirit, and the leaving of the body was and love it, love "God," giving up all for only entering into the fullness of the the uplifting of humanity, then shall we things are sent to us, and it is hard to isfied. Much will depend upon our sinbelieve that Jehovah in His mercy and cerity and depth of feeling for this delove for us, does those things to call us velopment. Within each and every one closer to His great heart that beats for is this "Divine Law" waiting to be used. We are all created for a purpose and

"God" created all things for usefulness and beauty. The flowers, the "The seed is not quickened lest it trees, the grass as it springs forth from die," then why, oh, my people, should Mother Earth delights our senses and there be any thing but rejoicing when we see before us the handiwork of "God." So will we see within ourselves his image and work if we will but search for this light.

Always be cheerful. A cheerful face M. E. C.

LOVE'S BEAUTIFUL SONG.

Onward forever our thoughts go ringing Into the world's vast intricate whole: Onward forever its echoes go winging Reaching like waves each human soul. The great law of motion is the world's inspiration.

Inherent in man through love's own relation, God joins with Nature in the world's creation Circled and orbed like dewdrops impearled. Thoughts like a river flow to the ocean, Jubilant or sad, forever in motion, For thought is a part, an infinite por-

Of the spirit that rules this beautiful world. The soul's high purpose, tho' often unheeded. To gain what the world cannot give, Is ever onward the its course be im-

Its object is ever to grow and to live. The world may be blind and unfeeling, And know not the soul's true law of being, But ever love's thought is silently free-

The world from the bondage of wrong. Onward, the watchword-onward forever.

With Justice and Right the soul's mighty lever, To crown with success every noble endeavor, And to leave in the world love's beautiful song.

BISHOP A. BEALS.

Summerland, Cal.

Calumny would soon starve and die of itself if nobdy took it in and gave it lodgment.—Leighton.

Zurilda Wellington.

Her Life in Two Worlds. The Lifting of the Vell.

BY MRS. M. PASQUIER CURRAN, MEDIUM, ST. LOUIS, MO.

CHAPTER IV.

The Ministry of Angels,

When I had retired to my room that night, my mother said to me, "I wish you to comprehend our mission to the Change is written on all; man and naearth and the work that we, as disembodied minds, are doing. There is a is for all, age succeeds age. band of spirits with me who have at "My individual experience band of spirits with me who have attended me since my entry into the give you: As I told you, I was once a world of spirits, and as I have come to bishop. Well, if I was, I was in dark-awakened us." of Jesus to the Earth, and is the mis- power that subdued me to a penitent, sion of those who have passed from pleading for mercy from God. death into life; yea, there is no death. "Here the book of memory was re-opened, and there passed before me the has been a long cherished wish of your abides forever. In this world of con- hidden things of my earth life. I saw, templation all flerce desires die out, and as it were in a glass, how I had boasted peace comes down. Was it John only of my stewardship and of my holy office who saw the heavens opened? Was it in the house of the Lord, and had been Paul only who saw and heard things not drunk on ambition; and I cried aloud; lawful to be told? No; God's angels Who is worthy? And a voice replied, have ever walked with man. Immortal 'He that is clean. Come ye to the ity has ever been whispered in the soul, fountain of restoration, which is knowl-'ye shall not die!' Yes, our souls are crying for immortality, and to be united to me a guide, who led me back to my to their lost ones or to those gone be earthly home and said to me: 'Dropping fore. Death's fingermark is every thy earthly garment does not entitle where; the rocks are built up of life thee to a home in heaven, or to a place that was. How, oh, how could mortals at the right hand of God. Sin is deep; know that we live, if it were not given death does not transform one into an its work of reformation, has not reto us, who once dwelt with you, to man- angel. Take up thy earth life, and moved, nor has my childish love and that you possess be of God, and is to and truth till I come again."

er, would give us his earth history, and to utter a sound. At last Mrs. Wise some of his life in the spirit realm.

"Change is not death," said Elon. full of tears, crying out in sobs:

"Change is not death," said Elon. full of tears, crying out in sobs:

"My soul has felt, and my ears have "No; and ye shall not die. There is that in man that cannot die; a spiritual heard, the glory of the Lord this day; ever be. Death and endless hell have that man, nor reserved his resurrection birthright; the soul is ever crying for a the lifting up of the hands does not continued personal existence, and God bring salvation. No, it is from within, will not mock us. By the law of spirit it is the soul itself. What a mighty return, I, who once dwelt with mortals, truth has been given to us this day, that come to you; come to bridge that dread | we ourselves are our own saviors, and ful chasm, and blend the here, with the that the germ of immortal life is within hereafter. In the spirit world I stood us—the Divine seed forces are in our face to face with truth in a clear light, souls and we are here to develop them. and I was made to feel its power in my Yes, now for the first time have I been changed me through and through; yes, spiritual things. I can now see the obthe law of the spirit I must come to the lily or the rose, may come out of earth, take up my earth life, and undo darkness into a spiritual light. Yes, things to man, chewed the same cud that my fathers had chewed, without a the seed forces, until they break forth from my life, and my heart not speak substance—for the truth had departed; in buds of beauty, dispensing their for itself?" the formula was as dry bread, dealt to fragrance here for us to imitate. Yes, the way of spiritual progress. Ah, this pearldrops and bedeck our brows.

12 death, indeed, to the soul, or darkthrough which the souls of thousands upon thousands have passed and are be done!' Yea, we bear you the true dead?" light, in which there is no death; but ment (purgation).

as an or, we would not now have to eat mighty truth that the dead can, and do, our own words. But of the fruit of the come to mortals; come to teach and tree which is in the midst of the gar- guide us, and to roll the stone from the den, God hath said, 'Ye shall not eat of it, lest ye die.' Is it like a loving pa no more as I have, but I will work out rent to withhold knowledge from his my salvation. children? No; especially when it is ator.
"What do you see to-day? It is the dreaming, nor is this a mystery. it is the garment which hides the spirit, and we must undo the evil done in the flesh. Things seen are temporal, friends, there is a loving breath from the lips of God fanning your brows and softly murmuring, 'Peace, this is of God; 'tis His voice in the soul.'

"Do not believe in the Bible because it tells of God, but believe in it because you feel God is in your souls. Angels had charge over Christ in His earth life; and Moses and Elias talked with him, as we are talking with you. This is Bible truth, but the church has closed its doors to us. Long have the angels been crying aloud, and received no answer, yet our volceless lips have often kissed your weary eyelids down hast no power over me now. Knowl wrath hot on the heads of sinners?" often kissed your weary eyelids down hast no power over me now. Knowl-to rest. Thou shalt not bear false wit-edge shall be mine, for I hear the dead ness.' But the church is doing this speaking to me; they are opening the when it cries out against us and con-

"No God has not left you in the wilderness; His pillar of cloud is with you, and is a love that is wide-spreading; and we are sent to lead you. I will we may dry our tears now." said Mrs. come to you again when you have Wise, in a triumphant voice, prayed a fervent prayer hot to be led "I have often prayed," said Albert, nto temptation and you have admitted | when deep fear was upon me; but tothe sun that is now breaking through day love is overshadowing my entire beopen the ignorance, and spiritual darkness, ing."

That the priests have fed your souls on, but which, like a worm; is sapping all where the still small voice came to him will

Oh, my dear ones, I have for long years looked to find an entrance to some human heart, that I might breathe things I am here, and is not the Lord here to lawful for you to know.

"'If a man die, shall he live again?" We answer that: No man has ever died. ture come under this law; universal life do a redeeming work with you, they ness; and, oh, if you could have rolled also attend me in my visits to earth, back the curtain that hid the immortal Reuben is the spirit name of my in- from the mortal and beheld me as I enstructor. He is wise in spiritual things, tered the world of souls, stripped of my has been many ages in this life, and it eccelsiastical robes, that were taris to him that I am indebted for the nished, and under whose vesture of is to him that I am indepted for the hished, and under whose vesture of high spiritual attainments that I have purity I had hidden many things! reached. Elon, is the name of the mestage-bearer, who has as yet much of pany that no man could number, with earth's shadows resting on him; and my head bowed. Conscious of my continuous that the state of the sta when you hear remarks that pertain to dition, I bewailed, in bitterness of spirit, earth, they are by him, 'of the earth, that I had ever held and swayed such a earthy.' The ministry of angels is of God, and mortals should know and receive us as such. It was the mission to me in a strong light, and with a colve us as such. It was the mission to me in a strong light, and with a light power over the people. The it is his wish that I inform you in relation to the visit of Bishop Sutherland to me in a strong light, and with a light power over the wants you to edge, and learn ye.' Then there came work out thy errors; unbind the dead The next day after the bishop's arthat thou hast bound in fear; loose rival, Mrs. Wise called to take me with them from the fear of God's wrath; go her to ride; with Albert accompanying us. We soon found ourselves in a pleasant path, leading out of the city's bustle. This quiet retreat amid Navou have lived for yourself; and selfture's bowers, seemed to invite the ishness has woven a garment of darkpresence of my mother and her guides. ness about you; learn the lesson that "Zurilda," said Albert, "since our last compensation can not be escaped, as ride I have thought and felt more deep- ye sow so shall ye reap; see the barren young and its fibres are woven around ly on spiritual things than I had ever waste that surrounds you, if ye will ye done before; indeed, I am much con may come where heaven's door is open. cerned to know if this strange power I will now bid you a God speed in love

To this question my mother replied dead with fear, sat Mrs. Wise and Al-was pure and exalted. I felt a pride in by saying that Elon, the message-bear, bert, looking one at the other, not able this and an adoration for him, gifted Speechless with wonder, and half moaned and rubbed her eyes that were often received his rebukes like daggers essence, that has ever been, and will for indeed the grave has not closed in been held over man to rob him of his until the final day of udgment. Oh, no, soul to such a degree that it has born of the spirit that I might discern tion stone on which the church is appointment and trials, rightly consid- your veins. Oh, spurn not the pure and builded. See the thirty-nine articles or ered and endured, will blossom into enduring affections of your father; your obstructions that the clergy has laid in rich bloom. Tears will glisten like duty is to obey him; resolve to do this, law of compensation runs like a silver Theology is the wilderness thread through our lives; and we are weaving garments here that we will clothe ourselves with in the future passing, and are coming to earth now state. Oh, Angel of the Lord! descend for redemption. Why am I here to-day? sade. On, Angel of the Lord! descend again, and roll back the curtain, that we It is to unbind, and set free the bound may hear things that are lawful for use may hear things that are lawful for us in spirit. 'Oh, God! Thy will, not mine, to hear. Albert Howard, are you

"No," said Albert; "never more alive the church will stone us—because their in my life than I am now. I have heard hearts are stony. I refer to my own this day what I never dreamed of, and church (England). But look ye to it has lighted a great fire that is burn-Rome with her seven heads and ten ing within my breast; oh, God! it is Thy horns, drunk with the blood of martyrs mighty truth, and it has lifted the cold to truth, and they (the clergy) be mists of doubt that have often closed decked with golden cups to lick their about me. I know now that salvation blood from the altars. Yes, we who is in work, not in faith alone. All my have ministered at the altars dedicated life I have longed to know something of to three Gods, must, in the light of the spirit, pass through the fires of refine lives here for that home beyond; it is the need of the hour that we have a positive knowledge and a demonstrated newing our life forces daily." "Oh, yes, my friends, had we eaten of the tree of knowledge, and not of grass, fact of life beyond the grave. It is a graves of our loved ones. I will sorrow

"Oh, my mother in heaven! how I re knowledge that will uplift you, and joice in this new knowledge; this testibring you into a likeness of your Cremony that I have heard to-day; this new truth reolces my heart. Mother, so-called dead, standing before you and ing tears from my eyes? Do you come do you come to me and wipe the blindopening the book of their judgment, when my soul is heavy, and I am calling truth, and said: "My mercy will I keep not on you and God, to ease my pain and Do dry my tears, that are shed in lonely you ask what we, who have passed from hours? Yes, mother, I feel in my soul and said: "My soul is rejoiced when the earth, have to do with the flesh? Why, that you do; and that you often chide me for my folly. Henceforth and forever I will obey the divine voice of the Hosts. Our cause needs just such soul, and will seek knowledge.'

"I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh." "See," said Mrs. Wise," what the prophet Joel hath said; and I truly feel that God is pouring a double portion on

"Yea," said Albert, "let a portion be on me also."

"Creeds and formulas are dead. Long has my soul cried in bitterness of man?" spirit to know of the hereafter, and "Wi God hath sent His angel to roll the sald the rector, "that sin must be darkness away. Redemption is from within, and we are our own saviors. books, and mighty truths from the ages of the past are unrolled before me. God is love, and this love is around us,

"God's voice in the soul, and doubt break in pieces, with strong power, the errors that have bound us; and hath not an angel touched us, as he did Elijah, and bid us 'arise, eat and drink' of the water and bread of life,?"

"Yes," said Mrs. Wise, "we have been

CHAPTER V.

A Heavy Cloud,

We had now reached our home and my father met me with a smile and bade me welcome. His strange demeanor aroused a feeling of unrest in me, but I soon met Miss Agnes, who said:

"Zurilda, your father has told me that know that he desires you to become the wife of Louis Sutherland when you are father's, as well as of the Bishop.'

Child as I was, this announcement aroused a feeling of resentment and disgust in my heart, that amounted to bitter anger against my father, that now, after years have gone by, comes up, and stands like a gaunt skeleton be-

"Now you are expected to yield a perfect obedience to his wish," said Miss Agnes.

The mere suggestion of such a measure from my father filled my heart with a coldness and deadness, that time, in confidence in him returned. Miss Agnes watched me closely, that she might discover what effect this had on mebut not a word or look from me indicated that I had heard her; for there had come to me a feeling of pride and scornful resentment that bravely bore me above such devices. Such feelings can never be entirely eradicated from the mind, especially when the mind is a parent; yet I often rise above them, only to fall, for I know that I must climb the dizzy steeps and bring my heart back to its proper place in parent al love. My affection for my father and impetuous as he was, though I in my heart.

"Oh, my mother, my mother!" I murmured; "the danger of your child!" "Bartered and sold like an ass or an ox," said Elon softly in my ear; "and yoked to an ass for a master and an owner! No, never! Material things rule me when I come in contact with them, but the spiritual and intellectual take their proper place, when I leave

What a lesson, then, are we taught by this. Miss Agnes did not seem to understand my feelings. She came to me. throwing her arms around me, and said: "Come, my dear, tea is awaiting us, and your father will be anxious to I am a new man, but not perfect. By ject of our earth life; it is that we, like know if you are in harmony with his

"Miss Agnes," I said, "is my destiny my ignorances, and the many wrongs we must struggle with the darkness in the hands of my father and the bishthat I did to man. I, who once was a and errors that are around us; oh, the op? Must they choose for me and my bishop, ministering in God's holy ignorance that is cast upon us, holding happiness vanish like a cloud in the us in darkness, just as the earth holds western sky; every sunbeam depart the formula was as dry bread, dealt to the hungry soul. Look at the foundathis is our germinating state; and dissaid: "I see that poison is infused into my dear, and avert his anger.

We had now reached the tea room where my father and the bishop were awaiting us. "Are you ill?" said the bishop to me.

"No, sir, thank you," I said. "Well, what has stolen the roses rom your cheeks, my child?" said he. "Oh, they have only closed for the night," I said, "and the warm sun of love and truth will open their petals in the morning. Louis had just come in and was in the act of taking a seat at the table, but he paused as though he had been shot-through the heart. "What have you learned about the warm sun of love and truth?" asked the

"That there is one universal power that pervades all—man and natureand that this power is God-sending All eyes were upon me, but not a sound came from their lips. Just as the bishop was about to reply to me, a servant came in and said that Rector Wise and his wife desired to see the family. This took our attention and we soon retired to the drawing-room.

The meeting between Rector Wise and Bishop Sutherland was warm and genial, as was also that with Louis. The rector praised him highly, complimented him on his choice, the high stand he had taken for the cause of for him, and my covenant shall stand Then he turned to the bishop young rise up to walk in the paths of peace and do battle for the Lord of earnest workers; too many with the Lord's harness on are asleep; their coldness is death; we are feeling the death chill in our very souls now.' These remarks of the rector brought a smile to the face of Mrs. Wise, who said: "Why, husband, your enthusiasm has taken you back to the wars of the fews. Have you forgotten that the mission of Jesus was peace and love to

"Will you never understand, wife." rooted at every step that the man of God takes, even if he uses the wrath of "Yea, yea," said Mrs. Wise, "God is love. "High words, sounding well in the sinner's ears," said Louis.

"Yes," said the rector, "dry bread to the soul that is dead in sin."

"Will you forever cry hell, damnation, sin and corruption in the most perfect work of God, and then ask us to love a God who is keeping this yawning gulf open with that real personage a cop per faced devil looking us right in the on your part, it is cruel in the extreme, face, and telling us to be good or we and I will never be a party to this un-without that this knowledge will lift us above all sin? That old sponsor for Zurilda, I will protest, in the make you get to have eaken expre of the forbidden fruit, so that we pight have more knowledge, which is due all in such maters of the pight have more knowledge, which is due all in such maters of the pight have more knowledge, which is due all in such maters of the past, and feel small? Do we not, know, that the spirit world is shining on us? That its light and knowledge is dissipating the darkness of the past, and that this knowledge will lift us above all sin? That old sponsor for Zurilda, I will protest, in the name of justice and liberty of conscience, which is due all in such maters of the pight and have not hooked into this mater as you should."

These remarks brought Louis to his feet in a rage, and he demanded of Mrs. Wise an explanation, but his father and the rector called him to order.

REDUCED PRICES. of the past and that this knowledge will lift as above all stan? That old story of "Paradise lost" is rotten with age and rust; if it were not so, this coldness that you say is in the church would hot be there. Is your work done so bad? What a power you claim to have—power over another's soul; then you say there is death in the soul. Has Christ died in vain? Risen in vain? No; but your dead faith, with an end-less helf, has taken the beauty and strength out of man as well as out of trength out of man as well as out of the church," said Mrs. Wise, with much feeling.

Silence was the only answer, and Mrs. Wise continued: "By the steps that Jesus cut we ought to climb, and that Jesus cut we ought to mount. He by His precepts we ought to mount. He rolled the stone from the sepulchre, and brought new light. What your work needs is more real truth in the internal, and less external form. I tell you there is an inexhaustible mine that you may draw from, when you dig for it. The present is a time of danger. The very foundation stone of the church is tottering; it is not deep, it is builded on sand—and the flood of truth that is now coming to man will wash it away. You will find that every sin is standing walting, and that eternal justice will be demanded of all; the old faith is slipping from us, and knowledge must take its place in the hearts of the people. Plant their feet on this new foundation. You will not hear the voice of Sinal's thunder now, nor will you see the mountain smoke with the glory of the Lord. No side steps are given to guide us. guide us. Drag not the past before the people; they need a better foundation to-day than ever before. Look into their souls and see the surging billows roll; this is the spirit of the Lord breathed on them! 'And a breath shall go forth from the Lord to kindle a flame on the altar of the Lord, and ye shall see the glory of God in the flame; and from out this flame the voice of God will speak to your souls, and ye shall know that I am, saith the Lord. Have you, that are the priests of God and that minister at His altars, seen this flame and heard this

No one replying to her, Mrs. Wise continued: "If you have not seen or heard, how can you chant peans to the Lord? Blessed is he that believeth, not having seen; but more blessed are they that see and hear the glory of the Lord'." Louis Sutherland now arose to his feet and said: "Hung be the heavens with black if you speak truthfully, madam."

To this remark Mrs. Wise replied: I could a tale unfold to you, whose lightest word would harrow up thy "Wife," said the rector, "it is by grace that we are saved; and 'where sin abounds grace Hd much more abound; and we hope that we have not received the grace of God in vain."

death.' New, if we die as the penalty for sin, fe not that debt paid, and ought we not to be free? Again, 'Christ died for the sims of man, and paid the debt; now are we under the wrath and con-demnation of God for the disobedience of Adam? It cannot be true; nor that death is the penalty for the sin of Adam. Death was in the world before Adam. Death, or change, is a natural process, and is necessary in us as in nature ; for it moves us on to a higher and a more perfect state of life. Now I think it is time that the clergy should accept a more rational solution of this lost its potency; this body ought to be removed that the effluvia from such a stagnant pool may be turned into a spirit gives these truths to the material, Fiftieth Anniversary of Modern Spirit channel that is not so corrupting. Lay or the scientific world, the credit should a foundation that is in accord with the not be withheld from its true source;

this manifest glory that we see in the visible universe so that we may frame in our minds a truer, more just and loving conception of the author of our being. You who preach Christ, preach Him as a brother and a teacher, sent by God's love toous, and as a pattern and guide—not as a sin offering."

The rector was rapping and calling his wife to stop using such language, but Mrs. Wise made a finish by saying: "Oh, Lord, lay not this sin to their charge.' My father thought to change the subject by saying, that as the friends were all present, at least those who were interested in the matter, he had some business to adjust, and thought that now was as good a time as any, added that he wished the rector and his wife as witnesses to the transaction. Mr. Howard, the lawyer, was called from the library by my father and said: "The document is ready, and I wish you both to sign it." He came in, pen and

"Read the contract aloud," said my father. Mr. Howard began by an intro-ductory remark that this is a contract of marriage by and between Louis Sutherland, of ____, and Zurilda Wellington, of ____; and Wilber Wellington, father and guardian of the said Zurilda Wellington, party to the contract; and of the Right Reverend James Wadsworth, Bishop of Sutherland, of ——, father of Bishop of Sutherland, of —, father of said Louis Sutherland; stating that at the age of eighteen years, after the said Zurilda had received a thorough training in all the useful branches of instruction (naming the languages and all that is necessary to constitute the accomplishments of a lady of high rank, but more especially the religious teachings of the Church of England), she was to become the lawful wife of the was to become the fawful wife of the said Louis Sutherland; then the dower was stated and all that the law could do to bind and protect Louis in his rights was fared for.

While Mr. Howard was reading the paper Mrs_{bu}Wise pat with her eyes transfixed as if gazing at something just before her; something that seemed to convey to her an intelligence When the paper was read, my father took the pen and signed the document, with much pride in his demeanor; then the bishon and Liquis. My father then said to mel, "Zurlida, my love, put your name unden that one," as he pointed to that of Louis. "Father, "I cried. "Cannot write your name?" said he.

"Yes, I can write my name; but, dear father, I cannot sign a bond of slavery, a bill of sair, and blight my young life by doing so. There is no adaptability between Louis and myself, and such an act as this on my part would be but deception." These remarks of mine sent a thrill through my father that was very painfully visible to all.

"We will see that you do your duty," said he as he turned to the rector and his wife, bidding them to sign their names. "Mr. Wellington," said. Mrs. : Wise,

"you surprise me as well as pain me: I cannot sanction such a barbarous act but which, like a worm, is sapping all where the still small voice came to him that, makes you higher than a beast, and talked of God and things that are real; who can determal; yes, that are real; who can imprise the speaking to your souls, answer?" said Mrs. Wise.

FRANZ PETERSILEA.

Lord Kelvin's Speculation About Ether Atoms.

Is there anything new about Lord Kelvin's idea, after all? The idea may be put into a little different form, and written out somewhat more learnedly, but is it entirely new? I think not; neither do I think his view is absolutely correct. He says that the ether atom can occupy the same space as the material atom. So far this may be true and no doubt is, but Spirit Franz Petersiles wrote all about the construction of the atom more than twenty years ago, which anyone can learn by reading the book called "The Discovered Country," or the book; called "Oceanides." All who are interested in this subject should purchase these two bookswhich can be had from the office of The Progressive Thinker—and read what the spirit has to say about atoms. But for the benefit of those who may not do this, I will say: The Spirit, Franz Petersilea, wrote that an atom was composed of magnetic flame and translu-cent matter—that the heart of each atom was a mere point of pure, magnetic flame, that this little magnetic flame glowed with an amber light, and this light was not the light of the sun but an independent magnetic light all its own; that all space is filled and glowing with this light. Now each little point of magnetic flame attracts and holds about it, as a shield or covering, an amount of matter which is trans parent or translucent; and when this takes place the atom is perfected, or becomes a perfect atom. These atoms float within the ethereal sea, for ether is infinite and boundless, and all things whatsoever exist and float within it. But the atom described above is not the only kind of atom that exists within this ethereal sea; there are other atoms of many different kinds. Within the ether also floats the great sea of germinal atoms. These are points of everlasting light and life, and anyone can see them with the naked eye if one will but take the trouble and throw away all preconceived ideas and prejudices; there they float, plainly to he seen, points of living light, much lighter than the surrounding atmosphere, darting hither and thither, never still for an instant. These germs of livling light and life are of all kinds and species, vegetable, animal, and human. Each germ is its individual self, and can never be any other than itself.

When the atoms which are composed of magnetism and matter are at length formed into worlds and become fit for "Husbafid," faid Mrs. Wise, "I read life to be sustained, then are these in the Bible that 'the wages of sin is germs of life attracted and held, each according to its kind, where they develop and grow; and, at what is called death, either of vegetable, animal, or man, the matter is then thrown off as of no further use, but the developed germ still holds the magnetic flame that was the center of each atom. This constitutes the spiritual clothing of the develoned germ.

But magnetism is invisible to material eyes, consequently the developed spiritual form is invisible to the material eye.

Lord Kelvin is right in saying that accept a more rational solution of this subject, for your feeble combination has things exist within it and are permeated dignity and wisdom of the framer of neither do I think that because a man bears the title of "My Lord," he should receive more credit than the most humble spirit that ever existed.

Why will Americans forever bow down before titles? Why forever quote great names as though such alone were able to give truth to the world? Yours for the right,

MRS. CARLYLE PETERSILEA.

Hudson Tuttle vs. Rev. Buckley.

I have read with interest and pleas ure Hudson Tuttle's scathing review of Rev. Dr. J. M. Buckley. It is a blessed thing to have peace, but the Irishman's idea was a good one when he said that he would have peace if he had to fight for it. Paradoxical as it may seem, it is the only correct position to take with such minds.

Dr. Buckley's statement that there never has been received from spiritual sources by mediumship any facts relating to the forecasting of future events, shows the dense ignorance of the mind that could make such a statement. Years before the culmination of the war in this country that resulted in the overthrow of chattel slavery, there were in the Shaker communities prophecies given through mediumistic control that the slavery question would result in the most gigantic war of modern times, stating about when it would come and what the result would be.

There were received from President Washington communications relating to important events in the history of the nation and the world, some of which have been fulfilled, others are yet wait ing their time. Communications were received stating that our nation would have to pass through a period of con-flict to maintain its political and religious liberties that internal and external foes would menace it on every side, that a combined effort would be made by the monarchies of the world to overthrow the Republic, but out of the conflict it would come purified and made glorious. We contribute these facts to help sus tain the cause. HAMILTON DE GRAW.

Shakers, N. Y.

A Chance to Make Money

I have berries, grapes and peaches a year old, fresh as when picked. I used the California Cold Process. Do not heat or seal the fruit, just put it up cold, Keeps perfectly fresh, and costs almost nothing; can put up a bushel in ten minutes. Last year I sold directions to over 120 families in one week; anyone will pay a dollar for directions when they see the beautiful samples of fruits. As there are many people poor like myself, I consider it my duty to give my experience to such and feel confident anyone can make one or two hundred dollars round home in a few days. I will mail sample of fruit and full directions to any of your readers for nineteen (19) two cent stamps, which is only the actual cost of the samples, postage, etc. Francis Casey, St. Louis, Mo.

PLEASE TRY NOW To Extend the Circulation of The Progressive Thinker. Now in the time to do it. We are now running a series of lectures by that now running a series of fectures by that remarkable linglish psychic, C. W. Lead-beater. They alone will be worth more dign the price of subscription, saying nothing of other equally important features of the paper. Induce your Spiritualist friends to sead in a dollar for the

What is Spiritualism?
Who Are These Spiritualists? and What Has Spiritualism Done for the World? By J. M. Peebles, M. D., M. A. An excellent book to put in the hands of inquirers. Coth, 75 cents.

Did Jesus Christ Exist? Is Christ the Corner Stone of Spiritualism? What Do the Spirits Say About It? Wm. Emmette Coleman vs. Hudson Tuttle on Mahomet and Jesus. To which is appended a controversy, Arthur J. Owen vs. J. M. Peebles, on the origin of the Lord's Prayer and Sermon on the Mount, and an exhaustive paper by Wm. Emmette Coleman on the Historical Origin of Christianity. Paper, 15 cents.

Three Journeys Around the World. A large, handsomely bound octavo volume, 500 pages, finely illustrated, describing the Pacific Islands, New Zealand and Australia, India and her magic, Egypt and her pyramids, Persia, Ceylon, Palestine, etc., with the religious manners, customs, laws and habits of foreign countries. Price, $1.50.

Immortality,

And the employments of spirits good and evil in the spirit world. What a hundred spirits say about their dwelling-places, their locomotion, their social relations, infants, idiots, suicides, etc. Price reduced from $1.50 to $1. Postage 12 cents. Paper 50 cents.

Seers of the Ages.

This large volume of 400 pages (9th edition), treats exhaustively of the seers, sages, prophets and inspired men of the past, with records of their visions, trances and intercourse with the spirit world. This is considered a standard work, treating of God, heaven, hell, faith, repentance, prayer, baptism, judgment, demoniac spirits, etc. Price reduced from $2 to $1.25. Postage 15 c.

Spiritual Harp. A book of 300 pages, containing songs, hymns and anthems for Spiritualist so-cieties and circles. The words are afire with progress. It contains the choicest songs and music by James G. Clark and other reformers. Reduced from $2 to

Dr. Peebles' Three Jubilee Lectures. A most elegantly bound pamphlet of 122 pages, giving Dr. Peebles' lectures delivered in Hydesville, March 31, 1898. in Rochester, and later in London at the International Congress of Spiritualists. These lectures, illustrated, are racy, meaty and scholarly. Price 35 cents.

The Christ Question Bettled.

A symposium by Hudson Tuttle, W E. Coleman, Rabbi Wise, Col. Ingersoll, J. S. Loveland, B. B. Hill, J. R. Buchanan and Dr. Peebles. This is a handsome volume of nearly 400 pages, and treats of Jesus, Mahomet and the gnos tics. What the Talmud says about Jesus. Antiquity unveiled. Child marriage in India. Col. Ingersoll's agnosticism. What the spirits through W. J. Colville, J. J. Morse, Mrs. Longley, Mrs. Everitt, Mrs. Hagan-Jackson and other mediums say about Jesus, etc.

A Critical and Crushing Review By Dr. Peebles of the Rev. Dr. Kipp's five lectures against Spiritualism. This crisp and critical reply of the Doctor, while repudiating spiritism, and all frauds connected with the subject, sustains Spiritualism, considering it the complement of primitive Christianity.

ualism.

An elegant pamphlet containing an account of the exercises at Rochester and Hydesville, N. Y., at the celebration of the Fiftieth Anniversary of Modern Spiritualism. It contains the addresses of some of the most noted speakers present. It contains the picture of the Hydesville cottage, wreath, etc. Price, Lo cents.

Death Defeated, or the Psychic Secret of How to Keep Young.

This book goes to the foundation of things-health, the laws of health, the foods to eat, the subject of marriage, who should marry and who should not marry, the causes of divorce, the proper time for conception, gestation, the de-termining of sex, animal flesh-eating, what Herodotus, Hesiod, Homer, Pythagoras, Shelley, Graham and others ate, the foods that produce long life and now to live "immortal" on earth, etc. This book is written in Dr. Peebles' usually clear, crisp style, and attracts the reader from the very first through its them. They are very valuable. They facts, logic and convincing arguments. handsomely bound in cloth.

Vaccination a Curse and a Menace to Personal Liberty.

This finely illustrated volume of beween three hundred and four hundred pages, by Dr. Peebles, treats exhaustively of inoculation, cow-pox and calf-lymph vaccination from Jenner's time to the present. It tells how the cowpox pus poison is obtained-how the vaccine virus, while causing many deaths, sows the seed of eczema, pimpled faces, cancers, tumors, ulcers and leprosy. It gives a history of the several years' battle against tion in England, Parliament making it "optional" instead of compulsory. This book should be in every school library and family. Price $1.25.

Dr. PEEBLES' Pamphlets and Books

FROM INDIA TO THE PLANET MARS.

A MOST REMARKABLE WORK.

Fascinating, Interesting and Instructive. By Th. Flournoy, Professor of Psychology in the University of Geneva.

"This is an account of the experiments with the 'Geneva Medium,' Helene Smith. In her trances she lives the dual existence of an Indian princess and of an inhabitant of the planet Mars. Professor Flournoy and his fellow scientists have for more than ave years experimented with these astounding physical phenomena."

This is a work of thrilling interest It has excited great attention in this country and in Europe. Price $1.50. For sale at this office.

THE GOSPEL OF NATURE Is a most excellent work by Dr. M. L. Sherman, assisted by Prof. W. F. Lyon. Heretofore it has been sold for $2, but the price now has been reduced to $1. It. is a book that will interest and instruct. It contains 250 pages, and is full of suggestive thoughts. Dr. Sherman was a medium of rare qualities; and his work is a reflection from the celestial spheres.

OUR PREMIUMS.

BEAR IN MIND.

Remember, please, that we send many of our Premium Books by express. If you do not receive your order promptly by mail, inquire at the express office. If not there, notify us at once. Remember, please that it costs ten cents to get a personal check cashed at a bank in Chicago. If you send a personal check, add ten cents to the amount sent.

Remember, please, that we have only two books which we send out now for 25 cents each. We cannot allow you to select any other book or books in their

Remember, please, that you are not entitled to any of these Premium Books unless you send in with your order a year's subscription to The Progressive Thinker.

Remember, please, that the safest way to make a remittance is to secure a postal order.

Read our Premium Offer, AND DO NOT WRITE TO US FOR ANY OTHER TERMS. You must send $1 for The Progressive Thinker when you order one or more premium books. bear this in mind.

Remember, please, that mistakes and trouble may be avoided by dealing direct with this office, instead of through a news agent.

Every person who sends in a yearly, subscription to The Progressive Thinks er can have until further notice, the two following books for 25 cents each: "The Religion of Man and Ethics of Science," by Hudson Tuttle, and "Seers of the Ages, or, Spiritualism Past and Present," by Dr. J. M. Peebles. Both exceedingly valuable, and though widely different, each one fills an exceedingly important niche in the literature of Spiritualism.

If you order only one book, and that one neither of the books mentioned above, the price is 50 cents. If you order two books, and neither of them the above mentioned, the price is

We have TEN Premium Books only. and you can select from them as fol-Any three of the ten Premium Books

you may order, price $1.10.

Any four of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $1.50.

Any five of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $1.80. Any six of the ten Premium Books

you may order, price $2.10.
Any seven of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $2.35. Any eight of the ten Premium books you may order, price $2.65.

Any nine of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $2.90.
Lastly all of these TEN valuable

Premium Books here announced are sent out, all postage prepaid, for $3.10. a price never before equaled in this country or Europe. The following is

TEN REMARKABLE BOOKS FOR $3.10.

1-The Encyclopedia of Death, and Life in the Spirit World, Vol. 1. 2—The Encyclopedia of Death, and Life in the Spirit World, Vol. 2. 3-The Encyclopedia of Death, and Life in the Spirit World, Vol. 3. 4-Art Magic, or Mundane, Sub-Mundane and Super-Mundane Spiritism. 5-Ghost Land, Spiritualism, Occult-

6-The Next World Interviewed.

7—The Occult Life of Jesus. 8—A Wanderer in the Spirit Lands. 9—The Religion of Man and Ethics of 10-Seers of the Ages, or Spiritualism

Past and Present. Read This Carefully Before Re-Remitting.

When you send in your subscription to The Progressive Thinker, carefully look over the books which you desire in this list, and their price, and send for are intensely interesting. They are ele-vating in tone and will do you good. In remitting do not fail to enclose a dollar for The Progressive Thinker.

These ten books, substantially and elegantly bound, and printed in the neatest style of the printer's art, will be furnished to our subscribers for $3.10, a price which modern machinery and enterprise has rendered possible in The Progressive Thinker office only. Sending out these books, however, at the prices we do, does not reduce the price of the subscription of the paper, apparently or otherwise, a single cent, for that cannot be afforded for less than one dollar per year, in view of the fact that we publish such a vast amount of reading matter.

In conclusion, bear in mind that the postage on these ten premium books is ahout ONE DOLLAR, leaving this office only $2.10, illustrating the great bargain you are getting—a bargain the like of which was never known before on this CLUBSI CLUBSI CLUBSI

To Clubs of ten or more we offer the following terms to each one: The Progressive Thinker one year, and ONE of the following books, $1.15: "The Relig-ion of Man and Ethics of Science": "Seers of the Ages, or Spiritualism Past and Present"; "A Wanderer in the Spirit Lands"; "The Encyclopedia of Death, and Life in the Spirit World," Vol. 3. The one who gets up the Club will be entitled to the paper one year free, and any two of the books he may select among our list of premiums.

A REMARKABLE BOOK.

The clear and very interesting account of the assessination of Abraham Lincoln, with the inciting causes of thes tragedy, will serve to excite renewed interest in the great work of Father Chiniquy, entitled "Fifty years in the Church of Rome." In this book he exposes in the minutest details the corrup-tion that exists in that church; and its iniquitous methods and aims.

It is a book of absorbing interest, and should be read by every patriotic American, and by every one who would be well informed concerning the evil works and designs of the Romish hierarchy.

It is a large volume of 832 pages. There is a well-meaning [as set forth in the Chicago American], but mis-taken woman in America who has act herself the task of "exposing" the had side of all the Hindoo and Oriental philocophies which have, since the World's Fair Congress of Religions, been gain ing ground here.

She is engrossed in delving into an clent and modern history in search of the heathen rites and idolatrous practices and immoral beliefs of the followers of all these Eastern cults.

She has sent a mild appeal to me, begging me to say no more of the teachings of Krishna, or Buddha, until I learn what terrible men they and their devotees were, and she solemnly announces that even Vivekananda, the wonderful Hindoo scholar who electrifield the Congress of Religious in 1893 and afterward taught thousands of hungry souls the beautiful philosophy of the was known to partake of

Now, I have never occupied my all too brief allowance of time on earth with hunting for evil. My main object in life has been to seek the good, the beautiful, the worthy in everybody and thing. When forced to unmask and denounce an obtrusive evil I have always selected the one nearest to hand-first in myself and then in my environment. The sham, the pretense, the avarice, the un-Christlikeness of many of the orthodox Christian churches in America and England and elsewhere seem foes worthier of my steel pen than do the Oriental philosophies.

Krishua and Buddha were and are guilty of improprieties and immoralities. But the beautiful teachings left by both inspired souls will always appeal to me, even as does Christ's last sermon on the mount, in spite of the blasphemous and ridiculous creeds trumped up by selfish men who claimed to be His followers, and in spite of the mercenary and clannish spirit exhibited by hundreds of so-called Christians to-

Nothing absolutely historic is known to-day concerning the life of Christ. Nothing was written about Him until long after His death-thirty years, some Bible students say. But His sermon on the mount remains, and that is all we need.

The life of Krishna is quite as difficult to know in detail, and that of Buddha is more or less involved in tradition and superstition, but the words of both are more authentically traceable than even those of Christ, and these words are very beautiful and strangely alike in their meaning to those of the later teacher.

All three teach that love of the Creator and love of our fellow-man and conquest of self is all there is of "salva-

That is all the world needs to realize to-day—all it ever needed to realize. Once in a few hundred years a great il luminated soul passes through the earth, telling this old truth in new words. Krishna was one-Buddha was another, Christ was another, and there have been others and will be others. Vivekananda was an inspired interpreter of all the religions.

That he was known to "eat beefsteah" while teaching a meatless diet does not seem a heinous crime to me. In one of his classes I recall hearing him discuss the matter of food as per-taining to spiritual development. "Those who obtain the best and quickest results in mastering the body and controlling the mind," he said, "must in guilate the food, the breath and even and his wife, the parties who were supposed to know. It seemed almost implastery is gained and the illumination of the spirit has taken place it will not matter about the food—you can eat up by telling where the will could be his death. what and when and where you find it found. This impressed the faithful, and 4. That most convenient. You will give it little | they went and looked, and found it. | as his wife, more than on

I recall another of his sayings: "The Hindoo devotee of higher religion follows three rules in regard to his body. He must not eat too much or too little: must bathe his entire body twice a

It was the great spiritual privilege of my life to be a student of that beautiful soul. I revere his memory, I respect his name. He made the Christ of the sermon on the mount seem no less glorious by his interpretation of the beautiful Vedanta philosophy.

Let us accept what is true and beau-tiful and helpful in this life—wherever it is to be found.

Women Do Not Want to Vote.

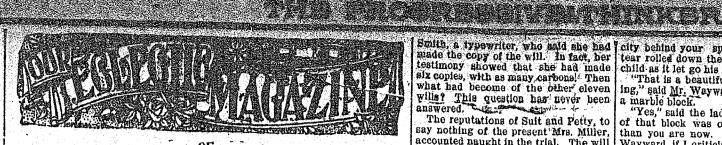

There is no one argument so frequently used by the opponents of women suffrage as, "women do not want to vote." Hon. John D. Long, ex-secretary of the navy, has said: "If one man or woman wants to exercise the right to vote, what earthly reason is there for denying it because other men and wo men do not wish to exercise it? If I de sire to breathe the fresh air of heaven, shall I not cross my threshold because the rest of the family group prefer the stale atmosphere indoors?" When the government extends the privilege of voting to a citizen, it says to him: 'We do not compel you to appear at the polls; we simply give you the liberty to vote, or not to vote, as you desire. You may express your consent or your protest against conditions, and may make civilization, if you wish." On the other hand, when the government refuses the privilege, it says: "We compel you to remain away from the ballot-hox. Whether you wish to vote or not, you shall not. We will impose upon you any laws we see fit, and you shall have no official authority to protest or to con-

What justice is there in refusing the ballot to all women because some women have conceived no desire for it? Many women do not want to vote, and many men do not care to vote, but there are many women as earnestly anxious to vote as any man in the land. Why should not all men and women who are public spirited and liberty loving have the privilege of the ballot? How can we expect women to move in the interest of their own self-government, since no class of men has ever done so?

Woman suffrage, like man suffrage, must come through the generous action of those who now possess the power to In fact, more women in proportion to their numbers, have asked for the ballot than have men of any disfranchised class in the history of the world.

"The Truth Seeker Collection of Forms and Ceremonies for the Use of Liberals." For sale at this office, Price 25 cents.

"The Priest, the Woman and the Confessional." This book, by the well known Father Chiniquy, reveals the degrading, impure influences and results of the Romish confessional, as proved by the sad experience of many wrecked lives Price, by mail, $1. For sale at this office. Line

... oF ... OGGULT MYSTERIES.

THE SPIRITS AND A LOST WILL.

of American courts, the most notorious year later Judge Suit died, the third of modern times is the Bradley "spook mutual friend, Mr. Petty, having passed will case" of Frankfort, Ind. The author of the sensation, one Hiram H. On the first of November, 1899, rumor Judge J. C. Suit, through the aid of a Public curiosity was aroused to the that a will was in existence. Later on for, but the clamor did little good, for this same spirit discovered the hiding it was not produced for probate until place of the will and told where suffi- more than a mouth later. It read in cient evidence to probate this will might substance as follows: be found.

the will was a carbon copy of a will digent knights, their wives and ormade by the ghost itself before it as phans." sumed its present ethereal form, and that there were twelve of these copies made. Where are the other eleven? They were never produced.

Throughout the entire duration of all the trials charges of bribery, of forgery, etc., were made. And these charges were backed by evidence that was more than strong.

consumed the public curiosity. Had the self: STATE OF IND., CLINTON CO., ss.: criminal purposes? In fact, was there In Clinton circuit court, November term, plot to defeat justice on either side? It is a question among all parties, ir- In the matter of the proposed probate of respective of what the question involves.

ghost. According to his own testimony and widow, and is the only legal heir of and the mystical code of ethics of the Hiram H. Bradley, late of Clinton counspirit world, he did what he did for the ty, Indiana, deceased; that the said HIsake of right. At any rate, the light was low, and the medium was given his decease a bona fide resident of Clinton word that everything was strictly or county, Indiana, and owned property in thodox. This suited the faithful gath-said county of the probable value of eved around the center of attraction—or $20,000; that the said H. H. Bradley perhaps the better word would be cabinet—for that was the place where the August, 1894, leaving the said Sarah A. mysterious visitor from the realms of Miller, his widow, and leaving neither spookism was supposed to dwell when father, mother or child or descendant of darkness was attained, and all of the visitors had reverently joined hands, the first spiritual manifestation of the evening was given, doubtless it would by T. C. Parish and John H. Petty, be better to say that it was received.

After a series of phenomena of a thrilling nature the star of the perform
B. Given as executors thereof; that the sensation was sprung. It, with the sangfroid peculiar to ghosts, declared that Hiram H. Bradley of his property to the said Saran ri. Miller (nee Bradley) and the remainder of his property to "Frankfort Command-deceased, had left a will, dividing his wealthy estate in diverse ways.

The said Sarah A. Miller objects to left a will. At least so said his lawyers and his wife, the parties who were sup- duly executed.

thought." It might be wise for some of our Christian leaders to arrive at this last state of "giving the appetite little and tooked, and round it.

Then the spirit came again, in the stately preceding his death, and was constantly with him and caring for him and told where the evidence necessary during all of said time; that she never for the probating of the will could be heard of the excution of any will; that procured. The faithful, doubting no after the death of said Bradley she was longer, followed out this line of advice appointed administratrix of said estate he must not be idle or overwork; he timony of those who managed the Spir- ence of any will; that the said Bradley itualistic part of the program, the ghost told her, shortly before his death, that of Judge J. C. Suit has held its peace. It he had not made any will and should is one of the teachings of their philos-ophy that when a man departs this mun-it his entire estate, and she therefore aldane sphere, if he has committed any leges that the said Bradley never did questionable deed or has been party to execute any will or attempt to execute anything of that character, his spirit a will. never rests until this deed has been 5. That the pretended will, so pro-intimate that he was party to the deed. him. From the time of the miraculous disclosure of the repentant spook until to day litigation over the settlement of the case has never ceased. And the litiforgery.

8. That if said pretended will was a forgery to the hottest sort imclosure of the repentant spook until to- executed. aginable, too. Each side alleges fraud, executed by said H. H. Bradley it was bribery, forgery, etc.

For over fifty years Hiram H. Bradley was a respected citizen, having written instrument be declared not to taken part in most of the public enterprises of his day, and being highly connected with the local order of Knights said paper be not admitted to probate, Templars. In the year 1882 his wife and she prays for all proper relief in the died, and one year after that he married premises. again, this time to a Mrs. Sarah Kingsbury. One year after his second marriage Bradley died. As he had been heard to declare that he was the author of no parties that in the first place Hiram H. will, his widow came into possession of his entire estate. She administered on brothers, Barzali B. and Philander Judthe estate, thinking that he died intes- son Bradley, had never even been tate, settled up all claims, being discharged one year after his death.

The reasons set forth by the widow in defense of her decision that Mr. Bradley left no will are strong and convincing. In the first place, she had been told by Bradley time and again that it was his on legal papers. He was in the habit intention not to leave a will, she thereby to receive the entire estate. This in tention was also made known to several friends of the family, among whom were Judge J. C. Suit, the poor ghost, and or other important legal documents. John A. Petty, both very intimate friends of Bradley and his wife. In fact, Judge Suit was Bradley's legal adviser. In the presence of both Suit and Petty, during the illness preceding his death, Bradley made known the bequests he desired made, and with the two friends as witnesses caused his wife to promise ful looked and found a will. The ghost to see that they would be carried out. came again and said: "Go to Russiaville Obviously this was done in view of the and find one James Cooper. He will way serpentine, but he seemed always, fact that he had made no will. Bradley furnish the evidence to probate the also requested Suit to act the part of will" The faithful went to Russiaville legal adviser to his wife, and Petty to and found Cooper, who furnished the guard her interests as zealously as he evidence even as the ghost had de-would those of himself. After his death these two friends assisted in settling up the estate for the widow, never so much as intimating was influenced by bribery to restrain that a will was in existence. Both men the publication of the will. With him were prominent citizens, respected and was John A. Petty. This will, which he law-abiding, diligent workers in the never destroyed, was kept secure Knights Templar commandery, and among his private papers. After his public-spirited in a great many respects. The production of a will, in view of the reputations of these two men, to say the least, caused the public to elevate eye thus the story of the ghost." brows and append all arguments with a capitalized puestion mark.

Of all the famous cases in the annals | widow married Isaac G. Miller. One Bradley, died in 1894, presumably intes- was circulated to the effect that a will Spiritualistic medium, disclosed the fact pitch of excitement. It was clamored

"One-third of the estate is to go to the The faithful followed the ghost's di-widow (Mrs. l. G. Miller); $1,000 to go rections, found the will, obtained the to John Bradley, a brother; $1,000 to a evidence, and succeeded in getting the nephew, Frank Bradley, son of the will probated. All of these events brother John; a tract of land (some 8 make up a story so strange and roman-acres), outlying the corporation limits, tic as to be almost unreal.

In the trial evidence was produced to mainder to go to the local lodge of the effect that the paper produced as Knights Templars, for the benefit of in-

> This was the "spook" will. It was typewritten—really a carbon copy of a typewritten will—the only pen marks being the signature of Bradley and those of two witnesses, J. A. Petty and T. C. Parish.

To say it raised a storm of protest from the widow would be putting the case mildly. The following taken from Then the mystery of a lost signature the county clerk's office, speaks for it 1899.

the will of Hiram H. Bradley.

Comes now Sarah A. Miller, who upon He was but a harmless, inoffensive her oath says, that she was the wife died, in said county, on 26th day of deigning to commune with his earthly a child living; that on the 5th day of Defriends. When the proper quiet and degree of Given, by their attorneys, proposed to ance appeared. He or it was the ghost said typewritten paper purports to be of one Judge J. C. Suit. Greetings to old friends were in order, as well as a few messages from those gone before to Frankfort. in said county, a certain their living relatives. After this the tract of land east of the city, one-third of all his property to the said Sarah H.

wealthy estate in diverse ways.

Even the faithful started, exclaiming aloud in their astonishment. Why, the following reasons, to-wit

Bradley, who had shuffled off this mor
1. Said paper so pronounced is not tal coil some five years before, had not the will of the said Hiram H. Bradley. 2. The said pretended will was not

3. That at the date of said pretended will H. H. Bradley was of unsound mind But the spirit continued, and wound and remained of unsound mind until

4. That she lived with said Bradley, and succeeded in probating the will. | and fully settled his estate, without at Since that time, according to the tes- any time seeing or hearing of the existatoned by confession in some manner or posed to be probated, was drafted and other. The faithful declare that this is written at some time unknown to this proven by the actions of the ghost of objector and by some person or persons Judge Suit. They do not say that he unknown to ber, and without the knowlwas guilty of a crime in suppressing the edge or consent of the said Hiram H. will of Hiram H. Bradley, but they do Bradley, and was never executed by

6. That the said paper was unduly revoked by him long before his death. Wherefore she prays that said typebe the last will and testament of the said H. H. Bradley, deceased, and that

(Signed) SARAH A. MILLER. Subscribed and sworn before William

. Palmer, notary public. It was also alleged by the protesting Bradley had no brother John. His two known as John. In the second place. the tract of land left to the city was owned practically by Mrs. Bradley herself, and her husband had no legal right to will it away. In the third place the signature was one Bradley never used of signing checks H. H. Bradley, but never in the history of his business dealings had be been known to sign other than his full name Hiram to deeds

The other side, those who fought for the will's legalization, told this story. At a series of Spiritualistic seances conducted by medium W. C. Jessup, the ghost of Judge Suit declared that a will was in existence. The ghost said: "Look among my papers." The faithclared. The substance of the evidence "After Bradley's death Judge Suit death, in the spirit world, his conscience allowed him no peace of mind until a

With Cooper came Parish, who testified that he had signed the will as a Spitts, a typewriter, who said she had city behind your splended horse." A made the copy of the will. In fact, her tear rolled down the cheek of the little Personal children it let go his hand. streepies, with as many carbons! Then what had become of the other eleven wills? This question has never been answered.

Lear rolled down the cheek of the little child as it let go his hand.

"That is a beautiful and costly building," said Mr. Wayward, as they passed a marble block.

"Yeo" "Soil."

The reputations of Suit and Petty, to say nothing of the present Mrs. Miller, accounted naught in the trial. The will was admitted to probate.

It transpired during the action of the court that the library and papers of the late Judge Suit had been acquired after his death by the firm of lawyers representing the repentant spook. Long before the marvelous message arrived from the land of mysteries the books and papers had received a thorough going over by a number of parties. Yet when the ghost said the will was among them the proper parties had no trouble in finding it. There is current another story to the effect that onehalf of all the moneys and real estate received through the will by the local Masonic lodge went to the attorneys by a contract made by them after they had found the will and before they had made t public. These are popular tales in Frankfort.

The big case had hardly come to an issue before those claiming the minor legacies put in an appearance.

A brother from Harbor Springs, Mich whose name was Barzali B. Bradley, appeared and made claim to the $1,000, and for the purpose of probating the will, proved that his dead brother called him John. He had had a son, named Frank, but this son died a year and a day before the will was made. It was shown that Hiram H. Bradley knew that Frank was dead. The will was probated and the judgment was affirmed by the supreme court of Indiana.

There were two or three criminal cases disposed of, and then a damage suit or two tried in the meantime, all growing out of the contest over the probating of the will. After the supreme court had decided the case, the executors made a final settlement and considered Barzali B. Bradley as the John named in the will, and paid him the legacy of $1,000 and filed their final report.

Shortly after that a woman from Saginaw, Mich., appeared and filed a suit against the executors in which she charged that she was the widow of Frank Bradley, mentioned in the will, and as she was his administratrix, she asked the payment of the $1,000 that Hiram H. Bradley said should go to his nephew, Frank Bradley, the son of John Bradley, his brother.

She claimed that Frank was the son of Philander John Bradley, who was also dead, but was the brother of Hiram H. Bradley, and he was the person named in the will as John. She also filed a petition as administrator of the estate of Philander John, and asked for that legacy. In the meantime the executors had appealed from the judgment in her favor as the administratrix of Philander John Bradley and the appellate court reversed Judge Vinton's decision on a technicality and the case was remanded for trial. It was tried again by Judge Artman of Lebanon. Judge Artman ruled against her and for the executors, and found that Philander was not commonly known as John Bradley, The judgment in her favor as administratrix of Frank Bradley is now pending in the appellate court. The decision showed that Philander Bradley died July 6, 1901, at Saginaw.

There have been convictions and surmises, opinions and open declarations, both by the contending parties and by practically uninterested citizens.—In-dianapolis (Ind.) Sentinel.

MR. WAYWARD.

"A Little Child Shall Lead Them," in the Path of Light."

Characters: Mr. Wayward; Mrs. Har mony Wayward, a spirit; Jack Gonover, a spirit; Dapper Materialist, High Priest; Lady of Fashion; Mrs. Golden, a rich widow; Hon. Mr. Codfish, a pillar of the church.

The inner consciousness, or still small voice, or whatever you may choose to call it, is sometimes quite distinct when we have dismissed care and attend to it. It may lose its potency for a time, however, but when we become receptive again, the words may be repeated or the scenes re-enacted, partic ularly if we solicit a repetition of them in calmness and faith. Let us listen to the still small voice as it spoke to me on recent occasion: "Mr. Wayward was not a bad man."

it said, "but he was proud, given to change, ambitious, perverse; his mental exercises and sufferings were many but they were necessary to establish his character on a higher pedestal. He once said, 'When my wife died I was in despair. Oh, my blessed wife, Harmony Wayward was all the world to me. Then I loved my nephew, but he soon followed her. Poor Jack Gonover was a sprightly young fellow and cheered me up a little, but now that he has departed. I am indeed alone

"You speak in riddles," said I "Can't you tell me who was Mr. Wayward and who are you?" It replied: 'I am only a voice crying in the wilderness, but you may know more about Mr. Wayward if you preserve a calm mind." I did so and here is what followed:

I find myself standing on a height overlooking the city and surrounding country. The day was cloudy and dark but on my right two dense clouds part ed and a bright ribbon of light streamed down. It struck the road far off and reached on to the city, passing on in a straight unbroken line along the street, it reminded me of the "straight and narrow way." It terminated far down the street at a closed door. Just inside the door stood a little child in an attitude of expectation. It, the child, wore a white dress (whiter than any fuller on earth could whiten it) and a blue ribbon on the left shoulder which passed across the heart and bosom, the two ends folded together low on the right side. 'The child's home was the light.

I was curious. I looked into the semidarkness beyond the door and I perceived a man, his hat pulled over his eyes, and with his head bent down he was pursuing a zig-zag course in the direction of the door. He seemed to be The faith- in great trouble, and sometimes he would turn to the left and sometimes to the right, he was unsteady and his pathas though automatically moving toward

He reached the door at last and it opened to receive him, then the little child took him by the hand and led him forward. The course they pursued was straight on, and the man seemed to have peace at last. Now I notice that a fashionably dressed lady, driving a splendidly caparisoned horse, and sitting in a light open carriage, drove to the edge of the light, She smiled seductively, displaying her beautiful white teeth.

"Ah, Mr. Wayward," she said, "how do you do? I have come to take you to ride with me: now do come."

"Thank you, madame," said Mr. Way Two years after Bradley's death his witness. With him came 'Anna G. | ward; "I should like to ride around the of that block was once a poorer man than you are now. Pardon me, Mr Wayward, if I criticize you just a little Don't you think you are leading a hum-drum sort of life? Don't you think it is your duty to take your part in the a fairs of your country-to start out in business-make a name for yourselfget rich and act like other men?"

"I really think so myself, madame," sald Mr. Wayward. "Well, here is a store of mine idle; I will rent it to you and help you to be a man. Why, Mr. Wayward, you possess just those qualities which exercised bring wealth."

Mr. Wayward entered into business; he would not lie, he would not over charge and for a time he secured many patrons, but they soon began to com plain that his goods were not in style and many whom he had trusted, failed to pay, and to save the remnant of his capital he had to close his doors. "I am sorry I ever took my hand from the clasp of the little child," he said "There was safety and contentment in the straight and narrow way; I will try to find my way back." He had to pass through many streets before he reached the light, but he found it at last and the little child smiled a welcome. A bishop or high priest of some church awaited their coming, a short distance up the way. He was dressed in the vestments of his office, and when they arrived near him he addressed Mr. Wayward in the pompous style peculiar to the class. "Aw, Mr. Wayward," he said, "Aw glad to meet you. We are erecting a show you how it progresses."

Mr. Wayward felt flattered, and as he drew his hand from that of the little child, he whispered, "It is only for a moment." He little knew what was before him, or the extent of the "moment," but the child knew.

"Mr. Wayward," said the priest when a man possesses great powers don't you think he ought to use them to advance the cause of God and humanity?" "Most assuredly," replied Mr. Wayward. "My knowledge of physiology enables me to decide that you possess great powers of oratory latent within you; now, sir, if you employ these powers in the sacred desk your name would soon be heralded through the length and breadth of the land. The field is great, but the laborers are few; come up to the help of the Lord. There is a pulpit vacant to which I can appoint you at once, and you can be ordained almost immediately." Mr. Wayward accepted the flattering offer.....The new minister drew a crowd, but they soon dropped off. Some said he was too prosy; some said he didn't oil his hair-that he wasn't tony enough. (These two last were absolute facts in real life). Rev. Mr. Wayward called on some of the supporters of his church. The first he visited was the wealthy Mrs. Golden. "Happy to see you, Mr. Wayward," said the Christian lady.

"Thank you, madame," said the preacher. "I was sorry when I saw your pew vacant last Sunday." "Oh, dear, it was a great disappointment to me, my dear pastor; I do so admire your eloquence and elocution, but the fact was, my milliner didn't send home my new hat ordered several days before, and so, you see, the fault was not mine."

When Mr. Wayward took his leave the lady laughed outright. "Well, well," she cried, "that fool doesn't know any thing.

He next called upon the Honorable Mr. Codfish, who received him warmly; he shook both his hands vigorously, as a genuine pillar of the church should al-

'Now, my dear and respected brother, allow me to apologize for my absence from church last Sunday, before you say one word. It was too bad, really too bad, but I could not possibly have attended. The fact was that stupid valet of mine mislaid the diamond I wear in my shirt bosom and when it was found it was rather late to attend, so you see am not to blame, for you know how hate to disturb the sacred services.'

Mr. Wayward resigned his pastorate: many who had signed his roll forgot to pay him, and finally he wandered away, disgusted, from the city. Tired and foot-sore he sat down despondently on a large stone on the roadside-he was without money, homeless and friendless. His thought wandered back to the peaceful and happy past-he buried his face in his hands and wept.

A dapper little man came up spoke to him. "Mr. Wayward," said he, "your position is unfortunate, but, sir, you have only to blame yourself. Nature gave you brains, my dear sir, and you didn't use them.

"I tried to do my duty," said Mr. Wayward; "I tried to direct people to heaven-tried to teach the way of the Lord.' "Mr. Wayward," said the dapper little man, "you have been making a fool of yourself; you ought to have sense enough to know that there is no heaven that people have no souls—that there is no future life and no God." "You startle me; you must admit that at least I was sincere."

"You were sincere and earnest, he cause of your ignorance, you did not fathom even your own motives. Pardon me, sir, for the frankness of speech; it is necessary to be point blank ith men like you. Your sincerity was but superficial; you imagined you were preaching the goodness and mercy of God, when in fact you were only preaching the pride and vanity of Mr. Way

"You may be right," said Mr. Wayward; "I know myself to be a sinner."
"Sir, it is all a farce got up to enable men called priests to live without work. I will leave you this scientific book. Read, mark, learn and inwardly digest it and you will be a wiser man. Good day, sir." Mr. Wayward read on and on as he sat on the cold stone. The world under his feet seemed fast changing into s huge iceberg. Then a strange thing happened. "Uncle, you had better get off tha stone, or you will get the grippe," said a familiar voice. Mr. 'Wayward started. "I should know that voice amongst a thousand, he said; "it is my nephew! It is Jack Gonover!! "Yes, Uncle Wayward; I am here, al

TO WOMEN WHO DREAD MOTHERHOOD!

(Continued on page 8.)

Information How They May Give Birth to Happy Healthy Children Absolutely Without Pain-Sent Prec.

No woman need any longer dread the pains of child-birth, or remain childeas. Dr. J. H. Dye has devoted his life to relieving the sorrows of women. He has proved that all pain at childbirth may be entirely barished, and he will glady tell you how it may be done a bsolutely tree of charge send your name and address to Dr. J. H. Dye, Box 17 Buffalo, N. Y. and he will sond you, Dostpaid, his wonderful book which tells how to give birth to tappy, healthy children, absolutely without pain; at the chew to care sissility. Do not delay, but brites to-cay,

Magnetism

How Prominent Men Develop This Power and Use it to Influence Others - Women, Too, Adepts in This Mysterious Art.

A Reporter Makes Astounding Discoveries—Secret Methods Which Charm and Fascinate the Human Mind.

High Priests of the Occult Reveal Jealeusly Guarded Secrets of Years-A Wonderful New Book by Prominent New York Men.

A wonderful new book entitled "The Secret Power" has just been issued at an expense of over $5,000 by one of the leading colleges of the City of New York. This book is from the pens of the ablest specialists of modern times. The authors gave away the copyright on conditions that 10,000 copies should be distributed to the public free of charge. The Columbia Scientific Academy is now complying with this contract, nd until the edition of 10,000 copies is exhausted you can get a copy of this book absolutely free. The book is profusely illustrated with the most expensive half-tone engravings. It is full of wonderful secrets and startling surprises, and thoroughly explains the real source of the power of personal influence. It fully and completely reveals the fundamental principles of success and influence in every walk of life. The hidden mysteries of personal magnetism, will power and scientific character reading are explained in an intensely interesting manner. Two secret methods of personal influence are described, which positively enable any intelligent person to ex-excise a marvelous influence and control over anyone whom he may wish. These methods are entirely new and have never before been made ublic. A reporter has tried them personally and can vouch for their wonderful power.

The book also describes absolutely certain methods by which you can read the character secrets and lives of every one you meet. No one can deceive you. You can tell what vocation is best for you to follow. You can know the se eret power by which minds of human beings are charmed and fascinated. The newest, latest and best system of physical and mental culture and magnetic healing is fully explained and il-lustrated by beautiful half-tone engravings. No such book has ever before been published. No such wonderful information has ever before been placed in the hands of the public. On account of the mighty power and influence placed in one's hands by this book, the legislature of the State of New York debated whether or not the state ought to permit its promiscuous circulation; but it was finally decided the good it would accomplish would greatly overcome the ill, and its distribution was not interfered with Not long ago John D. Rockefeller, the richest man in America, said, in talking to a Sunday school class, that he regarded his success in life largely to his ability to influence others. Lincoin, Lee, Napoleon and Alexander the Great, all won name and renown by their wonderful power of personal influence. Jay Gould piled up millions by this same power. J. P. Morgan organized the billion dollar steel trust and enriched himself by millions simply by his marvelous ability to influence others. There are to-day thousands of men with the brains and education of Mr. Morgan who are practically paupers. They have the ability to organize a trust, but they have not sufficient power of personal influence. Personal influence, will-power stamina—call it what you will—has from the creation of man been the subtle force that has brought wealth, same and renown to those who were fortunate enough to possess it.

This strange, mysterious influence is inherent in every human being. By the late methods explained by the New York specialist in human magnetic personality, and lear how to read the character, secrets and the lives of others in a few days' study at his own home. You can use this marvelous power without the knowledge of your most intimate friends and associates. You can use it to obtain lucrative employment, to secure an advance in salary, to vin the friendship and influence of others to obtain a greater share of happiness from life. You can be respected, honored, and become leader in your community.

If you are not fully satisfied with your present condition and circumstances; if you long or greater success or more money; if you are not able to influence others to the extent you desire, the reporter would advise you to write at once for free copy of this great work now being given away by the Columbia Scientific Academy.

Mrs. C. Richmond Duxbury, of 472 A Greene Are, Brooklyn, N, Y., the authoress of "New England Folk" recently sent for copies of the books; after carefully examining them and testing the methods of personal influence on her friends and associates, she makes the following statement in a letter to a friend: "Nothing could induce me to part with the advantage that my little knowledge of your books has given me. Any student can acquire it and will be ascinated and delighted with the result."

Fred Perkins of South Haven Mich. South.

ascinated and delighted with the result."

Fred Perkins of South Haven, Mich., says:
"I have been in great demand since I read the work of the Columbia Scientific Academy. People are amazed and mystified at the things I do.
I believe I could make $25 per day reading character alone if I were to charge for my services.
If anyone would have told me I would receive so much wonderful information I would have thought him crazy."

Mrs. Effle Watson, of Martinsville, Ind., says:
"Could I have had access to such information in past years I could have avoided many misfortunes. This work of the Columbia Scientife Academy Shall be my guiding start the appeals." Academy shall be my guiding star the remaining days of my life."

ing days of my me."

If you will send your name and address to the Secretary, L. C. Ocoper, Dept. 159 B, 1941 Broadway, New York City, this book will be sent you absolutely free, postage prepaid. On account of the great expense involved in preparing this book, the Columbia Scientific Academy requests that only people who are espepecially interested write for free copy-only those who desire to achieve greater success and better their condition in life.

Three Remarkable Books "The Divine Pedigree of Man." "The Law of Psychic Phenomena."

"A Scientific Demonstration of ture Life."

The Divine Pedigree of Man, or the Fathernony of Evolution and Psychology to the Fatherhood of God. By Thempson Jay Hudson, LL. D. A most remarkable work. demonstrating the existence of the Soul and Future Life. It is scientific throughout. Price $1.50. Dr. Hudson's work on "The Law of Fsychic Phenomena" is also valuable. Price, $1.50. His "Scientific Demonstration of the Future Life" should be read by all. Price $1.50.

BODY AND SOUL. BY J. OLEGG WRIGHT.

This volume consists of a course of lectures delivered in the trance state, and is certainly no small contribution to the study of the soul. It is a good work to open the eyes to the discusses between the deductive and inductive programment. Bound in cloth, St. For sale at the

THE GOSPEL OF BUDDHA According to Old Records. By Dr. Paul Carus, A translation made from Japanese, under the auspices of the Rev. Shaku Soyer, delegate to the Parliament of Religions. Was published in Japan. Price 81. n Japan. Price, 81.

Church and State. the Bible in the Public Schools; the New 'American' Party. By "Jenerson." Third dition; 28 pages. Price, Deents.

THREE SEVENS A Story of Ancient Phetons. Illustrating the Hermetic Philoso-phy. Price, coth, 61:53

LIFE OF THOMAS PAINE! By the Editor of the National, with Preface and Notes by Peter Eckler. Illustrated with Views of the 'cid Paine Homestead and Paine Monument, at New Rochelle; also portraits of Thomas Cilo Rickman, Joel Barlow, Mary Wolstoneeratt, Madame Roland, Condorce, Brissot, and the most prominent of Paine's friends in Europe and America. Cloth, 76 cents.

MAHOMET, THE ILLUSTRIOUS. By Godfrey Higgins. Eso. This work is one of the Library of Liberal Classics. No author was better qualified to write an impartial and honest life of Mahomet than Godfrey Higgins, and this volume is intensely interesting. It should be read in conjunction with Gibbon's work. Price, 25 cents.

WORE. Price, 25 cents. A collection of VoSIRITUAL HARP A collection of Vocal Music for the Choir. Congregation and Social Circles. By J. M. Peebles and
J. O. Barrett; E. H. Bailey. Musical Editor.
New edition. Culled from a wide field of literature with the most critical care, free from all theological bias, throbbing with the soul of inspiration, embodying the principles and virtues of the spiritual philosophy, set to the most cheerful and popular music (nearly all original) and adapted to all occasions, it is doubtless the most attractive work of the kind ever published. Its beautiful songs, duets and quartets, with plano, organ or melodicon accompaniment, adapted both to public meetings and the social circles. Cloth, 81.25; postige, 14 cents.

In the World Celestial. By DR. T. A. BLAND.

"It is inexpressibly delightful."—Hon C. A. Windle.
"It lifts the reader into enchanting realms."— Medical Glosnor.
"It is intensely interesting."—Hev. Minot J.

"It is intensely interesting."—Nev. Minot J. Savage.

"Three things make this book remarkable. Its authorship, the actounting claims put forth in it, and the pullocophy and revelation of a future life it contains."—B. O. Flower, in the Arena, "It will give us courage to pass through the deep shadows of cheath to the sun-lit clime of the World Celestial."—Rev. H. W. Thomas.

"Everybody will be charmed with it, for it is not only a great Spiritual book, but a most bequitiful somance of two worlds."—Banner of Light.

It is Printed in elegant style and bound in cloth and gold. Pric $1.00.

The Mystic Thesaulus,

or initiation in the Theoretical and Fractical accrets of Astral Truth and Occuit Art. By William F. White Head to Agrippa's "Natural Magic." The book treats of The Symbol of the Cross. Spiritual Gifts, Inspirational Conception, Initiative Exposition. The Astral Brotherhood, Message of the Brotherhood. The Magic Mirror, and Colestial Companionship. It is a good text book for students of the Mystic, and will be sent postpaid, in paper, for $1.00.

Memorial Oration by Col. R. G. Ingersoll a warm friend of his and a great statasman, delivered before the New York Legislature, May 9, 1888. Price 4 cents.

The Devil and the Adventists. An Adventist attack upon Spiritualism re-pulsed. By Moses Hull. Price, 10 cents.

Practical Methods to Insure Success. A valuable little work, full of practical in-struction in matters pertaining to physical, mental and spiritual health. Worth many times its cost. Price 10 cents. THE WORLD BEAUTIFUL.

Series one, two and three. By Lilian Whiting, Three choice volumes, each complete in theely, in which spirituality is related to veryday life in such a way as to make the world beautiful. Price. $1.00 each. MEDIUM SHIP and its DEVELOPMENT.
Absist Development By
W. H. Bach. Paper 25 cents; cloth 50 cents.

ITS ATTAINMENT OF Womany FORM AND FEATURES Beauty The cultivation of personal beauty, based on Hygiene and Health Culture, by twenty physicians and specialists, and edited by Albert Turner. A valuable book for women and therefore for the whole world. Price in elegant cloth binding, $1.00. For sale at this office.

-THE-Christs of the Past and Present.

By MOSES HULL, A comparison of the Christ-work or Mediumship of Biblical Messlabs and the conditions they required, with similar manifestations in Modern Spiritualism. This is a good work to study for arguments with which to meet the very common orthodox question, "Why do you always require conditions for your spiritual manifestations?" Cloth bound, 35 cents; paper 25 cents. For sale at this office.

Were You Born Lucky Star? A complete exposition of the science of Astrology, adapted from the Four Books of Ptolemy, the Astronomer on the art of Reading the Stars, with many illustrations. By A. ALPHEUS. Secretary of the Astrological Society of England and America. Handsomely bound in cloth, gilt top, with beautiful designs stamped on side and back. Price $1.00. For sale at this office.

ORIGIN OF LIFE and How the Spirit Body Grows. By M. Faraday. Price, 10c. For sale at this office

THE TEACHINGS OF JESUS Not Adapted to Modern Civilization, with the Tres Character of Mary Magdalene. By Geo. W. Browtle M. D. Price, 15 cents. For sale at this effice.

Out of the Depths Into the Light. By Samuel Bowles; Mrs. Carrie E. S. Twing, modium. This is a very interesting little book, and will be appreciated from start to finish by all who wish to gain spiritual information. Price Scients.

Man the Microcosm.

His Infinite and Divine Relations. Intuition—
The Light Within. By Glies B. Stebbins.

Price, 10 cents.

WOMAN: Four Centuries of Progress, thinker's International Congress, Chicago, Ill., October, 1893. By Susan H. Wixon. Price, 10c.

PSYGHE is the invention of a practical medium, under spirit develop mediumship. Many, by its use, have received long 'communications from spirit friends, and express great satisfaction. Price, et, and 20 cents extra for expressage.

DISCOVERY OF a LOST TRAIL
BY CHARLES B. NEWGOMB, Author of "All's Right with the World." Cloth 27t pages. Mr. Newcomb made a distinct success with "All's Right with the World," which continues in the front rank of the Metaphysical books that are now se popular. The great number who have seen cheered and strengthened by him will welcome another book by this wills eacher whose words of keip are doing as much to nake the world better by making men and women better able to understand and enjoy it.

"Discovery of a Lost Trail" is a simple study of that strange and beautiful this called life, but grand in its scholarly simplicity. It will be in demand by many who have not previously read metaphysical writings. Price $1.50. For sale at this office.

The Christ Question Settled. Jesus, Man. Medium. Martyr. A symposium by W. E. Coleman. J. S. Loveland, Hudson Tuttle, Moses Hull, J. R. Buchanan, B. B. Hill, Rabbi I. M. Wise, Col. Ingersoil—and what the spirits say about it. By J. M. FEERLES, M. D. Whether this book settles the question or not, it will be found eminently entertaining, and brings together a mass of evidence to establish the historical character of Jesus. A large volume. Price. cloth. $1.25.

AUTOMATIC WRITING, [So-called] with other psychic experiences. By Sara A. Underwood. With half-tone portrait and specimen pages of the writing. Hand-somely bound in cloth. Price, &l. Postuge, 10c.

Paine's Theological Works. Age of Reason, Examination of the Prophe-cies, etc. Illustrated edition. Post 8vo., 432 pagas. Price, cloth, Cl.00.

POEMS FROM THE INNER LIFE. By Lizzie Doten. These poems are truly inspirational and as staple as sugar. Price $1.00. ASTRAL WORSHIP By J. H. Hill, M.D. Avaiuable contribution to the current discussion of religious problems. The author by illustrations and a plansiphere (a representation of the celestial sphere upon a plane with adjustable circles), traces most of the myths which lie at the base of Christianity to their origin in sun and star worship. The astronomical facts given possess great value, the illustrations rare and curious. The book is bound in only one style—heavy boards. Price $1.41

COMMON SENSE By Thomas Paine. A' let, addressed to the inhabitants of America in 1776, with explanatory notice by an English author. Paper, 15 cents.

The Progressive Thinker.

Published every Baturday at 60 Locule St.

J. N. FRANCIS, Editor and Publisher. Entered at Unicego Postonico as second-class matter.

TERMS OF SUBSORIPTION THE PROGRESSIVE TRIESER Will be furnished until further notice, at the following terms, in-variably in advance:

One year.
Six Months.
Thirtwen Weeks.
Single Copy.

Remit by Postosse Money Order, Registered Letter or draft o.g. Chloago or New York. It costs from 10 to it cents to get checks cashed on local banks, so don't send them unless you wish that amount deducted from the amount sent. Address all letters to J. R. FRANCIS, No. 60 Loomis Etreet, Chicago, Ill.

TAKE NOTICE.

 At expiration of subscription, if not renewed, the paper is discontinued. No bills will be sent for extra numbers. For If you do not receive your paper promptly write to us, and any errors in address will be promptly corrected, and missing numbers supplied gratis.

Whenever you desire the address of your paper changed, always give the address of the place to which it is then sent or the change cannot be made.

SATURDAY, MAY 30, 1903.

TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES. The price of The Progressive Thinker per year to foreign countries, is $1.75.

TAKE NOTICE.

All books advertised in the columns of The Progressive Thinker are for sale at this office. Bear this in mind.

AUDSON TUTTLE.

Editor-at-Large for the National Spirit ualist Association.

Mr. Tuttle has been engaged to answer all attacks in the secular or religious press on Spiritualism. Send him clippings when an attack is made, giving date and name of paper. Address him at Berlin Heights, Ohio.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE PUBLIC. All money in donations or collections intended for the N. S. A. Mediums' Home or Relief Fund, should be sent to this office to the secretary, if not directly paid to our authorized missionarles, who can show a missionary certificate of later date than October, 1902. No other is authorized to collect money for this association. Contributions, large or small, are gratefully accepted.

MARY T. LONGLEY,

N. S. A. Secretary. 600 Pennsylvania avenue S. E., Washington, D. C.

A Successful Holdup.

The Bulgarian revolutionists needed money to purchase fire-arms, and their leaders looked about for ways and means. There was Miss Stone, the missionary sent over by the good and confiding souls in America to convert the Turks, or any other savages, who might be interested. The leaders were good orthodox Christians, and to kidnap | years were not set on fire by the Al-Miss Stone was as carrying off of a friend. They knew very well that her American friends could readily be made to believe that the unspeakable Turk had carried her off, and any ransom asked would be paid. The horrible story of brigands sent by the Turkish government, an immediate ransom or death, was sent over to the United States. Our government was duped. and swallowed bait and hook. Like a small boy, wishing aid from a bigger God has laid upon me, and if this does brother, an appeal was made to Russia to use her influence with the Sultan, for Miss Stone's relief.

The churches went at the work of collecting the ransom money with keen zest. The terrible situation of Miss Stone was luridly described in countless pulpits. Her liability to be murdered was as nothing to her being placed in a Turkish seraglio! The money was forthcoming, and Miss Stone, who had been sumptuously cared for by her Christian friends, came to make money in the lecture field, telling us of life among the brigands.

The crafty Bulgarian leaders invested the money thus received in good rifles. and wer ready for rebellion against Such are the facts in the case. The diplomatic correspondence just published shows that the Turks had nothing to do with the matter. They were absolutely innocent of the charges made against them.

This duplicity on the part of the leaders in the Macedonian movement has the effect to weaken sympathy for their cause, and casts discredit on the constantly reported "atrocities" against Christians by the Turks. The facts are that the "Christians" are as zealous and 'strenuous" as the Mohammedans, and provoke the attacks of which they com-

The Turkish empire may be a "sick man," but if driven to conflict, the nations who provoke the combat will find a desperate foe who is brave by his belief in fate, and Allah, and knows not

A pretty dramatic excitement was created by the kidnepping of Miss Stone. The days of the martyrs appeared returning. She could not be made a martyr of at home, and sought it in the mountains of Bulgaria. No one sent for her-no one wanted her there. She went to gratify her own desire for notoriety, and received a full share. She made no conversion of Turks. All the missionaries sent have never converted a Mohammedan. No one expects

She made a goodly draft on the pockets of her friends, who unwittingly contributed to the war fund of Macedonia. She brought the government of this country into a position that is regrettable for its unsophisticated credulity.

Miss Stone was at no time in more danger than she is here at home, in the pulpit telling her story, and if the Americans had said the blackmail demanded by these Christians of Bulgaria will not be paid, she would have been set at lib.

all should be in every home:
Occult Physician, Medical, by Mrs.

It was urged at the time ... setting a bad precedent; for if the sav-ages found out that missionaries would be ransomed, there would be a constant to cents; Leaflets of Truth, Karl, 30 succession of kidnapping. The Africans and South Sea Islanders may make tures, Peebles, 25 cents; Whither the pot-pie of missionaries, but they have Wind Bloweth, Venner, 20 cents; Vionever caught on to the more profitable lets, poems, Straub, 10 cents; Longransom business. Only good and pious ley's Beautiful Songs, with music, two Christians do that.

"Continuity of Life a Cosmic Truth." By Prof. W. M. Lockwood. The work of strong, logical thinker, on a deeply Important subject. Price, cloth, $1. Handy Electrical Dictionary." practical handbook of reference, containing definitions of overy used electrical term or phrase. Price 25 conts.

Peculiar, 127 In a report of the testimony in the terrible murder of Miss Reichlin, in Lorain, Ohio, it appears that Rev. Father Walser was sleeping in a room adjoining that occupied by the victim. He was arrested on suspicion, but released for want of evidence. He was awakened out of sound sleep by the cry of Miss Reichlin-so he testifies and his door opened and a man appeared. He jump.

up and chased the man away. Then he went to Miss Reichlin's brother's room, and told him that something had happened to his sister. The brother went into the room to find his sister horribly murdered. Father Walser refused to go, saying he could not bear the sight! As he had not been into the room, knew nothing about the murder, why should he stand weeping and say he could not bear the sight? Then he said to her brother that he could not recover from the shock and say mass next day for the dead without a stimulus, and herbrother went out to a saloon and bought a gallon of whisky.

-This rises a question of moment. Is it customary for priests to drink a gal-lon of whisky to get strength for a prolonged saying of mass for the dead? Or because of the victim being mur-dered did it require an extra quantity? Is it the fervor awakened by the whisky or the whisky itself that is effective in mass saying as a help for the spirit in purgatory?

An ordinary mortal would have thought a quart would have toned up the holy father's shatered nerves. What must have been his condition when he felt he wanted a whole gallon! He belongs to the small and exclusive order of the "Fathers of the Sacred Blood," and appears to believe that the most sacred blood is good Kentucky whisky! Altogether this little episode lets a ray of light on the ways of life of the priesthood, showing it to be quite different from what it is supposed to be by their followers. Self-abnegation, pen-ance, self-restraint, unselfish devotion resolve into a full and free gratification. the fact of which is written on the gross and red faces of the "holy fathers."

God's Judgment on the Adventists.

It does seem rather strange to an unprejudiced outsider that a people who take so much pains as Adventists do to obey the commands of God as laid down in His holy book, should yet be accounted great sinners, and even as other wicked people who make no pretensions to conform to God's commands in all things, should be subjected to the fierce punitive wrath of Jehovah, because of their sins and impenitence.

According to Mrs. Ellen White, the star prophetess of the Adventist sect. they are a bad lot and need the stern corrective (or destructive) hand of the Almighty laid in judgment upon them, to bring them to repentance and cessation from their wicked ways.

As stated by the Chicago Record-Herald, of recent date, Mrs. Ellen White, prophetess, has made a statement of her feelings in regard to the belief of some Adventists that the five buildings lost by the Adventists in the last two mighty, but were destroyed by incendiaries. She says: To My Brethren in Battle Creek:-I am bowed down and greatly troubled. God's judgments have fallen heavily on our institution in Battle Creek, but how little has this done to move hearts to repentance. Fear and trembling take hold of me as to what will be the next revelation of God's displeasure. Those who have disregarded the messages of warning have lost their bearings. They have before them the result of the work street. ture revelations would affect them.

The result will be that God will speak again in judgment as He has spoken heretofore. When, for years, His messages of warning have come to institutions and individuals and no warning is taken, what power will convince them? Only the power of God revealed in judg-

It is to be hoped that our Adventist brethren will heed the prophetess' solemn warning, and turn from their sinful ways, and bring forth fruits meet for repentance, ere they are made to feel the heavy hand of an angry God laid in wrath upon them.

Disheartening Views of an Episcopal Bishop.

Bishop Lawrence, at the 118th annual convention of the Episcopal church, in the diocese of Massachusetts, held in Boston, May 13, does not take a very roseate view of the church situation. He said:

"So far as statistics can show it is doubtful if the church is more than keeping pace with the population. The ministry is not apparently increasing in number or power. A great proportion of the enlightened men and leaders of our communities have no active interest in the church. There is a great mass of fine character and of Christian temper outside the church. Infidelity, sincere and insincere, is all about us.

In this light the Bishop thought that the talk of changing the name of church, as proposed, was of secondary consideration and had better be postponed until it became evident that it was worth while to take the trouble. He appears to be in the state of mind a mother would be over an infant that may or may not live long enough to make it an object to give it a name. It would be too much of a joke to re christen the Episcopal church, just as with palsied footsteps it sank in the grave. Its death as the "American Episcopal," would be less dramatic than that of the superannuated Church of England. Books for Sale at N. S. A. Office. The following valuable works are on sale at the N. S. A. office—a number of each, having been gratuitously contributed to the National Association to aid in its good work, with permission to sell them at reduced prices as quoted; each has peculiar merits of its own and Matteson, $1; 'Lisbeth, Fiction, by C. E. t was S. Twing, 90 cents; God's Smiles, Magcents; Three Jubilee Lectures, with picvolumes in one cover, 15 cents; also a fine picture, cabinet size, of N. S. A. headquarters, 10 cents. Any of the above is a rare bargain, and will be sent postpaid for price.

MARY T. LONGLEY, Sec'y. 600 Pennsylvania avenue S. E., Washington, D. C.

"Meatless Dishes." Very useful. Price 10 cents.

A PECULIAR CASE.

Wealthy Woman Loses Her Personality

A Wealthy Woman Who Became a Penniless and Nameless Wanderer in the Streets of a Strange City — The Friends She Found, the Search for Her Children, and How Her Memory

"I know who I am," I said. "I live in Wilkesherra and I have six children Was Fnally Regained.—Was it a Case Wilkesbarre, and I have six children of Spirit Control?

With her memory suddenly blotted out [as set forth in the New York World] as though by a lightning bolt, Mrs. George Wallace, a wealthy widow of Wilkesbarre. Pa.. wandered away With her memory suddenly blotted of Wilkesbarre, Pa., wandered away from her home last November and lived as a servant among strange people for five months without regaining her mind or discovering her identity.

From her home in Wilkesbarre she traveled to Newark without knowing how she got there or why. She lived out as a servant, without knowing that she had ever been other than a servant. After a lapse of five months her memory suddenly returned, and a few days ago Mrs. Wallace rejoined her family in Sayre, Pa., whither they had gone.

It was on the 21st of last November that Mrs. Wallace left some friends on Northampton street after an afternoon's shopping and started for her home four blocks away. She was well dressed had $10 in her pocketbook, and seemed to be cheerful and happy. In the four blocks to her home she lost herself so completely that even now she has no recollection of what the lapse of memory occurred I cannot now she has no reconceron of the lapse of memory occurred realist happened. Six nights afterward she say. My children believe that sorrow was tramping the streets of a strange over my husband's death had much to city penniless and hungry, not knowing who she was or why she was there. she knew nothing but that she wanted shelter. She had no recollection of the the past, no realization of the present was in her mind. It was like the dead arising into life without memory—like the birth of a full-grown woman into a

Here is Mrs. Wallace's wonderful story, so far as her memory can cover

BY MRS. GEORGE WALLACE.

I can only account for my strange loss of memory by the fact that for a year or more I had been grieving over the death of my beloved husband. I was also greatly worried over the settlement of his estate.

I can remember now that I was feeling particularly well and strong when I started out shopping on the afternoon of Nov. 21. There were two railway home, and when my memory deserted me I must have gone into one of these stations and bought an east-bound Some Strange Cases of Lost Memory.

When the five days' blank was ended I found myself walking along the disappeared Jan. 2, 1901. streets of a strange city. Since then I Dr. William H. Bates have learned that it was Newark. I did No. 567 Park avenue, Aug. 30, 1902, and not know why I was there. It did not has not yet been found. seem strange to me. Neither did I know that I ever had a home. In fact, 2159 Eighth avenue, in June, 1901, and

Awakening to a New Life.

I seemed to have barely enough intelligence to know that I must live and that in order to live I must work. A drizzling rain was falling and the streets were slushy with melted snow and mud. It seemed perfectly natural that I should be walking about the streets. I did not know that an awful gulf lay between me and the past. I did not know the value of names or of circumstances.

I date the memory of my new life as an unknown from the time I found myself walking along the rainy Newark not convince them no arguments, no fully stand, but nobody seemed to pay any ary way it must have come upon me to apply to some person for assistance. I remember applying to a family living near a big church. They were very kind, but when they asked me my name and I could not reply they sent me away. Even then I did not think it queer that I should be nameless. I must have been something like a child in my mind. It is fortunate, however, that I remembered enough about house hold work to make it available later on. In the evening of that rainy day Fate led my footsteps into Sumner street. I was told afterward that it was Thanksgiving Eve. I rang the doorbells of two or three houses where food and shelter were refused. The last place I applied was No. 629 Sumner street, the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Stern. There must have been something in my miserable appearance which excited the pity of Mrs. Stern.

How She Found a Friend.

At any rate she invited me in and gave me food and shelter for which I offered to pay with work. "We will talk about that in the morning." she said. On the following day, notwithstanding the fact that I could not remember my name, Mrs. Stern offered to employ me at housework, and I accepted the offer with deep gratitude, as I did not know what else to do.

For days and weeks, and it may be months, I worked for Mrs. Stern as a servant. One time, after a long, hard day's work, the strange absence of any memory of my childhood began to dawn upon me. I realized that I had no past. I saw other women with children about me, other women with happy homes, other women with husbands. Where was my childhood, my home, my husband? The thoughts gave me a ize that I could not remember further on that dull November morning.

Through constant brooding I grew gradually to realize that I was not a for me somewhere, and that I had relatives and friends and a home.

Remembered Her Childhood First. Gradually this feeling grew upon me. that Mrs. Stern noticed it and asked me if I were ill. My reviving memory seemed to resemble the shoots of newly sprouted plants. But they were constantly growing, and each day I felt nearer to the solution of an awful mystery.

I believe that the first I really remembered were scenes of my childhoodthe old home, the flowers about the As time passed Mrs. Stern noticed that I was growing more and more preoccupied. I know now that I was mentally traveling over my past life and that eventually I would succeed in tracing my entire history. One day while working in the kitchen

My memory seemed to clear as though Let us hear from her. Wilkesbarre!"

Large Crowd Hears Prof. Wm. Lock-

I was so excited that I could not do have done in my peculiar condition. But Mrs. Stern counselled and soothed me and finally sent word to my city. Prof. Lockwood was greeted by a crowded house and received the sister, Mrs. Kate Crossley, of Sayre, Pa. closest attention. This was the first step which united me again with my family. In a few days there came a ring at the doorbell and in walked my sister Kato and my oldest daughter Elizabeth. Words cannot describe my feelings. his lecture throughout. He began by I felt as though I had been snatched from the grave. On the following day we started for my sister's home in Sayre, where I met the rest of my chiladdressing his audience as "Friends of human progress."

I learned then that my home in Wilkesbarre had been rented after weeks of sorrow over my disappearance. My children had been taken to relatives in Sayre, as the belief seemed to be general that I was dead.
I will remain at Sayre with my children

there. I must go to them at once."

By Elizabeth Wallace, Daughter of the Victim of Lost Memory.

Although there was not a clue by which my mother could be traced when she left home five months ago, I never for an instant gave up hope of seeing her again.

For many weeks I searched everywhere, an even when the police gave up hope and told me that she was undoubtedly dead I said to them time and again:

"You may think what you like, but mother is not dead. I feel that she is alive and will return to us. I do not know when or how, but I shall

It took five long months to verify my faith, and when the other day, I clasped my long-absent mother in my arms the noon of Nov. 21. There were two rail-first words I said were: "I knew I would road depots which I had to pass on my find you mother. I felt all along that you were alive and well.'

> Thomas H. Todd, editor and proprietor of the Long Island City Daily News,

Dr. William H. Bates left his home John J. Mitchell left his home, No

has not yet returned. Fritz Prolochs walked out of his sa loon in his slippers on June 27, 1901, and is still absent. George W. Kline, city marshal, disappeared on Dec. 10, 1901. Dr. William Clifford McDonald left the Harvard Club, in this city, in April, 1901, and has not been seen since. Arthur David Hammond disappeared from the Park Row Building in Decem-

Rev. William H. Dexter, principal of the Normal Academy, Nyack, disappeared from the Fifth Avenue Hotel in November, 1899.

Rev. Edward A. Waldo, of the University Settlement, was found in February, 1902, after an absence of six years.

The fact that in many cases of socalled lapse of memory the party assumes an entire different name with certain distinguishing traits of character, induces one to believe that a spirit assumes control of the body, and for a time works out in the borrowed organism some special mission. Hundreds of these mysterious disappearances occur every year, and they seem more frequent now than ever before.

Spirit Controls Man's Action.

Here is a short quotation from the Chicago Examiner that seems to strike at the root of the drink habit, which does not always mean intemperance, but which is apt to lead down to it; at any rate, according to science it means putting just so much poison into the human system. Here is the item:

Your editorial in a recent issue, "Who Teaches Women to Drink?" was elabo rately handled from the point of view from which it was discussed, namely the man's responsibility. But allow me to criticise that which your editor took for the man's responsibility as being the primary factor, or of so great importance as to take it as a subject for his first editorial on this vital question. It is not my intention now to take up the valuable space of your paper for any lengthy discussion of the subject, but only to bring forward a few words and ideas from one who has suffered in childhood from a father's drunkenness and fought his life's battles single-handed since the age of sixteen. For my own part I place the responsibility of drunkenness on the individual (man or woman) and all other influences are secondary thereto, as: First. heredity; second, family impressions and suggestions, and third, associations (whereof man's responsibility forms a great feeling of unrest. My life began part). Every mortal life consists of to look strange to me. I began to real- spirit and material (body), the body being the mechanism through which the back than the rainy streets of Newark spirit works. It is the spirit of man who is the man, who loves, hates, etc., and the body is the machinery or his means. It is through this machine that professional servant, that I had lived the spirit acquires its habits—and likeanother life, that children were waiting wise the liquor habit. It is wrong to suppose the body, as being a secondary factor of life, should be the ruler of the primary—the spirit. I am sorry to say that most of us are slaves of our passions or habits, or, in other words, our t, made me so abstracted in my work spirituality is led or influenced by our animal desires (bodily-material).

conquer its own acquired bad habits, but also to give out assistance to others. Therefore, I say, the root of the evil is in the individual, and our conditions cannot be changed in the least be fore the root is taken away. And this can be done by telling, showing, conhouse, my school days, my school vincing every man and woman that he friends. But still I could not remember has a power in himself, an unlimited power, not only to conquer the desires he, in his ignorance, has acquired, or allthe hereditary desires or wrong impres-sions or suggestions he from childhood or through associations has acquired, Inconsistencies and Blasphemies; a Rebut to make his life as he desires to view of Rev. T. DeWitt and Rev Frank have it—be ruler of his own destiny. DeWitt Talmage's oft-repeated attacks And how to awaken this power, conit came to me like a flash. A voice seem to say to me, "You are Mrs. I am glad to read that so able a writer George Wallace and your home is in as Wilcox scatters seeds of this kind. T. R. KUMALEHTO.

DISCUSSED AT THE ODD FELLOWS

wood, of Chicago, Explain Why He Believes in Spiritualism-An Interesting Lecture. "If a man die shall he live again?"

One phase of this great question which from time immemorial has received the ittention of the great body of mankind from the profoundest scholar to the humblest and most illiterate, was the subject of an interesting lecture by Prof. William Lockwood, a scientist, scholar and author, of Chicago, last night. The lecture was given in the Odd Fellows' hall under the auspices of the First Spiritualist association of this

Unlike the majority of lectures or addresses on religious subjects, Prof. Lockwood did not start out by addressng his audience as "My Christian friends" or "Brethren and sisters," but his first sentence was characteristic of

The topic for last night's lecture was "The Influence of Modern Scientific Discovery on Religious Thought."

The professor began by addressing himself to the thinkers of the audience. He declared he would rather talk to twenty-five people who think than 2,500 who do not. The thinkers, said he, are the people who move the world. He referred to Galileo and his great discovery and how it had revolutionized the knowledge of the world, how in his life time he was hooted at and scorned, but that now no one would stultify himself by professing to believe other than what Galileo taught. He then declared that spiritual philosophy was revolutionizing the great systems of religious belief as radically as Galileo's ideas had in material matters. "All the great laws of nature," declared he, "are principles of psychic phenomena, and in the same proportion that we understand nature do we understand the great principles of spiritual philosophy lying behind it."

Spiritual Philosophy.

Prof. Lockwood said that he had come into his knowledge of spiritual philosophy through chemistry. Everything in nature is formed, effected, acted upon and changed from one form to another by invisible processes. Everything in nature is visible proof of these invisible spiritual processes. In the same manner a form develops itself on the negative in a photograph camera does the spirit form develop itself on the spiritual vision of the medium in the seance room. A medium is a person who has a particular development in some special line, it may be music, chemistry, theology or what not. In the same way a Spiritualistic medium is one who has a particular development in the psychic relation. Mediumship belongs to the entire realm of human and spiritual philosophy.

"It is not known," he said, "when this belief in another or spirit life first began, but it was well known in Egypt 17,- 000 years before the Christian era." For the benefit of those who believe the world has not been in existence so long he quoted Huxley to prove that the world has been in existence 40,000,-

000 years, if not longer. Continuing he declared that Spiritualism was known and believed in by many of the Roman senate and was in great vogue 500 B. C. It afterwards suffered decline and began to be revived within a few years of the discovery of the

Morse telegraph. Prof. Lockwood then gave the history of the beginning or the discovery of Old Testament canon." But the "light" spirit rappings by the Fox sisters at Hydesville, and said "spirit rapping is upon the subject, in connection with the "word of God." J. S. LOVELAND. as much a proof of an intelligence be-tween two realms as is a message on a brings this conclusion: Ezra, the priest, telegraphic instrument an intelligence passing between persons in different parts of the country. It is the consciousness that operates the instrument -not the hand. It is consciousness talking to consciousness. The instrument is only a means of communication. In the same way in psychic philosophy the inhabitant of the spirit land uses the vocal organs, etc., of the medium." At the close of Prof. Lockwood's address Rev. G. W. Way gave several spirit messages from departed friends to great ancestor of the Jews. One of the The sciences were secondary. The pu persons in the audience and in every case the recipient of the message declared his description of the parties and even the names given by Mr. Way were true. It was a highly instructive and interesting meeting. Prof. Lockwood will lecture this evening at the same place on the "Scientific Proof of Con-tinued Life." This will also be follower by a seance by Rev. Way.-Wheeling (W. Va.) Telegraph.

Professor Denton's Message.

"I was a speaker of the truth when in the body, as far as I could see it. Since passing from the body I find all my wonderful knowledge counts for very little in the spirit world. After resting for a time to regain my strength, I be gan to look around me for confirmation of my ideas of things in general and of the spirit world in particular. I find in some instances in regard to the spiritual world they were correct; in others they were wrong in regard to the earthly knowledge pertaining to any historical facts. I find that not in one event out of ten do we get the true facts as they transpired. We get them only so far as the writer is willing to record them and often leaving out the most essential part, because it was not in acord with his ideas of what it should have been. I find all the knowledge we really possess is what we ourselves wit ness. When I awoke to this fact overlooked my bundle of facts and when I had sifted the true from the false I found I had only about one-third left, and I was not sure one half of that was true. But do not let my experience hinder any one from obtaining all the learning they can, for they expand the capacity of the mind, and so prepare for the true knowledge. It seemed to me at one time that there were only two things that were true, one was, the sun shone; and the other was that spirits returned to earth and made their pres The spirit is the primary factor and ence known. Some time in the future ruler and has the power not only to I hope to speak to the people some ence known. Some time in the future words of truth. I was called Professor Denton. Mrs. Sallie Finney, Medium, Plymouth

Mass.

"The Spiritual Significance, or, Death as an Event in Life." By Lilian Whiting. One of Miss Whiting's most suggestive, intensely interesting, spiritual books. It is laden with rich, thoughtful spirituality. For sale at this office. Rrice $1. "Talmagean Inanities, Incongruities upon Spiritualism." By Moses Hull. For sale at this office. Price ten cents. "A Plea for the New Woman." By May Collins. An address delivered be-fore the Ohio Liberal Society. For sale at this office. Price 10 cents.

DIGGING FOR ABRAHAM

And the Ancient Hebrew Nation in Babylonia.

norance instead of downright dishonof their residence there. But when we come to examine their recent literature upon the archeological explorations in Babylonia it is a most any allowance for ignorance, for the principal men engaged in those explorations are by no means ignorant. They know that their discoveries completely feet in this attempt to prove an Abraannihilate the claims of both Jews and ham as ancestor of the Jews. The as-Christians to the sacred character of sumption is that Abraham emigrated the Old Testament writings, especially from Chaldea during a period of Elamio those of the first five books called the supremacy, and that with a little more Pentateuch. They know, and admit that powerful empires, with an advanced civilization, existed before the creation of the universe according to God's holy word as contained in the Bible. They know that the stories of creation, flood, garden, ham died 1821 B. C., at the age of 175 Sabbath, etc., were on record in the literature of those nations centuries before the Bible date of creation. Hence, they know that these stories were bor rowed from those ancient traditions; and, therefore, there was no such creation, no garden of Eden, no Adam and Eve, no temptation, nor fall; and that the construction of the distance of the dist their entire theological system rests their conclusion without ever thinking upon ancient fables.

And the New Testament starts out upon these same old fables in its genealogies running back to Adam through Abraham, one of the prominent characters of the fabulous stories. And yet with that knowledge, they put forth the pretense that these new discoveries confirm and illustrate the Old Testament as a historical record, when they know that these Bible stories are garbled copies of the old Babylonian traditions.

To illustrate this position, I will quote some of the statements made upon the subject. Saye one writer, referring to Chaldee letters were adopted in connecthe inscriptions found in the ancient library of Nippur: "They supply many gaps, which are known to exist in Gen- not a Chaldean. More likely was he to esis. They turn light on the origin of the Jews and the Jewish religion, and tribe of Arabs than a member of any of the Jews and the Jewish rengion, and the civilized nations of the Babylonian the facts outlined in the Old Testa-region. According to the story, he was ment."

the life, religion and arts of the brews. cal setting of the time when Abraham went into Palestine. Many of the customs and religions, mention of which existed among the Hebrews, will find here their first interpretation."

Jews and their religion and origin was the first sentence has been given where tioned. Where is the "light," where the "corroboration" of the facts outthey "affect the knowledge of the life, religion and arts of the Hebrews?" what books survived the destruction of with the "LAW" written in the time of Josiah, and some other fragmentary documents, made the first successful attempt to establish a Jewish religion. Having had access to Ashurbanipal's lition, flood and other accounts, and by a most outrageous falsification of chronology, and the invention of the fabuaster of Genesis and the correctness of its chronology, than which nothing could be more wide of the truth. And the singular fact is that these very writers show, from the indisputable records unearthed at Nippur, that the chronology of Genesis is a pure fable, and its pretended history also. When you take away Adam, the serpent, Enoch, Noah, etc., where is your Abraham? According to the story he was a generations, as Shem the so of Noah lived to his time. But the careless reader, perusing the juotations made above, would infer that there was some account of Abraham and the origin of the Hebrew peo-But not a sentence has been found as yet. But the reader will most likely insist there must be something on which those assertions are based. I will, therefore, furnish the basis on which all those pretenses rest. I quote from Dr. Peters, who was the main instrument in getting up the expedition to explore Nippur, and was the director of the excavations the first two years. told of an expedition, which Amraphel, king of Shinar, Arioch, king of Ellasar, Chedarlaomer, king of Elam, and Tidal, west land, and particularly against the cities of the Jordan valley. Golim the Babylonian inscriptions. Chedarlaomer is Kudar-Lagornar; Arioch, king of Ellasar is Eriaku, king of Larsa; and Amraphel, king of Shinar, appears to be Hammurabi, king of Babylon." Here is the sum of the evidence found lineal descendant from Noah and was

cotemporary with some eight or ten in the Babylonian explorations of the numbers of each. The banner to repreemigration of Abraham from Ur of the Chaldees, and the origin of the Jewish | manity of the Universal Republic." people. Please look at it. Study it I would like to hear from my brothers and comprehend its logic. Let us give and sisters on the subject, through The it all the weight it deserves.

The eminent scholars have found the names of four kings in the Babylonian inscriptions, which they assume to be the same as found in the fourteenth chapter of Genesis. But compare them. What resemblance is there between Arioch and Eriaku? Or Blasur and Larsa? How can Gutium be transposed into Golim, which means nations, and is so given in Genesis? Chedarlaomer is more like Kudar-Lagoinar than any of the rest. But look at "Amraphel, king of Shinar." How can you convert that name into Rammurabi? Or Shinar into does it appear? "It appears," to me as this office.

In a recent article upon the dishon- a most desperate assumption. A foolesty of the clergy in reference to straw hardy attempt to find something in less brick in two of the ruined cities of their costry diggings to bolster up the Egypt, I suggested that it might be ig- fabulous stories of the Old Testament, There is no proof that these four esty which was at the basis of the claim that those strawless brick were made ever were allied together. But there is by the Jews when enslaved in Egypt, abundant history that the Elamite and and that they confirmed the Bible story | Babylonian monarchs were in constant conflict. Sometimes one was victoric ous, sometimes the other. They do not seem to have found in the inscriptions the name "Tidal, king of nations"; nor fearful tax upon our charity to make indicated what, or where those nations were located. But such a lack amounts to nothing with a Bible advocate.

There is, however, one most fatal dethan three hundred men overtook and completely defeated four powerful monarchs, among them Hammurabi, king of Babylon. Now the question is, were Abraham and Hammurabi cotemporary? According to Bible chronology Abrayears. This would place his birth at 1996 B. C. Hammurabi, who conquered Elam, instead of being its ally, flourished 2250 B. C., that is 254 years before the birth of the mythical Abraham! read and accept of instituting a critical examination. In closing this article, I wish to present one more feature of this Abraham story, showing its utter absurdity and impossibility. As related in Genesis Abraham was a Chaldean, Consequently he spoke the language of his country, and his descendants would speak the same. But the language of the Jews was not Chaldee, but Hebrew. And though what are now called Hebrew letters are Chaldee, the original ones, as found on the coins of the Maccabees and in the Samaritan Pentateuch are entirely unlike them. The tion with the captivity. Whoever, then, was the ancestor of the Hebrews, was have been a chief of some Bedaween a wandering shick with flocks and Another writer says, "The discover-ies noticeably affect the knowledge of least a partially civilized and educated people. They dwelt in cities and were The library gives us a historia commercial people. In fact, there is ding of the time when Abraham nothing in the Genesis Abraham which furnishes any analogy between him and the Chaldeans, while the resemblance to the Arabs is easily recognized.

It would seem from these facts that Any one reading and depending upon these extracts would suppose that the mythical character. And if anything more was necessary to prove it, the gediscussed, or at least mentioned in nealogy would furnish it. According to these early histories. Are they? Not that Abraham was the ninth generation from Shem, tenth from Noah, and to his the first sentence has been given where Jews, Hebrews or Abraham are men-light." where flood. He lived 175 years and at his death Shem was still living, and lived lined in the Old Testament? How do 33 years longer. Abraham was called an old man at 175 years and yet Shem, aged 569 years, was still living, and so But, most important, most revealing also was Arphaxad, the son of Shem. Instead of being an old man, he was a Bible stories to which we have referred. very young man compared with some of Bible stories to which we have referred.

The most learned Christian doctors his ancestors then living. The fabulous character of the story is evident also from the fact that Shem is made to live the temple and completed part of the during twelve if not thirteen successive generations. And these fables are Summerland, Cal. A Good Departure for the Colleges.

The curriculum of the standard college or university has been almost changeless for a century, the English brary, which contained translations Oxford setting the example. It was from that of Nippur, the oldest one in made up when there was very little out the world, he stole therefrom the crea- side of the dead languages and mathematics to learn and hence the four of six years of college life was largely delous genealogies, he made Abraham the voted to Greek, Latin and mathematics, quotations assumes the historical charpils had no choice. If they won diplomas they must take the prescribed course, and proficiency in Latin and Greek were most essential. The University of Virginia, founded by Thomas Jefferson, from its beginning offered its students the opportunity of selecting such a course of studies as they pre-In this the wonderful breadth of mind and foresight of Jefforson is exhibited. Now Yale, the most conservative, has followed Harvard, and the freshmen have the choice of five courses of study, This is conforming to the new requirements of modern life. The classic course will for some time receive the highest honors, but this is destined to yield to the common sense demands of a practical education.

The Banner of Peace.

Allow me to call the attention of my brothers and sisters to a subject that I have spoken of before in The Progressive Thinker, in regard to a banner that was shown me in the daytime, in my normal condition. The banner as first seen was cream-white color, then there In Nippur, Vol. 2, p. 256, he says: "It came a sky-blue border all around the was apparently during this period of banner, then there came a golden dove Elamite supremacy that, according to in the center of the banner, with an Hebrew tradition, Abraham, the ancestor of their race emigrated into Canaan, word Peace, in golden letters under the and the 14th chapter of Genesis gives dove. Then came the message from the us a glimpse of the condition of Baby- delegate that showed me the banner, lonia in that period from an outside saying: "We have organized a Peace standpoint. In that chapter we are Society in the spirit world, with delegates from all nations, to counsel together in regard to bringing peace on earth, and I was sent as a delegate to king of Golim conducted against the show you the Banner of Peace chosen by the councillors from all nations, and asking our brothers and sisters to join seems to be Gutium, often mentioned in us in our efforts to establish peace on earth, to form peace societies, regardless of creed, sect or nationality, and each society to settle all difficulties that arise, by arbitration, the arbitrators to be chosen by vote in each society, the arbitrators to be men and women, equal sent the brother and sisterhood of hu-

Progressive Thinker.

A. C. DOANE, Summerland, Cal.

ZURILDA WELLINGTON. Or Life in Two Worlds.

The above is the title of a message from the spirit side of life through the mediumship of Mrs. M. Pasquier Curran; of St. Louis, Mo. Emanating, as it does, from the spirit side of life, it will prove especially interesting. Everybody should read it. Babylon? Dr. Peters says "Amraphel Gleanings from the Rostrum." By appears to be Hammurabi." But how A. B. French. Cloth, $1. For sale at

Karma, Sternal Punishment and kindred Words, in the Light of the SOUI TEACHINGS.

A Discourse by the Guides of Mrs. Cora L. V. Richmond.

THE EVERLASTING LAW—THE LAW OF REACTION— and the eternal law or purpose; and that conscience of man | enough to withstand that moral purpose? Every seashore form and invite that which is a part of our experience to win

You are not very evangelical in this congregation, yet many of the texts, if interpreted aright, both in the Old and New Testaments bear great light upon this subject. For in-

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord, from henceand their works do follow them."

Another text: "As the tree fulleth, so shall it lie."

misinterpreted, each to suit the different denominational room for symbolical interpretation.

In a rather involved sense. We do not mean this disrespect- enced. fully, it is because the western mind has not the thought or training of the Orient. According to Vivi Kananda and Mr. the law of reaction, that from a superficial height of material Ghandi, Brahmin and Janus respectively, and according to greatness to a valley of lowliness is important physically and the Vedic Interpretation, Karma is consequence, but nowhere in the Oriental philosophy do we find that the consequence is greater than the cause, or that the result is greater likely to be what you call a real idiot the next time, It is than that producing it.

Therefore, when Mr, Sinnett and Madam Blavatsky in consequences in the life of flesh that the spark of the Infilost, it is not only illogical, but discouraging.

Karma is good or bad result. The good or bad which seems to accrue from human experiences according to their they take to drink and people say: "Oh! what a pity, that teaching. Now if the bad Karma—the consequence of evil such a good man has fallen." Do not be mistaken, no good deeds-can so envelop and immure this divine spark, which is still a part of the Infinite, that it cannot be extricated and tion. Like Achilles, he may have had one vulnerable point. is finally lost, the loss of a great many souls would deplete The great power of the spirit is to be invulnerable in every the Infinite to a very great degree. We cannot reasonably direction. When a good man "falls," as it is called, that accept the thought, nor do we think it consistent with the point has not been guarded by strength or conquest. The teaching of Buddha. As far as we discern in Edwin Arnold's goodness was upon the outside and not from within. When interpretation of Buddha there is no involving of any spark the attainment is won it cannot be unattained, and the real from the Infinite in eternal karma, or eternal night. Again, victory is knowing how the other man feels that has been It is a frequent expression of Theosophists—we think we are tempted. You cannot place yourself in the other man's positrying to treat this fairly—if one is walking in the shadows or in the pathway of distress, "Oh, it is evil karma, something you have brought over from a previous existence." They explain everything in that way.

Of course we are perfectly well aware that the shadow of one's deeds may linger about one. But deeds are the results of thoughts, and thoughts are the results of conditions not having been vanquished, the things that are shadowy. Now If it is true that time, and sense and the conditions of human gang go by: "But for the grace of God there goes John Bun- tact with earthly conditions there is a law of reaction as well life—which are here for expression—and human desires are yan." They were not in a state of censure; they were illus-

Our idea of this teaching is, that it is not expressive in the translation or interpretation of Theosophists of what was originally intended: That karma, or kerma, may be the shadow or consequence of what has been bad, or of light or trijumph of what has been good; but that in the end, in the ulti- Siberia is peopled with patriots and lovers of freedom like ly what is meant by that. Yet the evangelical orthodox great the intervening shadow.

THE EVERLASTING LAW.

fasting punishment or eternal Hades. The fact is that there Is an everlasting law of punishment; just the same as there is an everlasting law of karma or consequence. But the fact that the law is always in operation does not prove that individuals are to be eternally punished for things that are finite. ment. It seems there is an eternal principle of nemesis, "retribu-Ation," or "consequence," or whatever you call it that is in murderer or the other sinner against society, the offender operation; if you are in a state of disobedience, or in a state would be left to that which would inevitably come; the conof what is called violation of the moral or spiritual law, you sequence of his own condition, the reaction of his own state. are then in a state that renders you subject to this "eternal It always proves to be the nemesis after a while. fire." (Purification.) Because fire was the symbol of the Gehenna burning outside the streets of Jerusalem, where all clone, the earthquake, the tornado, the volcanic eruption. the refuse and debris of the city was consumed. Gehenna is Fortunately for the small degree of stability of this little the symbol of this consuming fire of that which has been er- Earth, the law that governs the earthquakes and volcanoes is roneous or that which has been selfish in human lives.

And this is perpetual, of course, the law does not change because you change. If you outgrow it you pass beyond the you were wise enough, that the volcanoes will give forth condition of its operation. But the law is always there. It their smoke and thunders and the earthquakes will come. is something you meet if you are passing from one state to - You have meterological bureaus, sometimes "the weather you pass beyond it.

a finite transgression, for a limited transgression. Just as an act that would make the loss of eternity possible, then rise and destroy them. They will understand that it is the that would lessen both the degree and power of what is avarice, cupidity and ignorance of themselves which causes called infinite good. As the action can only correspond to the conditions of living in the midst of peril in human life. the reaction; or to transpose it, the reaction can only correspond to the action, there must be punishment commensurate with the deed. As you are enjoined not to judge any man, and as it is the custom in common law that every man is to be judged according to his motive more than his deed. as you realize that one who is in a condition of cruelty, of committing murder, or of a selfish act of brutality is not in a condition to perceive the wrong equally with you who have outgrown the state of murder, so you realize that his punishment is commensurate with his perception, not with his deed. There would not be degrees of murder in common clever in the direction of their precocity, even may be guilty law if it were not so; there would be no attempt or seeming of crime; and all those seeming overlappings from previous attempt, or professed attempt on the part of the law to find out the state of mind in which a man is who commits a crime and to determine therefrom his degree of responsibility; whether he was drunk or sober, whether ignorant of the law or aware of it, whether he was insane or not. The exist mounts to complete triumph. It is a part of the conditions ence of these various degrees which makes it possible for in which people find themselves. It is the result of their vathere to be more than one kind of sentence shows, even in human states, that there is a recognition of the principle that states or degrees of conquest, to the wise. It is the condition of the individual that constitutes the de-Pree of culpability.

willfully sinning until they shut themselves out from the or herself. You think you have advanced beyond the state of light of the love of God. They use Lucifer, the "Son of the murder, but you do not know how soon you may be shooting Morning" as an illustration. There is nothing in the direct a man. When you see a man who says that his revolver is Christian teaching to establish this. There is nothing in the always under his pillow that he is prepared to shoot a man Hebrew religion, because they teach that the souls of the who would take his money, you do not think he is beyond the wicked shall perish—borrowing the idea from the Orient—if state of murder. Any nation, people or civilization that there is too great a degree of sinfulness, that this spark is places human life in the balance against worldly possessions progress of the conquest over matter. Perhaps if to-day blotted out. Now we consider that the vindictiveness of the are murderers. They do not know it; they are not aware of ological teaching is aroused, first from the lack of perception it; they think they are justified in "defending" their properthat the soul is eternal; second, from lack of the application ties and their lives. They say, "these men all go armed preof the law of intuition, which teaches that souls cannot sin; pared to kill if necessary." Many of them do, many of them it is simply the conditions of time and sense that it violates, from lack of perception. The conditions of the higher moral killing when you are tempted to kill. principles are, that the greater the sinner the greater the allowance, pity and compassion, because of the greater ignorance. This is the moral proposition. Of course, the one that knows approximately and still allows selfishness to come in fight for your country. But we have seen men who love huis considered more responsible, just as the man who knows manity more than their country. So if this nation had the ther temptation. the law and violates it, just as the man who is supposed to courage to say "We have millions of men who could bear have moral perception but who deceives, falsifies and robs arms, we have hundreds of points of fortifications, we have

THE LAW OF REACTION.

To-day you may be walking in the shadow. The Theosophist says: "Well, it is because of something you did in your previous existence." No, it is not that, it is because of your condition, that you have not overcome the shadow. If forth; yea, saith the spirit, they shall rest from their labors, one is a slave, presumably, that one either has been or will be a tyrant. Not because one has been a slave, nor because one has been a tyrant, but because the two conditions are op-Another text refers to those in the future life, and says posite extremes of the human state and one must be expethat they are judged according to the deeds done in the body. rienced as well as the other. Now we do not say that the is no barbarian on the desert who would, unprovoked, attack Czar of the Russias, present or past (the present one seems to be inclined to do considerable good) is going to be a serf lines. While in the picture of the grand judgment, when in punishment for anything he does. We do not say that any these go out into everlasting life and these go into the lake of king or ruler is going to be a peasant in punishment or as the burning hell-fire, (everlasting fire), there is, of course much result of the "karma" of his kingship. But we say, that both states or both expressions, seemingly the opposite of each ever beyond. It is just the reaping of what has been sown, The word Karma, or Kerma, is used by the Theosophists other, (as well as all other human states) must be experi

Doubtless you can understand when we say we regard it as mentally; that which teaches the antithesis must be the opposite to the thesis. Therefore, the intellectual idiot is very simply the antithesis; thinking he knows everything, or course he has to learn sometime that he does not know any their interpretation of the Buddhistic teaching lead us to thing. The antithesis of the Hercules or the giant is the suppose that one may be so involved in evil karma, or evil pigmy or the dwarf. The antithesis of the one who is selfrighteous is the state of the one whom he condemns. You nite, which they declare is a part of the Infinite Life, can be often hear of people in human life who illustrate the Ten Commandments fully in their ordinary expression, but something intervenes; they are tempted, they embezzle funds or man ever fell. He had not been tempted in that one direction by merely thinking about it. Unless you have experienced it you cannot place yourself in his position. If you are in a state of condemnation toward any human being you are in a state that is susceptible to his faults. in jail. But you know in the matter of thistle-sowing, he is Somewhere, sometime that fault must be tested and met. It was Wilberforce-who was most charitable toward all menwho said, that he never saw a criminal that he did not think it might be himself. John Bunyan said when he saw a chainthey might be among the condemned.

cause for capital punishment sometimes; the voice of the Republic was sedition, and would be punished in Russia to-day. The bringing forth-of "fruits meet for repentance" is preciseyour revolutionary fathers. You have to consider in the great steps of life, it is not crime that overshadows you, but of victory. Buddha found no voice to condemn amid all these fruit meet for repentance, that is all that the great Teacher The same is true of what Christians teach concerning ever- suffering, sinning and hideous ones in the earth life. Jesus. upon Calvary saying, "Father forgive them for they know not not say that He saved people in their sins, but from their what they do." These illustrate the final victory. So this state of continually wanting someone punished shows a lack ing them from the consequence, because if there is no added

If people understood this law that will surely overtake

Now this eternal law is in operation, like the law of the cynot always manifest, though it is always there. You would know that at a certain period of time, or you might know it if another. The railroad is always there, but you are not man" gives out correct information. By and by you will have pbliged to travel upon it all the time. You may be obliged to bureaus of earthquakes and volcanoes, and some wise man ascend a mountain, to go to an added height; the valley is will leave a warning for the next two or three centuries and presumably there but you are not always in the valley when tell you what earthquakes and disturbances will occur during that time; when the great cyclic period will be here. You We think the mistake has been in the interpretation by the are in the midst of one of these periods now, and you are to theologians who have made "hell fire" an eternal penalty for be more in the midst of it. Sometimes, this being always a law, people will be notified, will make preparation, will be In the case of karma. If a man could do a deed or perpetrate wise and not hang close to the foot of a mountain that will and that they must meet with these conditions by experience and experiment.

OVERSHADOWINGS FELT.

There are overshadowings which you feel or show from one embodiment to another; the knowledge that you have met some one somewhere before that impresses you with good or ill; the fact that you have a consciousness of reminiscence; the fact that children are sometimes very precoclous in music or certain directions, and in after years disappoint their friends by not being musicians, or particularly conditions of expression. But let us forever dispel the thought that any of these overshadowing or overlapping con-Theosophists call it. It is the pathway by which the soul ried states of expression. They are simply indications of

Undoubtedly the angels know just where in the scale of advancement you each one stand; undoubtedly the angels know Of course, the theologian makes it appear that souls go on just how great the victory has been. No one is sure of him do not. But, however, the final degree of triumph is in not

HUMANITY IS MORE THAN COUNTRY.

OVERSHADOWINGS FELT—HUMANITY IS MORE being the judgment seat, the ultimate place where it is all de line, every river entrance, every point would be girded the victory. We knew a man who punished bimself by walk-

What Kit Carson (Indian scout and guide) said about his experience was, that he went for years without arms, travel- ness makes plain to these feeble little sparks from the Soul ing thousand of miles among the red men, escorting white (human lives) that in the great Infinite plan we do not pass men across the country, but would not let them use fire- through any condition that we have not invited, that we canarms. The law of hospitality is sacred in the tepee of the not ultimately conquer. a guest.

Then let us conclude that if people suffer they enter into the state that is incident to their suffering and must fulfill their purpose, but that is the fruition. Each personal life on earth reaps what it has sown. Karma does not extend foras is the purpose. But the spirit is not eternal (the soul is the immortal entity), it is only the flowering out of the partic- Yet never, by Faith's unreason, a saintlier soul was tried, ular embodiment. Sow thisties, and thisties will be the harvest; sow roses, and roses will be the harvest; sow violets, and violets will be the harvest. Thistles have their harvest of thisties, of course. If you sow thisties and have the harvest of them one year you will not sow them again unless you want thistles. For sowing thistles you get punished, i. e., you harvest your own thistles in spirit life, for each embodiment you have the punishment you need; you reap what you sow; you gather your weeds or flowers. Not even as much as one of those little seeds wafted on the breath of the wind can touch any other human spirit. No other human spirit is in a condition to harm you, you need not be afraid though the physical body may be killed.

Human lives are said to be rendered miserable by other people. If you are not in a state to be rendered miserable you can sympathize with people suffering. The less you are in misery, but feel sympathy for them, the more good you can do. but if you sit down sorrowfully and weep with them, you do not do them any good.

Now the great harvest of spirit life is to reap what you sow. This is precisely what is meant by "you do not gather grapes from thorns, nor figs from thistles"; you gather grapes from grapes and figs from figs. The thistles are of your own sowing. Then you know all about thistles; you know that the thistles you sow no other man reaps. fruit harvested is the kind of fruit sown. If a man does something you do not like you want to punish him, to put him going to reap the harvest and suffer. The law holds good whether you are Christian or Pagan.

Whatever be the nationality, the great idea instilled by greater finally than the life that is imparted, as they claim, trations of probable victory over those states. The judge planting; and that the law of fruition is to yield the harvest And wide, wet eyes, uplifted, questioned his own in vain. as action, of shadow as well as light, of fruition as well as The minister groaned in spirit, as the tremulous lips of pain, by the great Brahm, the great good, then the effect would be who is over censorious in pronouncing the death sentence, of everything that is sown, and this, being an eternal and Bowing his head, he pondered the words of his little one. greater than the cause; the shadow would be greater than the members of a jury that do not hesitate to hang their felperpetual law, human souls that pass into expression pass Had he erred in his life-long teachings? and wrong to his under the action of that law, of that infinite purpose and can That which you boast of to-day in your civilization was avoid the transgression; the only escape from the consenot escape from it. The only escape from the penalty is to teaching would tell you that it does not make any difference what you do, if you do not acknowledge Christ you are not it is the lack of experience, the lack of expression, the lack going to be saved. Now if you are repentant and give forth required. He could not help you unless you did. He did sins; and saving them from their sins is the only way of savof victory in oneself and in all human beings who sit in judg-sinning there is no added penalty. You reap the harvest of what you have sown. So the great bugbear of immortal torment and the worse bugbear of annihilation by karma must be wiped out from the human mind and heart, because that And the scoffing tongue was prayerful, and the blinded eyes which is immortal cannot be destroyed. For the mortal there is destruction, for the immortal victory; if selfishness is overcome by self forgetfulness, then the victory is won, and all the lines of life are merged in this great conquest. It is not a matter of time, but of eternity.

"THE SPIRITS IN PRISON."

In some states the knowledge comes, seemingly, very quickly; in other states they are like the "spirits in prison those who were disobedient in the days of Noah." It certainly would have been needless for Jesus to visit those spirits that were in prison unless he went to do them good. We do not know of any other act of his life that was mockery, and that would be mockery if He went there simply to Yes, life is worth living, when youth's hopes are bright, tell them there was no hope for them. For it is said that, When as lovers we stroll in the moon's mellow light, during the time his body was in the sepulcher He went to visit the spirits in prison, "those disobedient in the days of And little we know what the future doth hold; Noah." If the fruition of karma or the punishment of Ge- When with nature and beauty our hearts are in tune, henna had lasted all that time, it shows that even then there And our sun of existence is nearing life's noon. was promise and hope, for Jesus visited only those whom he could help.

When the great light searches in and through human hearts not only will you not be so anxious to consign people to eternal torment, to Hades, but you will not even be anxious to consign them to iails, penitentiaries, or to the gallows But we need must open and scan the inside, here. You will understand that moral asylums and hospitals An'l learn from its pages, of life's other side. are just as much a part of your work as hospitals for the Is life worth living when our pleasures are by, blind, the deaf and the maimed in physical body. You praise When dark clouds of sorrow o'ershadow our sky, Dr. Lorenz for his skill in bloodless surgery—you might When the flash of the lightning and thunder's deep roll praise some of your own native countrymen for similar dis- Give signs of the tempest, that's racking our soul; coveries—you praise those who made raised letters for the When we feel the cold print of the hypocrite's kiss, blind and sign alphabets for the deaf and dumb; you build hospitals where the maimed, bruised and suffering can be cared for, but you are apt to build jails and penitentiaries, Is life worth living, when our hearts are so tried: places of incarceration for moral patients. Forgetting that When those we love dearest have faded and died, the great asylum of the Soul Light lends itself to the restoration of those who are morally inferior, and to restore their usefulness is just as much a part of the purpose of humanity. When the bright Sun of Hope is hidden from view,

Where are the preachers that preach to the spirits in prison, except to blame and threaten them? Where are those But the joys and sorrows of life come and go, who go about in the slums? Ah, the Salvation Army! We praise them, for they are doing the work of the true healer: teaching people to pray and sing hymns of praise instead of We each in the end will heir the same rest. blaspheming. Perhaps beneath the church spires on Fifth The prince and the pauper, the saint and the knave, avenue and their belfries are greater prison houses than the ones you build to incarcerate criminals in. Possibly in the eyes of angels those are there who are more under the law of what the Theosophists call karma and what the Christians call Gehenna.

We consider that every human life is expressing his or her own state, and that the human device of "eternal torment" was for the purpose of making people obedient to church and state laws. But it is of no actual value or actual harm in the some people did not believe in hell-fire they would do a great many more horrible things than they do now. But the truth is, they will do them, for the time will come when hell-fire will not restrain, when they have to walk the pathway that leads to victory by conquest, not by avoidance through fear: when finally the victory is gained over any fault and you feel cured. You think a great many times that you have gained its movements to expansion, to diffusion, to universality. the victory. The inebriate thinks it, the gambler thinks it, Human action is now freer, more unconfined. All goods, ad-Of course it is supposed to be the highest act of virtue to the one who deviates this or that way thinks it; but when vantages, helps, are more open to all.—Channing. the victory is finally won you know it; then there is no fur-proposition, therefore, rests between the conscience of man kill," do you suppose that any nation on the Earth is cruel Let us consider that when we pass through a change we per. Heinzen.

around about as with an army of light. Kings would be ing five or six hundred miles, because he said, he had done shamed into non-intervention, non-interference, and all the something like that to some one else in a previous incarnaworld would be ready to concur in the conditions. Of course it in thought so he was right in doing it. It the universal "law of honor" is not to attack an unarmed is no worse to punish one's self than when people inflict punishment upon others or when they try to.

The beauty of it is that this great universal loving-kind-

A DARK CLOUD AND ITS SILVER LINING.

In the minister's morning sermon he told of the primal fall And how henceforth the wrath of God rested on each and all; And how, of His will and pleasure, all souls, save a chosen Were doomed to eternal torture, and held in the way thereto.

And never the harsh old lesson a tenderer heart belied. And after the painful service, on that pleasant, bright spring He walked with his little daughter thro' the apple bloom of

May.

Sweet in the fresh green meadows sparrow and blackbird sung: Above him its tinted petals the blossoming orchard hung.

Around, on the wonderful glory, the minister looked and "How good is the Lord, who gives us these gifts from His hand, my child. "Behold in the bloom of apples, and the violets in the sward,

A hint of the old lost beauty of the garden of the Lord." you will not be. Your sympathy is not necessarily misery. Then up spake the little maiden, treading on snow and pink, "Oh, father! these pretty blossoms are very wicked, I think. "Had there been no Garden of Eden, there never had been a fall: And if never a tree had blossomed, God would have loved us all.' "Hush, child!" the father answered. "By His decree man fell;

His ways are in clouds and darkness, but He doeth all things

'And whether by His ordaining to us cometh good or ill, Joy or pain, or light or shadow, we must fear and love Him still."

"Oh, I fear Him!" said the daughter, "and I try to love Him, too:

But I wish He were kind and gentle-kind and loving as

To what grim and dreadful idol had he lent the holiest name? Did his own heart, loving and human, the God of his worship

And lo! from the bloom and greenness, from the tender skies above, And the face of his little daughter, he read a lesson of love.

No more as the cloudy terror of Sinai's mount of law, But as Christ in the Syrian lilles the vision of God he saw. And as when, in the cleft of Horeb, of old was His presence known,

The dread, ineffable glory was infinite goodness alone.

Thereafter his hearers noted in his prayers a tenderer strain.

And never the message of hatred burned on his lips again. found sight. And hearts, as flint aforetime, grew soft in his warmth and light. -John G. Whittier.

18 LIFE WORTH LIVING?

Is life worth living! Ah, yes, we may say, When the sun rises clear on a mid-summer day, When far in the depths of a cloudless sky The eagle we see as he soars upon high, When the robin and thrush gaily flit to and fro, And the rose in her fragrance and beauty doth blow.

When the story of life is yet to be told,

Life is worth living when Hope still is young, When Pleasure's sad dirge to us is unsung, When around us the rapture of being is shed, And the great book of life to us is unread;

And his words cause a shudder like the viper's mad hiss?

When clods on the coffin sadly echo our ring, And pierce our hearts through like the scorpion sting; And our joys fade away like the light morning dew?

Like summer and winter with their blossoms and snow. You may wreak in your sorrow; I with pleasure be blessed. Forever find rest in the depths of the grave.

-J. H. Kershner.

This is the best day the world has ever seen. To-morrow will be better.—R. A. Campbell.

Few things are impracticable in themselves, and it is for want of application, rather than of means, that men fail of success.—La Rochefoucauld.

And yet we do not provide for the greatest good of life, We take care of our health; we lay up money; we make our roof tight and our clothing sufficient; but who provides wisely that he shall not be wanting in the best property of allfriends?—Emerson.

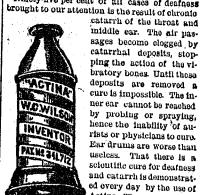

In looking at our age I am struck immediately with one commanding characteristic, and that is the tendency in all

When morality is no longer connected with an imaginary being to whom are imputed all sorts of imaginary demands, Let us rather go forward then in view of the fact that this then will the law of nature be emancipated and the way to have moral perception but who deceives, laterings and room the great billions of money to be put into ships of war, but we will not cause there are always some souls that are under its shadow, else than regard for our fellow-men and human honor.—Carl

DEAFNESS AND CATARRH CURED

BY NO METHOD UNTIL "AC. TINA" WAS DISCOVERED.

Ninety-five per cent of all cases of deafness middle ear. The air passages become clogged by catarrhal deposits, stopping the action of the vibratory bones. Until those deposits are removed a cure is impossible. The inner ear cannot be reached by probing or spraying, hence the inability of aurists or physicians to oure. Ear drums are worse than useless. That there is a scientific cure for deafness and catarrh is demonstratd every day by the use of Actina. The vapor current generated in the Actina asses through the Eustachian tubes into the middle ear, removing the catarrhal obstructions as it passes through the tubes, and loosens up the bones (hammer, anvil and stirrup) in the inner ear, making them respond to the slight-est vibration of sound. Actina has never failed to cure ringing noises in the head. We have known people troubled with this distressing symptom for years to be completely cured in only three weeks' use of Actina. Actina also cures asthma, bronchitis, sore throat, weak lungs, colds and headache; all of which are directly or indirectly due to catarrh. Actina is sent on trial postpaid. Write us about your ease. We give advice free, and positive proof of cures. A valuable book-Professor Wilson's 100 page Dictionary of Disease, Free. Address New York & London Electric Association, Dep. T 929 Walnut Street, Kansas City, Mo.

The above is the number of the present issue of The Progressive Thinker, as printed at the top of the first page, right hand corner. If this number corresponds with the figures on your wrapper, then the time you have paid for has expired, and you are requested to renew your subscription. This number at the right hand corner of the first page is advanced each week, showing the number of Progressive Thinkers issued up to date. Keep watch of the number on the tag of your wrapper.

KEEP POSTED

In Current Spiritualistic and Occult News.

You can do it by reading each week The Progressive Thinker. The Philo-ophy and the Spiritualistic and Occult phenomena it contains each week, is the marvel of the age. No one can afford to be without the paper. Its price is within the reach of all.

The New and the Old, Or the World's Progress in Thought. By Moses Hull. An excellent work by this veteran writer and thinker. Price, 10 cents.

LISBETH.

An Interesting Story of Two Worlds.

Elevating, Fascinating, Instructive Throughout.

This work by Carrie E. S. Twing is exceptionally interesting. She well says: "These characters which have brought out the highest and lowest in different religious beliefs, have moved me, not I them." The whole book is interesting, fascinating, and instructive.

A. SCHOPENHAUER ESSAYS. R. OCHUPLINIAULK COAIO.

Translated by T. B. Saunders. Cloth. 75 cents.

"Schopenhauer is one of the few philosophers who can be generally understood without a commentary. All his theories claim to be drawn direct from facts, to be suggested by observation, and to interpret the world as it is; and whatever view he takes, he is constant in his appeal to the experience of common life. This characteristic endows his style with a freshness and vigor which would be difficult to match in the philosophic writing of any country, and impossible in that of Germany."—

Translator.

The Blue Laws of Connecticut. Taken from the Code of 1850, and the public records of the colony of Connecticut previous to 1855, as printed in a compilation of the earliest laws and orders of the general court of Connecticut; also an account of the persecution of wtiches and Quakers in New England. Some extracts from the Flue Laws of Virginia. Price 25 cent*

THE MISSING LINK IN MODERN SPIRITUALISM.

By A. Lesh Underhill, of the Fox Family,
Interesting and valuable as a history of the beginning of Modern Spiritualism, by one of the Fox Sisters, 478 Fages, is illustrations, including portraits of the Fox Family. History of the Hydesville rappings, as related by eye-witnesses; remarkable and well-attested manifestations; the 'exposures,' etc. Handsomely bound in cloth, But few copies remaining. Publishers' price, 81.50. We will send the book post-paid for $1.40.

ORIGIN OF SPECIES,

By means of natural selection, or the preservation of a favored race in the struggle for life. By Charles Darwin. Glit top, cloth bound. This book is toe grandest achievement of modern scientific thought and research. It has passed through many editions in Hinglish, has been translated into almost all the languages of Europe, and has been the subject of micro reviews, pamphiets and separate books than any other volume of the age. Most of the great scientists of this age fully support his position. The thought of this look has become a part of the common inheritance of the common inheritance. For sale at this office. Price 73 cts.

THE OTHER WORLD AND THIS. A compendium of Spiritual Laws. No. 1, New White Cross Literature. By Augusta W. Fletcher. M. D. In this volume the author, in the thirty-nine chapters, discusses a wide variety of subjects portaining to Spiritualism, from a spiritualistic standpoint. She evinces the powers of a trained thinker, both in matter of thought and fine literary style, and capability of thought expression. The subjects are well handled with conciseness and yet with clearness. It will prove a rich addition to any Spiritualist's library, and a most excellent book for any one seeking information concerning Spiritualism and its teachings. Price $1.50.

THE SOUL OF THINGS:

Or Psychometric Researches and Discoveries. By Wm. and Elizabeth M.F. Denton. A marvelous work. Though concise as a text book it is as fascinating as a work of fiction. The reader will be amazed to see the curious facts here combined in support of this power of the human mind, which will resolve a thousand doubts and difficulties, make geology plain as day, and throw light on all subjects now obscured by time. Price, $1.50. In three volumes, cloth bound, $1.50 each. Postage, 10e per copy.

WOMAN: A Lecture Delivered to Ladies
the present status of woman, physically, meatally, morally and spiritually. The divine law of true harmonial marriage, etc. Price, 10c.

Lectures by the Swami Vivekacanda, on Raja Yoga; or Conquering the Incanal Naturo, and other subjects; also, Patanjail's 'oga Aphorisma, with commentaride and a copious 'lossary of Sanskrit terms. Revised and enlarged, 12mb, Cloth, $1,50. Raja Yoga is an ancient system of Indian Philosophy, and one of the four chief methods that the Vedanta Philosophy offers to obtain freedom and perfection. Swami Vivekananda became a familiar fagure in several Americannois became a familiar fagure in several Americannois the Reigious at Chicago; he was cordially received in America, where the breath and depth of his taschings were soon recognized. His teachings are universal in their application. The book is chasped and the control of the control

The Religion of Science. By Dr. Paul Carus. Ver thoughtful and in-teresting. Price, Se cents.

.. GENERAL SURVEY ..

THE SPIRITUALISTIC FIELD-ITS WORKERS, DOINGS, ETC., THE WORLD OVER.

CONTRIBUTORS.—Each contributor is alone responsible for any assertions or statements he may make. The editor allows this freedom of expression, believing that the cause of truth can be best subserved thereby. Many of the sentiments uttered in an article may be diametrically opposed to his belief, yet that is no reason why they should be suppressed; yet we wish it distinctly understood that our space is inadequate to publish everything that comes to hand, however much we might desire to do so. That must account for the non-appearance of YOUR article.

WRITE PLAINLY,-We would like to impress upon the minds of our correspondents that The Progressive Thinker is set up on a Linotype machine that must make speed equal to about four compositors. That means rapid work, it is essential that all copy, to insure insertion in the paper, all other requirements being favorable, should be with ink on white written plainly paper, or with a typewriter, and only on one side of the paper.

ITEMS.—Bear in mind that items for the General Survey will in all cases be adjusted to the space we have to occupy, and in order to do that they will generally have to be abridged more of less; otherwise many items would be crowded out. Sometimes a thirty-line ifem is cut down to ten lines, and ten lines to two lines, as occasion may re-

Take due notice, that all items for this page must be accompanied by the full name and address of the writer. It will not do to say that Secretary or Cor respondent writes so and so, without giving the full name and address of the writer. The items of those who do not comply with this request will be cast into the waste basket.

Keep copies of your poems sent to this office, for they will not be returned If we have not space to use them.

G. W. Kates and wife will labor in Minnesota tne most of May. They desire calls in North Dakota and Montana for June and part of July. Address them, 1728 Clinton avenue, Minneapolis,

On May 18, Mary Isadore Porter was united in mariage to Henry A. Borne. Judge John Gibbons performed the ceremony. Miss Porter is the youngest daughter of Milo Porter, of Lombard, Ill., and Isa Wilson Kayner, and grand daughter of E. V. Wilson and Farmer Mary. There are three daughters, all exceptionally bright.

The Morris Pratt Institute Association will hold its second annual meeting in the lower hall of the Institute building, on Wednesday, June 24, 1903, at 2 o'clock p. m., and will continue in session from day to day at 10 o'clock a. m. and 2 o'clock p. m. until its business is transacted, and officers are elected for 1903-4. Every member of the association, and interested persons who are not members, are invited to be present at this meeting. The board of trustees of the school, and the board of directors of the association, will meet in the school building on Wednesday, June 24, 1903, at 9 o'clock a. m., and will continue its sessions from day to day, at hours when the association is not in session, until its business is transacted. Moses Hull, president; Clara L. Stewart, secretary.

The Indianapolis (Ind.) Sentinel says: The Spiritualists are preparing for the largest summer meeting ever held at their Chesterfield camp grounds. At a meeting this week plans and arrangements made for the reception of visitors and the completion of the program. The meeting will begin with a big memorial service on July 11, and will continue throughout the ensuing seven weeks, ending Sunday, Aug. The hotel will not be enlarged this year, the board having decided to build more cottages instead. Work on four of these will begin immediately."

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Sprague held two meetings at Wheaton, Ill. They are now at Battle Creek, Mich. These workers are always active, and have been instrumental in doing a vast amount of good all along the line.

Creola writes: "It may interest some of your many readers to learn how Catholic institutions thrive on the Pacific coast. The Santa Fe railroad assesses all employes 5 cents per month, which is said to be paid to the Sisters Hospital. This is obligatory, and every man must indirectly help to support that institution or find employment elsewhere. When sick or injured the employe will be sent to the hospital if he so destres, and it is said that if he has money to pay for extra attention, he will get it; if not, he will get very little and may die for all they care.'

The following is from Baltimore, Md.: "Three subsequent dreams corroborative of each other in every essential detail, and picturing the present appearance of the girl, have helped to convince Mr. and Mrs. Jasper W. Clark, 513 East Montgomery street, that, in the presence of Miss Ethel Clark, they have found a daughter who was kidnaped by a tramp eighteen years ago. The young woman is also positive that she has found her parents. Mrs. Clark attributes the return of her daughter and her identification to dreams and a novena which Roman Catholic nuns offered to St. Anthony of Padua for the return to her parents of the stolen girl. Miss Clark says she was raised in an orphan asylum in Washington and came here three years ago to take a position in a shirt factory. A month ago she learned that Mrs. Clark was looking for her daughter and she called upon her. She cannot explain how she retained her name."

J. Peacock writes from Rockford, Ill.: "Our society here is gaining rapidly in number and in work. Mr. Moses Hull gave three lectures here last Sunday and they were very interesting. A good test medium is wanted; must be recommended, and a young gentleman preferred. Address me at 416 Seventh street, Rockford, Ill."

O. A. Clark, of Spokane, Wash., in forms us that Mrs. Rebecca Johnson, formerly Mrs. Bessie Aspenwall, the materializing medium, has passed to spirit life.

Dr. H. B. Peck writes from Reed City, Mich.: "Brother E. W. Sprague and wife were with us February 14 and 15 and organized our society for us, with 16 members, with a prospect of good work to follow. Dr. W. O. Knowles was with us the 17th of May, and gave us a fine lecture, followed by Dr. A. B. Spinney, which was just to the point. Then came messages through Dr. Knowles, which were unmistakable and made the audience stare and look at each other and say that is correct. He went back in some messages and always gave the full names even as far as their grandparents, and made a very good impression on the audience."

UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE THIS OFFICE WILL BE CLOSED ON SAT-URDAY AFTERNOONS.

Take due notice that items for this page in order to insure insertion must contain the full name and address of the writer. Otherwise they may be cast into the waste basket.

Rev. L. T. Nichols, of Nashville, Tenn., has been defaming Spiritualism. paper published there says: "The Mission Band from the Megiddo conducted services on the public square yesterday, when Rev. L. T. Nichols spoke to a large crowd on the subject of Spiritualism. He said the position he was about to take took away the foundation of Spiritualism, and that position was, that between death and resurrection man was absolutely and entirely unconscious. 'What did your spirit know before you were born?' asked. 'Nothing. And what you do know and you all know you have acquired through your five senses. When you were born you would as soon have put your hand into the fire as into the sugar bowl, you had to learn everything, and could we ever have seen anything without an eye to see with? And when our eyes are closed in death shall we be able to see anything?" Ezra A. Carpenter writes from Wells-ville, Kansas: "Once more we call the attention of the readers of The Progressive Thinker and all others interested to our coming camp-meeting, which will be held at Forest Park, Ot tawa, Kansas, from July 30 to August 9. To those who have never had the pleasure of attending our camp-meetings, we wish to say that our facilities are unsurpassed anywhere in the state. We have one of the most beautiful parks west of the Mississippi. Our meetings are held on the same grounds that the Chautauqua assembly has been held for the past 17 years. We occupy all the buildings and have ample accommodations for all that may wish to attend. We have a dining hall on the grounds where good board can be had at 15 cts. per meal, also cots, comforts and pillows will be furnished, including a sleeping room, for 15 cts. each per night. Those wishing to board at a hotel can be accommodated by the best hotel in the city, only one block distant. Those who wish to hire or bring their own tents, can do so and no ground rental will be charged. Those wishing to come in wagons can do so without extra charge and grass will be furnished for the cutting. No admission will be charged to grounds or lectures. The park is within one block of the Santa Fe railroad, and but a short distance from the M. P. R. R. Those wishing rooms in private houses near the park, can be accommodated on short notice. We expect to have first class speakers and mediums from start to finish, and one feature of our meeting is that we shall far as possible have one public seance free on the grounds every day where the poor can get the bread of life without money and without price. All genuine mediums are cordially invited to be with us, but for frauds and fakes, their room is far preferable to their company, and this association will be the first to expose their nefarious practices. All public mediums holding seances on the grounds, must be subject to the endorsement and inspection of the management. For further information in regard to grounds, board tents, rooms, location, etc., address with stamp, Ezra A. Carpenter, Wellsville, Kansas. For all other information, address Howard Henderson, president,

Lawrence, Kansas." Mrs. Isa Wilson Kayner writes: "I just received a postal that Dr. D. P. Kayner's (T. D's. father) youngest daughter, Mrs. Zora Kembel, of York, Iowa, has passed to spirit life. She was buried May 22, at St. Charles, Ill." E. Waters writes: "I am too old to hope to renew again for the paper. My experience extends back to the time when A. J. Davis began his wonderful writing, and I date my first start from my acquaintance with him in 1844. So you see my Spiritualism is of long standing. I think I can call myself the oldest Spiritualist living. If I could write like my friend, Lyman C. Howe our historian, I could tell a wonderful story, but, alas, my head was not made that way.'

Mrs. Lilly LeSieur writes: "The Church of the Soul and Band of Harmony join in giving their annual banquet at Masonic Temple hall, room 309. next Saturday evening, May 30, at 6:30 o'clock. This will be our last social gathering until next September. A cordial invitation is extended to all our friends interested in our work. Come and bring your friends. A tempting repast will be served to you for the small sum of twenty-five cents."

E. W. Sprague and wife, missionaries for the N. S. A., will spend the month of June at their home. All mail for them should be addressed to No. 619 Newland avenue, Jamestown, N. Y.

Mr. J. J. Morse, the well known London (Eng.) lecturer and trance medium, writes as follows from Melbourne, Australina: "Since my reaching Australia in September last I have met with excellent success, lecturing to fine audiences in this city, and in Geelong and Ballarat in Australia, and in Invercargill, Dunedin, Christchurch and Wellington. in New Zealand, and am now filling my final contract with the Victorian Association in this city, ending on the 12th prox. After this is done I have a month in Brisbane, Queensland, and a short trip to Auckland, N. Z., and from there sail for San Francisco, which, with my wife and daughter, will be reached dur-ing July this year. We travel home via the States, and while enroute I shall be pleased to make engagements on the way, and in the East from October this year, up to June next year. All letters can be sent to me in care of the Philosophical Journal, 1429 Market street, San Francisco, Cal., to await my arrival?" Will J. Erwood, secretary, writes: 'Arrangements for the camp-meeting at Waukesha, to be given under the auspices of the Wisconsin State Spiritualist Association, are progressing rapidly. So satisfactory is the progress that by the time camp opens, July 17, everything will be in readiness for visitors, and a first-class time will be accorded from the first. There is no more beautiful place in the country than Wauke sha, and many are the attractions for the visitors who wish to make their summer home there. The camp grounds are situated in Griffen's Grove, within the city limits, and within easy reach of all parts of Waukesha, Talent of the highest order will be in attendance, and

When writing for this paper use a pen or typewriter.

TAKE NOTICE.

All books advertised in the columns of The Progressive Thinker are for sale at this office. Bear this in mind.

trains through Waukesha, giving unsurpassed facilities for reaching the camp. Among those who will take part in the program are the Rev. Moses Hull, Mrs. Mattie Hull, Rev. T. Grafton Owen and Mrs. Catherine McFarlin. Other workers of the same high order, will be with us, and aid in making the program a strong one. The names of these will be given in a few days as soon as arrangements are completed. I would advise all who contemplate visiting the camp, and tenting on the grounds to write at their earliest convenience and secure tents, etc. Remember, there is no point at which you can spend a more profitable month than at the Waukesha camp. If you want programs, send in your names now, that you may have them sent the moment they come off the press. Don't forget the dates, July 17 to August 16 inclusive, the best time for a good outing. Write for particulars to Clara L. Stewart, . president, Whitewater, Wis., or Will J. Erwood, secretary, 1834 Pine street, LaCrosse, Wis.

The music at Island Lake Camp this season, both vocal and 'instrumental, will be under the direction of Prof. P. O. Hudson, Bay City, Mich. Miss S. E. Hiels, of Lansing, Mich., has been engaged as planist and vocalist. She is a professional musician and possesses a beautiful and pleasing voice, as well as being a very proficient planist. The clarinet will be manipulated by Frank E. Case, of Ann Arbor, Mich. Cornetist will be Herman Bliss, of Lansing, Mich. This will assure all who attend this camp the usual excellent vocal and instrumental music; in connection with the above will be a trained choir. T. W. Prichard writes from Pittsburg, Pa.: "The First Church of Spiritualists, No. 24 Lacock street, Allegheny City, has been making rapid progress in its work, under the leadership of the speaker, Rev. George C. Day. In the last three years since Rev. Day has had charge there has been quite an increase in the congregation. The room in which the meetings were held had to be enlarged, as it could only acommodate those in attendance by standing-room. The room has been newly carpeted, making it cheerful and homelike both for our spirit and earthly friends Meetings are held on Sunday and Wednesday evenings at which time Rev. Day gives a most eloquent lecture and sublime tests. Wednesday afternoons the Ladies' Aid Society holds its meetings which are largely attended. The ladies are doing a very good and propressive work. On Sunday afternoons meetings are held for the study of the Bible. Since taking up this line of work the church has been greatly benefited, as it has brought a great many of our orthodox friends into the belief of Spiritualism. At the first of the year Rev. Day instituted temperance meet ings which have been an unbounded success; they have not only been a benefit to the people of our own city but to those in the surrounding towns. Good music is furnished at all of these meetings. Financially the church is in good standing, Rev. Day having cleared it of all debt. A cordial welcome is extended to all the readers of The Progressive Thinker, who visit the city of Allegheny, to attend the meetings of this church.'

N. A. St. Clair writes from Toronto, Canada: "Mrs. Georgia Gladys Cooley, who has been serving the Toronto Spiritualist Association since the first Sunday in April, has been re-engaged for the month of June. Mrs. Cooley is meeting with marked success bere, and s regarded as the best combine turer and medium that has yet visited Toronto. She is drawing excellent audiences, which comprise the better class of readers, thinkers and investigators among the cultured people. Aside from her high mediumistic attainments. she possesses many genial and amiable qualities, and as an entertainer at so-cials, etc., given for the benefit of Spiritualist societies, she has few equals, and always gives her services cheerfully and without charge. Mrs. Cooley will always be welcomed by the Spiritualists and liberal thinkers in Toronto, as will also that marvelous trance speaker. Mr. Oscar A. Edgerly, who had a five months' engagement here last year. Mrs. J. A. Murtha, the popular and fine platform test medium, who also filled a five months' engagement here last year, will serve our association during July and August. The ladies of our society gave a novel entertainment on Friday night, May 15, composed entirely of comic numbers, including burnt cork specialties, etc., which proved very acceptable and successful."

E. H. Vandenberg writes from Clear Lake, Iowa: "The Clear Lake Spiritualists' Society had some glorious meetings quite recently. Rev. Moses Hull, of White water, Wis., came to Clear Lake, May 9, and gave his last lecture, Eunday, May 17, giving two lectures each Sunday, and one each evening. Mr. Hull was called to Clear Lake more especially to debate with a certain clergyman who had said a great deal against Spiritualism, and said something that sounded very much as though he would be pleased to debate with one of our lecturers. But when Mr. Hull arrived, and our Methodist friend learned who his opponent was, he could give a great many reasons why it was impossible for him to bother with such nonsense. The reverend gentleman did a very wise thing when he refused to meet Mr. Hull in debate, as people could not help but see who was the best informed, and who could interpret the Bible in the most reasonable light. We secured Mr. Hull for only four days in the first place, but when the four days were over, we felt that we could not possibly let him go and so we prevailed on him to stay over the next Sunday, and he at last consented to stay, so we had in all eleven lectures. The Clear Lake Spiritualists Society has Bible study every Sunday morning, at 10:30, and find it very interesting and instructive. If more of our Spiritualists would study their Bible, they would have twice the power to convince our orthodox friends, and do it by meeting them on their own grounds, the Bible. We have a lively little society here, and have invited the State Spiritualist Association of Iowa to meet with us for their third annual convention, Jan. 21-24, 1904. We invite every Spiritualist that can, to come and visit our little city at that time, and we will endeavor to make it pleasant for you. The State Association is planning on having a better convention than ever before, and I believe every Spiritualist that attends our con-

than ever before." A. F. Norton, who is running eight to-date phenomens, which are startling, general stores in the Indiana natural and very entertaining as well. You can gas belt on the plan "that Christ would secure them for an evening with the run them," has brought a fight on him- angels.' Address them at No. 44 East self by purchasing the stock of E. L. 31st street," Winters at Hartford City and applying E. A. Doty will combine their forces towards make with the forces of the principle railroads run daily chandise. Forces reputation had pre- People's Church of San Francisco, Cal., Grand Rapids, Mich.

Always give your full name and ad addressed a mothers' and teachers rees when sending in items and com-nunications for publication, otherwise hey will find their way to the waste

seded him, and when it was learned he had bought Winters' store the merchants determined to make war upon him. Norton refused to employ union clerks, but hired several church officers, and at once began to advertise. Coffee, sugar and all staples were put down to lower prices than his competitors paid for their stocks at wholesale, and country produce, such as eggs, butter, chickens, feathers and the were sold at the same prices that he paid for them in goods. The labor unions instituted a systematic boycott, but the people flocked to the new store, despite the ban placed upon it. The owner of the building served notice that he would have to vacate, but Norton has rented another building and refuses to be driven away. We don't think that Jesus would be such a fool as to sell goods for less than actual cost at wholesale, but as he lived so many years ago, he may have been a greater dunce than we can now conceive. The News of New York, has the following: "What is expected to be a most sensational suit, involving alleged undue influence and foul play in the will of Mrs. Adeline Darrow Townsend, will be begun this morning before Surrogate Thomas. Mr. Townsend was a Fortyniner in California, and made a large sum of money. He returned to this city and started the practice of law, confining himself to real estate cases. He made a great many good investments, and when he died, April 17, 1900, at the age of eighty, he left his wife $500,000. Mrs. Townsend was much under the influence of Spiritualism, and persuaded her husband to accept her beliefs. When he died of senility, according to the doctor's certificate, Mrs. Townsend was all the more at the mercy of the leaders of Spiritualism. Mr. Mahan, who had been a protege of Mr. Townsend, was appointed as guardian for Mrs. Townsend, whose nervous system was declared to be a wreck, shortly before Mr. Townsend's death. She kept closely immured, as it had been said by the doctor that excitement or any slight disturbance ,might kill her. Mrs. Townsend died last February, and although it was said that she had made no less than eight wills, one was proluced in which after several minor bequests, she gave her whole fortune to Mr. Mahan, cutting off all her relatives. They have banded together to fight, and will begin this morning."

The Chicago Chronicle has the followng from Berlin, Germany: "Germany is carrying on a vigorous campaign of prosecution against faith curists, mediums, clairvoyants, hypnotists and the like, who are denounced as swindlers. The latest is the case of a woman in Merane, Saxony, named Louise Frenzel, who interested a whole district by her tales of the spirit world. She was an adept in 'spirit writing' and her charge for a message was sometimes as high as $100. The police have arrested her and have discovered a complicated apparatus which she employed in her calling. Another interesting case is that of a blacksmith named Torg in Bavaria, who cured animals by the 'magnetic power of his eye." Torg had an enormous clientele among the farmers and vine dressers and had an income of $5,000 a year until the police began to make inquiries. He professed also to shield vines from disease by various incantations. Not far from Potsdam there is a village in which several arrests have been made by the police of persons professing the power of bewitching the peasant's cattle and who were held by the peasants for using their malign power." A strange story of double consciousness comes from London, Eng., as follows "An extraordinary story of the Rev. Ernest Frederick Hoare, a Maidstone minister engaged in missionary work in South Africa, is told by the Southeastern Gazette. Mr. Hoare, staying at Port Alfred, in Cape Colyony, went out to bathe on February 27, and did not return. His clothes were found on the beach, and it was supposed that he was drowned. Relatives and friends in South Africa and in England mourned his death. Seven weeks later he was seen and recognized in Whitlesean, near King William's Town, by an other missionary-Mr. Wilkinson-who discovered that he was employed as a carpenter, and that his mind was totally blank as to his past life. Mentioning his wife's name and various incidents in his ministerial career revived his memory a little, but he could give no ac count of himself from the time he entered the water at Port Alfred to the time-probably several days laterwhen he was picked up by a wagoner in East London. He was then wearing stronger and rougher clothes, but could not say where he obtained them."

Atlanta Ga., May 22.—"Mother, you itualist Association. For particulars, and I are going to die," said Charlie address the president, Geo. Lazalle, Orrantley, aged 10, to Mrs. Mattie Brant-ley, his mother. The little fellow and his mother were in perfect health when the prediction was made a week ago The mother laughed at her boy's proph ecy. To-day both are in their coffins and will be buried to-morrow. Three days after the lad predicted his death and that of his mother he began to droop. The doctors said nothing was the matter, but the lad insisted that he was going to die, and gradually failed until he passed away. During his illness he said to his grieving mother: "Don't cry so, for we won't be separated. You will die soon after I do." Al most immediately after he expired Mrs Brantley, complaining of being ill, went to bed. Her physician announced that she was simply unnerved, but the mother grew worse and died. Mother and son will be buried in the same grave. Mrs. Sarah A. Walters writes from Denver, Colo.: "I wish to say to your numerous readers and friends of our beautiful philosophy, that in a few days I will start upon an extended mission ary trip through the East, and can make dates and other arrangements with people or societies, pleasing and profitable to all. Do not be slow, friends; time is too short for much that should be done and it makes me anxious when I see opportunities wasted of talent and strength. After June 1, address me at Lansing, Mich., care C. J. Harris. For those who may not know my line of work I will say I am an inspirational lecturer and test medium, and will be pleased to hear from dily of the friends en route." Dr. C. A. Beverly writes: "Miss Cora Dixon, the 'Child Wonder,' is in great demand at evening parties to demonstrate psychic nower, which she pos-sesses in a wonderful manner. She is so pure and innocent that no one can doubt the remarkable readings she gives under spirit control. She is accompanied by her mother, Dr. Dixon, vention will go away feeling that they who is a true sensitive and psychic, and are stronger and better Spiritualists under control of Tom Murphy, a Chicago policeman, who demonstrates up-meeting at School No. 4, in this city last Wednesday afternoon, Her subject was 'The Sunshine of Motherhood,' and her address was especially interesting. The press notices were very complimentary, and the president of the Mothers' Club pronounced it the largest gathering and the best meeting of the season. Her closing lecture at Odd Fellows' Hall, this afternoon, was well received. Her subject was 'Mediumship, Its Uses and Abuses.' During her short stay she has made many friends who, together with the writer and his family, will always be glad to welcome her to the capital city of the Empire State. A large number of Progressive Thinkers were donated by a constant reader, and were distributed to all who would accept them.'

Dr. Beverly writes: "The Lakeside Hall, corner 31st street and Indiana avenue, will be kept open all summer. An interesting programme will instruct and edify the audience every Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Admission free. At p. m., some live speaker will be provided, with tests and messages for all. The wonderful 'Child Wonder' has been secured for the summer, and many other mediums will entertain you. At p. m., Dr. Beverly will give a blackboard exercise preceding the conference. Saloons and theaters do not close for the summer. Will not Spiritualists rally to the support of a good meeting at home? Come and bring your friends."

That Wonderful Churn.

H. T. Marshall writes us as follows: "I want add my testimony to the list of those who have used the lightning churn. It does all that they claim for it. You can churn easily in one minute and get a larger percentage of butter than with ordinary churns. I never took the agency for anything before, but so many of my neighbors wanted churns that I ordered 80 and they are all sold." Other farmers can do as wel, as Mr. Marshall. No farmer can afford to be without one of our churns. By using it he can make 25 per cent more butter than with his old churn. Any intelligent farmer can sell four or five churns every week in his own township. Everyone who sees he churn will went one like it, We will mail circulars and full particulars on demand, Mound City Churn Co., St., Louis

LIST OF CAMP-MEETINGS.

Send in Your Dates and Name of Secretary at Once.

Inquiries are already coming to this office in reference to the various camps, Will the officers of each camp please send at once the correct dates, etc., and also the name of the secretary who can be addressed for programmes and full particulars. The notices that do not contain the names of the secretary or president are incomplete.

Island Lake, Mich. The Island Lake Camp Association desires to announce that the season of 1903 opens July 23, extending through the month of August. Correspondence solicited with a few more good phenomenal mediums. H. R. LaGrange, secretary, 350 Grand River avenue, Detroit, Mich.

Lake Brady, Ohio. Lake Brady camp opens July 5 and closes August 30. A. G. Keck, secretary, Akron, Ohio.

Chesterfield, Ind. Chesterfield (Ind.) camp-meeting opens July 16 and closes August 30. For programs and other information address Flora Hardin, secretary, Anderson. Ind.

Camp-meeting in Oregon. The Spiritualists of Oregon will hold their annual camp-meeting from July 4 to July 20 on the beautiful and inspiring grounds of the Clackamas County Spiregon City, Oregon.

Mt. Pleasant Park, Clinton, Iowa. The camp session of the M. V. S. A Mt. Pleasant Park, Clinton, Iowa, will open August 2 and close August 30. For programmes address Mollie B. Anderson, secretary, Clarksville, Mo.

Verona, Park, Me. This camp opens August 2 and closes August 30. A. F. Smith, president, Bangor, Me.; F. W. Smith, secretary, Forest Home, Mich. The fourth annual camp-meeting opens at Snowflake, Mich., Aug. 1, and closes August 23. Write to Mrs. Ruth Eastman, secretary, Mancelona, Mich., Box 69.

Ottawa Camp, Kansas. This camp opens July 30, and closes August 9. For full particulars address H. W. Henderson, Lawrence, Kansas.

The Waukesha Camp, Wis. This camp opens July 17 and closes August 17. For full particulars address the secretary, Will J. Erwood, No. 1334 Pine street, La Crosse, Wis., or Clara

Ottawa, Kans. This camp opens July 30 and continues to August 9. For full particulars

L. Stewart, president, Whitewater, Wis-

address H. W. Henderson, president, Lawrence, Kansas, or Jacob Hey, Secretary, Carbondale, Kansas, Wonewoo, Wis.

The Wonewoo camp opens this year on August 13 and continues to the 30th of that month. Address for particulars Miss Gertrude Spooner, Secretary Wonewoc, Wis.

Reed's Lake, Grand Rapids, Mich. The West Michigan Spiritualist Assoclation will hold its meeting this year at Grand Rapids, at its grounds, at Reed's Lake, known as the "Ploneer As-nembly Grounds." Meeting opens July

THE FOUNTAIN OF LIFE.

Winfield Camp, Kansas.

This camp will be held in Island Park, Winfield, Kansas, commencing July 3, and closing July 13. For full particulars write to Mrs. Maud K. Gates, corner Second and Indiana streets, Highland Park, Winfield, Kansas.

Marshalltown, lowa. This camp begins August 23 and ends September 13. For full particulars address E. M. Vail, president, Marshall-

Franklin, Neb.

This camp commences July 17, and continues until August 2. For full particulars address D. L. Haines, secretary, Franklin, Neb.

Grand Ledge, Mich. This camp opens July 26 and closes

August 23. For programmes apply to A. McKelvey, Grand Ledge, Mich. Lake Helen Camp, Florida.

The Southern Cassadaga Camp-meeting will convene the first of February, will close the middle of March. For information and programmes, address Mrs. J. D. Palmer, corresponding secretary, Willoughby, Ohio.

Saugus Center, Mass. The Lynn Spiritualists Association will hold meetings every Sunday, ending September 28, at Unity Camp, Saugus Center, Mass. Mrs. A. A. Averill, 42 Smith street, Lynn, Mass.

INDUCE

Your Neighbor to Subscribe for The Progressive Thinker.

Now is the time to extend the circulation of The Progressive Thinker. It will contain Occult and Spiritualistic news with which every one should be familiar. No other paper published on this earth contains such a vast amount of matter so well adapted to enrich the mind. Send in a subscription now.

A Few Words About the Devil And other Essays. By Charles Bradlaugh. With the story of his life as told by himself, and the history of his parliamentary struggle. With portrait. Paper, 50c.

The Spiritual Wreath. A collection of words and music for the choir, congregation and social circle. By S. W. Tucker. Comprises sixty or more gems of song. Price, is cents.

What All the World's a-Seeking.

RALPH WALDO TRINE,

Each is building his world from within; thought is the builder; for thoughts are forces,—subtle, vital, irresistible, omnipotent,—and according as used do they bring power or impotence, peace or pain, success or failure.—From Title-page.

The above books are beautifully bound in gray-green raised cioth, stamped in deep old green and gold, with glit top. Price, $1.25. For sale at this office.

In Tune with the Infinite By Ralph Waldo Trine.

By Ralph Waldo Trine.

Within yourself lies the cause of whatever enters into your life. To come shat the full realization of your own awakened interior powers, is to be solic to condition your life in exact accord with what you would have it.—From Title-Pige.

CONTENTS—I.—Prelude: 11. The Supreme Fact of the Universe; 11. The Supreme Fact of Human Life; 1V. Fullness of Life—Bodily Beaith and Vigor; V. The Secret, Power and Effect of Love: VI. Wiedom and Interior Illumination; VII. The Realization of Perfect Peace; VIII. Coming late fullness of power; IX. Fleaty of All Things—The Law of Properly; X. How Mon. Have Become Prophets, Secre, Sages, and Saviors; XI. The Hasic Principle of All Religions—The Universal Religion: XII. Entering Now into the Realization of the Highest Riches. For sale at this office, Price, postpaid, $1.25.

HARMONIGS OF EVOLUTION. The Philosophy of Individual Life, Based

Upon Natural Science As taught by modern masters of law. By Florence Huntley. An exceedingly interesting and distinctly valuable contribution to the literature of evolution, unfolding its laws from the deeper and clearer spiritual aspect, and indicating the defects of the Darwhnian theory. Spiritualists and Materialists alike can gain much from its perusal. Price, finely bound in cloth, $2.

THE VOICES By Warren Summer Barlow.
The Voices contain poems of remarkable beauty and force. They are most excellent. Price $1.00.

RELIGION OF THE FUTURE. > By S. Well. Cloth, $1.25; paper, $0 cents. This is a work of great value, written by one of the keenest, most powerful and most truly religious minds of the day. It is particularly a work which should be put into the hands of those who have freed themselves from the dogmas of orthodoxy and from the dogmas of materialistic science, for it will strengthen the conviction of the free mind that mind and senses are not the whole of life.

The ohapters reveal a new method in psychic and spiritual research. They show vivid glimpses of a stupendous moral cosmos that will supersede moral confusion, that only verifiable tenets can survive, and the childhood period of faith and fancy will be superseded by knowledge and facts.

Psychopathy, or Spirit Heafing A series of lessons on the relations of the spirit to its own organism, and the inter-relation of human belings with reference to health, disease and healing. By the spirit of Dr. Benjamin Rush, through the mediumship of Mrs. Cora L. V. Richmond. A book that every healer, physician and Spiritualist should read. Price, $1.50.

ESOTERIC LESSONS.

This work includes "Personified Un thinkables," "First Lessons in Reality," and "A Tour Through the Zodiac." This is an interesting production of occult thought and will well repay careful study and meditation by all occultists. Price, Cloth, $1.50. For sale at this office.

OLD AND NEW PSYCHOLOGY By W. J. Colville. Beports of twenty-four distinct lectures, recently delivered in New York, Brooklyn, Boston, Philadelphia and other [prominent cities of the United States, have contributed the basis of this volume. Price, $1.00.

A GREAT BOOK.

THE HULL-JAMIESON DEBATE.

One of Unflagging Interest Throughout —It Should Be in the Hands of Every Spiritualist and Freethinker.

This book, containing nearly 500 closely printed pages, should have a million circulation. Price $1. It is chockful of rapid-firing ideas, and is the ablest debate, on both sides, ever published. Send for it.

Man and the as Disclosed in the Bible."

Spirit World Associate of King's College, London. An excellent book for Christian people who would investigate and learn the facts of Bible teachings as well as modern spirit phenomena. Price, cloth, $1.10.

THE OTHER SIDE OF DEATH Scientifically Examined and

Carefully Described. BY C. W. LEADBEATER.

A Volume of 500 large pages, treating very hierastingly if Life, Death and Immortality, Clatryoyanoe, Spirit Phenomena, Etc, as viewed by an acknowledged and cultivated exponent of Theosophy. Price, $1.50.

Or The Threefold Power of Sex. By Lois Wals-brooker. Price to cents.

THE PSYCHOGRAPH

DIAL PLANCHETTE.

This instrument is substantially the same as that employed by Prof. Haro in his early investigations in its improved form it has been before the public for more than seven years, and in the hands of thousands of persons has proved its superiority over the Plantichette, and all other instruments which have been brought out in imitation, both in regard to certainly and correctness of the communications received by its aid, and as a means or developing mediumship.

Do you wish to investigate Epitriumlism?

Do you wish to dowlon Madismahlery Do you wish to develop Mediumship? Do you desire to receive Communications?

The Psychograph is an invaluable sesistant. A pamphies with full directions for the Formation of Circles and Cultivation of Mediumship with every instrument. Many who were not aware of their mediumistic gift, have, after a few intings been able to recoive delightful messages. A volume might be filled with commendatory letters. Many who began with it as a smusing ky, found that the intelligence controlling it knew more than them intelligence converts to Spiritualism.

of Mediumship

Capt. D. B. Edwards, Orient, N. Y.. writes: "I had communications to the Paymons of the property of the property shops and intelligence in the secretary in the intelligence in the secretary witco as follows: "I sm much pleased with the Paymons of the property is more than the property in the property in the property in the property is more than the property in the property in the property in the property is more than the property in the property in the property is more than the property in the property is more than the property in the property in the property is more than the property in the property in the property is more than the property in the property in the property is more than the property in the property in the property is property in the property in the property in the property is the property in the property in the property in the property is property in the property is the property in the property in the property in the property is the property in the property in the property in the property is the property in the property in the property in the property is the property in the property in the property is the property in the property in the property in the property is the property in the property in

Securety packed, and sent postage paid from the manufacturer, for $1.00. Address: HUDSON TUTTLE,

Berlin Heights, Ohio. ASPHODEL BLOOMS

Other Offerings

EMMA ROOD TUTTLE.

This volume contains a selection of the best poems of this gifted author and storicties contributed by Clair Tuttle in her charming style. There are 225 pages, with six full-page illustrations, including photogravures of the author and Clair Tuttle. It is bound in blue with a lumnum embossing. Many of the poems are especially adapted for recitations.

The Author needs no introduction to the spiritual public. Her songs are among the best in spiritual literature. Epes Sargent said of one of her poems that it was the equal of anything in the language, and that she was the poet of the New Dispensation.

The Mecca says: "Psychic Poems."

That crudite critic, Wm. Emmetto Coleman To all lovers of good poetry this book is confidently recommended."

Will Cariton: "I have read with great interest."

Sarah Thorpe Thomas, the Humanitarial

Will Carlton: 'I have read with great interest.'
Sarah Thorpe Thomas, the Humanitarian says: 'A most exquisite bouquet * * * * the thoughts echo and recehe through the deepest recesses of my heart. I have some word opraise for every page.'
The author says in the dedication: 'To those whose thoughts and longings reach into the unseen Land of Souts, this handful of asphodels, mixed with common flowers, is offered hoping to give rest and pleasure while waiting at the way stations on the journey thither.'

Price, 81.00. For sale by

HUDSON TUTTLE, .

Berlin Heights, Ohio FOREIGN AGENTS:
H. A. Copley, Canningtown, London, Eng.
W. H. Terry, Melbourne, Australia

"THE DREAM CHILD," A Fascinating Romance of Two Worlds. By Florence Huntley. Price, cloth, 75 cents. Books like "The Dream Child" spur humanity on to make more and more demands of this nature, and will open up new heights and depths of spiritual knowledge.—Ella Wheeler Wilcox. Will, I believe take its place beside Bulwer's "Zanoni" and the "Seraphita" of Baizac.—Daily Capital, Topeka, Kansas. Although simple and unvarnished with any inflammable descriptions, enthralis the mind to the exclusion of other thoughts, until reluctantly the reader closes the last page.—Minneapolis Sunday Times.

LILIAN WHITING'S BOOKS

VERY INTERESTING AND EX-CELLENT WORKS.

Kate Field, A Record. Price $2. A Study of Elizabeth Barrett Brown ing. Price $1.25.
The World Beautiful. Three Series. Each $1.

After Her Death, New Edition. $1.

From Dreamland Sent, And Other, Poems. $1. These books are for sale

STARTLING FACTS,
Deeds of Darkness Disclosed

This work devotes special attention o Auricular Confession and its relations to sacerdotal celibacy, convents, monasteries, morality and civil and religious liberty. It is intended to be an embodiment of facts and documentary evidence of the pernicious influence of the confessional; a trenchant showing up of Romanism, based upon standard Catholic authorities; an eye-opener concerning the methods and spirit, the moral turpitude and evil works of Ro-manism. Cloth, 75 cents.

"NO BEGINNING."

An Excellent Work for Thinkers.

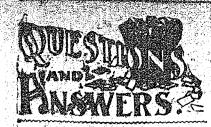

This book, "No Beginning," is william H. Maple. The Arena says of it: "The argument is unanswerable, The book will at once appeal to the reason of every reader, and leave him more amazed than ever at the prevalence of the theory of Creation." The Two has always been a fateful num-Free Thought Ideal says: "We found is full of glittering thoughts for thinkers, and the very death warrant of Christian superstition shines upon its pages."

COSMIAN HYMN BOOK.

A collection of original and selected Hymns for Liberal and Ethical Societies, for Schools and the Home. Compiled by L. K. Washburn. This volume meets a public want. It comprises 588 choice selections of poetry and music, embodying the highest moral sentiment, and free from all sectarianism. Price, 50 cents.

THE SPIRITUAL ALPS And How We Ascend Them.

How to reach that allitude where spirit is supreme and all things are subject to it. By Moses Hull, Prior in cloth, & canter paper 23 cts, For sale at this cance, HUDSON TUTTLE. Medress him at Marillo Heights, Oblo.

NOTIF.-The Questions and Answers have called forth such a host of respondents, that to give all equal hearing compels the answers to be made in the most condensed form, and often clearness is perhaps sacrificed to this forced brevity. Proofs have to be omitked, and the style becomes thereby assertive, which of all things is to be depwith waiting for the appearance of their questions and write letters of in-The supply of matter is always several weeks ahead of the space given, and hence there is unavoidable delay. Every one has to wait his time and place, and all are treated with equal

NOTICE.—No attention will be given anonymous letters. Full name and address must be given, or the letters will not be read. If the request be made, the name will not be published. The correspondence of this department has become excessively large, especially letters of inquiry requesting private answers, and while I freely give whatever information I am able, the ordinary courtesy of correspondents is ex-pected. HUDSON TUTTLE.

W. S., Detroit, Mich.: Q. (1) Does any known animal possess a brain as large as that of man?

(2) In the attempts made to reconcile the six days of creation as stated in what becomes of the Christian Sab-plete unless ending in martyrdom.

A. (1) Relatively in proportion to the size of the body there are no animals having as large a brain of the same

The amphioxus, a small oceanic fish, ries of living beings, is said to have no there is with each higher specific form an enlargement of brain. The brain of mammals 1 to 186; of man 1 to 36.

termined, but the largest must be many idea." times larger than the elephant, and the brain ratio probably three times less.

Tiedemann, the German anatomist, makes the average brain of Europeans, Mosaic? man, 48 ounces, of woman, 44 ounces. Yet as the weight of woman is less than gin with a cosmogony or account of the that of man, relatively the proportion is creation, referring it direct to God or the same. The most extensive research the gods. The most ancient extant is of the largest Ethiopian skull observed who sang the story of creation in verse. 94 cubic inches, for the smallest 65; He lived in the mythic age supposed to largest American (Indian) 100, smallest be between 800 and 900 years before 60; Malay, largest 89, smallest 64; Mon-golian, largest 93, smallest 69; Caucas-had a cosmology of their own. Thales, ian or white, largest 109, smallest 75.

as weight. In the advance of species, theory of creation of science which took the convolutions increase, and deepen, form with the grand idea of evolution, until fully expressed in the brain of and is yet under revision. This account man. In them the brain is largely made of the creation, is the only one worthy up of enlarged sensatory ganglia and of consideration, except as a study of the cerebellum (base brain), while in the early efforts of the mind to solve the man the cerebrum overlaps and almost riddle of existence. All others are specconceals these parts. The size of this ulations without support, and in this part of the brain far exceeds that of any field the speculations of the philosopher othe rmember of the animal world.

Hugh Miller, in his famous "Old Red Sandstone," gave the explanation of the six days as vast periods of time wonderful popularity, yet he became conscious of the fallacy of his theory and in the keenness of his chagrin committed sui-

There is not, probably, a geologist in the world who maintains this theory, or would not regard with pity any one who did. There are many difficulties to en- Blest be the spot, where cheerful guests only took one day of rest after his six of work, and that the Sabbath, there Blest be that abode, where want and would be a strange incongruity between hour Sunday. The seventh day should blest be those feasts, with simple plenty be like the six preceding. If these days crown'd, were of vast duration, it is difficult to Where all the ruddy family around when "God said let there be light in the firmament of the heavens to divide the day from the night." The vegetable world might exist for a day or two without light, but that it flourished and covered the earth before there was a sun for "a vast period of time," is impossible.

"What becomes of the Christian Sabbath?" It exists like many ancient Dis is de way de roun' worl' runthings because of the superstition some got money, en some got none; which holds it sacred, after every vestige of support, and reason for being has disappeared. Its sacredness is because of God's resting after his six days' labor. Now the Jews who ought to have the best understanding of their own book. saw that they hold the account of Genesis as an allegory, a folk-lore story and their rabbi always so regarded it. Every man of science of the least eminence, agrees with this interpretation. God did not create the world. In six days, or six yast epochs. It is a pretty story, but a myth as fabulous as the varying forms it assumes as told by that the Bible is the oldest book in ex-sive. Paper, 50 centerence. Is this true?

Also that Paul and Luke: were peronal acquaintances of Jesus of Naza-

A. The Egyptian Book of the Dead is vastly older than the oldest book in the Old Testament, which is admitted to be that of Job. The papyrus acrolls and inscriptions on the Egyptian temples are indefinitely older than any writing in the Hebrew. The tablets prought to light by excavations at the sites of ancient Nineveh, Babylon, etc., covered with cuneiform characters is yet more remote. To say the Bible is the oldest book, is a confession of ignorance, and is scarcely worthy of contradiction. The best and most orthodox church authorities place all the four writers of the gospels a long time after the death of Jesus. Zeller thinks Luke was written 130 A. D. Volchman dates Mark at 80, Luke at 100 and Matthew at 110 Koslin places Matthew at 70 to 80. Ewald places Luke at 75 to 80. are the conclusions of the most laborious German scholars, and their diver-Correspondents often weary sity of opinion arises from the absence of reliable data, and want of any certain indications in the works themselves. The most thorough investigators place the date of the writing at least a hundred years after the death of Jesus. Thus three generations had passed before the traditions of this Messiah were vritten down. During this hundred years whatever he did or said had been preserved by memory. By whom were they written at last? It is impossible to know. To pretend to know, or fix dates is an assumption of ignorance. Paul is said to have started on his celebrated missionary work in 44 A. D. and to have suffered martyrdom under Nero in 67 A. D.

How Luke or the saint could have per sonally known Jesus who was dead long before they were born, I leave for gos pel ministers to explain. Mosheim in his History of Christian ity which is accepted as authority, although ever partial to the cause, in his native truthfulness occasionally admits passages which show the great difficul-Genesis, the days are supposed to have ty in separating the true from the been vast periods of time. If this be so, false. Paul's life would not be comery apostle except one met death by martyrdom, according to tradition. Mosheim says of Paul's death, "Ac cording to some ancient authorities, both St. Peter and St. Paul suffered martyrdom under the first persecution at the beginning of the vertebrate selof Nero. But this has been questioned by subsequent writers who find difficulbrain, the spinal cord existing as a line ty in the chronology. Page 139, Vol. 1, of nerve tissue. There is no enlarge again he says: "I am induced to think ment at the head, of the ganglia, mak-ing them more powerful than the oth-handed down to us respecting the mar-From this beginning, step by step tyrdom of our Savior's apostles, were invented, subsequently to the age Constantine the Great. The growth of fishes is about 1 to 5668 of their bodies; this belief that all the apostles were of reptiles, 1 to 1821; birds 1 to 212; martyrs appears to have been like that of all myths. Mosheim gives the key The proportion of small animals is when he says that martyr in the Greek larger than that of man, as the field meant a witness, and as witnesses the mouse is 1 to 31, and this is more apostles were all called martyrs. The marked in some birds, as the tom-tit, in term was applied to Christ who "witwhich it is 1 to 12, and the canary, 1 to nessed" by sealing his testimony with 20. But it is to be taken into considing blood. Thus the meaning was eration that the brain of these animals changed and ignorant persons, generais enlarged by the enormous size of the tions afterward, understood martyr to olfactory lobes and in birds the optic mean one who sacrificed himself for lobes are larger than the true brain. his belief. Then the story of each apos-Allowing for these, the brain of these tle's martyrdom must be furnished, and animals and birds are not exceptions to fertile fancy was adequate for the invention. The eminently orthodox Mo-The brain of the elephant often sheim says, Vol. 1, page 106, "For when weighs from 8 to 10 pounds, and is the Christian writers had been unfortunatelargest of any known animal. That of ly tempted to have recourse to fiction, the whale is five pounds. Thus as an it was not long before the weakness of elephant has been known to weigh some and arrogant presumption of oth-7,000 pounds, its brain would have to ers, carried forgery, and imposition to its body the proportion of 1 to 700. The an extent, of which it would be difficult weight of a whale has never been de to convey to the reader any adequate

> H. C. Fulcher: Q. Is there any account of the creation other than the

A. The so-called sacred books all bethat of the Hindus. Aanaximenes, Anaximander and Anaxa-The form and texture of the brain has goras, Pythagoras, Aristotle, Epicurus, quite as much to do with its functions are more noted. Lastly there is the are not an iota more valuable than those of the most ignorant boor. The objective demonstrations of astronomy, the formation of systems of worlds in space, and the revelations of geology on the origin and evolution of living beings, laid the foundation for the true story of creation, or better, evolution.

HOSPITALITY.

counter taking the theory for granted, retire, which are insurmountable. If God To pause from toil, and trim their even-pain despair. six indefinite periods and a twenty-four And every stranger finds a ready chair;

account for the growth of grass and Laugh at the jests or pranks that never herbs and trees up to the fourth day, fall,

Or sign with pity at some mournful tale. Or press the bashful stranger to his food,

And learn the luxury of doing good.
—Goldsmith.

THE LEADING QUESTION.

But which er de lot is de happy one?-Answer now, believers! Dis man live in de mansion high,

Dat man-yander, in de desert dry: But which er de two gwine ter shout - bimeby?-Answer now, believers!

Trouble knockin' at de big house do' Same ez de cabin, whar de wil' grass grow; Who is de rich man, en who is de po'?-Answer now, believers! -Atlanta Constitution.

"Buddhism and Its Christian Critics." F. M.: Q. The minister here says of Buddhism; compact yet comprehen-

"How Shall I Become a Medium," Fully Answered

In Mediumship and Its Laws, Its Conditions and Cultivation," by Hudson Tuttle. Price 35 cents. Send to Mr. Tuttle, Berlin Heights, O.

THE RESURRECTION...THE TRUE CHARACTER OF EASTER; DEFINED

erates in glad commemoration the rising of Christ from the tomb, yet the heathen goddess in whose honor festivheathen goddess in whose nonor restry enced as to overcome this natural titles were inaugurated at this time of and even when quite yothig, be made the year. It is mentioned only once in to understand that dying is not a fearful to understand that dying is not a fearful the year. It is mentioned only once in the scriptures, and then it is the result thing, but a going out from the body, of a blunder on the part of the English into another and more beautiful world. Acts of the Apostles. It is in this wise: King Herod, who had stretched forth his hand against the Christians, putting James, the brother of John, to death with the sword, and-seeing that it pleased the Jews [whom for political ourposes he sought to favor! he apprenended Peter also, and shut him up in and let me go." prison. It is further said that Herod ntended to bring forth Peter and deliver him to the people after Easter for them to destroy. Here we have the term "Easter" for the first and only time in the scriptures. The cause of this mistake of the translators is supposed to be due to the Anglo-Saxon retention of this name, originally signify-ing a festival to their heathen goddess, formerly observed by the old Saxons before embracing Christianity, The festival that is observed by the bring Peter forth for execution. Adam Clarke, the noted Methodist com mentator, says of this term "Easter" in the passage before us, "Perhaps there never was a more unhappy, not to say absurd translation." All reliable commentators agree in this view of the matter.

"Easter," "Eostre." "Astarte," or, as some scholars claim, "Venus," the Roman Goddess of Love, were the names under which these spring festivals were when the earth put on her new garments and fresh life was generated in the inanimate and animate world. These festivities were said to have been carried to excess, indicative of indelicacy and licentiousness. Thus there is many excellent people. all the more reason why the name Easter, originating in a heathen cele-Easter, originating in a heathen cele-bration of questionable morality, should gloomy and depressing mistakes, and sary, which is commemorative of a spiritual uprising from the mortal and perishable.

where heathen customs, names and dogmas have been grafted upon the and which have been still retained-unment of the same.

be called Resurrection Day. This presses a glorious truth; as grand and this time.

As helrs of immortality the grave has bind us of Though sooner or s far-reaching as eternity itseir.

"It is sown a natural body; it is no power to bind us. "Though sooner or but that which was natural, and afterwards that which is spiritual"

That while in one sense we are of the mortal. earth earthy, with physical organisms fitted for this present life and its needs, yet in a vastly higher sense we have also a spiritual being—an immorta part that can never die or decay? Thus we see the grand truth and encouragement of Paul's declaration which we have here given, as a foundation for our thought at this time.

Higher, and better than all other sys tems the world had ever known, the reigion of Christ came to bless the world. When he came, and lived and worked, and taught, his precepts and example ifted the standard of pure thinking, right living and heavenly aspiration higher than prophet or priest, had ever ione before.

In all his ministry he sought to bring uman souls and lives into nearer relations with the divine; to awaken in them, a realizing sense of their heavenly birthright. Thus demonstrating to them the truth of their immortal na-

Christ in his coming "brought life and immortality to light;" not that it was not a truth before he came, but humanity was in a large degree groping in the darkness of unbelief respecting a future life, or in sad uncertainty about t, or of its being a blessing even if true. To all such, the testimony of Christ was positive and assuring.

The old question from the far-back early days of humanity that was asked in the ancient Arabian poem of "Job,"

"If a man die, shall he live again?" was echoed down the corridors of time, and still re-echoed without answer. This was met by Christ and forever satisfactorily settled. "As I live, ye shall live also." And here to-day amid these tokens of a new life bursting forth from nature, with her blossoming beauty around us, we are met to celebrate this loyous festival of The Resurrection.

Let us enjoy the happy occasion with grateful hearts, and in adoring love look unto the Father of our spirits, who has blest us in this glorious consummation of our natural lives, a consummation that reaches far out into a boundless eternity of spiritual life. Were this short span of being in which we live here in the earth all of life, that we have, surely it would be very incomplete and unsatisfactory. Well has Longfellow expressed it when he says:

The great design unfinished lies, Our lives are incomplete; But in that great unknown Perfect their circles seem,

Even as a bridge with arch of stone-Lies rounded in the stream."

Truly our lives would be unfinished here if they were not rounded out on the other side, into a perfect circle! As Christians to-day, we can look into the lent Land," learn something of its nature and endeavor to learn what condiwavering faith, "Not here, but risen." No dust of earth can retain the real you all things, demands for man there, and L. What we call death may come, During the process of his resurrec and L. What we call dearn may come, and stop the machinery of these bodies of ours, but it can never destroy the life within. When our earthly house of no power to effect his resurrection him.

only a breaking down of these earthy the material body, by the power in nathoness in which as mortals we dwell for a time, that we may go out into more stately mansions, the buildings of God, more suitable for the spirit's higher needs.

To the young, the thought of death the change, man is gradually and gent for health. Price 25 cents.

Lecture Delivered at Hico, Texas, by is too often fraught with dreadful fears Rev. Mary C. Billings, Giving a Rose. This is in part due to education and influence; and also to the intural and wholesome antagorism dexisting between opposing forces. Death is the opposite and antagorism of the ising of Christ from the tomb. Yet the rising of Christ from the tomb, yet the is to be avoided if possible. All ant-mane given it is not appropriate. This mated nature is witness to this. But "Easter" is derived from a the child can be so diucated and influ-

the scriptures. This word occurs in the 4th verse of the 12th chapter of the ago in the city of New York, these thoracters ago in the city of New York, these thoracters ago in the city of New York, these thoracters ago in the city of New York, these thoracters ago in the city of New York, these thoracters ago in the city of New York, these thoracters ago in the city of New York, these thoracters ago in the city of New York, these thoracters ago in the city of New York, these thoracters ago in the city of New York, these thoracters ago in the city of New York, these thoracters ago in the city of New York, these thoracters ago in the city of New York, these thoracters ago in the city of New York, oughly Christian parents gently told him of the beautiful land to which he was soon going, and the dear little fellow who had been suffering so much looked up in perfect trust in what his loving parents told him, saying, "Please, mamma, take off my plaster There was no fear there! Horace Greeley and his wife were distinguished people, and the world has given them their meed of honor, but to me there has never been anything that raised them higher in my estimation than this simply beautiful episode, at the bedside of their dying

Death should never be dreaded unless it comes by violence or accident. It is true, it is our duty to preserve our health and life here so long as possible, first, because it is in accordance Christian world under the name of with the laws of nature that we should; Easter was not instituted at the time (and nature's laws are God's laws); secthis book of Acts was written, and not in order that we may prolong our useuntil long afterward. The true mean-fulness in the world and improve ouring of the world Easter as given in this selves in knowledge and goodness, so passage is "The Passover," which was that we may reach the diviner side of celebrated about this time of the year, life the better prepared to enter upon the conductive of evistance. its new and higher phases of existence, did not consider it the proper time to because while here we have made the best use of our opportunities. Let us understand that the unreasonable and especially unchristian views of death as being a fearful calamity, is largely the result of false teaching and a mistaken theology. This is not to be denied.

Pious divines, sincere and honest we believe, have called death "the king of terrors"; have clothed this event in garments of darkness; have quoted, "It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of celebrated. This was in honor of the the living God." All these ideas, awakening of life and love in nature though not as crude and bad as the hideous death's head and cross bones carved upon the tombstones of our ancestors, are yet relics of old superstition that still cling to Christianity, and regarded as true in the estimation of But let us, my friends, upon this glad not be used for our Christian anniver- raising our eyes toward the blue of heaven instead of allowing them to look sadly down to that which is only the This, however, we are compelled to us see only the glorious reality of asdeath of the earthly; and perishable, let acknowledge is not the only instance cended life, life immortal, perfect, endless life! Thus looking upward instead dogmas have been grafted upon the pure stock of primitive Christianity, selves strengthened; refreshed and cheered. We shall feel a consciousness fortunately, as we believe, to the detri- of our immortal nature that will go with Certainly it is important, that approvery burden, comfosting, us in sorrow, priate names should be given to our making this earthly existence of ours Christian ordinances and celebrations. always bright with the reflected glory Thus instead of Easter this ought to of that heaven in which Jesus dwells, raised a spiritual body." "Howbeit, later we all shall pass through the that was not first which was spiritual, change called death, we know it will be change called death, we know it will be to our souls only a new birth, a resur-Can we ever be sufficiently thankful May God give us faith to believe and that our all-wise and all-beneficent Cre-realize this, and grace to live here on ator has endowed us with twofold lives? earth as becometh the heirs of life im-

Clear Vision of the Poet and the Seer.

t seemeth such a little way to me Across to that strange country—the Beyond; And yet, not strange, for it has grown

The home of those of whom I am so

They make it seem familiar and most As journeying friends bring distant regions near.

So close it lies, that when my sight is I think I almost see the gleaming know I feel those who have gone from

Come near enough sometimes, to touch my hand. often think, but for our veiled eyes, We should find, heaven right round about us lies.

cannot make it seem a day to dread, When from this dear earth I shall journey out To that still dearer country of the dead,

And join the lost ones, so long dreamed about? love this world, yet shall I love to go And meet the friends who wait for me, I know.

never stand above a bier and see The seal of death set on some well-But that I think, "One more to welcome

When I shall cross the intervening space Between this land and that one "over there";

One more to make the strange Beyond seem fair.
And so for me there is I'no sting to death, 65 b. a are.

And so the grave dias lost its victory. t is but crossing with advated breath. And white, set face—at little strip of sea,
To find the loved cases waiting on the shore, we sed More beautiful, more precious than before. -Ella Wheeler Wilcox. Were we to pour out our psalm of we forbear, and tulin, to thoughts en-gendered by the song. Let us follow our friend into that "Siture and endeavor to learl what condi-tions and changes the law, which holds life within. When our earthly house of this tabernacle of the flesh is destroyed, self. His soul does not escape from the body as gas from a vessel, by its made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

Thus what the world calls "death" is spiritual organism must be drawn from the body as gas from a vessel, by its comparative levity. All things are held by the law of attraction." His spiritual organism must be drawn from the material than the resurrence. only a breaking down of these earthly the material body, by the power in na-

ly awakened to find himself among anels and friends in the spiritual world He is in the same form and he does not even know that he is dead until he reflects upon what he sees around him. He has all the bodily organs he ever had. He sees, hears, and uses his senses the same as he ever did. He talks with those present and walks from place to place. He has only thrown aside the garment of clay. The spiritual body is as before, but has been lifted up. No change in his intellectual or moral character has been effected by his death and resurrection. He is no better and no worse. We each take our memory, and our mental faculties act as before. We love, hope, fear, reason, desire, reflect, judge and express judgments as before. Our identity remains, and we know it. All who believe rationally in a future life will admit this as abstract truth, but many persons deny it, by denying to man as a spirit those qualities which constitute his personal being or identity. But this seems irrational. There is no ground for believing that a man would know himself if his identity did not persist. There can be no identity where there is no form, or where the form is totally changed. Every one has some idea or conception of himself. Suppose the next time you look in a mirror you should see nothing but what a spirit is ignorantly supposed to bean empty void: Would you recognize yourself in that? Or suppose you should see a distinct human form, but totally unlike your own—you would say at once, "That is not I?" How do you recognize your friends? By their having the same form they have when you saw them last. If the change has been very great, you do not know them on sight. You never know them until you recognize some familiar feature. The same principle applies to things as well as to persons. You could not find your house to-day if it was totally changed, with everything around it. You could not recognize your horse or dog if form and color and qualities were changed-there would be no recognition. Identity surely is sameness or similarity. If we do not rise into the spiritual world in some form such as we possess here, we shall never rise. Our identity would be missing. But not only is outward form essential to the preservation of our identity, but the inward character. surely preserve our affections, our knowledge, our experience, our memory. We are what we have thought and We preserve our identity as intellectual and moral beings, by comparing every step in our mental and spiritual progress with the last one. Gradual development is absolutely essential to the preservation of our personal be-We must be able to see how one state grows out, or evolves from another, to know that we are the same beings to-day we were in the past. All the laws of man's life demand, therefore, that he shall preserve his form and character and rise in the spiritual world the same being that he was here. As the meat of a chestnut differs from the rind, and that again from the burr, so the essential spirit varies somewhat from the spirit body, as that varies from the material husk or shell.

The lifting up of this finer, inner body, gives us a grand look forward, to the careers which may follow. If one is persuaded that he shall enter on another sphere of existence when this is ended, that his activities will go on with increasing power and usefulness, blessing and to bless, till their possible achievement is accomplished, that his affections will find new objects, his dreams new fulfillments, his longings new developments, he surely will rise to a greater moral dignity than he would otherwise. The sense of limitation being withdrawn and the disabling consciousness of mental and moral inabil ty being removed, the natural result will be patient resignation, trust on the one hand, and a cheerful alacrity vivified by a great hope on the other.

What we need for the noblest mental life is a sense of harmonious proportion and adjustment to the ever living and loving Oversoul. The Goodness that is, and was and shall ever be. Well may that favored child sing

"I into life so full of love was sent, That all the shadows which fall on

Of every human being, could not

But fled before the light my spirit lent, saw the world through gold and crimson dyes; Men sighed, and said, "Those rosy hues will fade As you pass on into the glare and shade!" Still beautiful the way seems to mine

Boston, Mass.

Causal Reasoning.

It is often asserted that a pure spirit wants a pure body of flesh to live in, or that a harmonious soul needs a harmonious body.

Perhaps so. But what makes the body impure if not by permission of the spirit; or inharmonious if not by the inharmony existing in the soul? As the spirit or soul wills, the body is formed. When the spirit wills to deny the body impure habits, it will purify fast enough; or become "harmonious" as some prefer it.

Matter per se has no desires; and only a human body that is still inhabited by a spirit manifests needs, tastes or desires. The body is therefore not a factor. We should reason from causes, not effects. ARTHUR F. MILTON.

A Constinution Cure That Actually Cures.

is Vernal Saw Palmetto Berry Wine. It is not merely a relief. It permanently cures any kind of a case of constipation no matter of how long standing. It is not a purgative nor an irritant cathartic. These simply lash and hurt the bowels and bring but temporary relief. The condition left behind is worse than the first. Vernal Saw Palmetto Berry Wine does just the opposite. It is a tonic laxative of the highest order. It tones, strengthens and gives new life and vigor to the bowels. Only one small dose a day removes all the causes of praise upon the gentle songstress, who, the trouble, and leaves the bowels well years ago, gave us these heautiful lines, and able to move themselves without we should be accused of lightery—hence the aid of medicines. It cures dyspepthe aid of medicines. It cures dyspepsia, kidney and liver troubles, indiges-tion, headaches, catarrh of the stomach, and all other diseases and conditions growing out of a clogged condition of the system. Try it free. A sample bottle for the asking. Vernal Remedy Co., 166 Seneca Bldg., Buffalo, N. Y. Sold by all leading druggists.

"Longley's Beautiful Songs." Four-teen beautiful, soul-inspiring songs, with music, by C. Payson Longley. Price by mall, 15 cents. For sale at

The Light of Egypt." Volumes and 2. An occult library in itself, a text-book of esoteric knowledge as taught by Adepts of Hermetic Philosophy. Price $2 per volume. For said at

"Just How to Wake the Bolar Plexus." By Elizabeth Towns, Valuable

History of the GHRISTIAN RELIGION to the Year 200,

BY CHARLES V. WAITE, A. M. Fifth Edition-Revised, with Much Additional Matter in Appendix

earlier period of the church, giving wholly ignored by the regular church facts that are not found in the so-called historians, and throws a bright glare of histories written by churchmen. This light on points heretofore carefully latest edition has been carefully and shrouded in darkness.

A standard and reliable history of the historical research in matters of face thoroughly revised, and it is a reliable magazine of facts, such as the honest strongly bound in cloth. Price $2.25, inquirer wants. It opens up to the information of the progressive Thinker yestigator and student a wide field of office.

GELESTIAL DYNAMIGS,

Being a Normal Course of Study in the Astro-Magnetio Forces of Nature.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "THE LIGHT OF EGYPT," "THE LAN-GUAGE OF THE STARS," ETC.

A magnificent and complete course of Astro-metaphysical study, embodying Vital Principles of Life, Mental Force, Sickness and Disease. With the only true and really Scientific method of treating the sick successfully. Mental Healers, Meta-physicians, and all who practice the Healing Art Divine should give "Celestial Dynamics" a thorough and impartial study, and thus learn the real cause of their frequent failures.

No Astro-Student can afford to be without this work, if he would understand the Meta-physics of Astrology.

This work was specially prepared for publication to meet the demands of a large and very earnest class of people who cannot afford to pay for a regular course of instruction under a qualified teacher. And those who can afford this privilege will find the work an invaluable text-book to their studies.

The Price is One Dollar Only, and is within reach of all who seek light. For sale at this office.

RENDING THE VAIL

A Most Remarkable Book Concerning the Existence of Man, and All Things, and All Being

It Was Written by Materialized Forms at the House of J. H. Pratt, Spring Hill, Kansas, William W. Aber Being the Medium.

Col. Van Horn is fully competent to Also phenomena, inspiration and such, judge, we will say that he has been a to many, knotty subjects, are freely and member of congress for four sessions, fully discussed. an editor of a leading daily, and a pro- ... The work is not written by the me found thinker along scientific lines. dium nor by any one connected with the

"The principal contributors to sages or dissertations on scientific, philippoint osophic, religious, theologic and occult topics—from world-building, the origin Andrew Jackson Davis, and Maria King Newbrough of life, or religions, of scientific discovtrations-44 of them portraits. These were drawn by a form standing out in the room at a desk, the form or personality to be sketched at the doorway of that his work has been admirably one allity to be sketched at the doorway of the bully and efficiently but the cabinet and the finished picture—not only faithfully and efficiently, but handed to one of the circle and filed with excellent taste. There are no doglway hy the s to which their active lives in this world were devoted—in literary character as different here as in their works extant on our book-shelves.

"In reading the book, and I have read it all, this modest, self-retiring, literal rendering of these extraordinary happenings by the secretary has been a to conditions in their present world; the This remarkable book, "Rending the limitations—that the organism of the Vail," is for sale at the office of The medium imposes upon communication, Progressive Thinker. Price $1.75.

"Rending the Vail" is pronounced by and various kindred questions. All Col. R. T. Van Horn, of Kansas City, these are treated, some of them very Mo., as a most remarkable work. That fully, but all rationally understandable.

society or circle. All was delivered by the personalities distinct from either, writbook are four in number: Dr. W. H. ten down by the secretary as spoken, or Reed, who is called the chemical control of the medium; William Denton, Thomas Paine and Michael Faraday.

Thomas Paine and Michael Faraday.

Corrected, or criticised by those present There are numerous others giving a few incidental and mostly personal messages or dissertations on scientific, philippersonal messages or dissertations or scientific, philippersonal messages or dissertations or scientific, philippersonal messages or dissertations or scientific, philippersonal messages or dissertations are disserted in the scientific dissertation and the scientific dissertations are disserted in the scientific dissertation and the sci

ery, and the laws of cosmos or nature—in fact the entire field of human thought. The limitation seemed to be ten and spoken by full-form personallthat of the speciators to ask quesin fact the entire field of human thought. The limitation seemed to be ten and spoken by full-form personallten and spoken by full-form persona ties and is printed as given. One re-"In addition to this mass of messages, there are in the book about sixty illus."

markable thing about the writing may not be amiss here. As high as 1,200 words a minute were written by carry words a minute were written by actual timing by the watch.

"What will attract the attention of the dixts of the scribe. He simply even the non-Spiritualist reader is that the topics treated by Prof. Denton, Thomas Paine and Prof. Faraday, are in kind, in thought and style with those or in writing.

The states that "a form purporting to be" So-and-So, "appeared and delivered the following"—stating whether it was oral to which their active lives in this world. "In reading the book and I have need the states that "a form purporting to be" states that "a form purporting to be" in kind, in thought and style with those or in writing.

"The Spiritualist press and its con- source of constant admiration. It adds tributors are just now discussing a character to the book and inspires connumber of questions as to the nature of stant confidence in the integrity that spirit, of spirit return; the want of from the first page to the last enhances agreement between those returning as the respect and interest of the reader.'

BEYOND THE VAIL

A Sequel to "Rending the Vail." The two volumes together as a record the experiences of spirits in both worlds unique and overwhelming.

Every communication is from a full materialized spirit form, in good light, and either spoken audibly or written in full view by the form. There is not an foundly philosophical comments of the controlling spirits of the seances. Prof.

The two volumes together as a record the experiences of spirits in both worlds of practically obtained facts demonther own account of their lives on earth and their progress after death to unlique and overwhelming.

The account of their lives on earth and their progress after death to their present conditions of freedom from earth conditions. The narratives are interesting in automatic or trance message in the controlling spirits of the seances. Prof. William Denton, Thomas Paine, Dr. W. It is illustrated by several engravings, H. Reed and others—covering, law, the originals of which were drawn in medicine, jurisprudence, theology and the presence of the circle by a full form metaphysics. There are no books in existence of like character or of higher BEYOND THE VAIL is, as a rule, authority. Price, by mail, $1.75.

"THE UNKNOWN"

GAMILLE FLAMMARION.

"The Unknown" created a marked cinating as the most fantastic of Poe't sensation in France when first pubtales. It treats on incredulity, credulished and can scarecly fail to arouse ity, hallucinations, psychic action of one the greatest interest in this country. It indu upon another, transmission of is an eminent scientist's study of the thought, suggestion, the world of phenomena of the spirit world. In dreams, cerebral physiology, psychial and the property of the physical dreams, distinct sight in dreams actual chapters of his book are as weirdly fas- bound. Price $2.00.

touching upon the various physical dreams, distinct sight in dreams, actual manifestations the author cites many facts, premonitory dreams and divinaabsolutely authenticated instances, and tion of the future, etc. 487 pages, cloth For Sale at the Office of The Progressive Thinker.

OUR BIBLE: WHO WROTE IT? WHEN? WHERE? HOW? Is It Infallible?

A Voice from the Higher Criticism.

A Few Thoughts on Other Bibles. BY MOSES HULL.

Excellent as an exposition of the Higher Criticism and an analysis of the Bible from that standpoint. Of special value and interest to Spirit malista. For sale at this office. Price $1.00.

The G. E. Watkins Medical Gompany &

Private Sanitarium

Will be open May 20th.

All those who desire to become patients, should write at once and engage rooms. We shall treat all chronic cases, but Nervous Diseases and we treat all chrouic diseases successfully.

E. T. GOVE, Mgr., Or to The C. E. Watkins Medical Co.,

66 Highland Ave., Newtonville, Mass.

itarium and our methods of Curing the Sick,

Will diagnose diseases by letter.

MR. WAYWARD.

(Continued from page 3.)

though you can't see me," said the spirit Jack Gonover. "What does it mean? Am I msane?

that's all," said the voice.
"This book declares it a scientific impossibility to live after one dies," said Mr. Wayyard.

"Throw your book to the dogs," spoke the cheerful voice. "I tell you an seem standing upon sands which are shifting beneath my feet; where shall I all glory, honor, praise and majesty. The stability, permanence, security? Am I to be forever like a wave of the meaninglessly call God. sea, driven by the wind and tossed?" Then raising his eyes he perceived the true and full meaning of eternal life dom is in every heart that loves him, return to the fountain head or source whether on earth or in heaven. Oh, my from which we evolved. This life is for ren, for blessings of angels were yours, we are yet to pass through. Then, why, though you knew it not. Go back to oh, man, turn to tradition, superstition that straight and narrow way, where and old fables. J. L. FOSTER. self-plaudits are forgotten-tread the path of light forever, for it is endless." Thus spoke the spirit of Harmony Way-"Over there" she is only known as Harmony—the latter word is blotted

Mr. Wayward had a long journey before him, and much of it was so dark of witchcraft, or more properly witch-he could scarcely see his way, but through the darkest parts of the road a form walked before him; she had a by about 800 years according to training in her hand to entighten his way, the laws engraved on a stone monutary and the l reached the path of light; the little ment said of himself about 2200 B. C., child reached out both its hands.

ward." It said. "Yes, thank heaven, I am back. I apmy hands, we shall never part again." And Mr. Wayward and the little child traveled together on that bright, but parrow path toward the sun.

Sturgis, Mich.

HAPPY EXPERIENCES.

effect has been magical, and with Paul, tating to the king the laws. This seatthere is a stronger Spiritualist in the destiny of all."

Last week Mrs. Foster and I went Mrs. Foster and myself. There we men, and wore on his breast the tablets talked with our departed friends. My sions in the skies." He said he would An inscription on the monument disdo the best he could, as it had been a covered at Susa is translated to read as joined in and sang it to perfection. Our daughter came and talked as nicely as upon a man, and has not justified him-

Little Frank, Mr. Blake's guide follows him all around and talks out loud to him. After the seance was over we (drowns) him, he who enchanted him to it and said, "Is it possible this is house."
Frankie?" The little fellow answered
The

surely it was the most enjoyable season | cheap. we have ever enjoyed. I have been so happy ever since that I can hardly one of whom there are some to-day who work. I want to be writing or talking had just cause to enchant a man and had all the time. With thankful hearts we placed a record as is now done by writ parted from them, never to forget their love and kindness. May the angelic

Sunday night for the first time, in an-lows: Witchcraft, Enchantment, Holy ticipation of continuing as a developing Ghost, Holy Spirit, God, Lord, Demons, circle, and we got three distinct, separate independent voices without a trumnottsm, Sorgery, Necromancy, Chrispet. That was a happy season, and all tian Science, Mental Science, Psycholpet. That was a happy season, and all unexpected, mostly, to us. We are all so anxious for to-morrow night to come we can hardly wait. I have since got a trumpet and we are all hoping for great and rapid success.

That was a happy season, and all tian Science, Mental Science, Fsychology, etc., are the most common names for a force found in nature, not only in weight to come for a force found in nature, not only in service at Thurman Club Room, corner of 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

That was a happy season, and all tian Science, Mental Science, Fsychology, etc., are the most common names service at Thurman Club Room, corner of 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

The service at Thurman Club Room, corner of 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

The service at Thurman Club Room, corner of 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

The service at Thurman Club Room, corner of 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

The service at Thurman Club Room, corner of 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

The service at Thurman Club Room, corner of 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

The service at Thurman Club Room, corner of 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

The service at Thurman Club Room, corner of 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

The service at Thurman Club Room, corner of 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

The service at Thurman Club Room, corner of 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

The service at Thurman Club Room, corner of 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

The service at Thurman Club Room, corner of 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

The service at Thurman Club Room, corner of 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

The service at Thurman Club Room, corner of 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

The service at Thurman Club Room, corner of 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

The service at Thurman Club Room, corner of 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

The service at Thurman Club Room, corner of 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

The service at Thurman Club Room, c namely, disembodied spirits and some in material bodies. Spirit influence, control and obsession is frequent in the year 1908, and has been in past years. Boston, Mass. AURIN F. HILL.

A Highly Successful Circle.

Medcalf. consisting of four, Mr. Bailey, Mr. Toland and wife, and daughter, Car rie Powers. We have been sitting for development six months. We have good manifestations. Mr. Bailey gets materialization, trumpet speaking and slate writing, and Mr. Toland and wife, trumpet speaking and slate-writing. Carrie Powers gets trumpet speaking and slate writing, and she is developing for materialization. When she goes into the cabinet beautiful lights appear Of course Mr. Bailey is further devel oped than we are; he sees clairvoyantly and receives many more manifesta tions. We all have fine guides, and a good interpreter by the name of Tim. He comes and makes us a fine talk and directs us how to do. All our guides talk as loud and strong as mortals, and they also come when we are singing, and join in with us through the trumpets. A little Indian girl and Carrie's sister sing independently. We have se-ances in the light, and we get violin playing and hand patting, and we see many hands, big and little, wnite and black, and we get a great many messages thrown to us from the cabinet. A spirit friend told Carrie there was a flower in the trumpet for her. It was a forget-me-not, and our spirit friends and guides have brought us relies. Our guides and spirit friends tell us our cir cle is fine. We all work in harmony MRS. L. M. TOLAND.
Medcalf, Ill.

NEW YORK SPIRITUALISTS.

The sixth annual convention of the New York State Association of Spirit ualists will be held in Syracuse, Fri day, Saturday and Sunday, May 29, 30 and 31, 1903 at Empire Hall, North Sa lina and West Genesee streets. Convention headquarters, Empire Ho

The following speakers and mediums will be present: Harrison D. Barrett, Boston, Mass.; Harvey W. Richardson, East Aurora, N. Y.; Mrs. Carrie E. S. Twing, Westfield, N. Y.; Mrs. Tillie U. Reynolds, Troy, N. Y.; Charles S. Hul-bert, Buffalo, N. Y.; Mrs. Lizzie Brewer and a number of others. Miss Victoria C. Moore, Dryden N

Y., the talented elocutionist, will favor us with elocutionary readings. All are earnestly and cordially invited to be

HERBERT L. WHITNEY, Sec'y., 65 Howard avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y. HARVEY W. RICHARDSON, Pres.

PASSED TO SPIRIT LIFE.

[Obituaries to the extent of ten lines only will be inserted free. All in excess of ten lines will be charged at the rate of fifteen cents per line. About seven words constitute one line !

Mrs. Mary Louisa Clancy passed from the realm of earth to the realm of spirit, May 19, 1903, at her home, 3244 Vernon avenue, Chicago. Had she remained ten days longer she would have seen her 80th birthday, but she was where she was going. Mrs. Clancy was one of the pioneers of Chicago, having 20 years of her life were made sweet by the light she had found in Spiritualism, and the good she had done to others, Rev. Dr. Thomas delivered the funeral sermon, Thursday, May 21, at the house in the presence of the family and a few friends. One son and one daughter preceded her and she leaves behind two services every Sunday at 3 and 8 sons, one daughter, ten grand-children o'clock in Hygeia Hall, Ogden avenue and four great-grandchildren. Six of and Robey street. Lecture, spirit com-her grandsons acted as pall-bearers. munications, and questions answered The spiritual services were held as per written request left by Mrs. Clancy, The Englewood Spiritual Union meets singing of three spiritual songs, by Mrs. Partridge, Mrs. LeSieur and the writer hereof, and the reading of a poem en-

Passed to spirit life, Mrs. Ann Sharp Bowlen, Mar. 5, aged 85 years, from her home in East Liberty, Logan county, Ohio. She was a good mother to her children. She says her reception in Lebanon, Mo. J. W. Beebe, aged 30 years, born in Michigan, passed to spirit life May 13, at Spokane, Wash. He was a Spiritual ist, and lived with his aunt Mrs W O'Connell, who is a speaker and test medium. He lived the life of a true Spiritualist and was loved and respected by all who knew him.

ORTHA A. CLARK.

SPIRITUALIST MEETINGS.

It is important when a meeting is suspended, that notice be given us, so that inquirers may not be mislead. We want new notices of all meetings being held here in public halls at the present fied and explained." By Andrew Jacktime.

The Metropolitan Spiritualist Society holds services every Sunday evening at answered. Mrs. Maggie Waite, pastor. Church of the Spirit Communion, Kenwood Hall, 4308 Cottage Grove avenue. Conference and messages at 3 p. m. Lecture by Dr. J. O. M. Hewitt at 8 p. m. Messages by H. F. Coates and others. Plenty of good music.

The Progressive Society holds serv ices at 183 E. North avenue, corner Burling street, every Sunday at 3 and 8 p. m. Lectures delivered in English and German by Mrs. Hilbert, assisted by Mrs. Schwann and other good speakers. Tests and good music at all serv-

Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in Van Buren Opera House, corner of Madison street and California. Madison street and California avenue. Good music and singing. All are invited to attend.

Spiritual Union Church meets every Sunday at John Schott's Lodge Hall, corner Belmont and Racine avenue. Speaker, Hon. R. Gilvay; Charles J. Peterson, Prof. Edwards and Mr. G. A. Cowen, test mediums. Services, 8 p. m.

The Church of the Soul, Mrs. Cora L. V. Richmond, pastor, has recumed its regular Sunday services for the season, The meetings will be held until further notice at Hall 309 Masonic Temple, corner Randolph and State streets. Sunday school at 10 a. m., Mrs. S. J. Ashton, superintendent. Discourse by Mrs.

Richmond at 11 a.m. The Spiritualiatic Church of the Students of Nature hold services at Nathan's Hall, 1565. Milwaukee avenue, corner Western avenue, Sunday evenings, 7:30 p.m. Mrs. W. F. Schumacher, pastor.

Church of A. A. Schumacher, pastor.

DOUBLE YOUR CAPITAL.

To the Editor:-We have a circle in

Are youldooking for a good and SAFE investment that will pay you handsome dividends from the start, and will, at the very least, double your capital in a year or two?

If so, it will be well for you to investigate the investment opportunity offered by Dr. Peebles Institute of Health. Some months ago Dr. Peebles and his associates incorporated their medical business at Battle Creek, in order to secure certain legal protection granted incorporated companies. Believing that the earnest co-operation of the Spiritualists of the country in this great work would add still further to the wonderful growth and success of the company, the doctor and his co-workers have decided to place a portion of the treasury stock in the hands of the Spiritualists throughout the country. A large amount of the original block of stock offered has been taken, but there are a few hundred shares to be sold at the original offer before the price advances, so if you are interested write at once for particulars.

the small investor is just as welcome as the large. The man investing practicing. May the good angels bless investing many thousands, and it is the good wishes and support that is to, the stock will increase in value so that at the end of two years at most it will be worth two or three times what you paid for it.

MINA M. YANG. desired more than the money.

A small amount properly invested where it will draw good dividends and continually increase in value is worth many times the same amount if allowed to lie idle, or put away in a bank where it will draw only 3 or 4 per cent at best.

write for full particulars at once. Seven per cent dividends are guaranteed from the first, and much larger ones can be expected after the first and 8 o'clock sharp at Lakeside Hali, corner Thirly-first street and Indiana avenue, where truth-seekers and investigators, as well as Spiritualists can en-First-class speakers. Tests and mes sages by carefully selected mediums Excellent music by (Blind) LeRoy Drake. Mrs. May Elmo, medium.

DR. J. M. PEEBLES, Chairman, Box 2421, Battle Creek, Mich.

The Brotherhood of Spiritual Truth Society meets Sunday at 8 p. m. Services conducted by J. K. Hilles and wife and other measures, who will from time to time address the meeting and give tests and spirit messages. Meetings will be held in Temperance Hall, 330 West Sixty-third street. All are invited

The First Hyde Park Occult Society holds regular, meetings every Sunday at Alliance Hall, 323 E. 55th street, between Monroe and Kimbark avenues pleased to go, and seemed to know just The best talent available will be secured to give interest at every meeting. To spread the truth is the object of this being removed, and consisted of the Conference meeting at 2:30. Lecture by Oscar A. Edgerly, of Boston, Mass. followed by messages by Mrs. J. A. Murtha, of Baltimore, Md. Every Thursday at 2:30 the Ladies' Auxiliary holds services at which good mediums serve with tests and lectures. Dr. Sholdice holds services Sunday evenings at 7:45. at 205 Lincoln avenue spirit life was grand and all is well with Luxor, in Egypt, and in the Jewish her. MRS. VICTORIA SPOHN. Temple at Jerusalem, is Doctor Phelon's latest booklet. Its pages are full of ancient lore, in paper covers. For sale at this office. Sent on receipt of ten cents, silver or stamps.

The Second Church of the Soul holds

"Origin of Life, or Where Man Comes rom." "The Evolution of the Spirit From." from Matter Through Organic Pro-

"The Kingship of Self-Control." By Wm. George Jordan. It treats of the crimes of the tongue, the Red Tape duty, the supreme charity of the world, the revelation of reserve power, etc. Price 30 cents. For sale at this office. "The Present Age and Inner Life; Ancient and Modern Mysteries Classithis work by the celebrated seer.

"The Romance of Jude. A Story of ing. 161 W. Madison street. Lecture, spirit communications, and questions answered. Mrs. Maggie Waite, pastor of Mrs. M. T. Longley. An intensely interesting book. Neatly bound in cloth Comically Illustrated. and gilt. Only 50 cents.

Lyceum. In the hands of mothers and teachers it may be made very useful. Young and old will be benefited by it. Cloth $1. For sale at this office.

Thomas Paine, contains his celebrated "Age of Reason," and a number of letters and discourses on religious and theological subjects. Cloth binding, 430 pages. Price il. For sale at this office. "Never-Ending: Life Assured by Science." By Daniel Kent Tenney. A strong and conclusive argument from the basis of sciences. For sale at this office. Price 6 cents. "The Majesty of Calmness, or Indi-

"Mark Chester; or a Mill and a Mill-ion. A Tale of Southern California." By Carlyle Petersilea. A pure psychic

Touching, full of sweet human sympa-

Send three two-cent stamps, lock of bair, age, name and the leading symptom, and your disease will be disgnosed free by spirit power. Mrs. Dr. Dobson-Barker,

Mrs. Dr. Dobson-Barker.

TESTIMONIALS OF CURE.

My Dear Mrs. Dobson-Barker:—I want to say, I have been ailing for thirty years and you are the only one that has done me any good.

MARY JANE PEARCE. Perris, Riverside Co., Cal., Feb. 21

Mrs. Dobson-Barker-Kind Friend:-As I tried your treatment four years ago, and it helped me so much, I will write to you again to see if you are still practicing, and if you are I want to send to you for another month's treatment, for I can safely say that you did more for me than all the doctors on

Pee Dee, Ky., Oct. 20, 1902.

Stanton, Mich., Jan. 19, 1902. Mrs. Dr. Dobson-Barker—Dear Sister:—I take my pen in hand to let you know how I am. I thank you and your band for I know I would be in my grave now, but you and your band have saved me. I suffered everything. I am hap py to say I am a well woman. I was sick a long time; I do my own work; how I would like to see the woman that cured me. I let every one know who cured me. I was sick twenty-five years. I still remain your friend, AMANDA R. GREEN.

DR. J. S. LOUCKS

the oldest and most successful Spiritual Physician now in practice. His cures are THE MOST MARVELOUS of this age. His examinations are correctly made, and free to all who send him name, age, sex and lock of hair, and six cents in stamps. He doesn't ask for any leading symptom. A clairvoyant doesn't need any. He positively cures weak men. Address

MRS. DEWOLF-RISER WILL GIVE READINGS at 251 So. Hermitage ave., for a short time. Circles Sunday and Thursday at 2:30.

J. S. LOUCKS, M. D.,

MRS. MAGGIE WAITE

A Tried and True Medium. Clairvoyant, Intuitional and Prophetic. Has consented to give readings by mail for a limited time, to earnest inquiress who are seeking for evidences of a toure life. Full readings and three questions answered, by mail, it. Where date of birth is sent, will give an Astro-Psychic Delineation also. Send own handwriting. Address, MRS. E. DE FOREST. 179 Albion St., West Somerville, Mass.

The Angels' Diary and Celestion Study of Man

Should be in every home. Its teachings, it assimilated, will give happiness and destroy all inhamonious elements of the mind. It teaches how to create our conditions, not only physically, but also mentally and Spiritually, and wipe poverly and crime out of existence. Each subscriber try and secure another. For sale, wholesale and retail; price, $1.50. Usual commission to dealers.

MRS. J. A. S. S. LENDER, 2201 Lincoln ave., Denver Col.

Bangs Sisters,

Spirit Portrait Work a Specialty. Readings by mail. Send four cents stamps for booklet, 63 W. Adams, Chicago. Telephone Ash-land 1912.

SPIRIT PHOTOGRAPHS ARTISTS. Send two dollars, your photograph or lock of hair, and receive three finished pictures from some loved ones that are wating to reach you from the summershind.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Normann.—The three photographs were handed me to-day, and I recognize every face upon them, and I can truthfully say these pictures are genuine, and will recommend you to the world; for such evidence is what proves life eternal, Mrs. Dr. Gregor MeGregor.

2834 Chicago ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

Address with stamp enclosed and receive proof MR. & MRS. A. NORMANN,

2721, Elliott av. So., Minneapolis, Minn.

Annie Lord Chamberlain's Card. Dear friends, you can greatly help me care for my blind sister. Jennie L. Webb, one of the carliest mediums now in the form, by writing a letter to a tried. Send it to me with $1, and I will try a well are, independent writing or whispers. A grs. Annie lord Chamberlain, Milford, Mass.

An Institute of Refined Therapeutics.
Teaches new and wonderful methods of cure.
"Fast becoming of world-wide fanne.—Hudson Tuttle
Light, Color. Electricity, Magnetism, Mind, Baths,
Has both College and Academic Courses.
Its beautiful Diploms confers title, "D. M." Doctri of Magneties; can be gained at College or at one a bome. Books and instruments furnished. Send stamp for catalogue to E. D. BABBITT, M. D., LL.D., at North 2nd st., San Jose. California.

'NO BEGINNING."

An Excellent Work for Thinkers.

William H. Maple. The Arena says of it: "The argument is unanswerable. The book will at once appeal to the reason of every render, and leave him more amazed than ever at the preva-lence of the theory of Creation." The Two has always been a fateful num-Free Thought Ideal says: "We found it full of glittering thoughts for thinkers. and the very death warrant of Chris tian superstition shines upon its pages." Price 75 cents.

A NEW GATEGHISM BY M. M. MANGASARIAN.

This is a now "Catechism" in the full sense of the word. There has as yet appeared in the world of lib eral literature nothing like this most wonderful little book or reason. E. P. Powell, the well-known author, the reviewer and critic, says: "The remarkable thing bout this 'Catachism' is that it tells the truth." It deals with the questions of God. Immortality—the Greeds, the Clergy, the Church, Prayer and Salvation, Sesus and his Teaching, the Growth of the Christian Soriptures, and many other philosophical, scientific and othical questions with the utmost candor, courage and clearness. 183 pages. Cloth 75e; papes, 50c

THUMBSCREW AND RACK.

Torure implements employed in the 18th and 18th centuries for the promulgation of Christianity, with pletorial illustrations. By Georgo E. Mardonald. Price, 10 cents.

The Dialcha and Their Earthly Victims. By the Scor A. J. Davis. A very interesting and suggestive work. It is an explanation of much that is false and repulsive in Spiritualism, embodying a most important security interesting and suggestive victims. The price of Country in Spiritualism of Modeling a most important security in the price of Country in the Price of C

MAHOMET His Birth Character and Doctrine. By Edward Gibbon. This is No. 6 of the Library of Liberal Classics. It is conceded to be historically corroct, and so exact and perfect in every detail as to be practically beyond the reach of adverse criticish. This work will be found intensely interesting. Price, 25 cents.

G. WALTER LYNN

Healer and

Gifted Psychic. HEALTH RESTORED By Common Sense Methods

For the Cure of Mental and Physical Ailments

OBSESSION CURED.

For Free Diagnosis of Disease, send five two-cent stamps, age, named

READINGS AND BUSINESS AD VICE $1.00 and two stamps.

Address 855 Grove St., Oakland, Ost

Write for Circular JORY'S TONIC TABLETS

A few leve lost and Blood Builds.

An ideal restorative tonic for the cure of General Debility and the various forms of nervous and physical depression, Melancholia, Nervous Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Weak Ridneys, Chronic Backache, poor circulation, poor appetite, poor sleep, poor blood, etc., and for improving the tone of the general nervous system, the digestive functions and the blood. 10 doses, 76c; 100 doses 11.251

Write for Circular.

JORY'S BOWEL TONIC For Constipation, Hendactic, Etc. Are not a Purgative, but induce a Natural Realthy Action of the Howels. 36 tablets, 25c. Postago prepaid. Prepared only by

H. M. JORY, Manufacturing Chemist. 6 Eddy Street, San Francisco, Cal.

Longley's Beautiful Songs For Public Meetings and the Home.

VOLUME ONE Contains the following songs with music:
I'm thisking, dear mother, of you. We miss one boys at home. The land of the bye and bye. The good times yet to be. The land beyond the stars.
They are waiting at the portal. When the dear ones gather at home. Resting under the daisles. The grand jubilee. My mother's tender eyes. Dear beart come home. Come in some beautiful dream, Where the roams never fade. In heaven we'll know our own.

VOLUME TWO
Contains 15 new and beautiful songs, suited to the home circle, scances, local meetings, mass-meetings, conventions, anniversaries and judisless. They come prise an excellent variety of poems set to easy harmony and ought to self-readily. These books are iscus, each; the two for Socts. For sale at this office.

VOLUMES 3 AND 4. This is a book of 57 pages, filled with spiritual harmony from first to last. Spiritual societies need not be calling for something new to sing to the people if they will supply themselves with copies of this book, or in fact any of the above choice collections of Mr. Longley's musical publications. Volumes 9 and 4 ara in one book, price 25 cts, 3 cts. each by mail. Echoes From the World of Song. A collection of 60 charming songs with chorus and music, sheet music size. Price $1,00; postage 15 cts,

A Very Interesting Book tor All. Philosophy of This work contains a graphic Spiritual Intercourse, account of the very wonderful spiritual developments at the house of Rev. Dr. Phelps, Stratford, Conn. and, similar cases in all parts of the country. This similar cases in all parts of the country. This volume is the first from the author directly upon the subject of Spiritualism, and has stood the test of many years. Cloth, $1,20; postage 10c.

THE TO-MORROW OF DEATH, Or the Future Life According to Science. By Louis Figuier. Translated from the French by S. R. Crockee. A very fascinating work. This, fine volume might well have been entitled Spir-itualism Demonstrated by Science. It is writitualism Demonstrated by Science. It is writ-ten in that peculiar interesting style in which French writers excel when they would popular-ize scientific subjects in adaptation to the needs of the general reader. The author says: "There is a true and respectable idea in Spirit-ualism," and regards as proved "the fact of communication between superhumans and the inhabitants of earth." Price, $1.50.

DEATH and the AFTER LIFE By A. J. Davis. An instructive and interesting work for all to-read. Price 60 cents. INTERVIEWS WITH SPIRITS A real visit with friends on the other side of life, and a familiar talk. By Spirit Samuel Bowles; Carrie E. S. Twing, Medium. Price 30c.

The Law of Correspondence Applied to Healing. A course of seven practical lessons. By W. J. Colville. Limp closh, 50c.

A Conspiracy Against the Republic By Charles B. Waite, A. M., author of "History of the Christian Religion to the Year 200," etc. Price, paper, 25 cents.

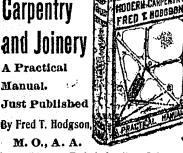

ALL ABOUT DEVILS. It is enough to say this 50 page pamphlet is written by Moses Hull. Price 15 cents.

ANCIENT INDIA, ts Language and Religions. By Prof. H. Olden-berg. Paper, 25 cents. Apollonius of Tuana Identified as the onderful communication, explaining how his life and teachings were utilized to formulate Christianity. Price 15 cents. Modern HODERH CARPENTR This book, "No Beginning," is by

Carpentry and Joinery A Practical Manual. Just Published

The well-known Technical writer. It is one of the best works ever turned out by him. Copibusly illustrated with diagrams and figures, making the most intricate problems simple, def. inite and easily understood. Price, $1.00.

STARTLING FACTS, Deeds of Darkness Disclosed

This work devotes special attention to Auricular Confession and its relations to sacerdotal celibacy, convents, monasteries, morality and civil and religious liberty. It is intended to be an embodiment of facts and documentary evidence of the pernicious influence of the confessional; a trenchant showing up of Romanism, based upon standard

Catholic authorities; an eye-opener con-corning the methods and spirit, tho moral turpitude and evil works of Ro manism. Cloth, 75 cents. THE AGE OF REASON.

By Thomas Paine. Being an investigation of True and Fabulous Theology. A new and com-plete edition, from new plates and new type; 186 pages, post 8vo. Percer, 25c; cloth, 60c.

SECOND

Stomach Troubles Are Our Specialties; though Terms for treatment will be made known on

Send for our Booklet telling all about our beautiful San-

The Doctor

Send him age, sex and Leading Symptom.

I attended your funeral. Oh, what does tation of and in communication with it mean?" "It means that death doesn't kill standing before him the well-known fig- till he has realized that he is one of the

"You are welcome back, Mr. Waypreciate your welcome; here are both

"Let us reason together, saith God."

THOS. HARDING.

An Indianian Tells How He Found Comfort and Joy. It would please me to give all the readers of this good paper my experi- Cie. ence in becoming a Spiritualist and also since becoming one, but my time is pre- standing before the throne of a seated cious. But I will say the cause was god, from whose shoulders flames of one of the most sad events and that the lire proceed to form wings, who is dicmother's voice I recognized as soon as the existence of the history of the I heard it. After a conversation with mountain-given law about 600 or 800 them, I asked father to help me sing, years before the Mosaic record on When I can read my title clear to man- Sinal. long time since he sang it. They both follows:

she could. It was surely the grandest self, he upon whom the enchantment is treat we ever enjoyed. Little Frank, Mr. Blake's guide folwent down to the sitting room and they shall take his house. If on the conshowed us Frankie's picture that was trary, the man is safe and thus is innohanging on the wall. I walked up close cent, the wizard loses his life and his me, "yes," in an audible voice. They have been sitting for years, and or to a wineseller who sold drink too

I am in hope when I pass into the next life, to be able to come back and communicate to the children of man the glories of that life. I am now living an active life searching for the deep and glorious truths of Spiritualism. The glorious truths of Spiritualism. happiest times I see are when in meditake care of these old bodies but a few days longer, and then our spirits will go bounding higher and higher, further and faster till we reach the goal of perfection. There we will join the whole angelic hosts who have gone on before. There we will meet father, mother, ounce of fact is better than a pound of brother, sister, sons and daughters. Oh argument. You know I live and am what a glorious meeting. I can hardly here; let that convince you. Good-bye, wait the time. I worship no man or being-nothing but nature. We are all Mr. Wayward soliloquized: "Oh! the workmanship of nature's hands, and where shall I go to find stable truth? I to nature we owe all. Nature is the

ure of his wife, who had come to answer | individualized parts of all that has been, the soul's question to which he had just given utterance.

"Your nephew was right," she said; "he is doing his duty in convincing the state of the purchase of world of a future existence, but it is my pose of developing, for enlightenment duty to tell the world of the goodness of preparatory for the higher realms of the That universal spirit whose king- eternal kingdom and are predestined to husband," said the spirit of Harmony, enlightenment, for progress, that we "you are journeying on; hitherto your may have a thorough experience and pathway was rough, but it was not bar-schooling in the great panorama that

Man cannot and will not comprehend

Witchcraft, Ancient and Modern. Witchcraft of ancient times is in use

J. L. FOSTER.

cient law or rule for control of the use is older than similar laws in the Bible by about 800 years according to translaticled "Beautiful Death," written by J. tors and historians. The king who had C. Underhill. DR. T. WILKINS. "In that day, I, Khammurabi, the glo-rious prince, the worshiper of my God, justice for the land for witness, plaintiff and defendant; to destroy the tyrant, and not to oppress the weak likeunto the sungod, I promulgated." With these words opens one of the remarkable historical monuments that has been recovered from the ancient histories of mankind. This king was a father of laws that have been found in records of mankind. His reign was somewhere about B. C., 2200. The monument itself is a pillar of black diorite eight feet high, was found by M. de Morgan at Susa, in the Acropolis mound on December and January, 1901-2, and the whole has been photographed and translated by V. Schiel, the Assyriologist of the expedition, by order of the French Minister of Public Instruction, and published by Messrs. E. Leroux and The monument represents the king if any man hath reason to glory I have ed god is called the "Supreme God, the more. Although having spent a quarter king of the Spirits of Earth, the Lord of a century in the church, I doubt if of Heaven and Earth who foretells the Probably this seated God was old Bel or Ella, the god Sache-rabue of the to Anderson, a journey of 50 miles, by the kind invitation of Brother LaBelle, text as the god who inspired the king. and attended a seance at the home of Bel was the god who dwelt on the Brother Blake. There were five beside mountain of the world and gave laws to

"If a man has placed an enchantment

The same ordeal was applied to a wife for unfaithfulness or extravagance,

The man who "justified" himself was from our courts, etc. Those who wish to learn more about hosts always be with them to lead, witchcraft in ancient and modern guide and direct them. guide and direct them.

Thirteen of us sat at our house last States books under many names as fol-

It is the Wise Investor Who Places His Money Where It Will Increase That Amasses the Fortune.

SAFE INVESTMENT OFFERED SPIRITUALISTS

You do not need to be wealthy to share in the doctor's company;

Money invested in Dr. Peebles Company to-day under his present offer will draw trandsome dividends from the first, and, in addition there-

If you have any amount above $10 you can spare for investment,

Chicago Spiritual Alliance Church neets every Sunday at 3 o'clock sharp, joy a pleasant afternoon or evening.

to attend and co-operate.

come here 62 years ago, and the last society. Eva L. Stewart, secretary, 543 E 55th street, where all communications should be addressed. Third Church of Progressive Truth meets Sundaysevenings at 810'clock. Lecture and tests by Rev. Mrs. Sheffer, at hall, 830 W. Wadison street.

Witchcraft of ancient times is in use written request left by Mrs. Clancy, to-day under many disguises. An anterior of the use the following day, as the remains were at Hopkins' Hall, 528 W. 63d street.

"The Veil of Isis," as seen at Atlantis; in the Great Temple of Karnac, at cesses, or How the Spirit Body Grows.' By Michael Faraday. Prince 10 cents For sale at this office.

Cloth, $1.10.

"Right Living." By Susan H. Wixon.
The author shows a wise practicality in her method of teaching the principle of ethics. She illustrates her subject with many brief narratives and anecdotes, which render the book more interesting and more easily comprehended. It is specially adapted for use in Children's of them. Price board, $1; cloth, $1.50.

The Commandments Analyzed, price

vidual Problems and Possibilities." By Wm. George Jordan. Another valuable little work. Price 30 cents. For sale at Frances L. Loucks, the only psychic wonder living, that uses the spiritual X-ray without any leading symptom to direct, and locates all internal diseases. A trial will convince you. Nervous exhaustion and lost vigor of both seres successfully treated, as hundreds can teriffy. Send name, age, sex, complexion and lucents in stamps, and receive a correct diagnosis of your case free, worth dollars to you. Address, FRANCES L. LOUCKS. FRANK N. FOSTER, For Fifteen Years a

POSITIVE PROOFS

From the Spirit World. 18 page pamphlet, mailed for five stamps. C. B. Rice, 1073, 13th av., E. Oakland, Cal. 705

HOROSCOPES

Scientifically accurate and reliable. Captain G.W. Walrond, 1610 Glenarm St., Denver, Col., Est 1850.

NICHOLAS BECKER.

Readings by mall, Impressional and Clairvoy-ant. Description and names of spirit friends with messages; advice. Instructions for psychic un-foldment. Send own handwriting and $1.00, 705 705

Trance Reading.

Being developed as a genuine trance medium through the psychic power of Prof. Dutton, of Lincoln, Neb., I am enabled, through this wonderful trance to give you such accurate test and reading as to completely convince anyone and make Spiritualists of them. I will give you a complete life reading for only $1.00. I will refund money to the dissatisfied, and where I fail to describe accurately your apprit friends and boved ones. Address P. E. WALKER, L bx $61, Findlay, O. 705

DON'T READ THIS.

Spirit Photography, and get two extra pictures. Sen
F. N. FOSTER, 3017 Wabash ave., Chicago.

by resurn mail, and I will Forward Free of Charge, Valuable Information,

of Interest to All.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

You Can Have Metted Debbie Lens
Good Eucsight years I have been fitting and spirit assistance. Sending spectacles by mail to people that live in all parts of this mundane world. If you want the best spectacles write for libustrated Circular, showing styles of frames and prices, also how you can by ME be fitted at Your Own Home. For 6 cents to pay postage. Will send sample of magnetized compound, sufficient for 4 oz of eye water. Circs sore eyes, strengthens weak eyes. If requested will send photo of Spirit Yarma.

43 Evanston Ave., Chicago, Ill.

PICTURE ∦ воок. By WATSON HESTON.

MOLLIE FANCHER,

The Brooklyn Enigma.

An authentic statement of facts in the life of Mary J. Fancher, the psychological marvel of the nineteenth century. Unimpeachable testimony of many witnesses. By Abram H. Dalley. With illustrations. Price. cloth. $1.50.

Spiritualist

The Science of Spirit Return. By Charles Dawbarn. A scientific rehearsa that is truly interesting. Price, 10 cents.

KHREZZA Ethics of Marriage. By Alice B. Stockham, M. D. Karczza makes a plea for a betier birthright for children, and aims to lead individuals to seek a higher development of theinselves through most sucred relations. It is pure in sone and aim, and should be widely disculated. Fries, cloth, th.

EPROCRESIVE FIN

One number of The Progressive Thinker / is often worth one deliar...it is sent one

SPIRITUALISM—Progress, the Universal Law of Nature: Thought, the Solvent of Her Problems.—SPIRITUALISM

VOL. 28.

OHICAGO, ILL., JUNE 6. 1903.

NO. 706.

THE MAN OF TO-MORROW

A Study in Spirit Return, by Charles Dawbarn.

CHAPTER FOURTH.

We have seen that the natural pro-cess called "death" is necessarily a disintegration of all forms recognizable by mortal sense. So much is, and must be an accepted fact. We now go a step further. We assert that if form be itself compelled and shaped by conditions in earth life, it will also be adapted and changed by the new conditions after death into shapes that our present senses cannot grasp, or even imagine. Spirits cannot, if they would, tell about them, even if they made it their effort to become our teachers, for it is a lesson unlearnable by the mortal. 'And the spirit who comes back into our limitations becomes himself less than a spirit by that return into our atmos

We have, however, gone a step still further. We have shown that from micertain units. These units are unthinkably small, but still blended into molecular forms that go to pieces under the process of death. They cannot come together again on the other side because conditions have changed. That leads the thinker and student far afield, for man and microbe are something more than external form. They have internal organs, also composed of blended units. But these blended units comprise and determine the whole life expression which we call "identity." Our tastes and desires are as much compelled by our surroundings as Shapes of the organs through which they manifest in earth life. Alter the shape of an organ, or take it away altogether and you have a different being, and this is just what death does. Concussion of the brain, or a fractured skull may suppress the individuality known to us, but a mental shock may do the same, as in the case of Miss Beauchamp, and many others, now attested and registered by medical scientists. There has been in such case a new molecular grouping, which results, as a matter of fact, in a new personality, because all personality is expressed by the molecular blendings of units into certain

Now let us see what all this means to us in our present study. If such facts contradict what we have believed, and have been taught to believe about spirit form in the next life, it is the belief must go-not the fact. If certain organs will be missing in the next life then the form cannot be the same. So form becomes a subject for careful ready to answer our question why the learned man of Nippur does not come back and teach us to translate his hieroglyphics.

That learned man of Nippur passed over, like every other mortal, and was, of course, subjected to every effect produced by death. That is to say, his organism was changed by the process and the new conditions. The first great change he would note was that though he might perhaps see or sense the form of some mortal friend or acquaintance he could not make him sensible of his presence. No shout would reach that can neither see them nor hear them, unmortal ear; no outstretched hand was met with a friendly grasp. The old met with a friendly grasp. The old man, in reality they are nameless, and senses by which he had lived his earth nor mortal. They are nameless, and life had vanished. Even the old sense of touch was gone. He found himself have concluded to call "threshold that yesterday was solid to his touch. So he looks at his own form, and begins and they are nearly back again. They to investigate the change. He realizes in many cases haunt earth life; or with his continued intelligence, but soon finds that it must manifest in quite different ways. Yesterday he crossed the ish beyond our sense perception. But bridge, or waded through the stream. To-day his thought carries him across almost unconsciously. He no more real- either progress into true spirit life, or izes the process than the babe learning to walk in earth life. He wants to converse with those who have given him greeting into his new life. The old larynx, tongue, lips and lungs which he expressed himself in earth life are not to know and study if we would grow only left behind but would be useless now. The faculty of thought exchange, dimly pictured by telepathy in earth life, becomes prominent in the new condition and in his new form. Thoughts are exchanged, not words. His sight and hearing are by comparison with the old, almost unlimited, since the slow vibrations of earth life are left behind. That which he would desire to say is perceived, and a reply asked that needs

It is true that as mortals neither the writer nor the reader can realize this spirit who is nearest earth life can alfurther than the few telepathic experimost, and sometimes quite clasp hands ments of to-day may suggest. Those experiments are, however, just enough level. This is the acknowledged "spirit to show the student that his present return" of to-day, which, with all its insense organs would be useless under conditions of a new life form, invisible solute and natural truth. and intangible to mortals. He will neither see, hear, smell, taste nor touch as he did on earth. If he did he could greet his earth friends just as before Such are a few plain facts following the change called death, which is the pass ing of one of Nature's critical points.

The passing of this critical point carries with it of necessity, as we have changes of form, both externa and internal. Such changes would affect both the man himself as we know him, and every other form which to-day lives, moves and has its being within the human organism. But we must here take into consideration that such a change is not in itself progressive For instance: Here is solid ice. When you change its vibration it must change degree after degree, and really but one degree at a time. Presently there comes a point where the ice is no longer solid, and yet can hardly be called water. It is then in the state which we rather inelegantly, call "slush," and slush it must remain until it is sufficlently changed to become water. The same law applies to all "critical points" through which Nature plays, the magician, and works her wondrous changes Of course this "slush" point will remain

If, for any cause, the continued change

of vibration is arrested. That ice must either (1) go on and become water; or (2) return to ice; or (3) continue in its condition of slush. But in the case of man, and so far as we know of all animal, life, return after the death vibration has once been passed has become impossible. But it is not impossible for progress to be so arrested, or become so slow that the state we have called "slush" shall be indefinitely continued. In fact it must be continued unless further change is taking place. Manhood's form, just like ice, passes into the slush stage. It may be an almost momentary experience, or it may last indefinitely. This entirely depends upon whether there is a continuance of the change which we call "progress." And of course every single degree of such change is carrying the form fur ther and further away from earth life crobe to man every form is composed of and the vibrations of its old mortal form. But suppose it does not progress -does not continue this change, what then? The answer is plain and log-

> Since it cannot, under natural law, go back to the mortal, and does not go on to the spiritual, it remains, as a matter of course, in the "slush" state of vibratory matter. It has become something which, to our mortal sense, is neither matter nor spirit. But instead of calling such forms "slush" we prefer to speak of them as "dwellers upon the threshold," which, however, means precisely the same thing. Such a form is vastly nearer to its old vibration than it it had gone on and become spirit. Herein is the very essence of spirit return, which we must clearly under-stand if we want to solve these problems, and discover why the old man of Nippur does not return and explain his hieroglyphics. We have equal cause for wonder at the absence of his spirit successors of to-day, who undoubtedly have access to all knowledge of which records have been kept.

> It is obvious that when man's form has disappeared from earth a certain change of molecular vibration has taken place, which has broken up the old mo-lecular formation. But the same units are there, for substance is acknowledged to be indestructible. Just enough change has taken place to destroy the old form, and nothing more. The clairvoyant eye has repeatedly watched the change to this point, and seen the intelligence and energy gather itself together into what seems almost a copy of the old form. This is natural. It is the "threshold" stage through which the aatter is passing, which is a condition between that of mortal life and the real change into spirit form. It is only a degree or two from the mortal, and uness the progress continue, it will and must remain there.

But the changes in the various organs of which we have spoken depend upon he law of use and non-use. Every portion that was mortal contributes its quota after death. Further changes must depend upon the conditions and surroundings of the new life. If the change stops at this point we have what have been called "spirits" because we less we are sensitive beyond the normal. In reality they are neither spirit passing through matter unconsciously forms" They are all but mortal. Just a degree or two of vibration changed just a degree or two of vibration changed in the other direction they vanin either case they are still living under this law of change which demands else a continuance of the "threshold" form, because return into solid matter has become impossible. This is only logically clear, and a natural fact. but it carries with it much that we need wise to our salvation from the perplexities of modern spirit return. Being without progress a threshold pirit necessarily knows nothing more than he knew as a mortal. For every acquisition of knowledge in itself implies some progress. Whilst very close to earth life the 'deceased" is just far enough away to neither see nor sense normal mortals. Among such threshold spirits there is, of course, no uniformity. Not even two leaves in a forest are alike in all respects. So the threshold most, and sometimes quite clasp hands with a mortal very nearly on his own consistencies and limitations, is an ab-

(To be continued.) San Leandro, Cal.

MIND YOUR OWN AFFAIRS.

There's many things you'll find to do in working for yourself, And he who cannot hold his own is very sorry elf.

But in following this rule I give you'll part with half your cares, If you will calmly jog along—and mind your own affairs.

et others fret and worry if the times are out of joint: Don't set your marks too high, and there'll be less to disappoint. Don't try to learn too much about the way your neighbor fares-

You'll have enough to do if you mind your own affairs. Mind your business-if you can-for alalways it appears There are many waiting eagerly make your business theirs; Don't agitate yourself, my friend, you'll need nobody's prayers BEATRICE ST. GEORGE,

OBSESSION.

How Pure and Wise Spirits Can and Do | For the Massacre of Jews in Russia Restrain the Obsessing.

In The Progressive Thinker, May 23, 1903, a good brother, A. H. Nicholas, of Summerland, Cal., stated his experience with evil-minded spirits in their attempt to prevent the accomplishments of his right and honest efforts in all that he did, but he is inclined to think that good and wise spirits can not protect the mortal, and threw no light on causes, and results in general.

In the study of obsession we find a vast field to consider. First, innocent children can become obsessed; example, Mary Reynolds and Lurancy Vennum, as described in the book entitled The Watseka Wonder. Second, we find that individuals of all ages and sects and stations whose mor-al status varies from the virtuous to the criminal whether Spiritualists, Protestants, Catholics, Agnostics or Materialists, under certain conditions may be attacked by designing, fraudulent, malicious, injurious spirits.

First, how came there to be evilninded spirits? Second, what attracts them to the Third, why are some rescued and other become physical and mental wrecks?

Were we to go back to the Biblical creation we would have to lay the evil in human mind to Him who formed it, and the story of Cain and Abel, and scan the pages of sacred and profane history for antecedent causes, but the causes are modern as well as ancient and we prefer to deal with the present as more comprehensible and reliable. Let us take the hundreds of thousands of material, selfish, falsifying, profane, malicious, robbing, drinking, licentious, murderous human beings, and their deeds recorded in the world's daily papers, a small estimate of the entire number unrecorded; beside them view your hundreds of thousands of saloons, with their soul and body poison, vulgarity and licentiousness pouring from these hell centers into the homes; the vulgar theatres crowded with men only, with actresses of bold, shameless words and dress; the gambling houses, the brothels, the national, state and municipal officials who countenance wrong and frauds for boodle; senators and representatives must make appropriaations for the results of the sins they legalize; the lack of opportunity to get honest labor, thus driving to crime and

Are the stated facts so well known, not enough dregs in life's cup to make it evil and bitter to those who by environment and heredity, who have not the insight, foresight, a to dash the cup from their lips? Do we not need reformatories and the proper educational institutions for our transgressors, rather than degrading jails and penitentiaries devoid of any uplift-

Thus by the conditions made by society and civil law a large portion of hu-manity become evil minded, transition from their material bodies does not change the status of their evil minds, and then we call them evil-minded spirits; freed from their material bodies they are unfitted for any higher spiritual realm, and seek ways and means to resume their former habits. but they have lost their physical bodies whereby they attained their desired ends, so they often seek another, acquire a knowledge of control of mind, and if the mortal sensitive they have selected is unaware, or often if conscious they play the role of the robber in possessing the power to control, if spirits of greater wisdom and power do not thwart their plans and save the sensitive he or she may be controlled to lead the life of the obsessing spirits, or if resisted they will curse their victim and injure in many ways. Some say: "Drive them away by will power;" but what is one will against many? I say many, for just as truly as that good and wise spirits co-operate to protect and control a sensitive for the giving out of the beautiful spiritual truths, just so truly do the dark ones band together to formulate their evil plans for controlling. The books entitled A Wanderer in Spirit Lands, and Out of the Depths, and Contrasts in Spirit Life affirm this

The sensitives more often injured are those unprotected, trustful, rich in magnetism, sympathetic, kind and loving, often they know nothing of spirit re-

In the case of Annie Moore Cable, of Lake Odessa, Mich., who was for two weeks occasionally entranced by loving, kindly spirits, when they were intercepted by a stronger force of dark spirits which utterly wrecked her mentally and physically, and to-day she is in an asylum; her father in his travels made note of the number of cases he had heard of, amounting to 170 within a few years.

Let the mediums who find that communications given them from spirits are unreliable stop the using of their mediumship until a change of controls is established, and then the cry of fraudulent mediums will cease, because fraudulent spirits are not allowed to

A middle-aged man of Englewood, Chicago, in the winter of 1899, became obsessed, was taken to the detention hospital, then to the Spiritualist's Home, Rhodes avenue, hoping to break the obsession; the spiritual influence there was somewhat relieving, and in a few weeks he returned to his shoe shop, when a customer objected to the inefficiency of his work he drew a revolver and fatally shot him, and was taken to an asylum. Dark spirits had been seen around him, and had been heard to threaten his destruction.

How many of our criminals testify in court to being impelled to steal, drink and murder. Example, Rev. Hall, Chicago, stole articles, being impelled by some unaccountable power. While I could cite a name of such cases, it is of greater import to state the method used If in this life you strictly strive to mind | by advanced spirits in protecting sensitives, they having made it their study and mission; this study gives them the

THE REASONS

The report of the cruelties to the Jews in southern Russia are of a most revolting character. It shows the per-sistence of the deep prejudice against that people on account of race and religion. Of course economic conditions have much to do with these persecutions. In times of scarcity and destitution the people are stirred up and they naturally wreak their vengeance upon are the main cause of their calamity. The people of the region of country in which the late massacre occurred are ignorant and fanatical. The Jews, who constitute but a small fraction of the population of Kishineff, are hated because of their race and their religion as they have been hated in all Christen.

The family of the Spiritualist public. And her career since then has brought still more publicity to a very attractive personality. dom for many hundreus of years. Cru-elties almost as bad as those perpe-trated in Bessarabia have been practiced in most of the countries of Europe; even in England where within the memory of the writer no Jew could have a seat in parliament. The anti-Semitic troubles in Germany only a few years ago were of the most disgraceful character The only possible remedy for this evil is an increase of liberality among the people. As people become more intelligent, more broad in their views, more catholic or liberal in their spirit they become less persecuting in their disposition. The talk about sending petitions to the Russian government in behalf of the Jews will not avail. have nothing to do with the internal affairs of Russia any more than she has to do with our domestic affairs. When there are lynchings of Italians in New Orleans or lynchings and burnings of negroes in Southern and Western states Russia does not think, it necessary to address letters to our government protesting against such barbarism. It is well known that acts like these are done contrary to the laws and in opposition to the spirit of all enlightened governments to-day. Governments cannot wholly overcome religious and race prejudices and the fanaticism resulting herefrom. After the acts have been done it can remove and punish the offi-cials who neglected to perform their duty, as Russia has already done, but this will not prevent a recurrence of the acts which will be repeated from time to time as long as prejudice, bigotry and fanaticism continue,

It is unpleasant to hear excuses based ipon misinformation and dislike of the Jews with which many persons attempt natics who committed the recent murders, murders so awful that one can hardly think of them without being convulsed with horror. Some profess to find excuse for the murders in the fact that the Jews are money lenders, that they do not go into the agricultural pursuits and other occupations, but in those which give them power to secure mortgages and to harass the poorer classes of people. The fact is the Jews in Russia are compelled by the regulations under which they live to keep to a few occupations. They have been practically prevented from going into agricultural pursuits in southern Russia and even prevented doing so when they attempted it. There are no Jewish money lenders in the town in which the recent massacre occurred, though there are banks owned by Jews doing business in the same way that banks do business in this country or any other. It has been said that the Jews were engaged in the liquor business and that their tions maddened the people. The fact is that there are no Jews in the liquor business in Russia, the government itself having taken charge of this business.

There are adequate reasons but no moral excuse whatever for the recent massacre. It was a recrudescense of the spirit that was so general for centuries when Jews were robbed, their children taken from them to be brought up in the Christian faith, forbidden to engage in gainful professions and pursuits, huddled together and compelled to live in unwholesome quarters, imprisoned, tortured, hanged between dogs, heads downward, and killed in other ignominious ways, and expatriated by thousands, as from Spain under Isabella, when the people were weary of the work of slaughter. No other people ever suffered as the Jews have, and even to-day among multitudes the sympathy with them is of a very qualified character owing to the survival of something of the old feeling that has so long prevailed to their injury. B. F. UNDERWOOD.

power to use spiritual chemicals, electricity and magnetism against the ob-sessing spirits in their efforts to protect the mortal sensitive. It those spirits who have studied these in their combined power, who are able to overcome; this knowledge combined with a knowledge of how to properly use will power are the weapons re quired, and if a loving mother has not these she can not protect her child, nor can even a loving band of spirits, any more than a surgeon an bind a wound without a bandage or a man build a wall without material. I doubt not that if facts were only known, if we could lift the veil and see the working of the spiritual forces in the cure of every case of obsession, we would find a knowledge and use of spirit chemicals, magnetism, electricity and cultivated will power used intelligently Few of our healers take up the study of obsession and attempt to deal with the dark forces, because their spirit healers or physicians have not made a study of the spirit chemistry and nat-ural forces necessary and their peculiar uses as a defense. My attention, was called to this fact by Dr. G. L. Lane, 872 Huntington avenue, Boston, who is so successfully treating such cases as well as treating physical diseases, and of his many pa-tients coming under my notice not one following the advice of his spirit physiclans and chemists but what were re-

MRS. MARY T. LONGLEY.

As Medium, Lecturer, and Secretary of the N. S. A.

It is doubtful if any medium in this country is more widely and favorably known to Spiritualists and those interested in psychic phenomena, than the affable secretary of the National Spiritualists Association, Mrs. Mary T. Long-ley, who is the official representative of that association at its headquarters in this city. Her service in the unique pothose whom they are easily persuaded sition of Banner of Light medium, extending through a period of fourteen years, brought her personality and her psychic powers to the notice of a wide circle of the Spiritualist public. And

The family of the secretary consists of her husband, the veteran C. Payson Longley, whose spiritual music is known to all lovers of soul-inspiring songs, and Miss A. O. Wink, a young lady from the golden shores of the Pacific. Miss Wink is a sensitive, but modestly disclaims any pretense to me-

Of course, being an official of the national body, Mrs. Longley does not la-bor as a professional medium, her time and strength being devoted to the dis-charge of her duties as secretary, which at times are very exacting. Her position is not by any means a sinecure, and it is well known she has demonstrated her deep interest in the cause of organization by declining to accept an increase in salary while the national body is busy building foundations for the future. But having given her life to mediumship and Spiritualism it seems to the writer every Spiritualist should feel n pleasant satisfaction in seeing her at this post of duty. She is certainly a model secretary.

But her work is not altogether confined to official duties. During the past winter she donated a month's service as lecturer to the First Spiritualist Association of this city, the only organization in the city that has had on its platform representative Spiritualist lecturers. Her addresses were given inspirationally and were well received, especially by those who are interested in Spiritual ism and in the vital principles of spirit-

During the winter months there has been a series of home circles or seances at the Longley residence. These seances have been private in character, admission being by invitation only. They are not held nor intended for the general public, but for the home folks present at one of these seances not long since and was particularly interested in To all the shameful name the United States. I shall not divulge her name or residence, for this was her first visit to such a gathering. What interested me was the impressions such a anxious to learn if there be any truth in Spiritualism. It is a pleasure to say that in the case referred to, they were the most favorable, and the lady in question assured me she was not only highly entertained but also instructed by what she heard at this spiritual Father Pierpont, known as Mrs Longley's lecture "guide," "control," or "inspirer," delivered an address setting forth some of the vital truths of the spiritual philosophy in a lucid manner, and in elegant language.

Another control improvised verses, Then "Nannie Gibson"-who should be included as one of the most lovable members of the Longley household, although a spirit, brightened all faces and hearts with her sunny remarks, and told the visitors what she "saw" for them, describing spirit friends, giving messages, etc., after which she ren-dered her own song, "Princess of the Dawn" in a way that captured all hearts. It may be recalled by those who have read the account, that Nannie sung this composition entire, the first time it was ever heard by mortals, at one of these home seances. Whatever may be the theory entertained as to its origin, there is no difference of opinion among those who have heard it sung as to its beautiful melody. The words and music blend in perfect accord, making it one of the most charming songs. Of course, Prof. Longley sings one or two of his own compositions at the be ginning of the seances, infusing into his rendition much of the old-time fire and spirit, and interpreting the music as it would be very difficult for anyone else to do. Those who are not familiar with his music will doubtless be most agreeably surprised when they hear it to find it is permeated with the very spirit of melody that never grows old nor becomes worn, when properly inter-

WALTER P. WILLIAMS. Washington, D. C.

lieved of annoying spirits and restored physically. So, my good Brother Nicholas, I am happy to state to you, that a Spirit Chemical science is coming to us from ligher realms to not only protect the sensitives but to protect our grand cause from the already far-reaching shadow of Obsession.

BARTON STEWART.

Chicago, Ill.

It is no man's business whether he has genius or not; work he must, what-ever he is, but quietly and steadily; and the natural and unforced results of such work will be always the thing God meant him to do, and will be his best.— Ruskin.

The best men are not those who have waited for chances, but those who have taken them; besieged the chance; conquered the chance; and made chance he servitor.—Chapin.

In nature there's no blemish but the mind; none can be called deformed but the unkind.—Shakspeare.

RUSSIA'S SHAME.

THE TIME OF THE BARTHOLO-MEW MASSACRE.

Novelist Describes Massacre at Kisheneff as the Darkest Deed of Recent Years-Deeds of Devilshness and Savage Days.

Russia has been disgraced more and all is the horrible Jewish massacre at Kisheneff, which has awakened our horror, shame, and indignation. People who regard themselves as Christians, who claim to believe in God's mercy and sympathy—these people on the day consecrated to the resurrection of their God from the dead, occupy the time in murdering children and aged people ravishing the women, and martyring the men of the race which gave them

Who bears the blame of this base crime, which will remain on us like a bloody blot for ages? We shall be ununjust and too simple to condemn the mob. The latter was merely the hand which I now turn on myself by wishing which was guided by a corrupt conscience, driving it to murder and robbery. For it is well known that the mob at Kisheneff was led by men of cultivated society.

But cultivated society in Russia is really much worse than the people, who are goaded by their sad life and blinded and enthralled by the artificial the flesh, I imagine, but its disagreeable larkness created around them.

Cultivated Classes Are Slaves. The cultivated classes are a crowd of cowardly slaves, without feeling of personal dignity, ready to accept every lie health and strength accompanying, to save their ease and comfort; a weak and lawless element almost without of its elegant exterior.

committed at Kisheness than the actual dium of physical life to undertake the murderers and ravishers. Its members' guilt consisted in not merely that they I was a very sick man at that timedid not protect the victims. but that with liver and kidney troubles, weak they rejoiced over the murders; it consists chiefly in committing themselves for long years to be corrupted by man haters and persons who have long enjoyed the disgusting glory of being the lackeys of power and gloriflers of lies an automatic and subsequently an in-like the editor of the Bessarayetz of spirational writing medium. But it Kisheneff and other publicists. Those to palliate offenses of the Russian fa- and interested friends. The writer was are the real authors of the disgraceful ciety.

Shame upon their wicked heads! the next one. May the fire of conscience consume their decayed hearts, covetous only of Demands Aid for Jews.

It is now the duty of Russian society that is not yet wholly ruined by these with these instigators of pillage and murder. Russian society must clear its conscience of part of the shame and disgrace by helping the orphaned and habits for more temperate ones. After disgrace by helping the orphaned and I was cured, I discovered that I had members of the race which has given to. members of the race which has given to the world many really great men and which still continues to produce teach-which still continues to produce teachers of truth and beauty in spite of its oppressed condition in the world. Come, therefore, all who do not want themselves to be regarded as the lackeys of the lackeys and who still retain their self-respect, come and help the Max Gorki, the Russian novelist vrote the foregoing for a newspaper at Nijni Novgorod, Russia, but the censor refused to permit its publication. Gorki then mailed it to the St. Petersburg cor respondent of the Frankfort Kliene Presse, which gave it to the public.

Statement of Being.

Jews.

The universal Principle, Spirit or God is impartial. There is no point in the universe better, higher or nearer God, or the center, than any other point. No place is favored over any other place. for all places are necessary.

Good and evil are opposite poles of evil for its opposite, if it exists at all. He who would realize being must get rid of the concept of good, as well as the concept of evil. Good, or evil, are qualifications, and Being does not admit of qualification or gradation. It simply is. Nothing is low or high, good or except to individual concept that allows comparison. "Comparisons are odious."
Infinite Life, or Intelligence, is all therefore, knows naught of time, place or gradations. Its operations are inflnitely diversified, but none are low, or better than other operations, but all diferentiate.

If the same Life or Principle does all then all must be its handiwork, and equal in principle, although widely diferent in appearance or form.

These appearances, or forms-matter or substance visible—are not the result of evolution from low to high. They are the expressions of the only Principlethe same, in essence, yesterday, to-day

As this Principle never commenced, it cannot progress, nor get better, being perfection itself.—Dr. Geo. W. Carey, in Journal of Biochemistry.

As turning the logs will make a dull fire burn, so change of studies a dull brain.-Longfellow.

THE WORLD NO BETTER THAN AT A Lesson Learned by Practical Expe rience.

SELF-HEALING.

The Progressive Thinker is the great Educator of the Present Age ... Induce your neighbor to subscribe for it.

Healing, like inspiration, is generally accepted as a "spiritual gift" or a phase of mediumship. Some would assert it to be a gift without doubt or quibble. Darkness That Only Find a Parallel in to a perfectability that it needs no for-Even so. But if inspiration is subject eign aid—that is, reaches a condition of absoluteness in which the mere wish more frequently of recent years by sets it in motion on a chosen subject, dark deeds, but the most disgraceful of why not the gift of healing? And if we can draw to ourselves the inspiration wanted, or start the vibration that infuses us with thought, is it not logical to believe that we can do likewise with a healing vibration that has become positive or self-acting? The following extract from a private letter hints at the possibility:

" * * * I am not a healer in the accepted sense, but I have performed some cures and relieved many from pain or suffering by "the laying on of hands." I have no more aches or pains myself, though effects often indicate what used to cause pain, and after-efable to wash this blot from the sad his fects, like a swollen jaw, betray what I tory of our dark country. It would be would have suffered in former years, were it not for my little gift of healing. or willing it to be done. In fact, I believe the pain, which is negative, sets the opposite or positive vibration in motion, and being the more active of the two, neutralizes the negative nolens volens. Instead of a painful neuralgia I now have only a painless one. The cause for the same still exists in effect is allayed by my own healing powers-of which, by the way, I have not enough to give away, and must retain what little I have, for my own use If I were twenty years younger, with could perhaps join the ranks of magnetic healers and benefit others as well conscience and without shame, in spite as myself. But while I feel twenty Cultivated society is not less guilty ago, on account of this fortunate circumstance, I am too far beyond the memission of healing others. Remember, lungs, dyspepsia, neuralgia and a rupture, having worn various kinds of trusses upwards of twelve years.

"At that unfortunate period I became proved a fortune, which millions could not purchase.

"Through my hand were written the the proceedings for the reason that given to these repulsive men must be again. First I was admonished to be the proceedings for the reason that among the guests of the evening was a refined and educated lady who is the daughter of one of the leading Methodist ministers, educators and editors of on their lips, who preach in Russian so a healthy nervous system. Then to be clety hatred of the Jews, Armenians, charitable and just in all dealings-to and Finns, to-day heap base and cow- bear and forbear, and exercise sympaardly calumnies upon the corpses of thy. This to purify the blood, as such those killed through their influence, vibration was death to disease germs. seance would make on the mind of one and they shamelessly continue their "It was a hard road to travel amidst all hateful work by poisoning the mind and this worldlyism and materiality. But feeling of the weak willed Russian so- I soon feit better under the strain, as it was, and every effort to overcome eased

"The dyspepsia left me within a year. lackeylike honors and slavishly obse- man, when I was told that my rupture would now be healed since the road was clear to concentrate the force in that direction. I doubted this, but despite my lack of faith, it was accombandits to prove that it is not identified plished before another year had rolled by. If that was faith cure, it must have been in the faith of my own powerssome healing powers-good coming out was told, through the same channel, to be cautious, as the flesh required a longer time to heal than the spirit, and it was still weak or sore from the past. Experience proved this true, as exhaustion always reminded me of my old troubles. But as I became stronger in ody I began to grow younger, though older in years and beyond the pale of active labor in the field of magnetic healing, or spiritual healing as I should term it—being a gift of the spirit.

"I am now fifty-seven-not too old perhaps, to be a healer, if I had had a stronger or healthier physical foundation. But it keeps me well, and no doctor has felt my pulse for twenty-odd years, except two years ago to examine me for a life-insurance, when he passed me within two per cent of perfect, which was considered a very high rating by the agent for one of my age, Prior to my mediumship I would have been turned down-rejected.

Now, let any one say that nothing the same absurdity. Good must have good comes out of Nazareth or mediumship!

> The above facts are truth absolute, to which the author gives his word of honor, and would not refuse an affidavit circumstances warranting an same. ARTHUR F. MILTON.

KINSHIP.

I am the voice of the voiceless, Through me the dumb shall speak Till the deaf world's ear shall be made to hear

The wrongs of the wordless weak. From street, from cage, and from ken-From stable and zoo, the wail

Of my tortured kin proclaims the sin Of the mighty against the frail. Oh, shame on the praying churchman,

With his unstalled steed at the door Where the winters beat with snow and Or the summer sun-rays pour; And shame on the mothers of mortals.

Who have not stooped to teach Of the sorrow that lies in dear, dumb eyes-The sorrow that has no speech.

-Ella Wheeler Wilcox

Zurilda Wellington.

Her Life in Two Worlds. The Lifting of the Vell.

BY MRS. M. PASQUIER CURRAN, MEDIUM, ST. LOUIS, MO,

CHAPTER V .- Continued.

"With your permission," said Mrs. Wise, "I will answer, the gentleman, Marriage is not the mere act of a man and woman coming together in a civil contract and engaging to live as man and wife. No. it has a far deeper and wider range than the mere form of law; indeed; it is above all law that man hath instituted. It is not a position, or a financial concern, but a union of souls, founded on a mutual attraction and adaptatability to each other. Now, no outside parties can form this soul union, nor can they dissolve it; for the law of mutual attraction is indissoluble, being a law that governs the soul's relations, and is perpetual. I think it a crime to bind one to another under such conditions as that paper calls for. You, and you, and you (pointing to the clergy be-fore her), sanction this unholy union with your hands, and would profane the power of your office by using it, calling into use holy unction to sauction and bless your diabolical work, and with the seal of your authority pronounce them one by saying what God hath joined together let no man put asunder.' Also that 'marriages are made in heaven.' I tell you that heaven would be ashamed of such a marriage; it is in name, and

'Yes, so beautifully are all God's laws adjusted, that mortals cannot change or tamper with them: for the silver cord that unites soul with soul is fine and so firmly fitted that it admits of not a jar, Oh, Mr. Wellington, this contract is for hands, not hearts; it cannot be ful-

Turning to Louis she said. "Can you say from your heart, 'I, Louis Sutherland, take thee, Zurilda, to be my lawful wedded wife?' No, it would be cruel mockery."

The rector arose while Mrs. Wise was speaking, and said to my father: "Mr. Wellington, I will sign that paper with my heart and hand;" then he wrote his name, and called his wife to do the

"Never!" came from the lips of Mrs. Wise. Mr. Howard then said to my father: "This is imperfect without your other witness.

The bishop said: "Mr. Wellington, you have not done your duty as a parent. Your daughter is not under proper government, or she would not disobey your wishes; and you, Rector Wise, are lacking in your ministerial duty. That child has not received confirmation, hence the innate evil in her nature is in the ascendency.

CHAPTER VI.

The Fire of Persecution Lighted. These remarks of the bishop lighted the fires of persecution in my father, and he soon put the bishop's advice into practice, by compelling me to undergo a series of rigid examinations by the bishop and the rector in church mat-

the buds and blossoms after the win-back to those on earth whom you have ter's frosts had gone, and I was saying misled on this subject, and take the lood of an innocent One and says, rising before me, and I will climb to where truth lies. Negation and self deany power on the soul, or the spirit, for living principles that he taught—to Yes, ye may feel Him, the invisible One, my mother was so radiant and beautiful love God and their neighbors, as Jesus and see His manifestations, but ye can-see a young and highly favored lady like communion with God. The word is after the rain and nod their thankful you, wholly ignorant of our divine religion and its comforting blessings, and I heart, that thou mayest do it. See, I wish to start you will not start you will n wish to start you right on the path that have set before you this day life and with flowery heads, fragrant breaths leads to God. I am told that you are ingood.' different to holy things; can this be so, manifested to us and lies all around us, God are engraven on the tablets of evmanifested to us and lies all around us, so that the peace of God takes possesser levy soul.

"In looking back over my life on the compelled to do, there tiful gates are lifted up and the ever-lasting doors are opened to me; then the comes before my vision a barren field angels call me; and my mother says: of dead stalks and withered leaves, with 'My child, I am—, whom you have not known as a mortal—I am a messenger sent to lead you on to God; I bring you errors that I had sown in the souls of my tidings of joy. God loves all; He doeth parishioners for them to feed on, think-all things well. 'Oh, my mother," said ing that I had sown good seed that I, "it is you whose loving face I often would yield the fruits of peace and loy see, whose soothing voice I hear, and who bends over me, and is leading me thought, as well as every deed, is on to heaven. Keep me, oh, my heav counted at its true weight, that is, with enly Father! Keep my infant feet in the the motive and intent; and if there be firmation. I will have you know, Zurilda, that I am in deep earnest and must in this, and in all that I wish you to; will you?" said my father.

in its simplicity and beauty, for theology, with its myths and mystification of the subject of the future life. There errors; but I will try to do my duty as a works may have been a personal expechild in all that is just and reasonable." child in all that is just and reasonable."
"Zurilda," said my father, "I will give obey me, in all that I require of you."

Then he set his eyes, afiame with door he bade me leave his presence. Driven from my father in anger, my billows of unrest lashed and tossed me to and fro, and I cried out, "Oh, mother, manifest glory that lies around you in selves as mortals, and speak to the dear my heart calls for you!" On the next nature. Nor would I have accepted ones left on earth. May not a thousand said: "It was for the hours of trial, and the divine images that the angels will lief; and it is painful to turn back and sorrow that we have been preparing bring to you, you; you must be firm in your convic- "Disgust an been instilling into your soul."

judge for yourself what is truth.

teachings, if there was no fall of man no holds the Roman Catholic.

"As I told you, you need no leader, no trusted in, His atonement to admit me that material things have fame in biblical knowledge, but had daughter's signature and that of an-filled the mind of men with wrath and error, instead of the truth that Jesus and faithful servant; great is thy re. the mountain's brow.

me and said: 'You had not the true con- knowledge, and bring her treasures out; ception of Jesus on earth. He went to they are yours. Ask the rock strata teach love to God and man, bearing the whence they came and whither they teach love to God and man, bearing the truths of God; not to be slain that God's wrath might be appeased, restoring man to the favor of God. No, it was to bring man nearer to God in a knowledge the hand of God they came; to aid man of God, casting out fear; it is not by His death that men are to be redeemed from error, but by the truths that He taught, and the love He bore to man. See how far short men have come of the soil, and she will tell you that it is for for a knowledge of the hereafter; yet I true mission of Jesus. God does not strength and protection against the knew that redemption is from within, desire sacrifice; it is a contrite heart that He loves. His religion was love; anthems will fill your ears with a di-Miss Agnes and I were on the lawn in conversation in relation to the beauty outgrow these errors before you can outgrow the control of the control outgrow the control out of nature, of her power to bring forth dwell where the truly spiritual are. Go cated to three Gods, and who washes in away. A mountain of stern realities is to my teacher that death could not have dead Christ from them; give them the every time she came to me, and more so said. Teach them to crucify the evil not find Him out. Are there not tem-

last night, after that fearful ordeal that I was subjected to, when my father called me to come to his library.

Leach them to credity the cyling the form the fruits in them, and to learn the truths that it is in them, and to learn the truths that it is in them, and to learn the truths th knowledge of these laws will draw them There the bishop and Louis, with Rector Wise were awaiting me. The bishop said to me: "My child, it pains me to said to me: "My child, it pains me to soul out of darkness and error, into

"This was Reuben, the wise and good teacher. He is from the Oriental land, are weeds to clog the path; its sin offer-'No, bishop; it is not so," I said; "it and has been in the spirit world for is truth in its essence, the divine truth many ages; and now I have given you of God, that is now being manifested to the instruction that he gave me in reall of God's children who will hear the gard to the mission of Jesus on earth. voice which God is sending through the In this life our first lesson is that God but little about names; it is the purity avenues of the disembodied to the is love, and that He loves all; this earth. I am not ignorant of religion; it calms our fears, and often dries the bitis my daily life. It is not formula, ter tears. Read your Bibles, as I have creed or dogma. I have the essence of told you, with the light of God's truth and God. You ask for daily bread for the true religion in my soul; the implanta- beaming on its pages, and you will hear tion is from God, who is truth; and step, the voice of God's messengers speaking by step are God's messengers reflecting to the Samuels, to the Moseses and the truth on my soul. Softly the divine Elijahs of this day; and it is through knowledge falls on me; it is like the this law that the immortality of the soul dew on the flowers, to unfold the peals is proven to man, and on which the system of the soul." "Stop that idle talk about the unseen church has closed the door to inspiraworld and the dead; you know nothing tion and shut the mouths of the prophof it," said my father, in a stern voice. ets, lest they hear to their own condem-Yes, papa, dear, I do; mamma has nation, as the Hebrew prophets of old, told me so much about it that I seem to condemned the evil in their day. Oh, be there sometimes; and I yearn to my friends, you need no leader, no law-know of that Silent One, whose glory is giver; no, for the immutable truths of a selfish desire in the action, this clouds "Put away this childish folly that you and darkens the act, and weighs the act are brooding over, and learn the lessons or down. Have no wrong ideas of God, that the rector will give you for con- and of His dealings with man. The fear of hell, and such pictures of darkthat I am in deep earnest and must ness as Milton's distorted imagery in obeyed. Will you obey me, Zurilda, 'Paradise Lost,' had filled my mind at times with a fearful frenzy. This is a fatal error that the church has used. Papa, I cannot part with this truth Milton and Dante have done more irrep-while under the control of some darkyou ten days to make up your mind to mind. There must have been a darkness thrown around them to produce the condition necessary to portray such wrath, upon me, and, pointing to the a description. Had I allowed my reason and judgment to act their parts, I never would have accepted such attri-bridged over? Has not the immortal butes of God as they have outlined for clothed himself with the semblance of little heart throbbed and I became very butes of God as they have outlined for unhappy; a fever seemed to eat my life Him; and conditions for any child of fiesh and spoken to us, as Jesus did to away; my brain was weary and heavy; God. It is a contradiction of the Invis- His apostles; and as Moses and Elijah day after this meeting in the library, Deity, embodied in a human form dwell-Mrs. Wise called with Albert Howard, ing among men; and bleeding on the to take me riding. Then my mother cross. Let 'Paradise Regained' fill you spoke to me in cheering words, and with delight, and open the portals to you; you must be firm in your convic"Disgust and horror filled my mind hid under the cloud of error, while tions of the truths of God that we have when these shocking and incredulous truth was so near," said Mrs. Wise. tales came before me, and I can now see Elon then said: "I told you that when why the church has used them; it is you had prayed a fervent prayer I their strong hold over the minds of the would come to you." To Mrs. Wise he people to hold them in subjection to her said: "It was I who threw my magnetic behests. You may demolish the images arm around you and breathed into your in the churches as you unfold in a highsoul the truth; the ashes of bigotry may er knowledge but in the mind we find cover them up, and they may smoulder enshrined the old impress, indellibly for a time, until the angels fan them stamped, that fear has cast over it. into a living flame. We have come to Could you stand in the vestibule of this bridge over death and blend the here home of the soul, you could not bring with the hereafter; to rob death of its your imagination to such a crude point sting, and unbar the tomb; to dry the as to conceive of the horrors pictured tear of sorrow that you may see the by Milton or Dante. No word of Michdead, great and small, standing before ael against the thunders of Jehovah, or you, and open the books that you may the flaming sword at the gate, or the lake of misery. Oh, no! The question All-Father will show, through His min-las often arisen in my mind since the istering spirits, that universal life is for light of divine truth has fallen on me, all; that infinite peace is not the can- from whence came the unfounded error kered things of earth. Go, learn of na- of a wrathful God? We know that nothture! She is ever calling you to come ing but good can come from that pure and worship one God. Thou shalt have source. With Milton and Dante mirno other Gods before me.' Break your rored on my mind, do you wonder that I idols, whatever they may be; when the have much to undo? Like the careful old desire is dead, then the divine life tiller of the soil, I am rooting out the will begin, and you will thirst for weeds and errors, and am planting im-knowledge. Take from nature her mortal principles of undying truths in beauty; she will speak to the soul of my mind. Milton and Dante have been God; drink in her beauty, it is God. bright stars in the firmament of many; Read the Bible with the light of God and there was much to admire in them. In nature. 'I am the God of Abraham, Milton was in a degree lofty in thought, of Isaac and of Jacob.' Not the God of and Dante's intense feelings stirred the dead; no, we are the living, and we me; but, standing in the light that is regather around you who are hid in creeds flected on their dark images, I can see and dogmas; take every idol down, that the evil they have done. There never truth may come to your souls ere you will be a time when the seven vials of reach the shore of eternal life." Mrs. Wise said: "Elon, please tell us of God's children. Milton's 'Paradise what the mission of Jesus on earth was? Lost' has held the English church in And how we are to understand His spiritual darkness while Dante's Inferfrom his original purity?"

"As I told you, you need no leader, no Elon replied: "The messiabship of Moses, no Joshua; there is a Moses and Christ was my stumbling-block in the a Joshua in every soul that will lead world of souls. I had wholly misunder-stood His mission, and had relied on, or way, step by step, through the darkness to the right hand of God. But I was in around you. Death will lose its terrors darkness on this subject, when I en for you as you near the morning land. tered the world of souls; and a mount- Be tender, loving and true to all in all ain of stern realities arose before me as things; these graces will adorn you in I was made to feel that I had erred on this life, will blossom like the Rose of this momentous subject. I had climbed Sharon, and its fragrance will fall on as I thought, to the summit of human you like the crystal dew, that will enfame in biblical knowledge, but had large your sphere of action, while the mistaken blood for love and truth; had inspiration of the Almighty will give you understanding. Oh, my friends, this is the place where understanding taught; in short, I had fed the soul on is; yes, this is where the waters of free theology instead of knowledge. I had dom flow; for above all doubt, knowlexpected the welcome, 'Well done, good' edge runneth as a stream runneth from ward! But while I was in this state of expectancy a beautiful being came to secrets, unlock her storehouses of tend, and their voices will tell you of the past; that millions of years have rolled by, and yet they are; that from is their mission; to build your houses and protect you from the storms. Speak to the towering oak. Ask her why she sinks her roots so deep in the leaves, transformed into the useful coal. no thirty-nine articles or creeds, that ing is the offering of joy, and praise. Lay by your traditions, your theology; wipe them out! God will not be mocked! He who reads the heart cares of the motive. Stand upon the broad and eternal basis of justice and truth, and God. You ask for daily bread for the body; why not ask for bread for the soul? God's ministers will feed you. Oh, that there may be light in your

> When Elon had bid us good-bye my mother said: "My child, you must be firm in your convictions of right. While you owe a child's duty to a parent, you must not neglect your duty to God. Honor your father with reverence and obedience, and do not neglect your duty to him. Ask God to keep you and him from that pride which goeth before destruction, and that haughty spirit which is before a fall."

> "Oh, my mother, my mother!" I cried, "do you see, with prophetic vision, the danger of your child?" Tears started in my eyes, but Mrs. Wise dried them, saying, in a caressing way, "My dear, the angels of God have charge over thee; fear not."

"There are times," said Albert when the soul can see God everywhere; ness of God to His children in a newer light. Yes, my soul hears the glad steps of the Redeemer coming, and I mount to receive Him. Oh, thou living ness to the Lord. No, husband, the thee!"

"Surely truth is among us and wisdom is speaking to us, and knowledge floweth as a river," said Mrs. Wise.

"Ah," said Albert, "we have been walking in the great halls of learning, reverentially looking away from the truths Nature holds in her store-house for us; waiting to climb the mount as Moses did, even to Nebo's summit, and look within the promised land, where milk and honey flow." "Yes, year after year, and century after century, have men blinded their eyes with creed and formula, shutting the door of the soul and keeping God's messengers from lighting the candle of true knowledge within. That there is show you something of yourself. Look a veil or a mystery over the face of the upon that glorious orb of day, that symhereafter is not so. Has not death been faces be looking on us now, like a thousand stars in glory? It is not years, or distance that separates us from those who have gone before, but unbe contemplate our lives that have been "Ive have been greening, but now we are awake, and find like many dreams, it was a delusion; let us not cloud our own suggestion, it is not close on own suggestions others. Others have felt as we feel, but not as we feel to day. Reliebhas been given us; now let us hang on our own cross; and crucify ourselves, hyslifting ourselves above the evil in our surroundings. Count-less multitudes have never heard the glad tidings that have come to us. To-morrow's sun will rise and gild my path shining into the valley that I have trod in fear, and that made my soul weak, robbing my childhood of its gladness. 'Straight is the gate and narrow the way that leadeth unto Life and few there be that find it.' There is a blank in my life, and pause. The old idol is broken, the old hope dead, the old desire is crushed, and the new, the divine, is made manifest. I will bear my own sins, and will not lay them on another; nor will I have but one God," said Al bert, with much feeling. Then he added: "Why did the woman in Mark see only one angel, and the woman in Luke see two? Yet are they not both

"Who will believe that we have talked with an angel? They would not believe though one should arise from the true? Does not the church accept them as true?"

During this conversation between Albert and Mrs. Wise I was very houghtful and sadly impressed in regard to the future. Mrs. Wise inquired he cause of my sorrow, and I told her of my father's conversation the night hefore.

"And that will include your me riage with Louis Sutherland," she interposed. This remark was made with emphasis and in a striking manner. "But," said she, "I will ever remonstrate against it as I have done."

Her remark aroused Albert and he fixed his eyes on me with a strange light in them. We had now reached home and found the bishop and rector in controversy in relation to the means of grace in the hands of God's teachers to restrain the young from evil and aid the spirit in renewing the heart, and the application of Christ's righteousness to the sinner. The rector and Louis took the position that some were so inherently depraved that the grace of God could not reach them, therefore God had given them over to hardness of heart: this they called inherent baseness. From this proposition the bishop dissented, and this disagreement in opinions had engendered an angry atmosphere, in which my father felt that he was being charged with a lack of

Mrs. Wise seeing the state of affairs, said:

"Gentlemen, the apostolic uproars of Paul and Barnabas still hold a potent power over their lineal descendants."

"Wife," said the rector, "who has made you a judge in Israel?" "Husband," said Mrs. Wise, "the Divine within me is speaking to my soul, and I hear these words: 'If you cease to draw your life unto yourself from the source of life, you will begin to die, no matter how well you may stand among men; your support to others is gone, and your branches will wither.'

These remarks of Mrs. Wise, aroused Louis, who said! "The apostolic power was given to the church for all time. and none can take that power from her lawful descendants. I affirm that she away the 24th of December, and his alone has the right in all matters that concern her glory."
"But," said Mrs. Wise, "you quench the spirit. dwarf the intellect and narrow the powers of the mind to comprehend God, and the soul cries out to God wrought out by the soul itself, through where truth lies. Negation and self denial will light the torch of truth in the soul. Nobler hearts than ours have sat in darkness, and blinder eyes than ours have found the light; as when in the cleft of Horeb, His presence was known. Yes, hishop and rector, super-stition is dying out; facts and realities will stand. I will tear from my heart the dead embers. I want no outside religion; I have had enough of that. 1 want the living inspiration day by day; a rekindling of the immortal fire on the altar of my soul; divine energy infused, that the unseen powers within, which and a merry laugh. It has no trinity, sit like the stars at the celestial gate, may speak out—they are the spontane-ous production of the soul, when not cramped by creed and formula. Bishop and rector, hear me. You cannot limit my views, nor can you retard the welling up of my soul and the pouring out of the divine within; for I am learning to read God's lessons that are stamped on the tablets of my immortal soul. Of your thirty-nine articles where are the signs that follow them? Answer me, if you can. No, you have left the Rock of Ages, the living truths, having limited truth to your own small conceptions; but you cannot hide it, it is burning and blazing in the center of the mind, in the spirit of man, entombed in the bosom of all-and that is our hope." "Wife," said the rector, "whose God are you worshiping now? Surely not the God of the Bible." "Husband," said Mrs. Wise, "it is the divine within me that is speaking, that wells up, and flows out; can you not understand me; and can you not feel a power within, as I do? 'Whither shall go from the spirit, or whither shall I flee from Thy presence?' 'I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh.' You that cloud the spirit with man-made ideas are in darkness; and thwart the unfoldment of the divine within you and those whom you teach; then you ask God to bless you, guide you in your work of error. Why do you not look within? Is not Melchizedec the priest of the Most High God, within, ministering at the altar? Ah, yes, with incense of peace, whose signet is wisdom, love and holigolden calf is enthroned upon the altar at the mercy seat, between the cherubim, just where God promised to meet those who minister at the altar. And have you, and you, who minister there, had the testimony which He promised? Is the cloud of the Lord upon the altar, and the glory of the Lord filling the tabernacie, when you minister? Has the Shekinah's light fallen on you? If not, then bring your sin offering, the sin of your ignorance, and lay it on the altar, for ignorance is to crime in you who teach the people error. And may Melchizedec meet you as He did Abraham. "Go to nature and read her volume All these years you have lived beside her, and have never seen her; she will bol of the central soul and the divine individual delty in us. Oh, husband, do try to comprehend something of that God before whom you bow and wor-ship, and without allowing that central sun to warm your cold heart. Roll back your thirty-nine articles, that veil His face from you. Yea, you must do this if you do God's work, and before you can receive the testimony of the word, There are no mysteries save your own ignorance. Yes, the seventh seal is

(To be continued.)

TWO REPORTS THAT SHOULD RECEIVE THE CAREFUL ATTENTION OF SPIRITUALISTS.

THE MORRIS PRATT INSTITUTE—A myself have said we will never place REPORT ON ITS CONDITION AND any indebtedness upon it that we can MRS. M. T. LONGLEY WHICH Startling Fact, That They Can Not (or at Least, Do Not) Support an Edfor Sick and Needy Medlums-it is meet? Painfully Evident That While the School at Whitewater Has Been Go-Ing on Contributions for the Support of Indigent Mediums Has Practically of Indigent Mediums: Have Practically Shall Have the Preference-it Has Been Demonstrated During the Past Year That Both Can Not Be Sustained - The Progressive Thinker Spiritualists, and the Next National Convention Must Decide.

The first year of school at the Institute is rapidly drawing to a close, in less than three weeks the busy hum of voices, the cheeful sound of laughter, hurrying of feet from class-room to corridors, will be at an end for the summer, and as the annual meeting of the association convenes June 24, it seems just to the public that a review be given of the financial affairs of the past eighteen months, the time during which the As sociation has been organized, and if the press will kindly allow me space as it ophy of the religion we think we hold has on former occasions, I will submit a plain statement for consideration. At the time of the organization the trustees desired two years in which to get ready for opening the school, as there were some changes to be made in the building before it could be used for school purposes, such as heating apparatus, plumbing, sewer, light, repairing of roof, and floors in basement, furniture, etc. These improvements are expensive, and as every cent would have to be collected by soliciting, it was the judgment of the board that it could not be done, and meet the running expenses of the house, especially as it was not to be expected that the opening class would be large; but good old Father Pratt, who had given the building, was persistent in his request that it be opened the following fall, saying that "if we could not raise the money, he could and would, and that he would see that all expenses were met that we could not meet-that he wanted to hear the sound of voices in the building before he left As he was then 81 years of age he felt there was no time to spare. There is no doubt but this would have been done had he lived to carry out his wish; for he repeatedly said that all he had except what he had set aside for his wife, should go to the school, but before he could accomplish his purpose he was called home; his body was laid

School opened the 29th of September with a class of fifteen, made up of punecticut, Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Iowa, Texas and California. They have done most excellent work, and most, if not all of them are preparing to return next fall. Besides these, we are in receipt of letters from many others who express their infrom many others who express their intentions of entering next year. The A. P. A. MANUAL A complete expose of tentions of entering next year. The lack of the American Protection and objects of the American Protection and objects to the American Protection and the complete expose of the complete expos uition is fixed at fifty dollars per year: the course to cover two years. The past year room and board was furnished for from $2.75 to $3 per week, and prob-property will be distributed among his ably will be the same next year. The total amount of money received from every source up to date, is $5,364.29; the total expenditure, $5,345, leaving a balance of $14.29 with which to meet unpaid bills. The largest contribution came from Mr. Franz of Mas sachusetts, and was a check for one thousand dollars. It came like sunsunshine on a cloudy day, and did much to stay up our hands in the struggle for funds. The National Association sent $300 which also gave us much relief; Alonzo Thompson, of Nebraska, $250, inclusive of $30 for life membership in the Association; Andrew C. Dunn, Winnebago, Minn., $100, which includes life membership for himself and wife: Mrs. Sawyer, of LaCrosse, Wis., $125 and pledge of $25 per annum; Moses Hull $150, which includes one scholarship and a pledge to keep one scholar in the school every year while he lives; A. H. Bliss, Chicago, $100, and Jos. Slater, of Columbus, Ohio, $100. The following have each given $100, in two payments W. C. Edwards of St. Paul, Minn., and has pledged one hundred more in the same way, as well as one scholarship. F. J. Bristol, Oakfield, Wis., and a pledge of fifty dollars per annum for eight more years; Theo. J. Mayer, Washington, D. C., $50; C. W. Sanderson, LaCrosse, Wis., $50; Mrs. Julia Hyde, Ripon, Wis., $75; Mr. Putnam and wife, Oakfield, Wis., $70, with pledge of $35 per annum; Laura G. Fixen, Chi cago, $50, which includes $30 for life membership; D. R. Davis, Milwaukee, Wis., $25, and pledge of same amount yearly; C. A. Dodge, California, $30; C. T. Ford, California, $25; J. K. Moore Summerland, Cal., $25, and the same amount per annum; E. Barcus, Columbus, Ohio, $25; E. D. Frost, Almond Wis., $25; Mrs. Byers, Kansas City, Mo. $25. The balance has been made up by

There are now unpaid bills to the amout of over eight hundred dollars not including salaries from Dec. 1 to June 1. These are but $40 per month to each, and certainly should be paid, but the bills must be met. How is it to be done? Mr. Hull and myselfy have been untiring in our efforts to raise the amount, we have both worked when we were unfit to do so; and have in every possible way tried to make the Spiritualists feel an interest in this school, and take a pride in furnishing a place where their workers can get an education. The bills for improvments were to have been paid in three payments. The first two, and all running expenses have been met, but as the final payments became due we could not meet them, we made earnest appeals to the Spiritualists at large, and to some in private, with little results, as a last resort, and because of the action in Boston, by the convention, and the do-nation of last summer, we wrote the officers of the N. S. A., giving a clear statement of our condition, requesting them to give us some help in this presest stress; telling them if we could lift the indebtedness before the close of school we felt assured of the success of the Institute. We were more disappointed than could be told to receive word from the Secretary, that the board did not feel they could relieve us in our broken, and a knowledge of God in left is valuable; it will bring chough ing revealed; external forms cannot erty is valuable; it will bring chough relieve, and assist us now, but the board have persistently refused to encumber have persistently refused to encumber.

collections, and sums ranging from one to ten dollars.

FINANCIAL NEEDS-REPORT BY avoid by hard work; but these bills must now be paid. Will the Spiritual-SHOULD TOUCH THE HEART OF to place a mortgage upon the building to meet the small amount that ten men should be found to pay within twenty-four hours after the publication of this? Spiritualists, once more will you help us now to get out of debt, before the (or at Least, Do Not) Support an Ed-close of school, so that we may have the ucational institution Without Leaving summer to work for funds, that we may at the Same Time the Fund Depleted open next fall without a heavy debt to

There will be many years before this amount will be expended again, as the house is now in almost thorough repair, and the regular running expenses will be comparatively light. Let us hear from you with what amount you can Upon to Decide Which One, if Either, give to help us; there are few who are so poor as not to be able to give something, and many of our Spiritualists who are crying for an educated ministry, who are able to lift this debt. Will tained — The Progressive Thinker they do it? Do they want education? Simply Puts the Issue Fairly Before They will pay for Mr. Hull to cross the continent to deliver three or four lectures, will they give the same amount so that he can be enabled to teach a class for, perhaps years? We feel he can stay many years if relieved of some of this mental strain; if not, he certainly cannot be active for a great length of time. Mental struggle is worse than physical labor. I trust the Spiritualists of America will rally to the support of this institution, and now, if never before in the history of Spiritualism, let us have a school that is free, where our old and young can get the essentials of education, and the philosmost sacred.

Address your letters to either Moses Hull or myself.

Fraternally and sincerely, CLARA L. STEWART, Sec'y. Whitewater, Wis.

REPORT FROM THE N. S. A.

To the Editor: - In my former letter giving directions for reaching the Brooklyn (N. Y.) cemetery in which repose the remains of the Fox sisters, the word "Tremont" station should read, 'Terminal" station.

A word to the sympathetic public concerning the N. S. A. Mediums' Relief Fund; it seems to me that in spite of all we have said in regard to this fund that those who desire to see needy mediums cared for, do not realize that every penny sent to us for that fund, is used for relieving the needs of destitute aged or needy sick mediums. Contributions to this fund are amazingly small, only one dollar in April, and that from a soldier in the Philippines, who regularly contributes.

MARY T. LONGLEY, Sec'y. 600 Pennsylvania avenue S. E., Washington, D. C.

In connection with the report by Mrs. Stewart, we desire to say that the trustees of the Morris Pratt Institute are probably personally responsible for the deficit, and can pils coming from Maine, Vermont, Connot shirk the responsibility. They stand, we are told, in the same relation to the Institute, that the directors do to a bank—they are responsible, and should so consider themselves.

A book for all patriotic American citizens. Price, 15 cents, or two for 25 cents.

LIGHT OF EGYPT.

The Second Volume of a Most Valuable Work,

This is the author's posthumous work left in MS, to a few of his private pupils in occultism, and like Volume I, is (a valuable addition and) a library on occult subjects. Spiritual astrology is especially elaborated. Alchemy, Talismans, the Magic Wand, Symbolism, Correspondence, Penetralia, etc., are a few of the subjects treated of in a scholarly and masterly manner, showing the author to be familiar with his subjects. You cannot afford to be without it, as well as all his other books. viz.: The Light of Egypt, Vol. I., bound in cloth, $2; paper, $1. The Light of Egypt, Vol. II., bound in cloth only, $2. Celestial Dynamics, cloth. $1.

AFTER HER DEATH.

The Story of a Summer. By Lilian Whiting Pervaded with pure and beautiful spirituality of thought. Instructive and helpful to all who love and seek the higher and finer ways o love and seek the higher and fi spiritual experience. Price, $1.00.

The Religion of Spiritualism.

Its Phenomena and Philosophy. By the Rev. Samuel Watson. This work was written by a modern Savior, a grand and noble man. Price, $1.00. A valuable book for the money.

FOIGS and Matter By Ludwig Buechbook. A profound work upon a profound subject. Price, cloth, $1.00.

Views of Our Heavenly Home. By Andrew Jackson Davis. A highly interesting work. Price, 75 cents. Postage 5 cents.

THE SUNDAY QUESTION. Historical and critical review, with replies to an objection. By G. W. Brown, M. D. Price, 15c. Apogruphal New Testament.

Boing all the Gospels, Epistles, and other pieces now extant, attributed in the first four centu-ries to Jesus Christ, his apostles and their com-panions, and not included in the New Testament by its compilers. Price, cloth, $1.50. BIBLE MARVEL WORKERS,

And the wondrous power which helped or made them perform mighty works and utter inspired words, together with some Personal Traits and Characteristics of Prophots, Apostles, and Jesus, or New Readings of "The Miracles. By Allen Putnam. Price, 75 cents.

THE DIAKKA. The Diakka and Their Earthly Victims. By the interesting and suggestive work. It is an explanation of much that is false and repulsive in Spiritualism, embodying a most important recent interview with James Victor Wilson. a resident of Summer Land. Price, 50 conts.

MAHOMET His Birth, Character and Dootrine. By Edward Glbbon. This is No. 8 of the Library of Liberal Classics. It is conceded to be historically correct, and so exact and perfect in every detail as to be practically beyond the reach of adverse criticism. This work will be found intensely interesting. Price, 25 cents. THUMBSCREW AND RACK. Torture implements employed in the 15th and 16th conturies for the promulgation of Christianity, with plotorial illustrations. By George 20. Macdonald. Price, 10 cents.

The Koran Commonly called the "Ar. Mohammed." Mohammed." The standard Arabian or Mohammedan Biblo. Cloth, 61.00

INDUCEMENTS NEVER BEFORE ONE PAPER. OUR PREMIUMS.

BEAR IN MIND.

Remember, please, that we send many of our Premium Books by express. If you do not receive your order promptly by mail, inquire at the express office. If not there, notify us at once. Remember, please that it costs ten cents to get a personal check cashed at a bank in Chicago. If you send a personal check, add ten cents to the amount sent.

Remember, please, that we have only two books which we send out now for 25 cents each. We cannot allow you to select any other book or books in their place. Remember, please, that you are not entitled to any of these Premium Books unless you send in with your order a year's subscription to The Progressive Thinker. Remember, please, that the safest way to make a remittance is to secure postal order. Read our Premium Offer, AND DO NOT WRITE TO US FOR ANY OTHER TERMS. You must send $1 for The Progressive Thinker when you order or more premium books. Please bear this in mind.

Remember, please, that mistakes and trouble may be avoided by dealing direct with this office, instead of through a news agent.

Every person who sends in a yearly subscription to The Progressive Thinker can have until further notice, the two following books for 25 cents each: "The Religion of Man and Ethics of Science," by Hudson Tuttle, and "Seers of the Ages, or, Spiritualism Past and Present," by Dr. J. M. Peebles. Both exceedingly valuable, and though widely different, each one fills an exceedingly important niche in the literature of Spiritualism.

If you order only one book, and that one neither of the books mentioned above, the price is 50 cents. If you order two books, and neither of them the above mentioned, the price is

We have TEN Premium Books only, and you can select from them as fol Any three of the ten Premium Books

you may order, price $1.10.

Any four of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $1.50.

Any five of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $1.80.

Any six of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $2.10. Any seven of the ten Premium Books ou may order, price $2.35. Any eight of the ten Premium books you may order, price $2.65.

Any nine of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $2.90.

Lastly all of these TEN valuable. Premium Books here announced are sent out, all postage prepaid, for $3.10, a price never before equaled in this country or Europe. The following is

TEN REMARKABLE BOOKS FOR $3.10.

1—The Encyclopedia of Death, and Life in the Spirit World, Vol. 1. 2-The Encyclopedia of Death, and Life in the Spirit World, Vol. 2. 3-The Encyclopedia of Death, and Life in the Spirit World, Vol. 3. 4-Art Magic, or Mundane, Sub-Mundane and Super-Mundane Spiritism. 5-Ghost Land, Spiritualism, Occult.

6—The Next World Interviewed. 7—The Occult Life of Jesus. 8-A Wanderer in the Spirit Lands.

9—The Religion of Man and Ethics of 10—Seers of the Ages, or Spiritualism Past and Present.

Read This Carefully Before Re-Remitting.

When you send in your subscription to The Progressive Thinker, carefully, look over the books which you desire in this list, and their price, and send for them. They are very valuable. They are intensely interesting. They are elevating in tone and will do you good. In remitting do not fail to enclose a dollar for The Progressive Thinker.

These ten books, substantially and elegantly bound, and printed in the neatest style of the printer's art, will be furnished to our subscribers for $3.10, a price which modern machinery and enterprise has rendered possible in The Progressive Thinker office only. Sending out these books, however, at the prices we do, does not reduce the price of the subscription of the paper, apparently or otherwise, a single cent, for that cannot be afforded for less than one dollar per year, in view of the fact that we publish such a vast amount of reading matter. In conclusion, bear in mind that the postage on these ten premium books is about ONE DOLLAR, leaving this office only $2.10, illustrating the great bargain you are getting—a bargain the like of which was never known before on this material plane.

CLUBSI CLUBSI CLUBSI CLUBSI To Clubs of ten or more we offer the following terms to each one: The Progressive Thinker one year, and ONE of the following books, $1.15: "The Religion of Man and Ethics of Science": "Seers of the Ages, or Spiritualism Past and Present"; "A Wanderer in the Spirit Lands"; "The Encyclopedia of Death, and Life in the Spirit World," Vol. 3. The one who gets up the Club will be entitled to the paper one year free, and any two of the books he may select among our list of premiums.

A REMARKABLE BOOK.

The clear and very interesting account of the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, with the inciting causes of that tragedy, will serve to excite renewed interest in the great work of Father. Chiniquy, entitled "Fifty years in the Church of Rome." In this book he exposes in the minutest details the corruption that exists in that church, and its iniquitous methods and aims.

It is a book of absorbing interest, and should be read by every patriotic American, and by every one who would be well informed concerning the evilworks relieve, and assist us now, but the board have persistently refused to encumber the property, and is fact Mr. Kull and The evolution of Man. By Michael Faraday.

Well informed concerning the evil works and designs of the Romish hierarchy, the property, and is fact Mr. Kull and The evolution of Man. By Michael Faraday.

Price, $2.25. and designs of the Romish hierarchy,

INSPIRED BY AN ADVANCED SPIR-IT, LUCY LANEY PLEADS FOR HER RACE.

She Thrilled the Woman's Missionary Society With Her Eloquence, as It Had Never Been Thrilled Before.

Pleading for kind consideration and tolerance for her race, Lucy Laney, a young Georgia negress, astonished, thrilled and captivated a large audience of her white sisters in Los Angeles, Cal., May 22.

It was at the afternoon session of the women's missionary meeting, held in the First Presbyterian church, corner of Twentieth and Figueroa streets, that the rare exhibition of feminine rhetorical power occurred.

Miss Laney is as black as Booker T. Washington. As she sat on the plat-form yesterday, through the long hours, listening to the varied speeches and reports, there was nothing to publish to the assembled audience of whites that in the mind of their dark-skinned sister, simply, almost poorly dressed, and plain of feature, were fomenting vivid thoughts of light-like clearness, fairly were fomenting vivid burning their way to a fervid, virile ut

There was no ostentation in Miss La ney's manner, but her voice, strong and mellow as that of the typical negro, rose almost to a shrill scream at times, as the stream of clear-cut, brilliant sentences rushed in lightning-like torrent from her lips. Applause, prolonged and insistent, punctuated almost every phrase, and encore after encore called her back to the front, bowing with an expansive ivory smile, after she had taken her seat.

"I come from Georgia," began Miss Laney, "a state which has over 900,000 negroes, one-tenth of all the negro population of the United States, and half the entire population of the state. I am glad to have heard from Mme President a few minutes ago that the Anglo-Saxon race has no mortgage on this country— for then, indeed, my people in Georgia would fare badly. There is no possibility of our getting away from Georgia, and those who cry for the moving of the negro peoples seem to forget that such a thing is an impossibility. Where would we go? I assure you that many, as soon as they are educated, have hopes of going back to Africa and working among our brethren there, but until they are educated, their labor is worse

"Often it has been said that the negro has made no advance. If so, then setthe the negro problem by extending a helping hand. Give us a little interested philanthropy—not cold, heartless

"I fear that you forget what we are doing here, when you complain about We came here some 300 years ago, not because of associations, not because we wished to make the trip, but be-cause we were invited—and the invitation, from the driver's lash, was so pressing that we dare not refuse.

Remember, my ancestors did not come 'to be educated.' They did not even come to be men and women. The climate had no attractions for them, and they were brought to grow cotton. rice and tobacco. The negro had no opportunity to come into contact with civilization. That came first to us in the wake of the war.

"Remember, when you say the negro has made no progress, that behind us are only forty years of civilization, and back of that 250 years of slavery, and yet farther back the long, dark centuries of heathenism.

"Again, the complaint is made that the negro, with an education, is a negro with a 'swelled head,' and that it is better to give an industrial training alone to him. I find that statistics show that the average negro child attends school between the seventh and twelfth years. of his life only. I don't believe many science, nor law, nor any of the virtues diplomas are given out at that age. which dignify the human race."

"Clericalism knows neither conhis countenance, laid down the lucent tablets and disappeared. The doctor's she had to tell. Bring on all the industrial training you a give us—we are waiting for training of any sort.

"Schools established for the colored man at the very first were of the 'higher order.' Absurdly enough, the founders didn't consider the utter lack of elementary instruction, and everything was made on the university plan. Therefore, if you hear of a school for negroes in the South to-day, if in the city, it will be called a university; in a small town it will be a plain college, and out in the country it descends to the low rank of a 'Normal Collegiate Institute.'

"Do not be afraid of giving the negro higher training, for he is not getting too much of any sort. We are isolated. The negro must be taught by the negro teacher, and then that negro teacher must make a place in life for his negro pupil, who in turn must help some one

"We are accused of being a lazy, good-for-nothing class. We have our lazy, shiftless ones, of course, but have you forgotten that for more than two centuries our fathers had no lands, no money, no property of any sort-not even the right to their own lives. I'll let you into a secret; at the close of the hind him, he turned round, but could 1,000,000 bales of cotton, which brought ened his pace, concluding that what he of some friends and begged them to in an average of $156 to every slave heard must be the echo of his own take care of her while she was insensikeep the whites from starving, but none for the negro. Yet to-day there are 746,714 pieces of farming land worked by the people of my race, of which 130,-000 are owned free of debt. Negroes of the southland have the deeds to 38,000,-000 acres, valued at $241,000,000. Sisters, some of us are working. You couldn't put all of our land-holders in Georgia-and while Tillman is in South Carolina, we certainly wouldn't be allowed to stretch over into that territory.

"The negro is hopeful, but he is poor, I know negro women earning $8 a month, who spend $5 of it to send a boy or girl to school. The negro knows that he must fight prejudice to the bitter

"Judge us not by the heights to which we have ascended; rather, judge us by the depths from which we have FAIR PLAY.

Los Angeles, Cal.

Pastor Uses Bitter Words.

Rev. Alexander F. Irvine recently preached his final sermon as pastor of Pilgrim church, New Haven, Conn. In the course of his address he made a few biting remarks, these among others: "A man in this pastorate may degenerate and conform to type, he may stay three or four years by aid of diplomacy and much grace or he may go mad. Therefore an essential qualification for this pastorate is a keen sense of humor. Here we have the anomaly of a church increasing in membership by the hundreds and at the same time its business affairs going to ruin, although managed by business men, who are successful and wealthy. Their idea of a church is n place to come to once a week and hear something that won't jar on their sensitive nerves, and go home again, The preacher is their hired man. may be brainy, but must not be too brainy; social, but not too social; religious, but not too religious. He must trim his sails to suit every breeze." Price 10 cents.

IMPORTANT MATTER FROM OUR FOREIGN EXCHANGES

BOURNE. AUSTRALIA. The Spread of Spiritualism.

Our contemporary, the "Luz y Union," of Barcelona, reviews no less than eighteen Spiritualistic periodicals which are being published in the Spanish and Portuguese languages, at the undermentioned places: Alicante, Malphilosophical and scientific aspects attract the Latin mind. There is a wide-spread revolt among intellectual minds against the incredible dogmas, the worn-out doctrines, and the childish su-perstitions of the Church of Rome; and the elevating truths of the higher Spiritualism its reiteration of the sublime doctrines taught by the Nazarene, its concordance, with all that is noblest and best in the religions and philosophies of old; the evidences it offers of the continuity of our individual exist ences, the proofs it furnishes of spirit return and spirit communion, the appeals it makes to our reason, the justi- Zola at a circle meetings in that city on fication it finds in our consciences, the support it supplies us with in life, and ders it peculiarly interesting is that it the immense consolations it brings us in death—all these constitute its irre-sistible charm in the minds of those sistible charm in the minds of those who, when breaking away from Roman were received through two different me-Catholicism, are incapable of finding diums, by a man of letters in Melbourne rest for their souls in the dreary nega-

An Anti-Clerical Priest.

In the city of Villanueva y Geltru, In the city of Villanueva y Geltru, in Brussels, was likewise speaking in Brussels, was likewise speaking in Melbourne. This, of course, is no proof 14,000, and is situated to the south-west of Barcelona, in Spain, a Roman Caththis is a legitimate inference from the of Barcelona, in Spain, a resultant control this is a regitimate inference and olic priest, named Pey Ordeix, has been nature of the communications them lecturing to a vast audience in the hall selves, the themes which are touched of the Federal Centre, on the subject of "Religion and Clericalism." Three particles and the rector of the seminary endeavored to prevail upon the alcade or mayor of the city to prohibit the delivery of the lecture, but he refused to do so; and, as we learn from a report of it, which appears in the "Luz y Union," Father Ordeix spoke out very plainly, as the following extracts from his discourse will show: "Religion and Catholicism are absolutely opposed to the clerical tendency."

"Religion is completely negatived by clericalism; for in it disappears the very principle and idea of God." What clericalism does is to annul the intelligence, the reason, and the freedom of the individual.' "Clericalism has kindlel the war of races, of families, and of religions; and has declared its hostility against all that is not clerical."

"Clericalism, by the deification of the God, of reason, and of the conscience, transforming man into a beast with by the light of some magnesium tablets hobbles on. The people who profess by the light of some magnesium tablets cherical ideas do not regard religion it. he saw the bust of a man whose face clerical ideas do not regard religion itself as anything but a mockery burdened with scapularies. Their God is tinctly a deep scar upon one cheek the clergy. They adore a fleshly idol, a miserable man. Such people have neither morality, judgment, nor intelli-For all consult the parish gence. priest, and do only what he directs them. And when this succeeds you can expect from them neither honor, nor manliness nor sacrifice. You only find individuals who are driven like so many blind cattle."

These sentiments appear to have been cheered to the echo by a great assemblage composed chiefly of the work.

Semblage composed chiefly of the work. semblage composed chiefly of the working population of Villanueva; while in other parts of Spain, the churches are deserted by the more intelligent of the artisan classes of the population; but the hold of the priesthood upon the wo-men is still considerable throughout the men is still considerable throughout the subjoined reply: "Dead; a letter will foltinue to be so long as they are timid, ignorant, and actuated by superstitious

A Spiritual Warning.

We find the following striking incident recorded in "Die Spiritsche Rundschan," of Berlin: "Marzahni, the manager of a company of musical comedians touring at one time through Spain. was lodging with a colleague at place in a house, behind which was an overhanging rock. There was an adtaking his evening glass of beer with some of his comrades in a cafe, and had bid them good night on his way home. nized the figure as his own! He saw and heard it open the door and close it again with a bang. Thoroughly alarmed, he hurried back to the cafe, where he found his colleagues, to whom he related what had happened, which they received with a burst of laughter. "You must be drunk!" they exclaimed. "What folly!" Marzahni declared that nothing would induce him to re-enter the house, at which they renewed their merriment. At this moment the owner of the two houses burst into the room, looking very pale and much astonished at finding Marzahni there, and cried "You here-when I distinctly out, heard you enter the house. But, thank God, you are here, for the entire house is a heap of ruins." The rock had The rock had fallen upon and crushed it while the adjoining tenement inhabited by the landlord, had escaped uninjured.

The foregoing particulars are well au thenticated. A Presentiment.

"Das Berner Tagblatt," which, as its name implies, is a daily newspaper published at Berne, in Switzerland, published the following, and guarantees its authenticity and parfect accuracy: "A Scandinavian contemporary, resident in Berne, whose little boy is at Hereafter": Some little time ago a boarding school in Geneva, with some spent an evening with a friend who had relatives, felt a sudden presentiment on Sunday evening that something had happened to his son. Without waiting midnight and we were all in the highest or news from Geneva, he took the night of spirits and best of humors. Suddenly train for that city, and arrived at the we heard a peculiar scraping noise house in which his son was staying at which appeared to come from the wall 6:30 a.m. He was grieved to find him beside the mantelpiece. It continued on a sick bed, and hovering between life for some time, without any of us being and death. On the previous evening he able to account for it. While we were had gone for a sail upon the lake in a still gazing in the direction whence it small boat, which had been overturned came, we noticed a letter forming on by a steamer, and he had a narrow esthe wall as if written by an invisible cape from drowning. For twenty-four hand. It was a capital H. Letter after hours his medical attendants almost de- letter now succeeded this, and we were HARBINGER OF LIGHT, MEL ness. His relatives had despatched telegraphic message to Berne, begging his father to come at the earliest possible moment, but he had already taken his departure before the message reached its destination."

What was the nature of the mysterious admonition? It could not be telepathic, for that implies a sender as well as a receiver; and it is scarcely possible, we should imagine, for any brain to undermentioned places: Alicante, Malaga and Gibraltar; Oporto, in Portugal; Mayaques, in Puerto Rico; Sagua la Grand, in Cuba; Sancti Spiritus, Rio Janeiro, Macelo, Rio Grande do Sul, Janeiro, Macelo, Rio Grande do Sul, With him; he would instantaneously necessive that the presence of the fath-Porto Alegie, Coritiba and Maranquape, perceive that the presence of the fath in Brazil; Valparaiso and Buenos Aires, in the Argentine Republic. In the bulk of these publications, comparatively lithis son's recovery. He would travel to him with the velocity of thought, would the attention is paid to the physical phenomena of Spiritualism. Its religious, conviction that something serious had had happened to his son, and would urge him to depart for Geneva without a moment's unnecessary delay. Incidents like these admit of such a simple and natural explanation, if pseudo-scientists would only cease to cudgel their brains n a vain endeavor to discover some soution of the mystery which fits in with heir own preconceived ideas on the subject, and does not conflict with their venerable and inveterate prejudices.

> The Late Emile Zola. "Le Messager," of Brussels publishes communication received from Emile

tions of the agnostic, or in the blank of December last. In fact on reading outlook of the Materialist. ter, there is no escaping the conclusion that the same person who was speaking be added that on the 13th of February he assured the present writer that the communications published in the "Messager" of Liege were authentic.

Spiritual Revelations.

Signor Caccia contributes, under this appropriate heading, to the "Luce e Ombra," of Milan, two well authenticated narratives of incidents which happened quite recently in England, and could not possibly have been the result of mental hallucination on the part of the persons immediately concerned.

In the first instance, the matron of a hospital, moved by curiosity, induced one of the medical officers of the institution to accompany her on a visit to Mr. Husk, a medium, living at No. 29 South Grove, Peckham, London. It was a public circle, under the direction of the spirit, John King. In the course of was strongly illuminated. He saw diswhich drew the mouth up on side. The pliantom looked at him fixedly, as if anxious to be recognized. In fact, after some seconds, the doctor perceived, with the utmost surprise, that the face was that of his brother who had just such a scar. "But." he exclaimed stupefied by what he saw, "my brother is still living!" The phantom smiled, shook his head in token of dissent, and excited state of mind may be easily imsoon as he could do so, he hastened to the nearest telegraph office, and sent to

The second incident is still more curious, and one of the nurses in a hospital played an important part in it. A very serious mistake was made with a patient she was nursing, and the surgeon who had the case in hand accused her of having occasioned it. Though conscious of her own innocence, she was so terror-stricken as to the consequences that she abruptly quitted the hospital and disappeared no one knew whither. Soon afterwards circumjoining house belonging to the same stances arose which completely exonerproprietor. One evening, Marzahni was ated her; but, although diligent inquiries were instituted for many weeks afterwards, no trace could be found of the fugitive. One of her sister nurses, how-In order to reach his domicile, he had to ever, was a medium in process of develcross a square. Hearing footsteps be opment; and she suddenly felt that she was about to fall into a condition of see no one. All was still, and he quick- trance. So she hastened to the house steps. Still the sound pursued him, ble. Placed in a chair, she was comand yet he could perceive nothing. At pletely controlled a few seconds afterlength he reached the house, but as he wards, and a spirit guide, who gave the approached it, he saw some one else en-ter it. To his great alarm he recognosons present, a friend of Signor Cac cia's, to make a note of the following communication: "The medium here present and the employes of the hospital are anxious to know what has become of that nurse. Well, the poor girl is in a state of utter misery. Help her, and that promptly, for time presses. She is at the following address: 25 East street, Kidderminster, Worcestershire." Then the medium came out of trance and was shown the message. Much amazed, she hurried to the tele graph office and sent to the address indicated, this dispatch: "Are you at this address? Your character is cleared. Return or reply." The answer came: I am here, but in great misery." hospital authorities immediately sent her the means of return, and gave her a month's holiday and £2 a week for her maintenance in the meanwhile. These facts," adds Signor Caccia, "are well known to every person connected with the institution, and I could furnish many matters of detail which I refrain from doing out of personal considers Remarkable Occurrences. We translate the following from our spaired of his recovery; but thanks to soon able to read the word "Helene" "Meatless Dishes." Very useful. a good constitution and their efforts, he distinctly. What was the meaning of it gradually restored to conscious-all? One of my friends suddenly exclaimed, "That is the name of my flancee," after which he became deadly pale. We now remembered that this was the name of his intended, and that for some time past she had been at a sanatorium in the mountains. We now hastened to see if any more of this message could be discernible: but all was gone. Our friendsimmediatelly went home. Next day we received intelligence that his betrothed. Helene B-had died the night before.

THE CHILDREN.

Sad Phases of Child Life in the Great City.

In the Chicago Chroniele, Jean Cowgill writes of scenes in Juvenile Court:
"I want to be an actor. I don't care whether it's a woman actor or a man

Myrtle Byrnes looked more boy than girl when she said it. Yet she is a girlish little girl, in spite of the fact. She is the little girl who took possession of her brother's clothes and started out to make her way in the world as a Before she decided to be a 13-year old boy instead of a girl of that age she cut off her long brown braid, which reached to her knees.

She is a little girl of varied attainments. Besides masquerading as a sturdy boy, she can sing and dance. Yesterday over at the West Chicago avenue police station she sang for the officers until a crowd gathered outside the open windows to listen. She set back her sturdy shoulders and sang so them forgot he was a man and let the mist stay in his eyes. Because she had no dresses she had to wear her boy's suit two days at the station-house. Then her mother brought her down a wine-colored skirt, which she wore yesterday afternoon. She had no covering for her head other than the brother's cap, which she still wore.

I talked with her a long time. Never have I seen a girl with a keener mind. She talked fearlessly and laughed now and then when she thought of the commotion she had raised. "I won't stay at home. It isn't a good place for me." "Why?" asked a bystander. Myrtle's pretty mouth shut decidedly. "Because it isn't," was all the answer she vouchsafed. "Do you like wearing boy's clothes?" 'Yes. It's so much easier to get jobs when you're a boy. Then you get so much better wages, too. I was going to work. What harm was I doing?"

"How long was it before you were found out?' "Oh, just a little while. I was only getting used to the clothes when the of-ficer spoke to me. If he hadn't seen me before he never would have known. I was standing looking in at a window when he came along. You see I was so sure of my clothes I forgot my face. He knew me. He said 11 at night was too late for even a boy to be out."

"What did he say?"
"'Hello, boy! Ain't it late for you to be out?' Then he looked at my hair, then at me.

"'I know you,' he said. "'No, you don't, said I. 'I'm a boy.' "'Boy, nothing. You're Myrtle Byrnes.' And he took me along to the station. "What did you do with your pretty hair?"

"Threw it away." "Didn't you hate to part with it?" "No. I had a purpose." "What are they going to do with you?"

"I don't know. Don't care so long as they don't send me back home." "What is the matter with your home?

There was no one around now hear. The child's eyes were full of tears. She whispered the nightmare

Temporarily she was sent to the House of the Good Shepherd. "I don't care where it is, so long as it isn't home," she said.

"My mother tried to put me up to swear to a lie and say she didn't drink." The point is plain. My heart is all with sturdy little Myrtle. A mother who will deliberately set about influencing her 13-year-old daughter to perjure herself on the witness stand is be yond my comprehension.

There were two other girls sitting beside her as she talked. All three made the same cry. "I don't care what becomes of me so long as they don't make me stay at home.' The parents of these girls all say they are good parents. They sit on the witness stand and tell the tales of their children's degradation as if it were an item in their own favor.

There was an awful row over Stella Gorney, 11 years old. She is a popular little girl. She had three uncles, a father and ever so many cousins in court, all of them anxious for her presence in their respective homes.

After her mother died she and her father lived with her grandmother. Then the house burned and the officers found Stella sleeping in a barn with the chickens and horses and cows.

Regardless of the rest of her relatives er very youngest uncle took her to live with the family of his flancee, with whom he boards. After a lot of wranging Judge Tuthill called Stella up to the bench.

"With whom do you want to go to live?" he said. "With Grace," said Stella.

Grace is the boyish uncle's sweetheart. They smiled at one another and nodded their heads when Stella said it. The young uncle stepped forward. "Are you going to be married?" asked the judge.

"Yes," said the uncle and half passed his arm around his prett sweetheart, who stepped forward too. It was a sight for tired eyes, the frank and beautiful love between the two. Scarcely less beautiful is their love for little Stella. Judge Tuthill called the young woman "If her father comes around interfering, you report to me." All the women fell in love with Georgie Kilroy. His eyes are brown and he is such a manly chap that they all wondered what he had done. Mrs. Ryan, a near neighbor, testified

"I'm no relation to the child." He's always coming to me and saying that his father beats him. Often I've seen the marks. Once there were two big welts on his back a half inch thick. "Along the last big snowstorm he came in one evening. I didn't want to be cruel, but his parents had made a fuss. So that evening I didn't even give the child his supper. About 9 o'clock I told him he had better go home. He went outside and I supposed he went home. The next morning when I opened the front door I saw a lot of child's tracks in the snow. Under a step I found George, almost frozen to death. Without saying a word that 7 year-old child had slept there and al-home."

Georgie had little to say. His baby lips puckered up and a lot of salt water ran over in his big brown eyes.

"You've heard what your neighbor, Mrs. Hyan, has said. Now, what have you got to say for yourself?" the judge asked the father.

"For the last two years, your honor, he has repeatedly done this thing. What the reason is is a mystery to me. The only plausible and possible explanation I can make is that he is unduly influenced by his aunt, who is my late deceased wife's sister. She has small liking for my present wife, who is my son George's stepmother. She has endeavored throughout to be a true and loving mother to the undutiful boy. "But he did not appreciate it, Mr.

Judge, he did not appreciate it." "Is the aunt in court?" inquired the judge.

The aunt came forward.
"I never met the present wife. never even saw her until to-day. She married him three months after my sister died. All I ever did to her was to send her a bill of my dead sister's funeral expenses and tell her I thought it ought to be paid before she stepped into a dead woman's shoes."

"I'm a good and tender mother to him," said the stepmother. "Send him to St. Mary's Industrial school at Feehanville," said Judge Tut-

Georgie walked off with the officer. His face was one broad smile.

Two other little boys went to Feehanville because their mother drinks. She was fairly well dressed. Everything Officer Goggin told about her she smiled

"She's drunk now," said the officer. "She's really a good woman," said sweetly that more than one man among the judge. "I don't mean to allow her to spend the little property she has

> Sad and pitiable is the lot of the child, the boy or girl, to whom home is not home—not a place that bears the sweet and dear significance that twines in tender thought and happy love springing from the inner fountain of the child heart.

A drunken father-a drunken mother -who can tell the tale of sadness that darkens the child's life, the victim of such fate?

Instead of singing the old refrain, "There's no place like home," hear the pitiful cry, "I don't care what becomes of me so long as they don't make me stay at home." What darkness must have clouded the life of a child when it has been made to feel that any other place is better than home. But so it is in some children's experi

There are lessons and lessons to be learned in the Juvenile Court.

JAS. C. UNDERHILL. Hammond, Ind.

PHENOMENA HUNTERS.

Explanatory Words In Their Behalf

We hear too much fault found with phenomena hunters. One old man I know says he would not go across the road to witness the best manifestations that can be produced by mediums, be cause he has got beyond that. He is self-centered and harmonious; has health and a competence for living, and s happy. He is a theosophist, believes in reincarnation and says that whatever happens to him is for the best. He gets just what he has earned in former states of existence. When asked how he became so advanced, he said, "By self-effort." He owned that he had had the advantage of the circle, mediums in his own family, and has studied books on occult matters.

As he began investigation and advanced in self-culture, so are all phenomena hunters beginning. We are truly surprised at the great variety of minds among us, and the vaiety of effects produ ed on them hy the manifestations. With some it seems to appeal to selfish interests and gratification entirely; some wish to use the influence to learn how to get rich quickly; some to find out the best way to practice fraud and vice generally with the greatest security; others to gratify the yearning affection they have for dead relatives; another to advance the moral status of the race; another to make himself a power in the scale of being and so attain adeptship.

Let them follow their desires. The various kinds of phenomena serve each and every one. The reasons are deep and philosophical. All of the above classes have made a new beginning in their lives. All are benefited. No one stops at the mere gratification of curiosity. The truth is borne in on them sooner or later that the inflexible law of compensation follows every act of their lives.

Then there comes the silent restraining influence, and reflection begins, and change of motive follows—so slowly with some we cannot see it. They do not seem to grow at all, but the seed of reform is planted and will eventually show its vital power.

To others the first conviction of the truth of Spiritual is an inspiration, an expansion that makes for progression and seeming perfection of character. They feel that all things are attainable. They have a zeal and unflagging energy, an ecstasy of delight that overspans every earthly ill. It takes the sting out of poverty; it subdues the intoxication of success; makes them charitable and patient. The put a true value on life, and are never vain of themselves or envious of others. Their true reverence is for true greatness. They are full of adoration for all that is above them, knowing that that, too is attainable and their own when they have earned it.

Why, the phenomena hunters are the ones we wish to know. Let as many as can be convinced of the truth of the manifestations, and the law of mind does the rest in ways that we know not of. Blessed are the phenomena seekers, whatever the temporary use they make of it. Blessed are they who have the psychic gift, for theirs is the perfect knowledge. Blessed are they who can believe the testimony of honest mediums, for their faith is an everpresent benediction in their hearts. blessed are they who have the knowledge that science reveals of occult laws. for they are steadfast without the power of turning away. The end of all is happiness for man according to his degree of attainment. I am a hunter of phenomena. I question the visible and invisible universe for light whereby to read the riddle of life aright. I invoke the elements of nature to aid me. Arts, sciences, philosophy, and the unfolded powers of the human mind must contribute to the KEZIAH ALEXANDER. Detroit, Mich.

'Gleanings from the Rostrum." By A. B. French. Cloth, $1. For sale at

Price 25 cents.

"Love—Sex—Immortality." By Dr. W. P. Phelon. For sale at this office. Price 25 cents. "The Truth Seeker Collection of Forms and Ceremonies for the Use of most died from cold rather than go Liberals." For sale at this office.

WISDOM OF THE AGES.

Revelations from Zertoulem, the Prophet of Tlaskanata.

A Mine of Valuable Reflections

and Suggestions.

This work was automatically transcribed by George A. Fuller, M. D., a gentleman who stands high as a lecturer and medium. It is a mine of val-uable reflections and suggestions. The paragraphs are short, suggestive and inspiring. Every one of them leads to something higher, grander, nobler, Price $1.00.

THE SPIRITUAL SIGNIFICANCE.

A VERY IMPORTANT WORK.

The Spiritual Significance is by Lilian Whiting, author of "The World Beau-tiful," "After Her Death," "Kate Field, A Record," "A Study of Elizabeth Bar-rett Browning," Cloth, $1.00.
Miss Whiting finds the title of her new book in these lines from "Aurora Leigh;"
"If a man could feel

Not one, but every day, feast, fast, and working-day,
The spiritual significance burn through
The hieroglyphic of material shows,
Haradayward ha would nature. dienceforward he would paint the globe with wings."

The aim of this book is to reveal the

curiously close correspondence between the developments of modern science and spiritual laws; to note that new forces, as discovered and applied in wireless as discovered and applied in wheless telegraphy, are simply laws of an unseen realm into which humanity is rapidly advancing and thus gaining a new environment. From this evolutionary progress, as illustrated by physical science the author of "The World Beautiful" continues the same argument are ence the author of "The World Beautiful" continues the same argument presented in those volumes in a plea that the future life is the continuation and development of our present life in all development of our present life in all its faculties and powers, and that the present may be ennobled by the constant sense of the Divine Presence, and a truer knowledge of the nature of man and his relations to God tend to a higher morality and increasing bench. and his remains to God tend to a higher morality and increasing happiness. The book is characterized by the same essential style and qualities that have insured for "The World Beautiful" volumes. ful" volumes an almost world-wide popularity.

OTHER BOOKS BY LILIAN WHIT-ING:
Kate Field, A Record. Price $2.
A Study of Elizabeth Barrett Browning. Price $1.25.
The World Beautiful. Three Series. From Dreamland Sent, and Other Poems. $1. Liese books are for sale at this office. Controsts in Spirit Life and Recent of Samuel Bowles in the First Five Spheres, Etc. Written through the hand of Carrie E. S. Twing. Paper, 80 cents.

Bible and Church Degrade Woman By Elizabeth Cady Stanton. Comprises three essays on "The Effect of Woman Suffrage on Questiens of Morals and Religion." Price, 10c. Why I Am a Vegetarian.

An address del'vered before the Chicago Vego tarian Society. By J. Howard Moore. Price, 25 cents. POEMS OF PROGRESS. By Lizzie Doten. They are really valuable. Price, $1.00.

Healing, Gauses and Effects. By W. P. Phelon, M. D. Deals with the finer mental and spiritual forces as applied to heal ing. Price, 50 cents,

Aryan Sun Myths, the Origin of Religion. By Sarah E. Titcomb. wirh an introduction by Charles Morris, author of "The Aryan Race."

Three Remarkable Books
"The Divine Pedigree of Man."
"The Law of Psychic Phenomena."
"A Scientific Demonstration of the Future Life."
The Divine P.

The Divine Pedigree of Man, or the Testimony of Evolution and Psychology to the Fatherhood of God. By Thompson Jay Hudson, LL. D. A most remarkable work demonstrating the existence of the Soul and Future Life. It is scientific throughout. Price $1.50. Dr. Hudson's work on "The Law of Psychic Phenomena" is also valuable. Price, $1.50. His "Scientific Demonstration of the Future Life" should be read by all. Price $1.50.

BODY AND SOUL.

, BY J. CLEGG WRIGHT. This volume consists of a course of lectures delivered in the trance state, and is certainly no small contribution to the study of the soul. It is a good work foopen the cycle to the difference between the deductive and inductive process of final. Bound in cloth, St. For sale at this office.

THE GOSPEL OF BUDDHA. According to Old Records. By Dr. Paul Carus. A translation made from Japanese, under the auspices of the Rev. Shaku Soyer, delegate to the Parliament of Religions. Was published In Japan. Price, 81.

in Japan. Price, $1. Church and State. The Bible in the Public Schools; the New 'American' Party. By "Jefferson." Third edition; 28 pages. Price, 10 cents.

THREE SEVENS A Story of Ancient Phelons. Illustrating the Hermetic Philoso-phy. Price, coth, $1.25.

FROM INDIA TO THE PLANET MARS.

A MOST REMARKABLE WORK.

Fascinating, Interesting and Instructive.

By Th. Flournoy, Professor of Psy-chology in the University of Geneva. "This is an account of the experiments with the 'Geneva Medium,' Helene Smith. In her trances she lives the dual existence of an Indian princess and of an inhabitant of the planet Mars. Professor Flournoy and his fel-low scientists have for more than five years experimented with these astounding physical phenomena."

This is a work of thrilling interest. It has excited great attention in this country and in Europe. Price $1.50. For sale at this office.

Father Tom and the Pope. Or a Night at the Vatican. Written probably by Sir Samuel Ferguson. From Blackwood's Edinburg Magazine. This is a humorous abcount of a rollelsome visit to the Pope of Rome by Father Tom, an Irish priest, armed with a superabundance of Irish wit, two imperial quart bottles of Irish "poteen," and an Irish recipe for "conwounding" the same Paper, 25 cents; cloth, 50 cents.

ANTIQUITY UNVEILED.

The imest important revelations concerning the true origin of Christianity. Reader, in bringing to your notice "Antiquity Unveiled," it is with the sincere hope that you are earnestly looking for the truth, regardless of any other consideration. If such is the case, this advertisement will deeply interest you, and after reading this brief description you will doubless wish to give the work a careful perusal. Price, $1.50.

LIFE OF THOMAS PAINE. By the Editor of the National, with Proface and Notes by Peter Eckler. Illustrated with views of the old Paine Homestead and Paine Monument, at New Rochelle; also portraite of Thomas Clio Rickman, Joel Barlow, Mary Wolstoneerate, Madamo Roland, Condorce, Brissot, and the most prominent of Paine's friends in Europe and America. Cloth, 76 cents.

MAHOMET, THE ILLUSTRIOUS,
By Godfrey Higgins, Esq. This work is one of the Library of Liberal Classics. No author was better qualified to write an impartial and housest life of Mahomet than Godfrey Higgins, and this volume is intensely interesting. It should be read in conjunction with Gibbon's work. Price, 25 cents.

work. Price, 25 cents.

CALL AND CALL MARY A collection of Vocal Music for the Choir, Congregation and Social Circles. By J. M. Peebles and J. O. Barrett; E. H. Balley, Musical Editor. Now edition. Culled from a wide field of literature with the most critical care, free from all theological bias, throbbing with the soul of inspiration, embodying the principles and virtues of the spiritual philosophy, set to the most cheerful and popular music (nearly all original) and adapted to all occasions. It is doubtless the most attractive work of the kind ever published. Its beautiful songs, duets and quartets, with piano, organ or melodion accompaniment, adapted both to public meetings and the social circles. Cloth, $1.25; postige, 14 cents.

In the World Celestia! By DR. T. A. BLAND.

"It is inexpressibly delightful."—Hon. C. A Windle.
"It lifts the reader into enchanting realms."—
Medical Gleanor.
"It is intensely Interesting."—Rev. Minot &

"It is intensely interesting."—Rev. Minot ?
Savage.
"Three things make this book remarkable. Its authorship, the astounding claims put forth in it, and the philosophy and revelation of a future itio it contains."—B. O. Flower, in the Arena.
"It will give us courage to pass through the deep shadows of death to the sun-lit clime of the World Celestial."—Rev. H. W. Thomas.
"Everybody will be charmed with it, for it is not only a great Spiritual book, but a most beautiful romance of two worlds."—Hanner of Light.
It is Printed in elegant style and bound in cloth and gold. Pric $1.00.

The Mystic Thesaurus,
Or Initiation in the Theoretical and Practical secrets of Astral Truth and Occult Art. By Willis F. Whitehead, Editor Agrippa's "Natural Magic." The book treats of The Symbol of the Cross. Spiritual Gifts, Inspirational Conception, Initiative Exposition, The Astral Brotherhood, The Magic Mirror, and Celestial Companionably. It is a good text book for students of the Mystic, and will be sent postpuid, in paper, for $1.00.

Memorial Oration by Col. R. d. Ingersoll a warm friend of his and a great statasman, delivered before the New York Legislature, May 9, 1888. Price 4 cents.

The Devil and the Adventists. An Adventist attack upon Spiritualism re-pulsed. By Moses Hull. Price, 10 cents. Practical Methods to Insure Success

A variable little work, full of practical instruction in matters pertaining to physical mental and spiritual health. Worth many times its cost. Price 10 cents. THE WORLD BEAUTIFUL. Series one, two and three. By Lilian Whiting, Three choice volumes, each complete in itself, in which spirituality is related to veryday life in such a way as to make the world beautiful Price. 51.00 each.

MIDIUMSHIP and its DEVELOPMENT, and how to Mes.nerize to Assist Development By W. H. Bach. Paper 25 cents; cloth 50 cents. ITS ATTAINMENT OF Womanly FORM AND FEATURES Beauty The cultivation of personal beauty, based on Hygiene and Health Culture, by twenty physicians and specialists, and edited by Albert Turner. A valuable book for women and therefore for the whole world. Price in elegant cloth binding, $1.00. For sale at this office.

-THE-Christs of the Past and Present.

By MOSES HULL, A comparison of the Christ-work or Mediumship of Biblical Messiahs and the conditions they required, with similar manifestations in Modern Spiritualism. This is a good work to study for arguments with which to meet the very common orthodox question, "Why do you always require conditions for your spiritual manifestations". Cloth bound, 35 cents; paper 25 cents. For sale at this office.

Were You Born Under a Lucky Star? A complete exposition of the science of Astrology, adapted from the Four Books of Ptolemy, the Astronomer on the art of Reading the Stars, with many illustrations. By A. ALPHEUS. Secretary of the Astrological Society of England and America. Handsomely bound in cloth, gilk top, with beautiful designs stamped on side and back, Price $1.00. For sale at this office.

14/-

ORIGIN OF LIFE

and How the Spirit Body Grows. By M. Faraday, Price, 10c. For sale at this office THE TEACHINGS OF JESUS Not Adapted to Modern Civilization, with the Tre? Character of Mary Magdalene. By Geo. W: Browle. M. D. Price, 15 cents. For sale at this cfice.

Out of the Depths Into the Light. By Samuel Bowles; Mrs. Carrie E. S. Twing, medium. This is a very interesting little book, and will be appreciated from start to finish by all who wish to gain spiritual information.

Man the Microcosm.

His Infinite and Divine Relations. Intuition—
The Light Within. By Giles B. Stebbins.

Price, 10 cents.

WOMAN. Four Centuries of Propression A Lecture delivered at the Precthinker's International Congress, Chicago, Ill., October, 1898. By Susan H. Wixon. Price, 10c. PSYGHE Is the invention of a practical medium, under spirit guidance, and is designed to develop mediumship. Many, by its use, have received long communications from spirit friends, and express great satisfaction. Price, at and 20 cents extra for expressage.

Discovery of a Lost Trail BY CHARLES B. NEWGOMB.

Author of "All's Right with the World." Cloth 276
pages. Mr. Newcomb made a distinct success with
"All's Right with the World," which continues in the front rank of the Metaphysical books that are now so popular. The great number who have seen cheered and strengthened by him will welcome another book by this wise teacher whose words of help are doing to much to nake the world botter by making men and women better able to understand and enjoy it. "Discovery of a Lost Trail" is a simple study of that atrange and beautiful thing called life, but grand in its scholarly simplicity. It will be in demand by many who have not previously read metaphysical writings. Price $1.50. For sale at this office.

The Christ Question Settled. Jesus, Man, Medium, Martyr. A symposium by W. E. Coleman, J. S. Loveland, Hudson Tuttle, Moses Hull, J. R. Buchanan, B. B. Hill, Rabbi I. M. Wise, Col. Ingersoil—and what the spirits say about it. By J. M. FEERLES, M. O. Whether this book settles the question or not, it will be found eminently entertaining, and brings together a mass of evidence to establish the historical character of Jesus. A large volume. Price, cloth. $1.25.

AUTOMATIC WRITING, [So-called] with other psychic experiences. By Sara A. Onderwood. With half-tone portrait and specimen pages of the writing. Hand-somely bound in cloth. Price, vi. Postuge, 100.

Paine's Theological Works. Age of Reason, Examination of the Prophecies, etc. Illustrated edition. Post 8vo., 432 pages. Price, cloth, 61.00.

POEMS FROM THE INNER LIFE. By Lizzle Doten. These poems are truly inspirational and as staple as sugar. Price $1.00.

AGTRAL WORSHIP By J. H. Hill, M.D. Availuable contribution to the ourrent discussion of religious problems. The author by illustrations and a plansiphere (a ropresentation of the celestial sphere upon a plane with adjustable circles), traces most of the myths which lie at the base of Christianity to their origin in sun and star worship. The astronomical facts given possess great value, the illustrations rare and curious. The book is bound in only one style—heavy boards. Price $1.

COMMON SENSE By Thomas Paine. A lot, addressed to the inhabitants of America in 1776, with explanatory notice by an English author. Paper, 15 conts.

The Progressive Thinker.

J. R. FRANCIS, Editor and Publisher Entered at Chicago Postoliso as second-class matte TBRES OF SUBSCHIPTION.

One year.
Bix Months.
Thirteen Weeks.
Bingle Copy. REMITTANCES.

Regait by Postofiles Money Order, Registered Lotter or draft on Chloago or New York. It souts from 10 to 15 cents to get checks cashed on local banks, so don't send them unless you wish that amount deducted from the amount sent. Address all letters to J. R. FRANCIS, No. 40 Loomis, Street, Chicago, Ill. TAKE NOTICE.

 At expiration of subscription, if not renewed, the paper is discontinued. No bills will be sent for extra numbers. 23 If you do not receive your paper promptly write to us, and any errors in address will be promptly corrected, and missing numbers supplied graits.

Whenever you desire the address of your paper changed, always give the address of the place to which it is then sent or the change cannot be made.

SATURDAY, JUNE 6, 1903.

TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES. The price of The Progressive Thinker per year to foreign countries, is $1.75.

TAKE NOTICE.

· All books advertised in the columns of The Progressive Thinker are for sale at this office. Bear this in mind.

HUDSON TUTTLE.

Editor-at-Large for the National Spirit ualist Association.

Mr. Tuttle has been engaged to answer all attacks in the secular or religtous press on Spiritualism. Send him clippings when an attack is made, giving date and name of paper. Address him at Berlin Heights, Ohio.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE PUBLIC. All money in donations or collections intended for the N. S. A. Mediums' Home or Relief Fund, should be sent to this office to the secretary, if not di-rectly paid to our authorized missionwho can show a missionary certificate of later date than October, 1902. No other is authorized to collect money for this association. Contributions. large or small, are gratefully accepted. MARY T. LONGLEY,

N. S. A. Secretary. 600 Pennsylvania avenue S. E., Wash-

Spiritualists' Duty.

Each one should know the duties of life as from day to day they present themselves, should be able intuitively and from the environing limitations to are Catholic to a man and woman, and know them, and should perform those the children are born Catholics. Their know them, and should perform those duties with pleasure and a cheerful

This may sound like advice more easily given than heeded, but it is not an impossibility by any means, only a little more difficult with some than with

Many very unpleasant duties force this life, and it is so much easier for some to look upon the dark side than upon the light, that it is hard for them to rise up into the grandeur of a beauti- ready and ripe for any movement which ful day even after a prolonged spell of | may advance the power and glory of the darkness and gloom.

Spiritualists more than all others should be able to rise up out of the midnight of life and study their duties to be adopted to turn back this tide. Our the world, to the cause of Spiritualism "great" statesmen dare not attack the and themselves, and in a kindly manner evil because of fear of the church of and themselves, and in a kindly manner go about them.

We all know that our mediums (the true and the good) are poorly supported | tion enforce their demand that the unand that each year adds to the age. trials and embarrassments, troubles sorrows and ailments that weigh them down towards the retiring end of earthlife, and they should be looked after and cared for; should be made to know that those to whom they brought light and comfort in their balmiest days; those to whom they brought the silent messages of love from their dear arisen ones, were thankful, were appreciative, and were willing to aid in making their last days on earth pleasant and inspiring. and their transition a satisfactory voyage to the eternal home.

We all know that beyond a mere living our true mediums seldom gain and we know that beyond a sufficient amount to provide for one's family all we accumulate and hoard up is but that much of a millstone to hold us to the earth and impede our progress. In other words we know that the spirit enters the future state in the condition with the habits, with the tastes, with the same characteristics it possesses here, and if it becomes wedded to gold here the same love will go with it to the land where gold dollars are not needed and the "bottom will fall out" of the value of their gold. Therefore, to use that surplus for the relief of those less fortunate and who are in actual need, before passing out, will surely bring good returns for the spirit in the next sphere. This is the philosophy our wiser arisen ones teach when they return and it seems logical.

frauds to dispose of and an occasional lawsuit hanging over us and our representatives.

We have literature that the world should read, and while it can be furnished at a very low figure, it is the duty of all Spiritualists to do their utmost to get it in circulation.

As we learn our duties towards the cause and perform them so we show to others their duty.

We have societies to aid; there are localities where our gospel has never was given another "treatment," from yet been known and the average human the effects of which he died. The kamind is ready to receive it when properly presented.

upon us with its varied fascinations and ter. The prisoner made no defense. He its drawbacks. They are all right for said that he had done his best for his forming acquaintances and discussing patient, but the devil had conquered the higher principles and the needs of Spiritualism; for sociability and for that the man's eyes were red, that he health; for soul-feasting and for physical was restless and that his hair stood on cal and spiritual recuperation and they are to support and are usually well had been possessed of red devils. The supported, often at the sacrifice of oth- only cure for this was the application of er very important institutions and nec-

These are but a few of the general told." duties of Spiritualists and the private ones are left to the consciences and chapter in the scriptures which proconscientious deliberations of each perlic work; unity will give us strength whom the case was tried, then held the and the thought that the truth-will ad- kahuna to the grand jury. vance though it be fought by all the er-ligious fail, because it has truth for its foundation, immortality bracing it and love for its key-note; but each one must act as a wheel within a wheel of the great machinery of its progress, and do their duty.

An Object Lesson in Immigration. A young boy, his mother and grandmother, three generations, were arrested in a dry goods store in New York, for shoplifting. They were observed by a detective on Friday, wandering through the store, but taking nothing. On Saturday they came again, and helped themselves to whatever they fancled, without the least precautions as to being detected. They were arrested and brought before the police court. Then came a most remarkable revelation, They could not understand a word of English, and an interpreter was called. They were Italians, and had recently been dumped from an ocean liner. They said that they had no intention of stealing. They had been told in their country that in America all things were free, and everyone could help themselves to what they wanted, without the asking. On Friday they must not take anything, and hence they came on that day to look the store over, and decide what they would take.

The judge believed the story and let them off with a light sentence, and a lecture in which he endeavored to enlighten them on the customs and laws of this country.

This instance shows the character of the immigrants now pouring on our shores from Southern Europe. The desirable races, as Irish, Swede, German, have practically ceased to come, and the increase is of the most undesirable. It is estimated that the present year will chronicle one million of these besottedly ignorant people cast almost penniless on our shores. They come with their ideas, such as they have, dwarfed and distorted by ages of priestly rule. They have been kept in ignorance because as unthinking beasts they could be more readily controlled. They cannot be assimilated, for they cannot comprehend the state of freedom, which to them is license. We debar the Chinese, who are tractable and teachable and open wide the gates for this pestilential swarm, bringing the seeds of tyranny and destruction of free institutions.

At a recent meeting of the Sons of the Revolution, a move was made to publish tracts or other literature, giving instructions as to our laws and cusimmigrants. What good would come of immigrants are unable to read. Perhaps the few who are able might be induced to instruct the less fortunate. With the present flood, it will be found impractical to absorb and educate these lowest of civilized peoples. They beastly condition is a direct result of the rule of that church. They came to State? give physical strength, to back with Do y brawn, the machinations of the priesthood. They are allowed to come because they are Catholics, as the Chinese are excluded because they are not Cath-

Think of it! If this flood of immigration continues for ten years, and is kept themselves upon us in passing through at its present proportion, ten millions of these people who are as ignorant as beasts, who accept the command of the priest as the word of God, will reside among us, mainly in towns and cities, church of Rome. They fill our prisons and burden our charities, and menace not freedom alone, but national life.

The most stringent measures show Rome by which it is encouraged. The people should arouse from optimistic lethargy, and by overwhelming petidesirable shall not land on our shores.

Kahunaism in Hawaii.

According to a special correspondent of the Chicago Chronicle, the Indiana man who punished his wife by flinging a Bible at her is rather outdone by a case of a Hawaiian. The correspondent states that there has been another outbreak of kahunaism in Hawaii, with the result that one of the sorcerers or kahunas is in prison at Puna awaiting trial for manslaughter. He is charged with having caused the death of an old native by beating him over the head with a Bible "to drive devils from his body."

This case is unique in the annals of kahunaism in the islands. It appears from the story told at the trial in district court that a native in the Puna district became ill and the government physician, Dr. Holland, was called in. He was treating the man with some hope of curing him, when the native called in a kahuna, believing that the physician was not curing him rapidly enough. The kahuna immediately ordered the discontinuance of the remedies prescribed by the physician and diagnosed the case for himself. He said the man was possessed of red devils and after several incantations in Then we have the whole cause to sup- | which the aid of spirits was invoked deport; we have speakers to pay, we have | cided that the only way to drive out the devils was by the application of the Bible to the head of the patient.

The sick man was compelled to sit upright in his bed and then was beaten vigorously by the kahuna with a heavy volume of the scriptures. When the kahuna's arm got tired the man's wife was forced to continue the treatment until the victim sank unconscious in bed. A few days afterward the man huna was arrested, first on the charge of practicing witchcraft, but afterward Our camp-meeting season is almost the charge was changed to manslaughthrough no fault of his. He testified end and that this was a sign that he the Bible to the head, for the purpose of driving the devil away, "as the Bible

The kahuna was asked to point to the vided for this method of getting rid of the devil, but he became confused and Harmony must prevail in all our publicefused to do so. Judge Kameu, before

The wife of the victim admitted also ror, the prejudice and the ignorance of that she had beaten her husband over beater, the noted Theosophist lecturer the world should inspire confidence.

Spiritualism will rise where other results of the head with the Bible, but said that and writer. Very interesting. Price she could do no less than obey the instructions of the kahuna, in whom she trusted implicitly.

This new case has caused an investigation to be made of the practice of kahunaism, and it has been found to be prevalent still in many places to an alarming extent. In Honolulu a case of kahunaism is reported every once in a while, which generally ends in prosecution. Kanunaism is prohibited by law. Kaliunaism is a relic of ancient Hawaii and all the efforts of the missionaries from the day of their first arrival have been insufficient to stamp it out. Even some of the more educated people among the Hawaiians believe in The younger element is growing up without fear of it, but among the older natives it is estimated that there is one kahuna for every fifty people. Kahunaism is a lucrative business and the man who has a good practice in it does not have to work. Many of the Hawaiian people believe in the kahuna as a physician and would rather have him in a case of sickness than the government physician, whose services may be obtained free.

A few months ago a woman witch doctor in Lahaina, on Maui, was sent to prison for having encompassed the death of a father and two sons, whom she claimed had killed the pet cat of her favorite niece. All three of the men became ill and the kahuna was called in to cure them. She admitted afterward that she practiced kahunaism, but said that she did her best to save the lives of her patients, but their great sin in killing the cat had made supernatural aid impossible.

The kahuna claims to have power "to pray a person to death," and it is not inrequent that cases are reported where these witches are employed for that purpose. In the time of the revolution kahunas were employed to pray President Dole to death and pigs were sacrificed to bring this about, but the head of the new republic was too practical and ate the pigs himself.

Do You Know?

Do you know that this question of the right of women to self-government is one which is commanding the attention of the whole civilized world? The women of England, Scotland, Ireland and Wales may vote upon the same terms as men in all elections except that of members of Parliament.

Do you know that in England the House of Commons has three times recorded itself in favor of full suffrage for women and that it would now be established but for the hereditary and unprogressive House of Lords?

Do you know that the women of Australia, numbering 800,000, the women of the Isle of Man, and of New Zealand, entoms, in their own language, to these joy full suffrage upon the same terms as men and the women of Sweden and such literature is not clear, when the Norway, with a slight property qualification may vote in all elections except members of Parliament?

Do you know that the women of Wyoming have voted upon the same terms as men since 1869; the women of Colorado since 1893; the women of Utah and Idaho since 1896 and that the universal testimony is that it has resulted in great good to both the women and the

Do you know that the movement for woman suffrage is only one phase of the on their vigilance and active co-operaeternal warfare of all the centuries for human liberty?

Do you know that, while women are ruled out, the highest intelligence and morality will never be fully represented in any community in its law, since intelligence and morality must always be averaged at the ballot-box with ignorance and immorality? It is plain that wherever intelligence and morality predominate over ignorance and immorality, the trend of civilization must be upward, and since women can offer a higher per cent of morality, and certainly an equal amount of intelligence with men, it requires no demonstramake the world better.

Can Order Be Preserved in Schools Without Flogging?

cannot be well governed without corporal punishment.

dience is desirable and essential, but it can be gained at too great cost, and when yielded to fear it is destructive of independence and manhood.

This is like returning to the Dark

The old idea was to punish the criminal, as though morality was a matter of education, and could be bestowed by

Only a few years ago. English law made scores of crimes punishable by death. Since the abolition of these cruel laws, there has not been an inthat the cruel way begets cruelty, and to destroy self-respect is to lose hold of moral character. The injunction of the Bible has been productive of great harm, and is being continuously returned to. If a teacher cannot control his or her pupils without resort to the rod, it is evidence that they have mistaken their calling. The rod is always applied, by parent or teacher, with anger, more or less expressed, and arouses anger. The street urchin may be a refractory boy, and wear out the patience of his teacher, but he cannot be whipped into a saint Kindness, sympathy and reason may conquer; the whip will cower and may crush.

Before the teachers of New York City set an example by taking this backward step, they should exhaust the means suggested by the really great educators, who have discarded corporal punish-

J. J. Morse Coming.

It is with pleasure we announce the coming of this eminent English lecturer and his wife and daughter. They are on a tour around the world and in their travels are sowing the seed of Spiritualism. Mr. Morse has been upon the spiritual rostrum for more than thirty years, and his daughter having unfolded the phase of clairvoyance, is doing a work from the rostrum that brings her many words of praise. She also lectures and will work independently of her father on the trip through this country if her services are desired. We see no reasons why these people should not be kept busy during their stay, and will take engagements for the winter season in the East. They bear with them the best English credentials An especially interesting lecture by Mr. Morse will be found on the fifth page of this issue of The Progressive Thinker. Address them in care The Philosophical Journal, 1429 Market street, San Francisco, Cal. They should have many

"Invisible Helpers," By C. W. Lend-invitations awaiting them on their ar-

Executive Board of the N. S. A.: Dear Sirs:-- I herewith submit to you the work I have done during the last three months. Of the large and increasing correspondence, I only make mention. I have allowed no available opportunity to go by of extending the knowledge of Spiritualism and answering its opponents. I have sent out the following articles:

Reply to Evangelist Taylor, Elgin News, Elgin, III. Subjective Mind and Spiritualism, Sundower. Second reply to Evangelist Taylor,

Elgin News. Reply to Dr. Guth in Warrenton (Pa.) Prepared Tract-Spiritualism and the Bible. Article solicited by O. R. Richards, Explaining Spiritualism, published in the Eudera Journal, Kansas. Reply to Rev. Dr. George, Kansas City

Article for the Hamilton Herald, Ontario. Article in the Evening News, Buffalo,

A Conspiracy. Sent to the Banner of Light, Sunflower, Philosophical Journal, The Progressive Thinker and Light of Truth.

Article supplied Geo. A. Kiehl, Lancaster, Pa.
Article in the Daily Telegram, St. Johns, New Brunswick. Does Dr. Funk Lie? Boston Traveler. What Is Spiritualism? The Report-

Reply to Dr. Shannon, Toledo (O.) Criticism of the Sermon of Dr. Parkhurst, Boston Traveler. Conspiracy Against Spiritualism, The Progressive Thinker. Crookes' Retreat, St. Louis Globe-

Democrat. Copies of this article were supplied to all the spiritual papers. Reply to the editor of Christian, Light of Truth.

Article Explaining Spiritualism, in Sandusky Register, Sandusky, Ohio. How Should a Spirit Identify Itself? Daily Telegraph, St. Johns, N. B. Dr. Funk and Spiritualism, Syracuse Post-Standard.

The Resurrection According

Church Lights, Reply to Rev. Dr. Hamlin, The Progressive Thinker. Proofs of Immortality Furnished by Spiritualism, New York Sun. Explaining Spiritualism, Northwestern Republican.

Reply to Dr. Buckley's editorial Christian Advocate, sent to all the before-mentioned spiritual papers. Criticism of Sermon of Rev. Jones, Sunday Review, Decatur, Ill. Response to Alfred R. Wallace, The Progressive Thinker. Article sent to the Harbinger of Light, Melbourne, Australia. I have been greatly assisted by friends everywhere, by their watchfulness, and clippings they have sent; their suggestions and personal efforts to secure the publication of articles and replies. Their efforts are of vital importance to the work in which we are engaged. In fact its success depends tion. I desire to impress this point, and that they should feel no hesitation in offering suggestions and making requirements for editorial matter.

I earnestly request Spiritualists everywhere to act as interested assistants in a special press-clipping bureau. and thus furnish material for the successful prosecution of the work. I have found the press-clipping bureau of secondary importance to the band of correspondents who thus far have given generous assistance. I am respectfully yours,

HUDSON TUTTLE. Berlin Heights, Ohio.

Saving the Song Birds.

comes that henceforth song birds will escape death at the ruthless hands of The teachers of New York City say | the purveyors to a perverted esthetic no, and are seeking to have this punish- taste, perverted because involving crument, which has been abolished, re- elty, which was rapidly eliminating stored. They claim that the schools the beautiful and useful song birds from our country. Song birds are to be omitted from fall hats. This has been agreed upon by the Millinery Jobbers' Ages, and surely a step backward. Obe- Association. The Milliners' Protective Association, an eastern organization, succeeded in its plea to the western organization, which represents every large millinery house between Ohio and the Rocky Mountains. It was agreed that they were not to handle song birds, gulls, terns and sea birds. Because of this action it is expected that the western trade will no longer continue to order these birds and so dealers will not be compelled to keep them. It is said that comparatively few of the wings of these birds are used now anyway, the hat trimmings being almost all from the feathers of domestic fowl. The Audubon Society was particularly prominent in the making of this fight where it would do some good and had made a good deal of trouble for the Jobbers. The latter were diplomatic as between the game wardens and the Audubon the milliners for a long time have not been able to get the feathers of song birds. And now let all the people and all the birds unite in songs of joy and gladness. Books for Sale at N. S. A. Office.

The following valuable works are on sale at the N. S. A. office—a number of each, having been gratuitously contributed to the National Association to aid in its good work, with permission to sell them at reduced prices as quoted; each has peculiar merits of its own and all should be incevery home: Occult Physician, Medical, by Mrs. Matteson, $1; 'Lisbeth, Fiction, by C. E. S. Twing, 90 cents; God's Smiles, Maggie Olive Jordan, $1; Wedding Chimes, for wedding ceremonies, D. P. Hughes, 50 cents; Leaflets of Truth, Karl, 30 cents; Three Jubilee Lectures, with pictures, Peebles, 25 cents; Whither the Wind Bloweth, Venner, 20 cents; Violets, poems, Straub, 10 cents; Long-ley's Beautiful Songs, with music, two volumes in one cover, 15 cents; also a fine picture, cabinet size, of N. S. A. headquarters, 10 cents. Any of the above is a rare bargain, and will be sent postpaid for price.

MARY T. LONGLEY, Sec'y.

600 Pennsylvania avenue S. E., Washington, D. C.

ZURILDA WELLINGTON.

Or Life in Two Worlds. The above is the title of a message from the spirit side of life through the mediumship of Mrs. M. Pasquier Curran, of St. Louis, Mo. Emanating, as it does, from the spirit side of life, it will prove especially interesting. Everybody should read it.

"Why I Am a Vegetarian." By Howard Moore. An address before the Chicago Vegetarian Society. Price, 25

HUDSON TUTTLE'S WORK. Report of the Editorat-Large, From Appli 1 to June 1. Appli 1 to June 1. Appli 1 to June 1.

Hudson Tuttle's Response to Alfred Russel Wallace.

the writings I have received from spiritual intelligences, as fundamental concepts of spiritual science.

Putting aside all speculations as to the form or size of the universe, by which is meant the star-cluster to which our sun mother brooding her fledglings; nor more heroic courage belongs, or if there be other "universes" concealed in rethan bird or beast sacrificing their lives in defense of their mote abysses of space, we confine the discussion to the orlyoung. They reason, showing in countless ways ability to igin of man. Nor will we pause to question the power which is back of the phenomena of world-building or life; whether pigmy people recently discovered, to the gorilla and the dethere be a "Creator at the back of the universe," all intelli- scending anthropoid apes. gent and powerful; whether it be "all the forces which constitute matter," or "matter and its potentialities. All we know is of the result before us.

Standing by a river, we see the great stream flowing by we do not see the force of gravitation impelling it onward Standing by the stream of life, we see its infinite changing forms, we do not see or understand the energies which began the movement, or continue the impulsion.

We vainly look for the primal cause, and when the greatest thinkers have speculated thereon, they have departed from the firm ground of reason and given rein to fancy, and in that field the dreams of a boor are as valuable as those of a philosopher.

The theory of evolution makes the world of living beings a unit. The first living being was so simple in organization that it can be said to be more than "living matter," or protoplasm. How did it come into existence? Was it a miraculous creation of God, or of force?

Happily we are not obliged to master this position before advancing into the uncaptured country. We can leave it in abeyance.

What we can plainly see when we study the unfolding of living beings from this first form, is that the forces, whatever they may be, act along well defined lines, the impulsion of heredity, modified by the environment. More and more are naturalists constrained to see continuous advance, without break or interruption, and the "cataclysm" and begin. plain the origin and development of individualized spirit, i. e., ning of new epochs, once so popular when the history of the spirit entities, after the manner of science. It must exearth as given by science, was attempted to be harmonized with the six days of creation of Genesis, have been relegated this it fails completely. Nor does it follow, as Mr. Wallace to the rubbish heap of past errors. It is now taken for affirms: granted that the lowest primeval being, through the incomprehensible ages of geological time, by gradations scarcely discernible in a thousand years, step by step, in changing life of continuous progression. But as, during the process specific forms, has advanced in structure. The protoplasmic of evolution, there was nowhere a break, then, if man is a cell, or aggregation of cells, organized but without organs, acquired first a digestive sac or stomach, followed by organs of reproduction, of prehension, locomotion, and a nervous system to control the differentiated parts. In this differentiation of organs sensation was their first office of the nerves, more extensive than the sphere needed for human spirits, and then came the storing up of sensations blending in the growing complexity of thought.

The advance of the nervous system is notable for the great development of that portion given to the storing process, and in man the excessive increase of the cerebral brain places him in the highest ranks of living beings. There is no break ter the death of the physical body. The argument there prein this vastly extending chain of forms, and in his perfection, he is the fulfillment of the prophecy written in the protozoa. Every modification in the animal world appears as an attempt to reach the human eye. As the claws of the lion, the clumsy foot of the elephant, the wing of the bird, the it-beings, capable of existence after the dissolution of the flipper of the whale are modified forms of the wonderful fa-

The new science of spirit as I understand it, accepts this in the work quoted to disprove reincarnation and pre-exists doctrine of evolution, but it does not stop with man and thus leclare that this wonderful process, the travail of the ages has no meaning and serves no purpose. It continues the process in a direct line without interruption. No more perfect type can be wrought from physical matter than man. Evolution in this direction reaches its limitation. In the steady growth of the nervous system, in the addition of nervesubstance in cerebral masses, and thereby a differentiation and organization of spirit substance, as well as of physical matter, evolution is carried beyond this barrier into spirit life. It began with the accretion of a few nerve cells, at the There sat two glasses, filled to the brim, extremity of the nervous line which marks the spinal cord On a rich man's table, rim to rim; of beings as low as the amphioxus, and there is not a break until it reaches its highest development in man. Some years ago Mr. Wallace attempted to prove that although evolution was true of all animal forms, man was so psychically different, from all other beings that he must have been a special and distinct creation. He based his conclusion on this overshadowing development of brain which apparently came suddenly. It was not necessary to the savage of the stone age, whose brain was as large as that of a philosopher. The brain capacity of a wolf would have subserved his purpose. It was as though the arm of an elephant had been given to a mouse. He had no use for such a brain, and as evolution demands that no organ be developed unless useful to its possessor, and useless organs atrophy and disappear, such a brain was unaccountable, in fact the strongest evidence against the doctrine. This conclusion of the great naturalist would be correct if the man of the stone-age was the beginning of his race. Now, however, it is admitted by the highest authorities, that man inhabited the earth before the glacial period, and had even then advanced to the making of flint arrow-heads, was able successfully by his intelligence | I have made good ships go down at sea, to contend with the mammoth and the cave-bear, and had And the shricks of the lost were sweet to me; tamed the wolf, converting it into his watch-dog and com- Fame, strength, wealth, genius before me fall, panion. He has been given a place more remote in the ter- And my might and power are over all. tiary age, and this added to the duration of the glacial period, counts the ages since his advent, not by thousands of years, by hundreds of thousands, but by millions. Hence this argument has no relevance, for there is ample time for this development. Mr. Wallace thus presents his position: But I can tell of hearts that were sad

"To my mind, as I have before stated, there are three such epochs, requiring the influx of other forces than those needed to maintain the inorganic world alone: (1) at the origin of the organizing force manifested in vegetable life, which seems to me absolutely distinct from anything in inorganic I have leaped through the valley and dashed down the matter; (2) at the influx of the faculty of sensation as the rudiment of mind, again unthinkable as a product of either inorganic matter or vegetative organization; and (3) when the influx of the "living soul" of man occurred, at the epoch when his physical organism had advanced to that degree of perfection to be fitted to receive and to develop it."

If this be granted, then at three distinct periods the straight-forward movement of the forces of evolution along certain lines recognized as laws, was interrupted and an external power finding favorable opportunity, intervened and changed its course. In other words, as thought is usually expressed, there was a miraculous interposition—evolution is insufficient and the tinkering hand of an arbitrary creator ap-

Why limit this to three times? Why not all the time? If this outside power can come to direct at certain times, why not all the time? This is certain, there cannot be two schemes, or two distinct forces at work in nature. The unity of the Cosmos proves a unity of power behind the phenom-

Has ever a naturalist found the special species in which sensation began? It is observed that the lowest protoplasmic mass exhibits sensation to light and as we arise through ascending forms, this becomes more unmistakable, without a break to man.

There are few persons for whom I have more profound re- In almost the lowest beings there is a choice expressed, of spect than for Alfred R. Wallace, and only the urgency of the surroundings, of food, of place, foreshadowing intelligence, occasion called out the criticism on his conclusions as ex- increasing as we ascend, adding new expressions, and becompressed in "Man and the Universe." And now I would not ing more intense. Every emotion, and intellectual process, pursue this discussion, leaving the case as he has presented and many moral qualities are exhibited by animals dimig it for the judgment of the readers, had he not especially reperhaps, but prophetic of their increasing perfection in man. quested me to state my position, and by implication made There is no break here; no impassible gulf between man and me advocate ideas at utter variance with those expressed in the animal world. His intellect is their instinct, and the lower races of mankind have little more of morality than the animals with which they are surrounded. Never a human mother had stronger affection for her offspring than the birdunderstand cause and effect. It is a step only from the Will Mr. Wallace inform us where this "influx of the forces" began? What was the first man they created like?

Physically man is in every respect an animal, anatomically, with organic functions the same. Every bone and muscle reveals its origin in the animals below him. If created anew, the "influx of forces" must have began on the same lines and produceded in exactly the same direction; in other words performed the same task that was being worked out along the lines of growth. It would be as impossible to interrupt the processes of this advance as to change the force of gravitation.

There can be nothing more assured than that we must take evolution, continuous and uninterrupted, or direct creation. There can be no alternating activity of one and the other. Whatever the Force may be, a form of power we conceal our ignorance of by calling God, or in denser ignorance "the potentialities of matter," or "the unknowable," it must be absolute and continuous. This has the force of an axiom. What that force may be enters not into the present discus-

Mr. Wallace's understanding of the views of the universe, of man and spirit expressed in the books written by me under spirit guidance, is so erroneous and confused, that I scarcely recognize them. I restate to make the matter plain: The New Spiritualism must rest on evolution. It must extend physical science into spiritual things. If it fails to do

"As a Spiritualist I presume he believes that man is a spirit, and will, after the death of his body, live a spiritual spirit so must all animals be spirits, and every ape and tiger, every fish and frog, every grub and bug and mosquito and worm, must all alike survive death, and as spirit-bugs, spirit fish, etc., etc., persist in worlds or spheres of their own far because their numbers since the dawn of life have been myre iads of millions of times greater than his."

As the spirit authors have shown in their work on "Psychic Science," all living beings have spirits, but not until a certain development is attained is individuality retained afsented, requires too much space for this article. Briefly there is evolution of spirit as well as of the physical form, and the purpose of this interminable line of advance, is the production of man, and through him individualization of spire physical body. This statement is taken to disprove the very things Mr. Wallace holds they logically lead to! It is used/ ence.

I take this position because it answers the requirements of science, and of the new, or Modern Spiritualism, which I do not desire to see relapse into the old speculative Spiritual ism which has for ages occupied the quaking bog-land of the miraculous. HUDSON TUTTLE.

THE TWO GLASSES.

One was ruddy and red as blood, And one was as clear as the crystal flood. Said the glass of wine to his paler brother: "Let us tell tales of the past to each other.

"I can tell of a banquet, and revel, and mirth Where I was king, for I ruled in might; And the proudest and grandest souls on earth Fell under my touch, as though struck with blight, From the heads of kings I have torn the crown; From the heights of fame I have hauled men down

"I have blasted many an honored name; I have taken virtue and given shame; I have tempted the youth with a sip, a taste, That has made his future a barren waste. Far greater than any king am I, Or than any army under the sky, "I have made the arm of the driver fail,

And sent the train from the iron rail;

"Ho! ho! pale brother!" laughed the wine, "Can you boast of deeds as great as mine?" Said the glass of water: "I cannot boast

Of a king dethroned or a murdered host;

By my crystal drops made light and glad. "Of thirsts I have quenched, and brows I have laved; Of hands I have cooled and souls I have saved:

Slept in the sunshine and dripped from the fountain. I have burst my cloud fetters and dropped from the sky, And everywhere gladdened the landscape and eye.

"I have eased the hot forehead of fever and pain: I have made the parched meadows grow fertile with grains I can tell of the powerful wheel of the mill That ground out the flour and turned at my will: I can tell of manhood, debased by you,

"I cheer, I help, I strengthen and aid, I gladden the heart of man and maid; I setothe chained wine-captive free, And all are better for knowing me."

That I have uplifted and crowned anew.

These are the tales they told each other, The glass of wine and its paler brother, As they sat together filled to the brim, On the rich man's table, rim to rim.

Money is powerful for good if divinely used. Give it righty of air and it is sweet as the hawthorn; shut it up and i cankers and breeds worms -G. Macdonald.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox.

Modern Spiritualism a Present Day

Religious Recessity

A Lecture Delivered

Cures Discused Eyes, No Matter Whether Chronic or Acute, Without Cutting or Drugging.

Restores Euesighs.

There is no need for cutting, drugging or probing the eye for any form of dislew system of treating afflictions of the eye has been discovered whereby ous methods are eliminated. There is no risk or experimenting, as thousands of people have been cured of blindness, failing eye-sight, cataracts, granulated lids and other affictions of the eye through this grand discovery, when eminent oculists termed the cases incurable Here are the names and addresses of a few test ases and the names of the diseases cured: Miss Reed, 500 Prospect Ave., Kansas City, Mo., eye-ightrestored. Robert Baker, 80 Dearborn St., hington, Mass. Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., catarastos cured. W. W. Lauber, Aledo, Ill., astigma, tism cured. R. W. Randall, Chicago, Ill., blind. less prevented. W. W. Owen, Adrian, Mo., blindness prevented. General Alex. Hamilton, Parrytown, N. Y., neuralgia of eyes cured. Hundreds of other names can be sent on applition. "Actina" is purely a home treatment nd self-administered by the patient, and is sens, on trial, post paid. If you will send your name trio Ass'n, Dept.T, 929 Wainut St., Kansas City

Dhicago, Ill., blindness prevented. A. O. T. Pen-

Dr. Coffee Cures BLINDNESS at Home Dr. Coffee wants Free Book

Mo., you will receive absolutely free a valuable pook, Prof. Wilson's Treatise on the Eye and

PRICES REDUCED FOR 60

The above is the number of the pres ent issue of The Progressive Thinker, as printed at the top of the first page, right hand corner. If this number corresponds with the figures on your wrapper, then the time you have paid for has expired, and you are requested to renew your subscription. This number at the right hand corner of the first page is advanced each week, showing the number of Progressive Thinkers issued up to date. Keep watch of the number on the tag of your wrapper.

News.

You can do it by reading each week The Progressive Thinker. The Philo-ophy and the Spiritualistic and Occult phenomena it contains each week, is the marvel of the age. No one can afford to be without the paper. Its price is within the reach of all.

The New and the Old.

An Interesting Story of Two Worlds.

Elevating, Fascinating, Instructive Throughout.

This work by Carrie H. S. Twing is exceptionally interesting. She well says: "These characters which have brought out the highest and lowest in different religious beliefs, have moved me, not I them." The whole book is the teresting, fascinating, and instructive. Price $1.00.

A. SCHOPENHAUER ESSAYS, H. OCHUPLINTAULK COAYO, Translated by T. B. Saunders. Cloth. 75 cents. "Schopenhauer is one of the few philosophers who can be generally understood without a commentary. All his theories claim to be drawn direct from facts, to be suggested by observation, and to interpret the world as it is; and whatever view he takes, he is constant in his appeal to the experience of common life. This characteristic endows his style with a freshness and vigor which would be difficult to match in the philosophic writing of any country, and impossible in that of Germany."—Translator.

The Blue Laws of Connecticut. Taken from the Code of 1650, and the public records of the colony of Connecticut previous to 1655, as printed in a compilation of the earliest laws and orders of the general court of Connecticut; also an account of the persecution of witches and Quakers in New England. Some extracts from the Rine Laws of Virginia. Price 25 cents

THE MISSING LINK IN MODERN SPIRITUALISM.

By A. Leah Underhill, of the Fox Family. By A. Leab Underhill, of the Fox Family.

Interesting and valuable as a history of the beginning of Modern Spiritualism, by one of the Fox Sisters. 478 Pages, 16 illustrations, including portraits of the Fox Family. History of the Hydesville rappings, as related by one-witnesses; remarkable and well-attested manifestations; the 'expoures,' etc. Bandsomely bound in cloth, But few copies remaining. Publishers' price, $1.50. We will send the book post-paid for $1.40.

ORIGIN OF SPECIES.

By means of natural selection, or the preservation of a favored race in the struggle for life. By Charlas Darwin. Gift top, cloth bound. This book is the grandest achievement of modern selentific thoughs and research. It has passed through many editions in English, has been translated into almost all the languages of Europe, and has been the subject of more reviews, pamphiest and soparate books than any other volume of the age. Most of the great scientists of the age fully support his position. The thought of this look has become a part of the common inheritance of the race. For sale at this office. Price 73 cts.

THE OTHER WORLD AND THIS! A compendium of Spiritual Laws. No. 1. New White Cross Literature. By Augusta W. Fietcher. M. D. In this volume the author, in the thirty-nine chapters, discusses a wide variety of subjects pertaining to Spiritualism, from a spiritualistic standpoint. She evinces the powers of a trained thinker, both in matter of thought and fine literary style, and capability of thought expression. The subjects are well handled with conciseness and yet with clearness. It will prove a rich addition to any Spiritualist's library, and a most excellent book for any one seeking information concerning Spiritualism and its teachings. Price $1.64

THE SOUL OF THINGS:

Or Psychometric Researches and Discoveries. By Wm. and Elizabeth M.F. Denton. A marvelous work. Though concise as a text book it is as fascinating as a work of faction. The reader will be amazed to see the curious facts here combined in support of this power of the human mind, which will resolve a thousand doubts and dimentities, make geology plain as day; and throw light on all subjects now obscured by time. Price, $1.50. In three volumes, cloth bound, $1.50 each. Postage, 100 per copy.

Being His Concluding Lecture in New Zealand, delivered in by the new discoveries; but those who say this are careful to lary of Modern Spiritualism. In the main annexed without That no soul is ever "lost," or beyond the uplifting power of

In sailing across the waste of waters the mariner is aided in determining the position of his vessel by the color of the seas, the beds of drifting sea weed, and the set of the currents and tides. To his experienced eye such things are as landmarks to the traveler on shore. The student of history finds, also, that the progress of man across the seas of thought has been accompanied by the drift, and color, and currents, associated with the voyage of the ship of humanity as it sails the seas of progress.

While, speaking generally, the progress of the world is towards a point not yet attained, that progress is not, seemingly, in a straight line. Instead, it presents curves, deflections and eddies, though the movement is always forward curve pauses and becomes a plane. A period of rest ensues, progress appears abated, and at times even recession is, seemingly, the order of the time. Yet such declension never falls to the zero point of the preceding curve. Evolution again asserts its power, progress resumes her sway, and when man looks backward he finds that each spiral has risen higher than all that were before.

But, singular to say, the various epochs of human progress present strange similarities, the drift upon the surface, the color of the waters, their tides, currents and eddies, present many recognizable features. Mariner and student can, respectively, decide the position of the ship, or of humanity, lations unproved, and unprovable. The preachers know this,

Let us, then, examine the seas of thought as they flow, stand to-day, on their voyages to the new continents of spiritual truth towards which they are making their way, their captains often steering wildly for the harbor they hope to reach.

The world of christendom has, during the past hundred years, been stirred to its centre by three intrusive forces, which have produced most notable results. The higher thoughts, the deeper feelings, the broader sentiments now animating the Christian world show the effects produced by the forces in question, and the results of their operations are seen in three important directions, which may be briefly stated as follows:

The remodeling of dogma, and a decreasing insistance upon its acceptance as a means of grace;

A growing silence regarding authoritative statements concerning the nature of the soul and the character of the future life; and

The notable effort to effect a reunion of christendom.

Before dealing with these points let the consideration be What has created the conditions embodied in the statements just referred to? The results of our enquiries may prove interesting in several ways, but they may not elicit the approval of those most concerned! No careful observer of the trend of modern religious thought can deny the tendencies to which reference has been made. Even Rome, the most conservative of all churches, shows signs of unrest and is to-day. Her policy will be not to deny the advance of knowledge, but to bend it to her own ends, that her power

Roughly stated the three causes are Atheism, Materialism, and Modern Spiritualism.

By Atheism is meant that movement of thought which received, in modern times, its earliest impulses from the not a thing apart, what warrant is there of man's future life? scattering hosts, to save defeat and prevent a rout. Even, it temples for truth, not coffins for dead doctrines. Shrines, "atheist" is counted as almost harmless, has now become Bradlaugh in Great Britain, while representing different ties of his future career. forms of the same spirit, rendered, nevertheless, valuable proof; the church affirmed it, therefore, he demanded the for all men. church to prove the claim! Instead, the church denounced the materialist but, denunciations are not answers. Theo is the weakness of the churches to-day. It is more, for it is logically, the explanation of the origin of man was, and is, no the real cause of their silence upon the question of a future offset to the claims of science, yet, strange to say, the differ-life. Their slience confesses their weakness, and their reence between science and theology, on this point, is not so fusal to accept the light condemns their position. great after all. Theology says, God made man, "out of the dust of the ground"; science asserts that his origin is trace-modeling her teachings on this very question! To-day able to the primal protoplasmic coze; dust in one case, mud preachers say a man has "passed away," not that he has in the other! Biological evolution has been the path along died. They do not say he will rise at some far off resurrecwhich the race has ascended. Physical law has supplanted tion day, but that "he has gone to his place" in the here arbitrary miracles in the order of natural phenomena. Ge after. They no longer condemn the wicked to endless punology has pulled the bars from under the infernal fires, and ishment, but delicately hint that God will do what seemeth to astronomy has rendered difficult the belief in the restricted Him best. No longer are the good confined to a monotonous heaven of the creeds. Rationalism and science have ren- life in the fabled heaven, but it is said God will provide radered impossible a modern revival of the un-Holy Inquisition, and to-day, because of their triumphs, men are free to speak hell are interpreted as the pangs of conscience, states of sufthe thoughts, which, if uttered five hundred years ago, would fering or joy supplant a literal hell and an objective heaven. have brought down upon their heads the tortures of the Dogmas are discounted in the light of human progress and Materialism and athelsm may have dethroned some idols, gregations the absurd literalisms of the past. rooted up some venerable superstitions, and scattered some pleasing illusions, but, in return, it has left some things within? That is doubtful; rather, it has been forced from theologically asserted. That he is the "repository of infinite clearer; some facts have been more firmly fixed, and if without. The compelling power has been Modern Spiritual-"faith" has suffered in consequence, knowledge has in ism, its facts, philosophy, and teachings. These have comorensed, and, therefore, the world has gained upon the whole. pelled the change of base in descriptions of the future now Christian apologists now say there is no real contradiction discernible in the teachings of the church. The pleasing become a force to be reckoned with. It has invaded the pews a religious need to day. people of influence in the congregations accepted spirit comes ever, the pulpit executed a flank movement, saying, "We propriating the teachings and philosophy which make the and upward. Periods of repose succeed those of activity. all knew this before Spiritualism came!" Much of the distinctive character of your movement, and presently will doing so! Already it is doing this, but covertly and indipreaching of to-day sounds to the uncritical like Spiritualism, turn round and calmly inform their congregations there is no rectly. Hence the oft-heard remark: Spiritualism is in the parent recession. So marked are these alternations that, as a but, analyze it, and you will find that it lacks the depth and comparison, human progress could be best represented as a freedom of the teachings of the spirit world. It is the preachspiral, rather than by a line. The upward sweep of the ing of expediency uninspired by conviction. The clanking march of dry bones, not the firm tread of living men.

Far be it from the present purpose to say one word against religion, "pure and undefiled," for such is the comfort of down all barriers to freedom, to break all shackles and fetmillions while in this world of trial and sorrows. Loving ters from the human mind, and Spiritualists must stand firm reverence, based on knowledge, and wisdom, leads to a truly religious life for men. Creeds and dogmas, forms and rituals are but the semblances, the outer husks, of such religion. They are as crutches to the weak, but of themselves they im-Their most positive affirmations are but the echoes of specuby the careful watching of the indications presented by the they also know that the pews are advancing in culture and does it stand in awe at priestly anathemas. Proudly raise of contemplation while in the flesh. A real world, a rational cantly silent upon the old dogmas, when they are not striv- one class which to-day proclaims that the future life is sci- have taught Spiritualists, and as religion, as usually underthat we may discover where the vessels of religious belief ing to recast them in a form more acceptable to the enlight entifically proven, without regard to any creed or faith, ened worshipers of to-day. How far that effort at recasting has gone may now be noted.

supplanting the Hebraic Deity, and the Humanity of Jesus, this recasting of dogma is the outcome of fear, or real and not slowly either, dying out. Bigotry may rave, it cannot stay the rising tide.

Men are no longer content with faith as the basis of im-Taking the varying estimates of the duration of human life union of Christendom may be accomplished, but not until temple, as such were once called). All such disclose the lasand years, in either case the atoms that once composed the busying herself to see how she may meet the new order myriads of human bodies in the past have all been irrevoc- kind in one Universal Brotherhood with equal Rights and clent experiences of former days, and to which to-day, the ably dispersed, commingled and re-commingled with innum- Opportunities for All, with Duty binding on each, and loving erable other organizations vegetable, and animal, and hu- service towards your fellows. man. To collect them, and recompound them into human over mankind shall not be diminished. This, really the aim forms would not, if effected, make a single soul. It would its power over the masses and the classes is waning? That the past, as true in fact and nature, is the need of the but reconstruct discarded tenements; where, then, in the science has made men revise their theories, and that ration-churches to-day, but, without the aid of Modern Spiritualism Such policy is predoomed to ultimate defeat; knowledge will meanwhile, for the generations which have passed since alism has shown that theological dogmas are untenable. the churches are powerless to do this. dethrone superstition, and liberty will crown the victors in these forms dissolved, have their former tenants been? While Modern Spiritualism has undermined the theories of Surely not sleeping in the ground, or elsewhere? If enjoy- post-mortem life until the ominous cracking of creedal walls the church to maintain her dogmas or creeds, her forms or ing a conscious life, why drag them back to the limitations of has sounded an alarm which renders needful a united effort ceremonies. Such are but the husks whose kernel is the real matter? What is a "soul"? Is it a thing apart from the if the church is to remain a factor in the religious progress religion of humanity. Let all dogmas die, the world needs

French Encyclopaedists and Rationalists, of the period of the And as to man, what is he? If you take the Bible you will may be, to maintain a decaying power, and in some measure not tombs is the need to-day. Knowledge, not faith, is the patriot and reasoner, Thomas Paine. Few men have been ing spiritual in his origin, that the Bible and science substantauthority over the consciences of men? It is the cry of future life. Lacking this the churches pine, droop, and will so slandered and vilified. The bigotry of a by-gone age extially agree as to his material origination, for the words are, weakness, not the watchword of real progress. A theolog. die of inanition. Fictitious life may at times appear, due to hausted the vocabulary of abuse and misrepresentation upon "And the Lord God formed man of the dust of the ground, leally united Christendom would be a menace to mental lib- sensationalism and so-called revivals. These are but palliahis head, and while political reformers admitted their debt and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; whereby he erty and religious, (spiritual) freedom. In one sense it is tives, not healthful remedies. The light of the spirit world, to him for his "Rights of Man," the theologian anathema became a living soul." The legend is a combination of in- happily impossible, in the nature of the case. Whenever the inspirations of the higher life, the presence of angels as "Tom" Paine, and circulated monstrous fables concerning teaches that of the universal elements man is compounded, his dying hours. To-day the world listens calmly to stronger and that the inbreathing of the divine life differentiates man criticisms concerning God and the Bible, and the old-time from all other creations and endues him with that self-conscious being which is the one foundation for assuming his of mankind, rather than the reunion of differing and oppos-"Thomas" Paine, and is honored with the canonization of re- persistence after the purpose of his physical career has been ing creeds, for "the federation of the world," for the throwspectability! Biblical criticism is now an accepted form of served. The evolution of a higher personality, the excarnatscholarship, while it is not incorrect to say that the Higher ing of that personality at death, and the perpetuation thereby Criticism has been compelled as the result of German and of the conscious individuality, reveal the purposes of man's British rationalism. Ingersoll in the United States, and physical existence, the meaning of death, and the possibili-

Why, then, this silence on the future life in the churches services towards the overturning of dogmatic theology and to-day? Because the preacher has not the illuminating light its idols. The results from the earlier and cruder forms of of the knowledge which Spiritualism affords. How does the criticism described as atheism, has been that, dogma is Spiritualism obtain this knowledge? How is it able to anwaning fast to-day as a power in the Christian world. Let swer affirmatively the great question of questions? The anus say, without the least irreverence being intended, thank swer comes from the man to whom there is no question! To God! for what the martyrs for progress have accomplished the man who has "died," and who still lives. To him there for mental freedom. The dogmas of the church are dying; is no question, it has been answered and finally disposed of, he lives, and he knows it! Can this statement be vindi-Materialism represented a different school. It stood for cated? If so, how? By the return of this man to whom science as represented in fact, and by knowledge. It has ex- there is no question. By him proving he is the man whom pressed in the terms of Astronomy, Chemistry, Biology, Ge- you knew before he "died," a relative, a friend, one whom ology, Physics, Anatomy and Physiology. It essayed to you knew well while he was in the fiesh. The records of plumb the depths, scale the heights, and explore the planes of spirit communion contain innumerable testimonies to this the universe, and the world. Force was its God, matter its effect. If this so-called "dead" man thus returns it is be-Bible, and the Laws of Nature the only revelations it discov- cause he is alive! The constitution of all men is alike, as to ered. Its proclamation was that space afforded no condition basic facts and principles, therefore, if one man survives for heaven. The geologist found no room beneath the "death," that is a possibility for all men. If one "dead" man earth's crust for hell. The anatomist found no soul after can and does return to earth, that is, also, a possibility for he had dissected the dead body. The chemist resolved the all others, who desire so to do. The "dead" man is the audead form into its primal elements, saying, that was its all. thority for the world, or state, in which he exists. He is The primal coze was the origin of man, variation of spethere, he knows, he can tell his circumstances. The fact of cies built him up, and dissolution and decomposition were his return settles the fact that he has survived the change, his end. The materialist said he denied a soul, for lack of and it logically predicates the same issues of life and death

The refusal to accept the proven facts of spirit communion

On the other hand it must be admitted the church is re tional pursuits and happiness for his saints. The pains of intelligent ministers do not dare to teach their cultured con-

But why, or how, has this change come about? From between science and revelation! that old faith is supported phrases referred to have been "borrowed" from the vocabu-

Modern Spiritualism is the third factor working in Christ nal property of religious nomenclature! By this course of the All Wise. The "Larger Hope" was taught by spirits long endom to-day. At first denounced and despised it has now procedure the church confesses that Modern Spiritualism is before it was borrowed from them, and echoed in the pulpit.

those to which they have so long been accustomed. The taken from you, your teachings used without proper acknowlpulpit watched with scorn the first intrusions of Spiritualism, edgment? Are you willing to stand by and see your temple | A scheme of a future life which is nebulous, uncertain, and then fear succeeded, accompanied at first, by warnings, then undermined and taken from you stone by stone? Do you contradictory of Nature's laws, and man's common sense, entreaties to avoid tiffs new heresy, and, finally, open anath- wish to sacrifice the proud position the devotion and selfematizing of this evil thing, to accept which was to imperil sacrifice of the spirits and their human co-workers have seman's eternal welfare! Yet, as the movement spread, and cured for you, to allow all to slip through your fingers without a struggle, and to part with what you have gained withmunion as a fact, and warned the ministers of the error of out a pang or a regret? Surely not! Slowly the churches such puerilities. If the church is to command attention for denouncing what their congregations knew to be true, then, are working to these ends. Slowly, but surely, they are apneed for Spiritualism, for the church has always held and taught identical views!!

Spiritualism has no affinity with churchcraft, creedcraft, or priestcraft. These have ever been the enemies of human freedom and progress. The spirits came to help you throw for the rights they have won, or else this "new wine" will be lives is real. That his occupations are reasonable, and inteltaken from them to be put into the "old bottles" of a fast ligently conducted. That he will, and does, increase in spirdecaying theology. Indulge in no foolish jubilations because Spiritualism is "making way in the churches," for in grace, beauty of mind and soul, and that all of art, science, part no strength. While, too often, they cramp the mind, once admitted thereto priestcraft will seize upon it and bind and truth is still before him to explore and achieve. That it, or else strive to compel it to serve the church, rather than confer benefits upon all mankind irrespective of creed or ary, become unfolded and disclose abilities and capacities knowledge, hence it is, that they are increasingly and signifi- your banners, close up your ranks, march forward as the life, a progressive career for the departed, is what the spirits proven as the heritage of all mankind.

There is a pleasing sound associated with the cry for the A more enlightened idea of God is now taught. He is the reunion of Christendom. When that reunion is accom-All Father, the Universal Good, and no longer the merciless, plished it will be as noteworthy a miracle as any to which vengeful delty of the past. Some even go so far as to say He theologians pin their faith. Is this demand to-day a legitiis still revealing Himself! The "Universal Mind" is rapidly mate aspiration after universal brotherhood,—at least so far as Christians are concerned—or, is it the outcome of a clos- failed to correctly understand the nature of such phenomas "the Great Exemplar," is the key-note of his character ing up against the advance of liberalizing sentiments and which is sounded most frequently to-day. Whether or not progressive scientific discoveries, which threaten priestly assumptions? Will the world behold the union of Christendom growth towards a saner religion, may be left an open question; in the form of one great Christian church, in which will be inthat it is making for good, and leading towards wider toler- cluded Romanists, Protestants, Dissenters, and the great as a miracle, commands no respect to-day with the intelli-Greek church? Are we to expect as a result of this reunion gent rationalist. A religion basing its strongest claims for viously said, an indication that dogma, as dogma, is surely, one great religious democracy, uniting in one body the Christians of Europe, Asia, Africa, America and Australia? Truly ultimate extinction. The trances, visions, dreamings, healbeautiful dream, but is it anything more than a dream? Where is the crucible into which the creeds of two thousand mortality, they demand proof. The question of a future years can be cast as in a "melting pot," to be resolved into state is the rock upon which dogma has split. The cultured their primal elements? Where, indeed! Will the Roman ministry of to-day realizes this point, and so says as little as pontiff forego his infallibility; will the archbishops of the ena, called "miracles," are reproduced and duplicated. Spirpossible definitely concerning the hereafter. The literal res- English communion abate their powers, the primate abdicate itualism has its seers (clairvoyants); its prophets (inspired urrection is out of court, the chemist has shown that dissolu- his supremacy? When all creeds are merged in one, when tion and decay is the inevitable end of all living structures. all believers will acknowledge one authority, then, the re- writing, drawing, fire and other mediums, or (servants of the body? If so, why return it "to its prison house" of clay? If of mankind. This cry for reunion is the bugle call to rally them not to help it to truth and freedom. Make churches such a unity is within reach it will come about not through among men, the vitalizing inspirations of the wise and good the union of all creeds, but from the peoples of the world in the world beyond, are needed in human life, now as much recognizing the rights of all, black, white, brown or yellow. No church is big enough to include all men. For the union ing down of all barriers of race or caste, if Christendom is day necessity to religion?

Primarily, because it offers the only present day demonstration of man's continued existence after death.

Secondly, because it advances the only scientific philosophy of man's origin, nature and destiny in that other life.

When you stand beside the mortal remains of your loved those whom you have loved lies there cold, voiceless and safety, crowned with success. deaf, when the tears of sorrow course down your cheeks, and with heartrending tones you ask, "If a man die shall he live enr Spiritualism are not the enemies of religion it has been again?" where is the answer to your questionings? Not in supposed. That in truth they have each, in its own way, the burial services of either church, not in the conventional been compelling forces making for the modification of dogconsolations of the minister, however well intentioned. mas, the reform of orthodox teaching. For the education of Knowledge is your need, not faith. Presently the loved form the pulpit and the broadening of the pews. Hall then the will be dust. The "hope of immortality" will not, nor does it, coming of the day when a Scientific Religion, and a Religious sustain you, and in silent despair you submit to the inev- Science shall be the outgrowths from the labors of the spiritable, lock your sorrow in your breast, and wait, with what its, and the result of the influence of the philosophy of Modpatience you may, for your own time to come for passing ern Spiritualism upon the aspirations and thoughts of the hence, in the hope that the riddle of death will be answered world at large. by the Master of Life. (To this pass has man come, not because of Atheism, Materialistic Science, or Rationalism, but because the churches can give no answer, for they have no answer to give! How different the case of the Spiritualist, He knows, for the departed have communicated with him, he As a fond mother, when the day is o'er, knows this to be indubitably true. He has proved it in a hun- Leads by the hand her little child to bed, dred ways. It is beyond question or doubt to him. If, as it is, immortality is the one basis of all religious teaching or training, then the churches need Modern Spiritualism as the Still gazing at them through the open door, one and only means for vivifying their life, and affording reasoning and cultured men and women a knowledge and a rational understanding of what the next life actually is. Which, though more splendid, may not please him more; derived from ancient creeds, which to-day are but antiquated suppositions formulated in a by-gone age of superstition. Leads us to rest so gently that we go Proof on these points is the necessity of religion to-day, that | Scarce knowing if we wish to go or stay,

The Spiritual philosophy is that man is God made manifest. How far the unknown transcends the what we know. in the flesh, and like his Divine source eternal in duration. possibilities," and never was totally depraved in nature. That his "ascent" commences on this plane and is continued on all other future planes. That this life is but a rudimentary stage of existence, the faint prophecy of powers and glories yet to be unfolded. That all men go to their place here my conversation.—Swift, acknowledgment, and used as if the unquestioned and origi- after, but that ultimate progression is the destiny of all. and taught their occupants that there are other ways of A word of warning to Spiritualists is needed at this point. the universal gospel of truth and righteousness, then the thinking and believing about God, man and the future, than Do you desire your territories to be expropriated, your facts philosophy of Modern Spiritualism is a necessity to religion > will fail to impress the intelligent and thoughtful with either its correctness or reality. The mythical hell, and fabulous heaven, of the creeds is virtually discarded from all rational churches! True, but not openly or avowedly! Let this point be pondered over by every intelligent Spiritualist who loves his cause.

Now what are the facts of post-mortem life which Modern Spiritualism can offer the religious teachers of to-day? That man continues after life on earth as a self-conscious, rational and independent personality. That the world in which he itual development and mental unfoldment. That he grows his powers, which while he was on earth were but rudimentstood, does not essay such teachings regarding the future, and so loses a golden opportunity to correctly educate its votaries on these matters, they are all needed by the churches to-day, which again shows that, Modern Spiritualism is a necessity to the religious life of to-day.

It is a common saying that "the Age of Miracles has passed"; what does this mean? Is it because the church has ena? That it has no answer to scientific criticisms upon such incidents? If this is the case, then, no wonder the churches grow silent regarding the future life, for they have made it out to be the greatest miracle of all! Immortality, acceptance upon miracles it cannot explain is doomed to ings, and other psychical and physical phenomena, of the Bible, are not miraculous, they are in accordance with natural law, can only, could only, occur because of natural law. tent powers of nature, of not yet fully unfolded powers in living witnesses are literally legion in their numbers. To rescue the records of the past from the doubts of the present, as ever.

The day is approaching when religion will arise from her bonds, free and helpful to the world. When she will teach the Eternal Goodness of God, the innate divinity of man, the reality of the life hereafter, of open communion between the brave enough to labor for such results, so be it. Otherwise earth and the heavens. Teaching these things not as creeds, the cry for reunion is but a specious plea masking an effort or the possessions of one church only, but as universal to still perpetuate the power and influence of creeds, doc truths, which are the heritage of all mankind. To-day the churches are weak in spiritual influence upon the cultured of Why, let it now be asked, is Modern Spiritualism a present the world; to-day she is casting about to find how best she may strengthen her position. She is slowly learning the lessons of bitter experience, learning that she must recast her dogmas, deal cautiously with the problems of man as a spirit and his future, and unite her too divided forces, if she is to retain her territories, maintain her position. Spiritualism is Thirdly, because it is the only extant rational exposition the one thing she needs to assist her in setting her house in of the real facts of man's post-mortem career and circum- order, but when that result is accomplished she will cease to be a creedal institution, for her members will have become Lastly, because its facts afford a rational interpretation of Spiritualists! But the facts, philosophy, and teachings of the "miracles," (i. e., spirit phenomena), upon which Chris. Spiritualism are the need of religion to-day, for, from the want of them religious teaching suffers. With no chart to set his course by, or compass to guide him, small wonder if ones and view the placid face of your dead; when the form of the captain fails to reach his port, and finish his voyage in

The world will yet see that Athelsm Materialism and Mod-

OUR MOTHER-NATURE.

Half-willing, half-reluctant to be led, And leaves his broken playthings on the floor, Nor wholly reassured and comforted So Nature deals with us, and takes away Our playthings one by one, and by the hand Being too full of sleep to understand -Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

That man is but the lower part of the world that is not brought up to business and affairs.—Feltham.

As universal practice as lying is, and as easy a one as it seems, I do not remember to have heard three good lies in all

THE SPIRITUALISTIC FIELD-ITS WORKERS. DOINGS, ETC., THE WORLD OVER.

CONTRIBUTORS.—Each contributor is clone responsible for any assertions or statements he may make. The editor allows this freedom of expression, be-lieving that the cause of truth can be best subserved thereby. Many of the sentiments uttered in an article may be diametrically opposed to his belief, yet that is no reason why they should be suppressed; yet we wish it distinctly understood that our space is inade-quate to publish everything that comes to hand, however much we might desire to do so. That must account for the non-appearance of YOUR article. WRITE PLAINLY .- We would like to impress upon the minds of our correspondents that The Progressive Thinker is set up on a Linotype machine that must make speed equal to about four compositors. That means rapid work, and it is essential that all copy, to insure insertion in the paper, all other re-quirements being favorable, should be written plainly with ink on white paper, or with a typewriter, and only on cze side of the naper.

ITEMS.-Bear in mind that items for the General Survey will in all cases be adjusted to the space we have to occu-py, and in order to do that they will generally have to be abridged more or less: otherwise many items would be crowded out. Sometimes a thirty-line Item is cut down to ten lines, and ten lines to two lines, as occasion may re-

Take due notice, that all items for this page must be accompanied by the full name and address of the write. It will not do to say that Secretary or Correspondent writes so and so, without giving the full name and address of the writer. The items of those who do not comply with this request will be cast into the waste basket.

Keep copies of your poems sent to this office, for they will not be returned if we have not space to use them.

Prof. W. M. Lockwood was in Chicago last week. His lectures demonstrating the truths of Spiritualism from a scientific basis, are always enthysiastically received wherever delivered. The Wheeling (W. Va.) Telegraph gave him a splendid notice during his engagement there, which we published last week. After remaining here until Saturday, he then took his departure for Allegheny, Pa.

G. W. Kates and wife will labor in Minnesota the most of May. They desire calls in North Dakota and Montana for June and part of July. Address them, 1728 Clinton avenue, Minneapolis,

"Be on your guard, Judge Smith, or the evil spirits will get you," pleaded J. R. Burtt, the attorney representing Mrs. Cornelia Wardell in her suit for separate maintenance against her husband, Charles M. Wardell. "Witnesses, members of the Masonic fraternity and you are now being given the absent treatment by Mrs. Rollins and she would influence you all to her way of seeing things," continued the attorney. "This things," continued the attorney. is no justice shop," answered the judge. "It is foolishness for you to introduce such stuff into a court of record and I'll not listen to it." Judge Smith may have an opportunity of digging deep into Mrs. Rollins' peculiar theory of what she claims to be Christian science before the suit is settled. There is talk of devoting a day to tests and experiences and Mrs. Rollins may have an opportunity of showing just what she can do.—Chicago Chronicle.

Mrs. A. J. Dibbens writes: "I will be 'Seers of the Ages.' Then I shall have the full library of the ten books, which are worth their weight in gold to any one who is searching for spiritual Webster City, Iowa.-Dr. Ida Louise Lyons, a psychic and magnetic healer, was given a preliminary hearing in this city to-day upon the charge of practicing without a license from the state board of health. The present law does not recognize this class of doctors. The case is a test one and will be car ried through the Supreme Court.

Wm. C. Hicks, a prominent attorney at-law of Benton Harbor, Mich., will an swer calls to lecture for societies and camp-meetings. About July 1, Mr. Hicks will present to the world a fasci nating book, dealing with ancient characters, and entitled "Joachim's Daugh-The work is said to be an ideal love story.

Mrs. Ella Johnson Bloom, secretary of the Illinois State Spiritualists Asso ciation, has moved from 971 Homan av enue, to 892 Turner avenue, this city.

G. W. Kates reports that Mrs. Kates and himself held two well-attended meetings in Minneapolis, Minn., Sunday, May 24. The afternoon meeting was for the Band of Peace Society: and in the evening for the Progressive Society. Each of these societies are act ively at work with a corps of earnest officials. Mrs. Lowell and Mrs. Talcoti respectively, are the speakers. Mr. and Mrs. Kates will hold meetings in Wheaton, Minn., June 3 to 9; Billings, Montana June 13 to 16: Red Lodge, 17 to 19; Butte, 21; Anaconda, 22 to 25. Address them accordingly.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Buchanan, the noted independent slate and letter writers have changed their location to 579 Sev enth avenue North, Minneapolis, Minn They will not be at any of the camps

Wm. Condray writes from Manhattan Kans.: "Dr. Julian P. Johnson, lecturer for the Kansas State Association of Spiritualists, closed a series of six lectures here last Sunday evening, at the German church, after which a society was organized of twenty-two charter members. Under the Kansas State Association the officers chosen are. President, Dr. James L. Dow; secretary, Mrs. Flora M. Allen; treasurer, Wm Condray. Dr. Johnson is an able and logical speaker. His permanent address is Topeka, Kansas. We expect to have Mrs. Etta S. Bledsoe and Mrs. Wagner with us soon."

O. V. LaBoyteaux writes from Readirg, Mich.: "Mr. Sprague was here in February and organized a small society -14 members-and we have received seven more since. Think a good lecturer here a couple of nights would wake things up generally. We sup-posed we had Brother L. C. Howe engaged for the latter part of May or the first of June, but have been unable to hear from him. Mrs. N. M. Russell, of Grand Ledge, was to have given us two evenings with him as test medium. Harmony prevails with us, and we are developing two mediums-Mrs. Nellie Gowthorp, of Camden, and Mrs. Alice Adair, of Algansee—and one or two other good prospects. Our membership is scattered so that we only meet every two weeks, but we have a general read ing and meeting room which is open to 'he members at all times."

UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE THIS OFFICE WILL BE CLOSED ON SAT-URDAY AFTERNOONS.

Take due notice that items for this page in order to insure insertion must contain the full name and address of the writer. Otherwise they may be cast into the waste basket.

Work of Mrs. Cora L. V. Richmond for the Summer:-The Church of the Soul will close its services for the season with the service of May 31, Mrs. Richmond's guides giving the closing sermon. The friends in Baraboo, Wis., have invited Mr. and Mrs. Richmond to that lovely place for the month of June, to bear forward the work so auspiciously commenced there by Dr. and Mrs. De Wolf, before the Doctor passed away, and since borne forward in the minis trations given by Mrs. Richmond's guides on three funeral occasions and two other meetings. There will be Sunday services, and during the weeks classes in the different branches of psychosophy. Returning about July 1 to Rogers Park, Mr. and Mrs. Richmond will soon thereafter leave for the middle and eastern states. A full program of intended work will be given before their departure for the East.

Mrs. Maud Lord Drake, so well and favorably known in Chicago, is now located at 521 Golden Gate avenue, San Francisco, Cal.

Dr. Geo. W. Carey writes of Emerson as follows: "He came and touched a string on humanity's harp so long unused that ere its notes awakened sleeping souls he had departed on his way Even now many there be who must tip toe and hold back the breath that they may catch even faint echoes of the strains from that smitten chord that shall nevermore cease to vibrate with the music of the spheres."

The Vermont State Spiritualist Association will hold its next quarterly convention in Opera House, Hardwick, Vt., June 19, 20 and 21, 1903. The Vermont state speakers, Mrs. Abbie Crossett, Mrs. Emma Paul, Alonzo Hubbard, Lucius Colburn and Sarah A. Willey, are all invited. In addition to the Vermont Speakers the management have secured Mrs. Effie I. Webster, of Lynn, Mass., a good test medium and speaker, and Rev. Fred A. Wiggin, pastor of Spiritualist Temple Society, Boston, Mass., a fine test medium and one of the ablest speakers on our platform. During the convention test seances will be held by Mr. Wiggin and Mrs. Webster, consist-ing of giving full names and minute descriptions of our friends passed to spirit life, positively proving to all, even the most doubtful, the great truth of immortality. To these seances a small admission fee will be charged to help defray expenses. All other sessions free, The first session, Friday at 2 p. m., consisting of address of welcome by the president of the Hardwick society, response by the president of the association, followed by conference, also session Friday evening. Saturday and Sunday three sessions each day, consisting of an address and conference or seance. Mrs. Mary Eddy Huntoon, materializing medium, will be present and hold materializing seances. Good music will be furnished. Entertainment at Hardwick Inn. Geo. F. Daniels, proprietor, one dollar per day, two in a room; one dollar and fifty cents per day, one in a roomy Single meals, 25 cents. Eastman & Hoffman, livery stable near hotel, will care for teams for 75 cents per day. Single feed, 25 cents. No better rates than mileage can be secured. Those coming over the different railroads will do well to procure mileage books or round trip tickets.

F. Hubbard, Tyson, Vt., president; Don H. Chapman, Cambridge, Vt., treasurer and chairman of Board of managers;

Miss Alma Leonard, East Callais, Vt.

secretary. Eva L. Stewart writes: "Great interest is being taken in what has been said by our speakers and test mediums. They have given spiritual inspiration to the audiences and those giving messages have demonstrated beyond a doubt the return of our spirit friends. We have been very fortunate in not having any fraud or fakeism demonstrated in our hall. Mrs. Irene Russell Thiers will speak for us on the evening of May 31. Subject, 'Spiritualism As It Was: What It Is and What It Will Be. On June 7, Mr. H. F. Arnold will occupy the rostrum. We have had such good talent and pleasant evenings at our socials we have decided to hold another on June 6, consisting of vocal and instrumental music, recitations, spirit messages, refreshments and dancing. Mrs. Druliner donated a hand-made Duchess lace handkerchief. which will be raffled off that evening. Admission 10 cents; chance on handkerchief, 10 cents: refreshments 10 This will probably be the last entertainment we will have until cooler weather. Let all come who can and help along in a good work. On May 31 will be the last afternoon meeting until after the warm season is passed. We will continue our evening service as usual commencing promptly at 7:45. We were happily surprised last Sunday evening by the presence of our test me-dium, Mrs. Kline, who has fully recovered from her long spell of sickness, and is to be with us in the future. Since organizing we have more than doubled our membership, and have received letters from different ones asking to be admitted to our society. We were favored last evening by our old friend of Spiritualism, Samuel P. Cody, whom we are always pleased to hear." Miss Frankie Rollins writes from San Antonio, Texas: "The work of the higher Spiritualism has been progressing nicely here under the efficient leadership of Mrs. Laura B. Payne. The society has grown in six months from naught to quite a large membership. We hold regular Sunday evening meetings in Elks' Hall. 125 Commerce street. which are always well attended. During the past four weeks we have had with us Mr. John W. Ring, of Galveston. president of the Texas State Association of Spiritualists, who delivered two lectures and with the help of Mrs. Payne and local talent gave an entertainment for the benefit of the State Association and local society here. Mr. H. D. Barrett, who followed Mr. Ring, delivered in all four lectures here, each one full of the fire of enthusiasm and bristling with logic, and shining with gems of thought and bursts of eloquence. J. Madison Allen, of Springfield, Mo., also paid San Antonio a visit, remaining two weeks in our midst and delivering two lectures and delighting all who heard him with his violin solos. Our pastor, Mrs. Laura B. Payne, is an able lecturer, a fine vocalist, and sincerely devoted to the work of uplifting humanity. We consider ourselves fortunate in securing her ser-

When writing for this paper use a pen or typewriter.

TAKE NOTICE. All books advertised in the columns of The Progressive Thinker are for sale at this office. Bear this in mind.

Substantially all the evidence in the contest over the probate of the will of aged Mrs. Adeline Darrow Townsend who believed in Spiritualism for forty years and whose relatives are disap-pointed with her disposition of more than half a million dollars, was con-cluded yesterday before Surrogate Thomas. Edward J. McGanne, a lawyer, testified that during a conversation with Mrs. Townsend she told him she had relatives in the West, but they had never done anything for her and she did not intend to do anything for them. She told him Joseph H. Mahan was to receive the bulk of her fortune, as he had been brought up by herself and her husband and was as a son. Mr. Mc-Ganne suggested to her at the time that if she intended to leave most of her property to Mr. Mahan, and she wished him to have it in peace, she had better leave something to her relatives in the West. Her reply was, according to the witness, 'I will not; I don't know them and regard them as strangers.' "-New "Spiritualism has spread to all parts of the world. It is said that the Spiritualists hold that there is no death, but only an entrance into another world. This world is a higher sphere, and in it men have the same ambitions and triumphs, and the same failings as in this, though benevolence, which will be above wisdom, will soften all things to the penitent. God is boundless in love and mercy to the Spiritualists, and they hold their beliefs but proofs of the narratives of the gospels. They believe in divine inspiration and prophecy. They detest the professional table tippers and tricksters. Spiritualism has undoubtedly attracted a large class in Salem. Leading Spiritualists say that there are over 1,000 Spiritualists in the city, though the membership in the two Spiritualist societies does not exceed 300. People go to Spiritualists' meetings often in curiosity, or to learn what they may, perhaps, as did the ancients to listen to Christ, when He began to perform His miracles. Many tests have been given to Spiritualism here. In more than one family a Spiritualist has upon his dying bed vowed that he would return to his loved ones in spirit, if such a feat was possible, but as yet they have never opened up communication with this world. On the contrary people have gone in curiosity to Spiritualist meetings, and have been put in com-munication, real or pretended, they are yet unable to decide, with those who have passed into the other land."--Lynn (Mass.) Item.

Mrs. Harriet Babcock writes from Saugatuck, Mich.: "Rev. Mrs. D. A. Morrill, of Grand Rapids, Mich., delivered a lecture under control, given by Prof. Larson. Subject, 'Science of the Soul.' It was a grand lecture and reached the hearts of the people. Spiritualism is rapidly growing and the grand and helpful truths given by the unseen power, will dwell in the hearts of the people who were fortunate enough to be able to attend. Mrs. Morrill has many friends in Saugatuck, and we have arranged for a series of lectures. We all hope to have her with us again. We are happy to write you we have formed a society and feel that we are uniting in a glorious cause."

The old puritanical notion of Sunday as a day of rest and a day of worship is fast passing away. With tens of thousands whose grandfathers and grandmothers went to church Sunday the day of rest has become a day of frivolity and pleasure, a day of jousts and dissipation. It is a conventional thing to abounds already in some of the gay parts of West End. Churches are empty and restaurants crowded. Theatrical performances Sunday evenings are not unknown, for the lord chamberlain can be hoodwinked when admission is by private card. As a good deal of religious ceremony in England is of Italian origin, it is only natural that the continental Sunday should be imported as well.-London correspondent of the Washington Star.

Some one sends the News-Leader the following: "I have been trying to direct the attention of the Virginia public to events that are now transpiring in France. The French ministry is firmly carrying out its policy of expelling the religious orders from France. These orders represent a great deal of capital, and with proper effort could be attracted to Virginia. Our climate south of the James river is very much like that of the south of France, and proper effort could, I think, secure these expelled orders for Virginia. They would make invaluable immigrants, and would secure to us the cultivation of the grape and the manufacture of wine, which Mr. Jefferson unsuccessfully attempted to introduce and naturalize a century ago. Our commissioner of agriculture, Mr. Koiner, will do everything that can be done by energy, zeal and intelli-gence; but he has not the necessary funds. In Maryland they have in the lower counties an ideal climate and soil, and a commission of emigration, and with the assistance of Cardinal Gibbons will secure some of this emigration." If this religious order, expelled from France, comes to this country, it will prove a greater curse than the worst plague that ever visited the earth.

The Chicago Tribune contains the following, giving particulars in reference to the disposal of the body of Captain W. F. Norton: "As it takes about two hours to cremate a body, while my body is undergoing the process of cremation wish my executors to engage at a cost of $200 a band of fort musicians, the best in Cincinnati, to render a fine concert. The program will be found in the same envelope that contains my will. It will be noticed that in the said concert program there are intermissions of fifteen minutes' duration each. During the said intermissions I wish my friends. who will be witnesses of the incinera tion of my body, to invite the musicians to join with them in drinking my bon voyage' in champagne, several cases of which will be sent to the crematory from the Pullman car. My desire is that no religious service of any name or nature be held at my home, at the crematory, or the cemetery. Be it distinctly understood that, whether I die in ouisville or elsewhere, I wish my body to be cremated."

According to the Tribune the Boston papers are making quite an ado over the fact that music has been introduced occasionally in all the hospitals of that city and surrounding towns as a cure for disease, and that at the Massachu setts general hospital a fund has been provided for its use. The most re markable feature of the scheme is the impression which seems to prevail that nusic as a remedy for disease is some hing new, whereas from the days of Pythagoras and Plato until now it has been exploited as a cure not only for physical but for mental illness. The physical but for mental illness. The experiment has been tried over and over again for centuries, but without D. For sale at this office, Price (1.

Always give your full name and ad-dress when samiling in Items and com-munications for publication, otherwise they will find their way to the waste hasket

any practical result, or the musical remedy would have been adopted long ago. It has been introduced in hospitals for the stok and in asylums for the insane. In both it has been in the nature of entertainment, but it has not cured the sick in hospitals nor has it reduced the number of insane in asylums, notwithstanding the precedent of David driving the evil spirit out of Saul with his harp, which is always cited by the advocates of the music cure. A characteristic feature of the scheme in Boston is the claim of its advocates that it is only a certain high order of music performed by orchestra and by professionals that is of any avail. Amateurs and volunteers who are not professionals are of no se. It is curious that church music is also barred, not being in sympathy with hospital environments, and we are gravely informed that fever patients do not enjoy negro minstrelsy, and upon one occasion objected to 'Nellie Was a Lady; Last Night She Died.' It is insisted upon that the music must not be unscientific in hospitals, though in the insane asylums the patients enjoy everything that makes a noise from a symphony to a two-step. In Boston sick patients are particular and will only have the best, which shows that they share fully in the musical culture that demands street bands shall play in tune and hand organs grind only the higher music. cannot be doubted that as a source of entertainment among the sick music is excellent in some cases and may even be refreshing, as David "refreshed Saul," while, on the other hand, it is certain that very sick and nervous patients are not entertained. But that music should be freshly exploited as a remedy after centuries of continuous failure, notwithstanding "such sweet compulsion doth in music lie." is unin telligible, if not absurd. Will C. Hodge, well and favorably known in Chicago, writes as follows from Portland, Oregon: "I arrived here by steamer, the 15th of May, and have opened a hall on the East Side. Mrs. Ladd Finnecan is associated with me in the work. Our first meeting was held last Sunday night, with an audience of fully two hundred."

Thomas Harding writes: "The Sturgis (Mich.) June meeting comes off this year on Saturday and Sunday, June 13 and 14. Speakers, Dr. J. M. Peebles Mrs. Carpenter, and other prominent persons are expected. All will be made welcome.'

Our Sandusky, Ohio, correspondent writes: "We have been having a grand revival of interest in Spiritualism in this city for the past three months, the regular meetings of the Society for Psychic Research growing in interest and attendance, especially for the last month. On last Sunday evening, May 24, we had with us Mrs. Marian Carpenter, of Detroit, Mich., who delivered a most excellent inspirational address, followed by some clear-cut, positive and convincing messages from the spirit friends of some in the audience. Mrs. Carpenter charmed all who were fortu-nate enough to hear her, and it is hoped that she may be induced to return here in the early fall. The hall was crowded almost to suffocation, nearly 100 persons standing, and about 150 persons were turned away, unable to gain ad-

Married, in Topeka, Kansas, Mr. J. Francis Thomas, of California, and Mrs. Alice L. Kane, of Topeka, Kansas, at the residence of Arthur Kane, 517 West Sixth street, Mrs. Etta S. Bledsoe officiating.

On May 17, Mr. Robert Owen Hughes and Miss Bessie Davis were united in marriage by Mrs. Etta S. Bledsoe, pastor of the Occult Science Club (Spiritpalist), Topeka, Kansas, Ceremony deprecate the continental Sabbath, but performed at the home of the groom's father, 511 East Eighth street, Topeka Kansas.

Dr. R. St. John Perry declared before the state association of physicians at St. Paul, Minn., that in immorality and intemperance Americans of wealth and apparent respectability were worse that African savages. "Christians abhor Mohammedans who take plural wives and are true to them," he said, "yet many of our Americans indulge in thrice the wives of the ignorant savage and are untrue to all. Vice and immorality are rampant among all classes Physicians can bear witness to this. To gauge the state of American manhood one has only to count the thousands of fallen women in every city.'

Raising an interesting question as to when life in animals actually becomes extinct, Dr. Robert C. Kemp, who has been conducting experiments in New Yark for two years, has found it possible to restore a dog to life after its heart had stopped beating for sixteen minutes. After an examination by surgeons the animal was officially pronounced dead, yet Dr. Kemp, by massaging its heart, so far brought it back. to life that it lived twenty-four hours and meanwhile it was so far restored to the use of its faculties that it are and drank and performed its usual functions. In eleven out of twenty-three experiments of this character Dr. Kemp has succeeded in "restoring dogs to life," and he is convinced that in the case of human beings under similar conditions the proportion of restorations would be far greater. In the case of the dogs he ascribes their death, af ter an interval from two or three to twenty-four hours, not to failure of his treatment, for that has apparently been successful, but to the fact that the dogs could not be prevented from tearing away the bandages with which their wounds were bound up.

During the month of June C. W. Stewert, the lecturer, may be addressed for tary, Franklin, Neb. engagements at Mt. Pleasant Park, Clinton, Iowa. 1

Mrs. Ella M. Dole, whose mediumship s so well and favorably known, has lately recovered from a severe attack of sickness, and may now be found at her home, No. 1680 North Clark street. Mrs. Dole has a host of friends in Chicago and elsewhere, who will be glad to earn that she has regained her health.

OWN YOURSELF.

Think your own thoughts in just your own way, Don't borrow from others the plan, Use, too, the words that fit what you say, And use them as well as you can Own yourself and be free, Claim your own liberty.

Order the store, or order the home, In ways that may seem to you best act for yourself, and yourself alone, In matters of work, or of rest.
Own yourself, and your deed, And let that be your creed.

People may sneer, and some may condemn, And critics declare, "vou are queer. lo your own way, a man among men,

And court neither favor nor fear.

Own yourself all the time, Rule your life by this line Chicago, Ill. ELLA DARE.

LIST OF CAMP MEETINGS.

Send in Your Dates and Name of Secretary at Once.

Inquiries are already coming to this office in reference to the various camps. Will the officers of each camp please send at once the correct dates, etc., and also the name of the secretary who can be addressed for programmes and full particulars. The notices that do not contain the names of the secretary or president are incomplete.

island Lake, Mich.

The Island Lake Camp Association desires to announce that the season of 1903 opens July 23, extending through the month of August. Correspondence solicited with a few more good phenomenal mediums. H. R. LaGrange, secretary, 350 Grand River avenue, Detroit,

Lake Brady, Ohio. Lake Brady camp opens July 5 and closes August 30. A. G. Keck, secre-

Chesterfield, Ind.

Chesterfield (Ind.) camp-meeting opens July 16 and closes August 30. For programs and other information address Flora Hardin, secretary, Anderson, Ind.

Camp-meeting in Oregon. The Spiritualists of Oregon will hold their annual camp-meeting from July 4 to July 20 on the beautiful and inspiring grounds of the Clackamas County Spiritualist Association. For particulars, address the president, Geo. Lazalle, Or egon City, Oregon.

Mt. Pleasant Park, Clinton, Iowa. The camp session of the M. V. S. A. Mt. Pleasant Park, Clinton, Iowa, will open August 2 and close August 30. For programmes address Mollie B. Anderson, secretary, Clarksville, Mo.

Verona, Park, Me. This camp opens August 2 and closes August 30. A. F. Smith, president, Bangor, Me.; F. W. Smith, secretary, Rockland, Me.

Forest Home, Mich. The fourth annual camp-meeting ppens at Snowflake, Mich., Aug. 1, and closes August 23. Write to Mrs. Ruth Eastman, secretary, Mancelona, Mich.,

Ottawa Camp, Kansas. This camp opens July 30, and closes August 9. For full particulars address H. W. Henderson, Lawrence, Kansas.

The Waukesha Camp, Wis. This camp opens July 17 and closes August 17. For full particulars address Will J. Erwood, No. 1334 Pine street, La Crosse, Wis., or Clara L. Stewart, president, Whitewater, Wis.

Ottawa, Kans. This camp opens July 30 and con-inues to August 9. For full particulars address H. W. Henderson, president, Lawrence, Kansas, or Jacob Hey, Secretary, Carbondale, Kansas.

Wonewoo, Wis.

The Wonewoc camp opens this year on August 13 and continues to the 30th of that month. Address for particulars, Miss Gertrude Spooner, Secretary, Wonewoc, Wis.

Reed's Lake, Grand Rapids, Mich. The West Michigan Spiritualist Association will hold its meeting this year at Grand Rapids, at its grounds, at Reed's Lake, known as the "Pioneer Assembly Grounds." Meeting opens July 4, and closes August 30. For full particulars address D. A. Herrick, presi-dent and manager, 296 N. Ionia street, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Winfield Camp, Kansas. This camp will be held in Island Park, Winfield, Kansas, commencing July 3, and closing July 13. For full particulars write to Mrs. Maud K. Gates, corner Second and Indiana streets, High land Park, Winfield, Kansas.

Marshalltown, Iowa. This camp begins August 23 and ends September 13. For full particulars address E. M. Vail, president, Marshall town, Iowa.

Franklin, Neb. This camp commences July 17, and continues until August 2. For full particulars address D. L. Haines, secre-

Grand Ledge, Mich. This camp opens July 26 and closes August 23. For programmes apply to A. McKelvey, Grand Ledge, Mich.

Lake Helen Camp, Florida. The Southern Cassadaga Camp-meeting will convene the first of February, and will close the middle of March. For information and programmes, address Mrs. J. D. Palmer, corresponding secretary, Willoughby, Ohio.

Saugus Center, Mass.
The Lynn Spiritualists Association will hold meetings every Sunday, ending September 28, at Unity Camp, Sau-gus Center, Mass. Mrs. A. A. Averill, 42 Smith street, Lynn, Mass.

The Onset Camp. Opens July 12 and closes August 30,

INDUCE Your Neighbor to Subscribe for The Progressive Thinker.

Now is the time to extend the circulation of The Progressive Thinker. It will contain Occult and Spiritualistic news with which every one should be familiar. No other paper published on this earth contains such a vast amount of matter so well adapted to enrich the mind. Send in a subscription now.

A GREAT BOOK.

THE HULL-JAMIESON DEBATE.

One of Unflagging Interest Throughout -It Should Be in the Hands of Every Spiritualist and Freethinker.

This book, containing nearly 500 closely printed pages, should have a million circulation. Price $1. It is checkful of rapid-firing ideas, and is the ablest debate, on both sides, ever published. Send for it.

Man and the By Rev. Arthur Chambers, Spirit World Associate of King's College, London. An excellent book for Caristian people who would investigate and learn the facts of Bible teachings as well as modern spirit phenomena. Price, cloth, $1.10.

THE OTHER SIDE OF DEATH

Scientifically Examined and Carefully Described. BY C. W. LEADBEATER.

A Volume of 500 large pages, treating very nterestingly if Life, Death and Immortality, Clatryoyance, Spirit Phenomena, Etc, as viewed by an acknowledged and cultivated exponent of Theosophy. Price, $1.50.

ESOTERIC LESSONS.

This work includes "Personified Unthinkables," "First Lessons in Reality," and "A Tour Through the Zodiac." This is an interesting production of occult thought and will well repay careful study and meditation by all occultists. Price, Cloth, $1.50. For sale at this

OLD AND NEW PSYCHOLOGY By W. J. Colville. Beports of twenty-four distinct lectures, recently delivered in New York, Brooklyn, Boston, Philadelphia and other prominent cities of the United States, have contributed the basis of this volume. Price, $1.00.

A. Few Words About the Devil. And other Essays. By Charles Bradlaugh, With the story of his life as told by himself, and the history of his parliamentary struggle. With portrait. Paper, 50c.

The Spiritual Wreath A collection of words and music for the choir, congregation and social circle. By S. W. Tucker. Comprises sixty or more gems of song. Price, 15 cents.

What All the World's a-Seeking. RALPH WALDO TRINE.

RALPH WALDO TRINE.

Each is building his world from within; thought is the builder; for thoughts are forces,—subtle, vital, irresistible, omnipotent,—and according as used do they bring power or impotence, peace or pain, success or silve.—From Title page.

The above buoks are beautifully bound in gray-green raised cloth, stamped in deep old-green and gold, with glittop. Price, $1.25. For sale at this office.

In Tune with the Infinite By Ralph Waldo Trine.

By Ralph Waldo Trine.

Within yourself lies the cause of whatever enters into your life. To come into the full realization of your own awakened interior powers, is to be able to condition your life in exact accord with what you would have it.—From Title-Page.

CONTENTS—I. Prelude; II. The Supreme Fact of the Universe; III. The Supreme Fact of Human Life; IV. Fullness of Life—Bodily Health and Vigor; V. The Secret, Fower and Effect of Love; VI. Wisdom and Interior Illumination; VII. The Realization of Perfect Peace; VIII. Coming into fullness of power; IX. Plenty of All Things—The Law of Prosperity; X. How Men Have Become Prophets, Seers, Sages, and Saviors; XI. The Basic Principle of All Keligions—The Universal Religion: XII. Entering Now into the Realization of the Highest Riches. For sale at this office, Price, postpaid, §1.25.

HARMONIGS OF EVOLUTION. The Philosophy of Individual Life, Based Upon Natural Science

As taught by modern masters of law. By Florence Huntley. An exceedingly interesting and distinctly valuable contribution to the literature of evolution, unfolding its laws from the deeper and clearer spiritual aspect, and indicating the defects of the Darwinian theory. Spiritualists and Materialists alike can gain much from its perusal. Price, finely bound in cloth, $2.

THE VOICES By Warren Sumner Barlow.
The Voices contain poems of remarkable beauty and force. They are most excellent. Price $1.00.

RELIGION OF THE FUTURE. By S. Weil. Cloth, $1.25; paper, 50 cents. This is a work of great value, written by one of the heenest, most powerful and most truly religious minds of the day. It is particularly a work which should be put into the hands of those who have freed themselves from the dogmas of orthodoxy and from the dogmas of materialorthodoxy and from the dogmas of materialistic science, for it will strengthen the conviction of the free mind that mind and senses are not the whole of life.

The chapters reveal a new method in psychic and spiritual research. They show vivid glimpses of a stupendous moral cosmos that will supersede moral confusion, that only verifiable tenets can survive, and the childhood period of faith and fancy will be superseded by knowledge and facts.

Psychopathy, or Spirit Healing. A series of lessons on the relations of the spirit to its own organism, and the interrelation of human beings with reference to health, disease and healing. By the spirit of Dr. Benjamin Rush, through the mediumship of Mrs. Cora L. V. Richmond. A book that every healer, physician and Spiritualist should read. Price, 81.50.

Man and the By Rev. Arthur Chambers.

Spirit World Associate of King's College.

To Christian people who would investigate and learn the facts of Bible teachings as well as modern spirit phenomena. Price, cloth, $1.10.

THE OTHER SIDE OF DEATH Scientifically Examined and Carefully Described. BY C. W. LEADBEATER.

A Volume of 500 large pages, treating very nterestingly if Life, Death and Immortality, Clairvoyance, Spirit Phenomena, Etc, as viewed by an acknowledged and cultivated exponent of Theosophy. Price, $1.50.

The Development of the Spiril After Transition. By the late M. Faraday. The origin of religions, and their influence upon the mental development of the human race. Price,

WOMAN: A Lecture Delivered to Ladies
Only. B7 Mrs. IDr. Hulburt. On the present status of woman, physically, mentally, morally and spiritually. The divine law of true harmonial marriage, etc. Price, 10c.

"AS IT IS TO BE." A VERY SUGGESTIVE WORK.

it Beams With Spiritual Truths,

This is a beautiful book, by Cora Lynn Daniels, and it scintiliates with grand spiritual thought. An idea of this work can be obtained by reading the titles of a few of the chapters The Process of Dying; Light and Spirit; The Law of Attraction; Senses of the Spirit; What Is Unconscious Will; Fear; Astrology; The God-Soul of Man: The Drama: A Day in Heaven. Price $1. For sale at this office.

THE SOUL . ITS NATURE, RE-LATIONS AND EX-PRESSIONS IN HU-WAN EMBODIMENTS. Third edition now on sale. Price $1.00. This is one of the best books given by the guides of Mrs Cora L. V. Richmond. They are really lessons, published primarily, as a book of reference for those who have been nuembers of the classes receiving them. This volume is a careful compilation from reports of mesons, containing the bases of the trachings.

PUBLICATIONS

HUDSON TUTTLE

A LIBRARY OF SPIRITUAL SCIENCE.

STUDIES IN THE OUTLYING FIELDS OR

PSYCHIG SCIENCE.
This work essays to utilize and explain the vast array of facts in its field of research by referring them to a common cause, and from them arise to the laws and conditions of Man's spiritual being. Third edition. Price, 75 cents. RELIGION OF MAN AND ETHICS OF SCI.

ENGE.

Not servile trust to the Gods, but knowledge of the laws of the world, belief in the divinity of man and his eternal progress toward perfection is the foundation of this book. Price, $i. LIFE IN TWO SPHERES. In this story the scenes are laid on earth, and in the spirit world, presenting the spiritual philosophy and the real life of spiritual beings All questions which arise on that subject are answered. Price, 50 cents.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF SRIRIT AND THE SPIRIT WORLD. THE ORIGIN AND ANTIQUITY OF MAN Containing the latest investigations and discoveries, and a thorough presentation of this interesting subject. English edition. Price, $1, THE SECRETS OF THE CONVENT OF THE SACRED HEART.

This book was written for an object, and had been pronounced equal in its exposure of the diabofical methods of Catholicism to "Uncold Tom's Cabin." Price, 25 cents.

HERESY, OR LED TO THE LIGHT, A thrilling psychological story of evangeliza-tion and free thought. It is to Protestantism what "The Secrets of the Convent" is to Cath-olicism. Price, 80 cents.

WHAT IS SPIRITUALISM? WHAI IS SPIRITUALISM?
How to investigate. How to form circles, and develop and cultivate mediumship. Names of eminent Spiritualists. Their testimony. Eight page tract for mission work. Single copies, 5 cents; 100 for $1.25.

FROM SOUL TO SOUL.

By Emma Rood Tuttle. This volume contains the best poems of the author, and some of the most popular songs with the music by eminent composers. The poems are admirably adapted for recitations. 225 pages, beautifully bound.

Price, $1.

THE LYCEUM GUIDE. THE LYCEUM GUIDE.

For the home, the lyceum and societies. A manual of physical, intellectual and spiritual culture. By Emma Rood Tuttle. A book by the aid of which a progressive lyceum, a spiritual or liberal society may be organized and conducted without other assistance. Price, 50 cents; by the dozen, 40 cents. Express charges unpaid.

ANGELL PRIZE CONTEST RECITATIONS. For humane education, with plan of the Angell Prize Oratorical Contests. By Emma Rood Tuttle. Price, 25 cents. Address HUDSON TUTTLE, Publisher, Berlin Heights, Ohlo.

ANGELL PRIZE CONTEST RECITATIONS.

To Advance Humane Education in All Its Phases.

BY EMMA ROOD TUTTLEL Lyceums and Societies that wish to get up electronic, interesting and paying entertainments can not do better than to have a Fire Contest. The of the plan, with full directions, is in the book, and may be easily managed. Nothing kindles enthusiaem more quickly than an Angell Frize Contest! Nothing is needed more. Any individual may organize one in his own town and reap a financial roward.

TRY IT! PRICE, 30 CENTS. Address

EMMA ROOD TUTTLE,

Berlin Heights, Ohio.) Selections from the contents of that ancient book, its commentaries, teachings, poetry, and legends. Also brief sketches of the men who made and commented upon it. By H. Polang. 859 pp. Price, cloth, $1

STANDING UP FOR JESUS, Or what the Editor of the Freethinker's Magazine thinks of him. Price, 4 cents; twenty five copies for 50 cents.

The Myth of the Great Deluge. By James M. McCann. A complete and over-whelming refutation of the Bible story of the Deluge. Price, 15 cents. he Infidelity of Ecclesiasticism,

A Menace to American Civilization. By Prof. W. M. Lockwood. A trenchant and masterly treatise. Price, 25 cents. OUTSIDE THE CATES and other tales and sketches. By a band of spirit in-telligences, through the mediumship of Mary Theresa Shelhamer. An excellent work. Price, $1.00. For sale at this office.

"THE DREAM CHILD,"

A Fascinating Romance of Two Worlds. By Florence Huntley. Price, cloth, 75 cents. Books like "The Dream Child" spur humanity on to make more and more demands of this nature, and will open up new heights and depths of spiritual knowledge.—Ella Wheeler Wilcox. Will, I believe, take its place beside Bulwer's "Zanoni" and the "Seraphita" of Balzac.—Daily Capital, Topeka, Karsas. Although simple and unvarnished with any inflammable descriptions, enthralls the mind to the exclusion of other thoughts, until reluctantly the reader closes the last page.—Minneapolis Sunday Times.

LILIAN WHITING'S BOOKS

VERY INTERESTING AND EX-CELLENT WORKS.

Kate Field, A Record. Price $2. A Study of Elizabeth Barrett Brown-Ing. Price $1.25. The World Beautiful. Three Series

Each $1. After Her Death, New Edition, 31. From Dreamland Sent, And Other Poems. $1. These books are for sale at this office.

STARTLING FACTS, Deeds of Darkness Disclosed

This work devotes special attention to Auricular Confession and its relations to sacerdotal celibacy, convents, monasteries, morality and civil and religious liberty. It is intended to be an embodiment of facts and documentary evidence of the pernicious influence of the confessional; a trenchant showing up of Romanism, based upon standard Catholic authorities; an eye-opener concerning the methods and spirit moral turpitude and evil works of Romanism. Cloth, 75 cents.

"NO BEGINNING."

An Excellent Work for Thinkers.

This book, "No Beginning," is by William H. Maple. The Arena says of it: "The argument is unanswerable. The book will at once appeal to the reason of every reader, and leave him more amazed than ever at the prevalence of the theory of Creation." The Two has always been a fateful num-Free Thought Ideal says: "We found in full of glittering thoughts for thinkers, and the very death warrant of Christian superstition shines upon its pages." Price 75 cents.

Molecular Hupothesis of Nature:
The Relation of its Principles to Continued Exstence and to the Philosophy of Spiritualism
By Prof W. M. Lockwood. Paper, 24 cents.

Rement of

HUDSON TUTTLE.

Address him at Belin Heights, Ohio.

have called forth such a host of re- is because of its agitated surface. spondents, that to give all equal hearsted, and the style becomes thereby as-Correspondents often weary practically blind. with waiting for the appearance of their questions and write letters of inseveral weeks ahead of the space given, faint murmur of angel voices, for our and hence there is unavoidable delay, eyes are blind to the light by which it is Every one has to wait his time and place, and all are treated with equal

NOTIOE.—No attention will be given anonymous letters. Full name and adress must be given, or the letters will be read. If the request be made, the name will not be published. The correspondence of this department late. become excessively large, especially letters of inquiry requesting private answers, and while I freely give whatever information I am able, the ordinary pary courtesy of correspondents is ex-sected. HUDSON TUTTLE.

Observer: Q. Will you give me inthe liquid in "weather glasses" or barrates the coming weather?

A. There are many combinations are not barometers. Probably one as efficient as any other, and easily pro-cured, is composed of thirteen parts of pure alcohol, one part gum camphor, one part nitre, and one part ammonia salts. Place in a clear vial that the liquid will fill and cork closely. Place It away from the direct light of the sun. For ordinary observers, this little instrument will prove of interest and value. When the liquid is clear, it denotes fair weather; when it grows opaque, rain will follow; thread-like and storm; large crystals, snow, and if they settle to the bottom, colder Meather.

Explanation:—This question, like many others which come to this departsent me asking why such were answered. Foolish questions, or casily answered! Why these questions are answered, would require a special reason for each. Some questioners ask for information they might readily gain to them. Others might easily answer think. Some one has said that the asking of a question proves the ability to answer it-but they have not been trained to think, and have no confidence In their conclusions. Until they do, they have to rely on some one else. To them their questions are not foolish, but important, and I feel under even more obligation to answer them than those of deeper import.

The above question comes from a boy from a postoffice. He has broken his weather glass which delighted him by its changes, and incited him to be observing. Such a glass, if he makes it himself, will be yet more educational. He wants to understand the mystery of the prophetic indicator, and is not alone in his curiosity, for many have asked

James J. Dobbins: Q. Why have you not replied to the scurrilous attack on Spiritualism made in the pamphlet by the adventists? A. There are two or three of these pamphlets, which have been scattered broadcast, and copies have been sent me from the East to the farthest West. falsehood, and it is impractical to use the secular press. The National Asso. Jew and Gentile alike, and the manage ciation has literature showing what ment is warranted in assuming that the Spiritualism is, and what Spiritualists enlarged scope of the institution will believe, and who they are, and if this is meet with the appreciation of the pubcirculated as it should be, it will be, perhaps, the best reply that can be given to the slanders which form the stock unique interest to the camp visitors in trade of the opponents.

Martha S. Bullock: The N. S. A. have in contemplation such a home as you ents of some of the popular movements mention. One is featly needed, and it for human betterment, that have spewould seem that the generosity of Spiritualists ought to endow it,

A Republican and many others: Have sent questions for the authority I had in the quotation of President Roosevelt on infidelity. Mr. Lyman C. Howe has anticipated the reply I had prepared. It surely ought to satisfy the inquirers. It is sincerely to be hoped that our President is wiser than he was then. It was written in his callow days, and sounds more like a school-boy composition than the mature thoughts of a historian. He would not write it now, and false and bigoted as the quotation is, it should be a Peace Congress, and that will afford forgotten as a too "strenuous" utterance of immaturity.

Marcia: Q. Are there guardian an-over. They are spirits of friends or those in sympathy.

That there are guardian angels has been taught from immemorial time, and (n some dim form is a belief of all expept the lowest races of mankind.
It is a beautiful belief, full of consola

It is a beautiful belief, full of consola-grading, impure influences and results tion, of assurance and comfort to the of the Romish confessional, as proved atruggling and striving. How hard may by the sad experience of many wrecked press the iron hand of fate, how sharp lives. Price, by mail, $1. For sale at the flinty stones beneath our bleeding this office. feet, we think of the blessed messen-gers by our side and feel our burdens are for the purpose of giving us of Buddhism; compact yet comprehen-attrength, else they would turn us aside sive. Paper, 50 cents. Cloth, $1.25. Io more pleasant paths. We know that For sale at this office.

they are with us in the darkest hours, and enjoy with us the days of our sun-shine. We delve in the soil and smirch of the world, and the physical being obscures and overlaps the spirit ual to such a degree that our horizon is shut down on that side by thick clouds, and only at long intervals can a ray of light penetrate the darkness.

Our lives might be so well ordered hat we would be as conscious of the presence of these guardians as of earthly friends. What is possible in rare moments of lucidity, is possible at all times under like conditions. The fault is not on their side, but on ours. sun forever shines in the heavens, just above the thin veil of clouds, and if the NOTE.—The Questions and Answers | sea does not reflect the starry night, it

We do not see through the thin vell ing compels the answers to be made in which separates the world of spirits the most condensed form, and often from the world of man. We cannot see clearness is perhaps sacrificed to this the air which surges a profound and forced brevity. Proofs have to be omitagitated ocean above and around us. Without material rays of light we could sertive, which of all things is to be dep- not see material things, and would be

Thus the world of spirit exists around juestions and write letters of in-The supply of matter is always ceive the odor of asphodels, or hear the revealed.

CITY OF LIGHT ASSEMBLY

Lily Dale Program for the Coming Season.

The readers of this paper will learn with pleasure that preparations are beng made for the coming season at the City of Light Assembly. Thousands in this country are familiar with the history and scope of the Cassadaga Lake Free Association, and it may be stated formation what substances are put in at this time that the former name is the title given to the institution located on ometers, which by the clearness or this well known chain of lakes. Since cloudiness of the fluid in the glass, indi-Mrs. Pettingill, of Cleveland, purchased a majority of stock at the termination of last season, it has been evident that assed in these weather indicators—they alterations were to be made in the future policy of the institution.

Now the assembly is upon the verge of another season, the friends of the organization are observing with interest the measures that have been adopted to make this one of the most notable of the many institutions located within the borders of the far-famed Chautauqua. Even to the casual observer, it is apparent that a more progressive spirit will animate the insti-tution in the future, and those who are responsible for its management will encrystals rising to the top, indicate wind deavor to broaden its policy and widen the scope of its intellectual and spiritual activity.

In order to furnish an opportunity for the accomplishment of those desirable ends, it has been deemed advisable to ment, is outside the field proposed to extend the season to eight weeks, thus cover: Repeatedly have letters been practically continuing throughout the practically continuing throughout the months of July and August. Under the supervision of the president, Mrs. Pet-tingill, the arrangements for the forthcoming season are being completed. In view of the interest taken in an institution of this character by the readers of from books, but they are on a ranch in this paper, some resume of the plans the far west and the books are unknown and purposes of the management will be opportune. As many are aware, the their own questions if they would institution located at Lily Dale, on the banks of the picturesque Cassadaga lakes, has been recognized for two decades as the leading center of the Spiritualistic movement in this nation. In a word, it has been deemed the mother of those camps which have flourished in various parts of the Republic. It may be announced at this time that Spiritualism will remain as the corner-stone of this assembly; but the management has not failed to realize that every doin the west, who resides forty miles main of liberal religious and economic thought is entitled to recognition during the summer season at an assembly of nature. It is the latter thought which dominates the members of the executive committee in the preparation of the program for the prospective season, Although the program has not been com-pleted it is announced that such prominent speakers as Elbert Hubbard. Eleanor Kirk, Susan B. Anthony, Rev. Anna Shaw, Morgan Wood, J. Clegg Wright, Prof. Lockwood, and others equally prominent will appear upon the latform during the assembly season. A consideration of this representative list-of speakers will convince the liberal thinker that the management is ac-Altogether they are the most foul and cording recognition to the various libelous publications ever issued against the cause. There is, however, tion to the daily lectures, many of the nothing gained by replying through the speakers will add variety to the assemspiritual papers, for all Spiritualists bly program by conducting private know that the tracts are condensed classes in various subjects. Altogether, the completed program will appeal to A series of special days will have a during the season. The management is aware that a considerable number of hose who visit the assembly are adherents of some of the popular movements cialy characterized this generation.

During these special days, it is planned to have exercises in recognition of those movements. Thus the advancing cause of womankind will be considered on one of the special days; the interests represented by the Grange organizations on another; while exercises in honor of the veterans will be a feature of G. A. R. day. In this connection, it is the intention to devote several special days to honoring with appropriate exercises the visiting delegations from the adjacent states and nearby cities. A feature of the middle portion of the season will be prominent speakers an opportunity to trace the development of the movement

The new management has been grat-ified by the evidences of approval upon A. There are guardian angels, not arbitrarily appointed as the questioner appears to infer, but appointed by their era, and that as a summer assembly it. era, and that as a summer assembly, it love and affection for those they watch will be an effective medium for the advancement of liberal thought. E. C.

designed to preserve the peace of na-

"The Priest, the Woman and the Confessional." This book, by the well known Father Chiniquy, reveals the de-

"Buddhism and Its Christian Critics." By Dr. Paul Carus. An excellent study

"How Shall I Become a Medium," Fully Answered

In 'Mediumship and Its Laws, Its Conditions and Cultivation," by Hudson Tuttle. Price 35 cents. Send to Mr. Tuttle, Berlin Heights, O.

SPIRITUAL HOMES.

Spiritual Funeral Decorations and Services-A Few Very Waluable Suggestions.

It has been my privilege to be a We know that Dame Nature will be close observer of the good and the evil, E'er tender and loving to thee. the bright and beautiful, and the dark and inharmonious sides of life, and he or she who has not been thus privileged has lost much of the educative and unfolding experiences and observations in passing through,

It is not necessary to wait until our spirits have passed from these forms of lay to make spiritual homes, though it is hard for those who are forced to move about from one location to another to control at once the magnetic vibrations left by former tenants. It is possible to overcome every obstacle and establish harmony if a continuous effort be made in that direction. But where one owns a home, built by themselves, and not only for an abode or shelter from the burning sun and the storms of life, but for a peaceful rest for the soul, it must be built with that intent and dedicated to the cause of Thy dear soul has its liberty "peace and good will to all."

Mrs. Clancy's Home. Mrs. M. L. Clancy, of 3244 Vernon avenue, this city, of whose departure I wrote last week, possessed such a home, and to the hour of her passing held sweet communion with the departed friends and loved ones in her own home. Almost every Spiritualist in this city and many others, knew this noble old mother. True, her own sinberity and unsuspecting nature might, at tricksters, but that is not against her, nor did she lose any sleep over those small matters while she knew that is dead, nor did she lose any sleep over those small matters while she knew that beneath and beyond was a truth. She only smiled and passed on with good things and the higher aims of life and kept her eyes open.

For the past ten years she has had the care and companionship of Mrs. Pease, a good medium, but not a public worker, which brought her in touch with the spirit world from which she was confident of counsel and help, and that made her happy. Her children of earth, though not in perfect accord religiously, were in perfect sympathy, harmony, love and atfect sympathy, harmony, love and attention to the wishes of their dear murdered god are themselves disposed mother. None ever came to see her without bringing fruit, flowers and pretty things as tokens of their love and to their unknown gods. perfect esteem. She often said, "I am so bad as it is sometimes painted, but surrounded with all the heart of a mother could wish for here, but I have done all my work and am ready to be called higher. I am not old; the house I live in is old. I am growing young for my by such kindness; a mother whose earlier struggles of life were those of the pioneer in Chicago. Sixty-two years she has lived and tolled here 'mid the progress and development and the reverses of this great city. Eighteen the principle of moral sequence and the laws of science and neture. years ago, when she took possession of the home from which she passed, she dedicated one room to the spirit world and called it her sacred sanctuary, and whether or not every medium who oc-cupied it was true and upright, the place was sacred to her beautiful soul, and she knew it to be an open door for the angel friends when they wished to come back for a while.

She wanted no mourning but instead flowers and singing, and that which might express gladness and uplift her spirit and the spirits of those left behind, and the flowers, most beautifully arranged, hung with the usual mourning decorations at the door. Her coffin and the walls were almost obscured by flowers among which were eighty American Beauty roses, (her favorite flower) emblematic of the eighty years she had expressed in the form.

For a long time she had been in the habit of inviting Mrs. G. Partridge, the psychic, to her home, and then came a time of reveling in the beautiful things brought her from the spirit world and basking in the bright light of the spiritual songs Mrs. Partridge sang to her, and for some time the books she sang from were left at her home that she might select the songs she wished her to sing at her funeral. She left the first services in the hands of her children, but requested that her body be left in the house a day longer and that a Spiritual service be held. (This was described in the obituary last

Her grave was completely covered by ferns and flowers and as the coffin was slowly lowered out of sight through overreaching ferns, Mrs. Partridge sang "We Shall See Them Again," a song most appropriate, but yet unpublished. Even the undertaker, who had attended hundreds of funeral services by all denominations and orders, said it was the most impressive services he had ever attended.

I offer this recital as a partial record of the Spiritual Home and inspiring funeral services of Mrs. Clancy, as an institution and occurrence to be proud of and worthy of emulation. Every Spiritualist's home should be a spiritual home, and every spiritual home should be entirely dedicated to the spirit world or contain one room especially dedicated as a sacred sanctuary with a sweet welcome to the good and the true from both sides, but as a family circling place, and not to the

I believe in public work of all kinds, for the good of the cause of Spiritualism and for the enlightenment of this ignorant and blinded world, but I know, too, there is something beautiful and uplifting in the home circle, in setting apart an hour or more of an evening once a week, or oftener if desired, where the family can meet and sing and sit quiet-ly and think of the friends and relatives in spirit life, placing flowers in the holy sanctuary, pictures and little souvenirs of the loved ones, etc., making it as a decoration day is to the nation, a time and place to recall the sweet memories of our arisen ones. If it is impossible to procure the serv. ices of a spiritual lecturer to conduct the funeral services, turn to the "Encyclopedia of Death," Vol. 3, and select an essay or poem, or both, and have some reader read for the service, and urnish spiritual songs for a quartet or soloist, duet or trio, and arrange your own services and make them beautiful. These come as timely and appropriate suggestions for those who have no local speakers or organized society, and even for societies without speakers. In The Progressive Thinker premium book above mentioned can be found many beautiful sentiments upon the subject of "Death" that will tend to give the ion-Spiritualistic attendants a splendid dea of what Spiritualism teaches

In looking into the peaceful face of the dead and silent form of Mrs. Clancy, the following lines began coming to me from the mystic deep:

Beautiful mother whose earth-life is And whose soul-life has only begun, Out there in the slience nomowhere,

We know that the sunlight will shine

Down into that sweet spirit thine. We know that the anglis in glee Were walting, sweet mother, for thee. We know that old Death was thy friend And painlessly brought thine earthly

We know that thy home herewas sweet, That thy labors were all quite complete; We know thou are missed on the earth, And loved ones now know thy true worth. But none can wish thee back again

To this old world of woe and pain. We know thy love is living on The same as before thou wert gone; We know that thy sweet, peaceful face Has gained up in soul-land its place; We know thou art free; ah, yes, free!

OLD RELIGION.

its Crimes and Errora Are Calmly Considered.

"Man sighs for heaven while warming by hell's fire, And asks for virtue while he welcomes ing bed."

Error and ignorance have caused nost of the unhappiness and misery that mankind have known. A wrong conception of a future state of being has caused war, murder and horrors of all kinds. Those who believe in a hell after death, make a corresponding hell on earth. Those who believe in a tyrannical male personality they call God. become tyrants themselves, when they can, holding others beneath their tyranto war, hate, murder. This is the way ignorant devotees have made sacrifices in is old, I am growing young for my duce character. The apetime of vica-rious punishment has had tremendous What is more beautiful to know than that the sweet mother love is rewarded by such kindness; a mother whose the judgment and furnishing a laws of science and nature. "Governments have committed more crimes than they have prevented"—true especially of religious governments. The greatest crimes of history have been either committed or instigated by religion. The greatest of all crimes are wars between nations, races, and tribes, and the worst of these have been, in wnole or in part, religious wars. secutions, tortures, murders for opinion's sake, have been of religious origin. "War is hell."

History bears abundant proofs that Christianity "came not to bring peace on earth, but a sword," as stated by its leader. It began its dreadful career ith a tragedy, in which this leader was slain, and this fact is made the central idea of the system. that mankind should ever build a religious system around an idea ro horrible, so awful, so dreadful as that of murder. Christianity never did and never wil bring peace, because it is made up of conflicting doctrines; and there will be no permanent peace as long as it holds sway. "The Christian nations" are the most warlike of all. Their soldiers are trained in the savage arts of war, and millions of money are wasted in war equipments, while millions of people suffer in poverty. These nations are now "making vigorous efforts to place themselves on a better war basis. They seem to be "spoiling for a fight" and may find a way to get at it. There is no honor, bravery nor justice in conquering a weak, defenceless nation, as the allied powers have done in China for the special benefit of religion. The U. S. Supreme court decided that 'Ours is a Christian Nation." And this is also evident from other facts. Our dollar says, "In God We Trust." We have chaplaincies in congress and state legislatures; thanksgiving proclama-tions; religious-legal oaths; church exemption laws; Sunday laws; and other state laws to fit old religious beliefs. These civil-religious laws mean that the people acknowledge allegiance to a religious government.

In this "land of religious liberty" It is notorious fact that Seventh-day Adventists, Jews and others are to-day compelled to keep sacred a day which they claim is the wrong one. Much as we brag about our freedom, much as we claim that American liberty is the finest thing out, much as we claim immunity from oppressive laws, yet for vi-olation of our "Sunday laws," men have been attached to the chain gang and forced to work on the rock pile of religious bigotry. Men have also been fined and imprisoned for "profaning the name of Almighty God," It has been truly said "Christianity is

Illustrative of the awe of ignorance and superstition, founded on absurdity—its ruling instinct is worldly gain. Wealth, power and conquest were the chief aids in establishing its present standard of

The warlike, savage, disposition of Christian nations is attributable to blood atonement, the fundamental doctrine of Christianity. As a natural consequence they become of warlike natural consequence they become of warlike natural contributions. ture—easily induced to murder for the government—shoot their fellow-men government—shoot their fellow-men down and help the tyrints slay.

The tales of the early Christian martyrs, the Spanish Inquisition and the Holy wars furnish us with evidence of the prominence man gave to brutal force, and testify to ills weller that "L "might makes right for the" glory of God." The emoluments of honor, fame God." The emoluments of honor, fame and wealth were held up to men as inducements to join the army and rush into battle. They go in to fight or die in the belief that this is patriotism. Of all strange wanderings of the human mind, none stranger than the idea of "A holy war." How can a war be holy? There is nothing more adverse to holiness; yet that was the way peo-nle settled religious questions. That ple settled religious questions. kind of argument silenced opposition, and the most ignorant, brutal opponent was victorious. The Holy Bible teaches war as much as any other thing, and is the bottom protext for the greatest evils and oppressions. It is an invention gotten up to frighten humanity into faith in and dependence upon a particular God and Freed from carth's worry and dull cars, his agents—and "the devil of a God is trical term or phrase. Price 25 cents.

he"—yea, worse than a devil; a moral absurdity. To serve this God is to be a slave and a dupe—to love God is to love a-terrible tyrant—to be godlike is to be revengeful, hateful, warlike, god-awful -to worship any god is to worship a

In a message from Henry Ward Beecher he expresses a great truth in saying, "To study God is to commence with myths and end in error. The truth is, man should not worship anything or anybody. To fall down and worship anything is intensely heathenish and the output of ignorance and supersti-tion. It is a relic of old idol worship, a parbarous practice and stultifying he reasoning powers. It is the height of childish folly. One may pray to all eternity and there is no God to hear and answer

Old religion is breaking down under the weight of its inconsistencies. Science, art, philosophy and material progress have become possible in proportion to the weakness of religion, which is no longer vigorous enough to persecute. Superstition is receding before rational religion—faith is giving place to knowledge-tyranny is dying upon the planes of freedom-error is giving place to the brilliancy of truth-policy to principle theism to atheism. People who have tasted the fruits of freedom will not again submit to the yoke of bondage.
Spiritualism is the key which unlocks

the storehouse of knowledge, opens the entrance to facts that had been hitherto closed to the world of thought, and carries us onward into the realm of future possibilities-of future existence that shall be ours when our career on earth is ended. It is the key that opens the gate to heaven, the climax of achievement and demonstration of spirit power, before which mortal science stands mazed. It is the science, the religion, the teacher, the prophet, the seer, the mighty factor which is revolutionizing the world of thought.

Spiritualism has made life worth living; given us the most exalted views of the conduct of life, and held aloft the highest ideals—it has brought to famished souls the bread of life and sparkling water from the fountains of immortality—bound up the broken heart of grief—restored the lost ones who have disappeared in the shadowsbroughts the courts of heaven to earth, the religion of joy, and transformed the sepulchre to a glorious archway leading to eternal existence.

A. H. NICHOLAS.

Forecasts of the Future.

Charles V. Barton, employed in the Government Printing Office, a "Dream Prophet," is reported in the Washington

"On April 7 I dreamed that President Roosevelt would be defeated in the next election and that a Democrat from New York state would be elected. This dream came to me under the same cir cumstances as others, and I know in my own mind that the next President will be a Democrat-I can even name the man.'

In proof of fulfillment of Mr. Barton's former dreams, he narrates some of them, one of which was a forewarning of the great disaster at Galveston. But now I turn to an earlier prophecy, not by a dreamer, but by an astrologer of Washington, D. C., who publishes a magazine entitled "Occult Truths." In the November number of 1900, the editor and publisher, Charles W. Smiley,

"McKinley will die in the midst of his second term and Roosevelt will finish out the term. Four years hence Roosevelt will be elected President to succeed himself. During his presidency the United States will become involved in a world-wide war, and will be miraculously victorious over five allied European nations. Roosevelt's name terity as equal to or greater than Washington's or Lin-

The first part of this prophecy was fulfilled within ten months. Mr. Smiley in the same magazine says: have not the slightest doubt that there are data in the heavens, in our births and other dates for determining all important events including the future." But he denounces a considerable number of so-called astrologers in this country, and says he knows of none who can be trusted to give reliable "Their disagreements," he add, "are ludicrous. Some foretold Bryan's election; others, McKinley's." On this subject the curious reader may find in the Congressional Library a small book, published in 1724, by Sir William Hope, entitled "Vindication of the True Art of Self-Defense." book itself is of no great interest, but on two fly-leaves is written a most as-tounding prophecy, signed "William tounding prophecy, signed "William Hope," and dated 1732. It describes the fate of four great rulers of "Amerika." The Post of November 2, 1900, printed the prophecy, with fulfillment up to that time, and a later exposition of the complete fulfillments will be found in print appended to the book.

And I beg the critical reader to notice the fact that while the manuscript of the prophecy has not faded, the appended tribute signed James Hope, of later unknown date, has so far faded as to be almost illegible, being written

WM. HENRY BURR.

When You Are All Bound Up and are suffering from indigestion, lack of appetite, foul breath, headache, dyspepsia, catarrh of the stomach, kidney and liver complaints you need a tonic laxative, something that will move the bowels quickly, easily and without leaving hurtful effects behind. Never use a purgative or cathartic. They weaken the bowels and system and make the disease worse. Use instead Vernal Saw Palmetto Berry Wine. It tones, builds up, gives new strength and vigor, not alone to the bowels but to the whole being. Only one small dose a day will cure any case, from the lightest to the worst. That means cure, not simply re-lief only. Most obstinate cases yield gently and easily and the cure is permanenet. Vernal Saw Palmetto Berry Wine is not a patent medicine. A list of ingredients is in every package with explanation of their action. Write us for a free sample bottle. Vernal Remedy co., 166 Seneca Building, Buffalo.

All leading druggists sell it.

"Longley's Beautiful Songs." Fourteen beautiful, soul-inspiring songs, with music, by C. Payson Longley. Price by mail, 15 cents. For sale at "The Light of Egypt." Volumes 1 and 2. An occult library in itself, a text-book of esoteric knowledge as taught by Adepts of Hermetic Philosophy. Price $2 per volume. For sale at this office. "Discovery of a Lost Trail." By Chas.

B. Newcomb. Excellent in spiritual suggestiveness. Cloth, $1.50. For sale at this office. "Continuity of Life a Cosmic Truth." By Prof. W. M. Lockwood. The work of a strong, logical thinker, on a deeply important subject. Price, cloth, $1.
"Handy Electrical Dictionary." A practical handbook of reference con-

History of the GHRISTIAN RELIGION to the Year 200,

BY CHARLES V. WAITE, A. M. Fifth Edition-Revised, with Much Additional Matter in Appendix

A standard and reliable history of the historical research in matters of face earlier period of the church, giving wholly ignored by the regular church facts that are not found in the so-called historians, and throws a bright glare of histories written by churchmen. This latest edition has been carefully and thoroughly revised, and it is a reliable magazine of facts, such as the honest inquirer wants. It opens up to the investigator and student a wide field of office.

historians, and throws a bright glare of light on points heretofore carefully shrouded in darkness.

A large octavo volume of 556 pages, strongly bound in cloth. Price $2.25.

GELESTIAL DYNAMIGS,

Being a Normal Course of Study in the Astro-Magnetic Forces of Nature.

BY THE AUTHOR OF "THE LIGHT OF EGYPT," "THE LAN-GUAGE OF THE STARS," ETC.

A magnificent and complete course of Astro-metaphysical study, embodying Vital Principles of Life, Mental Force, Sickness and Disease. With the only true and really Scientific method of treating the sick successfully. Mental Healers, Meta-physicians, and all who practice the Healing Art Divine should give "Celestial Dynamics" a thorough and impartial study, and thus learn the real cause of their frequent failures.

No Astro-Student can afford to be without this work, if he would understand the Meta-physics of Astrology.

This work was specially prepared for publication to meet the demands of a large and very earnest class of people who cannot afford to pay for a regular course of instruction under a qualified teacher. And those who can afford this privilege will find the work an invaluable text-book to their studies.

The Price is One Dollar Only, and is within reach of all who seek

RENDING THE VAIL

A Most Remarkable Book Concerning the Existence of Man, and All Things, and All Being

It Was Written by Materialized Forms at the House of J. H. Pratt, Spring Hill, Kansas, William W. Aber Being the Medium.

Col. R. T. Van Horn, of Kansas City, these are treated, some of them very, Mo., as a most remarkable work. That fully, but all rationally understandable. Col. Van Horn is fully competent to Also phenomena, inspiration and such, judge, we will say that he has been a to many, knotty subjects, are freely and member of congress for four sessions, fully discussed. an editor of a leading daily, and a pro- "The work is not written by the mefound thinker along scientific lines. dlum nor by any one connected with the sages or dissertations on scientific, philad way for the took.

"The work is unique in the history of topics—from world-building, the origin spirit communication. Swedenborg. Andrew Jackson Davis, and Maria King ery, and the laws of cosmos or nature—wrote under inspiration. Newbrough

"In addition to this mass of messages, there are in the book about sixty illustrations—44 of them portraits. These were drawn by a form standing out in the room at a desk, the form or person."

"It is but just to the secretary to say on our book-shelves.

"Rending the Vail" is pronounced by and various kindred questions. All

He says:

"The principal contributors to the book are four in number: Dr. W. H. Reed, who is called the chemical control of the medium; William Denton, trol of the medium; William Denton, Thomas Paine and Michael Faraday. Thomas Paine and Michael Faraday.

There are numerous others giving a few incidental and mostly personal messages or dissertations on scientific, phil.

"The work is unique to the cook."

ery, and the laws of cosmos or nature—in fact the entire field of human wrote Oahspe automatically by type-thought. The limitation seemed to be only that of the spectators to ask questions.

Wrote under inspiration. Newbrough wrote Oahspe automatically by type-thought. The limitation seemed to be ten and spoken by full-form personalities and is printed as given. One rethe room at a desk, the form or personality to be sketched at the doorway of the cabinet and the finished picture—not only faithfully and efficiently, but with excellent taste. There are no dogmatic parentheses, no interpolations or ipse dixits of the scribe. He simply states that "a form purporting to be" the topics treated by Prof. Denton, Thomas Paine and Prof. Faraday, are in kind, in thought and style with those to which their active lives in this world were devoted—in literary character as different here as in their works extant different here as in their works extant rendering of these extraordinary hapn our book-shelves. penings by the secretary has been a "The Spiritualist press and its con-source of constant admiration. It adds tributors are just now discussing a character to the book and inspires connumber of questions as to the nature of stant confidence in the integrity that spirit, of spirit return; the want of from the first page to the last enhances agreement between those returning as the respect and interest of the reader.' to conditions in their present world; the This remarkable book, "Rending the limitations—that the organism of the Vail," is for sale at the office of The medium imposes upon communication, Progressive Thinker. Price $1.75.

BEYOND THE VAIL

A Sequel to "Rending the Vail,"

The two volumes together as a record the experiences of spirits in both worlds of practically obtained facts demon—their own account of their lives on strating the claims of Modern Spirite earth and their progress after death to strating the claims of Modern spirite earth and their progress after death to ualism as to post mortal survival, are their present condition of freedom from unique and overwhelming.

earth conditions. The narratives are inunique and overwhelming.

Every communication is from a full materialized spirit form, in good light, and either spoken audibly or written in full view by the form. There is not an output of the search conditions. The narratives are intensely interesting, instructive and often highly dramatic.

Coincident with these are the profoundly philosophical comments of the controlling spirits of the search.

full view by the form. There is not an automatic or trance message in the controlling spirits of the seances. Prof. William Denton, Thomas Paine, Dr. W. It is illustrated by several engravings, H. Reed and others—covering, law, the originals of which were drawn in medicine, jurisprudence, theology and the presence of the circle by a full form metaphysics. There are no books in existence of like character or of higher BEYOND THE VAIL is, as a rule, authority. Price, by mail, $1.75.

"THE UNKNOWN"

GAMILLE FLAMMARION.

sensation in France when first pub-lished and can scarecly fall to arouse ity, hallucinations, psychic action of one the greatest interest in this country. It mind upon another, transmission of the anominant scientist's study of the the greatest interest in this country. It mind upon another, transmission of is an eminent scientist's study of the thought, suggestion, the world of phenomena of the spirit world. In dreams, cerebral physiology, psychic touching upon the various physical dreams, distinct sight in dreams, actual manifestations the author cites many facts, premonitory dreams and divinational processing of the future, etc. 487 pages, cloth chapters of his book are as weirdly fastion. Price $2.00. For Sale at the Office of The Progressive Thinker.

OUR BIBLE: WHO WROTE IT? WHEN? WHERE? HOW? Is It Infallible?

A Voice from the Higher Criticism.

A Few Thoughts on Other Bibles. BY MOSES HULL.

Excellent as an exposition of the Higher Criticism and an analysis of the Bible from that standpoint. Of special value and interest to Spiritualists. For sale at this office. Price $1.00. taining definitions of every used elec-

The G. E. Watkins SECOND

Private Sanitarium

Will be open May 20th.

All those who desire to become patients, should write at once and engage rooms. We shall treat all chronic cases, but Nervous Diseases and Stomach Troubles Are Our Specialties; though British Columbia to the Gulf of California, and wherever known her pathway we treat all chrouic diseases successfully.

Terms for treatment will-be made known on application to E. T. GOVE, Mgr.,

66 Highland Ave., Newtonville, Mass. Send for our Booklet telling all about our beautiful San-Itarium and our methods of Curing the Sick,

Send him age, sex and Leading Symptom.

The stars shone out in the sky afar, The clouds were like shimmering gates ajar,
And the moon light gleamed, without shadow or mar, Through the odorous, dew-damp air; And never a night wind sang or sighed On that wonderful night when the little

Like sentinel outposts, patient, tried, The forest about us lay,

And the great hills guarded the other While only the valley fields, smooth and

All bathed in the moonshine's mystical Twixt the woods and the mountains

The day world seemed to have faded

Twas such a beautiful night to die,

So filled with the glory of earth; The moonbeams, ladder-like, pierced the sky, And a night-bird trilled with a passionate cry, To speed the passing, while only I Would have hindered that higher birth: But my heart wept blood and my torn soul sighed On that desolate night when the little

The moon and the stars were shining

When she floated at last, away, And ah! the pain of a wild regret, As I watching her, knew, with my fier eves wet. She would start on her journey with all line sympathizers. sail set, Alone at the break of day.

My spirit went with her to realms afar, The night that the little girl crossed the calm,

I folded her still, small hands;

harm, But even this knowledge brought no way." He drove along with a smile on balm.

For my life passed out, like a fluttering psalm, With her, to the far-off lands; And for her sweet presence all nature little girl died.

-Ethel Maude Colson.

poration organized here for the purpose she died yesterday, the 20th. She sufof holding a camp-meeting each year, fered untold agonies, and said she and it has purchased a beautiful tract would have been glad if it had burned of land on the shore of Reed's Lake, her up at first, and not caused her to near the city here, and are beautifying it and building and repairing the buildings that were already on it, and all conveniences of an old camp will be after her, and that she was going home found here this year. The grounds with him. She would describe the spirare reached by street cars and a boat ride of five minutes. The boats land ones in the room waiting on her, if they at our dock which has lately been built could see them, and they told her they and the fare on the boat is only five could not, and she would then point in cents additional to the five cents car the direction of the spirits and describe fare, thus making it a very trifling ex-pense to attend the meetings. This boat fare also includes a rice as long but she would protest and say that she boat fare also includes a rice as long as you wish around the beautiful lake. The program is nearly completed and includes the following names: Willard J. Hull, of Columbus, Ohio; Abbie E. Sheets, of Grand Ledge, Mich.; Anna L. Gillespie, of California; Cora M. Morrill, of Grand Rapids; P. T. Johnson, of Patilla Creak: Marion Corporator of De-Battle Creek; Marian Carpenter, of Desins, and cause them to fiee from the troit; Mrs. Julia Walton, of Jackson; wrath to come.

W. C. Hicks, of Benton Harbor; AmanIs it possible that God was so ignorda Coffman, of Grand Rapids; W. V. Ni-cum, of Dayton, Ohio; F. D. Dunakin, of when he made him? that is, if we take Cecil, Ohio; W. O. Knowles, Emmaliss the orthodox way of putting it. Does Blake and Mrs. Fuller, of Grand Raphe he have to take our children and burn ids; A. W. Brown, of California, and them up—pour oil over them, set them our president, Mr. Herrick. The medi- afire and burn their little bodies to a ums for private and phenomenal work crisp, and then keep them suffering two are among the best and the following long weeks, to break us from our sins, have sent word they will be present:

A. A. Finney, Grand Rapids; Mrs.
Schumm, Grand Rapids; Frank N. Fosgod he must be! If I believed in such a ter; Alice Gehring, of Chicago. Mr. and god I would prefer staying away from Mrs. Klauser, of Indianapolis, and other him, for he would be worse than his saers are expected. No pains will be tanic majesty with his pitchfork, stabspared to entertain and take care of all bing the little babies and carrying them who visit us. Mr. D. A. Herrick, our along on the prongs. president, has been selected as manager and will be present all the time and preside at our meetings, and his many years of experience is enough to insure the success of our meetings. We open July 4 and close August 30.

Information will be cheerfully furnished upon application. Address D. A. Herrick, 296 N. Ionia street, or T. J. HAYNES.

"Mediumship and Its Development, and How to Mesmerize to Assist Development, For sale at this office." opment." By W. H. Bach. Especially "An Infamous Dynamite Roman Cathuseful to learners who seek to know and olic Conspiracy Detected and Exposed."
utilize the laws of mediumship and de-"Romanism Exposed." Two pamphlets velopment, and avoid errors. Price, by Rev. J. G. White, author of Startling cloth, 50 cents; paper, 25 cents. For Facts. Price 10 cents each, or two for 15 cents.

PASSED TO SPIRIT LIFE.

only will be inserted free. All in excess of ten lines will be charged at the rate of fifteen cents per line. About seven words constitute one line 1

Passed to spirit life, at Brownsville, Minn., Mrs. Josephine McCann, aged 79 years. A pioneer of Minnesota, universally beloved and respected. A graduate from orthodoxy to Spiritualism, and for the last quarter century a consistent and faithful believer of that philosophy. Services conducted by the writer.
W. J. ERWOOD.

rich and poor, the great and small alike. Funeral services were conducted under the auspices of the Spiritualists of Whatcom county.

Mrs. Mary A. Worledge, passed to spirit life after an unsuccessful surgical operation to remove a tumor from her breast. She was 42 years of age. Her religion in early life was that of the orthodox, and later she said she had to accept the beautiful knowledge of Spiritualism, and her last words to her friends was, "I see my dear mother coming with outstretched arms to take me home." Then with a smile upon her face she passed peacefully away. Mr. Charles Schneider, of Washington, Pa., conducted the services. Mr. Schneider has been in Canton for a couple of weeks doing missionary work for the Canton, Ohio.

The night that the little girl crossed the bar from Madame Roberts, in which she from Madame Roberts, in which she brought borne for burial. He will be remade the doctor three years turn not to dust, nor dear eyes to ashes, that she would conduct the services. MRS. MARIAN CARPENTER.

> Eli Wilder, aged 79 years and 24 days, passed to the higher life from his home in Waukegan, May 23. Mr. Wilder was a native of Oswego county, N. Y., and later made his home in this state. He was one of the pioneers in Spiritualism, and was familiar with the advanced thought of this period. He was an ardent admirer of the discourses of Mrs. Cora L. V. Richmond, who, by his request and that of his household, officiated at the funeral services at his home, Tuesday, May 26. A large number of relatives and friends were in attendance, including children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. of Mrs. Richmond's guides was in marked contrast to the usual theological ministrations on such occasions, and will set many people who were present to thinking of the great comfort Spiritualism brings. COR.

passed to spirit life Saturday evening, May 23, from the home of her niece, Mrs. Ditch, 52 Whipple street. Mr. Gardner preceded her nearly two years ago. Both were members for many years of the First Society of Spiritual ists (now the Church of the Soul) and whenever health and presence in the city permitted, they attended that The Englewood Spiritual Union meets church and the Band of Harmony. Latterly, however, ill health had kept them both away. Mrs. Gardner was eminently gifted in spiritual ways, and often gave pleasure and instruction to her immediate friends with her spiritual gifts. Mrs. Cora L. V. Richmond officiated at the funeral services, Tuesday, May 26, which were private, at the home of the niece and her husband. Mrs. and Mr. Ditch, the family and a few friends only being present. The services were in the evening (by Mrs. Gardner's request.) There was singing by a male quartette. There were flowers, the gift of loving friends, and the simple ad-dress and poem. All was touchingly in keeping with the retiring, sensitive nature of Mrs. Gardner. The lovely attributes of the arisen one; the tender care she had received from her loved niece and Mr. Ditch, as well as from her sister and friends, the great triumph of the spirit who enters the other life with knowledge of the great change, all were remembered in the address. It was as if the other life, for the time, had been made palpable to all. ONE WHO WAS THERE.

suspended, that notice be given us, so that inquirers may not be mislead. We want new notices of all meetings being held here in public halls at the present

The Metropolitan Spiritualist Society holds services every Sunday evening at 8 o'clock in Haymarket Theatre Building, 161 W. Madison street. Lecture, spirit communications, and questions answered. Mrs. Maggie Waite, pastor. Church of the Spirit Communion, Kenwood Hall, 4308 Cottage Grove avenue. Conference and messages at 3 p. m. Lecture by Dr. J. O. M. Hewitt at p. m. Messages by H. F. Coates and others. Plenty of good music.

The Progressive Society holds services at 183 E. North avenue, corner Burling street, every Sunday at 8 and 8 p. m. Lectures delivered in English and German by Mrs. Hilbert, assisted by Mrs. Schwann and other good speakers. Tests and good music at all serv-

The Spiritual Research meets every Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in Van Buren Opera House, corner of Madison street and California avenue. Good music and singing. All are invited to attend.

Sunday at John Schott's Lodge Hall, corner Belmont and Racine avenue. Speaker, Hon. R. Gilray, Charles J. Peterson, Prof. Edwards and Mr. G. A. Cowen, test mediums. Services, 8 p. m.
The Spiritualistic Church of the Students of Nature hold services at Nathan's Hall, 1565 Milwaukee avenue, corner Western avenue, Sunday evenings, 7:80 p. m. Mrs. W. F. Schumacher, pastor. Church of the Spiritual Forces holds service at Thurman Club Room, corner of 47th street and Cottage Grove avenue, every Sunday. Conference at 3 p. m. Lecture at 8 p. m. Conducted by Isa Cleveland.

meets Sunday evenings at & o'clock. Lecture and tests by Rev. Mrs. Sheffor, at hall, $30 W. Wadison street,

Safe Investment FOI SOITILIAISTS Send three two-cent stamps, lock of hair, age, name and the leading symptom, and your disease will be diagnosed

Money Invested in Dr. Peebles' Company Will Draw Handsome Dividends From the Day of Investment. Your Stock Will Also Double in Value if Held a Few Years.

WISE INVESTOR WHO SUCCEEDS

Are you looking for a good and SAFE investment that will pay you handsome dividends from the start, and will, at the very least, double your capital in a year or two?

If so, it will be well for you to investigate the investment opportunity offered by Dr. Peebles Institute of Health. Some months ago Dr. Peebles and his associates incorporated their medical business at Battle Creek, in order to secure certain legal protection granted incorporated companies. Believing that the earnest co-operation of the Spiritualists ago, and it helped me so much, I will of the country in this great work would add still further to the wonderful growth and success of the company, the doctor and his co-workers have decided to place a portion of the treasury stock in the hands of the Spiritualists throughout the country. A large amount of the original block of stock offered has been taken, but there are a few hundred shares block of stock offered has been taken, but there are a few hundred shares to be sold at the original offer before the price advances, so if you are interested write at once for particulars.

You do not need to be wealthy to share in the doctor's company:

Doctors of the doctor's company:

Bes Doctors of the doctor's company:

Doctors of the doc

You do not need to be wealthy to share in the doctor's company; the small investor is just as welcome as the large. The man investing $50 or $100 will use his influence for the company just as will the one investing many thousands, and it is the good wishes and support that is desired more than the money.

A small amount properly invested where it will draw good dividends and continually increase in value is worth many times the same amount if allowed to lie idle, or put away in a bank where it will draw only 3 or 4 per cent at best.

Money invested in Dr. Peebles Company to-day under his present offer will draw handsome dividends from the first, and, in addition thereto, the stock will increase in value so that at the end of two years at most it will be worth two or three times what you paid for it.

If you have any amount above $10 you can spare for investment, write for full particulars at once. Seven per cent dividends are guaranteed from the first, and much larger ones can be expected after the first year. Address

> DR. J. M. PEEBLES, Chairman, Box 2421, Battle Creek, Mich.

Chicago Spiritual Alliance Church meets every Sunday at 3 o'clock sharp, and 8 o'clock sharp at Lakeside Hall, corner Thirty-first street and indiana avenue, where truth-seekers and investigators, as well as Spiritualists can enjoy a pleasant afternoon or evening. First-class speakers. Tests and messages by carefully selected mediums. Drake. Mrs. May Elmo, medium.

The Brotherhood of Spiritual Truth Society meets Sunday at 8 p. m. Services conducted by J. K. Hilles and wife and other measums, who will from time to time address the meeting and give tests and spirit messages. Meetings will be held in Temperance Hall, 330 West Sixty-thirdistreet. All are invited to attend and co-operate.

The First Hyde Park Occult Society holds regular meetings every Sunday at Alliance Hall, 323 E. 55th street, between Monroe and Kimbark avenues. The best talent available will be secured to give interest at every meeting. To spread the truth is the object of this society. Eva LaStewart, secretary, 543 E 55th street, where all communications should be addressed.

The Second Church of the Soul holds services every Sunday at 3 and 8 o'clock in Hygeia Hall, Ogden avenue Lecture spirit com munications, and questions answered at Hopkins' Hall, 528 W. 63d street. Conference meeting at 2:30. Lecture by Oscar A. Edgerly, of Boston, Mass., followed by messages by Mrs. J. A. Murtha, of Baltimore, Md. Every Thursday at 2:30 the Ladies' Auxiliary holds services at which good mediums serve with tests and lectures.

Dr. Sholdice holds services Sunday evenings at 7:45, at 205 Lincoln avenue.

"The Veil of Isis," as seen at Atlantis; in the Great Temple of Karnac, at Luxor, in Egypt, and in the Jewish Temple at Jerusalem, is Doctor Phelon's latest booklet. Its pages are full of ancient lore, in paper covers. For sale at this office. Sent on receipt of ten cents, silver or stamps.

"Origin of Life, or Where Man Comes From." "The Evolution of the Spirit from Matter Through Organic Processes, or How the Spirit Body Grows." By Michael Faraday. Prince 10 cents. For sale at this office.

"The Kingship of Self-Control." By Wm. George Jordan. It treats of the crimes of the tongue, the Red Tape duty, the supreme charity of the world, the revelation of reserve power, etc.

teresting book. Neatly bound in cloth and gilt. Only 50 cents.

"Right Living." By Susan H. Wixon. The author shows a wise practicality in her method of teaching the principle of the matter than the ethics. She illustrates her subject with mony of many witnesses. By Abram F many brief narratives and anecdotes, which render the book more interesting and more easily?comprehended. especially adapted for use in Children's teachers it may be made very useful. Young and old will be benefited by it.

25 cents. Big Bible Stories, cloth, 50 cents. For sale at this office.

Thomas Paine," contains his celebrated "Age of Renson," and a number of letters and discourses on religious and theological subjects. Cloth binding, 430 pages. Price $1.eFor sale at this office. "Never-EffdinghLife Assured by Science." By Daniel Kent Tenney. A strong and conclusive argument from the basis of science. For sale at this office. Price 6 cents.

"The Majesty of Calmness, or Individual Problems and Possibilities." Wm. George Jordan. Another valuable little work. Price 30 cents. For sale at this office.

"Mark Chester; or a Mill and a Million, A Tale of Southern California.' By Carlyle Petersilea. A pure psychic story, elevating and reformatory. Paper covers, 40 cents. Cloth, 60 cents. For sale at this office.

"The Spiritual Significance, or, Death as an Event in Life." By Lilian Whiting. One of Miss Whiting's most suggestive, intensely interesting, spiritual books. It is laden with rich, thoughtful spirituality. For sale at this office.

Readings by Mail, Stump. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded. Mrs. Maggle Newman, Spring Hill, Kan. Female and Children's Diseases fured without medicine. No charge for consults lon. MRS. C. H. COCHRAN, 1674 Wellington St lieago, near Clark, 709

MRS. STODDARD GRAY And Son, DE WITT C. HOUGH. Materializing and Test Mediums, hold scances Sunday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, eight o'clock, Saturdays 2 p. m., at their residence, 331 West 57th St., New York. Sittings for communi-cations daily, 10 to 5.

DON'T READ THIS. Frances L. Loucks, the only psychic wonder living, hat uses the spiritual X-ray without any leading ymptom to direct, and locates all internal diseases, trial will convince you. Nervous exhaustion and ost vigor of both sexes successfully treated, as hundreds can testify. Send name, age, sex, complexion and it cents in stamps, and receive a correct diagnosis of your case free, worth dollars to you. Address,

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Forward Free of Charge,

Valuable Information, of Interest to All.

C WALTER LYNN,

You Can Have If you wear Magnetized Good Eucsight spectacles. For fifteen gees by Clairvoyant sight and spirit assistance. Sending spectacles by mail to people that live in all parts of this mundane world. If you want the best spectacles write for Illustrated Circular, showing styles of frames and prices, also how you can by ME be fitted at Your Own Home. For 5 cents to pay postage. Will send sample of magnetized compound, sufficient for 4 oz of eye water. Cures sore eyes, strengthens weak eyes. If requested will send photo of Spirit Yarma.

43 Evanston Ave., Chicago, Ill.

the revelation of reserve power, etc.

Price 30 cents. For sale at this office.

"The Present Age and Inner Life; Ancient and Modern Mysteries Classified and explained." By Andrew Jackson Davis. We have a few copies of this work by the celebrated seer.

Cloth, $1.10.

"The Romance of Jude. A Story of the Life and Times of the Nazarene and His People." Through the mediumship of Mrs. M. T. Longley. An intensely interesting book. Neatly bound in cloth

"MOI IF FANCHED

MOLLIE FANCHER. The Brooklyn Enigma.

Spiritualist

Maltese Watch Cherm. PRIOES:—Indge Pin, $1.50: Lapel Button, $1.50; Sunflower Brooch, $1.50; Maltese Charm, $5.50; Maltese Pendant, $5.50. This jewelry needs no other recommend than to say it is the SUNFLOWER BADGE, the adopted emblem of Spritualism. As the Sunflower turns its face towards the sun, so Spiritualism turns the faces of humanity from darkness and superstition towards the Sunight of Trath and Progression. These beautiful emblems are for sale at this office.

KAREZZA Bithics of Marriage. By Alice B. Stockham, M. Diea for a botter birthright for children, and aims to lead individuals to seek a higher development of themselves through most sacred relations. It is pure in tone and aim, and should be widely circulated. Price, cloth, 81.

free by spirit power.

Mrs. Dr. Dobson-Barker.

Mrs. Dr. Dobson-Barker.

TESTIMONIALS OF CURE.

My Dear Mrs. Dobson-Barker:-I want to say, I have been ailing for thirty years and you are the only one that has done me any good.

MARY JANE PEARCE. Perris, Riverside Co., Cal., Feb. 21,

Mrs. Dobson-Barker-Kind Friend:write to you again to see if you are still practicing, and if you are I want to send to you for another month's treatment, for I can safely say that you did more for me than all the doctors on

Pee Dee, Ky., Oct. 20, 1902.

Stanton, Mich., Jan. 19, 1902. Mrs. Dr. Dobson-Barker-Dear Sister:—I take my pen in hand to let you know how I am. I thank you and your band for I know I would be in my grave now, but you and your band have saved me. I suffered everything. I am happy to say I am a well woman. I was sick a long time; I do my own work; how I would like to see the woman that cured me. I let every one know who cured me. I was sick twenty-five years.

I still remain your friend, AMANDA R. GREEN.

DR. J. S. LOUCKS

Is the cidest and most successful Spiritual Physician now in practice. His cures are THE MOST MARVELOUS of this age. His examinations are correctly made, and free to all who send him name, age, sex and lock of hair, and six cents in stamps. He doesn't ask for any leading symptom. A clairvoyant doesn't need any. He positively cures weak men. Address J. S. LOUCKS, M. D.,

MRS. MAGGIE WAITE

A Tried and True Medium, Clairvoyant, Intuitional and Prophetic. Has consented to give readings by mail for a limited time, to carnest inquirers who are seeking for evidences of a future life. Full readings and three questions answered, by mail, 11. Where date of birth is sent, will give an Astro-Psychic Delineation also, Send own handwriting. Address, MRS. E. DE FOREST.

THE SPEAKING DIAL Gives names, dates and cfreumstances. Speaks in various languages; answers mental questions; convincing the most skeptical. Has come to prove immortality and spirit communion. Develops all phases of mediumship. Magnetized by powerful spirit band. Read what the late Hon. I. Donnelly said of the Speaking Dial. Dials now, £1.50. Send for testimonials. P. J. DEMPSEY Inventor, 2817 Columbus ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

FRANK N. FOSTER,

Spirit Photography, Gives sittings by mail. Cut this adout and senwith your order and get two extra pictures. Sene for circular to F. N. FOSTER, 2017 Wabash ave., Chicago.

Bangs Sisters,

PHENOMENAL MEDIUMS. Independent state and paper writing sittings daily. Spirit Portrait Work a Specialty. Readings by mail. Send four cents stamps for booklet. 664 W. Adams, Chicago. Telephone Ashland 1912.

Annie Lord Chamberlain's Card. Dear friends, you can greatly help me care for my blind sister. Jennie L. Webb, one of the earliest mediums now in the form, by writing a letter to a spirit friend. Bend it to me with $\tilde{\ell}$, and I will try and get exply by independent writing or whispers. Address ers. Annie l.ord Chamberlain, Milford, Mass.

"NO BEGINNING."

An Excellent Work for Thinkers.

This book, "No Beginning," is by William H. Maple. The Arena says of it: "The argument is unanswerable. The book will at once appeal to the rea son of every reader, and leave him more amazed than ever at the preva-lence of the theory of Creation." The Two has always been a fateful num-Free Thought Ideal says: "We found it full of glittering thoughts for thinkers, and the very death warrant of Christian superstition shines upon its pages."

A NEW GATEGHISM, BY M. M. MANGASARIAN.

This is a new "Catechism" in the full sense of the ord. There has as yet appeared in the world of lib eral literature nothing like this most wonderful little book of reason. E. P. Powell, the well-known author, the reviewer and critic, asys: "The remarkable thing about this 'Catechism' is that it tells the truth." It deals with the questions of God. Immortality-the Jesus and his Teaching, the Growth of the Christian Beriptures, and many other philosophical, scientific and ethical questions with the utmost candor, cou age and clearness. 188 pages. Cioth 75c; paper, 50c

MARK GHESTER,

A Mill and a Million.

This is one of Carlyle Peterslica's most inter-esting works. It is purely a Psychical Romance such as the author is noted for producing. You need it in your library for the purpose of lead-ing your romance-loving children out into the light of occultism. Price, cloth cover, 60 cts. For sale at this office.

The Romance of Jude Life and Times of "The Nazarine" and of his people. Given Through the mediumship of MRS.M.T. LONGLEY, to Ira C. Fuller, and by him dedicated to humanty. It is enough to know this work came through this excellent medium to recommend it. 174 pages of interesting reading. Price, cloth, 50 cents.

or The Touch of An Angel Mother. BY CARRIE E. S. TWING.

Healer and

Gifted Psychic HEALTH RESTORED By Common Sense Method

For the Cure of Mental and Physical Ailments

OBSESSION CURED. For Free Diagnosis of Disease send five two-cent stamps, age, name

READINGS AND BUSINESS AND VICE $1.00 and two stamps.

Address 855 Grove St., Oakland, Cal.

Write for Circular

Artus New York and Blood Bullets.

An ideal restorative tonic for the cure of Gency al Debility and the various forms of nervous amphysical depression, Melancholia, Nervous Dyapensta, Torpid Liver, Weak Ridneys, Chronic Backache, poor circulation, poor appetite, poor sleep, poor blood, etc., and for improving the tone of the general nervous system, the directive functions and the blood. 50 doses, 75c; 100 doses $1.20 Postage prepaid.

Write for Circular.

JORY'S BOWEL TONIC

For Constipation, Heatache, Etc.

Are not a Purgative, but induce a Natural Health,

Action of the Bowels, 38 tablets, 25c. Postaci menaid. Prepared only by

H. M. JORY, Manufacturing Chemist. 6 Eddy Street, San Francisco, Cal.

Longley's Beautiful Songs For Public Meetings and the Home.

VOLUME ONE Contains the following songs with music:
I'm thinking, dear mother, of you. We miss out boys at home. The land of the bye and bye. The good times yet to be. The land beyond the stars,
They are waiting at the portal. When the dear ones gather at home. Resting under the daisies. The grand jubilee. My mother's tender eyes. Dear hears come home. Come in some beautiful dream. Where the roses never fade. In heaven we'll know our own.

VOLUME TWO
Contains 15 new and beautiful songs, suited to the home circle, seances, local meetings, mass-meetings, conventions, anniversaries and jubilees. They come prise an excellent variety of poems set to easy harmony and ought to sell readily. These books are lotted, each; the two for Socta. For sale at this omce.

VOLUMES 3 AND 4. This is a book of 57 pages, filled with spiritual harmony from first to last. Spiritual societies need not be calling for something new to sing to the people of they will supply themselves with copies of this book, or in fact any of the whove choice collections of Mr. Longley's musical publications. Volumes 3 and 4 are in one book, price 25 cts., 3 cts. each by mail.

Echoes From the World of Song. A collection of 50 charming songs with chorus and music, sheet music size. Price $1.00; postage 15 cts,

A Very Interesting Book tor Aff. Philosophy of This work contains a graphic spiritual Intercourse. account of the very wonderful spiritual developments at the house of Rev. Dr. Phelps, Stratford, Conn., and similar cases in all parts of the country. This volume is the first from the author directly upon the subject of Spiritualism, and has stood the test of many years. Cloth, $1,20; postage 10c.

THE TO-MORROW OF DEATH, Or the Future Life According to Science. By Louis Figuier. Translated from the French by S. R. Crockee. A very fascinating work. This fine volume might well have been entitled Spiritualism Demonstrated by Science. It is written in that peculiar interesting style in which French writers excel when they would popularize scientific subjects in adaptation to the needs of the general reader. The author says: "There is a true and respectable idea in Spiritualism," and regards as proved "the fact of communication between superhumans and the inhabitants of earth." Price, $1.50.

DEATH and the AFTER LIFE By A. J. Davis.

An instructive and interesting work for all to ead. Price 60 cents. INTERVIEWS WITH SPIRITS A real visit with friends on the other side of life, and a familiar talk. By Spirit Samuel Bowles; Carrie E. S. Twing, Medium. Price 30c.

The Law of Correspondence Applied to Healing. A course of seven practical lessons. By W. J. Colville. Limp closh, 50c.

A Conspiracy Against the Republic By Charles B. Waite, A. M., author of "History of the Christian Religion to the Year 200," etc. Price, paper, 25 cents.

It is enough to say this 50 page pamphlet is written by Moses Hull. Price 15 cents. ANCIENT INDIA,

ALL ABOUT DEVILS.

lts Language and Religions. By Prof. H. Olden-berg. Paper, 25 cents. Apolionius of Tuana Identified as the wonderful communication, explaining how his life and teachings were utilized to formulate

FRED E Habasok By Fred T. Hodgson,

M. O., A. A. The well-known Technical writer. It is one of the best works ever turned out by him. Copiously illustrated with diagrams and figures, making the most intricate problems simple, dor making the most intricate problems simp inite and easily understood. Price, $1.00.

STARTLING FACTS, Deeds of Darkness Disclosed

This work devotes special attention to Auricular Confession and its relations to sacerdotal celibacy, convents monasteries, morality and civil and religious liberty. It is intended to be an embodiment of facts and documentary evidence of the pernicious influence of the confessional; a trenchant showing up of Romanism, based upon standard Catholic authorities; an eye-opener conmoral turpitude and evil works of Ro manism. Cloth, 75 cents.

The Science of Spirit Return. By Charles Dawbarn. A scientific reheared that is truly interesting. Price, 10 cents.

Medical Gompany &

Or to The C. E. Watkins Medical Co.,

The Doctor Will diagnose diseases by letter.

THE NIGHT THE LITTLE GIRL DIED. Madame Roberts and Winding Ways.

gives expression to her earnest lament that so many people "ignore the Bible," and seems to think that "no better chart or map of the road leading to the beautiful land can be found elsewhere," I fear the Madame does not manage to find time to look over and study that particular book as often, and as long as she should, in order to determine its authority as a guide. Madame Roberts recommends the Bible because she has doubtless read some good things in it, such as "thou shalt not defraud thy neighbor, nor rob him"; thou shalt not steal." etc. Everyone knows there are good things in the book; but still it should be revised and corrected. This, for instance: "When ye go, ye shall not go empty; but every woman shall borrow of her neighbor, and of her The night that the little girl crossed the that sojourneth in her house, jewels of silver, and jewels of gold, and raiment; and ye shall put them upon your sons and upon your daughters, and ye shall spoil the Egyptians." Again, "I will sell your sons and daughters into the hands of the children of Judah, and they shall sell them to the Sabeans, to a people afar off; for the Lord hath said it." Again, "I will be a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.' If Madame feels perfectly satisfied with this "guide book," I have no desire to discourage her; but I do not wonder that the heathen are not satisfied with the Christian Bible: one educated Oriental said if their bible contained the like of ours, they would either revise it, or else make a bonfire big enough to be seen in distant San Francisco." And

And this man had lots of friends and genu-Not long ago I heard an old country farmer saying it was his impression that Mr. Davis (referring to A. J.) carried more stock in "The Star of the East," than Prof. Faraday did; said he was familiar with the writings of both I kissed her face with its passionless men, etc. As I stared at him, I could not help smiling a little as I replied: "Well, people know, I suppose, that you I knew she was safe from all shadow of are only a superannuated old farmer, whose opinion isn't worth a straw any-> his face. E. T. DICKINSON.

Limona, Fla. Orthodox Consolation. cried,
On that strange, sad night when the here in the cotton factory, a fine and most beautiful girl, was preparing to retire on Friday night, May 8, She was undressed and stepped to the table to Reed's Lake Camp, Grand Rapids, Mich. blow out the light, and when she blew, the blaze went down in the lamp and it We are nearing a camp session and exploded and enveloped her in the are making all preparation to have a flames, and she was burned so badly belarge gathering. There has been a corfore they could extinguish the fire that

A. A. McCORMICK. Hillsboro, Texas.

"Talmagean Inanities, Incongruities, Inconsistencies and Blasphemies; a Review of Rev. T. DeWitt and Rev Frank DeWitt Talmage's oft-repeated attacks upon Spiritualism." By Moses Hull. For sale at this office. Price ten cents. T. J. HAYNES, "Jim; or the Touch of an Angel Mother." By Carrie E. S. Twing. Touching, full of sweet human sympa-

[Oblivaries to the extent of ten lines

Mrs. Jesse Sutherland, the beloved wife of Dr. J. W. Sutherland, of What-com, Wash., departed this life for rest in the spirit world, May 12, leaving behind an affectionate husband and four loving children to mourn her loss. Mrs. Sutherland was a medium of more than ordinary power and known from was marked with greatest friendship of Canton Occult Society. FRANK R. SIPLE.

At Battle Creek, Mich., May 16, the funeral of Dr. John Dickson, was held at the home of his daughter. He passed brought home for burial. He will be remembered by the Spiritualists of Michigan, and greatly missed by our camps, where he has for years been a familiar figure. He was a true and ardent Spiritualist. The writer filled a promise Grand Ledge Camp, that when he journeyed on to that land where sweet lips

Mrs. Mary H. Gardner, aged 65 years,

SPIRITUALIST MEETINGS. It is important when a meeting is Spiritual Union Church meets every

Third Church of Progressive Truth

HOROSCOPES Scientifically accurate and reliable. Captain G. W Walrond, 1610 Glenarm St., Denver, Col., Est 189

FRANCES L. LOUCKS. Stoneham, Mass.

your name and address on Postal Card by return mail, and I will

THE AGE OF REASON.

By Thomas Paine. Being an investigation of True and Fabulous Theology. A new and complete edition, from new plates and now, type; 186 pages, post 8vo. Paper, 25c; cloth. 600

THE GOSPEL OF NATURE

Is a most excellent work by Dr. M. L. Sherman, assisted by Prof. W. F. Lyon. Herotofore it has been sold for $2, but the price now has been reduced to $1. It is a book that will injerest and instruct. It contains 280 pages, and is full of suggestive thoughts. Dr. Sherman was a medium of rare qualities, and his work is a reduced to $1. The contains 280 pages, and is full of suggestive thoughts. Dr. Sherman was a medium of rare qualities, and his work is a reflection from the celestial pipheres.

BY CARRIE E, S. TWING.

Her dedicatory lines are sufficient to show the support of the book as well as the author, it reads, "Because my own children are all under the tender care of the angels, and my heart is hungry for the love of the young. I must book in work in the sufficient of the support of the book as well as the such or it can be supported by the support of the book as well as the such or its can be supported by the support of the book as well as the such or its can be supported by the support of the book as well as the such or its can be supported by the support of the book as well as the such or its can be supported by the support of the book as well as the such or its can be supported by the support of the book as well as the such or its can be supported by the support of the book as well as the such or its can be supported by the support of the book as well as the such or its can be supported by the support of the book as well as the such or its can be supported by the supported by the support of the book as well as the such or its can be supported by the support of the book as well as the such oreduction of the supported by the supported by the supported by th

One number of The Progressive Thinker is often worth one dollar... it is sent one year for that amount.

The Progressive Thinker is the great Educator of the Present Age ... Induce

SPIRITUALISM—Progress, the Universal Law of Nature: Thought, the Solvent of Her Problems.—SPIRITUALISM

VOL, 28,

CHICAGO, ILL., JUNE 13, 1903.

NO. 707,

MORRIS PRATT INSTITUTE.

And the Fund for Homeless Mediums.

[In consequence of the great importance of the reports by Mrs. Stewart and amount per annum; E. Barcus, Columbrs. Longley, to Spiritualists generally, bus, Ohio, $25; E. D. Frost, Almond Wis $25: Mrs. Byers. Kansas City. Mo. we reproduce them this week, with spe-$25. The balance has been made up by Last week the printer in putting the heading in the form, got it badly "mixed," making it senseless. Readjusted, we now present it.—Editor.]

THE MORRIS PRATT INSTITUTE-A FINANCIAL NEEDS-REPORT BY MRS. M. T. LONGLEY WHICH SHOULD TOUCH THE HEART OF EVERY HUMANE SPIRITUALIST.

Spiritualists Are Confronted With the (or at Least, Do Not) Support an Ed-School at Whitewater Has Been Go-Been Demonstrated During the Past Year That Both Can Not Be Sustained - The Progressive Thinker Simply Puts the Issue Fairly Before Spiritualists, and the Next National Convention Must Decide.

voices, the cheeful sound of laughter, the property, and in fact Mr. Hull and hurrying of feet from class-room to cor- myself have said we will never place ridors, will be at an end for the summer, any indebtedness upon it that we can and as the annual meeting of the association convenes June 24, it seems just must now be paid. Will the Spiritualto the public that a review be given of ists pay them? Or shall we be obliged the financial affairs of the past eighteen to place a mortgage upon the building months, the time during which the Association has been organized, and if the should be found to pay within twenty press will kindly allow me space as it four hours after the publication of this has on former occasions, I will submit a Spiritualists, once more will you help plain statement for consideration.

At the time of the organization the close of school, so that we may have the trustees desired two years in which to summer to work for funds, that we may get ready for opening the school, as open next fall without a heavy debt to there were some changes to be made in meet? the building before it could be used for There will be many years before this we could not raise the money, he could so that he can be enabled to teach before he could accomplish his purpose property will be distributed among his School opened the 29th of September with a class of fifteen, made up of pupils coming from Maine, Vermont, Cor necticut, Massachusetts, New York Pennsylvania, Ohio, Iowa, Texas and California. They have done most excellent work, and most, if not all of them are preparing to return next fall. Besides these, we are in receipt of letters from many others who express their intentions of entering next year. The tuition is fixed at fifty dollars per year; the course to cover two years. past year room and board was furnished for from $2.75 to $3 per week, and probably will be the same next year.

The total amount of money received every source up to date, is $5.364.29: the total expenditure, $5,345, leaving a balance of $14.29 with which to meet unpaid bills. The largest contribution came from Mr. Franz, of Massachusetts, and was a check for one thousand dollars. It came like sunsunshine on a cloudy day, and did much to stay up our hands in the struggle for funds. The National Association sent $300 which also gave us much relief; Alonzo Thompson, of Nebraska, $250 inclusive of $30 for life membership in the Association; Andrew C. Dunn, Winnebago, Minn., $100, which includes life membership for himself and wife; Mrs Sawyer, of LaCrosse, Wis., $125 and a pledge of $25 per annum; Moses Hull, $150 which includes one scholarship and a pledge to keep one scholar in the school every year while he lives; A. H. Bliss, Chicago, $100, and Jos. Slater, of not shirk the responsibility. They Columbus, Ohio, $100. The following stand, we are told, in the same relation have each given $100, in two payments, to the Institute, that the directors do to W. C. Edwards of St. Paul, Minn., and has pledged one hundred more in the same way, as well as one scholarship. F. J. Bristol, Oakfield, Wis., and a pledge of fifty dollars per annum for eight more years; Theo. J. Mayer, Washington, D. C., $50; C. W. Sanderson, LaCrosse, Wis., $50; Mrs. Julia Hyde, Ripon, Wis., $75; Mr. Putnam and wife, Oakfield, Wis., $70, with pledge of $35 per annum; Laura G. Fixen, Chicago, $50, which includes $30 for life membership; D. R. Davis, Milwaukee, Willis Wis., $25, and pledge of same amount Willis. yearly; C. A. Dodge, California, $30; C. A. blithe heart makes a blooming vis-T. Ford, California, $25; J. K. Moore, age. Scotch proverb.

collections, and sums ranging from one to ten dollars.

There are now unpaid bills to the amout of over eight hundred dollars not including salaries from Dec. 1 to June 1. These are but $40 per month to each, and certainly should be paid, but the bills must be met. How is it to REPORT ON ITS CONDITION AND be done? Mr. Hull and myselfy have been untiring in our efforts to raise the amount, we have both worked when we were unfit to do so; and have in every possible way tried to make the Spiritualists feel an interest in this school, and take a pride in furnishing a place where their workers can get an Startling Fact, That They Can Not education. The bills for improvments were to have been paid in three payments. The first two, and all running ucational institution Without Leaving expenses have been met, but as the final at the Same Time the Fund Depleted payments became due we could not for Sick and Needy Mediums-it is meet them, we made earnest appeals to Painfully Evident That While the the Spiritualists at large, and to some in private, with little results, as a last ing on Contributions for the Support Boston, by the convention, and the doof Indigent Mediums Have Practically nation of last summer, we wrote the of-Stopped—Spiritualists Are Called ficers of the N. S. A., giving a clear Upon to Decide Which One, if Either, statement of our condition, requesting Shail Have the Preference—It Has them to give us some help in this presest stress; telling them if we could lift the indebtedness before the close of school we felt assured of the success of the Institute. We were more disappointed than could be told to receive word from the Secretary, that the board did not feel they could relieve us in our The first year of school at the Institute is rapidly drawing to a close, in less than three weeks the busy hum of the close the property is valuable; it will bring enough to relieve, and assist us now, but the board have persistently refused to encumber school purposes, such as heating apparamount will be expended again, as the plumbing, sewer, light, repairing house is now in almost the ough repair of roof, and floors in basement, furniand the regular running expenses will ture, etc. These improvements are ex- be comparatively light. Let us hear pensive, and as every cent would have from you with what amount you can to be collected by soliciting, it was the give to help us; there are few who are judgment of the board that it could not so poor as not to be able to give some be done, and meet the running expenses of the house, especially as it was not to who are crying for an educated minisbe expected that the opening class try, who are able to lift this debt. Will would be large; but good old Father they do it? Do they want education? Pratt, who had given the building, was They will pay for Mr. Hull to cross the persistent in his request that it be continent to deliver three or four lecopened the following fall, saying that "if tures, will they give the same amount and would, and that he would see that class for, perhaps years? We feel he all expenses were met that we could not can stay many years if relieved of some meet-that he wanted to hear the sound of this mental strain; if not, he cerof volces in the building before he left tainly cannot be active for a great the earth." As he was then 81 years of length of time. Mental struggle is age he felt there was no time to spare. worse than physical labor. I trust the There is no doubt but this would have Spiritualists of America will rally to the been done had he lived to carry out his support of this institution, and now, if wish; for he repeatedly said that all he never before in the history of Spiritual had except what he had set aside for ism, let us have a school that is free, his wife, should go to the school, but where our old and young can get the essentials of education, and the philoshe was called home; his body was laid ophy of the religion we think we hold away the 24th of December, and his most sacred.

us now to get out of debt, before the

Address your letters to either Moses Hull or myself.

Fraternally and sincerely, CLARA L. STEWART, Sec'y. Whitewater, Wis.

REPORT FROM THE N. S. A.

To the Editor:—In my former letter giving directions for reaching the Brooklyn (N. Y.) cemetery in which repose the remains of the Fox sisters, the word "Tremont" station should read, 'Terminal" station.

A word to the sympathetic public concerning the N. S. A. Mediums' Relief Fund; it seems to me that in spite of all we have said in regard to this fund that those who desire to see needy mediums cared for, do not realize that every penny sent to us for that fund, is used for relieving the needs of destitute aged or needy sick mediums. Contributions to this fund are amazingly small, only one dollar in April, and that from a soldier in the Philippines, who regularly contributes.

MARY T. LONGLEY, Sec'y. 600 Pennsylvania avenue S. E., Washington, D. C.

In connection with the report by Mrs. Stewart, we desire to say that the trustees of the Morris Pratt Institute are probably personally responsible for the deficit, and can a bank—they are responsible, and. should so consider themselves.

Revery, which is thought in its nebulous state, borders closely upon the land of sleep, by which it is bounded as by a natural frontier.—Hugo.

The rain is playing its soft, pleasant tune fitfully on the skylight, and the shade of fast-flying clouds across my book passes with delicate change.

Important.

Questions Respectfully Submitted to the N. S. A. in Reference to the Morris Pratt Institute, and the Fund for edy Mediums.

In view of the two reports, the first on the part of Spiritualists to start a one by Mrs. Stewart, announcing a Spiritualistic school to be supported Mrs. Longley, stating that conscious sick and needy mediums? to the fund for needy and signediums had almost ceased, is it well for Spiritualists to carriery consider the situation? We the National Association to calmly consider the follow-

Notwithstanding the Morris Pratt In stitute was advertised widely in all the Spiritualist papers, it attracted only a dozen scholars, and some of them are charity students. In order to carry on the school with that number, contributions have been called for continuously and yet there is a large deficit which hangs like an incubus over the institu tion. We state most emphatically that we have the kindliest feeling towards the officers and teachers of the institu tion, and believe they have done fully as well as a like number of any other educators could do with the same list of studies, hence no personal matter whatever has anything to do with our presenting certain questions for the consideration of the N. S. A.

1. Should not the list of studies be arranged by a large committee of edu-cated Spiritualists, if the Morris Pratt Institute is to be continued?

2. Should Spiritualists be called upon to support a school where many of the branches taught can be studied equally as well, if not far better, in any of the magnificent non-sectarian High Schools, now conducted throughout the country? Such schools have the air of refinement, culture and efficiency, and the teachers have no superiors.

3. Should Spiritualists be asked to pay for teaching Physical Culture, when all that is desired on that subject can be easily learned in its perfection through the various magazines published on that subject?

4. The Bible is no longer a book of authority, it is obsolete; it is contradic-tory; it is obscene—then why should Spiritualists be called upon to contribute to aid pupils in studying Bible Exegesis? Why add another interpretation to the 1,000 already existing, and thus rendering confusion more con-Is it necessary to educate a large ers and lecturers while the old and elo- some High School? quent veterans in our ranks do not find sufficient remunerative employment? 6. Is it not in exceptionally bad taste answer the same.

SOUND SENSE

Families.

large deficit in connection with the Mor-largely by begging contributions, while ris Pratt Institute, and the second by there is not a single endowed home for

7. Why should Spiritualists be called upon to support a psychia class in the Morris Pratt Institute, when the Home Circle will answerall purposes equally as well, and while psychic taws are exhaustively taught in pamphlets by Hudson Tuttle, W. H. Bach, and Mr. Wallis. of London, Eng. Very little additional can be said on the subject that is of any importance.

8. The National Association should carefully examine the curriculum of the various High Schools throughout the country, where instruction is comparatively free, and without a taint of secarianism, and determine wherein it is deficient or in anyway inferior (if not superior) to that of the Morris Pratt

9. Is it ordinary "horse" sense for a man who can't (or doesn't) support his own family well, to take an additional burden on his hands by adopting another family? If that man doesn't ordinary "horse" sense, what about Spiritualists starting an educational institute when they have been unable to endow a home for sick and worn-out mediums? "Horse" sense is scarce article in both cases.

10. Why should Spiritualists be called upon to support an institute where the students have not previously received an ordinary High School education—schools that abound every-where, and are generally free, are firstclass, are NON-SECTARIAN, and admirably adapted to discipline the mind, enlarge the understanding, and prepare the student for the various duties of life? They are the pride of this country, and the teachers are thoroughly well versed along modera educational lines—up-to-date in every particular. Scholars graduated therein make our lawyers, our physicians, our teachers our great men and women, and if Spiritualists they could soon prepare themselves for work in our ranks by a systematic course of reading and study.

11. Is it the business of Spiritualists to contribute towards aiding pupils to first absolutely knowing that they possess special qualifications for the work misleading and false statements. number of students each year as teach- in view, and that they are graduates of

The above is only submitted to the N. S. A., and its officers are requested to Penalty Far Too Light. Last Saturday at Bozeman, J. Barr

The facts recently printed in regard to decline in the size of families in this country in a general way at least, have long been familiar to economists and sociologists. In them there is nothing surprising or alarming. They simply illustrate a tendency concerning which there is no doubt that as civilization advances the size of families becomes smaller. It may be in accordance with the law that Spencer dilates upon that with the increase of intelligence and education and the improvement of conditions subsequent thereupon, the childbearing age with women begins later, thus necessitating reduction in the size of families in the aggregate, while giving women greater opportunities for inellectual culture and improvement before marriage and leaving them in a

In all countries, Rome, Greece and in all modern countries, England, Germany and France, this tendency has been going on the same as in this country, with the advance of civilization as shown in the diffusion of knowledge and he spread of thought. The old idea that it is the duty of women to bear the largest possible number of children without regard to quality or ability of the parents to rear them and fit them for the duties of life is exploded among intelligent people. Smaller families with better birthright conditions and with better opportunities for education are more to be commended in these times than the reckless bringing into the world of children, creatures of passion and impulse, with nothing but the conditions of poverty for most of them and the prospect of premature death or

In times of war or with expectations of war the lingo class of statesmen are always anxious for great increase of population. Men are wanted for war fuel. The Napoleonic idea obtains. Roosevelt is infected with this idea, and while much which he says against shirking the responsibilities of mater. nity though commonplace, is true, there and the story of his disgraceful deed is probably as little ground for fear that our nation will suffer through decline in population now as there has been in the

There is no excuse for recklessness in bringing children into the world without ability and provision for rearing it is often by the way of excuse to our-and fitting them for life's duties. That the wealthy or well-to-do sible.—Rochefoucauld. classes should not allow artificial condi- A little wit and a grea dent to need argument. But be sure is to commend well. Palotson,

Harris, on trial for seduction, was found guilty by the jury and his punishment fixed at one year in the penitentiary. Concerning the Decline in the Size of Harris, who is the rector of a Methodist Episcopal church South, was charged with having accomplished the ruin of a Miss Agatha Hardenbrook, one of the members of his flock. The girl's father testified that at his wife's death some time previous the girl had assumed charge of his family until her disgrace had fallen upon her. The girl on the stand told of how Harris had used his position as a minister to influence her to accompany him to various places in the interest of the church. How under the guise of his ministerial garb he had taken liberties with her until at last, under the promise of marriage, he had engaged in relations which caused her ruin. The evidence also showed that this was not the first time he had been charged with such conduct, as a board of ministers of his church had once been called upon to investigate a simicondition for greater personal developlar charge, the inquiry resulting in his ment and social influence in the later exoneration. Viewed in any light the charge was a serious one, but in Harris' case it was most revolting and the leniency of the jury in fixing his punishment at one year is to be wondered at, and it seems inadequate for the punishment of one who betrayed his church, his God, his religion and cast disgrace upon a holy profession. Perhaps a better illustration of the "whited sepulchre" could not be found than in the example of such a wolf in sheep's clothng whose calling enabled him to enter the best homes in the land, where, instead of exerting an influence elevating and refining as he was in duty bound by the tenets of his church and training, his touch was slimy and deadly to inno cence and purity. No betrayal could be more base, no motives more sinister, nor no schemes more, invidious than when under the guise of a spiritual adviser, he entered the home of his vic-tim and with the power of an accompauper or criminal careers for many of plished viliain and man of the gained an ascendancy over Miss Har-denbrook that led to her undoing. For > world.—Dawson County Review. Joys are our wings, sorrows are our spurs.—Richter.

A little wit and a great deal of ill-nations of life to impair the natural in ture will furnish a man for satire; but stincts and social obligations is too evi-

We have more power than will; and that if they do they thereby prove their unworthiness and, whatever their estimate, the survival of the fittest will mean the survival of the best.

B. F. UNDERWOOD,

B. F. UNDERWOOD,

A GOOD SHOWING.

The Clerical Work of the National Spiritualist Association.

To the Editor: -While you have most generously published letters from time to time in your valuable paper, concerning the work of the N. S. A., as officially announced from the home office, it may be well at this juncture to make a statement to the public, with your courteous permission, of the present standing-financially and otherwise—of the N. S A., in view of the fact that the board of trustees has recently held a semi-annual meeting at headquarters. I am most happy to state that the National Spiritualists' Association is stronger in finances, and in its place in the public sympathy than ever before; its treasury contains over fifteen thousand dollars: its real estate is free from debt or incumbrance of any kind; its societies express loyalty and satisfaction at its course; a number have gone into our chartered state associations, but instead of weakening the N. S. A., this only strengthens its work.

As has before been stated, this association is supporting several aged and needy veteran mediums, and as its Meliums' Relief Fund increases, other peneficiaries will be added to the list. The missionaries have done a good work, and this year have labored extensively in connection with state associations in order to bring the latter more argely to the front and help to show their utility and worth.

Many thousands of spiritual tracts have been freely printed and distributed by the N. S. A. Our printing bill for these tracts this year is over four hundred and fifty-four dollars. In contributions to aid in distributing tracts we have received $35.54 which includes stamps received for sending tracts to applicants, and our postage expense for mailing tracts alone in the same time has been somewhere near fifty dollars. The amount received for tracts as mentioned, $35.54, has been credited in our books to tract sales, as we have no tract printing fund. The intelligent eader will see by these figures, that the distribution of tracts is an expense to the N. S. A., since printers must be paid, and it costs much to have extensive dealings with them.

For some unaccountable reason there s talk in some quarters of the country that the N. S. A. is financially weak, that "it is going to pieces"; that it has but very little sympathy in the hearts of the people, and our missionaries would be kept busy if they attempted to refute these statements otherwise than by their works. Should the carping critics look into our office, and undertake to glance over the stacks of let ters here from able and intelligent become teachers and lecturers without minds from all over the country, they

Our Editor-at-Large, Mr. Hudson Tuttle, has done a grand work, as his report shows, and our general superintendent of lyceums, Mr. J. W. Ring, has also done nicely in his field of labor the lyceum cause The question of frauds among mediums is constantly arising in one section and other, and the duty and responsibility of the N. S. A. towards this subject is discussed pro and con. We think that by this time, it must be fairly established in the observing mind, that the N. S. A. has no sympathy with fraud of any kind, and that it is squarely against the encouragement of anything of the sort. Sensational persons posing as mediums and claiming to be indorsed by any association simply because they hold a certificate showing they have at some time contributed a lollar or more to this or some other association, are not indorsed or counte nanced: these certificates are simply receipts, the N. S. A. gives nothing of the kind any more, as it has no contributing membership. On the other hand the N. S. A. cannot undertake to decide upon the merits or demerits of the mediums that the societies in all direc tions engage for their platforms; each locality and society must decide for it-self, and with good judgment it will not be difficult for each to sift the wheat from the chaff. We have in our ranks hundreds of capable, honest speakers and mediums, that this and other spiritual associations can, and will indorse the truth; but we do not and will not support fraud in any sense when it is made clear to us that fraud is attempted; we must not be charged with know ingly countenancing any deceiver in his or her nefarious practices. The N. S. A., the state associations, and all well established spiritual societies, large or small, have the truth and the good of humanity at heart; our face is towards the light, and we work for the betterment of mankind. In a word then, the N. S. A. is doing a grand work; it is gaining yearly strength, it has come to stay, it denounces fraud and upholds the truth, including honest effort and genuine mediumship.

With loving greetings to all friends, MARY T. LONGLEY, N. S. A. Secretary. Washington, D. C.

A ROUNDEL.

Love never dies, though fond years fade Like roses, petal-wise; Sweet spirit and immortal maid Love never dies.

For thoughts, like daisies, ope their In memory's verdant glade, And dreams grow bright as butterflies.

And when light shines beyond Time's shade, Love as from sleep doth rise;

One bosom death can ne'er invade.

-Westminster Gazette.

Sedition is bred in the lap of luxury, and its chosen emissaries are the beggared spendthrift and the impoverished libertine.—Bancroft.

The most certain sign of being born with great qualities is to be born without envy.-Rochefoucauld.

Can the Morris Pratt Institute and Indigent Workers Be Cared For?

To the Editor: - While I am glad to Morris Pratt Institute and its necessisties, in the Spiritualist papers, I am astonished to see the query raised by yourself, as to whether we can keep the least the same time do not less than three millions of Spiritualists out of their count. From that time forward, the estimates grew larger and larger until many Spiritualists boasted we give up our only feeble effort-to educate our workers, and die? Shall we refuse to sustain one little school-the only place in the world where young men and women can go and get the Spiritualist platform? or shall we allow our indigent mediums to go to the poor louses, or starve to death?

The Morris Pratt Institute, now after it is furnished and put in order, and all its debt except less than one thousand dollars paid, can be run one year and the remainder of its debt paid on less than thirty-five hundred dollars, and after that on about twenty-five hundred dollars per year; is it possible that over fifteen millions of Spiritualists are halting to ask which we shall do,

What does all this prove? Why it what does an this prove: Why it is the land, communing the respect of proves that we are a set of bragging, all denominations. It is a success, and blowing, blustering braggarts, or that I take some pride in the thought that it is possible that I may have had some pride to the most better that I may have had some pride to the most better the most b stingy people that ever disgraced the part in the work of making it so. It has earth on which we live.

I say this advisedly, for I have the documents; ten thousand Salvation Army people would beat us over four-fold.

Taking all the donations to the Morris Pratt Institute, and all the members, they do not represent three hundred persons. The largest donation except that given by Father Pratt, ever recelved from one individual was one thousand dollars. The largest ever given by an association, or society of any kind was three hundred dollars, given by the N. S. A., about one year since. One other person has, I think, out in in memberships and donations tion is five dollars for the first year, and one dollar per year after that. At these liberal rates less than one hundred persons have become members. Where are the other fourteen millions, nine hundred and ninety-nine thousand and six hundred Spiritualists? Will one in one thousand of them contribute as much as one dollar per annum to keep the Morris Pratt Institute alive?

If so the school is immortal. With placing over three thousand dollars worth of improvements in our buildings and on our grounds we have spent less than six thousand dollars in a little less than two years. Now, with All down the ages life has sped not an officer nor a teacher receiving And left a path o'erstrewn with dead more than forty dollars per month, the And lifeless forms, and yet how strange Spiritualists at the end of one year's That this is but eternal change. school are inquiring as to whether we shall let the benefactions of Morris Pratt come to naught-whether we shall give up the work of educationthe grandest work ever inaugurated among Spiritualists; why it is enough Our loved ones pass from mortal view to make the body of that grand old man We drop a bitter tear or two turn over in its grave. We ought to support an institute five Our spirit closely on their trail. times as large as ours in every state in the Union. Now, Spiritualists, I ask, shall "the Kingdom of Heaven" taken from us and given to a nation Nor tarries at the precipice bringing forth the fruits thereof? Un. Upon the edge of Death's abyss. less we educate we are gone. I can cite They leap and plunge with blinded eyes to an hundred cases of "the signs of the linto, across the stream that lies times." I will give only one. Nearly Forever twixt the mystic heath forty years ago I was invited to Rock Of form and soul, of life and death lectures. The Spiritualists obtained a Some rise and speak across and back. hall for me that would seat 600 people; And tell of life's eternal track, the hall was crowded to its utmost ca- Of sweet akin that were and are pacity. This spring I was called back Still moving in progression's car, there; we went up three flights of stairs into a hall which would seat no more than 200 people; and until the very last lecture the hall was not any than half full of people.

Sum moving in prospection with certainty, The soul ablaze with certainty That soon our spirits will be free.

there I went to the Christian Union And speaks with no uncertain tone, Church, established by the Rev. Dr. And says: "Tis true, we live above, Kerr. There was an audience, composed Beyond, about; we live and love. mostly of Spiritualists, not one-fourth "We know we live and can return the "sky parlor" in which I spoke. Some Spiritualists regretted that they could draw such an audience while we drew so few. I did not; in fact I was glad of it. People went to the Christian Union Church because there was something there for them; they kept of the same form as the natural body. away from the Spiritualist meetings be-

A lady told me that "once upon a ing such odious loads. time," a speaker-a great mogul-one speaking on persecutions, said, "Finaland to very near our own times, here, John Wesley burned Michael Servetus at the stake, because he did not believe dred dollars per month, I will give one hundred dollars per year towards educating the stake of th in infant damnation." What real man worthy people to carry our message to or woman would not flee from such preaching?

educated preacher say, "In the language of the Declaration of Independence, I will say, 'every man has a right to worship God according to the dic tates of his own conscience, under his own vine and fig tree." When I told ing in his heart, it will not benefit me, him of his mistake, he cursed me, and Even by the falling of water drops a vowed he would yet "get even with me for that." I hope he will.

In my early days in Spiritualism, I spiritual body, and the spiritual body is off.—Quarles.

HARRISON D. BARRETT.

He Will Not Be a Candidate for Presid dent of the N. S. A.

To the Editor:-Believing implicitly see Clara L. Stewart's article on the in the principle of co-operation as rep-Institute alive and at the same time do our duty by needy mediums.

Institute alive and at the same time do everything in the our duty by needy mediums.

It is hoped that such inquiries will bring some Spiritualists to their senses. In 1866 the Catholics told the ence. Everyone who is interested in world in their Ecumenical Council, our cause as a whole owes it to himself that there were nine millions of Spirit to render the National Association a ualists in the United States. Judge generous, enthusiastic and continuous Edmonds told them that they had left support. To that end each one should take such steps as will best serve the purpose in view and resolutely endeavor to carry his plans into action. larger until many spiritualists boasted of fifteen millions of converts. Now the inquiry is raised, what shall our fifteen millions of Spiritualists do? Shall informing the public that I am, not as a constitute of the public that I am, not as a c I believe my plain duty at this time is candidate for re-election to the presidency of the National Association. I bebelieve the time is ripe for the change in the executive office, and I announce preparation they need to go upon the that the friends of the N. S. A. may be able to select my successor without any misunderstanding in regard to my own position in the premises. I have served the organization for ten years to the best of my ability, and feel the same interest in its success that has ever domnated me. My interest in the N. S. A. has not waned, and my belief in and love for it are stronger than ever. I hold that the National Association is an absolute necessity in our work, and shall take pleasure in rendering it every possible let education and progress go to the let education and progress go to the wall or starve the old workers? in the land, commanding the respect of done a work that should command the gratitude of the Spiritualists of America, from whom it should receive a loyal, united support.

I desire to thank all of my friends in the United States and Canada, who have so loyally and generously aided me, during the ten years I have held the office of president, and assure them that I realize that I should not have been able to accomplish anything of moment without the support they have accorded me. I bespeak for my successor, whoever he may be, the same generous en-thusiastic support they have so kindly.

accorded to me during the past decade, two hundred and eighty dollars; from didate for the eleventh time i also exthat, donations have varied until they tend thanks, but respectfully inform them that it is impossible for me to accept the office again. Let us rally around the N. S. A., stay the hands of its officers, and make it the center of power for our cause, that its importance demands it should be.

Yours for the success of the N. S. A. HARRISON D. BARRETT. Toledo, Ohio, June 1, 1903.

DEATH HAS NO STING.

Death has no pang, no piercing sting; Instead 'tis sweet, a welcome thing. To those whose work is done, a friend, A sweet beginning, not the end.

Souls come upon the scenes of earth

Express and pass again in birth. Tis come and live, and act and grows 'Twill ever be, 'twere ever so. And follow them beyond the vale,

Each generation moves along, be And yields to its succeeding throng;

In the forenoon of the Sunday I was A voice returns, a mother's own,

And teach our own as they should learn, And this sweet message to them bring, There is in Death no terror sting DR. T. WILKINS

Organization and education will cause they were tired of empty plati-either educate such speakers or relieve Spiritualism of the necessity of carry-

In conclusion I will say the Spiritualwhom the spirits had educated, in ists are abundantly able to educate their messengers, and to take care of to come down to our own country, their worn-out servants. Let us do it. the world, and will then be able to give something towards supplying the wants Not long since I heard a spiritually of our worn-out worthies. Reader, water pot is filled.—Buddha.

Let not mirth be thy profession, lest In my early days in Spiritualism, I thou become a make-sport. He that heard a trance speaker say, "Paul says, hath but gained the title of a jester, let there is a natural body and there is a him assure himself the fool is not far artificial became a superstant of the same and the same and the same assure himself the fool is not far

Zurilda Wellington.

Her Life in Two Worlds. The Lifting of the Vell.

BY MRS. M. PASQUIER CURRAN, MEDIUM, ST. LOUIS, MO.

CHAPTER VI.—Continued. While Mrs. Wise was speaking my mother whispered in my ear: "The day has come when men will see the path they should have walked in and in which they should nave led those whom they taught. I have striven to lead you to the mount of truth, and guard you from the errors that are in your path. God does allow His messengers to come and teach earth's children. It is in the years of infancy that such truths as I am planting should be sown. The re-cording angel is memory. You cannot hide a selfish motive, nor can you lay a wrong act on another: the very breath you exhale partakes of your mentality, and reflects either good or evil. These emanations rise like ethereal clouds; if pure and good, they are taken up and woven into garments of beauty by ministering spirits, who use them to clothe themselves. It is like a bank account, that each one has deposited; it is all here for you when you reach life's immortal shore. But if your thoughts are evil and your deeds dark, they fall evil and your deeds dark, they fall must be taken on faith, and not be alaround the inhabitants, that are in a lowed to disturb our minds; such things spiritual state of darkness, like a heavy

"Bishop," said the rector, "have you set the time of your departure?" 'Yes," said the bishop, "we will leave 'Well." said the rector. "I wish you to cloud, and only aid them in works of evil darkness."

quite a number on the 8th of this 'I will do so," said the bishop.

will turn your daughter into better hands than mine for confirmation instruction. I am sure that the good hishon is more capable than I"

My father seemed embarrassed, but said: "I think as you say, that the bishop is just the one to lay a lasting founwhen God took my dear wife and left spiritual truths might shine out in her

Louis at the same time.

Mental clouds began to gather in my felt my mother and Elon with me. "Come here, my child," said the is God.

bishop. At this command from the bishop, my self and me by the bishop.

"My daughter," said the bishop, "in order that you may have an intelligent tacle for the inflow of the divine truths, and truth and deal honestly with all, so you must first have a knowledge of God and of His dealings with His children. Bible, who heard the voice of God's me will be a failure."

With this command Now, God hates sin, and all mankind yet not eat of the tree of knowledge, or on the cross; and we must accept Jesus as our savior, also have faith in Him and love Him with our whole hearts. Can you do this, and sincerely believe in the church's teachings, and accept these teachings as the guide of your life?"

"No, sir," I said, "I cannot." This reply sent a visible shock through all present; my father seemed speechless and dumb. After a few moments of painful silence the bishop said

"Zurilda Wellington, what do you mean by this answer?" "I have answered you truthfully bishop," I said; "and if you will allow me to speak to from my soul the truths that are there and have been stored there by the messengers of God, I will tell you why I cannot subscribe to the tenets of your church." Before the bishop had time to reply Louis and the rector were clamoring for silence; but Mrs. Wise said: "It is but just that you allow her to explain herself, and I demand it of you." 'Bishop," said my father, with deep "I will leave this matter in your hands " This decided the question and the bishop said to me: "We will now hear what you have to

I then said to those who were present: "I believe in but one God, a spiritual essence that permeates all man and matter; whose presence fills all worlds. and who manifests His power through man and nature. That we, His children, can only comprehend Him as we unfold in a knowledge of His works; that His will is recorded in our souls, stamped on the tablets of our inner being; that this divine power cannot hate any of His works, for there is nothing but love in His nature; and that all the work of His hands is good and perfect. I believe in Jesus (Christ, the anointed) as a wise and good man, sent from God to show us how better to live a truer spiritual life on earth; and if we do not live a spiritual life, we darken our spirits, and draw around us a condition of inharmony; that this condition of inharmony will create discord and discontent in us. Also, that Jesus manifested the divine man by His receptivity to the inflow of divine love. Also, that each one must answer to the God within us for his transgerssions of the law of God, that is written within and without us. And, more than all, that no one can bear our sins for us; that faith is not knowledge, and faith cannot unfold God's knowledge to us. Also, that inspiration is coming to us of this day, just as it did to the people of old, but nearer, for those of our own households who are free from earthly things are coming to us daily, as we are receptive to their presence; they are the divine messengers of God's truth, which they bear to us. I believe that God has in all ages permitted those who once were dwellers on the earth to return and aid ported me, I should have failed.

are breathed now through my lips."

ity, delusion, sham, disgrace!

child!

your duty to keep order."

He replied: "This child is too young spoken on to night, neither is she in A rap at the door and Louis entered. sane, or an infidel, for there are prin "Good morning, ladies," he said, with spoken on to-night, neither is she insane, or an infidel, for there are principles involved in her statements that we ought to look into. The ministry of angels has always been held as permitted by God, if, indeed, not ordered by the children of God. Zurilda, I have His direct command; but I do not think come to talk to you on a subject that it is best to enter into a thorough exam-ination of this subject to-night. She here and hereafter, and I want your being a parishioner of the rector's, he close attention to what I have to say.

Then there was a long debate between the bishop and the rector as to he capacity of the mind to comprehend Now, the first question is at the disthe will of God in many things that seemed so mysterious miracles, such as Jesus and the apostles did; as these had been ordered by God, and we ought not to pry into them.

"Gentlemen," said Mrs. Wise, what authority do you hold the keys to the storehouse of knowledge that God has filled for His children to draw from? The power you claim is derived from the opinions of men, and has no binding administer the rite of confirmation to force to support it. Mind is eternal and must advance. All our faculties ought to be cultivated here on earth; this development is our mission here. "Mr. Wellington," said the rector, "I and the highest expression of wisdom in "Jesus wrought no miracles that have been assigned to him; all he did was done by natural law, and he prophesied that his disciples should perform greater works than he did, after he had bedation stone in the right place. Bishop, need not try to dress up truth in such met; but your beauty and wealth will atthin fabric, for every thinking mind can tract to me the higher classes of socieme this child to rear, I felt that I must see through it; our reason will rebel ty, and this will give me the power to glorify Him by instilling our divine relagainst this encroachment. Jesus com-rise to a rank in the kingdom that few ligion into her, so that the beauty of our prehended the operations of natural men ever attain to. Obedience to your life; yes, more, that she might be as a to perform what ignorant minds observe and respect. The affections of light to many. Have I set my mark too thought was supernatural. Now, genthe heart are not to be taken into con-

"No, indeed," said the bishop and necessity be limitless; and for you or made, besides you ought to consider it any one to prescribe a boundary, and an honor to be the wife of such a man affix to that boundary certain limits, is as I. Do you not know, too, that I conmind lest I might be called on to answer out of your province. The soul is an enbefore that council as to the faith that I was required to exercise in the relig- can limit its capacity for unfoldment in contract for the influence and position ion of my father's church; but while the knowledge that God has spread out the knowledge that God has spread life from the fountain of life—and that Paul's injunction to woman would be en-voice of God in our souls?'

CHAPTER VII.

Driven From My Father's Presence and a Prisoner.

Our friends soon retired, and my father said to me: "Zurilda, have you concluded to sign that agreement as I desired, to prepare yourself for confirmation, and to obey me in all things as a dutiful child should? "Papa," I said, "I cannot sign that marriage contract or even consent to be the slave of Louis Sutherland; in my soul I abhor such a narrow, selfish nature as his. As for receiving confirmation in the Church of England according to her tenets, it would be a false and deceitful act in me to take such yows on my lips, when in my soul I feel them to be at variance with the truth of God and nature. In all things else, I will try to please and obey you.

"Leave my presence at once," said my father, with anger in his voice. "I will see what a parent's authority will do for you."

the room she said: "Zurilda, what is the trouble with vou?' "Papa bade me leave him, and he is angry with me. It is that hateful marriage contract, and the rite of confirmation that he wishes me to submit to, and I cannot. Oh, no; never, never!

"Dry your tears, my dear," said Miss agnes, "and think this matter over; Agnes. perhaps your father will not insist on that union with Louis, but it is your duty to be confirmed in the church." A rap at the door and my father en

"Miss Agnes," said he, "you will see that Zurilda does not leave these apart-ments until she is willing to obey me as a child should obey a parent." With this he left the room.

Next morning at breakfast the bishop inuired for Miss Agnes and myself. "She is guarding my prisoner," said my father.

"May I inquire who that prisoner is?" said the bishop. "Certainly," said my father, "it is Zu ilda.'

Louis bowed to my father and said: I can aid you in this matter, I think, if you will allow me the privilege of doexplain her duty to you, as well as to

"You have my leave," said my father, After my father left us the previous aight my mother came to me and said:
"We are all with you, my child; that is, Reuben, Elon, and myself, and will guide you in all things."

This was a painful ordeal to me, in deed, and if human strength had been the only sustaining power that suptheir friends. And that the affections was made plain to me after I passed to formed on earth (as between parent that world where earth's record is unand child) are not dissolved by death. rolled, and where our very thoughts, as "This statement I know to be true, well as deeds, come up to remind us for I have seen and heard my spirit and to cast shadows or light on our life mother ever since my earliest recollect there. I was up and dressed the next tions—and they are her own words that morning after my father's orders to Miss Agnes to keep me a prisoner, and at As I spoke the last sentence, Louis my drawing lesson when Miss Agnes hissed through his lipe, "Heresy, infidel-called me to her bedside and said:

"My dear child, it has been a long, Before he was through the rector was sad night to me, and I fear your father on his feet, with his hands outstretched, is very angry with you; will you not waying them in an excited manner and consent to do as he wishes?"

calling on the bishop to stop me; that it was "insanity, insanity." When the words of the rector fell on my father's words of the sprang to his feet uttering a manufacture wealth, is highly honored by the sprang to his feet uttering a manufacture words of the sprang to his feet uttering a manufacture words. The sprang to his feet uttering a manufacture words of the rector fell on my father's manufacture words of the rector fell on my father's my dear. The sprang to his feet uttering a manufacture with the slave of Louis Sutherland."

"I do not see it in that light, my dear, ing before God.' Yes, you shall see her again. "And ing before God.' Yes, you shall see her again. "Just How to Wake the S ing before God.' Yes, you shall see her again." By Elizabeth, Towne. To the has wealth, is highly honored by the light of the bishop softly. "Be-plercing cry: "Oh, God! My child, my best people, also nobly related, and your hild!" beauty and wealth would take a high Mrs. Wise then said: "Bishop, it is position among the best in the king-

He replied: "This child is too young to your breakfast, Miss to utter such sentiments and display so Agnes," I said, "and have no fear that I much knowledge of the subjects she has will leave the room until papa aids me.

will see that these errors are expunged You ought to know that you have no as she grows older and is better able to choice in such a matter as the marriage comprehend biblical authority on such relation, and should yield to church authority on such subjects as you talk lightly of; you must not question her, or doubt any of her established laws.

> posal of your father's will; as to the second, the church commands him to do his duty in this matter of confirmation, so that he is bound to see you are 'confirmed according to its authorized law. Then what right have you to dictate to your father what you will do in such matters? It is a sentimental notion that you must overcome, and the sooner the better for you. "Marriage is an ordinance of God's, was ordained by Him; also the Apostle Paul sets down the rule to govern the woman. He says that a wife hath not power of her own body, but the husband. Now, as marriage is ordained by God Himself, we must not trespass upon his laws or knowingly violate them, and I will not consent to sever what God hath formed and bound to gether for life and death. You are acting like a child in this matter, and I am urprised at you. I do not pretend that love you, nor do I say that I should come invisible to the world. Now you like you as well as others whom I have laws, and this knowledge enabled him father is a duty that you are bound to tlemen, mind being eternal, it must of sideration when such alliances are forced, and that my will would be your "There are myriads of streams of life law and duty too. Marriage would not flowing into the soul, that feed and be a failure in such a case. Now confather arose and took my hand, leading nourish it, when it is untrammeled by sider this as authoritative, and resign me to him, and placed a chair for him- theories that men have formulated in your keeping into other and better their ignorance of God and His laws. hands at once. You can see my honesty understanding of our divine religion, as Samuel, or the many prophets of the vou need not fear that marriage with

With this command he gave the door a loud slam, and we could hear his feet are sinners, and have lost favor with touch it lest we die? God gave us the as they descended the stairs in their tri-God; and to restore man to His favor light to guide us, and shall we darken umphant march to relate to my father God sent Jesus Christ to die for sinners that light within, by not listening to the his success. Miss Agnes sat with bowed head, not uttering a word.

Our breakfast was sent up, but Miss Agnes said, "I can not partake of it: I need other food. My soul is sick." This was a trying hour to me, but en me from my mother and Elon. All those days of confinement I was busy with my studies, not allowing my mind to reflect on the sad state of affairs. At the end of ten days my father and the bishop came up to see me. I was engaged on a picture of my mother, one that represented her in both earth and spirit life. The earth likeness was a representation of her bridal day, as she stood at the altar breathing her vows; the other, as a mother molding and guiding her child n the earth life. When I was at work at this picture a halo of light fell around me, flooding the room with a brightness and beauty that I had never before seen, which seemed to absord my very soul with every stroke of the brush, as it outlined my mother in her redeemed statetransparent and aglow with a radiance that finds no comparison on earth. J was not conscious of the presence of my father and the bishop until they spoke I left the room with a sad heart and sought Miss Agnes. When I entered with joy I looked up and exclaimed, "Oh, papa! see mamma as she is in heaven!" With the same sternness in his voice he said, as he pointed to the canvas, "Who did that?" "My spirit teacher," I replied, "and mamma has impressed her likeness on my very soul, so that I can outline her. The bishop was looking in adoration with a fixed gaze on the canvas and was speechless. But a fire was burning in his soul, that was cutting like a twoedged sword, and tiny buds of love that had slumbered there, were breaking through the frozen crust, melted by the warm love that flowed from my mother's burning eves, which had riveted his gaze. At last the bishop exclaimed: "The dead lives; the heart that died throbs with an uotward yearning of

"Does that satisfy you?" said my father, as he looked on the canvas with a frozen smile.

"Wellington," said the bishop, "such a love as that picture represents was shed on you; it was not from the surface, but was deep in her soul, self-centered, and throbs to-day with a yearning for recognition from you. Such love as she bore lives for ever, and asks less than it gives. It is worth having lived I will go to her at once, and a whole life to enjoy this hour! Ah yes, a great soul is centered there and shines through that canvas, distilling a fragrance and dissipating the chilly mist of death. Zurilda, have you ever seen a likeness of your mother—a pic-ture of any kind?"

"No, sir," I said. "By what process, then, has the perfect image of this woman been stamped on that canvas by a mere child's hand?

Who can answer?" While the bishop was speaking, my father stood like a statue of stone, with folded arms, rigid, and with coldness on his face that was painful to me. The bishop said: "The time was when I would have been very grateful to any one who could have portrayed the image of my dear ones on canvas as this

"Come," said my father, "I do not wish to look back into the past," and they left the room. When they were seated in the library my father said: "Is that portrait a facsimile of my dear wife, bishop."

yond the fluctory, above us, and around too, I hope, are our loved ones. Let us be honest with ourselves. Does not the heart love its own, and yearn for those who have gone before; and is faith a solace? Would we not rather have a knowledge of our immortality by intercommunion with those who have passed beyond? he added as he bowed his head.

My father sat like one in a dream.

"Whose, then shall she be at the resurrection of the dead?" cried the bishop. "I want no angel, only she that was minq. Heaven may keep its angels. To-night, the fountain of my soul is stirred; left have I prayed for resigna-tion, and wrapped faith's mantle around my bruised heart, but consolution came not. I am hopest to-night, Wellington, for death's icy fingers have unsealed and opened afresh the wound in my heart. Faith may bridge the chasm over; but there are times when a flerce desire comes, and into that deep world I would look. Oft I have meditated on the future, asking myself if man is only an ephemeral blossom of time and where will he be found in the acons that are to come?"

"Our lives are made up of hopes, fears and doubts," said my father; yes, and blunders that burden us, desires crushed, and idols that cling to us at every step, as reminders." "In my dreams," said the bishop, "I have often risen to mountain heights, bathed in the sunshine of an ethereal light, knelt at the feet of some heavenly personage, and felt that a baptismal benediction had fallen on my soul. Yes, there are times when the soul can see God and feel that He is indeed near; for the world builds great stone walls for the world bullas great stone wans around us, as it were, and we bruise our pinions against them. But we must not lose our faith, for faith is the anchor of the spul, sure and steadfast."

This conversation was interrupted by the restor and Mrs. Wise, who had the rector and Mrs. Wise, who had come in to see the bishop, for on the coming Sabbath was to be performed the right of confirmation by the bishop, and he and Louis were to leave us the next day. This caused a pang of sorrow to cross my father's face, that all observed, and the rector said to him in a consolatory way, "all will yet be well with you and yours," referring to his his disappointment in not having the bishop confirm me.

Mrs. Wise remarked: "You seem profoundly religious to-night, gentlemen; has God been communing with you?"

"We have been meditating on ques-tions of deep interest," said the bishop. "There are two portraits painted by Zurilda of her mother in the earth and spirit life. The one in earth life I can affirm is a true and perfect likeness of her; the other I cannot answer for, but do hope that it is true also." "May we look at the pictures?" asked

My father rang for the maid and sent for the pictures, When Mrs. Wise saw the pictures, she exclaimed: "Oh, Zwilda Wellington, indeed it is you, just as I saw you standing at the altar on your bridal day. Heaven be praised for the evidence of things not seen by the mortal eye, but brought to us by the redeemed ones from the world of spirits and made manifest to our senses through the law of the spirit! Yea, God sends sunbeams to light our paths, and symbols to teach us and demonstrate to us the immortality of the soul. Surely this child is the angel of the new covenant of redemption; to redeem us from ignorance. A mother's love is sheltering this household, the redeemed in heaven are coming to dry our tears. See, those great eyes of blue are as full of love as ever, and they are thinking of us. She is standing just at the gate of the morning land, waiting for us; yes I can feel her warm breath on my brow. I tell you, gentlemen, God, never endowed the human heart with love and affections so strong and binding to be severed by death; they are immortal and survive the sting of death. Do not tell me of heaven for a mother, when her child on earth is needing her care and guiding love! No, no, she must be guardian angel, and that is why Mrs. Wellington has come to impress herself on the canvas. Ah, God, the loves, the fears, and the frailties that are born with the flesh! Angels and cherubim may sing a heavenly song, but a mother never while her child lingers below.

"Oh, mother, with strong yearning and passionate pain,

Long I to-night for your presence again. "Ah, yes, around us stands a great multitude that no man can number, and I feel that my dear mother is here; and shall we close our eyes to the truths that lie all around us? They shine for all and will dispel error."

"High words," said the rector, "from a woman who has caught the song of the nineteenth century. No ground for your argument, wife; no, imagery, that

"And what is imagery but the reflection of the real substance made visible on the sensitive plate?" asked Mrs. Wise. "Now, do not blind your reason and crush the truths that God is whispering to your souls-truths, that have come through the long ages, and are rolling on and dissipating the errors that are deadening to the soul; for not one more drop of comfort can be drained from the dead faith of church's musty parchment. No, the gems of truth-that glittered in the past -in the dawning light, when the mornng stars sang redemption's song-are blazing now with freedom unalloyed."

"Wife," said the rector, "where is your holy spirit?" "On that canvas, husband, mirrored there by God's messengers, sent by His divine command, and it is written within and without. Was it only Paul, or John, who saw the heavens opened? Oh, no, there are seers to-day who see the real tangible, beings, clothed in mortality, standing before them. Qrganisms wanish, but the atoms remain to restore again the true knowledge which will promote good deeds, noble acts and kind feelings; this was the true mission of Jasus. He that breathed us forth, may draw us back again. The day has come when soul shall not thrust back soulsithat would come to a knowledge of God's freedom. This is the doctrine of the One of Nazareth; His was the gospelothat gets your church authority at paught sit is the gospel which cannot dies mor will your standard be true, while you rest upon your books alone for authority. Husband, freedom of thoughtais an mestimable privilege, an inalienable right, and belongs to every intelligent being."

Here Louis, wayed his hand to the ector, saying as the arose to his feet, "Unto whom much is given, much will be required. It is evident," said he to the rector, "that you have been very lax in the discharge of your ministerial duties, or Mrs. Wise would not have strayed into strange fields of thought;

yes, into materialism, rank and sour. where putrid weeds abound, smotherng the good seed. These pertinent remarks from so young a divinity student, aroused ector to justify his course by saying that his wife had the true essence of re-ligion in the soul; that her vagaries were harmless and meaningless.

"Just How to Wake the Solar Plex-Valuable

VS. SKEPTICISM

Shall We Live by Faith or by Knowl edge?

How can any Spiritualist brother object to skepticism when his own philosophy is full of it? Many of the most skeptical people ever saw are Spiritualists.

Brother H. V. Sweringen, in The Progressive Thinker, May 30, says: "Skepticism is not always a mark of intelligence." Swell and the statement of th clcism is not always a mark of intelligence." Surely not, else every skeptic would be an infallible pope. Is Spiritualism always a mark of intelligence? No intelligent Spiritualist claims it is. There are many good thinkers in the ranks of Spiritualism and they have ranks of Spiritualism, and they have been saying, like intelligent skeptics: What is evidence to one mind is not evidence to another. They perceive the distinction between "evidence," "proof" and "testimony." They know that belief, however strong, is not knowledge however weak; that faith is not the same as knowledge. Accordingly, Spiritualists have shown the orthodox world that the Christian religion, based on the Bible, can never be more than Belief; and, at its best, can never rise higher than Faith, with the accumulated experiences of Christians during centuries.

The Spiritualist goes beyond the realm of Faith into the vast region of Knowledge to explore, discover, experiment. He cannot content himself with what satisfies his Christian neighbor, who believes that his Jesus lived after his crucifixion, and communicated the interesting fact himself!

The intelligent Spiritualists declare that the race needs present-day demonstrations rather than moss-covered facts, however well attested; living witnesses instead of dead authorities True, a fact a million years old is as much a fact as the occurrence of to day; but the thinker asks for its verification, old or new. The orthodox argument always has been that Jesus Christ was seen alive after his death, and that fact should suffice for all time! If Brother Sweringen is sound in his argument, drawn from "meteroric showers," then the Christian is sound Let us live on the testimony of wit nesses! But for some reason Spiritualists, and other skeptics, call for fresh revelations daily. They want a thisyear's-fact; they are not at all satisfied with "the materialization of Moses and Elias and other spirits." They were not acquainted with those gentlemen. and knew still less of the "witnesses." We have been told repeatedly by Spir itualist writers and orators, that, for these reasons, the needs of the human race demanded a "shower" of spirit communications to prove that manking phrase it, "the great change." The Christian believer could say in the exact language of our brother: "I believed them because I considered them truthful. I believe they saw what they said they did."

exist after death; or, as Spiritualists

But Spiritualists have been saying for half a century, "That is not sufficient. We are not content to merely believe. We want to know." Hence: No man is an intelligent Spiritualist who places his reliance on the testimony of anybody. All that testimony can do for him is to make him a believer, not a Spiritualist. When we consider that our parents and their associates were "mistaken, deluded, hypnotized, or in some way deceived by their own senses" about many things, it is but reasonable that Spiritualists should call for presentday demonstrations. Friend Sweringen says: "I have witnessed a genuine materialization. No manner of logic, argument, or reasoning can convince me that I did not." I do not question his veracity. may be right about that; he may have witnessed a genuine materialization of spirit. But how am I to know that? What were the circumstances, or the "conditions?" Robert Dale Owen was as positive that he could not be mistaken about the materializations he "witnessed"but he was, and confessed his mistake. Let us have the truth whatever it is. I expect to be an investigator as long as live, and look upon Spiritualism as worthy of our earnest thought. There are a great many good features in it, whether they come from the skies or spring from the earth.

W. F. JAMIESON. Cincinnati, Ohio.

THE ANGEL OF DEATH.

Of this be sure, earth-fettered one, imprisoned in the clay, pausing on the threshold dim of Death's mysterious way

Do swear to thee joy lies beyond the burden of life's thrall And Death has ever been the gentlest angel of them all. Stately and very fair is he; his eyes are calm and deep.

Far tenderer than the eyes of Love Mild as the eyes of Sleep. These angels three are of one birth and Peace their sister is,

But Death is best beloved of God. A statelier throne is his. The smile of the Eternal One hath lent him holier grace And resteth as a seal upon the glory of His lips are steeped in tenderness, more sweet than Love's first kiss. His gentle touch upon the heart meaneth the same I wis.

'Tis love, its rapture robbed of pain, its hungry longing stilled. Its vain unrest to happiness and bliss immortal thrilled And by his side smiles blessed Peace with white wings furled above Folding in hers the hand of Death across the palm of Love. solemn joy, a holy hush dawns with life's parting breath. swear to thee the truth, that this, and this alone is Death NORCISSUS AGAPA. Through Beatrice St. George.

A Chance to Make Money

I have berries, grapes and peaches a year old, fresh as when picked. I used the California Cold Process. Do not heat or seal the fruit, just put it up cold, Keeps perfectly fresh, and costs almost nothing; can put up a bushel in ten minutes. Last year I sold directions to over 120 families in one week; anyone will pay a dollar for directions when they see the beautiful samples of fruit. As there are many people poor like myself, I consider it my duty to give my experience to such and feel confident anyone can make one or two hundred dollars round home in a few days. I will mail sample of fruit and full directions to any of your readers for nineteen (19) two cent stamps, which is only the actual cost of the samples, postage, etc. Francis Casey, St. Louis, Mo.

"Child Culture, According to the Laws of Physiological Psychology and Mental Suggestion." By Newton N. Riddell. A most excellent work for all who have the care or training of children. Price 65 cents. "Talmagean Inanities, Incongruities Inconsistencies and Blasphemies; a Review of Rev. T. DeWitt and Rev Frank DeWitt Talmage's oft-repeated attacks upon Spiritualism." By Moses Hull. For sale at this office. Price ten cents.

WISDOM OF THE AGES.

Revelations from Zertoulem, the Prophet of Tlaskanata.

A Mine of Valuable Reflections

and Suggestions.

This work was automatically transcribed by George A. Fuller, M. D., a gentleman who stands high as a lecturer and medium. It is a mine of valuable reflections and suggestions. The paragraphs are short, suggestive and inspiring. Every one of them leads to something higher, grander, nobler.

Price $1.00.

LIFE OF THOMAS PAINE! By the Editor of the National, with Preface and Notes by Peter Eckler. Illustrated with views of the old Palue Homestead and Paine Monument, at New Rochelle; also portraits of Thomas Cilo Rickman, Joel Barlow, Mary Wolstoneeraft, Madame Roland, Condorce, Brissot, and the most prominent of Paine's friends in Europe and America. Cloth, 75 cents.

MAHOMET, THE ILLUSTRIOUS. By Godfrey Higgins, Esq. This work is one of the Library of Liberal Classics. No author was better qualified to write an impartial and honest life of Mahomet than Godfrey Higgins, and this volume is intensely interesting. It should be read in conjunction with Gibbon's work. Price, 25 cents.

WORK. Price, 25 cents.

SPIRITUAL HARP at collection of Vocation and Social Circles. By J. M. Peebles and J. O. Barrett; E. H. Bailey, Musical Editor. New edition. Culled from a wide field of literature with the most critical care, free from all theological bias, throbbing with the soul of inspiration, embodying the principles and virtues of the spiritual philosophy, set to the most cheerful and popular music (nearly all original) and adapted to all occasions, it is doubtless the most attractive work of the kind ever published. Its beautiful songs, duets and quariets, with piano, organ or melodion accompaniment, adapted both to public meetings and the social circles. Cloth, 81.25; postuge, if cents.

COMMON SENSE By Thomas Paine. A let, addressed to the inhabitants of America in 1776, with explanatory notice by an English author. Paper, 15 cents.

ANTIQUITY UNVEILED.

The most important revelations concerning the true origin of Christianity. Reader, in bringing to your notice "Antiquity Unveiled," it is with the sincere hope that you are earnestly looking for the truth, regardless of any other consideration if such is the case, this advertisement will deeply interest you, and after reading this brief description you will doubtless wish to give the work a careful perusal. Price, $1.50.

A. P. A. MANUAL A complete expose of jects of the American Protective Association. A book for all patriotic American citizens. Price, 15 cents, or two for 25 cents.

LIGHT OF EGYPT.

The Second Volume of a Most Valuable Work.

This is the author's posthumous work left in MS, to a few of his private pupils in occultism, and like Volume I. is (a valuable addition and) a library on occult subjects. Spiritual astrology is mans, the Magic Wand, Symbolism, Correspondence, Penetralia, etc., are a few of the subjects treated of in a scholarly and masterly manner, showing the author to be familiar with his subjects. You cannot afford to be without it, as well as all his other books, viz.: The Light of Egypt, Vol. 1., bound in cloth, $2; paper, $1. The Light of Egypt, Vol. II., bound in cloth only, $2. Celestial Dynamics, cloth, $1.

AFTER HER DEATH.

The Story of a Summer. By Lilian Whiting, Pervaded with pure and beautiful spirituality of thought. Instructive and helpful to all who love and seek the higher and finer ways of saidthal experience. Price #100 spiritual experience. Price, $1.00.

The Religion of Spiritualism. Samuel Watson. This work was written by a modern Savior, a grand and noble man. Price, $1.00. A valuable book for the money.

Force and Matter By Ludwig Buechject. Price, cloth, $1.00.

Views of Our Heavenly Home. By Andrew Jackson Davis. A highly interesting work. Price, 75 cents. Postage 5 cents.

THE SUNDAY QUESTION.

Historical and critical review, with replies to an objection. By G. W. Brown, M. D. Price. 15c. Apogruphal New Testament.

Being all the Gospels, Epistles, and other pieces now extant, attributed in the first four centu-ries to Jesus Christ, his apostles and their com-panions, and not included in the New Testament by its compilers. Price, cloth, $1.50.

BIBLE MARVEL WORKERS, And the wondrous power which helped or made them perform mighty works and utter inspired words, together with some Personal Traits and Characteristics of Prophets, Apostles, and Jesus, or New Readings of The Miracles. By Allen Putnam. Price, 75 cents.

LILIAN WHITING'S BOOKS

VERY INTERESTING AND EX-CELLENT WORKS.

Kate Field, A Record. Price $2. A Study of Elizabeth Barrett Browning. Price $1.25.
The World Beautiful. Three Series.

Each $1. After Her Death. New Edition. $1. From Dreamland Sent, And Other Poems. $1. These books are for sale

STARTLING FACTS, Deeds of Darkness Disclosed

This work devotes special attention to Auricular Confession and its relations to sacerdotal celibacy, convents, monasteries, morality and civil and religious liberty. It is intended to be an embodiment of facts and documentary embodiment of facts and documentary evidence of the pernicious influence of the confessional; a trenchant showing up of Romanism, based upon standard The one who gets up the Club will be the confessional of Catholic authorities; an eye-opener concerning the methods and spirit.

manism. Cloth, 75 cents. "NO BEGINNING."

moral turpitude and evil works of Ro-

An Excellent Work for Thinkers.

This book, "No Beginning," is by William H. Maple. The Arena says of it: "The argument is unanswerable. The book will at once appeal to the reason of every reader, and leave him more amazed than ever at the preva-lence of the theory of Creation." The Two has always been a fateful num-Free Thought Ideal says: "We found it full of glittering thoughts for thinkers, and the very death warrant of Ohristian superstition shines upon its pages."

- GREAT INDUCEMENTS NEVER BEFORE OFFERED ONE PAPER

BEAR IN MIND.

Remember, please, that we send many of our Premium Books by express. If you do not receive your order promptly by mail, inquire at the express office. If not there, notify us at once. Remember, please that it costs ten cents to get a personal check cashed at a bank in Chicago. If you send a personal check, add ten cents to the amount sent.

Remember, please, that we have only two books which we send out now for 25 cents each. We cannot allow you to select any other book or books in their,

Remember, please, that you are not entitled to any of these Premium Books unless you send in with your order a year's subscription to The Progressive Thinker.

Remember, please, that the safest way to make a remittance is to secure a postal order.
Read our Premium Offer, AND DO

NOT WRITE TO US FOR ANY OTHER TERMS. You must send $1 for The Progressive Thinker when you order one or more premium books. Please bear this in mind. Remember, please, that mistakes and rouble may be avoided by dealing direct with this office, instead of through news agent.

Every person who sends in a yearly ubscription to The Progressive Thinker can have until further notice, the two ollowing books for 25 cents each: "The Religion of Man and Ethics of Science," by Hudson Tuttle, and "Seers of the Ages, or, Spiritualism Past and Present," by Dr. J. M. Peebles. Both exceedingly valuable, and though widely different, each one fills an exceedingly important niche in the literature of Spiritualism.

If you order only one book, and that one neither of the books mentioned above, the price is 50 cents. If you order two books, and neither of them the above mentioned, the price is 90 cents. We have TEN Premium Books only, especially elaborated. Alchemy, Talls and you can select from them as follows: Any three of the ten Premium Books

you may order, price $1.10.

Any four of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $1.50. Any five of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $1.80.

Any six of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $2.10. Any seven of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $2.35. Any eight of the ten Premium books

you may order, price $2.65.

Any nine of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $2.90.

Lastly all of these TEN valuable Premium Books here announced are sent out, all postage prepaid, for $3.10, a price never before equaled in this country or Europe. The following is

REMARKABLE BOOKS

FOR $3.10. 1-The Encyclopedia of Death, and Life in the Spirit World, Vol. 1. 2—The Encyclopedia of Death, and Life in the Spirit World, Vol. 2. 3-The Encyclopedia of Death, and Life in the Spirit World, Vol. 3. 4-Art Magic, or Mundane, Sub-Mundane and Super-Mundane Spiritism.

5—Ghost Land, Spiritualism, Occult-6-The Next World Interviewed. 7—The Occult Life of Jesus. 8—A Wanderer in the Spirit Lands. 9—The Religion of Man and Ethics of Science. 10-Seers of the Ages, or Spiritualism Past and Present. Read This Carefully Before Re-

Remitting. When you send in your subscription to The Progressive Thinker, carefully look over the books which you desire in this list, and their price, and send for them. They are very valuable. They are intensely interesting. They are elevating in tone and will do you good. In remitting do not fail to enclose a dollar for The Progressive Thinker, These ten books, substantially and elegantly bound, and printed in the neatest style of the printer's art, will be furnished to our subscribers for $3.10, a price which modern machinery and enterprise has rendered possible Progressive Thinker office only. Sending out these books, however, at the prices we do. does not reduce the price of the subscription of the paper, apparently or otherwise, a single cent, for that cannot be afforded for less than one dollar per year, in view of the fact that we publish such a vast amount of reading matter. In conclusion, bear in mind that the postage on these ten premium books is about ONE DOLLAR, leaving this office only $2.10, illustrating the great bargain you are getting-a bargain the like of which was never known before on this material plane.

CLUBS! CLUBS! CLUBS! CLUBS! To Clubs of ten or more we offer the following terms to each one: The Progressive Thinker one year, and ONE of the following books, $1.15: "The Religion of Man and Ethics of Science" "Seers of the Ages, or Spiritualism Past and Present"; "A Wanderer in the Spirit Lands"; "The Encyclopedia of Death, entitled to the paper one year free, and any two of the books he may select among our list of premiums.

A REMARKABLE BOOK

The clear and very interesting account of the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, with the inciting causes of that tragedy, will serve to excite renewed interest in the great work of Father Chiniquy, entitled "Fifty years in the Church of Rome." In this book he exposes in the minutest details the corrupiton that exists in that church, and its iniquitous methods and aims. It is a book of absorbing interest, and should be read by every patriotic American, and by every one who would be well informed concerning the evilworks and designs of the Romish hierarchy. It is a large volume of 832 pages. Price, $2.25.

THE LORD'S PRAYER.

It Does Not Belong to the Spiritualists.

This composition belongs to the Christian-not to the Spiritualist. It is not this writer's purpose to belittle or antagonize it; but Spiritualism stands for truth and truthfulness.

To explain why this almost universally accepted prayer is not the Spiritualists' possession, it is well to state just what Spiritualism is. It is comprehended in what we know as revealed by those who have passed the change we call death. From this testimony we know not a single fact proving the existence of a personal Deity. In popular estimation the worst epithet is that of athelst. Yet this term is a myth, as intelligent persons of all beliefs or of no belief all believe in a first great cause beyond man's comprehension. This be lief is ages old and is the belief of the "godless," so-called, to-day. All of man's investigations—past, present and on the other side of the great divide, have not added one fact to the above statement of a first supreme cause: and when you connect a personality with this, you have something not only unproved but something repellant to the commonest common sense, suggestof an origin with man's primitive condition when little removed from the

The capital stock of the religious world has been God, the Devil, heaven and hell. Spiritualism, or the presentday knowledge of the continuity of life. is either true or false. If it is true, it is clear that all these conceptions are wrong; and that our religious teachers have been and are as innocent of any knowledge of God and the future life as children unborn. So it is well to confront the issue and treat these churchborn conceptions as untruths, which they certainly are. It is the correct position with those who love the truth.

Time-servers, Grundy-lovers, Superstition's devotees and Christian Science imitators do not belong with us. We have a work to do incidental with that of constructing a new present and a new future, in the destruction of the gigantic falsehoods that have made so much suffering and misery in the world. In the "Lord's Prayer" the term "Our Father" can elsewhere have one of three meanings—Our sire by the ties of consanguinity, the term used for the Catholic's spiritual adviser, and the name for a personal Being outside of and directing the universe; and in this prayer it means the last named. In heaven" is accepted as meaning a locality which is neither earth nor Spiritualism proves there is no such locality—that heaven only means a condition of happiness as contrasted with one of misery and suffering. "Hallowed by thy name." We see at once the irrelevancy of this if there be no personal Deity.

"Thy kingdom come, thy will be done on earth as it is done in heaven." To one spiritually free from old-time notions, there is no use for kingdoms, thrones, empires, the will of a ruling personality or locality for his home; for every one is a sovereign in his or her own right, and the most he can claim here is that he is an American cit-

"Give us this day our daily bread." to earn their own living and are repelled at being recipients of any one's charity.

"Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us"again addressing this deific personality, which is continued in the plea, "Lead us not into temptation," a shameful thing for a father to do, "but deliver us from evil" (this more in keeping with the relation) "for thine is the kingdom, the power and the glory forever and ever, Amen!" Several things here assumed for this adored personality.

A very little reflection shows that the Lord's Prayer is based on the one pos-tulate, the infinite power and intelligence of a personal Being. As Spirit. gated by the psychological society ualism's work is to remove from the which he declared were sufficient proof world the falsity of this conception formed in the primitive undeveloped mind of man, and as has been said put in its place the proven truth, the inadaptedness of this prayer for our use becomes painfully apparent.

Equally irrelevant and for the same reason is the use of the sacred hymn, "Nearer, My God, to Thee." From every point of view, save that of its falsthis is one of the most grandly beautiful songs ever given to the world; and can be made of untold use to the Spiritualist by a change of one word only. All realize that the material or lower nature ever wars with the spiritual or higher. If we can change this invocation to an aspiration for a nobler purer and better life, we have that which fits the needs of every Spiritualist. For Spiritualism must be a combination of spiritism with an exalting spirituality. With an intellectual appreciation of the truth must be combined, an aspiration for the right, an emotional activity toward the better and the good. This is done when the soul assumes its right. ful dominance over the body—the spirit > Nearer, O soul, to thee; Nearer to thee: E'en though it be a cross That raiseth me, Still all my song shall be Nearer, O soul, to thee. Nearer, O soul, to thee, Nearer to thee.

over the material in all things.

Though like a wanderer The sun gone down, Darkness be over me, My rest a stone Yet in my dreams I'd be Nearer. O soul, to thee, Nearer, O soul, to thee, Nearer to thee.

Then let the way appear Steps unto heaven. All that is given to me In love is given, Angels encourage me, Nearer, O soul, to thee. Nearer, O soul, to thee, Nearer to thee. And if on joyful wing, Cleaving the sky, Sun, moon and stars forgot, Upward I fly, Still all my song shall be Nearer. O soul, to thee, Nearer, O soul, to thee,

4.4

Nearer to thee. H. W. BOOZER. Grand Rapids, Mich.

That Wonderful Churn.

H. T. Marshall writes us as follows: "I want to add my testimony to the list of those who have used the lightning churn. It does all that they claim for it. You can churn easily in one minute and get a larger percentage of butter than with ordinary churns. I never took the agency for anything before, but so many of my neighbors wanted churns that I ordered 80 and they are all sold." Other farmers can do as wel, as Mr. Marshall. No farmer can afford to be without one of our churns. By using it he can make 25 per cent, more butter than with his old churn. Any intelligent farmer can sell four or five churns every week in his own township Everyone who sees h-s churn will went one lik it. We will mail circulars and full particulars on demand, . Mound City Churn Co., St., Louis.

OGGULT MYSTERIES.

THE LOST WILL.

A Message From the Dead, With a Simple Explanation.

"But, Maizle, this thing is worthless!" I said again, shrinking from the dread horror confronting us in the legal document on my desk. "I drew up a later will, in which your father bequeaths the bulk of his fortune to you, leaving only This was drawn by my father years ago, when you and Charlie and I were children. I tell you, sweetheart, there is another!"

"Where?" she asked despairingly, "Aunty and I have examined every inch of the house, every scrap of writing, since you told us, but we find—nothing.
Worse than the dependence on my poor, weak brother is the thought that heoh, Maurice, if he has done what we fear, how can I bear the shame?"

I drew the girl's troubled face to my shoulder with a wave of self-hatred for my share in the dilemma. I, the conscientious, the methodical, who lived by the clock, had for once been careless in business. "Darling, the fault is mine," I declared, recklessly assuming all blame rather than give her further cause to grieve over a scapegrace brother. "Let me go over the scene exactly as it happened, and perhaps together we can see a ray of light where my eyes alone are blind. Three weeks ago today I was preparing to leave my office, and had already put a number of papers in my bag"—pointing to the alligator grip my fiancee was familiar with-"you know it is my custom to stop at the safety vaults on my way home and personally lock up in my private vault all valuable documents accumulated through the day."

"I know," she answered, a shade of annoyance darkening her wood-violet eyes. "It has always seemed strange to me that you do not have a private safe in your office."

"I inherited the custom with the business." I laughed, ignoring her unwonted asperity. "As I was closing my desk your father came in apparently in the best of health and asked me, much to my surprise, to draw up a new will.

"'There is nothing like being pre-pared,' he said, in explanation. 'Since my son has developed a passion for gambling he is not a fit guardian for my gambling he is not a fit guardian for my an optical illusion I lifted the paper leave Maizie practically dependent on her brother's charity. Ah, he promised so well, but now she is my tower of was three weeks dead? I let it fall strength!'

"I immediately drew up a will at his dictation, which, as I told you, named All who desire not to be paupers want | you executrix, and your father signed it in the present of Darby, the artist in the next suite, and the janitor. "Why cannot they testify?" she asked quickly, her sad eyes brightening a trifle. "Because the fates are cruel to us sweetheart. That very night the jan-itor dropped dead in an apoplectic fit hunted him like a sleuth since this came up," cudgeling the offending will

"After our business was concluded," went on, "your father, Darby and I sat talking on different subjects, which by degrees led up to psychic phenomena. Your father cited several cases investiwhich he declared were sufficient proof with a burst of tears. tion between the material and spiritual sobbed. where thought waves would become telepathic wires carrying messages between finite and infinite minds. The tween finite and infinite minds. discussion was long and heated, and in conclusion he said, turning to me: There are none so blind as those who will not see. You refuse to relief to the conclusion had seen it, sweetheart." will not see. You refuse to voluntarily make or witness any experiments in she silenced scornfully. "My father telepathy to satisfy yourself, but the has removed the will again to punish probabilities are strong that I will go you for doubting," going off into anfirst, my boy. If I do, expect me to com- other hysterical shower.

municate with you in a manner so weird and startling as to forever convince you find words for my regret a step on the I am right.' Then laughing. he and threshold recalled me to the Darby went out together and I never priety of a love scene in a law office. I saw him again. "Although I do not remember placing the new will in my bag, I probably did so the moment it was signed. One so methodical as I would naturally do so. Your father's earnestness was so impressive, and his uncanny stories took such a firm hold on me, I was yet under their influence when next day a mestestingly back. "Did you witness a will senger informed me your father had which I drew up for Mr. Weir?" I dedied suddenly from heart failure. My first thought after you (pressing her hand) was of my professional duties as "Why, of course," said he. "I've just his lawyer. I immediately went after the will. It was not in the safety box, did not know until yesterday that Mr. neither was it in the bag, nor on my Welr-that anything had happened. I desk, nor in the waste paper basket. standing full as I had left it the day be the matter, old man?" as I staggered fore. No one had been in my office, for when he laid the lost will on the desk. the only person who might have entered, the janitor, was dead. From the disappeared from my strong box three office to the vault the bag was unopened; was never out of my hands. I peared on my desk an hour ago, bearhave the only key to the strong box. ing an inscription from the dead. How, No one but the witnesses knew the will then, does it come in your possession? had been made, and Darby accompanied Are you a professor of legerdemain your father when he left my office. It was not in your father's possession, or it would have been found either upon He loc his person or among his papers. Could anything about your mysteries. All I anyone—who was with him—when—it know is that Mr. Weir picked up the will Poor, little girl! She went white as put it in his pocket. When he discovthe hyacinths nodding on my desk. "He ered it in the car he wrote across it as was with my brother in the library, you see, because our scientific arguwhere he kept his business papers. To ment was to blame for his abstraction, the son. He knew of the long-standing of unlocking your door with my key. document that named him his father's Then, fearing you were out for the day, heir. He was the only person benefited I came back intending to carry it to by the disappearance, and dissipation Miss Weir. Not being sure of her adhad dulled his sense of honor. The dress, I am back again, the third time," pain in my flancee's eyes nerved me to smiling.

sneak out the thoughts that had har "And it wasn't in the bag nor the assed me since I discovered the all-im. strong box at all," said Maizle after a portant document missing.

"Maizie, no reed must be rejected as too slender to lean upon now. Perhaps about telepathic communication with your brother and I are both innocent, unseen forces, Maizie?" both truthful. I am not superstitious. you know, but after our last weird ar. happiness of a new thought that I regument your father's will, suddenly, mysteriously missing, brought with it an uncanny thought I have been unable "the will, the tangible will, gives me to shake off with reason. Remember back my brother—stainless."—Euretta the promise made by the conscientious D. Metcalf, in Record-Herald. business man, whose word was equal to a bond, that he would communicate with me from the spirit world. "Perhaps he has," I continued in a not only analyzed, but contrasted with hushed voice. "Perhaps this is the other Bible passages, showing great inpromised proof." I paused again to congruities. Price 25 cents weigh my words carefully. "If it is, if the will dispel your grief, my darling, by directing us to or returning the paper that will vindicate your brother of attempted fraud, I will-

She interrupted my declaration of a new faith eagerly. "It is possible, Maurice," she said. "Mind reckons not distance. If we both earnestly pray, our united concentration will put us in communication with my father, my real father, who is not buried under Oak-wood leaves, but living in his next higher sphere, for prayer, you know, is the precipitation of individual will into the mysteries that surround the Godhead."

I gasped with astonishment, for my flancee had never before expressed her concurrence with her father's peculiar beliefs, but so strong was her suggestion that under its reflection I lived the night on a mental altitude till then undreamed, floating as it were on waves of ether high above the material plane. I went down to my office next morning prepared for anything, and of course found nothing new bearing on the case. My unwonted mental tension broke, as it was sure to, under the day's cares, and left me irritable, disinclined to work. About 11 o'clock I closed my desk and went out, carefully locking the door behind me. When I returned in half an hour, although the door was locked, to my great amezement the top of my desk was rolled back, and a legal document lay like a white oasis on the tidy green baize. I crossed the room with a bound, and stood with my arms behind me, regarding the lost will with bulging eyes. And something else. Written across it in the unmistakable chirography of my flancee's father, I read: "So much for the phenomena of spiritism! Yours for telepathy. Gilbert

Weir." A message from the dead! The supernatural seemed to have possession of my practical workshop, the air was dense with wraithy, floating shapes. Maurice Brice, you are an imbecile or the victim of some clap-trap hoax!" I declared in a hollow voice, but the ghostly chill refused to leave my spine. "But if it was a joke, who, who could gain entrance and depart again through a locked door? And the door was locked on my return!" "The same hand that filched it from a locked box!" chuckled the dim shapes. "We of the spirit reckon not distance nor locks!"

should die suddenly the old will would and gravely pronounced my own writwas three weeks dead? I let it fall again with a shiver.

"From too much brooding I have be come imaginative," I reasoned. "I will leave it here, just so, and go out again. If I find it on my return I will believesomething-if it is gone I will know I dreamed it all." And glad to escape the shadowy occupants of my office, I again locked the door, trying the knob to make sure the key was not a trickster.

If I had only relied on my own judgand Darby has disappeared. I have ment and kept the strange proceedings hunted him like a sleuth since this to myself! But half an hour later I again inserted my key, pale and tremuagain meeted my key, pare and tremulous, and with Maizie at my heels.

'There!" I triumphed, as the door swung in. "Of course I was dreaming!
There is no will on the desk!" The top was closed as I had left it when I first went out.

Maizle dropped into my pivot chair "It is your cynithat death does not destroy communica. cism, your unbelief, Maurice," she "I know it was there; that you worlds. He confidently asserted that saw it as you told me. There is so science is rapidly reaching a point much beyond our comprehension we had seen it, sweetheart."

"Unseen forces do not require keys,"

"Maizie," I began, but before I could

Then laughing, he and threshold recalled me to the improsprang up, glowering at a retreating visitor crossing the hall with long strides. "Beg pardon," he called, keeping his pack religiously turned. "I did not know-sorry.' But not so was Darby, the important nissing witness to the lost will, to efface himself again. I dragged him prohurried back as fast as I could,

I sat down helplessly. "That will masquerading as a portrait painter, Mr.

He looked puzzled. "I don't know from your desk and absent-mindedly follow that finger-post is to travel a yet darker road, Maurice. Charlie was and asked me to hand it to you. You were not in when I came back to my of alone with him some time before he summoned help. Don't, don't, probe from town, I foolishly took the will with "Even I turned sick at the suggestion.
The new will practically disinherited portance of the paper, I took the liberty of unlocking your door with my key.

> long silence—a pregnant silence. "No"-I laughed then-"and what

She looked up, so beautiful in the solved never to mention spiritism scoffingly again. "I don't care," sae said, "the will, the tangible will, gives me

"The Commandments Analyzed." By W. H. Bach. The Commandments are

STRANGE HAPPENINGS.

Some Unrecognized Phases of Telepathy.

Telepathy is the receiving of communications mentally at a distance. Mindreading is the phase of it that receives and interprets the impressions sent out. Thought transference is the sending of thoughts silently by one person to be received by another.

This has been practiced many generations in the far East, and many of the Yogi became so adept in it that they could sit on their door-mats' and communicate with the circle of their fellows in different parts of the realm. After England had subjugated India and an insur rection arose, the English army had much difficulty in locating the insurgents, because they were advised of every move the English army made. This the English called "secret mail."

There have been also some very remarkable cases in this country. Notable among these is that of Frank and Fred Pratt-twin brothers, of Chicago From very early childhood each could interpret the mind of the other whether present or absent, and such was the loving sympathy between them that neither could be perfectly happy when out of the presence of the other. Three years ago Frank concluded to make a tour around the world, and Fred, at his home in Chicago, held communication with him daily until he reached Manila. There the messages ceased, and Fred frantically sent out appeals to his brother to respond, but no response came until two days afterwards over wire, when it was learned that

Frank was dead. Many are cultivating this phase mind and are making progress in it. Indeed, nothing is impossible to the Angle-Saxon-American mind. What the Orient achieves by slow and tedious processes the American will either discover, invent or contrive. Telepathy must have a rare substance as a medium for communication. Sir Isaac Newton affirmed that a rare, imponderable ether existed and extended throughout all space. He said it must be there to account for the phenomena of light. Marconi has demonstrated that this ether exists. When two sympathetic instruments are placed one thousand miles apart, one to receive and vibrate in harmonious response to the other, and when the latter receives and records the impressions sent out from the first, it proves conclusively that these delicate vibrations pass through an intervening ether, and that the vibrations of this ether were recorded on the other side. Now, the brain is a delicate instrument, and every thought creates a vibration which is sent out upon the ether waves through space. When two minds are in perfect harmony, enrapport, the vibrations of the one may be received and egistered in another miles away.

But we were to say something about the unrecognized phases of telepathy. The lower animals communicate silently. How? If it is not done by telepathy how else are their thoughts and feelings expressed? Bees evidently conduct the affairs of their colonies by telepathy. The presence of the queen is sufficient to keep everything running smoothly-to direct every worker to the proper cell; to order a certain number to gather pollen and other to gather noney; and to direct still others to assist those coming in laden with pollen, by taking it from their legs and placing it in the proper cells. Now, all this without a sound. But more wonderful still; the bees when out gathering honey are intent upon their work, taking no thought of the hive or its direction, but when laden with their precious burden, each rises in the air, makes a few circular movements, and then takes a straight line to the hive. It gets into communication with the hive by telepathy. The carrier pigeon is enabled to N. S. A., was present and gave one of carry messages across the continent his splendid addresses, the same way. Young pigs, when Missionaries was present woods, to the barn, and getting lost from the sow, make their way back to their first bed by this means. Dogs, horses, cats will return to their home, though many miles away, by the aid of this principle One fall I pulled a cocoon from an apple tree in my yard and placed it on top of the wardrobe. Next spring a large and beautifuly butterfly came out. I placed it on the outside of the window Mrs. Nina D. Challen and Mrs. Elizashutter. In the afternoon I went to see about it and found another butterfly with similar stripes, but a little smaller -the male of the same species. Now how did this second butterfly know that its mate was hanging on my shutter, perhaps a mile or two from its resting place? It was needed to fertilize the eggs, was sent for, and came, at the bidding of the female.

Still another phase. In my boyhood I knew a horse that had been blind for a number of years, and his sense of the presence of objects was so acute that you could not make him run against a tree or stumble over a log or go into a sink-hole. If you would lead him to a door through which he had never been before, and there was a log to step over, ne would always step over it, and if the manger was to the right or left, he would go directly to it.

I heard an old man tell this story of a blind fiddler who attended gatherings in this country in early days and entertained the crowds with his "Arkansas Traveler," "Devil's Dream" or other oldtime jig melodies. One day a number of men were riding horseback through the woods along a path, going to a sale. Over this path a limb extended so low that one would be struck and knocked off his horse if he did not duck his head. Knowing the blind fiddler to possess this sense in a large degree, they decided not to tell him the limb was there, that they might see if he would duck his head. When he came to the limb he ducked and went under as all the others. Now, there is still another phase of elepathy often unrecognized. That is congeniality among friends. The finest things that pass between friends and lovers are not expressed and not even attempted. There are those who can not understand you-to whom you can not make yourself understood-be they are not upon the same sympathetic mental plane with yourself. There are others who understand you without a word of explanation; and in the presence of such you feel an enlargement of yourself as though you were coming out of your shell and letting yourself be seen in your entirety. You feel that you are understood. You know it. Now, this is because one mind or soul is in delicate, sympathetic harmony with the other and vibrates in unison or harmony with it.

What is called personal magnetism is tions emanating from some noble, broad, generous, kindly soul that strike that side of nature in others, and cause them to respond to it. Every mental attitude is really telepathic and communicates itself in a measure to those by whom you are surrounded. It is very necessary that teachers should understand this. On rainy, dismal afternoons the children often be come tired and restless, their nerves jangling out of tune, and the teacher's condition is the same—but, perhaps, intensified. Now, shall the teacher give yent to her feelings? Shall she let the pupils know how ill-tempered she feels? By no means. Let her assume the at-itude of tranquility, of self-control, mental equipoise and kindness; and they say to the scholars: "I think I know how you feel this dismal day. sympathize with you. I shall not scold you for being just a little nolsy. Now, we are going to have a rest. Lay aside your books and I will tell you a very interesting story (teachers should have a supply of stories) I read a few days Then let her sit down and in a pleasant manner and voice tell the story. After this let them sing a song and have recess a few minutes. After recess let her hold this attitude, and there will be no more trouble that afternoon. Teachers, when you fall to govern, reflect; look into yourselves and see if you are not assuming the wrong mental attitude towards your pupils. will feel by telepathy what you feel in your inner being.-Vim, New York.

OHIO SPIRITUALISTS.

Proceedings of the State Convention at Toledo.

The annual convention of the Ohio Spiritualists Association convened at Toledo, Ohio, Friday, May 29, 1903, at 10 o'clock a. m. The morning session was devoted to organizing and appointing committee upon credentials to report in afternoon. In the afternoon the report of said committee entitled fifteen societies to be represented by delegates with about 400 votes. Forty-four direct members were entitled to be present and vote at beginning of convention but a goodly number was added to this later

Then President Albert W. Wadsworth, Secretary John C. Hemmeter and Treasurer Mrs. Carrie Firth Curran each read a written report for the past twelve months. Quite a spirited discussion was had over parts of same, but all were approved and filed. Then different societies gave written and verbal reports of local work, all of which showed decided increase in interest and work really accomplished.

Conneaut was easily the banner socie ty for the past year, while for new ones, Sandusky showed about the best worl done. The election of officers occurred Sat urday afternoon after all the business was completed. President Wadsworth stated positively before nominations were made that he would not be a candidate for re-election, and the following were duly elected for the ensuing year President, Mrs. Carrie Firth Curran, To ledo: 1st vice-president, S. Mehaffey Conneaut: 2d vice-president, Mrs. Hat tie G. Webster, Columbus; secretary, John C. Hemmeter, Cleveland; treasurer, F. D. Dunakin, Cecil. Trustees Mrs. W. S. Allen, Cincinnati; Mrs. Baird, Elyria; Mrs. Elizabeth Schauss, Toledo; J. F. Grove, Columbus.

It was decided to elect two delegates in open convention to the N. S. A. Convention, one to represent the charter and one to represent the direct members; and Mrs. W. S. Allen and Mrs Carrie Firth Curran were elected. Then the trustees were instructed to let each of the fifteen societies select a member to represent them.

Besides the business sessions there were meetings calculated for the pub-lic Friday evening. Mayor S. W. lic. Friday evening, Mayor S. W. Jones, of Toledo, gave the principal address of welcome to the Spiritualists, followed by short addresses by Mrs. Curran, pastor of the The Progressive Thought Society of Toledo, and Henry Dowd, president of the Independent Society of Toledo.

The response was made by Albert W. Wadsworth in behalf of the state association. Mrs. Hattle G. Webster gave an inspirational poem. President Harrison D. Barrett, of the moved from their warm bed in the were also present, and Mrs. Sprague Missionaries E. W. Sprague and wife was invited to give some spirit messages, which she did. Saturday evening, the newly elected president, Mrs. Curran, presided. The main address was by F. D. Dunakin, of Cecil, followed by a short address by E. W. Sprague and messages by Mrs.

Mrs. Nina D. Challen and Mrs. Elizabeth Schauss, both of Toledo, and Albert W. Wadsworth, of Cleveland. service conducted by President Barrett was very impressive and was favorably received by the audience.

Master Jason Hemmeter rendered one of his recitations in a very accept able manner, and Mrs. Baird, of Elyria, gave an inspirational poem. Sunday morning, Mrs. Dr. Wyant, of Toledo, conducted a lyceum meeting and the children gave fine recitations and drills, showing good work. Sunday afternoon President Barrett conducted "dedication services" for two young children, which was impressive. Mrs. Carrie Firth Curran gave the address in the afternoon, followed by spirmessages by Mrs. Marian Carpenter.

of Detroit. In the evening, and closing meeting, the main address was by President Barrett, and was certainly a masterly effort and well received by all. Mrs. Marian Carpenter again gave the messages and certainly sustained her reputation as a wonderfully clear and convincing message medium. Mrs. Carpenter is a great favorite with To ledo audiences. Others spoke during the meeting but this includes practically the programme as carried out. Miss Julia Curran and Mrs. Anderson planned the music, which added greatly to the success of the meetings.

Good feeling and harmony seemed to prevail and the interest manifested by those present indicated the field in Ohio as being ripe for good work the coming year. ALBERT W. WADSWORTH.

Constinution Needs a Cure.

A simple remedy only is not sufficient.

especially if the relief is brought about by the use of salts, aloes, rhubarb, some similar purgative or cathartic They temporarily relieve but they weaken the bowels and make the condi tion worse. In constipation the bowels require strengthening, toning, and something that will assist them to do their work naturally and healthfullyin short a tonic laxative of the highest order. That is what Vernal Saw Palmetto Berry Wine is. It both relieves and permanently cures by removing and of an inhabitant of the the cause of the difficulty. It positive Mars. Professor Flournov and ly cures dyspepsia, indigestion, kidney and liver troubles, headache and all other diseases which grow out of sick nothing more nor less than the vibra- and clogged bowels. One small dose a day will cure any case, light or bad. It is not a patent medicine. The full list of ingredients goes with every package > bottle for the asking. Vernal Remedy Co., 166 Seneca Building, Buffalo, N. Y. All leading druggists sell it. "The Truth Seeker Collection of Forms and Ceremonies for the Use of Liberals." For sale at this office. Price 25 cents.

with explanation of their action.

costs nothing to try it. A free sample

THE SEGRET OF POWER.

Would you fathout the secret of man's power over man? Would you wield a magic influcuce over others? Would you possess the art of fascination, the secret power of charming? Would you win in business life, in politics, in society? Do you care to be able to read the secret natures, abilities and talents of others at a glance; to know who will succeed, and who will fail? Are you on the right track in life? Are you doing what nature fitted you to do?

OUR NEW FREE BOOK

is full of invaluable information that directly bears on your success, happiness and health. It tells why one person succeeds while another fails; it lays bare the mysteries of magnetic power; it lifts the veil of human secrets; it draws aside the curtain which hangs over many future events; it tells you how to gain a magic power over disease, how to develop a fine physique, an attractive personality. You will be intensely interested, mystified, thrilled and charmed by its mysterious contents. Write for a copy to-day, Remember it is free. Address.

collebil Schriffic Academy, Dogs 150 Y 1031 Broadway, Kew York City.

THE SPIRITUAL SIGNIFICANCE.

A VERY IMPORTANT WORK.

The Spiritual Significance is by Lillan The Spiritual Significance is by Lillan Whiting, author of "The World Beautiful," "After Her Death," "Kate Field, A Record," "A Study of Elizabeth Barrett Browning," Cloth, $1.00.

Miss Whiting finds the title of her new book in these lines from "Aurora Leigh."

new book in these lines from "Aurora Leigh;"

"If a man could feel
Not one, but every day, feast, fast, and working-day,
The spiritual significance burn through
The hieroglyphic of material shows, hierceforward he would paint the globe with wings,"
The aim of this book is to reveal the curiously close correspondence between

curiously close correspondence between the developments of modern science and spiritual laws; to note that new forces, spiritual laws; to note that new forces, as discovered and applied in wireless telegraphy, are simply laws of an unseen realm into which humanity is rapidly advancing and thus gaining a new environment. From this evolutionary progress, as illustrated by physical science the author of "The World Beautiful" continues the same argument presented in those volumes in a plea that the future life is the continuation and development of our present life in all its faculties and powers, and that the present may be ennobled by the constant sense of the Divine Presence, and a truer knowledge of the nature of man and his relations to God tend to a digher morality and increasing happiness. The book is characterized by the same essential style and qualities that have insured for "The World Beautiful" volumes an almost world-wide popularity. popularity.

OTHER BOOKS BY LILIAN WHIT-ING: Kate Field A Record. Price $2. A Study of Elizabeth Barrett Brown-

ing. Price $1.25.
The World Beautiful. Three Series. Each $1.
From Dreamland Sent, and Other Poems. $1. These books are for sale at this office.

Contracts in Spirit Life and Recent of Samuel Bowles in the First Five Spheres, Etc. Written through the hand of Carrie E. S. Twing. Paper, 30 cents.

Bible and Church Degrade Woman. By Elizabeth Cady Stanton. Comprises three essays on "The Effect of Woman Suffrage on Questiens of Morals and Religion." Price, 10c.

Why I Am a Vegetarian. An address delivered before the Chicago Vegetarian Society. By J. Howard Moore. Price, 25 cents. POEMS OF PROGRESS.

OBy Lizzie Doten. They are really valuable. Price, $1.00. Healing, Gauses and Effects.

By W. P. Phelon, M. D. Deals with the finer mental and spiritual forces as applied to heal-ing. Price, 50 cents. Aryan Sun Myths, the Origin of Religion.

By Sarah E. Titcomb. with an introduction by Charles Morris, author of "The Aryan Race." Price, clott, $1.00.

Three Remarkable Books

"The Divine Pedigree of Man."
"The Law of Psychic Phenomena."
"A Scientific Demonstration of the Fu-ture Life." The Divine Pedigree of Man, or the Testimony of Evolution and Psychology to the Fatherhood of God. By Thompson Jay Hudson, LL. D. A most remarkable work. demonstrating the existence of the Soul and Future Life. It is scientific throughout. Price $1.50. Dr. Hudson's work on "The Law of Psychic Phenomena" is also valuable. Price, $1.50. His "Scientific Demonstration of the Future Life" should be read by all. Price $1.50.

BODY AND SOUL.

BY J. CLEGG WRIGHT.

This volume consists of a course of lectures delivered in the trance state, and is certainly no small contribution to the study of the soul. It is a good work to open the eyes to the difference between the deductive and inductive process of whind. Bound in cloth, $1. For sale at this office.

THE GOSPEL OF BUDDHA, According to Old Records. By Dr. Paul Carus. A translation made from Japanese, under the auspices of the Rev. Shaku Soyer, delegate to the Parliament of Religions. Was published in Japan. Price 3

Church and State. The Bible in the Public Schools; the New "American" Party. By "Jefferson." Third edition; 28 pages. Price, 10 cents.

FROM INDIA TO THE PLANET MARS.

A MOST REMARKABLE WORK.

Fascinating, Interesting and Instructive.

By Th. Flournoy, Professor of Psychology in the University of Geneva.
"This is an account of the experiments with the 'Geneva Medium,' Helene Smith. In her trances she lives the dual existence of an Indian princess Mars. Professor Flournoy and his fellow scientists have for more than five years experimented with these astounding physical phenomena."

This is a work of thrilling interest.
It has excited great attention in this country and in Europe. Price $1.50. For sale at this office.

Father Tom and the Pope,

Or a Night at the Vatican. Written probably by Sir Samuel Ferguson. From Blackwood's Edinburg Magazine. This is a humorous abcount of a rolicksome visit to the Pope of Rome by Father Tom, an Irish priest, armed with a superabundance of Irish wit, two imperial quart bottles of Irish "poteen," and an Irish recipe for "conwounding" the Bame. Paper, 25 cents; cloth, 50 cents.

In the World Celestian By DR. T. A. BLAND.

"It is inexpressibly delightful."-Hon. C. 4

"It is inexpressibly delightful."—Hon. C. (Windle.
"It lifts the reader into enchanting reaims." Medical Gleanor.
"It is intensely interesting."—Rev. Minot (Savege.
"Three things make this book remarkable. If authorship, the astounding claims put forth it, and the philosophy and revelation of a futualistic it contains."—B. C. Flower, in the Arena. "It will give us courage to pass through by deep shadows of death to the sun-its clime of the World Celestin!."—Rev. H. W. Thomas.
"Everybody will be charmed with it, for it, not only a great Spiritual book, but a mod beautiful romance of two worlds."—Banner of Light.

It is Printed in elegant style and bound it sloth and gold. Pric $1.00.

The Mystic Thesaulus,

Or initiation in the Theoretical and Practical secrets of Astral Truth and Ocenit Art. By Willis F. Whitzhead, Editor Agrippa s "Natural Magic." The book treats of The Symbol of the Cross, Splittual Gifts, inspirational Conseption, Initiative Exposition, The Astral Broths erhood, Message of the Brotherhood. The Magic Mirror, and Celestial Companionship. It is a good text book for students of the Mystic, and will be sent postpaid, in paper, for $1.00.

Memorial Oration by Col. R. d. Ingersol a warm friend of his and a great statasman, do livered before the New York Legislature, May 9 1888. Price 4 cents.

The Devil and the Adventists An Adventist attack upon Spiritualism pulsed. By Moses Hull. Price, 10 cents.

Practical Methods to Insure Success

A valuable little work full of practical in struction in matters pertaining to physical mental and spiritual health. Worth man, times its cost. Price 10 cents. THE WORLD BEAUTIFUL. Series one, two and three. By Lilian Whiting Three choice volumes, each come 'te in itself in which spirituality is related to veryday life in such a way as to make the world beautiful Price, 81.00 each. MEDIUMSHIP and its DEVELOPMENT and how to Mesmerize to Assist Development. By W. H. Bach. Paper 25 cents; cloth 60 cents.

ITS ATTAINMENT OF Womanly FORM AND FEATURES Beauty The cultivation of personal beauty, based on Hygiene and Health Culture, by twenty physicians and specialists, and edited by Albert Turner. A valuable book for women and therefore for the whole world. Price in elegant cloth binding, $1.00 For sale at this office.

-THE-Christs of the Past and Present By MOSES HULL,

A comparison of the Christ-work or Medium ship of Biblical Messiahs and the conditions they required, with similar manifestations in Modern Spiritualism. This is a good work to study for arguments with which to meet the very common orthodox question, "Why do you always require conditions for your spiritual manifestations." Cloth bound, 35 cents; paper 25 cents. For sale at this office.

Were You Born Under a Lucky Star?

A complete exposition of the science of Astrology, adapted from the Four Books of Ptolemy the Astronomer on the art of Reading the Stars, with many illustrations. By A. ALPHEUS, Secretary of the Astrological Society of England and America. Handsomely bound in cloth, git top, with beautiful designs stamped on side and back, Price $1.00. For sale at this onice.

ORIGIN OF LIFE and How the Spirit Body Grows. By M. Faraday Price. 10c. For sale at this office

THE TEACHINGS OF JESUS Not Adapted to Modern Civilization, with the Trre Character of Mary Magdalene. By Geo. W. Brown M. D. Price, 15 cents. For sale at this office.

Out of the Depths Into the Light, By Samuel Bowles; Mrs. Carrie E. S. Twing; modium. This is a very interesting little book, and will be appreciated from start to finish by all who wish to gain spiritual information, Price, 25 cents.

Man the Microcosm.

His Infinite and Divine Relations. Intuition—
The Light Within. By Giles B. Stebbins.

Price, 10 cents. WOMAN: Four Centuries of Progress, A Lecture delivered at the Prechinker's International Congress, Chicago, Ill., Ootober, 1803. By Susan H. Wixon. Price, IUC.

PSYGHE Is the invention of a practical medium, under spirit guidance, and is designed to develop mediumship, Many, by its use, have received long communications from spirit friends, and express great satisfaction. Price, et, and 20 cents extra for expressage.

Discovery of a Lost Trail BY CHARLES B. NEWGOMB,

Author of "All's Right with the World." Cloth 270 pages. Mr. Newcomb made a distinct success with "All's Right with the World." which continues in the front rank of the Metaphysical books that are now so popular. The great number who have seen cheered and strengthened by him will welcome another book by the wise teacher whose words of heip are doing so much to aske the world better by making men and women better able to understand and enjoy it. "Discovery of a Lost Trail" is a simple study of that strange and beautiful thing called life, but grand in its scholarly simplicity. It will be in demand by many who have not previously read metaphysical writings. Price $1.50. For sale at this office.

The Christ Question Settled. Jesus, Man, Medium, Martyr. A symposium by W. E. Coleman, J. S. Loveland, Hudson Tut tle, Moses Hull. J. R. Buchanan, B. B. Hill, Rabbi I. M. Wise Col. Ingersoil—and what the aprits say about it. By J. M. FEERLES, M. D. Whether this book settles the question or not it will be found eminently entertaining, and brings together a mass of evidence to establish the historical character of Jesus. A large volume. Price cloth, $1.25.

AUTOMATIC WRITING, [So-called] with other psychic experiences. By Sara A. Underwood. With half-tone portraft and specimen pages of the writing. Hand-somely bound in cloth. Price, ti. Postage, 100.

Paine's Theological Works. Ago of Reason, Examination of the Prophetics, etc. Illustrated edition. Post ser. 432

POEMS FROM THE INNER LIFE.

By Lizzle Doten. These poems and truly inspirational and as staple as sugar. Price 61.00

ASTRAL WORSHIP By J. H. Him. M.D. Avaluable contribution to the current discussion of religious problems. The author by illustrations and a plansiphere (a representation of the celestial sphere upon a plane with adjustable circles), trices most of the myths which lie at the base of Christianity to their origin in sun and star worship. The astronomical facts given possess great value, the illustrations rare and curious. The book is bound in only one style—heavy boards. Price & L.

Remit by Postomee Money Order, Registered Letter or draft on Chicago or New York. It costs from 10 to 16 cents to get checks eached on local banks, so don't send them unless you wish that amount deducted from the amount sont. Address all letters to J. R. FRANCIS, No. 40 Loomis Street, Chicago, Ill.

As expiration of subscription, if not re newed, the paper is discontinued. No bills will be sent for extra numbers.

F'If you do not receive your paper promptly write to us, and any errors in address will be promptly corrected, and missing numbers supplied gratis.

Whenever you desire the address of your paper changed, always give the address of the place to which it is then sent or the change cannot be made.

SATURDAY, JUNE 18, 1903.

TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES. The price of The Progressive Thinker per year to foreign countries, is $1.75.

books advertised in the columns of The Progressive Thinker are for sale at this office. Bear this in mind.

TAKE NOTICE.

HUDSON TUTTLE.

Editor-at-Large for the National Spiritualist Association.

Mr. Tuttle has been engaged to answer all attacks in the secular or religious press on Spiritualism. Send him clippings when an attack is made, giving date and name of paper. Address him at Berlin Heights, Ohio.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE PUBLIC. All money in donations or collections Home or Relief Fund, should be sent to this office to the secretary, if not directly paid to our authorized missionaries, who can show a missionary certificate of later date than October, 1902. No other is authorized to collect money for this association. Contributions, large or small, are gratefully accepted.

MARY T. LONGLEY,

N. S. A. Secretary. 600 Pennsylvania avenue S. E., Washington. D. C.

According to the Inter Ocean, hard-

Salvation by Hypnotism.

ened sinners who have so far withstood all efforts to convert them to the straight and narrow path of Methodism, soon may find themselves hypnotized into the church. The Methodist minis ters, at their meeting, June 1, discussed hypnotism as an evangelistic agency. to propose a classfor its study. This man says he has already used hypnotism, and there is talk of sending a commit-

ton, proposed to the ministers this spiritual authors in presenting the vastudy of hypnotism, and the Rev. N. B. | rious sides of the philosophy, and can-Norton, pastor of the Maywood church, indorsed his remarks. The Rev. Mr. Norton said he had already hypnotized several persons, and would attend a class if Professor Grimes would organ-

Visions of crowded churches and congregations pouring their wealth into the coffers of the church, under the mysterious influence of the strange power. caused the ministers to wax enthusiastic. They saw escape from the necessity of begging for money. A mere hypnotic suggestion would do the work quite as well. Some, it is said, even went so far as to imagine their congregations hypnotized into considering their sermons interesting and enter-

"The time will come," said Professor Grimes, "when every minister will be a student of hypnotism. There is nothing dishonorable in its use, because it is an agency which has been given us for a good use. Other agencies are often put to wrong use, but we do not therefore wholly discredit them." Hypnotism can be learned," said the

Rev. Mr. Norton, "and I believe there is a connection between hypnotism and Spiritualism. If Professor Grimes will form a class I should like to attend."

Professor Grimes is a phrenologist as well as a hypnotist, and he examined the heads of several of the clergymen. telling them traits and characteristics well enough to gain the applause of his audience. Among those who submitted to this test were the Rev. H. T. Clendenning of the Sacramento church, the Rev. C. R. Robinson of the Adams street church, and the Rev. A. H. Kestler of the Norwood Park church.

Professor Grimes is a venerable Methodist himself, being 97 years old. These zealous Methodists are apparently oblivious to the fact that hypnotism in some degree has ever been the power consciously or unconsciously used by revivalists, to bring "sinners" into the church. As an evangelistic agency hypnotism has been the mainstay and potent force of all revival effort. One great trouble has ever been to keep their subjects hypnotized, for by contact with the world and mental preoccupation with the necessary affairs of life, the influence loses its hold, and backsliders a plenty have to be re-hypnotized yearly by a new revival.

Of course Prof. Grimes had to get off his old "gag" about Spiritualism's being "infidelity with a ghost in"it"-one of his pet phrases.

"Ghost." Yes, if you like the name; there is not only "a ghost," but there are ghosts innumerable in Spiritualism, and like Banquo's ghost, they will not down at the behest of Prof. Grimes and the whole array of clerical opposers.

The Rev. Mr. Norton believes "there is a connection between hypnotism and Spiritualism." We should say that one of the strongest evidences he might adduce in support of his view, consists in the fact of the inroads Spiritualism is making into the domains of the orthodox churches—hypnotizing orthodox believers into a conviction of the truth of Salvation by hypnotism—conversion by hypnotism is not new in practice, even though new in theory. The great revivalists have been strong hypnotists -though they may not have been aware of the fact, and have attributed the results of their hypnotic power to the power of God working direct upon human hearts.

'Gleanings from the Rostrum." By A. B. French. Cloth, $1. For sale at

Education All Right—Plain Words for the Consideration of the N. G. A.

The Progressive Thinker favors education, and believes that Spiritualism would be aided very much by the educational advancement of its mediums and speakers, especially the latter. But while there are public schools that are free so far as a tuition is concerned, and colleges all over the country where si.00 any kind of an education can be had. can fit himself or herself for the rostrum, and if they choose the spiritual rostrum, there are books that treat upon the principles of Spiritualism from every CONCEIVABLE STAND-POINT that will give them the broadest possible insight into this philosophy and teach them at their homes. It is not right to withhold an education from those who want it, but with the best facilities for all that are necessary and within easy reach of all, we see no need of the Spiritualistic public being drained of all the available funds for the support of a USELESS INSTI-TUTION when necessary institutions go down for want of support, and there is no longer any reason for smothering down the truth and sacrificing the funds that are so much needed in other directions for the sake of mere personal am-

There are grand and nonle old workers still in the field who are working for almost nothing, and have been formany, many years, and they are educated and adapted to the work upon the rostrum, most of them SELF-EDUCATED, at least from the public schools up to their present degree of learning, and some there are who have been educated wholly by their spirit guides, who are among the very best of our speakers.

But, it is not every sensitive who can get into vibration with the higher intelligences of spirit life; in fact they never can unless they are the chosen ones of those spirit bands, and therefore those desiring to go upon the rostrum should possess the NATURAL PRO-PENSITY for independent thinking and reasoning, with a general tendency for oratory, and then they can gain what they need by close study in any school, and with spiritual literature before

Spiritualism is being loaded down with too many unnecessary HEAVY WEIGHTS, and Spiritualists are burdened to almost the utmost limit at this time with trying to support a National Association, state associations and local societies, and the necessary speakers and mediums, without having FORCED UPON THEM anything else, and it is time to understand this.

There are Moses Hull's many works on Biblical Spiritualism; the various works of Dr. Peebles, Hudson Tuttle, A. J. Davis, Buchanan, Sargent, E. V. Wilson, etc., and innumerable others, besides the TEN PREMIUM BOOKS ofand one of their number went so far as I fered with this paper and the volumes and volumes offered by the other spiritual papers, all good educators and can be had for a small amount of money. tee to his church to investigate results. Thousands upon thousands of dollars Professor J. Stanley Grimes of Evans- are spent every year by the combined not the general public EAT AND DRINK at this great fountain for a while yet without being called upon for more to support institutions that they > do not need. Spiritualists are estimated in numbers up into the millions, but that estimate is only meant for the world to and advocates, those in complete harmony with Spiritualism as a distinctive sect, organization or cult, far below one to the support of the most needed institutions or phases of its working facililight of truth over the land-the lectur ers, the genuine mediums and the press -we find them very inactive, if they ex-

> The combined circulation of the Spiritualistic papers and magazines will not exceed thirty thousand, and at the common estimate of one subscriber to every ten readers (a very high estimate), that would reach but three hundred thousand, and double that number for those who believe and do not read, making six hundred thousand; then add the two together and we only have nine hundred thousand. Then, too, we have no Rockefellers, Carnegies, Morgans, etc., in our ranks, and but few men of wealth at all, and those we have are not anxious to put their dollars into institutions established in the name of Spiritualism because somebody informs them it is needed. When it comes to dollars and cents the practical side must be considered in our cause.

Christian Civilization.

An apt commentary on the Christian religion as exemplified by Christian nations is afforded by a Paris dispatch which discloses the fact that certain modern coast defenses are dangerous to shipping in time of peace as well as in time of war. It is stated that during a recent violent storm lightning caused the explosion of three submarine torpe does at the west entrance to the harbor of Cherbourg. The Hamburg-American liner Fuerst Bismarck had just entered the harbor and if the explosion had occurred a few minutes sooner it might have caused a great disaster Why are torpedoes planted at the en Is it to protect trance to harbors. cities against heathen peoples, or savages? Is it to protect against Buddhists, or Confucians?

Oh, no; it is to guard and defend against attack by other Christian na-

What a spectacle does Christian civilization present, when each Christian nation maintains vast armies at a burdensome expense, besides warships, and forts, so that it may not be at the mercy of other civilized Christian nations. It is a dark and damning picture, and viewed from a purely humanitarian standpoint. Christianity as exemplified by the Christian nations of the world stands forth as a gloomy terror, rather than a religion of peace and good will

'The Light of Egypt." Volumes, 1 and 2. An occult library in itself, a text-book of esoteric knowledge as taught by Adepts of Hermetic Philoso-Price $2 per volume. For sale at Schools, or Homes? Not by way of criticism in the spirit of fault-finding would The Progressive Thinker discuss the problem presented by the Morris Pratt Institute and the matter of mediums' homes. It is a time for most calm and serious thought, and a careful judicial weighing all considerations bearing upon a subject of deep and grave importance to Spiritualists. We are confronted at the first step of our inquiry with the stubborn fact that we must take Spiritualists as a whole just as they are—and not as they might be or as they ought to be.

The Progressive Thinker would be heartily glad if Spiritualists would demonstrate by concrete work their willingness and their determination and ability to establish and maintain a school where those desiring might gain helpful Spiritualistic education, such as ordinary schools of learning do not afford-and also establish and maintain greatly needed humanitarian homes for worn-out workers in the cause of Spiritualism.

There is a field for educative effort of a distinctly Spiritualistic character for the benefit of persons who may propose to enter the field of public Spiritual work.

The study of the ordinary branches of learning can be profitably pursued in the common schools and high schools. There is no real need to establish a Spiritualist school to teach English grammar, rhetoric, logic, etc., for these lines of study can be pursued in the schools established and maintained by the public in the villages and cities of our land.

What special need there may be for a Spiritualist school seems to be wholly for education along the lines of Spiritualism. How great or necessary may be this especial education is a matter for discussion and difference of opinion. The earnest, thinking inquirer for knowledge relating to Spiritualism in its various distinctive points, phases, its nature and elements, can study with educative profit the books written and published pertaining to Spiritualism, also the periodical literature which can be so cheaply obtained. And yet, with all that may be acquired by the reading of the works of Spiritualist authors, there may remain a supplementary work, useful and helpful, to be done under the supervision of competent Spiritualist instructors-as an aid in efficient public work. Whether it would not be advisable, in view of the apparent apatny of Spiritualists, that such supplementary work be conducted during a few months of each year, only, thus accomplishing the desired object at a minimum of expense-is a matter for thought.

As the matter stands, it seems to us that of the two things, however desirable both may be from certain standpoints, the founding and maintenance of homes for needy workers is of more pressing importance than a school; hence, if both cannot be had, the humanitarian home for the relief of our workers should receive the active support of Spiritualists.

Awaking into New Life.

The newspapers relate the circumstance that a woman who had lain in a trance or sleep for twenty years has just awakened. It is a curious case and involving mysterious phases of the laws pertaining to the human personality, especially when of such long duration. How strange the world must seem, and how strange one's self must seem, to one awaking to the realities of life, the number of active, fearless believers | after so long a period of what may be considered unconscious existence. Even though conscious in some degree, there is not normal contact with the world. million, and when it comes to rallying | nor the experiences resulting from life in a normal condition.

It seems as a Rip Van Winkle in actties, its facilities for spreading the ual experience awakening from his long sleep, to look out upon a changed world from what he knew when he lay down to take his rest.

And yet, who knows what experiences the spirit may have gone through during its forced condition of apparent

While the busy, bustling world, rife with activity, and occurrences of tremendous import, has been surging forward and making history from day to day-perhaps that sleeping personality has been living in a world of experiences, of its own, all aside from the life and affairs of earthly materiality. While apparently dead to the things of earth and sense, it has not been dead. for then the physical frame would not have been preserved alive. The spirit has maintained its vital connection with the body.

Many curious recitals have been made of experiences while in trance condition. Some of these have been plainly wholly subjective, though to the percipient they seemed objective. They have partaken of the individuals' peculiar religious notions as taught and held by their church. Thus the Catholic devotee's visions will be of a Catholic nature, the Protestant's will conform to Protestant views, and we might say the African Hottentot's trance visions will accord with Hottentot notions. Hence it is evident that such experiences are not to be relied upon as veritable matters of fact. The case of this sleeping woman may be used as a symbol text to point a moral, as for instance, how many are asleep to the things of spiritual truth, for twenty, forty, fifty years-all their

How many, under the hypnotizing influence of the church, have their eyes persistently closed to the perception and knowledge of the grand truths of

When such persons awake from their orthodox trance condition, and receive a knowledge of Spiritualism, it is like awaking from darkness into a new world—a world of sweetness and beauty, life and light.

ZURILDA WELLINGTON.

Or Life in Two Worlds. The above is the title of a message from the spirit side of life through the mediumship of Mrs. M. Pasquier Curran, of St. Louis, Mo. Emanating, as it does, from the spirit side of life, it will prove especially interesting. Everybody should read it.

"The Priest, the Woman and the Confessional." This book, by the well known Father Chiniquy, reveals the degrading, impure influences and results of the Romish confessional, as proved by the sad experience of many wrecked lives. Price, by mail, $1. For sale at

LAUNGHED, BUT

A Lecturette by Hudson Tuttle.

A pecliar incident occurred at West Farmington, Onio, last week. The com-mencement exercises of the high school and a funeral were held in the church the same afternoon, the funeral at 1 o'clock and the graduating exercises at 2:30. The class had decorated the church for the event previous to the arrival of the funeral party, so the exercises could commence immediately after the services. The class motto was not covered up... Upon the arrival of the casket it was placed directly under the motto, "Launched, But Whither Bound?" The effect was startling .-Exchange.

Commencement day had come, and he class decorated the church for the occasion. A funeral service was to be ield earlier, and the class motto inadvertently was not covered. It effect on the assembly may be imagined when hey looked up and saw the casket had placed directly under "Launched, but Whither Bound?" Could anything have been more appropriate or suggestive?

Launched into the Great Beyond! Unlike the ship which slides down the ways into the sea, the spirit passes beyond the shadows and is seen no more. Good ship, we know wherefore you were built, and to what distant port you will sail. There are charts and compass to guide, and you will return with freighted riches of Indian seas.

But when death severs the last hold of the spirit on physical things, and it nasses into the infinite expanse, we have been taught it cannot return; that not a whisper has come or can come to us from the Land of Silence.

We stand in the gray shadows overhanging the grave. Darkness broods over the illimitable reach of waves, laving the shores beneath our feet, and break on other shores no mortal knows Launched, the spirit, and the shard the body, remains as the broken way by which it passed beyond mortal recogn

We question in tears, if the physical senses are in evidence, that the light of life's lamp has gone out forever; that we might as well hope to hear again the song of a dead bird, as existence of intelligence after the body returns to elemental form. Was then all its high purposes, its noble aims, its unselfish devotion, its love, its wisdom, reaching out to the comprehension of all things the resultants of changes in the reac tions of atoms we call life? Aye, says the materialist, and to have faith is the weakness of a childish mind. This cannot be true. There can be no mistake in nature as this! There must be a spirit, which has carried the personality of this life away with it from the wasted body. Has it passed to the regions of Tartarus to wander sad and shadowy to the time of doom? Has it gone to some remote paradise, where in new found joys it forgets all that was dear to it on earth? Will it wait there for the final trump to return into the resurrected body it has left? To heav en, or the flaming halls of hell, to re ceive reward or punishment?

Whither bound, oh spirit? The sage, the seer, the visionist, the philosopher have speculated and reasoned and they have not told us. The way is dark, the night has no morning; we fancy, we hope, we have no evidence.

Thus saith the mind, shrouded grief, and influenced by material science, but there comes an intelligence out of the concealing mists and lifts the curtain.

Whither bound? for the ocean of infinite existence! The harbors where purple promontories run down to the waves, are in the spirit world. It is as natural a process and as necessary for the spirit to depart, as for the ship to be launched. In both the purposes of construction are f

It has not departed to some remote heaven, paradise or pit of torment. It is able to return, and speak to us of love that scorns death, and blooms in freshness beyond the grave.

Spiritualism demonstrates the conti nuity of existence and the return of the departed to tell us something of the world to which they have gone.

Launched into the spirit world! Grandest thought of human destiny possible for the mind to conceive! There to evolve a realization of being beyond any ideal held by fancy here. There the dark places will be made light; the aspirations realized; the broken strands of endeavors reunited; the character rounded and completed.

There will be unions of family circles and of friends, and the gray embers of anticipations will glow with the flames of that new existence? HUDSON TUTTLE

A VISION.

As I sat alone by my window, One night when the sun was low, heard the patter of raindrops Around me above and below. My thoughts were not of the present, They took me far back in the past, To such happiness and pleasures That were too bright to last.

And I thought of friends departed. That had gone—alas, with the years; My heart was heavy with sadness And my eyes were dimmed with tears To think of the dear companions That had loved me in days gone by, That I so long on earth must wander-

And my heart then heaved a sigh. When suddenly around me There was thrown a halo of light. And myriads of forms and faces Stood around me from left to right. could see their smiling faces, On my brow I felt their breath,

And crossed the river of death. They told of the many pleasures In that land across the sea, And those gates all bright and golden That would open wide for me When my work on earth is finished,

And I pass from this bleak shore,

Of those who had left this earth life

There to meet the dear departed Who have anchored there before. They sing as they glide from my vision, "Just a little while longer to wait, Then we'll come and guide you safely To your home beyond the gate."

So in patience I'll wait a little, I will not drop a tear or a sigh, For soon I will be with the angels, In the land of the Sweet By and By. LILLIAN "Continuity of Life a Cosmic Truth." By Prof. W. M. Lockwood. The work of a strong, logical thinker, on a deeply important subject. Price, cloth, $1. "Handy Electrical Dictionary." practical handbook of reference, containing definitions of every used electrical term or phrase. Price 25 cents. "Meatless Dishes." Very useful. Price 10 cents.

"An Infamous Dynamite Roman Catholic Conspiracy Detected and Exposed."
"Romanism Exposed." Two pamphlets by Rev. J. G. White, author of Startling Facts: Price 10 cents each, or two for

BIBLE READING IN SCHOOLS AGAINST CONSTITUTION AND LAW

Important Opinion Rendered by the Attorney-General of the State of Galifornia.

OF THE NATION OR CALIFORNIA-THE CATHOLICS A SECT-DENOMINATIONAL CONTROVERSIES-MENT, IS SECTARIAN AND UNAUTHORIZED.

As a result of protests by Freethinkers of California against the reading of the Bible in the public schools of that state, Superintendent of Public Instruction Thomas J. Kirk, on March 3, 1903, applied to State Attorney-General Webb for an opinion on the legality of such reading. Superintendent Kirk wrote:

"I respectfully request, at your earliest convenience, your opinion whether or not the reading or the use of the Bible as a text book in the public schools of the state is in violation of the provisions of section 1672 of the Political Code."

Under date of March 20, Attorney-General Webb replied in the affirmative in the opinion given below.

GENERAL WEBB'S OPINION.

At the outset I am constrained to take cognizance of the fact that there are a great many versions of the Bible in use in the world. Honest differences prevail as to what books should be included within the meaning of the words "Holy Bible." Witness the Jew, who regards the Old Testament as alone inspired; the Catholic, who adds the Apocrypha; and the Protestant, who repudiates the Apocrypha. There is the King James version of the Bible which the Protestants accept; the Douay version, which the Catholics accept as, alone, correct and complete; besides the sacred books of other religions, which may be called "Bibles," as "bible," in its literal sense, means "the book."

It is impossible to find any version of the Bible which does not represent and promulgate the teachings of some religious sect or society, or the opinions of some founder of a religion. There is no such book in existence as a Universal Bible, which would appeal to all people, in all climes, at all times. You will, therefore, understand that with the truth or efficacy of any of these versions of the Bible, this opinion does not deal. In endeavoring to determine the law on the subject, I have no concern with the truth or error of the doctrines of any sect. I am to be guided solely by the Constitution and laws of this state now in force. I am not called upon to decide what religious doctrines, if any, ought to be taught, or where, by whom, or to whom it would be best they should be taught. These are questions which belong to the people and to other departments of the government. I have no doubt that the Bible to which you refer in your request for an opinion is the King James version, which is in very common use in this country. My opinion will be confined to a discussion of the question as to whether the reading or the use of this version of the Bible in the public schools as a text-book would contravene the Constitution and Political Code of the state.

Article I, Section 4, of the Constitution of 1879, provides as follows: "The free exercise and enjoyment of religious profession and worship, without discrimination or preference, shall be forever guaranteed in this state...."

Article IX, Section 8, provides as follows: "No public money shall ever be appropriated for the support of any sectarian or denominational school, or any school not under the exclusive control of the officers of the public schools; nor shall any sectarian or denominational doctrine be taught, or The Supreme Court ordered the writ to issue. Their opinion, instruction thereon be permitted, directly or indirectly, in in part, is as follows: any of the common schools of this state."

bove provision of the Constitution, and reads as follows: | denominational doctrine be taught therein. Any school district, town or city, the officers of which knowingly allow any schools to be taught in violation of these provisions, forfeits all right to any state or county apportionment of school moneys; and upon satisfactory evidence of such violation, the superintendent of public instruction and school superintendent must withold both state and county apportionments."

It is well settled that neither Christianity nor any other system of religion is part of the laws of this state or of the United States.

Cooley says in his Constitutional Limitations, Chapter XIII, 472: "Christianity is not a part of the law of the land in any sense which entitles the courts to take notice of and base their judgments upon it, except so far as they can find that its precepts and principles have been incorporated in and made a component part of the positive law of the state.' Also, at page 469, he says: "Those things which are not lawful under any of the American constitutions, may be stated thus: 1. Any law respecting an establishment of religion. The legislatures have not been left at liberty to_effect a union of church and state, or to establish preferences by law in favor of any one religious persuasion or mode of worship. There is not complete religious liberty where any one sect is favored by the state and given an advantage by law over other sects. Whatever establishes a distinction against one class or sect is to the extent to which the distinction operates unfavorably, a persecution, and if based on religious grounds, a religious persecution. It is not mere toleration which is established in our system, but religious equality. 2. Compulsory support, by taxation or otherwise, of religious instruction. Not only is no one denomination to be favored at the expense of the rest, but all support of religious instruction must be entirely voluntary. It is not within the sphere of government to coerce it." Andrews vs. Bible Society, 4 Sandf. 156, 182; Bloom vs. Richards, 2 Ohio St.

Our constitutional theory regards all religions, as such, as equally entitled to precection and equally unentitled to preference. Where there is no ground or necessity upon which a principle can rest but a religious one, then the Constitution steps in and says that it shall not be enforced by authority of law. Ex parte Newman, 9 Cal. 513; Ex parte Andrews, 18 Cal. 684; State ex rel, Nevada Orphan Asylum vs. Halleck, 16 Nev. 373.

Ex parte Newman was overruled by later decisions, but not in the fundamental principles laid down as regards religlous doctrines.

We may also refer to Article II of the Treaty with Tripoli, concluded November 4, 1796 (8 U.S. Stat. at Large, 155); is quite another thing. The only fair and impartial method, "As the government of the United States is not in any sense | where serious objection is made, is to let each sect give its founded on the Christian religion," etc.

It is, therefore, clear that the Christian religion, as such, has no preference under the law of the state over any other religion among other subjects of instruction, for there are religion, though its precepts may have largely molded the many others which can more conveniently, satisfactorily, common law upon which our laws are based. . The doctrines of many ancient religions entered into the formation of the and disciplinary institutions stand on an entirely different laws under which we live, and the Christian religion con- footing. There the state takes the place of the parent, and tains what is best and truest of them all. I quote from the Supreme Court of Ohio in the case of Board of Education of what religious instructions shall be given." Cincinnati vs. Minor, 23 Ohio St. 247.

"The only foundation-rather, the only excuse-for the proposition that Christianity is part of the law of this country is the fact that it is a Christian country and that its constitutions and laws are made by a

WHAT CONSTITUTES THE "HOLY BIBLE" NOT YET Christian people. And is not the very fact that those laws DETERMINED—THE KING JAMES VERSION A SECTA. do not attempt to enforce Christianity, or to place it upon RIAN WORK-CHRISTIANITY NO PART OF THE LAW exceptional or vantage ground, itself a strong evidence that they are the laws of a Christian people, and that their religion is the best and purest of religions? It is strong evidence that their religion is indeed a religion 'without partiality,' MERE READING OF THE BIBLE, WITHOUT COM- and therefore a religion 'without hypocrisy.' True Christianity asks no aid from the sword of civil authority."

This leaves us free to take up the question as to whether the use of King James' version of the Bible as a text-book in the public schools would be sectarian instruction within the meaning of the above provision of the Constitution and Codes.

We may approach the solution of the question in two ways: First, if this version of the Bible represents and is the organ of any religious sect or society, then its teachings may be called sectarian. Second, if it contains within its pages the doctrines of a number of sects, then its teachings may be called sectarian.

In the first place, the Christian religion is divided into two great branches, the Protestant and the Catholic. The members of either body consider themselves entitled to be called Christians, but they each present the claims of a different version of the Bible which they believe to be inspired. The King James version, with the Apocrypha excluded, is the Bible of the Protestant religion. In contradistinction to the Catholic version, which includes the Apocrypha, the King James version would necessarily be sectarian in its doc-

A number of courts have defined the meaning of the word 'sect." The Supreme Court of Nevada has held that the Catholics were a "sect," as distinguished from Protestants. The fact that they controlled St. Mary's school, which is a part or branch of the Nevada Orphan Asylum, and introduced heir religious exercises there, made the Nevada Orphan Asylum a sectarian institution. I quote from the opinion of the court in the case, State of Nevada vs. Halleck, supra:

"From the preceding facts, it seems to us that but one conclusion can be arrived at, which is, that the Nevada Orphan Asylum is a sectarian institution. Webster defines 'sectarian' as follows: 'Pertaining to a sect or sects; peculiar to a sect; bigotedly attached to the tenets and interests of a denomination.' He also defines the word as one of a party in eligion which has separated itself from the established church, or which holds tenets different from those of the prevailing denomination in a kingdom or state,' and it was argued by petitioner's counsel that the word was used in this sense in the Constitution. We do not think so. It was used in the popular sense. A religious sect is a body or number of persons united in tenets, but constituting a distinct organization or party, by holding sentiments or doctrines different from those of other sects or people. In the sense intended in the Constitution, every sect of that character is sectarian, and all members thereof are sectarians. The framers of the Constitution undoubtedly considered the Roman Catholic a sectarian church. (Const. Debates, 568 et seq.) The people understood it in the same sense when they ratified it."

The case of State vs. District Board of School District No. 8, 76 Wis. 177, was a case decided under a provision of the Constitution relating to "sectarian instruction" similar to ours. In that case certain taxpayers prayed for a writ of mandate from the circuit court, compelling the school board to cause the teachers to discontinue the practice of reading daily to the pupils during school hours certain portions of King James' version of the Bible, selected by the teachers.

Section 1672, Political Code, was passed to effectuate the of the question whether the adoption of the Protestant, or "This opinion will be confined quite closely to a discussion King James, version of the Bible, or any version thereof, in "No publication of a sectarian, partisan, or denominational the public schools in the city of Edgerton, as a text-book and character must be used or distributed in any school, or be the reading of selections therefrom in those schools at the made a part of any school library; nor must any sectarian or times and in the manner stated in the answer, is sectarian instruction, within the meaning of that term as used in Section 3, Article X, of the Constitution, which ordains that not sectarian instruction shall be allowed in the district schools

> "It should here be said that the term 'religious sect' is understood as applying to people believing in the same religious doctrines, who are more or less closely associated or organized to advance such doctrines and increase the number of believers therein. The doctrines of one of these sects which are not common to all the others are sectarian; and the term 'sectarian' is, we think, used in that sense in the Constitution.....

> "That the reading from the Bible, in the schools, 'although unaccompanied by any comment on the part of the teacher, is instruction,' seems to us too clear for argument. Some of the most valuable instruction a person can receive may be derived from reading, alone, without any extrinsic aid by way of comment or exposition. The question, therefore, seems to narrow down to this: Is the reading of the Bible in the schools-not merely selected passages therefrom, but the whole of it-sectarian instruction of the pupils? In view of the fact already mentioned, that the Bible contains numerous doctrinal passages, upon some of which the peculiar creed of almost every religious sect is based, and that such passages may reasonably be understood to inculcate the doctrines predicated upon them, an affirmative answer to the question seems unavoidable. Any pupil of ordinary intelligence who listens to the reading of the doctrinal portions of the Bible will be more or less instructed thereby in the doctrines of the divinity of Jesus Christ, the eternal punishment of the wicked, the authority of the priesthood, the binding force and efficacy of the sacraments, and many other conflicting sectarian doctrines."

> In the case of Board of Education of the City of Cincinnati vs. John D. Minor, supra, certain taxpayers sought to prevent the school board from carrying out the resolution abolishing the opening exercises of the public schools, which included reading the Bible. The court discussed the question at great length, and held that the Christian religion was not the only religion under a clause of the Constitution requiring religious instruction in the schools; that to permit the Christian Bible to be used was to prefer the Christians to any other sect. The Court then proceeds:

"Counsel say that to withdraw all religious instruction from the schools would be to put them under the control of 'Infidel sects.' This is by no means so. To teach the doctrines of Infidelity, and thereby teach that Christianity is false, is one thing; and to give no instructions on the subject own instructions, elsewhere than in the state schools, where of necessity all are to meet; and to put disputed doctrines of and safely be taught elsewhere. Our charitable, punitive, may well act the part of a parent or guardian in directing

These are the leading cases on the subject, and the consensus of opinion seems to be that Protestantism, as distinguished from other branches of Christianity, is a sect, and

(Continued on seventh page.)

Fouruezings in the Spirit'Mealms.

In my last articles published in The Progressive Thinker | this life, caring for nothing better than whisky and all the while on these journeys, and recognized the ones I have seen | the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost," and as I did not mention the darkest places to which I was taken, evil things which go to make a drunkard's life." not caring to dwell on these dark scenes more than was nec- I was glad to hear my guide say, "Come, child, we will go but as this is personal, I only mention it, as I have been around me began to chant, "Glory, glory," and accomin spreading these truths. I only wish I had the power to glad to go. The next place I was taken to, another sight met me and I was told to give out these truths, I feel in duty ble that I have been welcomed into this angel band! Am I the bright gleam from the angel world, to arrest them in their dark deeds, and show them as it has been so beauti- Spirit Land," flashed across my mind. My guide seemed to fully shown me, the true condition of the next life, after live catch my thoughts, for turning to me he said, "My child, ing as we should here. And if these articles will be the while you have read this we wanted thee to see it with thine means of turning one soul to the light, I know there will be own eyes, so that the lesson would be all the stronger." rejoicing in the angel world, and I will feel that my efforts | have not been in vain

As my teacher showed me the brightest first, so I will tell you of my Spirit Home Number Two, for in my last article I told you of one of my homes, which was in colors, one room ings, men and women, from the worst slums of earth. the furnishings were all in pink, another white, another blue, and the last room I was taken into being yellow. So after preparing myself for another journey and sending out a kind?" prayer for strength, I soon heard the well known voice of one who has accompanied me on a part of my trips, say, "Come, child, we will go to another place to-day," so we floated out and up.

We were not so high on the first part of our journey as we had been before, so that as we floated along I could see the beautiful scenery better than on some of the other trips. We crossed a large body of water, and after leaving it the view was beautiful.

My guide, taking my hand, said, "We will ascend now"; so we slowly went higher and after traveling some distance he said, "Child, in my father's house are many mansions, and in thy progression thee will need another home other than the one thou hast seen," and as he finished saying this, we came in sight of the most beautiful home that mortal eyes could imagine. It stood on a high slope of ground, facing the west, and looked as I have always pictured some of the grand old mansions do; it was immense and pure white, surrounded by a low fence of festoons of white flowers. The grounds were laid out beautifully, a white fountain stood on one side of the white marble walk, the water shooting high in the air, the grass was green, with here and there a pot of Easter lilies; as my other home had, so did this one, a wide curved porch, with broad steps leading up into the house. I was standing spellbound looking at these beautiful things, when my guide broke into my pleasant thoughts by saying, "Come, child, thee will want to see the inside of this beauti-

The surroundings were so interesting and beautiful that it had not occurred to me to go inside. As he said this we walked up the steps, opened the door and went inside, when there was presented to my view the grandest, most delightful scene of all, filling me with happiness and delight. Everything in this home was pure white, the floor was covered and understand these lessons, as they take me to them each a human being, by hearing her heartrending cries of "Oh! my with a white velvet carpet so soft that when we stepped day. upon it we sank into it.

pect to live in a home like this? There must be some mis. had vanished as had all the rest.

"No, child, this will be thy home, thee is building it now with thy good thoughts and deeds. Go on, oh, child, sending see it now, for these lessons are written in letters of fire on out thy beautiful thoughts to heaven, and do all the good thee can and this is thy reward."

As my guide finished speaking I cast my eyes around the room, and as I did so they fell on a wide open piano, pure white; in the centre of the room stood a center-table, and on top of it a pot of Easter lilies. Over a wide mantle I was gazing on such a dark picture as I did yesterday. amazed to see a life-size picture of myself, framed in white, my hands clasped, my head drooped as if in prayer, dressed in white. I came out of my reverie and turning to my guide, we started and walked to the opposite side of the room where a wide white marble stairway led to the rooms above: at one side of this stairway on one of the posts was a statue up, when the vision had faded, my guide gone, and a sadness bunch of purple grapes, handed them to me and said, "Child stole over me, when I thought I had lost it all.

I soon afterward visited this home again, and the view from an upper window overlooking the grounds and to a lake close by, was indeed beautiful.

May 4th of this year I again visited it. I found myself standing on the opposite side of this home from where I saw | fruit. it before, this being on the east side, while on my other visit I only saw it from the west.

saw it to-day. It is white marble and looked like a palace. Its hand a white banner. "Peace to all who enter here" As I stood looking up at it I thought, Oh, what a grand were the words which caught my eyes, written in letters of country ahead of us. I looked and another scene was spread home! Can it be possible that I will ever live in a home like gold. My guide opening the door, we entered a beautifully out ahead of and below us, but very different from the one this? And the grounds, too, are beautiful, the walks being furnished room. I was surprised when I learned later that we had just left, for instead of the orchard I saw a narrow white marble bordered with flowers, with trees scattered this was a spirit school, and if the parents of earth could only winding stream, the sloping banks covered with green grass here and there over the lawn. I speak of this home, for the know and see as I have, what beautiful surroundings and and tall, stately trees. I could see no underbrush or rubreason that I know if I have a home there so much more beautiful than any earth home I have seen, I am sure that all of earth's children will have the same.

But as all the spheres are not so bright as this one I must give what I saw in the dark ones as well.

morning for fifteen days, and at nine o'clock each morning found me ready, and each time I was told to center my thoughts on the place visited the day before, and as I did so I would start from this place. So this morning we started from the beautiful home we visited yesterday, my guide say. at the surroundings before leaving, for thee may not see it again until thee returns to stay; although thee may, some moving pictures. After traveling some distance we seemed ahead and below us, I saw what I thought were Indian wigwams scattered over a lonely desert.

·I did take a look and it was a great temptation to stay, for moment for me to take a last look, he said:

Upon coming closer I saw they were tents set here and they come down and mingle with these older ones." there on the most desolate-looking country I ever saw; they were standing on rocks and sand; the hot sun pouring down ishment to see these little things flying around the dome upon them, and scattered around on the ground were human looking more like butterflies in human shape. While lookbeings. I thought, Oh! if there is a hell this must be one, for ing up at them, I was so overcome, I cried, "Oh, father, what I was never in such a hot place in my life. I thought, why wonderful truths you have shown me. May I never forget don't they go inside the tents? There they would be shell these lessons." tered from the hot sun, but when I went up to one of them, I found out why they did not, for if possible, it was notter in: all leaving the schoolroom for outdoor sports. We followed side than it was on the outside. They seemed to be set up them to the door and when on looking out and beyond a stepped up in front of me, with a gold crown in one hand on to lure the mass of humanity to them, only to turn them beautiful green lawn and through the trees, I saw a lake cov-

to devise some way whereby they could be made more com- full of happiness. fortable, that the voice of my guide startled me by saying "Come." In my intense curiosity I had for the time forgotten him. So I turned around and went to where he stood, knew how happy their little ones are, they could not mourn when to my horror, I saw a man lying at his feet, begging for for them. And I prayed that the time would soon come water. He said: "Oh, only give me a little water. Oh, God! when these truths would be known and understood by all on if there is a God, oh why am I in a hell like this? Oh, help! earth. Oh-" and as he uttered this last sound, he fell back on the

I was greatly excited and turning to my guide, said. "Oh. father! what does this mean?"

"This, my child, is one who has been taught the right way, essary. I laid them aside for another time, but that they farther," for there was not a drop of water in sight to relieve asked a number of times if I recognized anyone there. were lessons given to me, for a purpose, I well know, and his thirst, nor was there a blade of grass, or a living thing that purpose was to give them out for the benefit of human- in the shape of a tree or vine, nothing but hot rock and sand ity, and thereby aid my teachers from the spirit side of life everywhere, and as I could not relieve his suffering I was While looking at this the words of the "Wanderer in the

And, oh, horror! lying in the midst of it were human be

"Oh!" I cried, "father, can it be possible that people who

His answer was, "Yes, child, but it is their own fault, for they knew better." Here were lewd women, murderers, drunkards, and every being who seemed to be in the most horrible agony. I was is laid bare before the eyes of the spirit world. told that he was a murderer. He certainly had committed some horrible crime, for I could hear his agonizing cries for "Child, this is a nunnery." Upon entering the hallway, the days. He kept repeating, "Take them away! Oh, take them away! Why do they come here to haunt me!" and in his horrible agony he was continually writhing in the slime and among the hideous-looking reptiles, and with his awful moaning and words put before my mental vision some of his victims of innocent women and children. My guide knowing this lesson was well imbedded in my soul, led me to another scene, where in a heap (it looked this my guide said, "Come, child, I want thee to see still further." way to me) lay little tiny babies. "Oh!" I cried, "father, So we turned and went down a narrow stairway—down, innocent beings like these."

earth thrust out before their time, and so saturated with the heard while peering into this cell was enough to make any sins of their unnatural parents, must be cleansed by these one's blood run cold in their veins, and if the pure mothers ministering angels whom you see hovering over them, before they can be released, to take their flight upward."

Raising my eyes upward I cried, "Oh, heavenly father, what a work there is to be done on the earth plane, and, oh, so few to do it. Oh, help me to stand firm as an iron post in face of the earth, for the pleading tones of the frightened my duty as I see it to-day; help me, oh, God, seeing these one for her honor and the angry loud voice of the other, as truths as they have been shown me, to stand up for this truth he flung her to the far side of the cell with "Go, you devil!" and clasp hands with these dear ones, who are trying so hard to enlist my help in spreading this great truth."

And as this prayer left my soul, I found myself again in my body, and was surprised to see formed around me, clasping hands in their delight, a band of angels, rejoicing to know that they had found another who could grasp their meaning the outside with a big padlock. I soon knew this, too, held

I sat there and watched them until their hallelujahs grew God, why am I made to suffer in this way? Oh!——" and "Oh," I cried, "what a beautiful home! How can I ever ex-fainter and fainter, and this beautiful, encouraging vision > my soul, and may I never be found wanting in my duty as I and the pitiable object of humanity was, too, clothed in my soul and I hope will never grow dim.

> This morning my guide said, "Come, child, I will show thee ing my hand, we floated up and away. We soon saw a beau- good name? Oh!" I cried, "take me away," for I was so tiful landscape which looked more beautiful than ever after evercome and weak it seemed to me I could stand no more, came to something which astonished me greatly: After set- thy soul, I brought thee here that thee might see for thytling down on the ground, we entered what I found to be a self." spirit orchard. I thought I had seen beautiful orchards on the earth plane, but there was no comparison, for this one coming back I shed tears, and raising my hands toward was more beautiful than I thought could be made. Instead heaven, I cried, "Oh, heavenly father, why are these evils of Christ. The wide steps were covered up the center with a of earth for a treading place it looked like white cement and permitted? Hasten the day when these poor wronged bestrip of white velvet carpet. We had gone about half way seemed to be an endless park. My guide pulled off a large ings may be set free and every nunnery on our fair land dost thou see the beautiful fruit?"

"Oh, yes," I answered, "and what large, luscious fruit, too," and as we walked on I saw such a great variety of pears, realm, to a place thou hast not seen." So taking my hand, peaches, plums, apples, grapes and every kind imaginable. which seems to give me strength, we floated up above the We walked a long way, and the trees were all loaded with spirit orchard and school which we visited the day before, three steps, and when looking over the door I saw a little an- beautiful place!" Oh, this beautiful home! I can hardly describe it as I | gel, appearing more like an innocent little child, holding in give way to rejoicings and hallelujahs, for the first room was misshaped ones among them. From here we gradually went I had instructions from my teacher from the spirit side of and gold, the carpet being the same color. We left this room life to prepare myself for these journeys. I did so every and entered a long dining-room. This room was also furnished in gold and white. A table running almost the full which I had seen in the orchard.

We left this room and entered what proved to be a large school-room, filled with groups of happy children. It dawned ing, "Come, child, we will leave this place; now take a look upon me now what it was, but for information I said, "Father, what can this be? I see no books."

His answer was, "Child, look around thee."

I did so, and hanging around the walls were mottoes of Truth, Love, Happiness, Progression, and so on, and scateverything looked so bright and beautiful, so after waiting a tered among the children were young women dressed in strange to me, and I wondered what it could mean. white, whom I took to be their teachers. They were a hap-"Come, child, we will go to a lower sphere to-day." So we py lot of little ones, quite noisy, but not like our school-chilstarted and floated over a beautiful stretch of country, like dren on earth, for they were not boisterous. I was so interthe most of it we passed over it looked like a panorama of ested in watching the little ones that I did not look at the room, only as my guide called my attention to it. He said, to turn, and go in an easterly direction, when on looking pointing up to the ceiling, which was quite high and concave, "Child, dost thou see those little beings? They are some of the little ones thee looked at yesterday. As they progress

And as my eyes rested on them they widened with aston-

When I gathered my scattered thoughts the children were away with disappointment, for the heat was almost unbear-ered with tiny boats. Some of the children were running to your struggles through life have been long and trying. At get into them to take a ride, and there seemed to be plenty I was so intensely interested in watching them and trying for all; others were rolling on the grass, but each one was

> After coming back, this pleasant scene kept coming before my vision, and I thought, Oh, if the parents of earth only

On this same day, after visiting the school, my guide said, "Child, there is another place I would show thee at this time." So he took me to a home where I was greatly surprised to see my husband's father, mother, and five of his ing to bid you welcome into their glorious band." brothers and sisters, and returned with a message to him on earth. They looked younger than when they passed out, he finished saying this the angel band which had gathered

There is one more dark scene that I feel it a duty to give that will last through all time. out, and I wish that there was no such place on earth, for this journey was on the earth plane, but as it was shown to that this is for me, when I am so unworthy? Oh, is it possibound to do it, but I cannot give it as I saw it, for what I saw | worthy? Oh, is it true?" while peering through this cell sent a shudder over me for days when I thought of it.

ahead I saw a large city. As we came nearer the first thing showing you; put it, too, down in your book, and know it is which caught my eye was church spires in different parts of true and will be carried out when you come to us just as it Yes, so it is, but oh, this is horrible, for at our very feet, the city, and the next which flashed before my vision was an was to-day." and all around us were moving reptiles, and slime of the immense gray building, covering acres of ground built on a high slope of ground just outside the city. We floated up to beautiful things, and help me to do my duty." it, my guide saying at the same time, "We will stop here." and as I looked at the building and terraced grounds with through, and the beautiful things I had seen stood out before well-kept flower beds and trees scattered here and there over my wondering eyes in all their grandeur, and the beautiful have inhabited the earth must pass through anything of this the green lawn I thought: Oh, what an ideal place! not influences which had been showered upon me by the angel dreaming of the sorrow and degradation to be found hidden, band still clung to one, and I longed to keep it with me, and I deep down underneath this beautiful structure, and looked thought, Oh, if we could live amid such heavenly influences, at daily, with pride, by hundreds of this fair city, for its how different indeed would be our lives—and I prayed that black secrets are well guarded by the inmates of this seem. this influence might never leave me, and that I might be able crime imaginable represented. My guide stopped beside a ingly happy place, they little dreaming that their wickedness

My guide led the way up some broad stone steps, saying, first person we met was a nun, and I thought, what a sad face. He led me out of this entrance into another long hall to a dining-room, where seated around a table were five or six nuns, but the face of each one had such a sad, careworn look that as I stood looking at them this vibration of sadness struck me with such force I think prepared me a little for what was to come. After looking at them a few moments, what does this mean? and in such an awful place for little down, until it grew quite dark. We stopped in front of a steel cell, padded on the inside, but seeming to open for my "My child, these are the offcasts from the lowest slums of benefit, for I could look right into it, but what I saw and could know of the impure lives some of their daughters were forced to live after entering these blackest of earth's low dives-I say blackest, because they are covered by the cloak of religion—they could not rest while one stood on the sent a shudder all over me and with a feeling of horror ! turned to my guide and asked him to take me away. His only answer was "Come." He led the way and I followed him down until we were in a dark, dismal, damp, mouldy dungeon. We stopped in front of another cell, locked on her agonizing cries almost froze the blood in my veins. Looking through the grating the only piece of furniture in But oh, what an impression these dear ones have left on sight was an old cot with a ragged comfort thrown over it, fast as I could write them down in manuscript, and I am mouldy rags.

God! take my soul, and free me from this living hell! Oh,

I turned away with a sinking heart, and cried, "Oh, heavenly father, can it be possible that one of God's children is a brighter place than the one we visited yesterday." So, tak- made to suffer in this way? and all for trying to save her and as I turned to my guide he said, "Child, thee has heard After traveling over miles of these pleasing scenes, we of these wrongs, but to impress these lessons still deeper on > These scenes were so deeply impressed on me that after nrown open to the gaze of the world."

My guide, who is punctual, and always ready to go, said this morning, "Come, child, we will go from here to a higher and after rising up so that I could look down and over it, it We now came to a light gray building, went up two or was indeed a pleasing picture to look at. I said, "What a

"Yes, my child, it is indeed a beautiful place, but dost thou see that beautiful scene also?" pointing to a wide stretch of homes their little ones have after entering the spirit world, bish of any kind as we see on earth, but everything looked their tears would be dried up, and their heartaches would clean and trim, the trees being perfect, with no crooked or indeed beautiful, its whole furnishings were in gold and higher, the atmosphere becoming lighter and clearer. After white, the draperies, easy chairs and couches were all white traveling some time, we came to another city. As far as I could see there were buildings. It seemed to be a vastly populated city.

We settled down in front of a large purple and gold temple. length of the room was loaded with the same luscious fruit The door was an oval archway. My guide said, "Look well, child, before we enter." And when he said this, I saw written in letters of gold over the door, "Angels of Purity."

After surveying the outside to my satisfaction, we entered the door, and as we did so there immediately spread around my body a thin gauzy purple robe. I was surprised at this and looked at my guide to say something, but he did not, so we walked in and soon my ears caught a chant and instrumental music of "Glory, glory, glory!" It seemed very

The interior of the temple was beautiful, being purple and gold blending into each other, making the prettiest color one one could imagine.

The guide led me to the back of the room and up two or three wide steps, when on looking around I saw two purple and gold fonts filled with water, one standing on either side of the rostrum. While I was looking at these I began to grow weak and was drawn back to my body. My guide seeing this, brought me back by saying in sharp tones, "Come back, child, come back."

When I came back I saw that on the back part of the wide rostrum stood a band of angels, each dressed in rich purple and gold. They seemed to harmonize in beauty with everything in the temple. My guide led me up between the two fonts when they replaced my thin robe with one of heavy purple velvet, putting around my waist a girdle of gold with tassels of gold hanging down in front. Then a master which were the words, "Angels of God," saying: "My child, times you have almost felt like giving up in despair, but always that bright star would break through the clouds, and beckon you on, and in your true devotion to God, you would gather up strength to go on up the path, which unknown to you, had been planned. And, oh, my child, I am glad it is so, for by so doing you have at last reached the highest position which is possible to attain and are now ready for the crown, which has been prepared for you."

Placing it on my head, he continued: "May you ever wear it with wisdom when sitting in council with these your coworkers"-pointing at the same time to the band of angels who stood back of him—"who have gathered here this morn-but would not listen, and in his besotted condition, passed to from them. I will say right here that I was with them twice head with the water, said, "Now. my child; I baptize thee in Then dipping his hand into one of the fonts, sprinkled my panied with instrumental music, left an impression on me

By Mary E. France,

"Oh!" I cried, "what does this mean? Can it be possible

I found myself back in my body with the tears running down my cheeks, when the voice which is always near, said: We traveled some distance this morning, when looking far "My child, this is true, as are all the others we have been

"Oh!" I cried, "heavenly father, make me worthy of these

I sat there a long time, thinking of what I had just passed thereby to send out a ray of it to others to help brighten SPIRITS AND THE WALLACE THEORY.

A Message Apropos to the Discussion.

To the Editor: -You know it is somewhat of a hobby with your humble servant, that spirits touch upon all depart ments of human knowledge and often foreshadow discoveries in science. It has been my experience at least.

During my last call at the office of The Progressive Thinker, the recent discussion anent the suggestion of Alfred Russel Wallace was spoken of, and an incident in my experience illustrating that hobby mentioned. Although the impression was that it was once written up for The Progressive Thinker, yet as you thought it would be timely to give it again, it is here presented though more briefly.

And first the medium: He was a journalist in charge of the city department of a daily newspaper. No one outside his small family knew of his mediumship, except the writer and an associate on the newspaper staff. He was an educated gentleman of exceptional high character. His mediumship was discovered while amusing himself with a Ouija board his sisters had procured—and took a peculiar form of manifestation. For example: He would come into the editor's room at night while waiting for the paper to go to press, sit down at a desk or table, take a sheet of white paper used for editorial or other copy, about one-quarter page of The Progressive Thinker in size, write on it the alphabet, the numerals and "yes" and "no" at the upper corners—about an inch space between the letters. He would then take between his thumb and finger an ordinary bone shirt-stud, and slide it more than an average fast penman.

The controlling or writing intelligence was of a very high order, and as the medium often said: "No one who knows me can doubt that some other mind than mine gave that." I have enough to make a book that was written down from this "button" dictation, as he called it, by myself and his other confidant—that by the latter being type-written. We usually sat in a room in the newspaper office where reporters, proof-readers, foremen and callers were coming and going, receiving copy, orders and instruction as to the work of a morning newspaper—the room of the managing editor. And this went on, at intervals, for a year or more without anyone suspecting that the two and sometimes three men were engaged in any other than the routine work of the room. And now to my story:

One of these evenings we were asking questions and noting the answers, when the controls announced that they were interrupted by a strange band or company of spirits, and would have to suspend for a while. And now I copy from my manuscript the report of this remarkable experience, after reading which I leave with you the case, pro and con, of the Wallace theory.

This strange spirit company were represented as coming from a planet outside our system and so remote that they could not describe its direction from our earth planet, though it seemed to be beyond our Southern Star hemisphere. They were traveling through space, visiting worlds, as we would say, to explore and obtain knowledge. They had been so long in spirit life as almost to have lost touch with their native planet. What arrested my attention on one occasion, when I was the scribe, and that also attracted that of the control of the medium, was the statement by these spirits, that their planet home was a world like our earth, and its people human beings, as we are, and that in all their travel or explorations, they had not found organic or human life or beings on any other worlds visited by them. When this point had been reached in the interview, the control of the medium stopped suddenly, for a moment, and then said:

"Query, just here: Is life, as we know it, possible on any world save one of like formation, development and conditions? Or, are not the conditions we know as the earth planet the essential requisites for the evolution of organic life? As a spirit I know nothing different."

I do not produce this, which is a verbatim report, to affirm or deny, or to take any part in the discussion referred to, only to show some people that while our astronomers and philosophers are dogmatizing and our scientists theorizing as to inhabitable or uninhabitable worlds, spirits have their word to say on like topics. I can only say that this was a genuine message from outside the consciousness of the medium or the scribe. True or not, as a fact as to worlds and world life, it was from a spirit source. The reader can make his own comment.

My notes contain other things at another interview with these sojourners, that would no doubt be interesting, at least to the curious, but as they do not touch the subject of the Wallace theory, they are not reproduced here.

THE SAINTS.

Who are the saints we meet as we go? And how may we know them from sinners? What in their walk which differs from those Of the world, eating unblessed dinners? Who wear faces of candor and truth?

And who the smile of vanity hollow? Can we know the walk of uncrowned saints, And that they are the ones to follow? Are the lives of those of gospel clan

So much more pure, and spotless, and bright Than the common herd who heedless go With changing tide, whether wrong or right?

Are all their loud professions of faith Sowing seed that a harvest may grow? Or but trimmings to a cloak they wear. And turn to the passing world for show?

One thing is as sure as sure can be, And of it there's no question nor doubt; All are not saints who are in the church. And all are not rogues who are out.

-S. B. Davis in Truth Sceker.

DEAFNESS AND CATARRH CURED

BY NO METHOD UNTIL "AC-TINA" WAS DISCOVERED.

Ninety-five per cent of all cases of deafnest brought to our attention is the result of chronic catarrh of the threat and middle ear. The air passages become clogged by catarrhal deposits, stopping the action of the vibratory bones. Until these deposits are removed a cure is impossible. The innerear cannot be reached by probing or spraying, hence the inability of aurists or physicians to cure. Ear drums are worse than useless. That there is a scientific cure for deafness and catarrh is demonstrat. ed every day by the use of generated in the Actina passes through the Eustachian tubes into the niddle ear, removing the catarrhal obstructions as it passes through the tubes, and loosens up the bones (hammer, anvil and stirrup) in the inner ear, making them respond to the slight-est vibration of sound. Actina has never failed to cure ringing noises in the head. We have known people troubled with this distressing symptom for years to be completely cured in only three weeks' use of Actina. Actina also cures asthma, bronchitis, sore throat, weak lungs, colds and headache; all of which are directly or indirectly due to catarrh. Actina is sent on trial postpaid. Write us about your ease. We give advice free, and positive proof of cures. A valuable book—Professor Wilson's 100 page Dictionary of Disease, Free. Address New York & London Electric Association, Dep. T 929 Walnut Street, Kansas City, Mo.

The above is the number of the present issue of The Progressive Thinker, right hand corner. If this number corresponds with the figures on your wrap-per, then the time you have paid for has expired, and you are requested to renew your subscription. This number at the right hand corner of the first page is advanced each week, showing the number of Progressive Thinkers issued up to Keep watch of the number on the tag of your wrapper.

In Current Spiritualistic and Occult

You can do it by reading each week The Progressive Thinker. The Philoophy and the Spiritualistic and Occult phenomena it contains each week, is the marvel of the age. No one can afford to be without the paper. Its price is within the reach of all.

Or the World's Avegress in Thought. By Moses Hull. An excellent work by this veteran writer and thinker. Price, io cents.

LISBETH.

An Interesting Story of Two Worlds.

Elevating, Fascinating, Instructive Throughout.

This work by Carrie E. S. Twing is exceptionally interesting. She well says: "These characters which have brought out the highest and lowest in different religious beliefs, have moved me, not I them." The whole book is interesting, fascinating, and instructive.

A. SCHOPENHAUER ESSAYS.

A. OCHOP LIMIAULK LOOAIO, Translated by T. B. Saunders. Cloth, 75 cents. "Schopenhauer is one of the few philosophers who can be generally understood without a commentary. All his theories claim to be drawn direct from facts, to be suggested by observation, and to interpret the world as it is; and whatever view he takes, he is constant in his appeal to the experience of common life. This characteristic endows his style with a treshness and vigor which would be difficult to match in the philosophic writing of any country, and impossible in that of Germany."—Translator.

The Blue Laws of Connecticut. Takon from the Code of 1650, and the public records of the colony of Connecticut previous to 1655, as printed in a compilation of the earliest laws and orders of the general court of Connecticut; also an account of the persecution of witches and Quakers in New England. Some extracts from the Plue Laws of Virginia. Price 25 cents

THE MISSING LINK IN MODERN SPIRITUALISM.

By A. Leah Underhill, of the Fox Family. Interesting and valuable as a history of the beginning of Modern Spiritualism, by one of the Fox Sistors, 478 Pages, 16 illustrations, including portraits of the Fox Family. History of the Hydesville rappings, as related by eye-witnesses; remarkable and well-atteated manifestations; the 'exposures,' etc. Handsomely bound in cloth, But few copies remaining. Publishers' price, $1.50. We will send the book postpaid for $1.40.

ORIGIN OF SPECIES.

By mean of natural selection, or the preservation of a favored race in the struggle for life. By Charles Darwin. Gilt top, cloth bound. This book is to grandest achievement of modern selentine thought and research. It has passed through many editions in English, has been translated into almost all the languages of Europe, and has been the subject of more reviews, pamphiets and separate books than any other volume of the age. Most of the great scientists of the age fully support his position. The thought of the look has become a part of the common inherically of the race. For sale at this office. Price 75 cts.

THE OTHER WORLD AND THIS. A compendium of Spiritual Laws. No. 1, New White Cross Literature. By Augusta W. Fletcher. M. D. In this volume the author, in the thirty-nine chapters, discusses a wide variety of subjects pertaining to Spiritualism, from a spiritualistic standpoint. She evinces the powers of a trained thinker, both in matter of thought and fine literary style, and capability of thought expression. The subjects are well handled with conciseness and yet with clearness. It will prove a rich addition to any Spiritualist's library, and a most excellent book for any one seeking information concerning Spiritualism and its teachings. Price $1.50.

THE SOUL OF THINGS: Or Psychometric Researches and Discoveries, By Wm. and Elizabeth M. F. Denton. A marvelous work. Though concise as a text book it is as fascinating as a work of fiction. The reader will be amazed to see the curious facts here combined in support of this power of the human mind, which will resolve a thousand doubts and difficulties, make geology plain as day, and throw light on all subjects now obscured by time. Price. $1.50. In three volumes, cloth bound, $1.50 each. Postago, 10c per copy.

Molecular Hupothesis of Nature; The Relation of Its Principles to Continued Existence and to the Philosophy of Spiritualism. By Prof W. M. Lockwood. Paper, 24 cents.

OUTSIDE THE GATES and other tales and sketches. By a band of spirit in-ciligenees, through the mediumship of Mary Thoress shelthen. An excellent work. Price, $1.00. For tale at this office.

orders and appointing agents for HARRINGON'S NEW BLUE STARMS WICHLESS FUEL OIL STOYLES, with or without Radiator attachment for heating. Wonderful invention. Just out. Nothing else like it. Great seller.
We want Agents, Salesmen, Managers in every State. Biggest money-maker ever offered. Enermons demand year round. Outstoners delighted. Everybedy buys. Write for Cutalogue.
MOST WONDERFUL STOVE EVER INVENTED.

A SPOON FULL OF OIL MAKES

A HOGSHEAD OF FUEL CAS-deterates its own Fuel that from Herosom or common coal old. No wick, dirt, kindling, ashes or hot play kitches

CHEAPEST AND SAFEST FUEL 10 cents

.. GENERAL SURVEY ..

THE SPIRITUALISTIC FIELD-ITS WORKERS, DOINGS, ETC., THE WORLD OVER.

CONTRIBUTORS.—Each contributor is alone responsible for any assertions or statements he may make. The editor allows this freedom of expression, believing that the cause of truth can be best subserved thereby. Many of the sentiments uttered in an article may be diametrically opposed to his belief, ye that is no reason why they should be suppressed; yet we wish it distinctly understood that our space is inadequate to publish everything that comes hand, however much we might desire to do so. That must account for the Bon-appearance of VOIIR article.

WRITE PLAINLY .- We would like to impress upon the minds of our correspondents that The Progressive Thinker is set up on a Linotype machine that must make speed equal to about four compositors. That means rapid work and it is essential that all copy, to insure insertion in the paper, all other requirements being favorable, should be written plainly with ink on white paper, or with a typewriter, and only on one side of the paper.

ITEMS.—Bear in mind that items for the General Survey will in all cases be adjusted to the space we have to occupy, and in order to do that they will generally have to be abridged more or less; otherwise many items would be crowded out. Sometimes a thirty-line item is cut down to ten lines, and ten lines to two lines, as occasion may re-

Take due notice, that all items for this page must be accompanied by the full name and address of the write. It will not do to say that Secretary or Correspondent writes so and so, without giving the full name and address of the writer. The items of those who do not comply with this request will be cast into the waste basket.

Keep copies of your poems sent to this office, for they will not be returned if we have not space to use them.

Professor Thomson Jav Hudson, author of a number of psychological works, and a lecturer on psychology, died May 26. at his home in Detroit. Mich., from angina pectoris, from which he had suffered for many years. Professor Hudson's best known work is "The Law of Psychic Phenomena." He is survived by two sons, two daughters and a widow.—Chicago Chronicle.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Murtha will be located in Toledo, Ohio, during June. During July and August they will fill an engagement at Toronto, Canada, After August they are open for engagements, Address for the near future, 402 Troy street, Toledo, Ohio.

Mrs. Dr. Edwards is now located at Butte, Montana. She is holding meetings there at Odd Fellows' Hall, 58 Broadway. Her address is at No. 75 W. Park, Butte, Montana.

G. E. Heinsohn, a prominent Spiritualist of Louisville, Ky., passed through the city last week on his way home from California.

W. E. Spalsbury writes from Redwood Falls, lowa: "The premium books have been received. I think they are fine. They are all well bound and good print. I feel proud of them.'

The Chicago Record-Herald says: "Perfunctory political prayers with a pull will be done away with in the Illinois legislature if Representative Harry Oldam's ideas are carried out in the Oldam believes it is proper that the deliberations of the legislature should be state at the rate of $1 a minute as an af- and enjoy these spiritual feasts." front to Christianity. He calls attention to the undignified scramble that is made for the position at the opening of each session and to the fact that its duties are generally intrusted to a political henchman of the speaker, frames his petition to suit the machine. It is recalled that on the morning after the riot and the organization of the rump house at the last session the chantain offered a prayer in which he referred to Speaker Miller as 'one of those brave, strong men who arise from time to time to guard the state from peril. For this encomium upon the tool of the bosses the state paid three dollars, and it paid the same amount every morning, whether the legislature was in session or not. Most sensible and consistent Christian men will agree with Representative Oldam that such prayers are an affront to Christianity. Even though they did not breathe servility to the ma chine, they are as devoid of religious meaning as the mutterings of the Hindoo who turns a printed prayer pasted on a wheel."

Lewis Sharpsteen writes from Marcellus, Mich.: "Farmer Riley has left on a trip including Battle Creek, Marshall Olivet and Detroit, Mich.; thence to To ledo, Kenton and Findlay, Ohio, and then to Chicago, where he will probably arrive about the 16th. Then he goes to Milwaukee and will visit some Iowa points, returning home to rest prior to his opening at the various camps. He intends being at Grand Ledge and Island Lake camps in the Michigan circuit: also the Marshalltown, Iowa, meet. Mr. Riley's health is the best in a long time, and his seances are as strong, if not stronger, than five years ago. The old home will be kept open at Marcellus, and any of the Spiritualists seeking rest and a change will find the latch string out, and themselves welcome."

Correspondent writes from Galveston Texas: "Here in Galveston, the city which has risen from the shadow of destruction and establishing itself with a mighty sea wall which guarantees protection, the cause of Spiritualism is prospering. Each week The Progress ive Lyceum goes forth from the Spiritualist Temple to the various lyceums, with its message of peace and cheer Many individuals have subscribed for this little lesson sheet, and it bids fair to accomplish the cementing of lyceum forces. It has reached its twentyeighth number and has about sour times as many subscribers as when started. Remember the subscription price is seventy-five cents per year. On Friday, May 22, afternoon and night. President H. D. Barrett very acceptably ministered to the society and its friends. His subject was 'Spiritualism a Religion of Go(o)d," and he not only entertained the audience, but was equally as instructive. Mrs. Laura B. Pavne. of San Antonio, took part in the services in a very acceptable manner; his discourses are helpful and her songs inspiring. She sang Longley's .. 'Open Those Pearly Gates of Light' for one selection. An Indian pow-wow and picnic will be given by G. V. Cordingley, under the direction of Chief Red Jacket, at Reissig Grove, near Riverside, Wednesday, June 17, 1903. Tickets 35 cents; children, 15 cents. Take Garfield Park Elevated or India and the state. Can also be reached by July 4. Spiritualists generally are into and physicians say his condition is lake Street Elevated. Lake Street Elevated.

UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE THIS OFFICE WILL BE CLOSED ON SAT-URDAY AFTERNOONS.

Take due notice that items for this page in order to insure insertion must contain the full name and address of the writer. Otherwise they may be cast into the waste basket.

Daniel W. Hull is engaged to lecture for the Spiritualists of Spokane, Wash. during June and July. While there he would like to make arrangements for evening lectures in neighboring towns. G. H. Brooks has been lecturing at Elgin Ill., and will remain there during June. He will respond to calls to attend funerals. All letters and telegrams should be addressed to him at his home. No. 114 President street, Wheaton, Ill.

the Philadelphia Press: "Dr. St. Clair McKelway has done good service to the calling and profession in which he is a distinguished member by recalling in an address at Boston the fundamental necessity of publicity. Responsible government is impossible without it. Publicity is in all administration the measure of responsibility. Unless the first is permitted the second will not long exist. Government is endurable only when it is public, because it is public it is not punishable. All men know this. It is 'exposure' that kills corrup-Secret corruption is safe corruption. A bank book is justly held a private record, but until Tweed's bank book ceased to be private Tweed did not cease to plunder. Till wrong abandons secrecy journalism will invade privacy. It is not nice work, but it is better than plunder." In conclusion he says: "Exposure of the fakes and charlatans in Spiritualism is absolutely necessary, or the same condition will exist in ranks as prevalent when the Tweed Ring had possession of New York."

Oscar A. Edgerly has open dates in June and July which he will be pleased to fill either with camp associations or other societies. During August Mr. Edgerly will fill engagements at Grand Ledge and Snowflake camps, in Michigan. For September he is engaged with the society of Kalamazoo, Mich., and for October with the society of Battle Creek, Mich. November and De cember still open for engagement. Permanent address 29 Public Square, Lima,

Frank T. Ripley has the Sundays of June open for lectures and tests, and can be engaged on liberal terms. Owing to the terrible floods at Topeka, Kans., he did not fill his engagement there for the state meeting. He can now be addressed at No. 404 E. Fourth street, Newport, Ky.

Dr. Beverly writes: "Lakeside Hall. corner 31st street and Indiana avenue, was filled Sunday evening to listen to a fine lecture by Mrs. Dr. See, of Kalamazoo, Mich. She is the editor of 'Higher Thought,' and is a fine speaker. Dr. Temple of Washington, and Mrs. Fitzgerald were present to give tests. The audience was delighted, and everything points to a grand success for the coming summer. The program for June includes some of the finest talent that can be procured: June 7, Dr. Betiero, envoy of the Magi, psycho-mental adept; June next general assembly. Representative Oldam believes it is proper that the delege of Suggestion; June 21, Walter De-Voe, editor of 'Vitality'; June 28, Prof. opened with prayer, but he regards the McWilliams, teacher of occult science. official prayer that is paid for by the All are invited to bring their friends

Levi Wood writes from Kalamazoo, Mich.: "It is indeed gratifying that a long-fought conflict which has been agitated for fifteen years in the Presbyterian assembly has finally been disposed of as is announced by the Associated Press dispatches. The one most vital amendment to the confession of faith is that those who die in infancy are saved from the tortures of a never-ending What a consolation and relief that must bring to the hearts of millions of mothers.

"Strike your harps, ye white-winged angels.

But your music makes me wild. For my heart is with my treasure, Heaven is lonely without my child. The monstrous blasphemy of creeds

Which represent an angry God See the nightmare visions which have The slumbering consciences of man.

The old, the young, the oppressed and lowly; The selfish, the weak and the holy, Has each in life's drama a part,

While the wants and the woes that o'er came them. With the lives of the righteous who blame them, Are known to the Infinite Heart. Oh, where is the angel recorder And where is the watchman and war

That have charge of the keeping of souls? Oh, tell us where responsibility be-

And where infant life ends." Joylotta Purdy writes from New York: "I have often thought I would write and tell you about our little meetings (parlor talks, we call them) and spirit messages. I have been in New York City three years, having come here from Detroit, Mich., where I first learned the great truths of Spiritualism. I have been surprised to find so many hungry souls reaching out for light. How I delight in being an instrument that may be attuned to receive and give heavenly nourishment to those who seek for it. Among many who came to me last week for crumbs of comfort from loved ones, was a lady who had more of this world's goods than she needed. She said: 'I have come to the conclusion that life isn't worth living.' Immediately there appeared before me a mist, which soon developed to a white paper; then as I looked intently at it there appeared letters of gold. I asked the lady to turn to my desk and write the words I would give her. She did so. I wish many could see the effect they had upon her. Her father's name was signed, and also his description given. The lady was a stranger to me.' Mrs. Geo. Hamilton Brooks writes: "On Sunday, May 31, Oscar A. Edgerly of Boston, Mass., and Mrs. J. A. Murtha, of Baltimore, Md., concluded their very successful three months' engagement with the Englewood Spiritual Union. Mr. Edgerly's lectures were eloquent practical and instructive, while Mrs. Murtha's work was, to our thinking, the very ne plus ultra of test mediumship. Our meetings will be continued through the month of June. On Sunday, June 7. Dr. Geo. B. Warne will speak for our Union. The Englewood Spiritual Union Metropolitan Line to 48th street, will hold its annual plenic at Jackson change to LaGrange Electric. Cars Park (near the German Building), on

When writing for this paper use a pen or typewriter.

TAKE NOTICE.

All books advertised in the columns of The Progressive Thinker are for sale at this office. Bear this in mind:

W. F. Peck writes: "Mrs. Josle K Folsom has been serving the Church of Spiritual Unity, St. Louis, Mo., for several months past as test medium and with gratifying results. Her phases of mediumship are unique and startling, many striking tests being given and quite a number of converts were made during her ministrations. On the close of her engagement the congregation extended her a unanimous vote of thanks and recommended her to all societies in want of a convincing medium. Mrs. Folsom is to be at Clinton, Iowa, camp meeting during part of August." Dr. Geo. W. Renner writes from Beaver Falls, Pa.: "As I soon leave this city for Chicago, my future field of work, I thought it advisable to make mention of the progress of our society under the ministration of our able sister, Emma M. Nutt-Moore. She has served us for the past six weeks: also three weeks in March, and at all times she has given us general satisfaction. I A subscriber sends the tollowing from give my farewell light physical seance Sunday evening, June 7, and Sister Moore closes the meetings for the sea son June 14, with a conference and soul-reading meeting. I can heartily endorse Mrs. Moore to any society who needs a good speaker and medium."

The Rev. Dr. James N. Buckley, editor of the Methodist Advocate and a leading member of his denomination in New York, made the startling declaration, in addressing several hundred ministers during a memorial meeting in honor of the late Bishops Randolph Siles Foster and John Fletcher Hearst, formerly chancellor of the American University at Washington, that he fully expected to meet the two eminent di vines in the hereafter and to recognize them. Dr. Buckley was asked during the spirited discussion that followed in the wake of his remarkable statement if he believed he would come face to face with such souls as Dante. Shakspeare and John Wesley? "It is one of the tenets of our creed," he responded, 'that we shall all meet those who have gone before us into the 'undiscovered country,' and I see no reason why I should not hope to meet even such souls as Dante, Shakspeare, Wesley and others in the future life.'

The Chicago Journal says: "No reasonable person can deny the soundness of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court decision against the healing of disease by prayer. No matter what our religious belief may be-whether we believe in the efficacy of prayer or not—it must be apparent that the Pennsylvania court spoke common sense when it declared that faith-healing is injurious to the community, and that an organization should not be permitted which denied the existence of contagious diseases, The opinion of the court says that neither the law nor reason has any ob jection to the offering of prayer for the recovery of the sick. But both the law and common sense require the use of those other means which have been given for the cure of disease. The man who denies the value of medical and surgical science is a fanatic, and the granting of a charter to a body of such fanatics would be dangerous to the public health. The marvels of medicine and surgery have been gradually and steadily developed for many centuries and a cult deserves no recognition that steps in, with a wave of the hand, as it were, and attempts to overthrow the whole system. The Pennsylvania court in its long supplemental opinion, deals with the danger to a community that would result from the inexpert treatment of disease. It seems incredible that there are many people in the world who can, by any twist of religion or reasoning, deny the logic of this opinion. Yet the fact has been demonstrated to itualism and sensualism walking hand L. Stewart, president, Whitewater, Wis. Chicago that such people do exist in large numbers. Religious toleration is speare's famous words. All is oblique, something to be maintained, but when a sect becomes a danger to the public at large, it should be put down by law-or the features of it that endanger health and life should be suppressed. The decision of the Pennsylvania Supreme court is one whose value scarcely can be estimated in establishing the authority of the law over the so-called religious liberties of certain bodies."

Dr. Isaac K. Funk, whose experience with the alleged ghost of Henry Ward Beecher some time ago excited widespread attention, announces his intention of publishing the results of his investigations of Spiritualistic phenomena some time next fall. Dr. Funk has nut himself in communication with the Society for Psychical Research with headquarters in this country at Boston, and the observations and experiments which he is conducting are dictated by members of this organization. The Doctor is reticent as to the data he has collected and the ordeals he has under-"Do you consider there is possibility of trickery on the part of the me-dium in these seances?" he was asked. "In some instances," he replied, "there is absolutely no chance for any deception. In the case, so extensively published in the daily press, where the medium told me of the existence and whereabouts of the 'widow's mite' coin, only known to the late Mr. Beecher and myself, there was certainly no explanation on the ground of previous knowledge on the part of my informant. Do I think that it was the spirit of Beecher that spoke through the medium? Ah there you launch into a sea of speculation that has only begun to be investigated, and that not very far from shore Such a phenomenon is not necessarily due to the agency of a departed spirit. It may be referable solely to some occult power possessed by the medium, But I do not wish to say anything further on the matter till the results of my investigations are published. I have amassed an amount of data that is considered by scientists to be of some value, and I expect to obtain more."-

American, New York. Manayunk, Pa.—Jacob Cugameck aged twelve years, is in a serious condition at St. Timothy's Hospital, resulting from injuries received when he jumped from the second story window of his home in a fit of somnambulism. Cugameck, Sr., is a butcher, and has his store on the first floor of his home. Young Jacob slept with his mother in the second story front room, directly over the store. She was awakened by her son arising. The latter went to the window and raised it to get some air. his mother thought, as the night was very sultry. Suddenly he began to climb out, and before she could reach him he had made the leap. In front of the store is row of heavy iron hooks, used to suspend meat for display. In his fall young Jacob's right leg was caught on one of these hooks and he hung suspended head down for a minute or two. This broke his fall, but before assistance came the hook had torn through the flesh and the boy fell to the ground. Assistance was quickly summoned and the injured lad hurried to St. Timothy's Hospital. Examination showed that his flesh had been horribly

Always give your full name and address when sending in Items and com-munications for publication, otherwise they will find their way to the waste

Mrs. Lilly LeSieur writes: "The annual banquet given by the Church of the Soul and the Band of Harmony, Saturday evening, May 30, was in every way a great success. We were taxed to the utmost to accommodate the crowd. After the feast, we had music and recitations, winding up with a hop for the young folks. This closes the season unnext September."

Mrs. Annie Rix Militz will give course of six lectures at Vrilia Hights, Williams Bay, Wis., the second week in July. Subject, "Immortality in the Flesh." Many earnest souls are seek-Many earnest souls are seeking truth and spiritual unfoldment in this delightful camp.

Mrs. Catherine McFarlin, the lecturer will make her home in the future at Plainview, Minn.

C. H. Mathews writes: "Last Sunday, being in Massillon, Ohio, I attended a Spiritualist meeting addressed by Sister Marguerite St. Omer Briggs, and was highly edified by her lecture before the Church of Spirit Communion." The meeting was held in Burd's Hall, an elegant auditorium, which ought to be well filled." George Adkins writes: "Although I have never attended a Spiritualist gathering, I am in love with the beautiful philosophy as taught by your interesting contributors. The lectures which you publish from week to week are worth more than the price of the paper. In the lonely life which I live, for I am growing old, and my children are away from me, I find much solace and comfort from the beautiful and uplifting ideas as they come to me from every quarter, week after week, and now I shall look very anxiously for Dr. Peebles' book. I feel that it cannot be anything but good, from such a good and noble source. I love the grand old man, although I have never seen him. What a bright and glorious future must be in store for such as he. I have been reading those beautiful sentiments as represented by Mrs. Wise in her controversy with her husband, in Zurilda Wellington, having been raised under such teachers as her husband in my youth I know what she means." F. H. Morrell writes from Philadelphia, P.: "Though you do not often hear from the First Association of Spiritualists of Philadelphia, its banner still floats in the breeze, and the season just closed has been highly successful. We have had for speakers such talent as W. J. Colville, C. Fannie Allyn, Nina Vera Hughes, of Brooklyn, N. Y., Carrie E. S. Twing, whom everybody knows and loves, and Anita Trueman, a phenomenal young speaker, and author of several volumes. We had also on May 25, Mr. and Mrs. Hatfield Pettibone who gave a benefit seance in our Temple for the First Association in connection with the Young People's Sunflower Club. The seance was for materialization of hands and independent writing in the light, and was very successful and satisfactory to the large audience present. There is a demand for such demonstrations. The other associa-tions in Philadelphia have had prosperous seasons, and the second proposes to hold meetings all summer. Thus the work goes on, and I hope much good has been accomplished.

Thos Kizer writes from Decatur, Ill. Some weeks ago a man by name of Maxwell, hailing from Danville, Ill., and claiming to be a medium and clairvoyant, located here for a time, saying he would give advice on love, marriage. business, etc., and he did give advice, which, with other things, was followed by a murder of one of our citizens by another. Both were married men; the one is in jail now awaiting trial for murder on the 8th inst. This man Maxwell suddenly left town. The entire affair called out a scathing rebuke of Spiritthere is nothing level in these natures of ours, but basest villainy.' I sent clipping of the entire article to our Hudson Tuttle, and he made answer in good shape, and it was published in full by the same paper that published the re-buke, and the editor said they were only too glad to have it. Now what I think we of Decatur should and probably will do hereafter when one or more persons come here, advertising themselves as clairvoyant mediums; we will appoint three or four persons to call on them and find out if they are true Spiritua ists, and if not, inform the public through the press or otherwise. Then if any crime results from what give out, it cannot justly be laid on Spiritualists. If all societies would adopt the above or some similar plan it would not be long until men-like Maxwell would have to make their living in some other way."

Mrs. Joseph Engle writes: "I ceived the remarkable premium book and I am well pleased with it."

WHEN LIGHTS ARE LOW.

The rooms are hushed, the lights are I sit and listen to the wind That comes from out the distant hill. It comes and croons in an undertone Of alien regions vast and lone, Of pleasures lost in a land unknown: Then steals away, and all is still. 'Tis good to listen to the wind When rooms are hushed and lights are

low. When those we love have come and gone. 'Tis weary to be left behind:

To miss sweet eyes where late they shone. To look for what we may not find, Long-cherished forms that haunt the mind. Soft voices that were once too kind, To live and miss them one by one Is weary work; Whold stay behind When those we love have come and gone? s —New York Times.

INDUCE Your Neighbor to Subscribe for The Progressive Thinker. Now is the time to extend the circulation of The Progressive Thinker. It will contain Occult and Spiritualistic news with which every one should be familiar. No other paper published on this earth contains such a vast amount of matter so well adapted to enrich the mind. Send in a subscription now.

"The Life Booklets." By Ralph Waldo Trine. Three daintily beautiful little books, finely adapted for holiday presents. The titles are, "Character, Building by Thought Power," "Every Living Creature," and "The Greatest Thing Ever Known:" The matter is of high-toned spiritual character and of helpial purpose. Proce 35 cents each.
"A Plea for the New Woman." By May Collins. An address delivered be-fore the Ohio Liberal Society. For sale at this office. Price 10 cents. "Death Defeated; or the Psychic Secret of How to Keep Young." By J. M.

LIST OF CAMP-MEETINGS.

Send in Your Dates and Name of Secre-'tary at Once.

Inquiries are already coming to this office in reference to the various camps. Will the officers of each camp please send at once the correct dates, etc., and also the name of the secretary who can be addressed for programmes and full particulars. The notices that do not contain the names of the secretary or president are incomplete.

Island Lake, Mich.

The Island Lake Camp Association desires to announce that the season of 1903 opens July 23, extending through the month of August. Correspondence solicited with a few more good phenomenal mediums. H. R. LaGrange, secretary, 350 Grand River avenue, Detroit, Lake Brady, Ohio. Lake Brady camp opens July 5 and closes August 30. A. G. Keck, secretary, Akron, Ohio.

Chesterfield, Ind.

Chesterfield (Ind.) camp-meeting opens July 16 and closes August 30. For programs and other information address Flora Hardin, secretary, Anderson, Ind.

Camp-meeting in Oregon.

The Spiritualists of Oregon will hold their annual camp-meeting from July 4 to July 20 on the beautiful and inspiring grounds of the Clackamas County Spiritualist Association. For particulars, address the president, Geo. Lazalle, Oregon City, Oregon.

Mt. Pleasant Park, Clinton, Iowa. The camp session of the M. V. S. A Mt. Pleasant Park, Clinton, Iowa, will open August 2 and close August 30. For programmes address Mollie B. An derson, secretary, Clarksville, Mo.

Verona, Park, Me.

This camp opens August 2 and closes August 30. A. F. Smith, president, Bangor, Me.; F. W. Smith, secretary, Rockland, Me.

Forest Home, Mich. The fourth annual camp-meeting opens at Snowflake, Mich., Aug. 1, and closes August 23. Write to Mrs. Ruth Eastman, secretary, Mancelona, Mich. Box 69. Ottawa Camp, Kansas.

This camp opens July 30, and closes

August 9. For full particulars address H. W. Henderson, Lawrence, Kansas.

The Waukesha Camp, Wis. This camp opens July 17 and closes August 17. For full particulars address ualism from the Rev. Jones, of the the secretary, Will J. Erwood, No. 1334 Christian Temple, saying in part: 'Spir- Pine street, La Crosse, Wis., or Clara

Ottawa, Kans.

This camp opens July 30 and continues to August 9. For full particulars address H. W. Henderson, president, Lawrence, Kansas, or Jacob Hey, Secretary, Carbondale, Kansas.

Wonewoo, Wis. The Wonewoc camp opens this year on August 13 and continues to the 30th of that month. Address for particulars, Miss Gertrude Spooner, Secretary, Wonewoc, Wis.

Reed's Lake, Grand Rapids, Mich. The West Michigan Spiritualist Association will hold its meeting this year at Grand Rapids, at its grounds, at Reed's Lake, known as the "Pioneer Assembly Grounds." Meeting opens July 4, and closes August 30. For full particulars address D. A. Herrick, president and manager, 296 N. Ionia street, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Winfield Camp, Kansas, This camp will be held in Island Park, Winfield, Kansas, commencing July 3, and closing July 13. For full particulars write to Mrs. Maud K. Gates, corner Second and Indiana streets, Highland Park, Winfield, Kansas.

Marshalltown, lowa. This camp begins August 23 and ends September 13. For full particulars address E. M. Vail, president, Marshall-

Franklin, Neb. This camp commences July 17, and continues until August 2. For full particulars address D. L. Haines, secretary, Franklin, Neb. Grand Ledge, Mich.

This camp opens July 26 and closes August 23. For programmes apply to A. McKelvey, Grand Ledge, Mich.

Lake Helen Camp, Florida. The Southern Cassadaga Camp-meeting will convene the first of February, and will close the middle of March. For information and programmes, address Mrs. J. D. Palmer, corresponding secretary, Willoughby, Ohio.

Saugus Center, Mass. The Lynn Spiritualists Association will hold meetings every Sunday, end-

The Onset Camp. Opens July 12 and closes August 30

ing September 28, at Unity Camp, Sau

gus Center, Mass. Mrs. A. A. Averill 42 Smith street, Lynn, Mass.

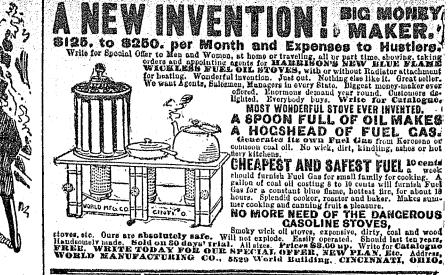

Maple Dell Park, Ohio. The American Spiritual Religious and

Science Union will hold a camp session at Maple Dell, commencing July 25 and closing August 30. Lucy King, corresponding secretary. Address with stamp, Box 45, Mantua, Ohio.

Harmony Grove, Cal.

The seventh annual camp-meeting A collection of words and music for the choir, opens July 26, and closes August 9. We are expecting a very prosperous camp.

A collection of words and music for the choir, congregation and social circle. By S. W. Tucker. Comprises sixty or more gems of song. Price, 16 cents. Peebles, M. D., M. A., Ph. D. Price $1. are expecting a very prosperous camp.

For particulars address Frank C. Foster, secretary, Escondido, Cal.

Camp-meeting at Etna, Wash.

The Spiritualists of Clarke county, Washington, will hold their second annual camp-meeting in their beautiful grove in Etna, from August 9 to 30. Good speakers and mediums have been engaged. For circulars and information address the secretary, Henry B. Allen, Etna, Clarke county, Washington.

Freeville, N. Y.

The Central New York Spiritualist Association will hold its eighth annual camp-meeting at Freeville, N. Y., Aug. 1 to 16. B. Rhodes, Elmira, N. Y., pres ident; Victoria C. Moore, Dryden, N. Y., secretary.

In Tune with the Infinite By Ralph Waldo Trine.

By Ralph Waldo Trine.

Within yourself lies the cause of whatever enters into your life. To come into the full realization of your own awakened interior powers, is to be able to condition your life in exact accord with what you would havoit.—From Title-Page.

CONTENTS—I. Prelude; II. The Supreme Fact of thuman Life; IV. Fullness of Life—Bodily Health and Vigor; V. The Secret, Power and Effect of Love; VI. Wisdom and Interior Illumination; VII. The Realization of Ferfect Feace; VIII. Coming into fullness of power; IX. Plenty of All Things—The Law of Prosperity; X. How Men Have Become Prophets, Secs, Sages, and Saviors; XI. The Basic Principle of All Religions—The Universal Religion: XII. Entering Now into the Realization of the Highest Riches. For sale at this office, Price, postpaid, $1.25.

HARMONIGS OF EVOLUTION. The Philosophy of Individual Life, Based

Upon Natural Science

KELIGION OF THE FUIUKE.

By S. Weil. Cloth, $1.25; paper, 50 cents. This is a work of great value, written by one of the keenest, most powerful and most truly religious minds of the day. It is particularly a work which should be put into the hands of those who have freed themselves from the dogmas of orthodoxy and from the dogmas of internatistic science, for it will strengthen the conviction of the free mind that mind and senses are not the whole of life.

The chapters reveal a new method in psychic and spiritual research. They show vivid glimpses of a stupendous moral cosmos that will supersede moral confusion, that only verifable tenets can survive, and the childhood period of faith and fancy will be superseded by knowledge and facts.

THE DESCENT OF MAN By Charles Darwin. Cloth, gilt top, 75 cents. On its appearance it aroused at once a storm of mingled wrath, wonder and admiration. In elegance of style, charm of manner and deep knowledge of natural history, it stands almost without a rival among scientific works.

ZELMA THE MYSTIC, or White Magic Versus Black. By Alwin M. Thurber. (ccult philosophy clothed in story form; alms to give a better unges, large and plain. Cloth, $1.25.

SPIRITUAL SONGSTER. By Mattie E. Hull. Thirty-eight of Mrs. Hull's sweetest songs, adapted to popular music, for the use of congregations, circles and familes. Price, 10 cents, or $7 per hundred.

Psychopathy, or Spirit Healing. A series of lessons on the relations of the spirit to its own organism, and the interrelation of human beings with reference to health, disease and healing. By the spirit of Dr. Benjamin Rush, through the mediumship of Mrs. Cora L. V. Richmond. A book that every healer, physician and Spiritualist should read. Price, $1.50.

I'ldn and the By Rev. Arthur Chambers, Spirit World Associate of King's College, London. An excellent book for Christian people who would investigate and learn the facts of Bible teachings as well as modern spirit phenomena. Price, cloth, $1.10.

THE OTHER SIDE OF DEATH

Scientifically Examined and Carefully Described. BY C. W. LEADBEATER.

A Volume of 500 large pages, treating very nterestingly if Life. Death and Immortality, Clairvoyance. Spirit Phenomena, Etc. as viewed by an acknowledged and cultivated exponent of Theosophy. Price. $1.50.

The Development of the Spirit After Transition. By the late M. Faraday. The origin of religions, and their influence upon the mental development of the human race. Price, 10 cents.

"THE DREAM CHILD,"

A Fascinating Romance of Two Worlds. By Florence Huntley. Price, cloth, 75 cents. Books like "The Dream Child" spur humanity on to make more and more demands of this nature, and will open up new heights and depths of spiritual knowledge.—Ella Wheeler Wilcox. Will, I believe, take its place beside Bulwer's "Zanoni" and the "Seraphita" of Balzac.—Daily Capital, Topeka, Kansas. Although simple and unvarnished with any Inflammable descriptions, enthralls the mind to the exclusion of other thoughts, until reluctantly the reader other thoughts, until reluctantly the reader closes the last page.—Minneapolis Sunday Times.

ESOTERIC LESSONS.

This work includes "Personified Unthinkables," "First Lessons in Reality," and "A Tour Through the Zodiac." This is an interesting production of occult thought and will well repay careful study and meditation by all occultists. Price, Cloth, $1.50. For sale at this

OLD AND NEW PSYCHOLOGY By W. J. Colville. Beports of twenty distinct lectures, recently delivered in York, Brooklyn, Boston, Philadelphia other forominent cities of the United Stars describing the basic forth. have contributed the basis of this volume Price, $1.00.

A Few Words About the Devil And other Essays. By Charles Bradlaugh. With the story of his life as told by himself, and the history of his parliamentary struggle. With portrait. Paper, 50c.

WOMAN: A Lecture Delivered to Ladies
White Dresent status of woman, physically, mentally, morally and spiritually. The divine law of true harmonial marriage, etc. Price, 10c.

The Spiritual Wreath.

DIAL PLANCHETTE.

This instrument is substantially the same as that employed by Prof. Hare in his early investigationa in its improved form it has been before the public for more than seven years, and in the hands of thousands of persons has proved its superiority over the Pionickette, and all other instruments which have been brought out in imitation, both in regard to certainty and correctness of the communications received by its sid, and as a means or developing mediumship. The ways with the instantial Entritualism? Do you wish to investigate Spiritualism? Do you wish to develop Mediumship? Do you desire to receive Communications?

The Psychograph is an invaluable assistant. A pamphlet with full directions for the Formation of Circles and Cultivation of Mediumship

Upon Natural Science

As taught by modern masters of law. By Florence Huntley. An exceedingly interesting and distinctly valuable contribution to the literature of evolution, unfolding its laws from the deeper and clearer spiritual aspect, and in dicating the defects of the Darwhinan theory. Spiritualists and Materialists alike can gain much from its perusal. Price, finely bound in cloth, $2.

THE VOICES By Warren Summer Barlow, the first of remarkable beauty and force. They are most excellent. Price $1.00.

RELIGION OF THE FUTURE, By S. Weil. Cloth, $1.25; paper, 50 cents. This is a work of great value, written by one of the keenest, most powerful and most truly religious minds of the day. It is particularly a work which should be put into the hands of those. Securely packed, and sent postage paid from the manufacturer, for $1.00. Address: HUDSON TUTTLE, Berlin Heights, Ohio.

ASPHODEL BLOOMS

Other Offering

EMMA ROOD TUTTLES poems of this gifted author and storisties con tributed by Clair Tuttle in her charming style There are 285 pages, with six full-page illustra-tions, including photogravures of the author tions including photogravures of the author and Clair Tuttle. It is bound in blue with all huminim embossing. Many of the poems are specially adapted for recitations.

The Author needs no introduction to the spiritual public. Her songs are among the best it spiritual literature. Epes Sargent said of on of her pasms that it was the equal of anything in the language, and that she was the poet of the New Dispensation.

"That erudite critic, Wn. Emmette Coleman" "To all lovers of good poetry this book is confidently recommended."

Will Cariton: "I have read with great interest."

Will Cariton: "I have read with great interest."
Sarah Thorpe Thomas, the Humanitarian says: "A most exquisite bouquet * * * * the thoughts echo and re-echo through the despest recesses of my heart. I have some word of praise for every page."
The author says in the dedication: "To those whose thoughts and longings reach into the whose thoughts and longings reach into the unseen Land of Souls, this handful of asphodels, mixed with common flowers, is offered hoping to give rest and pleasure while waiting at the way stations on the journey thither."

Price, $1.00. For sale by HUDSON TUTTLE, Berlin Heights, Ohio. FOREIGN AGENTS: H. A. Copley, Canningtown, London, Eng. W. H. Terry, Melbourne, Australia.

COSMIAN HYMN BOOK. A collection of original and selected Hymns for Liberal and Ethical Societies, for Schools and the Home. Compiled by L. K. Washburn. This volume meets a public want. It comprises 258 choice selections of poetry and music, embodying the highest moral sentiment, and free from all sectarianism. Price, 50 cents.

THE SPIRITUAL ALPS And How We Ascend Them. How to reach that altitude where spirit is supreme and all things are subject to it. By Moses Hull. Price in cloth. 40 cents; paper 25 cts. For sale at this office.

THE SOUL . ITS NATURE, RE-LATIONS AND EX-MAN EMBODIMENTS. Third edition now one sale. Price $1.00. This is one of the best books given by the guides of Mrs Cora L. V. Richmond. They are really lessons, published primarily, as a book of reference for those who have been members of the classes receiving them. This volume is a careful compilation from reports of lessons, containing the bases of the teachings.

DEATH ITS MEANING and Results.

By J. K. Wilson, of the Ponnsylvania Bar, an absorbingly interesting narrative relating a series of wooderful persons matter the series of wooderful persons in matter the series of series of wonderful psychic manifestations of surring in the writer's experience. Cloth, illust

A MASTERLY WORK. Continuity of Life a Cosmic Truth By Prof. W. M. Lookwood.

A masterly presentation of an important sublect. A powerful argument along new and solen-tific lines, establishing on a scientific basis the fact of the continuity of personal individual con-scious selfhood after laying aside the physical body. A book of rare value. With several

An Infamous A pamphlet of 82 pages, com-Conspiracy piled and published by the late Rev. J. G. White, author of numerous anti-Catholic works. It contains disclosures relative to a villatnous plot to ever the wour free government. Price, 15 cents.

ROMANISM Is a pamphlod of 80 pages, is EXPOSED reply to Prof. David Swing Priest Cashman and Dr. With row, and is principally in defense of Protestant iam. A concise little pamphlet. Price is centa.

What All the World's a-Seeking. RALPH WALDO TRINE.

RALPH WALDO TRINE.

Each is building his world from within; thought is the building his world from within; thought is the builder; for thoughts are forces,—subtle, vital, irresistible, omnipotoni,—and according as used do they bring power or impotence, peace or pain, success or failure.—From Title-page.

The above becks are benuitfully bound in gray-green raised cloth, stamped in deep old-green and gold, with gilt top. Price, 81.23. For sale at this office.

SPIRITUALISM, PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE.

From a Lecture by Rev. Axel Lundeberg. If I should come before you to-night to weary you with some commonplace a failure. But still the question is not statements or endless repetitions of things and facts you have heard thought of the company of the comp sands of times before, you certainly appeal to facts. That is the only way would be entitled to ask me what right to get at the truth anyway. If we want I have to stand on this platform. And to know what Spiritualism is let us yisit consider it worth while to appear what is going on there, and then judge among you this evening. I have come from what we have seen and heard to you because I believe I have a message to you, a message which I think it my duty to deliver to you, and which I hope and pray may find open ears and gation of the above mentioned kind. be received with willing and loving The daily paper advertised that the hearts at least by some of you.

Spen is siet.

indication of lack of modesty on my part, but we must bear in mind that the At the time announced in the "ad" I rewast and wonderfully complicated map paired to the place and took my seat chinery of the universe is not operated with the others in the hall waiting for from below but from above, and that the service to begin. After a while the consequently every one of us is more or collector came and requested me to pay less influenced by the spiritual world, fifteen cents, which I did, and so did every constant and the control of the pay influenced by the spiritual world. whose inhabitants take a great, active erybody else. Then the "minister" and lively interest in our affairs, and often use us as their mediums to make ductory address asked his audience to their intentions known to this world. What I claim for myself, therefore, can ings. The small table was soon loaded with equal right be claimed by every with all kinds of trinkets, such as one of you, if he chooses to open his intellect to the constant influx from the only on ourselves whether we are willyou might possess for yourself. I therefore am here to give and dis-

up the day before and rested over

"As the light increased," he says, ". ery vestige of the earth, while .I was left floating on this fragment of the Later I attended wreck of a world, on my carved plank it impressive. As the light in the east I had risen in the night, the new terrafirma perchance of my future life. There was not a crevice left through which the trivial places we name Massachusetts, or Vermont, or New York, miles on every side, as far as the eye could reach, an undulating country of clouds, answering in the varied swell of its surface to the terrestrial world it might see in dreams, with all the de-lights of paradise. There were imsmooth-shaven and firm, and shady vales between the vaporous mountains, and far iff the horizon I could see where some luxuriant and misty timber jutted into the prairie and trace the windings of a water course, some unimagined Amazon or Orinoko, by the misty trees on its brink. As there was wanting the symbol, so there was not the substance of impurity, no spot nor me. Let there be no doubt as to what stain. It was a favor for which to be I am saying or what I do not say. I am the substance of impurity, no spot nor forever silent to be shown this vision. a staunch believer in the reality of all The earth beneath had become such a the facts of clairvoyance, psychometry, the clouds had been before. It was not merely veiled to me, but it had passed away like the fantom of a shadow, skias onar, and this new platform was gained. As I had climbed above storm and cloud, so by successive days' journeys I might reach the region of eternal "'Heaven itself shall slide And roll away, like melting stars that have never done. I do certainly believe 'Along their oily threads.'

"But when its own sun began to rise on this pure world, I found myself a dweller in the dazzling halls of Aurora. into which poets have had but a partial glance over the eastern hills-drifting amid the saffron-colored clouds, and playing with the rosy fingers of the Dawn, in the very path of the Sun's chariot, and sprinkled with its dewy dust, enjoying the benignant smile, and near at hand the far darting glances of the god. The inhabitants of earth behold commonly but the dark and shadowy underside of heaven's pavement; it is only when seen at a favorable an gle in the horizon, morning or evening, that some faint streaks of the lining of the clouds are revealed. But my muse would fail to convey an impression of the gorgeous tapestry by which I was surrounded, such as men see faintly re-

This brilliant word painting of the rise of the sun in the natural world symbolizes in a striking manner the same spectacle in the spiritual world. For there is a correspondence between the two, and what takes place here below is only a reproduction in matter of what was originally conceived in spirit. There is a sunrise in every soul, and when the sun rises in your soul or in mine we see the brilliant scenery of the spiritual world unfolding itself before our spiritual eyes, if they are open and endowed with sight. Some of us see only this material world. Some see only, to use Thoreau's expression, "the underside of heaven's pavement." A in the valley it is often dark and cloudy, top all is vision.

Did you ever stop for a moment and the blessings it can bring us are much consider that there is a dividing line, which separates men and women in two distinct groups as to the stand they take towards the spiritual world? And did you realize that this difference is caused by their different positions either at the foot or at the top of the mountain? And did you stop to consider that it is your free choice either to stop at the foot or to climb to the top? If one has climbed to the top and seen some of the visions there, every one of you can and pught to do the same, and you will see

I said I had a message to deliver to you. This message is a message to everybody, but it is especially a message the name of Spiritualism as a cloak or to Spiritualists. What is Spiritualism? manufacture to hide their real names and objects, which is nothing but fortune-telligible and the spiritualism as a cloak or manufacture.

I for my part would not in such a case a Spiritualistic meeting and find out what Spiritualism is and what it is not. Acting on this principle I have devoted some of my spare time to investi-Rev. So-and-So was going to conduct This confession might seem to you an Spiritualistic services and preach at such and such a hall a certain Sunday. place on the table some of their belong-pick up one of these trinkets after the We all have the same privilege, there other, and holding it in one of his hands is no monopoly on spirituality, nor any "tell the fortunes" of the person it bereserved seats in heaven. If depends longed to. With many hits and misses this procedure went on until there was ceived, we want to give to others. To nothing left on the table. The "minisme it seems selfish to keep what good you might page of the want of the table. The "minisme it seems selfish to keep what good was at an and an area. meeting was at an end, and that those who wanted to stay were invited for a private circle. Together with the matribute freely what I have received for jority of those present, I stayed, was that purpose. Let us all do the same, again called upon to pay fifteen cents as and the more we give the more we were all the others, and witnessed for the second time the same performance. Those of you who have read Henry I must add that this "minister" also had Those of you who have read ready, on his program "answering of questions on paper, slips handed to him by his autivers" might remember the following fragment from his beautiful description lieve in a personal god?" and his antivers in the control of the daybreak as he saw it from a swer: "No, if I did I would shoot him." mountain-top about 8,000 feet above the level of the sea, where he had climbed hall no wiser than before but fully convinced that if this was Spiritualism, certainly it was not religion. It was simply a money-making scheme a discovered around me an ocean of mist, clever way of advertising a fortune-tellwhich reached up by chance exactly to the base of the tower, and shut out eventue base of the tower and the base of the base o

Later I attended several meetings advertised in the daily papers as Spiritualin cloudland; a situation which required istic services and found most of them no aid from the imagination to render conducted in the same way as the one it impressive. As the light in the east just described. This makes it unnecessed adding increased, it revealed to me sary to go into further details. I will more clearly the new world into which only tell you about one more and then be done with this part of my message to you. I also attended a materializing seance. Shall I describe it to you? Do I need to do so? Have not many of you witnessed the same rough play with could be seen, while I still inhaled the clear atmosphere of a July morning—if it were July there. All around beneath me was spread for a hundred tured out of cloth, rubber, plaster paris tured out of cloth, rubber, plaster paris or papier mache, emanating from a cab-inet, into which they were skillfully and stealthily eluding themselves in, while its surface to the terrestrial world it veiled. It was such a country as we turned away to some other distraction, or while our sight was dimmed by the semi-umbric illumination around us. snowy pastures apparently which made all the objects in the room look like shadows from another world? At the close of the seance I did not know what most to admire, the brazen audacity of the performers or the stupendous credulity of a crowd, who in these man-made spectres recognized deceased relatives or friends and conversed with them. Now, friends, do not misunderstand

Herialization and so on, which constitute the bulk of the foundation on which Spiritualism is constructed, and I know there are many honest, upright and sincere mediums and lecturers. But I can not find words strong enough to denounce the reckless fakirs, who do neys I might reach the region of eternal and hesitate to prey upon the most saday beyond the tapering shadow of the cred emotions of the human heart and fraudulently extort money for powers and I know from my own experience that it is possible to communicate with he so-called dead. I know it is a fact that they can be seen and heard both clairvoyantly and in materialized form. But I want to emphatically state that when such occurrences take place they do so in accordance with certain spiritual and psychological laws, which are constantly and repeatedly broken by the fakir and the usurper, whose only object is to make money, while he does not care a snap for the truth.

The field of Spiritualism has been invaded by innumerable savage hordes of false prophets, quacks and humbuggers, who by their insolent tricks have brought discredit and disrespect on our great and glorious movement, and turned away from our ranks earnest and upright seekers after truth, who have come to us to find food for their souls, and instead of the life-giving flected afar off in the chambers of the bread of life have been given stones and husks to feed on.

It was not so from the beginning, for Spiritualism at its start was free from the degrading spirit of commercialism. which like a poisonous weed at the present threatens to outgrow it and already is covering a great space of the field it once occupied. Spiritualism has been the consolation of thousands of sorrow-filled and despairing hearts, it has wiped the tears from many a mother's eyes, it has righted many wrongs, it has expelled doubt, skepticism and the darkness of ignorance and superstition, it has stayed the hand of the murderer and the suicide, when no human power could interfere, it has infused new hope and new gladness in underside of heaven's payement." A hearts depressed and faded by years of few of us see the ethereal summer land silent sorrow; it has opened the gates above. It depends on where we stand, silent sorrow; it has opened the gates whether in the dales and valleys around of purgatory and preached the gospel the foot of the mountain, or on its lofty top high above the clouds. Down in the valley it is often dark and cloudy. on the top it is always sunshine. Down in the valley there is no vision. On the top all is vision.

On the blessings it has brought to > greater still Friends, all of you who truly and sinerely realize what Spiritualism means to you and what it ought to mean to all of us, let us join hands to save this grand religion from the decay that is threatening to break in on all sides and which, unless stopped, eventually will kill the greatest movement of the 19th and 20th centuries. Let us save Spiritualism from degeneration and destruction and death. This can be done and it should be done at once. But how? n the first place we must drive out from our ranks the false prophets, the and rescally ignoramuses who, void of every vestige of honesty and decency, clothed in the raggy, shabby garb of rank ignorance and often imbedility, do not hesitate to stand up and proclaim themselves heralds of truth, psychics, great mediums, and even Christs. Let us not interfere with their business, leave that to them alone, but let us distinctly refuse them to hoist the flag of Spiritualism over their stinking and reeking cesspools of vile and mercenary perversion of the great and glorious in heritance Spiritualism has bequeathed to humanity and especially to its true and honest adepts, who alone are entitled to wear its name.

Friends, so far my message to you has been of a negative or rather criticising nature. I now come to its posttive part. Let us turn our backs on the dark sides and direct our attention to the bright outlook for the future, and to the task that lies before us. We must organize our scattered forces. We must sift out the weed and gather in the corn in our empty barns. The task is a great one and requires devoted and able workers, but it is not too great, it can be accomplished and it should be commenced immediately.

as it appears among us to-day, the question whether Spiritualism is a religion or not. If fortune-telling and fake materializations are a religion, then that phase of Spiritualism we have criticised certainly has a right to claim that sacred name. But if religion means a union with the highest spiritual ideals, then we find very little reason to call all the societies religious, who advertise their fortune-telling seances and offices free of charge in the daily papers underthe assumed and misleading name of re-ligious or divine services. But fortunately Spiritualism has nothing to do with those fake establishments. True Spiritualism is a religion, and it is the religion of the present and of the future, destined to be the universal faith of mankind. As a religion it must have a cult, a ritual, services, churches and ministers. But its services should be conducted so as to educate and uplift the participants. They should not be more or less successful theatrical performances of fortune-telling, psychome-try or sleight of hand tricks. Such things do not constitute a religious service. And furthermore they are and must necessarily be a complete failure. They are nothing but experiments intended to prove the existence of spirits, or that our departed friends still live and can communicate with us. In order to be successful or to prove anything, such experiments must be conducted according to certain psychological laws, which can not be duly observed in a large hall before a heterogeous crowd or a mixed audience, where counteracting influences are liable to thwart exery effort of the inhabitants of the spirit spheres to manifest themselves or make their presence or intentions known. In most cases therefore such performances are nothing but mind-reading or hypnotic influence exerted by the medium or speaker over his audience. If you come to such performances in order to find out if Spiritualism is true you will be sorely disappointed. If you have a critical capacity or some knowledge of psychology you get the impression that Spiritualism is a fraud, and if you are of an uncritical or credulous nature you will have an excellent chance to be deceived and invest your hard-earned money in a delusion. Such experiments therefore should be separated from our public services. They attract a curious and thoughtless crowd, but they repel every earnest seeker after truth and knowledge. Those experiments should relegated to the private circle, of which will speak later, while the services should comprise a sermon or lecture, singing of hymns, invocations and visits to the spiritual helpers, who always will be ready to respond if we approach them in the proper way. The lecture should treat on some spiritual topic and be both instructive and edifying. And right here I want to emphasize that it is not necessary for the speaker to be a medium. Some of the most successful ones have not been mediumistic ough and exhaustive exposition of his subject, but it need not be a dictation truth as the denizens of other spheres. be true and honest and give what he has to give, not what he imagines himself to possess. He ought to cultivate his spiritual talents however and develop what mediumistic gifts he might have, for almost everyone is endowed with some phase of mediumship. It is not given to everyone to be an inspired speaker. He might be a clairvoyant, or a psychometrist, or possess some other branch of mediumship, as that of a healer or materializer. Let him then develop those gifts and use them to the benefit of his people. He can do so by conducting private circles in his home and assist others theoretically and practically in the study of experimental psy-chology and esoteric and true Spiritualism. In order to successfully do so the Spiritualistic minister must not be an ignoramus, but a man who knows what ne is about, who masters the whole field of modern experimental psychology, oc-cultism, Spiritualism, Theosophy and related sciences. He must know theology, history of religions, philosophy proper, sociology, history, and have a general inkling of the whole field of contemporary science, including astronomy, geology and so on. He must be a well-read man and well educated. But these intellectual accomplishments are not sufficient. He must also be a man capable of a good and unselfish life. He must give himself whole and undivided up to the task that lies before him. He must be entirely free from the degrading spirit of commercialism which has killed so many a hopeful incipient movement. He must be an altruist and a true and faithful follower of the Christ. He must not seek his own glory and aggrandizement, but his principal aim must be to be helpful and devoted to truth as he sees it. He must not spare himself. He must be ready at any time to work and to suffer if need be. His heart must be filled with love, sympathy, and compassion for the whole creation, and his life must be an effective illustration of his character. If the minister is a man of that kind he will soon gather around him a crowd of earnest truth-seekers, who will come back to his lectures Sunday after Sunday, and gradually form a nucleus around which will grow up a circle of sympathetic friends, who will form a congregation and build a church, in which to worship what is highest to them, and where to look for nourishment of their spiritual being and satisfaction of their loftiest and noblest as pirations. Friends, I have now land before you in a general sketch the delineation of my message to you, leaving the detailed account of its different branches to another occasion, when I hope to meet you again. I have tried to avoid being unagain. I have tried to avoid being un-necessarily coarse or severe; though I freely admit that in criticising I have not spared the rod. My only excuse is that I did not intend to hurt anyone's and still is waiting for an answer. Is ers, soothsayers, frauds and money-feelings, my sole object being to further the sacred interests of our great and deserving cause. I am at the end of my phy, or what is it? Some say it is a re- us those whose only aim is the aimighty deserving cause. I am at the end of my diglon, others prefer to call it a philos- dollar. Let us weed out the insolent discourse to hight, and I will close our that Christianity, as distinguished from other religious, is a sect. It surely began as a sect, for the followers of Christ were dissenters from the principles of Judaism and were known as a sect all to themselves. In the light of the Cabove decisions, King James, version of the Bible is sectarian in its tendency. In fact, each version of the Bible extant is sectarian in its tendency. But, assuming that King James' version is the version of no particular sect, it contains within its pages the doctrines of any number of sects or denominations. ...

BIBLE READING: IN SCHOOL

Upon this phase of the question, the court says in the case of State vs. District Board, supra: "3. The courts will take judicial notice of the contents of the Bible, that the religious world is divided into numerous sects, and of the general doctrines maintained by each sect; for these things pertain to general history, and may fairly be presumed to be subjects of correct the section. jects of common knowledge I. Greenl. Ev. secs. 5, 6, and notes). Thus they Let me return to the question I tried to answer by referring to Spiritualism will take cognizance, without averment, of the facts that there are numerous religious sects called Christians, respectively maintaining different and conflicting doctrines; that some of these believe the doctrine of predestination, while others do not; some the doctrine of eternal punishment of the wicked. while others repudiate it; some the doctrines of the apostolic succession and the authority of the priesthood, while others reject both; some that the holy scriptures are the only sufficient rule of faith and practice, while others believe that the only safe guide to human thought, opinion and action is the illuminating power of the divine spirit upon the humble and devout heart; some in the necessity and efficacy of the sacraments of the church, while others reject them entirely; and some in the literal truth of the scriptures, while others believe them to be allegorical, teaching spiritual truths alone, or chief ly. The courts will also take cognicance of numerous other conflicts loctrine between the sects; also that there are religious sects which reject the doctrine of the divinity of Christ, among which is the Hebrew or Jewish sect, which denies the inspiration and authority of the New Testament."

These denominations of the Christian church carry on a continual controversy among themselves which often reaches o violent lengths. They divide, and are founded, often on the simple meaning of words and expressions in the Bible. appears to me impossible that the Bible should be used as a text-book in iterature, and its language, meaning, and literary value discussed without precipitating a theological dispute and calling forth the prejudices of teachers and pupils.

morning exercise is sectarian instruction within the meaning of the state constitution. For a state, officer or school board to take action establishing King James' version of the Bible as a text-book in the public schools approaches very near to a discrimination in favor of the Protestant religion.

Suppose any school board should be authorized to cause the reading of the Bible as a morning exercise in the schools. Protestant, taxpayers could mandamus the board, to compel the reading of the version of King James, Catholic taxpayers could mandamus the board to compel the reading of the Dougy version, German Lutherans could reading of the Lutheran version; the public schools would be turned into reigious institutes. Otherwise, the school board, when brought to the alternative, would have to discriminate sects and thereby violate Section 4 of Article I of the Constitution. at all. His lecture should be a thor- accepted, their children read and study to-day and believe the only infallible guide to right conduct. When we force from the spirit world. Our own spirits our citizens to pay for and send their do partake just as much of the divine children to public schools where the Bible of another faith is read to them, sometimes more. The speaker should I believe we come dangerously near intruding upon freedom of conscience.

There are a number of cases in different states, bearing upon the main question, which would seem opposed to the views here set forth, but none of the states in which those decisions were made have in their constitutions a direct prohibition of sectarian instruction in the public schools.

The Constitution and laws of this state appear to have in view the maintenance of exact equality of all sects. creeds, or religions; that all shall have equal rights, equal opportunities, and be subject to equal restraints. And this accords well with that rule of human conduct, which is of higher wisdom and wider application than human laws: commending itself to the administration of the law and to every field of human action, and which is found with almost verbal identity in the sacred books of all religions:

"All things whatsoever you would that men should do to you, do you even so to them, for this is the law and the prophets."

I am, therefore, of the opinion that the reading of King James' version of the Bible, as a religious exercise, or its use as a text book in the public schools. is prohibited by the Constitution and laws of this state. Very respectfully, U.S. WEBB, Attorney-General.

meeting by asking you'to take part with me in one of the features of a Spiritualistic service to which I referred a while ago, a visit to one of our departed saints, Ralph Waldo Emerson, whose enlightened and exalided life was a blessing to humanity, a help to all who came in contact with him, and who is now much more able and ready to as. now much more able and ready to assist us in our spiritual groudh, as he is now so much more dayanged in inde-pendence, character and spirituality. (The speaker now bonducted a devotional memorial service for about half an hour and then closed with the following invocation): ia jors And now may the spirit of God rest upon every one of us and lead us safely to the truth, and to a four and unselfish life, and a true spiritualitie unfolding within us the spiritual gifts, which to every human soul opens the way to the world celestial.

TO WOMEN WHO DREAD, MOTHERHOOD! Information How They May Clyo Birth to Happy), Healthy Childron Absorptely With-out Pain--Scat Free.

No woman need any longor-dread the pains of child-birth, or remain childiess. Dr. J. H. Dyo has devoted lits life to relievant the sorrows of women. He has proved that all pain at childbirth may be entirely banished, and he will gladly tell you how it may be done absolutely free of charge send your name and address to Dr. J.H. Dyo, Dox 187 Buffalo, N. Y. and he will send you, postpaid, his wonderful book which tells how to give birth to 4ppy, healthy children, challutoly, without pain; 130, how to care sterility. De not delay, but 5720 to-day.

LYMAN C. HOWE.

livisection in the Balance-Always Cruel-The Curse Cure for Obsession.

I want to call especial attention to the article entitled "Versuchsthiere," on the first page of The Progressive Thinker for May 23—No. 704—by Jas C. Underhill. Readers seldom take in all of a paper, and are apt to select from the suggestion that appeals to them in the heading. By this means they are liable to miss some of the most valuable readings. In glancing at the headlines "Versuchsthiere" is not likely to strike the majority of readers as anything that will be especially interest ing; but if they read the next line-"Cold-Blooded Medical Science Run Mad," they may begin to wake up, and read further, and if they continue to the end the reward will be rich and satisfactory.

Although the facts stated may curdle one's blood to contemplate, they are important to know, since we cannot intelligently estimate the merits of a moot question, without the facts by which to interpret theory. There are many men in high positions as physicians, who stoutly contend for vivisection. These may be as sincere as their opponents, of equal celebrity. But can they be as humane? If, as stated, "Vivisection is cruel wherever it is performed," then it cannot be humane, unless it can be demonstrated that it furnishes science with means to diminish human suffering to an extent that exceeds that caused by vivisection; and the evidence n this article is against any such claim. But even if it be true, the influence of he practice upon the morals of all who participate, its paralyzing effects upon the spirit of kindness, may more than discount all the benefits it can possibly secure to science and the sick. The testimony of Sir Frederick Treves, F. R. C. S., is of highest importance in this connection, and should be carefully preserved for reference. The Progressive Thinker is a cyclopedia of various information, in which there is much worth preserving every week; and those articles which open the mines of moral wealth and humanitarian facts, experiences, and suggestions, are foremost in permanent value.

I am especially interested and pleased to hear from the famous "Koons se-ances of fifty years ago." I remember the reports of them in the Spiritual Universe, published in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1853-4. I would like to know more about them. Can the incident of the two Frenchmen who visited the rooms, and got communications in their own language, be substantiated by any living witness? There are facts enough of later occurrence; but those are especially significant for their place in the chronological order of spiritual experi-It has been held, as appears above, that the mere reading of the Bible as a to guard against possible deception? In those days the arts of dishonest pretenders were not much in evidence. There was no commercial motive to stimulate the simulation of mediumship. Nevertheless it is important to know, as far as possible, what opportunities there were for deception, if any one were disposed to indulge in it.

In the same number (704) of The Progressive Thinker I find an interesting account of obsession; and the remedy is especially unique. It may shock many readers when they come to the swear cure. But there is philosophy in it. I knew of its application in some cases forty years ago. It is a sort of spontaneous prayer of the dictatorial order. mandamus the board to compel the I have heard prayers from the pulpit that savored strongly of the same spirit.

"Do thou bring them to justice and vindicate thy majesty upon them," is a sort of blending of appeal and command. So is the more direct expresin favor of one or the other of these sion, "God d-n them." The chief difference is in the faculties brought into action. I have heard prayers that were Wise and good men have struggled full of vindicative anger, and partook of the qualities of a profane oath, and so impressed human Whether they moved God in the same way I do not know.

The whole secret of this swear cure, prescribed by A. H. Nicholas, is, in my judgment, that cursing arouses the latent energy of combativeness, and destructiveness, which is a repelling power, and stimulates self assertion. It may not have any important effect upon the obsessing spirit (if there be one) but fortifies the individual against any and every intrusion. When we are thoroughly self-possessed we are immune from all abnormal trespesses.

I suspect that much that passes for obsession, is due to the diseased action of an unbalanced organism. The conflicts within us, when a vigorous individuality is wanting, or when it is temporarily varied by disease or accident, may produce all the symptoms usually interpreted as obsession. In such cases the curse cure may be just as effective as if there were actual obsession by an excarnate spirit. But is cursing necessary? Can we not summon our latent energies, fortify individuality, and rise superior to all forms of obsession as well—or better—without a curse, or an oath, as with it? I knew a man quite gifted in profanity who justified it on this principle. He said, "It is the God-damn-its that build railroads, tunnel the mountains, transform the jungles into fruitful fields for the support of civilized man." Is it? The God-damn-it may be a mental leverage to substitute expenditure of the higher force under the direction of will, and moral purpose; but is it the best way to meet the demand? Is it not really a waste of energy to expend it in profanity? I suspect it is. An earnest, persistent, determination to keep the superior self always in supreme command, evoking the moral sympahies, trusting the spiritual sovereignty with all the duties of life, and conserv-ing the dynamics of the soul, unsullied by passion and corroding vice, it seems to me is a better remedy for every form of evil, and disease, than any appeals to violent impulse, expressed in profanity.

But there may be cases, and temperaments, that require heroic treatment and I do not presume to judge the mer its of any individual experiences. By experience and reasoning we learn; and one man's experience cannot answer for all. These are only suggestions. The test of truth is in its application.

LYMAN C. HOWE.

"Voltaire's Romances." Translated from the French. With numerous illustrations. These lighter works of the brilliant Frenchman, an invincible enemy of the Catholic church, are worthy of wide rending. Wit, philosophy and romance are combined, with the skill of i master mind. Price $1.50. For sale at this office.

The new song-book, "The Golden Echoes," by S. W. Tucker, has found its way into many homes, and its beautiful songs have cheered many sorrowing hearts, which they are sure to do when heard and sung. They should be heard in every home in the land. For sale at this office. Price, 15 cents; $1.50 per

Three Journeus Around the World

Travels in the Pacific Islands, New Zealand, Australis, Ceylon, India, and other Criental countries. By J. M. Peebles, A. M., M. D. Ph. D. In this splendid large book Dr. Peebles has concentrated a vast amount of valuable information. It is exceedingly entertaining and readable, and Spiritualism as he found it everywhere in his travels reteives due attention, making the book of special value and interest to Spiritualists. 454 large pages, finely bound, at the price of $1.50.

Cultivation of Personal Magnetism A treatise on Human Culture. By Leroy Berrier, anthropologist and fauthor. A very suggestive and instructive book. Price $1.00.

The World's Sixteen Saviors, Or Christianity before Christ. By Kersey Graves. New and startling revelations in religious history which disclose the Oriental origin of all the doctrines, principles, procepts and mitracles of the Christian New Testament, and furnishing a key for unlocking many of its sacred mysteries, besides comprising the History of Sixteen Oriental Crucified Gods. This wonderful and exhaustive volume will, we are certain, take high rank as a book of reference in the field which the author has chosen for it. Printed on white papor, 850 pages. New edition, revised and corrected, with portrait of author. Price $1.50. Postage, 10 conts.

INVISIBLE HELPERS

A Very Excellent and Comprehensive Work.

One from the Theosophical Standpoint.

This work, "Invisible Helpers," written by O. W. Leadbeater, the remarkable English psychic (whose lectures have graced the columns of The Progressive Thinker), is certainly very in-teresting and suggestive throughout. It treats of the "Universal Belief in the Invisible Helpers," the "Angel Story," "Work Among the Dead," "What Lies "Work Among the Dead," "What Lies Beyond." The work is neatly bound in cloth, and the price is 55 cents.

Self Contradictions of the Bible. One hundred and forty-four propositions, the ological, moral, historical and speculative; each proved administrely and negatively by quotations from Scripture, without comment. Price, 15 cents.

CONFLICT Between Religion and Science, funt the book for progressive thinkers. A book that is very past religious history. By John W. Draper. Price, cloth, $1.75.

HEALING, Causes and Effects, with the finer mental and spiritual forces as applied to healing. Price, 50 cents.

POLING of the Life Beyond and Within, Voices from many lands and counnever die." An excellent selection. Edited and compiled by Giles B. Stebbins. Cloth. $1.

Works of Thomas Paine

new		c	or covera	31
	Age	of Re	ason	25	cts.
	Righ	ts of	Man	25	cts
	Crisi	9		25	cts.
	Com	non S	ense	15	cts.
his is	a splene	did opp	ortunity	to secure	these a

This is a splendid opportunity to secure these standard works, as the price is within the reach of all. For sale at this office. THE GOLDEN ECHOES: A New Book of Inspirational Words and Music. For the use of meetings, lyceums and home, by 6. W. Tucker. These beautiful songs have already comforted many broken hearts, and it is hoped that they may be heard in every land. Price 15c; $1.50 per doxen. For sale at this office.

THE FOUNTAIN OF LIFE.

The Development of the Spirit After Transition. By the late M. Faraday. The origin of religions, and their influence upon the material development of the human race. Transcribed at the request of a band of ancient philosophers. Price, 10 cents.

VEDANTA PHILOSOPHY.

Lectures by the Swami Vivekaanda, on Raja Togas or Conquering the Internal Nature, and other subects; also, Patanjali's Yoga Aphorisms, with commentaries and a copious glossary of Sanskrit terms. Tevised and enlarged, 12mo., Cloth, 41,60. Raja Yoga is an ancient system of Indian Philosophy, and one of the four chief methods that the Vedanta Philosophy offers to obtain freedom and perfection. Swami Vivekananda became a familian figure in several American etites during the three years following the Parliament of Religious at Chicago; he was cordially received in America, where the breadth and depth of his teachings were soon recognized. His teachings are universal in their application. The book is cheap stated. For sale at this office.

THE PRIEST, THE WOMAN

THE CONFESSIONAL.

BY FATHER CHINIQUY.

This is a most valuable book. It comes from an Ex-Priest, whose character is above represent, and whe knows what he is talking about. Everybody should read it. Price, $1.00. It contains the following chap-ters:

CHAPTER 1.
The Struggle before the Surrender of Womanly Sels respect in the Confessional. CHAPTER II.

Auricular Confession a Deep Pit of Perultion for the Triest.

CHAPTER III.

The Confessional is the Modern Sodom.

CHAPTER IV.

How the Yow of Cellbary of the Priests is made casy by Auricular Confession.

The highly-educated and refined Woman in the Con-fessional—What becomes of her after uncondition gl surrender—Her irreparable Ruin.

Auricular Confession destroys all the Sacred Ties of Marriage and Human Society.

OHAPTER VI.
Should Auricular Confession be tolerated among Civilized Nations?

CHAPTER VIII. loes Auricular Confe CHAPTER IX.

Fine Dogma of Auricular Confession a Sacrliegiou Imposture.

Imposture.

CHAPTER X.

God compels the Church of Rome to confuss the Abominations of Auricular Confession. Auricular Confession in Australia, America, and France.

CHAPTER XII.

A Chapter for the Consideration of Legislators, Huabands and Fathers-Some of the matters on which the Priest of Rome must Question his Positonia. Sent Post-paid, Price, $1.00.

Daniel K. Tenney's BOOKS

Never-Ending Life,

The best scientific argument in favor of a fu-ture life that has ever before been made.

lehovah Interviewed. Or Orthodoxy from Headquarters ... Price, 6 cts.

A newspaper reporter goes up to heaven and interviews Jehovah. Theology,

Its, Origin, Career and Destiny Price, 10 ctal One of the best and most comprehensive summing up of the absurdities of the Christian Theology that has ever before appeared.

Holy Smoke in the Holy Land.

Price, to cts. Price, to cts.

Susan H. Wixon says: "I have read, first and last, many accounts of Palestine, or "the Holy Land," but have never seen anything in that lind that pleased me so well as this description by Daniel K. Tenney."

The Plan of Salvation. Price, 10 cts. In this pamphlet Mr. Tenney shows the absurding of the Christian "Plan of Salvation" in so clear and plain a manner that any Christian who has a spark of reason left cannot fail to see it.

"Owed" to the Clergy. Price, 6 cts. An address read before the Free Thought Congress held in Paine Hall, Boston, Nov. 17th, 1899.

The Master's Masterpiece, Or the Sermon on the Mount..... Price, to cts.

This is the most thorough exposition of the fal-lacies of this noted "sermon" that was ever bestore published. Modern Theology and Its Ideal Jesus

Price, to cts.

The absurdities of the reputed teachings of Jesus are here shown up as no other writer has ever presented them before, which will convince any lonest reader that the most of them are consummate nonsense.

The Hon. Daniel K. Tenney, the author of those books, has been for many years the leading law-yer in one of the most distinguished law firms in Chicago, and there is not a more able writer in the Liberal ranks.

THE WOMAN'S BIBLE

PART I .-- The Pentateuch.

Comments on Genesis, Exodus, Leviticas, Numbers and Deuteronomy, by Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Lillie Devereux Riake, Rev. Phob-Hanaford, Clara Bewick Colby, Ellen Battell Detrick, Mrs. Louisa Southworth, Ursula N.

THE WOMAN'S BIBLE .-- PART II. Judges, Kings, Prophets and Apostles. Comments on the Old and New Testaments, from Joshna to Revelation. The comments are keen, bright, spicy, full of wit, the work of radical thinkers who are not ignorant of the higher criticism. There is not a doil page in either of these books, but each its a galaxy of the bright minds of the day and throw a new light on the Bible teachings relating to woman. Price of each, paper, 50 cents.

LIFE BEYOND DEATH

The World's Beliefs on the Subject, a Consideration of Present Conditions of Thought and Feeling,

Leading to the Question as o Whether It Can Be Demonstrated as a Fact.—To Which Is Added an Appendix Containing Some

Hints as to Personal Experiences and Opinions. BY MINOT J. SAVAGE, D. D. 8vo. Cloth, 342 Pages

After a review of the beliefs held in holds, as a provisional hypothesis, that the past concerning life beyond death, continued existence is demonstrated, and that there have been at least some worldliness" which it replaced, which lows: was in turn followed by the Spiritualistic reaction against agnosticism. He Old Testament and Immortality—Paul's

Dr. Savage takes up the present condi-tions of belief and considers the agnos-from persons in the other life. The tic reaction from the extreme "other-chief contents of the volume are as foldoctrine of immortality held by the Jesus and Immortality—The Other churches and the weakness of the tra- World and the Middle Ages—Protestant ditional creeds and the loosening of their hold upon the people. He then considers the probabilities of a future Spiritualistic Reaction—The World's considers the probabilities of a future life, probabilities which, as he admits, Condition and Needs as to Belief in Imfail short of demonstration. The volume includes a consideration of the Short of Demonstration—The Society for Psychical Research and also an appendix giving tal Life—Possible Conditions of Another periences in this line. Dr. Savage periences and Opinions. For Sale at this Office. Price $1.50. Postage 10c.

THE BEAUTIFUL SOUVENIR VOLUME, By & LEAH UNDERHILL, (Of the Fox Family.)

The Missing Link in

Thirty-three chapters, 477 pages, superbly printed, and bound in colors and gold, 15 illustrations, 5 steel engraved portraits of the celebrated Fox Family, a full page engraving of the old house at Hydesville, which to this day, by the act of its wealthy and respected owner, Artemas Hyde, Esq., bears the inscription, "Here Spiritualism Originated in 1848."

A complete history of the initiation of andditional area of the service of the coldition was left unbound, and so remained for a number of years, when they were rescued and bound at dates from march 31, 1045. Since that Spiritualistic public, and a host of inday, starting from a small country vilvestigators have not had the opportulage in western New York, Spiritualism nity of securing a copy until the presentage Vegetarian Society, Price, 25 chais.

Chicago Vegetarian Society, Price, 25 chais.

Chicago Vegetarian Society, Price, 25 chais.

A complete history of the initiation of additional cost, hence this valuable the movement known as Modern Spirit contribution to the cause of Spiritual-unlism, from the epochal period which ism was not properly presented to the dates from March 31, 1848. Since that Spiritualistic public, and a host of inwhen they were rescued and bound at

The G. E. Watkins Medical Company (SECOND

Private Sanitarium

Is now open and ready for patients.

All those who desire te become patients, should write at once and engage rooms. We shall treat all chronic cases, but Nervous Diseases and Stomach Troubles Are Our Specialties; though we treat all chronic diseases successfully.

Terms for treatment will be made known on E. T. GOVE, Mgr., application to

Or to The C. E. Watkins Medical Co.,

66 Highland Ave., Newtonville, Mass. Send for Booklet telling all about our beautiful Sanitarium and our methods of curing the sick.

The Doctor

Will diagnose diseases by letter Send him age, sex and Leading Symptom.

REARING CHILDREN.

A Message Concerning Right Develop-

people of the world a few thoughts, in regard to the great importance of the right development of the children of this and the coming generation. I will first ask, what is the meaning of the word generation? It is the offspring from companionship which enables a man and woman to be legally united as one.

This is called marriage, which entitles them to become fathers and mothers, that they may have little ones, to bless their homes and that they (the fruit of their union) may care for them when they are old.

Now we are living in a period when advanced truths are being brought to light regarding life, which is so important to the human race.

world which means so much as that of life, and to know how long that life is to be ours.

shall he live again?" world of spirit, who tell us of new of earth (or should be.) They tell us that we have but one life to live, and that even though we are Clinton, and were conducted by myself; to pass through the change of death, The body was buried in the Springdale death does not sever our life, but we Cemetery. retain the same life as that which we had on earth, though death brings a circle of friends and acquaintances, not certain extent to ourselves. It is our duty, friends, to gather all the knowledge we can of these advanced teachings from those who have dium of the highest order, and a woman

We should first become familiar with the truths which they gladly give us, and then we should teach our little ones so they, too, may understand them. And by so doing enable them to perhaps make discoveries of new truths in regard to those in the higher life, which may never be able to reach, because we did not have these teachings from our fathers and mothers in regard to spiritual return, but instead of that we were taught that when persons died they went to a place called heaven and there they were to remain until we, too, had died and it was then we should be united to our very own.

But it is no longer taught that heaven has a door which opens but one way, inward, but instead of that, Spiritualism teaches and has proven, that it has a door that opens both ways, that those who would may enter therein, and when they wish to return, they can do so, and mingle with the dear ones of

When the infirmities of age are gathering about us, it is then that we know we must soon let the young fill our places, and is it not of the greatest importance that they should be qualified to relieve us, and if possible improve our social and civil government?

We should not accept these new truths and thoughts, and not give them the benefit of our learning.

Should we deprive them of our knowledge of spiritual things, they can never reach the high standard of man and womanhood which they might with the knowledge of Spiritualism and what it implies; without these facts they will be brought into life, which once given to them, knows no end.

Do not ask of them that which you do not do yourself.

If you want them to walk in the path of uprightness and virtue, walk first in it yourself, for generally the child will follow in the path of its parent.

If you have trod the path of sin, and are the father or mother of a babe, if you have not had any respect for yourself, home or friends, for the love of the little one which has been given you to bless your home and the world, forsake the path of sin, then if that child is permitted to remain on earth longer than you, when it gently lays away your garment of clay it will only have good, noble deeds to remember.

Spiritualism has come to stay, my friends, and to make the world better each and every day, so do not stand in the shade of superstition and ignorance, but come into its bright and glorious rays without further delay.

There is no time like the present. There will never be a to-morrow, for to-morrow is but another to-day.

Spiritualism has come to set our our children better physically, mentally, and spiritually.

So. friends, open the doors of your and prove to you, beyond the question of a doubt, the immortality of the soul. L. M. COBB.

"Invisible Helpers." By C. W. Leadbeater, the noted Theosophist lecturer and the impetus our new name has and writer. Very interesting. Price given us, we feel as if we might sall into a waveless sea of prosperity, with the original point of the governing and the impetus our new name has given us, we feel as if we might sall into a waveless sea of prosperity, with evenings at 7:45, at 205 Lincoln avenue.

News From Clinton, Iowa. To the Editor:—It may be of interest to the readers of your paper in this lo-cality, to learn of the death, on the evening of May 23, at Mercy Hospital, in Clinton, Iowa, of Marcia M. Sisco, one of the oldest and best known Spirit-Friends, I wish to give to the thinking ualists and Mediums in this locality. The circumstances of her death were tragic in the extreme. She had left her room to go to a cottage a short disbeing dressed for the street, she passed through the railroad yards, which were close to her home, and being very deaf, did not hear the approach of a rapidly moving passenger train. By some means which are not definitely known, the engine of the approaching train passed her while she was yet at a safe distance; but as if bewildered, by the presence of the train, she started toward it as if to make her escape from danger, but instead of escaping, she was caught by the mail car of the passenger nt to the human race.

In fact there is no question in the wheels, and horribly bruised and man-

There are those who at all times are was conscious, and remained so for saying to one another "If a man die, some time. She was conveyed imme-There are those who are living in the medical skill could do to prolong her life was done, but of no avail, and two truths which are of great interest to us hours after the accident, she passed away. Funeral services were held May change in our surroundings, and to a only in Clinton, but throughout the Mississippi valley, formed among those who attended the annual camp-meeting left us, for a little while, those who have of spotless character, as well as an auentered into a higher grade of the school of life than the one in which we "Gems of Inspiration," has already been published, and another was just completed a short time before her death. I understand that this last work, which is new, I believe, is "Earth's Day and Night, or Astronomy of the Scriptures," will be published by her family and friends interested in her work.

26, at the home of Mrs. Bogardus, in This lady left three sons, and a large

Clinton has a very successful local soclety, which holds meetings every Sunday evening, conducted, at present, by myself. Our society is growing rapidly, and is doing excellent work. will probably continue our meetings until the opening of camp-meeting, and resume them after the close of the meet-

It will always be a great pleasure to this locality, attend our meetings. We ers. Tests and good music at all serv-stand upon the broad platform of the Brotherhood of man, Fatherhood of the Divine, having for our single guide, Simple Truth in all things; and we will extend the hand of fellowship to every seeker after truth, whether a believer demonstrated immortality as revealed by philosophy and phenomena, or whether a simple student of this great principle.

MARTIN H. M'GRATH.

Maple Dell Camp, Ohio

To the Editor: -Will you please allow of explaining to the many friends and former co-workers at Maple Dell, the present situation, also the future out macher, pastor. look for camp work. At the close of the camp session last year there was property of the association for the purpose of building and making other im-provements as the board of trustees wished to have made from time to time. At the same time the board thought best to call a meeting of all stock-holders that could be reached by letter or otherwise, to meet at Maple Dell and help formulate the future camp work. Pursuant to notice duly given, a goodly number assembled on November 16 1902. This meeting was called to order by the president, who stated the object of the meeting to be whatever most con cerned the interest of the association. Among other topics that were dis cussed, and motions made and carried. was one to amend the articles of incorporation which was supported unani mously. Ist. Resolved, that the articles of incorporation of the National Spiritual and Religious Camp Association, be, and the same are hereby amended so that the incorporate name hereafter shall be the American Spirit ual, Religious and Science Union, The above resolution was adopted by the owners of more than three-fifths of the capital stock, and ordered placed in minds free and to dare us to do our own the records of the association and a certificate of the amendments be forwarded to the secretary of state, which was done, and a certified copy returned to hearts, that the quickening power of your departed ones may enter therein suffered ones to you beyond the question birth, we thought best to respect its nabirth, we thought best to respect its nativity, and cherish the name that has tween Monroe and Kimbark avenues.

The best talent available will be segiven freedom of speech, and allowed us the right to worship according to the dictates of our own conscience. "Invisible Helpers." By C. W. Lead- now, with the mortgage nearly paid off, E 55th street, where all communica-

the pure appels ever beckoning us onward and upward.
Our next camp session at Maple Dell begins July 25 and closes August 80. Owing to the changes that have been made, we are somewhat late in getting out our printed matter, but hope it will soon appear. Good speakers are being engaged for the occasion, and we extend a cordial invitation to every one who has a desire to promote the cause of Spiritualism to come to Maple Dell Park, Mantua, Portage county, Ohio. LUCY KING, Corresponding Secretary.

G. W. Kates and Wife.

We had a very successful month dur ing May, in many ways. We did not hold as many meetings as during some months, but they were fruitful in good results and well attended. We concluded our series of meetings at Northwood, Iowa, and organized a local society there with our carnes friend, W. A. Willing, as its president Mrs. Willing and family gave us good hospitality there and made our stay so pleasant we disliked to leave. But a glad welcome awaited us at Minneapolis, Minn. Our tried and true friends, Dr. J. Swanson and family, re ceived us with their old time cordiality We were given an open reception to welcome our return to Minnesota. Many friends from St. Paul and Minne apolis greeted us on this occasion. We held meetings in St. Paul for the Alliance, a splendid society, each Sunday, May 10 and 17. We spent five profitable and pleasant days with the society at Princeton, Minn., where Mrs. C. Tryon has been settled for a year as their reg ular speaker. She has done effective work and the society is in good shape. We were entertained as of yore, by Mr and Mrs. S. M. Byers.

Sunday, May 24, we held two meet ings in Minneapolis, one with the Band of Peace Society and another with the Progressive Society. These are active working societies and have excellent

We next visited Aitkin, Minn., where we had been before. Here Brothers Anderson and Erickson are stalwart supporters of our cause. We have had the use of an Episcopal church here, and they granted its use on this occasion. We had good meetings, concluding with one held Sunday morning, May 31. That afternoon and evening, we held two meetings in Brainard Three meetings in two towns during one Sunday, was a fitting close for an tance away, which she had rented, and into which she was about to move. Not June here by having a good meeting June here by having a good meeting and organized a local society. Brother A. Ansdahl is the active worker here. We are working towards Montana, where we expect active work during June. G. W. KATES AND WIFE, June.

PASSED TO SPIRIT LIFE.

[Obituaries to the extent of ten lines aly will be inserted free. All in excess of ten lines will be charged at the rate of fifteen cents per line. About seven words constitute one line 1

A. Sainsbury passed to spirit life, at nis late residence, Rothbury, Mich., May 31. He was born in Bath, England, July 4, 1831, and came to America with his parents at the age of 14 years. He some time. She was conveyed imme has been a faithful and honest servant diately to Mercy Hospital, and all that of the people of Grant township for over thirty years continuously as clerk. He leaves a loving wife and two children to mourn his loss. Dr. W. O. Knowles of Grand Rapids, very fittingly officiated at the funeral, June 3, 1903. He was a devoted Spiritualist for over

U. G. SAINSBURY.

SPIRITUALIST MEETINGS.

It is important when a meeting is suspended, that notice be given us, so that inquirers may not be mislead. We want new notices of all meetings being held here in public halls at the present

The Metropolitan Spiritualist Society holds services every Sunday evening at o'clock in Haymarket Theatre Building, 161 W. Madison street. Lecture, spirit communications, and questions answered. Mrs. Maggie Waite, pastor. Church of the Spirit Communion, Kenwood Hall, 4308 Cottage Grove avenue. Conference and messages at 3 p m. Lecture by Dr. J. O. M. Hewitt at 8 p. m. Messages by H. F. Coates and others. Plenty of good music. The Progressive Society holds services at 183 E. North avenue, corner Burling street, every Sunday at 3 and 8 n. m. Lectures delivered in English and German by Mrs. Hilbert, assisted us to have any friends, who may be in by Mrs. Schwann and other good speak-

> The Spiritual Research meets every Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in Van Buren Opera House, corner of Madison street and California avenue, Good music and singing. All are in> vited to attend. Spiritual Union Church meets every Sunday at John Schott's Lodge Hall, corner Belmont and Racine avenue. Speaker, Hon. R. Gilray; Charles J. Peerson, Prof. Edwards and Mr. G. A. Cowen, test mediums. Services, 8 p. m.

The Spiritualistic Church of the Students of Nature hold services at me space in your paper for the purpose Nathan's Hall, 1565 Milwaukee avenue, corner Western avenue, Sunday evenings, 7:30 p. m. Mrs. W. F. Schu-

Church of the Spiritual Forces holds service at Thurman Club Room, corner money enough pledged to cancel the of 47th street and Cottage Grove aveimplies; without these facts they will never know the great blessing it is to he brought into life which once given dollars that had been placed upon the m. Lecture at 8 p. m. Conducted by Isa Cleveland.

Third Church of Progressive Truth holds services every Sunday at 3 and 8 p. m. Lecture and tests by the Rev Mrs. Schaeffer, at Van Buren Hall, California avenue and Madison street. Good music and singing. All are invited to attend.

During June the Englewood Spiritual Union meets at Hopkins' Hall, 528 West Sixty-third street. Conference meeting at 3 p. m. sharp. Lecture and messages at 8 p. m. sharp.

Chicago Spiritual Alliance Church meets every Sunday at 3 o'clock sharp, and 8 o'clock sharp at Lakeside Hall, corner Thirty-first street and Indiana avenue, where truth-seekers and investigators, as well as Spiritualists can enjoy a pleasant afternoon or evening. First-class speakers. Tests and messages by carefully selected mediums. Excellent music by (Blind) LeRoy Drake. Mrs. May Elmo, medium.

The Brotherhood of Spiritual Truth Society meets Sunday at 8 p. m. Services conducted by J. K. Hilles and wife and other measums, who will from time to time address the meeting and give tests and spirit messages. Meetings tests and spirit messages. Meetings will be held in Temperance Hall, 330 West Sixty-third street. All are invited to attend and co-operate. The First Hyde Park Occult Society holds regular meetings every Sunday at Alliance Hall, 323 E. 55th street, becured to give interest at every meeting. To spread the truth is the object of this society. Eva L. Stewart, secretary, 543

Safe Investment For Spiritualists

Money Invested in Dr. Peebles' Company Will Draw Handsome Dividends From the Day of Investment. Your Stock Will Also Double in Value if Held a Few Years.

THE WISE INVESTOR WHO SUCCEEDS

Are you looking for a good and SAFE investment that will pay you handsome dividends from the start, and will, at the very least, double your capital in a year or two?

If so, it will be well for you to investigate the investment opportu- Perris, Riverside Co., Cal., Feb. 21, nity offered by Dr. Peebles Institute of Health. Some months ago Dr. Peebles and his associates incorporated their medical business at Battle Creek, in order to secure certain legal protection granted incorporated companies. Believing that the earnest co-operation of the Spiritualists of the country in this great work would add still further to the wonderful growth and success of the company, the doctor and his co-workers have decided to place a portion of the treasury stock in the hands of the Spiritualists throughout the country. A large amount of the original block of stock effered has been taken, but there are a few hundred shares earth, and I hope you are well and still to be sold at the original offer before the price advances, so if you are interested write at once for particulars.

You do not need to be wealthy to share in the doctor's company; the small investor is just as welcome as the large. The man investing $50 or $100 will use his influence for the company just as will the one investing many thousands, and it is the good wishes and support that is desired more than the money,

A small amount properly invested where it will draw good dividends and continually increase in value is worth many times the same amount if allowed to lie idle, or put away in a bank where it will draw only 3 or 4 per cent at best.

Money invested in Dr. Peebles Company to-day under his present offer will draw handsome dividends from the first, and, in addition thereto, the stock will increase in value so that at the end of two years at most it will be worth two or three times what you paid for it. If you have any amount above $10 you can spare for investment, write for full particulars at once. Seven per cent dividends are guaranteed from the first, and much larger ones can be expected after the first year. Address.

DR. J. M. PEEBLES, Chairman,

"The Veil of Isis," as seen at Atlantis: in the Great Temple of Karnac, at Luxor, in Egypt, and in the Jewish Temple at Jerusalem, is Doctor Phelon's latest booklet. Its pages are full Female and Children's Diseases of ancient lore, in paper covers. For sale at this office. Sent on receipt of ten cents, silver or stamps. "Origin of Life, or Where Man Comes "The Evolution of the Spirit from Matter Through Organic Processes, or How the Spirit Body Grows.' By Michael Faraday. Prince 10 cents For sale at this office

"The Kingship of Self-Control." By Wm. George Jordan. It treats of the crimes of the tongue, the Red Tape duty, the supreme charity of the world, the revelation of reserve power, etc. Price 30 cents. For sale at this office "The Present Age and Inner Life: Ancient and Modern Mysteries Classi fied and explained." By Andrew Jack son Davis. We have a few copies of this work by the celebrated seer.

Cloth, $1.10. "The Romance of Juds. A Story of the Life and Times of the Nazarene and His People." Through the mediumship of Mrs. M. T. Longley. An intensely interesting book. Neatly bound in cloth and gilt. Only 50 cents.

"Right Living." By Susan H. Wixon The author shows a wise practicality in her method of teaching the principle of ethics. She illustrates her subject with many brief narratives and anecdotes which render the book more interesting and more easily comprehended. especially adapted for use in Children's Lyceum. In the hands of mothers and teachers it may be made very usefu Young and old will be benefited by it Cloth $1. For sale at this office.

The Commandments Analyzed, price 25 cents. Big Bible Stories, cloth, 50 cents. For sale at this office. "Religious and Theological Works of Thomas Paine," contains his celebrated "Age of Reason," and a number of letters and discourses on religious and theological subjects. Cloth binding, 430 pages. Price $1. For sale at this office

"Never-Ending Life Assured by Science." By Daniel Kent Tenney. A strong and conclusive argument from the basis of science. For sale at this office. Price 6 cents.
"The Majesty of Calmness, or Individual Problems and Possibilities." By

Wm. George Jordan. Another valuable little work. Price 30 cents. For sale at "Mark Chester; or a Mill and a Million. A Tale of Southern California."

By Carlyle Petersilea. A pure psychic story, elevating and reformatory. Paper covers, 40 cents. Cloth, 60 cents. For sale at this office. "The Spiritual Significance, or, Death as an Event in Life." By Lilian Whiting. One of Miss Whiting's most suggestive, intensely interesting, spiritual books. It is laden with rich, thoughtful spirituality. For sale at this office.

Prof. Geo. P. Rudolph, Ph. D., ex-priest of the diocese of Clevland, O. A sharp and pointed letter to Bishop Horstmann. It is good reading, and should be widely distributed, that people may be enlightened concerning the ways and methods of Rome and its priesthood. Price 15 cents. For sale at this office.
"Spiritual Fire Crackers, Bible Chestnuts and Political Pin Points." By J. S. Harrington A pamphlet containing 79 pages of racy; reading. Price 25 cents. For sile and the office of The Progressive Thinker.

Mother." By: Caffie E. S. Twing. Touching, fully of sweet human sympathy, and pure ispirituality. Cloth, $1.

For sale at this office.
"Elsie's Little Biother Tom," by Alwyn M. Thurber, is one of the best of books in the realm of stories for boys and girls, and not excepting older peo-It is a fine birthday or holiday gift. Very interesting as well as in-structive, and of good, refining influence. Price 75 cells. For sale at this

"Longley's Reautiful Songs." Four teen benutify, sold-inspiring songs, with Music, by Ox Payson Longley. Price by mailed cents. For sale at "Discovery of a Lost Trail." By Chas.

B. Newcomb. Excellent in spiritual suggestiveness. Cloth, $1.50. For sale at this office. "Religious and Theological Works of Thomas Paine," Contains his celebrated "Age of Reason," and a number of letters and discourses on religious and theological subjects. Cloth binding, 430 pages. Price $1. For sale at this office. "Jim; or the Touch of an Angel "A Conspiracy Against the Republic." By Charles B. Walte, A. M., author of

HOROSCOPES

Box 2421, Battle Creek, Mich.

Scientifically accurate and reliable. Captain G.V. Walrond, 1510 Glenarm St., Denver. Col., Est 181 Cured without medicine. No charge for consultation. MRS. C. H. COCHRAN, 1674 Wellington St. Chicago, near Clark.

WANTED—BY DETROIT SCHOOL TEACHER: furnished room in Chicago during July and August. Prefer private family sympathizing with all branches of Spiritual research. Address, Student, 63 Sproat st., Detroit, Mich. MRS. STODDARD GRAY

And Son, DE WITT C. HOUGH Materializing and Test Mediums, hold senaces sunday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, eight o'clock, Saturdays 2 p. m., at their residence, 331 West 57th St., New York. Sittings for communi-cations daily, 10 to 5.

DON'T READ THIS. Frances L. Loucks, the only psychic wonder living, that uses the spiritual X-ray without any leading symptom to direct, and locates all internal diseases. A trial will convince you. Nervous exhaustion and lost vigor of both sexes successfully treated as hundreds can testify. Send name, age, sex, complexion and 10 cents in stamps, and receive a correct diagnosis of your case free, worth dollars to you. Address, FRANCES L. LOUCKS, Lock Box 1214.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

by return mail, and I will

Forward Free of Charge, Valuable Information,

of Interest to All. C WALTER LYNN,

Comically Illustrated, Picture By WATSON HESTON. BOOK.

Nothing else can so completely upset the old superstitious Old Testament Stories as these vivid and lifelike portrayals of them. They present the old myths in the proper absurdness of their absurdity, ridicule their ridiculessness and in fact hold them up to the light af reason. It is a book of 400 pages with 200 full page pictures It will make you laugh off every restige of the old superstitions; a good way indeed to get rid of them. Price, board, $1; cloth, $1.50.

MOLLIE FANCHER, The Brooklyn Enigma. An authentic statement of facts in the life of Mary J. Fancher, the psychological marvel of the nineteenth century. Unimpeachable testimony of many witnesses. By Abram H. Dailey. With illustrations. Price, cloth. $1.50.

Spiritualist

^gSolid Gold Only

Haites Haich Charm.

PRIORS:—Badge Pin, $1.50: Lapel Button, $1.50: Sunflower Brooch, $4.00; Maltess Charm, $5.00; Maltess Pendant, $5.00. This jowerly needs no other of recommend than to easy it is the SUNFLOWER BADGE, the adopted emblem of Spiritualism. As the Sunflower turns its face towards the sun, so Spiritualism turns the faces of humanity from darkness and superstition towards the Sunglet of Truth and Progression. These beautiful emblems are for sale at this office. THE AGE OF REASON.

By Thomas Paine. Being an investigation of True and Pabulous Theology. A new and com-plete edition, from new plates and new type; 180 pages, post 8vo. Paper, 25e; cloth, 50c KAREZZA Ethics of Marriage. By Alice B. Stockham, M. plea for a better birthright for children, and aims to lead individuals to seek a higher development of themselves through most sacred relations. It is pure in tone and aim, and should be widely circulated. Price, cloth, 81.

THE GOSPEL OF NATURE "History of the Christian Religion to the Year 200," etc. A condensed statement of facts concerning the efforts of church lenders to get control of the government, An important work. Paper, 25 cents. For sale at this office,

AN ASTONISHING OFFER

Send three two-cent stamps, lock of hair, age, name and the leading cymptom, and your disease will be diagnosed free by spirit power.

Mrs. Dr. Dobson-Barker, Box 132, San Jose, Cal

Mrs. Dr. Dobson-Barker,

TESTIMONIALS OF CURE. My Dear Mrs. Dobson-Barker:-I want to say, I have been ailing for thirty years and you are the only one that has done me any good.

MARY JANE PEARCE.

Mrs. Dobson-Barker-Kind Friend:-As I tried your treatment four years ago, and it helped me so much, I will write to you again to see if you are still practicing, and if you are I want to send to you for another month's treatpracticing. May the good angels bless you, is my prayer. Respectfully, MINA M. YANG.

Pee Dee, Ky., Oct. 20, 1902.

Stanton, Mich., Jan. 19, 1902. Mrs. Dr. Dobson-Barker—Dear Sister:—I take my pen in hand to let you know how I am. I thank you and your band for I know I would be in my grave now, but you and your band have saved me. I suffered everything. I am happy to say I am a well woman. I was py to say I am a well woman. I was sick a long time; I do my own work; how I would like to see the woman that cured me. I let every one know who cured me. I was sick twenty-five years. I still remain your friend, AMANDA R. GREEN.

DR. J. S. LOUCKS

THE MOST MARVELOUS of this age. His examinations are correctly made, and free to all who send him name, age, aex and lock of hair, and six cents in stamps. He doesn't ask for any leading symptom. A clairvoyant doesn't need any. He positively cures weak men. Address

MRS. MAGGIE WAITE

J. S. LOUCKS, M. D.,

CHART FREE. By a Bohemian Gypsy Astrologer and Clairvoyant. Send age, color of eyes and hair, in own handwriting. Address GEO. WELLES, Box 130. Newark, N. J. 708

SPIRIT PHOTOGRAPHS.

Send your photo with $2.00 and receive 2 extra C. MARTIN LEAR,

F. N. FOSTER, SPIRIT PHOTOGRAPHER, lives sittings by mail or in person, daily, except aturday, at 3017 Wabash ave., Chicago. Send for circular.

TESTINONIAL.

Battle Creek, Mich.

Frank N. Foster-My Dear Bröther:—I received today the Spirit Photograph. I recognized two of four faces at a glance, but the Indian and the Ancient spirit I could not know.

Accept my thanks, Very cordially yours,

J. M. PEEBLES. A Tried and True Medium.

Clairvoyant, Intuitional and Prophetic. Has consented to give readings by mall for a limited time, to earnest inquirers who are seeking for evidences of a future life. Full readings and three questions answered, by mail, fl. Where date of birth is sent, will give an Astro-Psychic Delineation also. Send own handwriting. Address lon also. Send own handwriting. Address, MRS. E. DE FOREST. 179 Albion St., West Somerville, Mass.

THE SPEAKING DIAL

Gives names, dates and circumstances. Speaks in various languages; answers mental questions; convincing the most skeptical. Has come to prove immortality and spirit communion. Develops all phases of mediumship. Magnetized by powerful spirit band. Read what the late Hon. I. Donnelly said of the Speaking Dial. Dials now, $1.50. Send for testimonials. P. J. DEMPSEY Inventor, 2817 Columbus ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

SPIRIT PHOTOGRAPHS ARTISTS.

Send two dollars, your photograph or lock o hair, and receive three finished pictures from some lock on the some lock of the send two three states are wating to reach you have summerland. some loved ones that are wating to reach you from the summerland.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Normann.—The three photographs were handed me to-day, and I recognize every face upon them, and I can truthfully say these pictures are genuine, and will recommend you to the world; for such evidence is what proves life eternal, Mrs. Dr. Gregor McGregor. 2834 Chicago ave, Minneapolis, Minn. Address with stamp enclosed and receive proof MR. & MRS. A. NORMANN, 2721, Elliott av. So., Minneapolis, Minn.

Anniè Lord Chamberlain's Card. Dear friends, you can greatly help me care for my blind sister. Jennie L. Webb, one of the earliest mediams now in the form, by writing, a letter to a triangle. Send it to me with $1, and I will try a reply by independent writing or whispers. A Mrs. Annie lord Chamberlain, Milford, Mass.

"NO BEGINNING."

An Excellent Work for Thinkers.

This book, "No Beginning," is by William H. Maple. The Arena says of it: "The argument is unanswerable. The book will at once appeal to the renson of every reader, and leave him more amazed than ever at the prevalence of the theory of Creation." The Two has always been a fateful num-Free Thought Ideal says: "We found it full of glittering thoughts for thinkers, and the very death warrant of Chris tian superstition shines upon its pages." Price 75 cents.

MARK GHESTER,

A Mill and a Million.

This is one of Carlyle Petersilea's most interesting works. It is purely a Psychical Romance such as the author is noted for producing. You need it in your library for the purpose of leading your romance-loving children out into the light of occultism. Price, cloth cover, 60 cts. For sale at this office.

The Romance of Jude Life and Times of "The Naza-rine" and of his people. Given Through the mediumship of MKS.M.T. LONGLEY, to Ira C. Fuller, and by him dedicated to hundred Fuller, and by him dedicated to humanity. It is enough to know this work came through this excellent medium to recommend it. 174 pages of interesting reading. Price, cloth, 50 cents.

JIM, or The Touch of An Angel Mother. BY CARRIE E. S. TWING.

Her dedicatory lines are sufficient to show the spirit of the book as well as the author, it reads, "Because my own children are all under the tender care of the angels, and my heart is hungry for the love of the young, I most loving-ly dedicate this book to the children of the world." This book is full of soul elevating and interesting thought. Price, cloth, $1. For sale at this office.

THREE SEVENS A Story of Aucient Phelons. Illustrating the Hermetic Philoso-phy. Price, coth, 61.25.

Healer and

Gifted Psychical HEALTH RESTORED

By Common Sense Methods For the Cure of Mental and Physical Ailments. OBSESSION CURED.

For Free Diagnosis of Diseases send five two-cent stamps, age, names sex and own handwriting. READINGS AND BUSINESS AD VICE $1.00 and two stamps. Address 855 Grove St., Oakland, Cal.

Write for Circular JORY'S TONIC TABLETS

A Trus Nore Tonic and Blood Builder.

An ideal restorative tonic for the cure of General Debility and the various forms of nervous and physical depression, Melancholia, Norvous Dyspepsia, Torpid Liver, Weak Kidneys, Chronic Backache, poor circulation, poor appetite, poor sleep, poor blood, etc., and for improving the tone of the general nervous system, the digestive functions and the blood. 50 doses, 75c; 100 doses $1.25].

Write for Circular.

JORY'S BOWEL TONIC

For Constipation, Headache, Etc.
Are not a Purgative, but induce a Natural Healthy Action of the Bowels. 25 tablets, 25c. Postage, menaid. Prepagad only by

H. M. JORY, Manufacturing Chemist. 6 Eddy Street, San Francisco, Cal.

A Very Interesting Book tor All. Philosophy of This work contains a graphic Spiritual Intercourse account of the very wonderful spiritual developments at the house of Rev. Dr. Phelps, Stratford, Conn., and similar cases in all parts of the country. This volume is the first from the author directly upon the subject of Spiritualism, and has stood the test of many years. Cloth, $1,20; postage 10c.

THE TO-MORROW OF DEATH. Or the Future Life According to Science. By Louis Figuier. Translated from the French by S. R. Crockee. A very fascinating work. This fine volume might well have been entitled Spiritualism Demonstrated by Science. It is written in that peculiar interesting style in which French writers excel when they would popularize scientific subjects in adaptation to the needs of the general reader. The author says: "There is a true and respectable idea in Spiritualism," and regards as proved "the fact of communication between superhumans and the inhabitants of earth." Price, $1.50.

DEATH and the AFTER LIFE By A. J. Davis. An instructive and interesting work for all to

INTERVIEWS WITH SPIRITS A real visit with friends on the other side of life, and a familiar talk. By Spirit Samuel Bowles; Carrie E. S. Twing, Medium. Price 30c

A course of seven practical lessons. By W. J. Colville. Limp cloth, 50c. A ConspiracyAgainst the Republic By Charles B. Waite, A. M., author of "History of the Christian Religion to the Year 200," etc.

The Law of Correspondence

Applied to Healing.

Price, paper, 25 cents. ALL ABOUT DEVILS. It is enough to say this 50 page pamphlet is, written by Moses Hull. Price 15 cents.

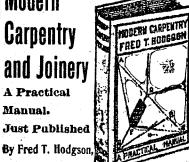

ANCIENT INDIA its Language and Religions. By Prof. H. Olden-berg. Paper, 25 cents.

Apolionius of Tuana Christian Jesus. A onderful communication, explaining how his life and teachings were utilized to formulate. Modern and Joinery A Practical

Manual.

M. O., A. A.

inite and easily understood. Price. $1.00. STARTLING FACTS,

The well-known Technical writer. It is one of the best works ever turned out by him. Copionsly illustrated with diagrams and figures, making the most intricate problems simple, def

Deeds of Darkness Disclosed

This work devotes special attention to Auricular Confession and its relations to sacerdotal celibacy, convents, monasteries, morality and civil and religious liberty. It is intended to be an embodiment of facts and documentary widence of the pernicious influence of the confessional; a trenchant showing up of Romanism, based upon standard Catholic authorities; an eye-opener con-cerning the methods and spirit, the moral turpitude and evil works of Ro-

The Science of Spirit Return. By Charles Dawbarn. A scientific rehearsal, that is truly interesting. Price, 10 cents.

A NEW GATEGHISM.

BY M. M. MANGASARIAN. This is a new "Catechism" in the full sense of the ord. There has as yet appeared in the world of lib . eral literature nothing like this most wonderful little book or reason. R. P. Powell, the well-known author, the reviewer and critic, says: "The remarkable thing. bout this 'Catechism' is that it tells the truth." It deals with the questions of God. Immortality-the Creeds, the Clergy, the Church, Prayer and Salvation, lesus and his Teaching, the Growth of the Christian eriptures, and many other philosophical, scientific nd ethical questions with the utmost candor, courage and clearness. 188 pages. Cloth 75c; paper, 500

THE DIAKKA, The Diakka and Their Earthly Victims. By the Seer A. J. Davis. A very interesting and suggestive work. It is an explanation of much that is false and repulsive in Spiritualism, embodying a most important recent interview with Janes Victor Wilson, a resident of Summer Land. Price, 50 cents.

MAHOMET His Birth, Character and bon. This is No. 6 of the Library of Liberal Classics. It is conceded to be historically correct, and so exact and perfect in every detail as to be practically beyond the reach of adverse, criticism. This work will be found intensely interesting. Price, 25 cents.

lle Koran Commonly called the "Al-koran of Mohammed." The standard Arabian or Cloth, 81.00

manism. Cloth, 75 cents.

SPIRITUALISM—Progress, the Universal Law of Nature: Thought, the Solvent of Her Problems,—SPIRITUALISM

VOL. 28.

CHICAGO, ILL., JUNE 20, 1903.

NO. 708.

SPIRIT, SPIRITUAL, SPIRITUALISM, SPIRITISM. "CONFUSION WORSE CONFOUNDED."

to find the most violent and unreason-

It is doubtful if any words in our lanfirmed that he is spirit,

With such a wide divergence of meaning, it is not wonderful that confusion in expression should be the result. And when we come to add the suf-

"worse confounded."

The evolution of new ideas renders it necessary to construct new terms or words for their expression. But instead of clarest descriptions and the "new man put on," and the quality of always doing this, new meanings are attached to existing terms, thus paving the way for division and strife. But it lous process, and man can no more should never be overlooked by sensible make himself spiritual than he can people that every epoch in intellectual progress necessitates either the coinage ated anew in Christ Jesus." "By grace of new terms or attaching new mean-

Now, if what is called Modern Spiritualism is a new era in thought evolution, the use of old terms, expressive of man's higher nature, will fail entirely to convey the correct ideas. The word modern is itself an affirmation of of human nature as such, but to a supwe also know that the difference between them is enormous, not to say infinite. The science of modern chemistry has hardly a resemblance to ancient alchemy from which it sprang.

It is conceded that scientifically, philern Spiritualism is unlike what existed ing when applied to our movement, any at the time of its advent. It was conmore than we can atonement, regeneraof force or energy was used, in the pro the science of the world. And, even meaningless in our terminology. And now, many make the same concession. This substantially creates a new science. But the force which raps, tips, writes and moves physical substances is found to be in a heretofore uncomprehended relation to the human mentai as well as physical organization. And this relation is also found to so interpenetrate the religious experiences and manifestations of man, as a religious being, as to change the meaning of all the terminology of the religious Hence, to use the old terms in the old time sense is to utterly pervert the science and philosophy of the new

It is true that the same sun, earth and stars were the material bases of both Ptolemy and Copernicus. But, when you come to the relations and motions of these vast bodies, how absolutely unlike and opposite you find the theories. of some quality of the noun spirit. But, With Copernicus you have the heliocenas I have shown, this is not an inherent tric science instead of the geocentric quality or attribute of spirit as there imagination of Ptolemy. And that sci- are confessedly multitudes of spirits ence made a new universe, and when who are not spiritual. It is a miracu-comprehended a new religion. The dislous addition by supernatural power covery of a new law, or mode of motion in nature makes the universe new: so, in the realm of thought, a new idea makes all things new so far as man is concerned, individually and socially.

I am prepared to ask, what is the new fact, law or idea revealed by the modern spirit movement? There is no pretense that the phenomenal manifestations are in any sense new. They are as old as history, and have been more or less common amongst all peoples, in And as we do not admit any such transall times. Moreover, though human beings have, to some extent, been con- for us to use that term. cerned as actors, yet they have inva-riably been attributed to some suprahuman beings as the primary causers of the same.

I am now prepared to answer the absolutely new in our modern ism is the revelation of the complete naturalness of its phenomena! The supernatural—the miraculous is swept forever out of the vocabulary of correct thinkew fact in human development, transformed into idea in consciousness, makes all things new in science, philosophy and especially in relig-Just as the geocentric astronomy is dead and superseded by that of Copernicus, so the old religions are dead and superseded by the revealed naturalism of the Modern Era. It is just as impossible for a man, who comprehends the science of the simple rap, to be a per thereto is the work of superstitious Jew, Christian, Mahommedan or Morignorance, just the same as suffixing mon as it would be for an educated as ual to spirit. Both are the mistakes of tronomer to endure the geocentric the-ory. All these old religions are found-ed upon assumptive supernaturalism, away childish things." Spiritual, spiritwhich the spirit rappings completely demolish. The difference between the of right belong to the old church as they old and the new is not incidental but are part of their supernaturalism. fundamental. One must destroy the They harmonize with their God, Christ, other. The difference is in the cause Holy Ghost and divine inspiration, but or causating agency. With the old religions, it is gods or devils; while, with With the old religion, God is all; with the new, it is men and women of their spiritism, nature is all. There cannot own free will. And as both have the be two alls or wholes. Nature is unbesame phenomena, "it follows as night ginning, eternal. Where is there any the day" that there are no God-revela- place left for the God, and what is there tions, or God books-no Holy Ghost for him to do anyway?

ticle. The word Spiritualism, so far as God. Hence, spiritism never directs us A can ascertain, was first employed to to God, or to anything outside at or

One of the most difficult things in distinguish the idealistic from the maspeaking or writing is to make our terialistic philosophy. The suffix ism selves understood. And one main readenotes a doctrine or system of princison for this, is the different meanings ples. Hence ist signifies people, and attached to the same words. Taking the ism their creed or principles. But, in meaning of the root term and comparthis word Spiritualism, we have a dual ing it with some of the secondary defi- suffix to the word spirit; first ual and nitions often fails to show any apparent then ism. The suffix ual makes it an resemblance between them. Hence, it is one of the most common occurrences quality possessed by the ists, and natuable controversies carried on by partial that quality? Hosea says "the spiritual tirely different meanings attached thought a severe judgment, yet it may rally pertaining to spirit. Now, what is pe found to be a just one, to affirm that the spiritual class have always labored under a peculiar form of insanity. guage have a wider latitude of meaning than those at the head of this arThere has been a perverted form of ticle. Take the basic word spirit, from the Latin spiro, to breathe, and combard and emotional activity. The pare only three of the many meanings are descriptive of its most terrible given to it. First, we have the priminant festations. And the most omitive meaning breath or wind. Second, nous and menacing cloud in the future's alcohol or the spirit of wine; and third, sky is this same spiritual insanity, the immortal entity or soul of man. which dominates so many millions of To these we might add God, for it is afthe human family. It includes the entire Christian church.

This term spiritual is the invention of the old, supernaturalistic religion, and has a specific meaning. According to that religion, man is not by nature fixes ual, ist and ism to the root word, we may expect the confusion to be becomes spiritual but carnal—unspiritual; and be becomes spiritual only by being regenerated by the Holy Ghost—"born of are ye saved, through faith and that not of yourselves, it is the gift of God." Spiritual, Spirituality are nowhere dissociated from the supernatural. They belong to it as they originated from it. Now, as this term spiritual has no reference to man as man, is no quality a radical distinction between it and an posed miraculous change wrought in cient Spiritualism. When we speak of him by a Holy Ghost, how can it be apmodern astronomy, every one knows plied in a movement which is purely that we mean astronomy as defined by natural? Do you say that you don't the discoveries of Copernicus as op- mean what the makers of the word posed to the theories of Ptolemy. And meant? What do you mean? Do you have reference to the mental, moral or emotional department of our nature? My opinion is that you merely parrot an old church term, supposing it has some meaning, but what it is you cannot define. As progressive thinkers, we can osophically and religiously, this mod- not use this word as having any meanceded, at the very outset, that a form tion, salvation and other cant words of duction of its phenomena, unknown to long to the cult of miraculism and are eading back to former superstitions. The reader will be likely to ask, what of the term Spiritualism? In answer, I will say, that it is not an appropriate one, but it has been so long and so generally in use that change would be difficult. But the suffix ual should be expunged, and we should then have spirtism, which the French have always used. Look at the formation of the word. First, we have the root word, spirit, used as meaning a human entity. Then add ual signifying some real, or supposed quality of the personal spirit. We have converted our noun into an adjective. Instead of a thing, we have some quality or accident of the thing.

By adding another suffix, ism, we convert our adjective into a noun, meaning, not the doctrine or science of spirit, but lous addition by supernatural power. By adding the suffix ism to ual we assume that a doctrine, or system of thought, can be predicated upon a mere quality of a thing, which is an utter absurdity. But, if spiritual denoted, as in the Christian nomenclature, a process by which the nature of spirit was essentially changed, made a new being, converted from a child of the Devil to a son of God, then the term Spiritualism would be appropriate, but not otherwise. But spiritism covers the whole ground. It expresses the doctrine, the science, the philosophy of the spirit. In other words, it includes all we know of the attributes, functions, relations and question by saying that the only thing manifestations of the spirit entity, which we call man. This includes the wholeness of humanity. It leaves nothing out that is real, but discards It leaves the superstitions of former ignorance It is science, it is philosophy. We begin by an analysis of facts or phenom ena, and reach principles or causative energies. We then synthesize, com-bine, and find that all the units of being "are but parts of one stupendous whole." We have reached a sublime and find ourselves vitally related to ev ery part and energy of universal being There is but one nature, hence, spirit ism is pure naturalism, and to prefix su-conversions, and no salvation through Logical reasoning upon any known atoning grace; all of which involve the fact, or working of the cosmos brings us supernatural.

I am now prepared to take up and expound the terms at the head of this arfaintest trace of a creative or working above nature. But the credalists of the N. S. A. can consistently use the terms Spiritual, Spirituality and Spiritualism, for by their creed they proclaim that they are supernaturalists. In it, they affirm, an Intelligence of which "the phenomena of nature physical and spiritualism. phenomena of nature, physical and spiritual, are the expressions." guage could affirm supernaturalism in a stronger manner than this. All the moions of nature, all the actions of all beings are the expressions, the produc-tions of the new named God. The name is all there is new, for it is the same old character which "made good and created evil" in Old Testament revelations. Genuine spiritists, having outgrown all phases of supernaturalism, cannot unite with the N. S. A. any more honestly than they can with the old religions. The natural and the supernatural cannot be welded together. The attempt so to do, by the N. S. A., is workng and will continue to work in the interest of the church, and against the progress of genuine spiritism. And the use of the terms spiritual and spiritual ity aids in the same direction.

J. S. LOVELAND.

Summerland, Cal.

A VALUABLE ESSAY.

Nora Batchelor in the Defense of Spiritualism. To the Editor:—In the last number of your valuable paper, No. 704, the essay by Nora Batchelor is the most valuable contribution that ever I have read in any spiritual paper since Charles Partridge published The Spiritual Telegraph away back in the fifties. I began the nvestigation of spiritual manifestations in 1849; Miss Katie Fox was then but thirteen years old. I have seen and proved every phenomena and more referred to in the essay, with one exception. I am pretty sure I antedate every Spiritualist except Dr. A. J. Davis in this or any other country. I made the first speech in defense of our cause in St. Louis, in 1850, and have made hundreds since. I consider the facts concerning the continuance of life superior to every and all other demonstrations or arguments. I have very little patience with anything else. It was facts that led the inhabitants of this planet to investigate the manifestations, and it is facts and only facts that will sustain it. Talk, preaching, writing and beliefs may do some good, but it is the absolute and indisputable facts that have given vigor and strength to our cause. If exertions were made to present to sensible American men and women the proof of spirit return, countless thousands would join our ranks and in time many of our churches would be turned into schools of scientific demonstration of the fact that when we leave these bodies we just begin to live. With the facts we already have and those that may be produced, we could soon convince the so-called civilized portion of the human race that we do not die. I am aware that we are tending toward this condition. What we need is the materialization of men and women whom we know to have left their bodies, to appear on our rostrums, in our camp-meetings, and on the streets of our cities, towns and villages in the recognizable form and the clothing they wore before they passed out of their bodies. We want those who have left their bodies, to return again in the homes they recently left and show that life is continuous. These things will come to pass before the next fifty years have passed, if materialization takes place in our houses, as we know it does now, why can't they materialize and appear at our meetings and even on our streets in daylight? Christ did it (so they say) three times after he was crucified, and it is probably true that he did. I have seen more than five hundred materialized forms, many of whom knew as well as I knew anybody.

I never waste any time trying to convince ordinary unintellectual men or women, or church-members to join us When they do join us they hang like barnacles on our great cause. we want is the intellect of the world great, good men and women, and we want to bring them to us, not by talk, but by facts, then they stay; they will be benefited and they will benefit the WILSON MACDONALD.

LINES.

roamed the wood, upon the hill, Where the robin piped his lay, While through the eyes the soul seem'd kissed thought of one true voice of yore, Sweeter than harp-like tone; But realms where spirits weep no more Had claimed her-for their own.

By the green hills far away. Fair Spring, her flower-jewels rare Then decked the landscape o'er, But in my soul were scenes more fair, Pictured from some brighter shore.

Hope to my soul came with a bound, And my spirit sky grew clear, E'en then I stood on hallowed ground, For my angel friend drew near, W. DUNCAN. Council Bluffs, Iowa.

JUNE.

The morn aglint with rays of red. Throws kisses to the violets' bed; The tangle vines on trellis twine And over my doorway the columbine. The green hills sparkle with twinkling

Where daisy-cups reflect the blue; The brooklets in the vales below,

Wander by banks where mosses grow. The bluebirds wing athwart the sky, In dazzling fleetness delights the eye; A tinkling bell from the pasture lane Floats o'er the fields of ripening grain. Thro' morn's gray aisles the sweeter scent Together with roses the air is blent, And all the world with joy atune. A welcome gives to jocund June, BISHOP & DEALS, Summerland, Cal.

SPIRITUAL HOMES

What They Are and Where to Find Them.

Spiritual homes are beautiful homes; though they be unknown to the gaudy decorations of wealth, of the palaces of the milionaires, of the houses of the moderately rich, the spiritual home is the home of love; the home of unselfishness, of kindness, of truth and justice. Even those who live in rude huts may have the sweetest spiritual homes. Palaces are the outcome of great ambition for display, made possible by the results of greed, yanlty and selfish extravagance, and can be built by mechanics as places in which to live and entertain friends of the "smart set." They may be, and often are utterly devoid of love in its highest and holiest sense; may be the homes of tyrants and slaves, licentiousness and tippling, cold and cruel, unmated married peo-ple; may be the very cesspools of dark-ness and degradation. They are often the abodes of Christians who rob the poor to give to the Lord. They may be the narrow ways to a life of wretchedness and wee. They may be the sacred sanctuaries of followers of the meek and lowly Jesus, who follows so far behind they lose sight of the real Jesus in spirit, and some of them, no doubt, are real spiritual homes; but the real spiritual home is not built by hands, but by the true union of souls, by peace, har-mony, and a love that knows no faltering, recognizes no obstacles, smoothes over the rough places, subdues the angry passion, and attuned the human nerves to the delicate touch of the beautiful things of natural tiful things of nature.

The spiritual homes have family circles and sacred rooms; music and high-class literature; joy and sunshine; sublime aspirations and social tranquillity. The spiritual homes are abodes for eturning loved ones and resting-places for tired, loving, earthly ones. Soul resorts for weary human beings. Welcoming retreats for embodied and freed spirits. Private heavens on earth. In the spiritual home will be found spiritual literature of all descriptions; books, pamphlets and papers; an interest in all things spiritual, whether it be a but or a palace in construction, it must abound in spirituality; it must rest in the lap of peace and harmony and be forever coddled in the arms of

Cold and soulless greed; flattering, fickle vanity; diamonds and high-sounding phrases and paragraphs; paints, powders and cosmetics; blue plood and egotism; titles and accidental popularity; an elegant form and the usual ambition to make it known; re not in the least co uality, though some of these may be possessed and not destroy the higher spiritual natures of the members of the spiritual homes.

Spiritualists may have homes that are as far from spiritual as are the homes of those who know; nothing of Spiritualism. But because this may be true has no effect upon the fact that Spiritualists' homes are institutions where there should abide true spiritual-ty.

The average human being, especially the male portion of the human race, has let avarice and acquisitiveness run to seed in his make-up. He has been born into the world with a yearning for gold and for all the luxuries of this life and no thought that there is a necessity for peering into the future. He is filled with a longing to rise in wealth and sta-tion here with little thought for the comfort of others, except, perhaps, of those of his own household. Therefore, the very eyes he looks through see naught but the shining gold and the heights, financial or political, of this life. That is the goal.

The fact that we know there are those above us in intellect, and goodness, from whom we expect kindly consideration and boundless compassion for our infirmities and weaknesses, and not their scorn and loathing ought to inspire us to extend to those beneath us precisely the same good feeling that we hope for from those above and beyond

However, we should do right because we know it is right and not because some one has told us it is, or because with the act of right we hold in anticipation some future reward or remuner-

We should be true because we know that to be true is right.

We should be charitable because we know that charity is right, not because we wish those above us to be charitable We should be kind and forgiving and ready to excuse the errors of others, not because we are imperied and liable to err, and hope to be excused, but because it is right.

Human greed, its continuous growth upon and within the conting generations, is certainly the farthest from spirituality of any characteristic of man, and that it is growing greater and and that it is growing greater and stronger with each new generation, speaks plainly of the unspiritualizing influence of the old creeds and dogmas.

Those conditions which make a millionaire of one with less lator than that with which another can obtain a liveli-hood, are not spiritual.

Gambling, forcing all business op-ponents out of business, squeezing from the poor to build high-priced colleges, etc., are not spiritual.

It is not unspiritual for a man to want to succeed financially, if he strives honestly. It is a duty to himself and family to make ample provision for the future, but a man cannot be selfish, deceptive, oppressive and tyranifical, jealous, envious, licentious, etc., and hope to bribe Nature by giving a few paltry dollars to some good cause, to the extent of escaping justice. Justice is spiritual, and true spiritualty upholds and sustains every just cause. DR. T. WILKINS.

Preserving the health by too strict a regimen is a wearlsome malady.— Rochefouchuld. Rulers always hate and suspect the Most in succession.—Tacitus, VIEW AND REVIEW.

Morris Pratt Institute and Other Spiritual Enterprises.

The Progressive Thinker of June 13 s noticeable for its practical presentation of different views upon questions of vital importance to the cause of Spiritualism. Secretary Longley's concise showing of the stable condition of the N. S. A. and the work it is steadily doing ought to be read at least once in every Sunday meeting of Spiritualists between the two oceans, as well as in week-day circles, seances and summer camps. The facts she marshals in column five on the first page are a complete answer to the covert antagonism often betrayed in the question, "What is the N. S. A. doing anyhow? Isn't its sole business merely to advertise and salary its officers?"

An organization is not bankrupt which has over fifteen thousand dollars in its treasury, unencumbered real estate worth as much more and no out standing liabilities of serious amount Its life is not aimless if it is sustaining able missionaries in the field, supporting needy mediums, distributing tracts conducting from its central office voluminous correspondence and upholding an Editor-at-Large and a Superintendent of Lyceums.

Let us talk these conditions privately and in publicly for the next three months. Many of our people do not read Spiritualist newspapers. Their ignorance of our supreme body is the channel through which selfish schemers arouse their opposition to it. The misunderstanding of some well-meaning people must be met and removed. Mrs. Longley is unable to account for the frequent report that the N. S. A. is falling to pieces. We of Illinois are not puzzled to do so. A certain class out iere have steadily predicted the death of the N. S. A. from the hour of its birth, in 1893. Their wish is parent of the utterance. They do not like to have events force them into the role of discredited prophets when they had bid to be foremost in the "I told you so" class. Some of them are soured because they are not accepted at their own standard of self-appreciation. Others of them are by nature hostile to every work not originated and managed by themselves, forgetting that President Lincoln worried more over some lost mules than captured Brigadier Generals, because he could replace the latter with less difficulty. Officers can always be found, but true-spirited workers are rarer. In the same camp are the tricksters, always tireless in their veiled appeals to pettiness, who know-ing how much they have been benefited by organization among themselved, seek any united effort not intend ed to feed their own selfishness.

Emphasize at every opportunity the fact that the N. S. A. at its last session took steps to effectively lessen inequalities of representation in its councils. It only remains for the state Associations to complete this feature of our organic reforms by adopting a uniform basis of membership in each of them.

Would there be a serious lack of funds for the support of needy mediums if we could, without hurting the finer sensibilities of our beneficiaries, be given to know their actual number who they are, and their real needs? We too often glance at general appeals and accept them as perfunctory efforts on the part of their official authors. Individualize the needy cases and each one will discover interested helpers. May not both the donations for support of mediums and the Morris Pratt Institute be lessened by the great struggle of recent years to raise the necessary funds to place the N. S. A. on its present substantial basis? That effort was a long continued and severe strain. The interests named should not be antagonistic to each other. Spiritualists of the United States can sustain both when they will to do it. The work belongs to each one of us as well as to our rich brethren. Denominational colleges are an imporant factor in present day education, notwithstanding the great universities supported by legislative and individual munificence. The completer the curriculum of the smaller institutions the more wide-spread their influence. broad in scope they gain the patronage of persons with families to educate, and attract young people not of the faith dominating them both of which classes become inoculated in varying degrees with their religious bias, which clings to them for life. A very small percentage of the students enrolled at Methodist, Presbyterian, or other religious colleges enter the ministry of those de-nominations, but many join them as laymen and become a power in spreading their tenets. Every convert becomes a minister to his or her own familiar circle. It would be narrow to measure the Morris Pratt Institute solely by the preachers of Spiritualism it may turn out. The completer its courses of instruction and more competent its faculty, the greater will be its patronage. Narrow it to the development of mediumship for selfish gain and you destroy its great field of legitimate missionary usefulness.

Let us avoid narrowness of thought and niggar liness of donations towards single on of our worthy enterprises. In one of the touch and go greetings of the last Chicago mass-meeting, Bro. E. W. Sprague spoke of the need of a carefully chosen systematic study course for individuals, homes, neighborhood circles and lyceums. waiting for him to find time he can devote to an elaboration of that idea. Why not Chautauqualze Spiritualism? GEO, B. WARNE.

How calmly we may submit ourselve to the hands of Him who bears up the world.-Richter. Theologies are well in their place, but epentance and love must come before other experiences.—Beecher.

When a man dies they who survive him ask what property he has left be-hind. The angel who bends over the dying man asks what good deeds he has sent before him.—Mahomet.

HEATHENISM.

IT IS MANIFESTED IN THIS, THE TWENTIETH CENTURY.

A Young Girl Imprisoned by the Sisters of the Good Shepherd-The Curse of Catholicism in This Country, We desire to lay before your readers

The Citizen, Boston], some of the deails of the case of another escaped prisoner from the prison factory of the Sisers of the Good Shepherd, in Louisville, dy,, and who is now under our care.
In Jesamine county of this state there ves a respectable farmer named Silas Aldridge, whose family consists of a vife and eight children, six daughters and two sons. Two of the daughters are married and both sons are of age. this history, about a year and a half ago, other child, thought her father young man's attentions unknown tol the young man proposed that they run away and get married, and Luella consented. Soon after they started, however, her treacherous companion induced her to drink some whisky from a bottle which he carried, under the pretext that it would be good for a toothache of which she was complaining. Soon after taking it she became drowsy, then stupid; after that she does not remember what occurred until about five o'clock in the evening, when she remembers getting off the train in Lexington and being arrested by a police She was then taken in hand by a Miss

Taylor, a member of the Roman Cathowoman took her to some house where ing Miss Taylor informed her she was to go to Louisville. So putting her on the train, Miss Taylor brought Luella to Louisville and placed her in the Coned girls for your convent. "Mother" at the same time not to let their influence with the courts, to keep the girl's parents know where she was. out of the penitentiary. They gave her the pious name of Bernadette, and she was set to work at identity, word was given out among the has been placed on the police bulletins, other prisoners that she was from Nash- and all of the police in the city have ville. She wrote letters repeatedly to orders for her arrest. her sisters, and the nuns to whom she gave them said they were sent. Ascertaining, however, that they were deceiving her and not sending the letters, she became discouraged and quit trying to communicate with her people. was good material in her not only for a

ed in the catechism. Father McFarland, of Pewee Valley, a state that my questions were as folsuburb of Louisville, took the case in lows: hand and carried Bernadette to Henry family, with a sister-in-law of the hus never witnessed such a spectacle. band as governess, to be taught her I therefore to infer that my parents catechism. Father McFarland told her never did, but were mistaken, deluded, as he carried her out, that he wanted hypnotized, or in some way deceived by her to learn her catechism and be a their own senses?

with her mother and father. She was my own senses? also described as "distressingly sad." Things went on in this way till the these questions are perfectly legitimate evening of May 9 inst., when about six and can be answered by yes or no witho'clock word was passed around that out giving us a disquisition upon skep-another girl had escaped from the conticism, faith, knowledge, this year's on vent and wanted to be cared for by friends. It soon transpired that Luella Aldridge, actually of Jessamine county, Kentucky, "the sad girl from Nash- fact that skepticism is not always intelhad climbed over the high brick wall of the convent, all covered with barbed wire—a feat almost incredible. She started on a run from the packing-room in the laundry where she was the prosecution of new discoveries. employed, pursued by three girls. Who is objecting to either of them? Is Reaching a picket fence she sprang not Brother Jamieson erecting a man of over it while her pursuers had to run straw to play with? to a gate. She then reached a corner where a plank fence adjoins the high prick wall. This, by means of a run- Spiritualism alone, that have convinced ning leap, she caught with one hand me of the truth. Some of the most apand then swung herself up till she got parently insignificant and unexpected a hand on the high brick wall recently and unthought of tests—tests along the covered with barbed wire. Just here line of "little things" are fully as satisone of the girls caught her by the dress factory:

H. V. SWERINGEN. and tore off a piece of the skirt, Luella then jumped down on the outside and ran away, inquiring for help as she ran. Some one pointed out to her the there she took refuge. Mera ordered away. Friends were soon Hudson.

called in, attorneys sent for, and legal steps taken to secure her recovery even f the police should succeed for the time being in carrying her back.

Lucila's father was at once communicated with, and suit was begun in hen behalf for $10,000 damages. The following is a copy of the letter received from her father:

Logana, Jessamine County, Ky.

May —, 1903,
W. T. Burch—Dear Sir:—I received your kind letter informing me of my daughter's whereabouts. Her mother daughter's whereabouts. Her mother and myself feel most thankful to you for your information. We cannot express our thanks in words.

Luella Aldridge is our daughter's name. She is sixteen years of age. She disappeared from my house last July 21, and until the present time we have not been able to find any trace of her. I had almost given her up as dead, The family is Baptist, and most of them as I have searched everywhere I knew are members of that church. One of thought she might be. If she has the daughters, Luella, the subject of been arrested or imprisoned it has been done without my knowledge or consent, when she was close to fifteen years of and altogether against my will. As I age, began receiving the attentions of was neither notified or consulted in the young man in the neighborhood, matter, I feel that I have been wronged, and I feel that she has been damaged, father. At length he was forbidden the and I hereby give you full right to use louse. Luella, however, like many and my name as her father and guardian in arbi- the proceedings against the convent, trary and continued to receive the and I advise you to make it lively for them. I have a home for her and plenim.

At last, on the 21st day of July, 1902, to advise her in the right direction. Thanking you for your information.

Yours truly, SILAS R. ALDRIDGE. We are not in the Middle Ages, non are we in Russia, yet here a Protestant girl of good parentage, with father and mother anxious to look after and take care of her, is kidnaped, imprisoned at hard labor, and set to learning the Roman catechism under watch and control of a Romish priest!

But what is more still, is the bold de-flance of the law these "good sisters," as some of our candidate judges de-light to call them, and this "holy father" have shown in this case, as in others. The federal court is the only tribunal lie church who seemed to be in some that can imprison a Kentuckian outside kind of authority about Lexington. This the state, but these tools of Rome can give their captives the choice of prisshe was kept till morning. Next morn- ons in other states, doubly in violation of the statutes of Kentucky. going to put her in a convent, and she 1221 of these statutes plainly declares could have her choice of Indianapolis, that any one imprisoning another with-Cincinnati or Louisville; but, as it out due process of law, or kidnaping would be necessary to have a trial be and carrying another outside of the fore going to either of the first-named state, shall be deemed guilty of a fel-places, she thought it would be better ony, and confined at hard labor in the penitentiary for not less than one nor more than twenty years.

Thus these people who put them. vent of the Good Shepherd, saying to selves forward as guardians and trainthe nuns there as she did so, "have re- ers of the young, conservators of public ceived your card stating that you want- morals, stand revealed as themselves one I have brought you"-telling the ganized ecclesiastical boycott and to Since the above was written it has been learned from good authority that once assorting laundry. To conceal her a full description of Luella Aldridge

WOMAN'S LIBERTY LEAGUE. Mrs. K. C. Richardson, President, Lillie E. Burch, Secretary.

Spiritualism and Skepticism.

Naturally kind and affectionate, she tributed a few comments if not critic I notice Bro. W. F. Jamieson has con-Naturally kind and anectionate, she tributed a few comments it also clams upon my brief article concerning ter Philomene, who worked beside her, became much attached to her. There confining himself to the questions I ask in my treatment of the subject and to Roman Catholic, but for a nun; so it the leading thought thereof, he rushes was decided to send her outside to a at once into a dissertation upon the zealous Romanist family to be instruct subject and importance of skepticism. To refresh the reader's memory I will county, where he put her in a Romanist ber, 1833, a meteoric shower. I have 1. My parents observed in Novem-

The family she was placed with in rialization. My description of it leaves the country watched her closely, and no room for the most insignificant, techheld before her the alternative of being submissive and learning her catechism, or going back to the convent. She had been led to believe that her father it, or that it is as true as I represent it. would not let her go back home, and There is no place in my description she felt helpless enough to submit to where fraud could be even remotely almost anything; but having been suggested, notwithstanding the fact raised a Baptist, she despised the cate- that it may be said that Robert Dale chism and expressed her dissatisfac. Owen was equally certain that he was tion with her situation. Father Mc not deceived in a case that finally Farland was then advised of the slow proved to be one of deception. Owen's progress in making a "good Catholic" of case does not prove my case one of the her, and so he went out and took her same character. Now, the question is, back to the convent, where she was set since my Christian, Materialistic, skeptical and agnostic friends have neven Often our League had heard of "the witnessed a genuine materialization, pretty young girl from Nashville" who, must we therefore necessarily infer that had been kidnaped by a woman, and I never witnessed one, but was miswho was not allowed to communicate taken, deluded, hypnotized, deceived by,

> Now, I submit in all candor, that ticism, faith, knowledge, this year's or last year's facts, etc.

Who is objecting to skepticism? I certainly am not. I simply state the ville," had made a run for liberty, and ligent, and then ask two questions based upon that general proposition.

Skepticism, incredulity and theory, are all important and necessary ele ments in the establishment of fact, and

In conclusion, I may say that it is not the more pronounced phenomena of Fort Wayne, Ind.

In such a world as ours the idle man is not so much a biped as a bivalve.-Horaco Mann.

house of a fearless Protestant, and The smiles of infants are said to be Police and nuns came pursuing, but the first fruits of human reason, H. N. calling me; "Zuriida, my dear child, where are you?" It Not able to help myself I sat motionless, gazing at her.

you, but was powerless to ald you."

it has not yet smoked the devil out of his den. Oh, Lord, cannot the real fire come from heaven and burn the dross in man's heart, that he offer not human sacrifice? I am shuddering in the sunlight of the mighty truths that are falling about me, and that they are shutting their eyes and hearts against them.

Material things rule to day as ever. They want fire, as of old from heaven.

What is the church doing but bowing to Baal? Oh, Lord, send more Ediahs down to build trenches of truth around the church, and to dig trenches close to the cold hearts of men and fill them

"She is as Elijah of old to me; oh, months into years, but I had not recov-of old, but gradually failed in health.

Mrs. Wise told me that she and the rector were holding my father back;

that he had promised them that nothing would be done until my health was re

Ambition's fierce desires ruled his heart, even if my dying eyes looked stern face, asking for parental love and with their pleading love into his cold,

Time holds those years of inhuman treatment in its womb, and often throws a vivid light on them, even now from my uplifted state, I can see the darkness that my father's ambition wove about mynearthly life. He was quiet now, not having Louis to urge his unholy desires to offer me on the altar

CHAPTER VIII.

Glimpses From Beyond.

terial things were losing their place with me, but the spiritual things were being substituted. As new pictures came before my vision, the blue sky, with its starlit paisles, seemed peopled by the ages of the past; forms which came in misty splendor before my gaze, and daily became more visible to my bodily strength gave way to the spiritdeep secrets of the past revealed them-ratory of art, I saw that mutual action governed all her changes, law and order mortality is stamped on all that is, but undergoing endless change from lower

At times I could separate the material from the spiritual. Like a cloudy substance there would come before my vision an atmosphere that seemed dark and heavy, filled with physical be-and emitted rays of light that fell on me, and in these rays of light sentences of love, hope, joy, peace and many endearing words were spelled out to me by my mother. Elon and Reuben. Many object lessons were given me, but the most beautiful of all were those with flowers. Flowers that seemed to be laden with a silver mist, would be so ar-

It must be remembered that I had of velopment, and was very receptive to beautiful truth appeared from behind strong and brave in the knowledge of life beyond the grave; it was like the warm rays, lifting me out of darkness and drawing me into its warm atmos phere: and I would have rent the veil

my friends, had I possessed the power.

I knew that it was by the law of spirit ual growth that I had obtained this victory over the gloom of death, and that

A feeling of unrest and gloom was now gathering over the household. I could read the thoughts of my friends, father, yetche was as stern and unrelenting as ever. a Mrs. Wise and Albert came dailysto visit me and hear of the beautiful lessons I was learning from

As Albert satubefore me one day, a picture of his inner or soul life was presented to me. Deep thoughts were burning in his soul unbreathed; tender voices of affection mingled with his early dreams, were entwined around the power which can never be hushed. He was soaring anddiclimbing the dizzy heights in searche of God's limitless

ings spurred hintton, and when his eyes met mine ithere shone in them a language that had never fallen from his mind with mine in search of a higher

Our affections, aspirations and thoughts endure through time and eternity. They are not obliterated, but register themselves on that indestructible mirror—the mind; and when we turn our gaze inward we find them reflected there. These reflections will be our

-but I could see the blending of his knowledge; purgrand exalted prompt-the angeles ... a and purer life.

they must walk through this same ave-that hid this immortal knowledge from spelled out to comfort and cheer.

Im-

when he can read her relations.

to higher.

In my weakened state of health, ma rules," said Mrs. Wise.

never spoke of the past.

should be accomplished.

of Moloch.

full of knowledge of truth and wisdom, excitement i had undergone.

Zurilda Wellington.

Her Life in Two Worlds. The Lifting of the Vell.

BY MRS. M. PASQUIER CURRAN, MEDIUM, ST. LOUIS, MO.

CHAPTER VII.-Continued. Mr. Howard now came in to see my father on some business, and Mrs. Wise told him that her soul was joyful tonight, and related her joy and surprise at the pictures.

-"And may I have that pleasure also?" pictures for some time and then said: Do I understand you to say, that Zurilds painted these without a copy?" "Yes," said Mrs. Wise, "she never saw a likeness of her mother."

"Here is one that I did not are before" said the bishop, taking up one that I had just finished; "but I do not recognize the nerson."

This attracted the attention of Mr. Fannie Wells Howard! In the name

there? This brought my father and the rector to his side. "Do you recognize that lady?" asked the rector, and the bishop at the same "I do, indeed; it is my angel wife," said Mr. Howard, with much feeling.

Silence reigned for a few moments while each one eyed the other with a look of doubt, and confusion. That babe that is there is the sister of Albert," said Mr. Howard, "the twin sister. Tell me how this is, Mr. Wellington, for I am amazed." I cannot tell you anything about it.

All that I know is that my child painted It," said my father.
"It you cannot tell me, may I see Zurilda, that I may learn from her?" said

Mr. Howard. "If you wish," said my father in a stiff and cold manner; "but I do not think that you will be any wiser. Our bishon and the rector are better able to instruct you than a child that is not conversant with the art or science of painting; but you may go to the apartments of Miss Agnes and Zurilda."

Mrs. Wise said: "Mr. Howard, I will accompany you." It was a Saturday night and Miss Agnes was hearing my music lesson when Mr. Howard and Mrs. Wise came in. Mrs. Wise folded me in her arms, as she ever did when meeting me, and Mr. Howard took both of my hands in his and said: "God bless you, my child, for the joy that you have given me to night. Now tell me why, and how you have painted those pictures."

"I will tell you what I know," I said. "I know very little of the art of painting, but when I sit down to paint there comes a strange-looking gentleman to me, who takes my hand that holds the brush, and moves the brush himself; he also mixes the paints, holding my hand. With this gentleman my mother always comes, and sometimes her guide and many other people that I do not know The last picture I painted was of a lady who came with my mother. She had a baby in her arms, the baby was a young girl about my size, when she first came but when the picture was nearly finished, that girl seemed to have grown small, like a baby sitting on the lady's

'What do these people look like, what do they say to you, and where do they come from?" asked Mr. Howard.

"Who has prohibited you from telling them?" asked Mr. Howard.

"My father," I said. Then turning to my teacher, he said: 'Miss Agnes, what can you tell me about these paintings of those who are dead—made without a copy?" "Not anything, sir," she answered. 'Do you see Zurilda when she is painting, and do you see those people? 'I see Zurilda when she is painting, but I do not see those people: though I often see a very bright light envelop her and I hear a sound as of pressed voices: and I know that the canvas is clean and that she has no copy or anything to outline such pic-Mr. Howard sat in silence, but his frame shook with deep emotion. "Do you recognize the persons that you speak of?" Miss Agnes to Mr. How-

"I do, in deed," he said. "It is the likeness of my wife, who has been dead eighteen years, and that babe is the twin sister of Albert. My wife died when the babes were four months old, leaving me to mourn her loss and struggle with two infants. But death took my dear little Fannie too, at the age of one year. My soul has longed to know something of those gone before, and that picture starts afresh those longings. A thousand times have I looked had publicly breathed your vow. Give in your soul. It is the beacon light on the stormy sea of life."

me your hand that I may place this the stormy sea of life." real and perfect; yet so blind am I as to pledge thereon as a witness to the conthe method by which they are produced." "Mr. Howard," said Mrs. Wise, "do not close your eyes to the mighty truths that God is bringing to our souls to-day The graves are opened and the dear dead are with us. God hath sent them to demonstrate to us the immortality of soul, and to unveil our eyes. The church may stone us; but our souls de-mand a knowledge of these matters, and for this demand, God hath sent us the not a power exercised by one over the ical eye. These things that are coming to me through Zurilda from God are warming my heart toward Him. Long have I wandered in the land of negation, holding out my hands to God, and climbing mountains of stern reality in sparch of truth. Ah, yes, Mr. Howard, the accumulated wisdom of ages is being poured out in our day, and we may climb to the mountain top of knowledge and bathe in that sea of wisdom. Let us judge rightly, and deal with these things with unclosed eyes, and let the rule of fustice guide our steps day by day; all truth is for us, God has not concealed anything from us. Who can portray with truthfulness the facts that are in nature—even so small a thing as the birth, life and death of a flower? To some persons there is nothing so unin-telligible as truth. We need not slip, or stumble, or live in delusion; but let us plant our feet on new and firmer ground as the still voice of reason is eard speaking to a clearer and broad er understanding. I have had torn from my breast all that was dear to me, have bowed my head to the blows with an aching heart as death claimed my buds of love, and I have tried to say, "Thy will be done, with suppressed agony.

Need we cry for this old faith? It does vell of mystery from the face of the protect. hereafter."

Mr. Howard sat like one in a dream, on you yet, Mr. Howard?" But he did not answer.

"Let us look for the good and beautilive it; let us not be a Moses on the "Fannie Wells Howard! In the name of God, how did your likeness come into the land. I had thirsted for knowledge through long continued threatenings and had grown dull in regard to are those of the mind. the future, until this angel child awoke "Your desire for por all life, and my branches have with of time will not sweep away.

ered." said Mrs. Wise. Mr. Howard looked at Mrs. Wise with surprise, shook his head and said, "Do the dignity of manhood; look within you mean this, Mrs. Wise?"

the dignity of manhood; look within your soul for God, and the divine law have not spoken a word to-night that I do not mean," said she.

"Yes, I have been a coward and have smothered my feelings, for at times there has come a sense of distrust in will consume you, and the noble end the church's teachings, but. Mrs. Wise, indeed I have not dared to think aloud,' said he.

"There are many voices in nature that speak more intelligently to my soul, than some of our church's formulas, for I have heard the leaves talking and the waters babbling a melody as they wended their way to the sea; have the day will come, when you will sit listened to the mighty ocean, singing anthems of praise and with this melody of nature within me I entered that deep world of contemplation, where peace came to my soul. Yes, our soul tells the tale."

"I cry for more light and my dim eyes are opening. Although Jesus had never lived and taught, yet there is in our souls the voice of God, that speaks to me by ten thousand lips in nature, and above all and more than all is the divinity within, that is quenchless, and says, "Thou art of God." We need not go and listen to the roar of the mighty ocean, but only look within. 'Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.' This is the perfect standard of right, taught by Confucius and Jesus alike, and I am working from the center that I may manifest the divine within," said

Mrs. Wise. Mr. Howard and Mrs. Wise bade us a said, "What a torrent of eloquent babble loving good-night, with many good wishes and retired.

My father then came up to say to the room together. Miss Agnes that he did not wish to deprive her of her church privileges on carriage, he said to my father, "A little my account, that he wished her to at more parental authority and your ideal tend church as usual the next day.

When I was left to myself my mother and Elon came to me and told me that the hour of trial was at hand. When the Sabbath was over the bishop came up to bid me good-bye. He was very tender and loving to me, so much so

"Zurilda, take that pen and write your name as I bid you," said my

"Papa. I cannot do it." I said. "You must obey me or I will be compelled to force you, by such measures as will be against my will," he said, very sternly. "You have exempted her from punishment too long," said Louis; "let her pay the penalty of disobedience at once." "You are compelling me to cast you off; to inclose you in a dungeon," said

"You had better make me your lawful heir, and I will relinquish her from the marriage contract," said Louis.

This remark sent a shadow across my father's brow, and he said, "My daughter's hand and dower go together." "Then I must be obedient too, and wait the appointed time," said Louis.

will not be long."
With this last remark, Louis arose and came to me, holding out his hand that awful darkness I seemed to have the inflow of divine things; tears often for mine; in his other hand he held a lived an age. As the long days and rolled down from my eyes, as a new and jeweled ring of great value and beauty, longer nights passed a strange, tranguil beautiful truth appeared from behind saying: "Miss Wellington, this jewel is feeling began to creep over me, and I the cloud of earthly things. I was a bond and pledge between you and I, felt that my mother, Reuben and Elon that we are one. God in his wisdom has ordained it, also that we come under his outer symbol in due time. By this I mean that our marriage ceremony be publicly celebrated when you are of the proper age. You are to wear this You, my child, have heard its voice and heavenward for my angel loves, and ring as a seal to the contract, and it resisted temptation in many forms, and

With this remark, he reached for my hand, but I withdrew it. saving: "Mr. Sutherland, I am too young, but, child as I am, I know there are deep and lasting principles that underlie the bear up under this oppression, and say, guish was written on the face of my marriage relation, that cannot be lightly set aside or ignored. Marriage for love is a beautiful external symbol of the union of souls, but there must be a blending of the two, which form a unit; centered in my life that power to creother, such as you are trying to exercise over me. which must be carefully regarded in ment on my young life, to see if I had this relation, so that both parties may be equal in mental, spiritual and physical abilities. There is also a foundation laid on which to build, that is safe from the storms of life, that have wrecked so many. In the first place, the undue subordination of woman to man, bodily and mentally, has been the source of ir reparable wrong. A power is claimed and exercised by men, to such a degree, sometimes; that woman becomes their slave; and when a woman becomes a slave to a man, she has no love or re spect for him, for fear casteth out love. You have said that marriage is an ordinance of God. That it is God's law, I know, and that this law has not been understood in its true meaning and application is very lamentable.

"The law of attraction is universal. Affinities meet and blend, there are at into a marriage with the young heir of tributes in the soul that meet and com-bine. Love is the strongest element in bleman's eldest son and heir to his title. bine. Love is the strongest element in our nature, to draw its mate, and will It was my beauty that caused him to manifest its power in the outer symbol fear that some one might rob him of will reveal the thick actions of our lives. of marriage. Now you have only manithat jewel. He cared for nothing but fested opposing influence, and have not the adornment of my person; and if I given me the elightest indication that was weary of this he immured me in you possessed any love in your nature, this dark room until I begged for for Were your soul warm with the divine giveness. His treament of me in many not bridge over death or blend the here fire of love, it would flash up to a flame other things was so cruel, that it caused with the hereafter, nor does it robe the and draw me to you, like the sun draws a madness that besett me of my reason, immertal with the semblance of the the mist from the sea to the skies. True and in this state i passed away from my mortal. Can we cull from it one drop marriage is a spiritual law, and parties of comfort when pain and sorrow make entering this union will not need a con-our souls weak? In my bitterness I tract signed and sealed to bind them; have wrung from it all the solace that it | nor will a man buy his wife as merchanhad. Let us have no other God before dise, or material substance to be bough us. Let the blanks in our lives be with a price. In true marriage then, filled, not with hopes and fears, but love is an attribute of the soul, an im--"And may I have that pleasure also?" with the thoughts of the divine that are planted rose by God, it is strong and encoming to us; those heart-throbs of our during and will not be transformed into loved ones, clinging to us in their gloring anger, or jealous feeling, to torture and fled state, who are lifting that terrible pain her, whom it should honor and age relations, he defiles the external unable to utter a word, gazing at Mrs. Symbol, by usurping right and exercising who asked, "Does the light break ing powers that are not his, and this is symbol, by usurping right and exerciswhat you are doing, and doing it in the name, and by the authority of God, This attracted the attention of Mr. Let us look for the good and beauti-Howard, and when his eyes fell on it he ful and take streight and courage to claim yourself to be. Come out on the broad, firm ground, make yours the highest standard of manhood; let the divine within you, guide you in all the relations of life. The keenest tortures

"But when a man traffics in the marri

"Your desire for power has no founin me a new impulse. Long ago I had dation on which you can build a firm ceased to draw life from the source of and enduring structure that the waves

> "Be noble and strong, and rise above the dead embers of the past; climb to written there, erect an altar and worship there before the God of love.
> "In your proud heart there is unrest; the fire of ambition is burning, its flame man was formed for will be lost to view. "Let Christ the 'Anointed One' live in you, sending out His spirit not in dead works, and creeds, but in the breathings of that love, that he brought to us as a redemption from ignorance and sin; this will bring you into a oneness with God. If you continue as you are, down, broken in spirit, without one hope to cling to. "Put away your idols; have no God stern face, asking before you but the Eternal; give unto a child's right. those to whom you minister the bread of life, and lead them out of spiritual

"Mr. Sutherland, I am but a child; know nothing about love, and I feel none for you, nor have you ever tried to awaken that emotion within me. On the other hand, your cold, stern nature has chilled my heart and frozen the nat-We need not go and ural affections of a child. I know not what is before me but this I know, I will be true to the divine power that is with in me, and may God keep you from that pride, which goeth before a fall." My father and Louis sat like those who dream, without uttering a word until I had finished; then Louis sprang to his feet and turning to my father from a babe!" and with a wave of his hand he bade me adieu, and they left

As he and the bishop passed to the of perfection will be accomplished,'

Scarcely had the sound of the carriage wheels died away, when my father came to me, and with a firm grasp of selves to my vision. In nature's labohis hand on my arm, said, "We will see who is master of my castle!"

With this remark he dragged me out | are written on all her operations-and that his eyes filled with tears at part of the main building of the house into a these mental facts stand like sentinels "They look like other people, and say many very good and beautiful things to had sent for Miss Agnes, thinking that here until you have learned to obey me she might have an influence over me. small room that was dark, cheerless' to guard and guide the mind of man With my childish love for, and dependence upon my father for protection, I clung to my father, sobbing and begging him not to close me in that darkness, but he tore me from him and locked the door, and to this day I feel the impress of his iron grip, and it often lings; but soon this darkness became sends a chill through my being. This an ethereal mist, and as the sun's goldscene, with its bitter feelings, I carried | en beams dispels and clears the atmoswith me to the world of souls, and it phere, these beings became radiant was many years before I could eradi-cate its dark impress from my memory. In that dark room, a cold mist rose about me, great drops gathered on my hair and clothes, and a numbness crept over me, my tears flowed and my frame shook with fear. How long I remained in that condition I know not, but I must have slept, or was in a tranquil state, for there came a radiant flame that ranged as to read like a letter from a lighted up the room. When this light friend, with the most endearing words came my mother and Hlon spoke to me "Yes," said my father, "three years in cheering words. For three days and nights I poured out my burdened heart tained to a high degree of spiritual dein praer to God for deliverance. longer nights passed a strange, tranquil were with me. Reuben said to me, Truth is no shadow that darkness dis golden beams of the morning sun's pel; it is real, it is the light of God in the soul; it is born in all, but ignorance. doubt and fear have clouded it in many. poured out my soul in bitterness as I binds you as firmly now, as though you you must still hold this mighty power > von fast." In my solitude, I called to mind the imprisonment of the Apostles, and that a light shone in their dark abode, and could read the thoughts of my friends, with a spirit of submission I tried to and for them my soul was heavy. An "Father, forgive him, for he knows not what he is doing." In that dungeon I ate so much to make the object of con tention. In this solitude there was noth-There are essentials ing to occupy my mind, so I sat in judgconcealed anything, and I found that since my father had immuned me in this dungeon, there was springing up a this dungeon, there was springing up a fibres of his being, and sorrows, that poisonous weed that was embittering had filled his lonely childhood, were me against him. While these thoughts written there; and I read an awakened me against him. While these thoughts were revolving in my mind, my mother came to me and said, "Plant no seeds of bitterness in your mind against anyone for you will have to root them out in this life. And remember that time will

Then my mother said, "We will hold

On the third day of imprisonment there came with my mother and Elon a very boautiful woman. She was young and fair, with eyes that beamed with love, as she bent over me and said with quivering lips, "It was in this prison-house of earth that I bore the pangs of jealous husband. In my early youth, was left to a guardian that forced me enlarge and grow them stronger."

pure deeds we linve done, while others In the change I was passing through there seemed to be a chiseling away, as if some sculptor was howing and polishing my being, to lit me for the home of the soul. My desires were enlarged and quickened; lolif aspirations for new truths flowed to me; and with a new ea-orgy and power I grasped them and ap-mortal form: Sometime I may tell you more of this. 'Adleu"

At the office of the third day, I felt plied them to say daily needs, remem-bering that Reuben had said that "the foundation laid in this life would be the a strange feeling coming over me. It was not a sleep, but a stupor that be numbed in a stand in this strange condition I heard the wolce of Mrs. Wiss. capability I should possess for a realization of my higher spiritual and mental shilities in the eternal home."

"What shall I take with me." I asked. and "what will survive the change called death?" To this question Elon replied:
"Is not this a grave question for a Help was called, and I was taken to my own room. Miss Agnes folded me in her arms as of old, and said, "My dear child" how I have sorrowed for you have sorrowed for mere child to sak? Yes, but it is the most important one ever asked by any one. First, death, or change, is the awakening of the spirit. It will show A fire was burning in my brain and you what you are and what you posmy nerves were quivering through the sess. It will illumine all the faculties of your being and quicken your spiritual "Ah," said Mrs. Wise, "the cup of affiction is always full for some; the lambs are slaughtered as of old; burnt sensibilities so you will perceive your real condition; and if the spiritual be in the ascendancy, you shall carry with you wisdom and truth and knowledge to offerings send their incense forth, and comprehend something of eternal life.

"Second, the real, the divine princi-ple, incased in the fiesh. Over this immortal part, death has no power. Your physical body consists of the properties that will be dissolved. These properties belong to material things, and are combined by the power of the spirit for a manifestation of its presence—for without matter, the spirit cannot demonstrate itself in any distinct form. You will be unchanged by the process of death; that is, all that makes you an individual, an entity, a being, will be unchanged. The law of disintegration will separate this combination that constitutes our physical which is composed and may a knowledge come to this house concerning Thee, that they sacriof all the elements in nature.

"Now the object of your birth in a physical form, is to individualize you as ficed not this child to their ambitious a distinct being. Remember this. By the power of the spirit you are enabled may a double portion of Thy spirit be upon us, and that the still, small voice to resist disintegration and rise above be heard in the hearts where ambition what may seem destruction to an unspiritual mind. Nature will take her Weeks were passing into months, and own by the law of attraction. This compound that constitutes your body ered my usual health from that nervous will be dissolved and known no more in shock; there seemed to be a constant its present form; but, my dear child, conflict within my system, which the you shall rise again in a new form, in best medical attention failed to remove. beauty and power, redeemed from the I rode out with Mrs. Wise and Albert as power of corruption-a glorified be My father came often to see me, but stored, but that it was his firm determi-The N. S. A. Missionaries Feel Encour nation that his plans for me in life aged.

(To be continued.)

SIGNS OF PROGRESS.

> Many evidences of progress and promises for the future, greet us as we proceed from state to state in the missionary labors of the N. S. A., and the cause of Spiritualism. We have occasionally presented some of the obstacles and discouragements we meet and have. perhaps, unjustly omitted to speak of help and pleasant episodes.

> The events of this year, in our labors have surely made us feel that the Spiritualist public workers are more es teemed than previously. We have been better entertained in comfortable (and sometimes luxurious) homes than ever hefore. We have had better proceeds from meetings than in previous years. Better halls have been provided for meetings—and more edifices owned by our local societies have been erected or purchased in the last two or three years, than during all previous history of Spiritualism. More local churches have opened their doors to us than previously experienced. Church members and ministers have attended our meet ings in numbers, and have told us that what we teach as Spiritualism is in ac cord with their hopes for church and so-ual conditions that were surrounding me. At times the veil between the real and unreal, was drawn back, and the Many sectarists bid us "God-speed" in the good work we are doing. All this shows that we have much to encourage us for the cause we represent. We find the people are hungry for spiritual truth, and a demonstration of spirit life and communion.

More local societies of Spiritualists exist now than ever before and they seem to be learning how to create prosperity. They are trying to interest and instruct their members more than previously, when they sought to give "tests" to the skeptics and neglected their members. They have learned that a sensational platform work to attract dimes at the door does not build like an intellectual and spiritual effort creates higher ideals and cements fraternity and thus develops unity and progress.

The social efforts of local societies are increasing a membership esprit. Young people's societies, children's lyceums and choirs are means that will soon usher in more rapid growth in numbers. We need a more systematic condition for propaganda. The need of co-operation increases with the responsibilities of our public work. We must get Spiritualism out of the rut of crude phenomenalism and exalt it into a system of spiritual ethics and gratifying intellectual and soul-com forting spirit communion. With the growth of higher ideals the Spiritualists will exert more influence for good. These ideals have been lacking; but now are creating the growth of devotion amongst the Spiritualists; not a devotional ceremonialism, but a devotion to human needs for mental and spiritual growth. The spirit of humanitarianism must actuate the Spiritualists and make their organization serve the peace and progress of all people. We must not work for self alone in order to gain soul growth and enjoy a happy conscience. To have spirit messages and help for ourself alone is the expression of selfishness. To destroy selfish accumula tion of wealth and a selfish religion and salvation is a supreme duty of the Spiritualists. To that end we must have more active propaganda of a spiritual Spiritualism. We must have more speakers and mediums in the field. A great demand exists for circuit work where several towns could easily support an earnest worker to visit them once per month. Local mediums living in cities competing for patronage, could find such lucrative circuits for labor, if they can hold public meetings. And thus every little locality would have ability to hold together a local society of Spiritualists. Our mediums must learn that their best:interests are centered in a devoted public work, instead of competing with each other in over-crowded cities. This is the next move to create progress and the N. S. A. will likely encourage it. . A fund for systematic propaganda will soon be needed. We have repeatedly urged that friends, of our cause shall liberally donate to a public fund for a destinctive purpose of this kind-but the responses are feeble. Millions of dollars are annually paid to proselyte ... unto ... superstitious ... beliefs. carry truth unto the people? We find so many who sadly need help to rescue them from ignorance, crime and misery Demonstrated spiritual truth will do it. lem as a demonstrator of the resurrec tion, proof of spirit life and commun-

Some will show the good and ion and a moral and intellectual teach er without creeds or an angry God or a science has dawned. Demonstrated re ligion in logical harmony with philosophy, and scientifically natural, is the need of the present. Spiritualism suppiles all tale and respects gleefully to like Whesler Wilcox when has wrote; "So many Godel so hany greeds!

So many paths that wind and wind-When all the sad world needs Is just the art of being kind?"

Hoping that courage and earnestness will lead all to liberal help to banish the sad world's needs and usher in the era of peace, kindness, knowledge and spiritual comfort, we are, fraternally, GEO. W. KATES AND WIFE.

LIFE OF THOMAS PAINE! By the Editor of the National, with Preface and Notes by Poter Eckler. Illustrated with Views of the old Paine Homestead and Paine Monument, at New Rochelle: also portraits of Thomas Clio Rickman, Joel Barlow, Mary Wolstonecraft, Madams Roland, Condorce, Brissot, and the most prominent of Paine's friends in Europe and America. Cloth, 75 cents.

MAHOMET, THE ILLUSTRIOUS. By Godfrey Higgins, Esq. This work is one of the Library of Liberal Classics. No author was better qualified to write an impartial and honest life of Mahomet than Godfrey Higgins, and this volume is intensely interesting. It should be read in conjunction with Gibbon's work. Price, 25 cents.

SPRITUAL HARP A collection of Vocal Music for the Choir, Congregation and Social Circles. By J. M. Peebles and
J. O. Barrett; E. H. Bailey, Musical Editor.
New edition. Culled from a wide field of literature with the most critical care, free from all theological bias, throbbing with the soul of inspiration, embodying the principles and virtues
of the spiritual philosophy, set to the most
cheerful and popular music (nearly all original)
and adapted to all occasions, it is doubtless the most attractive work of the kind ever published. Its beautiful songs, duets and quartets, with plane, organ of melodicon accompaniment, Adapted both to public meetings and the social streks. Cloth, $1.25; postage, 14 cents.

Meltese Watch Charm. Malless Watch Chara.

PHIJOES:—Badge Pin, $1.50: Lapel Button, $1.50: Sunflower Brouch, $4.00; Maltese Charm, $5.00; Maltese Pendam, $5.50. This jewelry needs no other recommend than to say it is the SUNFLOWER BADGE, the adopted emblem of Spiritualism. As the Sunflower turns its face towards the aun, so Spiritualism turns the faces of humanity from darkness and superstition towards the Sunlight of Truth and Progression. These beautiful emblems are for sale at this office.

BODY AND SOUL.

This volume consists of a course of lectures delivered in the trance state, and is certainly no small contribution to the study of the soul. It is a good work to open the eyes to the difference between the deductive and inductive process of mind. Bound in cloth, $1. For sale at this office.

DEATH ITS MEANING and Results.

An absorbingly interesting narrative relating a series of wonderful psychic manifestations occurring in the writer's experience. Cloth, Illustrated, 81.26.

A MASTERLY WORK. Continuity of Life a Cosmic Truth

By Prof. W. M. Lockwood. A masterly presentation of an important sub-ject. A powerful argument along new and scien-tific lines, establishing on a scientific basis the fact of the continuity of personal individual con-scious selfuoed after laying aside the physical body. A book of rare value. With several fine illustrations. Cloth, $1.00.

An Infamous A pamphlet of 32 pages, com-Conspiracy piled and published by the late Rev. J. G. White, author of numerous anti-Catholic works. It contains disclosures relative to a villatnous plot to over-

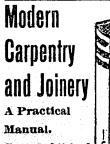

ROMANISM Is a pamphled of 80 pages, in EXPOSED reply to Prof. David Swing, Priest Cashman and Dr. Withrow, and is principally in defense of Protestantism. A concise little pamphlet. Price 15 cents.

Man and the By Rev. Arthur Chambers, Spirit World Associate of King's College, for Christian people who would investigate and learn the facts of Bible teachings as well as modern spirit phenomena. Price, cloth, $1.10.

THE SOUL . IT'S NATURE, REMAN EMBODIMENTS. Third edition now on sale. Price $1.00. This is one of the best books given by the guides of Mrs Cora L. V. Richmond.
They are really lessons, published primarily, as a book of reference for those who have been members of the classes receiving them. This volume is a careful compilation from reports of lessons, containing the bases of the teachings.

MODERN CARPENTAY

PRO T. HORGEON

Just Published By Fred T. Ilodgson

M. O., A. A. The well-known Technical writer. It is one of the best works ever turned out by him. Copi-ously illustrated with diagrams and figures, making the most intricate problems simple, def-inite and easily understood. Price, $1.00.

DEATH and the AFTER LIFE By A. J. Davis. An instructive and interesting work for all to read. Price 60 cents. The Law of Correspondence

Applied to Healing.
A course of seven practical lessons. By W. J.
Colville. Limp closh. 50c. A Conspiracy Against the Republic

By Charles B. Waite, A. M., author of "History of the Christian Religion to the Year 200," etc. ALL ABOUT DEVILS.

It is enough to say this 50 page pamphlet is written by Moses Hull. Price 15 cents. ANCIENT INDIA Its Language and Religions. By Prof. H. Oldenberg. Paper, 25 cents.

Apollonius of Tuana Identified as the wonderful communication, explaining how his life and teachings were utilized to formulate Christianity. Price 15 cents.

COMMON SENSE By Thomas Paine. A let, addressed to the inhabitants of America in 1776, with explanatory notice by an English author. Paper, 15 cents.

The most important revelations concerning the true origin of Christianity. Reader, in bringing to your notice "Antiquity Unveiled," it is with the sincere hope that you are carrestly looking for the truth, regardless of any other consideration if such is the case, this advertisement will deeply interest you, and after reading this brief description you will doubtless wish to give the work a careful perusal. Price, $1.50.

A. P. A. MANUAL A complete expose of locts of the American Protective Association. A book for all patriotic American citizens. Price, 15 cents, or two for 25 cents.

FORCE and Matter By Ludwig Bucch-book. A profound work upon a profound sub-ject. Price, cloth, $1.00. The Religion of Spiritualism.

Its Phenomena and Philosophy. By the Rev. Samuel Watson. This work was written by a modern Savior, a grand and noble man. Price. 61.00. A valuable book for the money. STANDING UP FOR JESUS. Or what the Editor of the Presthinker's Maga-nine thinks of Blist. (Price, 4 90016) (Woney Ave Cruiss for 60 cents.

OUR PREMIUMS.

BEAR IN MIND.

Remember, please, that we send many of our Premium Books by ex press. If you do not receive your order promptly by mail, inquire at the express office. If not there, notify us at once. Remember, please that it costs ten cents to get a personal check cashed at a bank in Chicago. If you send a personal check, add ten cents to the amount sent.

Remember, please, that we have only two books which we send out now for 25 cents each. We cannot allow you to select any other book or books in their

Remember, please, that you are not entitled to any of these Premium Books unless you send in with your order a year's subscription to The Progressive Thinker. Remember, please, that the safest way to make a remittance is to secure postal order. Read our Premium Offer, AND DO NOT WRITE TO US FOR ANY OTHER TERMS. You must send $1 for The Progressive Thinker when you order one or more premium books. Please bear this in mind.

Remember, please, that mistakes and trouble may be avoided by dealing di-rect with this office, instead of through a news agent.

Every person who sends in a yearly subscription to The Progressive Thinker can have until further notice, the two following books for 25 cents each: "The Religion of Man and Ethies of Science," by Hudson Tuttle, and "Seers of the Ages, or, Spiritualism Past and Pres-ent," by Dr. J. M. Peebles. Both exceedingly valuable, and though widely different, each one fills an exceedingly important niche in the literature of Spiritualism. If you order only one book, and that one neither of the books mentioned above, the price is 50 cents. If you order two books, and neither of them the above mentioned, the price is

We have TEN Premium Books only and you can select from them as follows: Any three of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $1.10.

Any four of the ten Premium Books ou may order, price $1.50. Any five of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $1.80. Any six of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $2.10. Any seven of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $2.35.

Any eight of the ten Premium books.

you may order, price $2.65. Any nine of the ten Premium Books you may order, price $2.90. Lastly all of these THN valuable Premium Books here announced are sent out, all postage prepaid, for $3.10, a price never before equaled in this country or Europe. The following is the list: TEN REMARKABLE BOOKS

FOR $3.10. 1-The Encyclopedia of Death, and Life in the Spirit World, Vol. 1. 2—The Encyclopedia of Death, and Life in the Spirit World, Vol. 2. 3—The Encyclopedia of Death, and Life in the Spirit World, Vol. 8. 4-Art Manic, or Mundane, Sub-Mundane and Super-Mundane Spiritism. 5-Ghost Land, Spiritualism, Occult-

ism. 6-The Next World Interviewed. 7—The Occult Life of Jesus. 8-A Wanderer in the Spirit Lands.

9-The Religion of Man and Ethics of Science. 10-Seers of the Ages, or Spiritualism Past and Present.

Read This Carefully Before Re-Remitting.

When you send in your subscription to The Progressive Thinker, carefully look over the books which you desire in this list, and their price, and send for them. They are very valuable. They are intensely interesting. They are ele-vating in tone and will do you good. In remitting do not fail to enclose a dollar for The Progressive Thinker. These ten books, substantially and elegantly bound, and printed in the neatest style of the printer's art, will be furnished to our subscribers for $3.10. a price which modern machinery and enterprise has rendered possible in The Progressive Thinker office only. Sending out these books, however, at the prices we do, does not reduce the price of the subscription of the paper, apparently or otherwise, a single cent, for that cannot be afforded for less than one dollar per year, in view of the fact that we publish such a vast amount of reading matter.

In conclusion, bear in mind that the postage on these ten premium books is about ONE DOLLAR, leaving this office only $2.10. illustrating the great bargain you are getting-a bargain the like of which was never known before on this material plane.

CLUBS! CLUBS! CLUBS! CLUBS! To Clubs of ten or more we offer the following terms to each one: The Progressive Thinker one year, and ONE of he following books, $1.15: "The Religion of Man and Ethics of Science"; "Seers of the Ages, or Spiritualism Past and Present"; "A Wanderer in the Spirit "The Encyclopedia of Death, Lands": and Life in the Spirit World," Vol. 8. The one who gets up the Club will be entitled to the paper one year free, and any two of the books he may select among our list of premiums.

A REMARKABLE BOOK.

The clear and very interesting account of the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, with the inciting causes of that tragedy, will serve to excite renewed interest in the great work of Father Chiniquy, entitled "Fifty years in the Church of Rome." In this book he exposes in the minutest details the corruption that exists in that church, and its iniquitous methods and aims.

It is a book of absorbing interest, and should be read by every patriotic American, and by every one who would be well informed concerning the evil works and designs of the Rouses hierarchy. It is a large volume at 813 pages.

This department is under the man

HUDSON TUTTLE. Eddress him at Be, iln Heights, Ohlo

NOTE.—The Questions and Answers have called forth such a host of respondents, that to give all equal hearing compels the answers to be made in the most condensed form, and often clearness is perhaps sacrificed to this forced brevity. Proofs have to be omitted, and the style becomes thereby as-sertive, which of all things is to be depreented. Correspondents often wear with waiting for the appearance of their questions and write letters of inquiry. The supply of matter is always several weeks ahead of the space given, and hence there is unavoidable delay Every one has to wait his time and place, and all are treated with equal

NOTICE.-No attention will be given anonymous letters. Full name and ad dress must be given, or the letters will not be read. If the request be made, the name will not be published. The correspondence of this department has become excessively large, especially letters of inquiry requesting private anewers, and while I freely give whatever information I am able, the ordinary courtesy of correspondents is ex-HUDSÓN TUTTLE.

Woman's Rights: Q. Is Mrs. Julia Ward Howe yet active in reform work? A. Although firm and strong for one 84 years of age, Mrs. Howe does not take the active part she did in former years. She was a power in the Aboiition movement, and after the war, as ardently engaged in the cause of woman's suffrage. Although she has written three volumes of poetry, and many in prose on reform subjects, she is best known, and her name will be carried to the future by the one immortal poem given her by inspiration. That poem will be quoted as long as the English language endures-"Mine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord," etc.

C. A. Muse: Q. I find the following item in a Texas paper: "My little boy, aged two years, while passing through the yard noticed a peculiar looking egg in a hen's nest. He took the egg to his mother, and this is what she saw, written on the egg in golden letters: 'Be-hold, the Lord cometh.' 'Judgment is at hand.' 'Prepare to meet thy God.' These letters were not scratched on the shell, but raised and could be easily felt. At least a hundred people will vouch for the truth of this statement.' How is this phenomenon to be accounted for?

A. There yet remains a decreasing minority ignorant and superstitious; a larger number who retain enough superstition to be interested by such stories, and a yet larger number who are amused by such credulity. To cater to the tastes of all these varied classes is the policy of "enterprising" journalism. The publishers or editors do not care if the matter published be true or false If it will bear scare headlines. Down in Texas this egg story is taken sincerely by the religiously inclined, especially the colored people. The eggs are to be seen, and there is no doubt about that. The "religiously inclined," white and colored, see in the fateful sentences on the eggs the hand of God. They believe a miraculous interposition has come to them, and hasten to prepare for the judgment day.

To one who optimistically flatters himself that mankind progresses, and the age of religious credulity has passed, such childishness is discouraging. He will more clearly see that many a generation must pass before the lagging rear will be enligtened.

That there is anything miraculous or extraordinary about these eggs is not for a moment to be thought of. Similar instances have troubled the Adventists since the days of Miller the notorious prophet. When he was in his glory the Adventist papers announced the end of the world, was written on good, fresh poultry eggs. Men and women when when they "shooed" off the biddy and found eggs with sentences of doom. were driven to insanity! Ignorance and credulity go hand in hand. Whenever and wherever things are observed contrary to the laws of nature, they may be set down as tricks. It is not necessary there be any other evidence of trickery, for the thing itself is all that is desired. It does not require any large amount of skill or cunning to prepare such eggs. The writing is done with oil and the egg dropped into vinegar, after a few hours it is removed, when it will be found that the acid has eaten away the shell, except where the oily ink has prevented.

The newspapers publish this story far and wide, and the rascal who prepared the eggs must be convulsed with When public journals thus prostitute their high offices to pander to the morbid craving for the sensa-tional, they cease to be educators, and become purveyors of garbage and trash.

W. H. Pelkey: Q. In controversy with a skeptic I have been told that several years ago $10,000 were put up by ten men in an Eastern state, to be given to any Spiritualist making any demonstration of their phenomena that could not be explained by psychology or duplicated by legerdemain, and that this offer is still standing. Is this true?

A. The correspondent may rest assured that he has met an "orthodox lie." As it is difficult to prove a negative, I can only affirm, that although constantly reading the spiritual journals and many leading cosmopolitan newspapers, I have never read such of-Who are these "ten men in an Eastern state"? When did they make this offer, and where?

A smaller sum, we think $100, was offered years ago, and may be standing action be taken in accordance.

yet, but imposing conditions such as

A short memorial service wa would make manifestations impossible. If "ten men" should offer the photographers of the world $10,000 to make a photograph that could not be made to appear by sleight-of-hand, and then de Butterfield, Mr. H. L. Hanson, Birch mand as a condition that a dark box or camera should not be used, it would be | Von Kanzler and W. W. Kelsey. no more absurd than the conditions required by those who make these offers, quired by those who make these offers, from Miss M. J. Fitz Maurice, New not expecting they will be accepted, York City; Mrs. Ellen M. Onam, Niagbut for bluff and notoriety. The lie once started, goes from newspaper to and the Ohio State Association of Spirnewspaper, like a rich morsel rolled un- itualists. der the tongue of slander, added to as it travels, and may become a statement of fact in history! A very orthodox evangelist, to give point to his terrors of infidelity, said that Ingersoll, crossing from England. met a terrible storm, and frightened that Sister Morrell be made an honorout of his senses, went on his knees and begged God's mercy in prayer!

characterized the story as "an orthodox liel" The story, however, is too valuable to be slienced and will be repeated

Dr. E. G.; Q. (1) Is the Christian theology founded on and identical with the solar mythology? (2) Does sun worship explain the ussociation of intoxicating or alcoholic liquor with religion?

A. The solar mythology was intimately connected with the religions of the ancients. Traced to their source the beliefs entertained of the gods and goddesses, were the fancles of the childhood of mankind, and these beliefs modfiled by changing circumstances and the growth of intelligence, were the basis of the ancient religions. There was strangely united with solar worship that of the generative principle in nature, and this phallic worship apparently came into existence cotemporary with the solar.

Christianity as a direct outgrowth of these preceding beliefs, absorbed and continued them under other names. Apollo, the sun-god, became Christ, the son of God; Isis, the Mother of Heaven, became the Virgin Mary; the sacred twelve zodiacal signs represented the twelve apostles; the bisexual cross, emblem of life, became the symbol of immortal life. It had been used thousands of years before the advent of Christ as representing the union of the two generative principles, male and female. was so employed by the Egyptians, and is constantly found on the mummy cases, and is pictured in the hieroglyphs held in the hand of some of the goddesses. Afterwards, as it had done before to all the sun-gods, it gave rise to the myth of a literal cross and crucifixion of the incarnate God thereon.

(2) The people, with whom original nated the great religions of the world, cultivated the grape, and pressed the juice, which in the warm climate soon fermented and owing to the sweetness of the fruit became highly intoxicat-The blood-red liquid suggested to their fancy the blood of animals, and hence the offering of wine was substituted for the blood of sacrificed animals. Then when drank it appeared to have a spirit which took possession and at times played the demon. Christ was fully imbued with this belief, and spoke of wine as representing his blood, and commentators have found evidence to support the dogma that this is not symbolical, but the prayer of the priest or minister transforms it into the real blood. The introduction of wine at the Last Supper is a stock argument of inebriates, and has been a prolific cause of drunkenness.

It had not the same origin as the sunmyths, but formed a part with them.

NEW YORK STATE.

Sixth Annual Convention of the State Association.

The sixth annual convention of the New York State Association of Spiritualists was held in Syracuse, on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 29, 30 and 31, 1903, and was a fitting close to a very successful year's work. The entire board of officers and trustees were re-elected and is as follows: Harvey W. Richardson, president, East Aurora, N. .; Mrs. Carrie E. S. Twing, vice-presilent, Westfield, N. Y.; Mrs. Tillie U. Reynolds, second vice-president, Troy, N. Y.; Herbert L. Whitney, secretary, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mrs. Harriet M. Rathbun, treasurer, Mount Vernon, N. Y.; Mrs. Laura A. Holt, West Potsdam, N. Y.; E. G. Reilly, Syracuse, N. Y.; Miss Marie J. Fitz Maurice, New York City; Mrs. Harriet Duhl, Elmira, N. Y.

An amendment to the by-laws was passed, which is as follows: Resolved, that Article IX of the by-laws be amended by striking out the whole thereof. and substituting therefor the following:

"The president of the New York State Association of Spiritualists shall represent the charter thereof as a delegate to ual convention of the National Spiritualists Association.

"It shall be the duty of each auxiliary society in good standing at the time of the last preceding convention of the N. Y. State Association of Spiritualists to elect at a duly called meeting of such society one delegate to the annual convention of the National Spiritualists Association, to represent the state association; such delegate to be elected and the report thereof be filed with the secretary of this association on or before August 1 of each year.

"In case of failure or neglect of any such auxiliary society to so elect and report such delegate on or before date named; it shall be the duty of the executive committee to appoint delegates for such delinquent societies.

"It shall be the duty of the president of this association to see that all the state is fully represented at the annual conventions of the National Spiritualists Association and to appoint substitutes to fill vacancies should any oc-

The convention adopted the following unanimously, which was offered by the committee on resolutions:

"Resolved that the New York State Association of Spiritualists assembled in convention, tender to Prof. H. D. Barrett and his estimable wife, the loyal, tender sympathy which has filled our hearts ever since the sad news of their great bereavement was sent into numberless homes where they are beloved. May resignation born of hope in reunion bring the consolation which can only come through a knowledge of Spiritual-

"That our prayer has arisen for the bereaved,—that we have wept with the stricken parents in the loss of their beautiful child, the bright, sweet, winsome Xilia; that we will by our loyal support help our brother and sister to bravely bear this great trial.

"Resolved, that our benediction shall rest upon them and we hope they may soon be able to see the silver lining to the cloud of darkness around and about them."

Secretary Whitney introduced a mo tion that was passed at a meeting in Brooklyn asking the state association to take steps to secure a permanent resting place for the bodies of our martyrs, Katie and Maggie Fox; after some discussion a motion prevailed to the the entire matter to the N. S. A and

A short memorial service was keld at commencement of the afternoon session on Saturday, as a tribute to Decoration Day. Brief addresses were made on Ellis, Mrs. T. U. Reynolds, Mrs. M. C.

The secretary read communications ara Falls; Frank Walker, Hamburg,

Secretary Whitney spoke with great feeling on the sufferings and necessi-ties of our old-time angel messenger, Mary C. Morrell, of New York City, who for the last three years and over has lain on a bed of suffering; and moved ary member of the state association. which motion was adopted unanimous Fortunately Ingersoll was alive and ly. A motion was adopted to take up a collection for Sister Morrell, which netted $12.25. A vote of thanks was given Sister M.

and repeated in pulpits, where nothing J. Fitz Maurice and her assistants for is forgotten, and little learned anew. the good work accomplished in connect the good work accomplished in connec ion with the successful four days mass-meeting in Brooklyn last March

While waiting for the nominating committee to report, Mrs. H. Duhl, of Elmira, sang "Only Waiting," and Miss Yjotoria C. Moore, of Dryden, read an humorous selection. The following speakers took part in the evening exercises which were entirely devoted to musical and literary exercises and spirit messages: H. W. Richardson, Mrs. C. E. S. Twing, Mrs. T. U. Reynolds, Mrs. Elizabeth Brewer, Rev. Charles S. Hulbert, Mrs. Little, Mrs. M. E. Clark, Matthew Stephenson Mrs. Nellie Benning, Miss Kate Woodruff, Mrs. Gertrude Mudge, Mrs. M. C. Von Kanzler, David Williams, Herbert L. Whitney,

The music under the direction of Prof. Marsh, of Syracuse, was of exceptional merit.

Miss Victoria C. Moore, of Dryden, N. ., our graceful and talented young elocutionist, read a number of choice and pleasing selections, in a way to win all hearts, even the Syracuse reporters, who were unstinted in their praise of this beautiful and accomplished artist. Our medium, the Rev. Dr. Victor Wyldes, of Toronto, Canada, gave remarkable evidences of spirit power in his communications. Dr. Wyldes bids fair to soon be classed as one of our very best mediums.

Great credit is due the two local societies of Syracuse for their hearty cooperation in making our convention a grand success.

The hall and music were furnished by Brother Reilly and his societies. The total receipts from all sources during the year ending May 29, 1903, are $1,277.66; total disbursements are $780. 56.

Six new societies joined the associa tion during the year, and the individual membership has been largely increased. HERBERT L. WHITNEY, 65 Howard Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT. To the New York State Association of Spiritualists: In accepting the presidency of the

New York State Association of Spiritualists, to which I was chosen at the last annual convention, I did so with much reluctance, knowing that with the multitudinous duties devolving upon me in other directions, which I could neither shake off nor lay aside, I should be handicapped for time to do the things which seemed to me so essential to be done by one in this position. But promised to do the best I could with the limited time at my disposal, and the results are such as they are.

I am glad to be able to say that the year has been one of progress, and that we have grown as an organized body. That we have increased the number of local auxiliary societies, as well as the individual memberships. That we have no outstanding debts. and sufficient funds in the treasury for immediate current needs. And furthermore, I believe our cause has a little firmer hold upon the minds of the people of the Empire State, and that the prejudices against Spiritualism and Spiritualists are not as pronounced as they were one year ago.

And while this is gratifying, I realize that the progress in each of these directions should have been much greater, and would have been had all Spiritualists in the state given the organized effort that co-operation and liberal support which the importance of the movement should command for it.

I sincerely hope and trust that the incoming board of trustees will receive such liberal support and co-operation as will enable them to increase the scope and efficiency of organized state work.

Mid-Year Board Meeting. At the time of the last convention provision was made for holding a mider board in the autumn of 1902, but as that time approached a careful canvass through correspondence revealed a general feeling among the trustees that such a meeting was not especially necessary, hence no call was issued.

However, since a sufficient number of the trustees for a quorum of the board were in attendance at the National Spiritualists convention held in Boston, n October, also in Brooklyn, at the time of the Brooklyn mass-meeting last March, we met on each of these occasions and acted on certain matters which are since confirmed at a regularly called board meeting. Another year matters may be very different, but as things were this year, we believe our action, which was in the interest of economy, was the wisest course. I would recommend that this matter of board meetings be left with the officers. who have ample powers under the bylaws, and the state statutes.

Medical Legislation.

In so far as has come to my knowledge, no serious attempt has been made by the legislature of the state of New York, during the last year, to pass laws aimed especially at mediumship, in any of its phases, and we have reason to conclude that the vigorous defense of the rights of Spiritualism and Spiritualists, made by the officers of the state asociation before the law-makers of the state during the session of 1901, was productive of healthy results, the influence of which still continues.

In that battle for religious and medical liberty the power of organization as a weapon of defense was so clearly apparent that it would seem that all Spiritualists over the state would support and become a part of the organized movement, for this reason alone if for no other.

The recent attempt to pass a drastic vaccination law and more firmly en trench the medical monopoly of the state, was an outrage upon every citizen of this commonwealth. While it was not aimed at our especial religion, all Spiritualists over the state were deeply interested in the defeat of the bill, and were quick to sign the peti-tions and protests that poured in upon the senators and assemblymen, urging that they oppose the measure.

The stronger we make our organized Spiritualist movement the more secure will we be in the enjoyment of those God-given rights. Let us remember that "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty," and that if we are to leave to coming generations that degree of medical and religious freedom which we desire for ourselves, we must meet the monopolistic tendencies of the medical societies with a strong organization.

We must not suppose these matters are permanently settled. They are likely to come up at any time, and much more likely to succeed if we fail to maintain a strong, healthy organization

Registration of Spiritualists.

I made something of an attempt to se cure the registry of the avowed Spirit-unlists of the state, but was only partially successful in the attempt; partly owing to the lack of time to follow up the work, and partly for lack of co-operation by many to whom I wrote and requested to assist me. To those who did so nobly respond, you have my sincere thanks.

I hope the incoming officers will take ame and full address of all pronounced

Such a registry will be useful in many ways in connection with a thorough system of state work, and would be espscially useful should it become necessary to again cross swords in defense of medical liberty. I trust this convention will take some action concerning this natter.

Delegates to National Convention.

At the last annual convention of the National Spiritualists Association, its constitution was amended by adding to Article 6, Section 1, the following: "State associations having exclusive jurisdiction shall be entitled to representation in the N. S. A. Convention, of one delegate for its own charter, and one delegate for each charter granted by its subordinate societies, in good standing at its last convention; proyided that such societies as belong to ooth the state association and to the National Spiritualists Association, shall be entitled to representation on one basis only, that society to elect upon which basis they will send delegates.

This provision for an increase of representation in the N. S. A. conventions by subordinate state associations was essential as a matter of fairness, and your delegates to that convention joined hands with others and worked zealously to secure its enactment.

This increased representation gives us an increased influence in molding the organized movement over the nation. and brings us in closer touch with the other states, and the work they are doing. And if each society be empowered to name its delegates, as I assume provision will be made by this convention, then each individual society will have practically the same advantages of direct representation in both state and National conventions, as they have heretofore had by keeping up their membership in both.

The National Constitution was further amended in Art. 7, Sec. 1, relating to "Means of raising revenue," by adding the following: "By collections at least once each year from all subordinate societies chartered by state associations." "By collecting annual dues of $2 for each society in good standing when such state associations are chartered by the National Spiritualists Association.'

From this it will be see that each society belonging to this state association will be expected to take one collection annually for the N. S. A., besides assume that provisions will be made at this convention that each society pay its $2 dues required by the N. S. A. I recommend that our by-laws be amended by providing for the naming of delegates, and the paying of dues to the N. S. A., by each subordinate society, or in such other equitable manner as may be just to such societies. Mass-meetings.

At the last convention a resolution passed directing the trustees to arrange for holding mass-meetings in several of the cities of the state, and in accord therewith, three such meetings have been held; one at Buffalo, one at Rochester, and one in the city of Brooklyn.

Owing to adverse conditions the Rochester meeting was not as successful as we had hoped. We encountered here the small-pox scare, which was then at its zenith, and which of itself was a wet blanket on our meeting.

But besides this, we were confronted with the worst blizzard of the winter; so severe that the street car service was practically tied up for one whole day, and seriously interfered with during the remainder of the time. results were, small attendance, and a financial deficit. The thanks of the state association, however, are due to the kindly assistance and co-operation of Mrs. Joslyn and Mr. Sissen, in making arrangements and in carrying out much of the detail work relating to this meeting.

The Buffalo meeting was held under ist Church of Buffalo, and the state association, and was a success both in the attendance and financially, resulting in a neat balance for the credit of the state treasury. Thanks to the First Spiritualist Society and its efficient workers for their loyal co-operation.

The Brooklyn meeting was most successful of all. The attendance was good, and after defraying all expenses, upwards of $100 was netted for the state treasury, and best of all, charters were issued to two new societies

Brooklyn during that week. We as an association are largely indebted to the local pastors of Brooklyn and New York societies, who very generously contributed their services, and worked faithfully in every way to make the meeting the success which it was.

Our state officers are also entitled to much credit for the sacrifices they have made and the efforts they have put forth in connection with the massmeeting work.

I believe the holding of state association mass-meetings in the larger towns and cities is a legitimate and important feature of state work. They tend to reawaken the interest of the Spiritualists and bring to the attention of would-be investigators our movement and its work. They leave behind an influence which carries a greater respect for our cause, and increased interest in our

Invariably the state officers are met by the representatives of the press, and extended notices of our work reach the general public, and arouses a spirit of inquiry and investigation among many whom we do not reach in any other way.

I would recommend to the incoming board that in future this branch of state work be extended, and more mass-meetings be held.

Mediums' Home.

The New York State Association has nucleus for a mediums' home fund as a legacy from the Spiritual Educational Protective Union of Lily Dale! We appeal to the Spiritualists of this state, urging the raising of funds and establishing a home wherein our i mediums who have devoted their lives as consistent instruments of the angel world in demonstrating continuity of elife and spirit communion; and who are in needy circumstances, can be provided with comfortable homes; and receive suitable care, as they approach the sunset of their earthly pilgrimage

I recommend that this matter taken up by this convention; or by the ncoming board of trustees, and that funds be solicited for this purpose. I hope the well-to-do Spiritualists will remember with favor this worthy feature of state work.

Missionary Work.

This work is in my opinion of vital importance to the successful promotion of our cause, and too much stress cannot be placed upon this branch of organized effort. Our state, missionary, Mrs. Reynolds, has done most excellent work during such part of the year as she has devoted to it, and I have received some very flattering commenda-tions thereof from localities where she has held meetings.

Early in the year the executive com-mittee of the state board decided that gathering funds from yeak, struggling societies and groups of workers, and while we expected these societies and groups of workers to contribute toward defraying the expenses incident to the meetings being held, we did not deem it wise to be over-exacting in this direction, hoping to leave the society or group of workers stronger financially as well as otherwise for our coming among them. We believe this has proven the wiser policy, and would recommend its continuance. We were handicapped in this branch of our work by lack of funds, and I would recommend that a special missionary fund be established so that those who desire to make donations to be used only in this direction, will have the opportunity of doing so. And I hope promote the growth of our movement that liberal donations may then flow and thoroughly establish Spiritualism into the treasury, so that the incoming as a religious movement, we must avail board may not be handicapped in their missionary work for lack of funds.

There are hundreds of small towns and hamlets over the state wherein Spiritualist meetings have been unknown for years, and there are thousands of men and women who know practically nothing of Spiritualism, and other thousands who have only the most perverted conception of what Spiritualism really stands for, and in trustees. stead of only one missionary for only a portion of the year, I wish it might be several of them during the entire year. I have refrained from giving details of this branch of the work, assuming that our missionary will in her report give full information in relation there

Camp-meetings.

One feature of missionary effort is that of camp-meeting work. Last camp season we were assigned a state day at Freeville, at which Mrs. Reynolds and myself represented the state association. We received a cordial from the audiences as well as from the management.

We have several individual members n that part of the state who renewed their memberships, and several new members united under the state banner. As a result of state day, we feel that the organized movement is better understood and appreciated, and financialy there were a few dollars netted to the state treasury.

At Lily Dale we were assigned one session, at which I was asked to preside, and was assisted by Mrs. Twing and Mrs. Reynolds, and we presented the claims of the state association as well as the organized movement generally, to a large and appreciative audience. And we hope in the near future to issue a state charter to this flourishing camp, and to Freeville camp, as we have already done North Collins camp.

The North Collins Camp Association is one of the oldest, if not the very oldest Spiritualist society in this country, and has held meetings for nearly half a century, each June and autumn, under the name, "The Friends of Human Progress." In taking a charter from the state association this veteran society is recognizing in this work those principles of co-operation and organization which are so potent in all other lines of human activity.

We have been assigned for the coming season, state days on the programs at Freeville and Lily Dale (hereafter to be known as the City of Light Assembly), and it becomes the duty of the incoming board to see that the state association is properly represented on those Ordination.

The subject of ordination is one that should have most careful consideration. The New York State Association has always been conservative in this matter, and has exercised great care in the selection of ministers to go forth under its authority to preach the gospel of Spiritualism.

The rule that applications for ordinaof the First Spiritual- tion lie on the table for one year was adopted as a conservative measure; and while it may best serve the interests of our cause to suspend this rule in certain especial cases, the rule is undoubtedly a wise one, and will, I trust, continue as the general guide of the board of trustees on this all-important sub-

Children's Lyceums.

This is one of the most sadly negected features of our movement. If we wish our Spiritualism to become the eading religious and philosophical cult of the present age, we must look out for the children. Parents should be urged to send them to the lyceums, or better still, go with them in person. The children should be shown that we are in earnest in what we profess, and that Spiritualism and Spiritualists are as much respected as are other religious movements.

We are now being judged by our lives rather than by the complexion of our belief, hence it is for us to place our religion upon that pedestal which shall command the respect of our fellow-citi-

If we believe Spiritualism to be the best religion, then let us prove it to the world by establishing and supporting our Sunday-schools and lyceums. National Association has established a yceum bureau under the management of Brother John W. Ring. Let us get in touch with Brother Ring, and build up

I hope the delegates to this convention may be inspired that they may devise ways and means to awaken our people to this crying need in this direction, and that in this feature of our work, progress may be made.

Other Reforms.

Spiritualists are, as a rule, reformers hence it is not a surprising thing that most of our people believe in equal rights, and can join hands with any and every reform movement that is founded upon justice, and tends to the uplifting of the people. Hence we believe that the committee on resolutions should deal with the question of woman's suffrage and express to the people of this state our sympathy with its workers.

Universal Brotherhood.

As a rule they sympathize with the oppressed whenever and wherever they are found, and with that late veteran temperance worker, Frances E. Willard, we feel that the spirit of extreme commercialism which, like the Juggernaut car, crushes and bruises human hearts, and drives so many of our young women to despair and worse, and so many of our young men to drink and crime, must soon give way and make room for an economic and industrial system founded upon equality of opportunity, and whose chief corner-stone shall be universal brotherhood.

I trust that the committee on resolutions will deal with these subjects in such a way that our position may be known and our influence be felt over the state in favor of these and other important reform movements.

Board of Trustees.

The board of trustees has attended to its duties conscientiously, and the several members have tried to render clent service to the cause, and to the the true spirit in which to carry on mis- state association, and I have no reason sionary work was the spirit of helpful-ness and upbuilding of the cause in the way, and yet with the growth of our this matter up, and try to secure the localities visited, and that stress should movement and the larger interest in

be laid upon this rather than upon the teachings of Spiritualism, I am in clined to think a more active policy for the coming year would be wise.

Organization.

In uniting as an organized body Spiritualists are adopting the methods and using the implements of this day and age.

Modern civilization is teeming with organizations. In every department of life's activities, whether it be industrial, social, political or religious, we see companies, societies, clubs and churches conducting their affairs under thoroughly organized movements.

It is the machinery whereby a large number of persons, in widely scattered localities can effectually express themselves, for the accomplishment of one general purpose. And if we expect to ourselves of the power of organization. I urge upon the delegates of this convention and through them, their constituents and friends at home, that strenuous efforts be made to increase memberships in local societies and individual memberships to the state assoclation, thus rounding out and strengthening the organization and upholding the hands of the incoming board trustees.

H. W. RICHARDSON, President

A Perfect Regulator of the Stomach and Bowels

is Vernal Saw Palmetto Berry Wine. It promptly relieves and permanently cures all weaknesses, irritations, in flammations, obstructions or diseases of the stomach, bowels, kidneys, bladder, liver and prostate gland. It will restore perfect health and vigor to any person afflicted with general debility or nervous debility. It cures constipation so that it stays cured by removing the cause of the difficulty. Only one small dose a day will cure any case, no mat-ter how light or of how long standing It cures by toning, strengthening and adding new life and vigor to the intes tines, so that they move themselves healthfully and naturally. All such conditions as dyspepsia, catarrh of the stomach, chronic indigestion, constipation, Bright's disease, diabetes, inflammation of the kidneys, catarrh of the bladder, irritation or enlargement of the prostate gland, torpid liver, pain in the back, female weakness and female irregularities begin in clogged bowels. They are cured by Vernal Saw Palmetto Berry Wine. Try it. A free sample bottle for the asking. Vernal Remedy Co., 166 Seneca Bldg., Buffalo,

For sale by all leading druggists.

Three Journeys Around the World Travels in the Pacific Islands.

Travels in the Pacific Islands,

New Zealand, Australia, Ceylon, India, and other Oriental countries. By J. M. Peebles. A. M., M. D., Ph. D. In this splendid large book Dr. Peebles has concentrated a vast amount of valuable information. It is exceedingly entertaining and readable, and Spiritualism as he found it everywhere in his travels receives due attention, making the book of special value and interest to Spiritualists. 454 large pages, finely bound, at the price of $1.50.

Cultivation of Personal Magnetism A treatise on Human Culture. By Leroy Berrier, anthropologist and author. A very suggestive and Instructive book. Price $1.00.

The World's Sixteen Saviors, Or Christianity before Christ. By Kersey Graves. New and startling revelations in religious history which disclose the Oriental origin of all the doctrines, principles, precepts and miracles of the Christian New Testament, and furnishing a key for unlocking many of its sacred mysteries, besides comprising the History of Sixteen Oriental Crucified Gods. This wonderful and exhaustive volume will, we are certain, take high rank as a book of reference in the field which the author has chosen for it. Printed on white paper, 380 pages. New edition, revised and corrected, with portrait of author. Price $1.50. Postage, 10 cents.

INVISIBLE HELPERS

A Very Excellent and Comprehensive Work.

One from the Theosophical Standpoint.

This work, "Invisible Helpers," written by C. W. Leadbeater, the remarkable English psychic (whose lectures have graced the columns of The Pro-gressive Thinker), is certainly very interesting and suggestive throughout It treats of the "Universal Belief in the Invisible Helpers," the "Angel Story,"
"Work Among the Dead," "What Lies Leyond." The work is neatly bound in cloth, and the price is 55 cents.

Self Contradictions of the Bible, One hundred and forty-four propositions, the ological, moral, historical and speculative; each proved affirmatively and negatively by quotaproved affirmatively and negatively by quota-tions from Scripture, without comment. Price, 15 cents.

CONFLICT Between Religion and Science.
Just the book for progressive thinkers. A book that is very interesting to people who have a taste for the past religious history. By John W. Draper.
Price, cloth. $1.75.

With the finer mental and spir... ual forces as applied to healing. Price, 50 cents. Of the Life Beyond and Within.
Voices from many lands and countries, saying, "Man, thou shalt never die." An excellent selection. Edited and compiled by Giles B. Stebbins. Cloth. 51.

Works of Thomas Paine A new edition in paper covers with large clear type, comprising;

Age of Reason.....25 cts. Rights of Man.....25 cts. This is a splendid opportunity to secure these standard works, as the price is within the reach of all. For sale at this office.

THE PRIEST, THE WOMAN -AND-

THE CONFESSIONAL.

BY FATHER CHINIQUY. This is a most valuable book. It comes from an Ex-Priest, whose character is above repreach, and who knows what he is talking about. Kverybody should read it. Price, $1.00. It contains the following chap-ters:

CHAPTER I.

The Struggle before the Surrender of Womanly Selfrespect in the Confessional. CHAPTER II.

Auricular Confession a Deep Pit of Perdition for the Priest.

Pricet.

CHAPTER III.
The Confessional is the Modern Sodom.
CHAPTER IV.
How the Vow of Celibacy of the Priests is made case by Auricular Confession. by Auricular Concession.

CHAPTER V.

The highly-educated and refined Woman in the Confessional—What becomes of her after unconditional surrender—Her irreparable Ruin.

CHAPTER VI.
Auricular Confession destroys all the Bacred Ties Marriage and Human Society. Should Auricular Confession be tolerated among Civil ised National Hed National CHAPTER VIII.

Does Auricular Confession bring Peace to the Soul?

CHAPTER IX.

The Dogma of Auricular Confession a Sacrilegious Imposture. Amposture.

God compels the Church of Rome to confess the Abominations of Auricular Confession. CHAPTER XI. America, and Franco. CHAPTER XII.

A Chapter for the Consideration of Legislators, Hupbands and Falters—Some of the matters on which the Priest of Rome must Question his Ponites. Sont Post-paid, Price, $1.00.

THE SPIRITUAL SIGNIFICANCE,

A VERY IMPORTANT WORK.

The Spiritual Significance is by Lilian Whiting, author of "The World Beau-tiful," "After Her Death," "Kate Fleid, A Record," "A Study of Elizabeth Bar-rett Browning," Cloth, $1.00. Miss Whiting finds the title of hea

new book in these lines from "Aurora Leigh:"
"If a man could feel fear

Not one, but every day, feast, fast, and working-day,
The spiritual significance burn throngs

The spiritual significance burn througe The hieroglyphic of material shows, lifer ceforward he would paint the globe with wings."

The nim of this book is to reveal the curiously close correspondence between the developments of modern science and spiritual laws; to note that new forces, as discovered and applied in wireless telegraphy, are simply laws of an unseen realm into which humanity is rapidly advancing and thus gaining a new environment. From this evolutionary progress, as illustrated by physical science the author of "The World Beautiful" continues the same argument presented in those volutions and the same argument presented in those volutions are sented in these volutions. ence the author of "The World Beautiful" continues the same argument presented in those volumes in a plea that the future life is the continuation and development of our present life in all its faculties and powers, and that the present may be ennobled by the constant sense of the Dlyine Presence, and a truer knowledge of the nature of man and his relations to God tend to a bigher morality and increasing happiness. The book is characterized by the same essential style and qualities that have insured for "The World Beautiful" volumes an almost world-wide ful" volumes an almost world-wide

OTHER BOOKS BY LILIAN WHIT ING:
Kate Field, A Record. Price $2.
A Study of Elizabeth Barrett Brown popularity.

ing. Price $1.25.
The World Beautiful. Three Beries Each $1. From Dreamland Sent, and Other Poems. $1. These books are for sale at this office.

Contracts in Spirit Life and Recent of Samuel Bowles in the First Five Spheres, Etc. Written through the hand of Carrie E. S. Twing. Paper, 80 cents.

Bible and Church Degrade Woman, By Elizabeth Cady Stanton. Comprises true essays on "The Effect of Woman Suffrage on Questions of Morais and Religion." Price, 10q

Whu I Am a Vegetarian. An address delivered before the Chicago Vege tarian Society. By J. Howard Moore. Price 25 cents.

POEMS OF PROGRESS. By Lizzie Doten. They are really valuable Price, $1.00. Healing, Gauses and Effects. By W. P. Phelon, M. D. Deals with the finer mental and spiritual forces as applied to heal ing. Price, 50 cents.

Aryan Sun Myths, the Origin of Religion. By Sarah E. Titcomb. with an introduction by Charles Morris, author of "The Aryan Race." Price, cloth, $1.00.

Three Remarkable Books
"The Divine Pedigree of Man."
"The Law of Psychic Phenomena." "A Scientific Demonstration of the Fu-

The Divine Pedigree of Man,or the Testimony of Evolution and Psychology to the Fatherhood of God. By Thompson Jay Hudson, LL. D. A most remarkable work, demonstrating the existence of the Soul and Future Life. It is sedentific throughout. Price $1.50. Dr. Hudson's work on "The Law of Psychic Phenomena" is also valuable. Price, $1.50. His "Scientific Demonstration of the Future Life" should be read by all. Price $1.50. THE GOSPEL OF BUDDHA,

According to Old Records. By Dr. Paul Carus. A translation made from Japanese, under the auspices of the Rev. Shaku Soyer, delegate to the Parlament of Religions. Was published in Japan. Price, $1. Ghurch and State.

The Bible in the Public Schools; the New "American" Party. By "Jefferson." Third edition; 28 pages. Price, 10 cents. FROM INDIA

TO THE PLANET MARS.

A MOST REMARKABLE WORK. Fascinating, Interesting and Instructive.

By Th. Flournoy, Professor of Psy. chology in the University of Geneva.
"This is an account of the experiments with the 'Geneva Medium,' Helena Smith. In her trances she lives tha dual existence of an Indian princess and of an inhabitant of the planet Mars. Professor Flournoy and his fellow scientists have for more than five years experimented with these astounding physical phenomena."

is is a work of thrilling interest

It has excited great attention in this country and in Europe. Price $1.50

For sale at this office. Father Tom and the Pope. Or a Night at the Vatican. Written probably by Sir Samuel Ferguson. From Blackwood's Edinburg Magazine. This is a humorous abcount of a rolicksome visit to the Pope of Rome by Father Tom, an Irish priest, armed with a superabundance of Irish wit, two imperial quart bottles of Irish proteen," and an Irish recipe for "conwounding" the same Paper, 25 cents; cloth, 50 cents.

In the World Celestial. By DR. T. A. BLAND.

"It is inexpressibly delightful."—Hon. C. A. Windle.
"It lifts the reader into enchanting renims."—hedical Gleanor.
"It is intensely interesting."—Rev. Minot J. Savage.
"Three things make this book remarkable. Its authorship, the astounding claims put forth in it, and the philosophy and revelation of a future life it contains."—B. C. Flower, in the Arona, "It will give us ceurage to pass through the deep shadows of death to the sun-lis clime of the World Celestial."—Rev. H. W. Thomas.
"Everybody will be charmed with it, for it is not only a great Spiritual book, but a most beautiful remance of two worlds."—Banner of Light.

It is Printed in elegant style and bound in cloth and gold. Pric $1.00. is inexpressibly delightful."—Hon. C. A.

The Mystic Thesaurus,

Or Initiation in the Theoretical and Practical secrets of Astral Truth and Occult Art. By Willis F. Whitself Abook treats of The Symbol of the Cross. Spiritual Gifts, Inspirational Conception, Initiative Exposition, The Astral Brotherhood, Message of the Brotherhood, The Magio Mirror, and Celestial Companionally. It is a good text book for students of the Mystic, and will be sent postpaid, in paper, for $1.00.

Memorial Oration by Col. R. C. Ingersoll a warm friend of his and a great stataman, delivered before the New York Legislature, May 9, 1883. Price 4 cents. The Devil and the Adventists. An Adventist attack upon Spiritualism re-pulsed. By Moses Hull. Price, 10 cents.

Practical Methods to Insure Success. A valuable little work, full of practical instruction in matters portaining to physical, mental and applicual health. Worth many times its occi. Price 10 cents.

The Progressive Thinker.

Bublished every Suturday at 40 Loomis St J. B. FRANCIS, Editor and Publisher.

Entered at Objesso Postomeo as accond-class matter TERMS OF SUBSURIPTION.

THE PROGRESSIVE TRIBLER Will be furnished until further notice, at the following terms, invariably in advance: Six Months.
Thirteen Weeks.
Single Copy.

REMITTANCES. Remit by Postonica Money Order, Registered Letter or draft on Chicago or New York. It costs from 10 to 50 cents to get checks cashed on local banks, so don't send them unless you wish that amount deducted from the amount sent. Address all letters to J. R. FRANCIS, No. 40 Loomis Street, Chicago, Ill.

TAKE NOTICE.

As expiration of subscription, if not re-newed, the paper is discontinued. No bills will be sent for extra numbers.

Fig. 1f you do not receive your paper promptly write to us, and any errors in address will be promptly corrected, and missing numbers supplied gratis.

Whenever you desire the address of your paper changed, always give the address of the place to which it is then sent or the change can but he made

SATURDAY, JUNE 20, 1903.

TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES. The price of The Progressive Thinker per year to foreign countries, is $1.75.

TAKE NOTICE.

All books advertised in the columns of The Progressive Thinker are for sale at this office. Bear this in mind.

HUDSON TUTTLE.

Editor-at-Large for the National Spiritualist Association

Mr. Tuttle has been engaged to answer all attacks in the secular or religious press on Spiritualism. Send him clippings when an attack is made, giving date and name of paper. Address him at Berlin Heights, Ohio.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO THE PUBLIC.

All money in donations or collections intended for the N. S. A. Mediums' Home or Relief Fund, should be sent to this office to the secretary, if not directly paid to our authorized missionaries, who can show a missionary certificate of later date than October, 1902 No other is authorized to collect money for this association. Contributions, large or small, are gratefully accepted. MARY T. LONGLEY, N. S. A. Secretary.

600 Pennsylvania avenue S. E., Wash

ZURILDA WELLINGTON.

Or Life in Two Worlds.

The above is the title of a message from the spirit side of life through the mediumship of Mrs. M. Pasquier Curran, of St. Louis, Mo. Emanating, as it does, from the spirit side of life, it will prove especially interesting. Everybody should read it.

Brother Barrett Declines.

It hardly seems possible that the National Spiritualists Association was organized ten years ago, but September 27, 28, and 29, 1893 were the eventful days. On the 27th, at the hour of 12.40 p. m., Milan C. Edson, of Washington, D. C., called the convention to order. and as a formal opening, read the original call, and was elected temporary chairman, and on the same day, late in the afternoon, Harrison D. Barrett was elected permanent chairman. That gave the convention some knowledge of his executive ability and understanding of parliamentary usages. In fact, the convention wasn't long in deciding upon Mr. Barrett for president of the National Association.

Those who had hoped to see Mr. Edson chosen for the place were disappointed, of course, but eventually were made to see that Mr. Barrett was the right man, and from that day to this Mr. Barrett has succeeded himself, as though it were a stock company and he owned the bulk of the stock. In reality it was a stock company, with Spiritualism as its capital stock, and all Spiritualists as stockholders, and it certainly goes without saying that Mr. Barrett gave good satisfaction to those who took interest enough in the institution to become members and attend the conventions, and his unanimous choice each time told the tale of his worth and its appreciation in the capacity of pres-

He has been an energetic executive, performing missionary work all over the country, organizing auxiliary socie ties and state associations, and pushing Spiritualism to the front as no one but the recognized head of the National Association and a man of remarkable tact and ability could.

His indomitable will and his sincerity, aye, his love for the cause has made him throw his soul and whole physical force into the work, often to the depletion and almost total collapse of the

But his great sacrifice was telling upon his nerves and when the sudden shock of the death by accident of his precious little Xilia came his system gave way. His wife was an invalid previous to this, and the shock also increased her chance for transition.

With this condition upon them they were ordered by their physician to re-tire from active work entirely, and since then have been in seclusion from the spiritual public.

In his letter of declination, published in this paper last week, we read between the lines that although as much interested as ever in the cause, he has sacrificed quite enough as executive head for a thankless people who gave not enough to the support of the cause they claim to cherish.

Mr. Barrett has been a fearless and honest officer of the N. S. A., and those who knew him most intimately in this capacity knew him but to love him.

We have always had the very warm est personal feeling for the brother, but at the same time have advocated the propriety of changing officers of this institution occasionally, for the good of the overworked officer and the overcredulous public.

Now is a good time for casting about for new timber for an executive head for the N. S. A. Who will it be? Brother Barrett deserves the love and good will of the Spiritualists of the whole country, and for them as their representative, The Progressive Thinker extends to him their perfect gratitude and wishes for his future good health, prosperity and happiness, and for itself the high esteem this paper has ever held, it here offers without reserve to Brother Barrett.

The Episcopal Show. The Right Rev. Charles C. Grafton.

Bishop of Fond du Lac, has an article in Munsey, which is suggestive as a straw showing the set of the current in the ranks of the Episcopal church. The "Right Rev." is for high mass and all the flummery of the Catholic church. He begins with "God is a Ritualist." How he knows or has become so inti-. $1.00 mate with God, he fails to inform his Cots readers. But as God is a Ritualist, it follows that the more ritual the better, until religion is all ritual. There is a fine engraving of the "Right Rev." in illustration with his robes and lace-befangled sleeves. His heavy, smoothshaven face above this feminine vesture has an odd and ludicrous appearance. Why it is not red with shame is a mystery. There is also an illustration of the church dignitaries marching on occasion of the opening of a general convention. A score or more of these "high functionaries," and priests, appear in a 'snap shot," and to see their feminine costumes surmounted with the shaggy heads of middle-aged men, is intensely ludicrous. The funniest pictures are those heads of the English church, Archbishop Temple and Archbishop Maclagan, in all their high toggery, in which they appeared at the coronation of Edward VII. The embroidery on their robes is stunning. The face of Archbishop Temple reminds of Armour, that of a well-conditioned butcher; that of York, of a weak old man who if he engaged in any honest business would not look further than a popcorn or peanut stand. The Right Rev. Grafton introduces a fine bit of historical writing in making it appear that Christ sanctions ritual It is true Jesus did not at any time appear in gorgeous gold-embroid ered robes, belaced and befooled, but 'he was only laying the foundations.' He said to his apostles, "I have many things to say unto you, but ye cannot hear them now. How be it when the spirit of truth shall come, he shall lead you into all truth." In other words, Jesus left the regalia part to be worked up by the priests, and even now divine inspiration is active in devising embellishments of this worship of one who wore a fisherman's tunic, and was as sockless as Jerry Simpson. Perhaps the most amazing sentence to the general reader, is this: "Every part of the ritualistic service, as it is called, is full of meaning-nothing is done for show!" It is the prevailing opinion that the whole theatrical exhibit of the church is for show. Of course every part has a mystic meaning, and is symbolical, but the worshiping crowd have little thought awakened by this symbolism. It is with them the mummery of prescribed forms. The cut of the garments of the priests have meaning; the position taken during the service, every gesture may have significance as symbolizing a truth, but the worshipers who are going through the genuflexions, will not observe whether the priests stand facing the east or the west, toe in, or toe out, or how many candles are burn-ing before the altar.

The "Right Rev." is right in saying mankind like display. This is true. Men like to join secret societies, and have "Lord High Councillor of Oriental Flunkeydom" attached to their names. and appear on parade in gold-bespangled suits, and ostrich plumes streaming from their fierce headgear. They are amused by the church becoming a theatre. It is amusing to see great strong men in garments like woman's. but without the grace and taste of such clothing. Amusing to see a lot of choir boys dressed like girls, and trying to imitate the emasculate voices of the degraded class who are kept in oriental harems.

Are we to take this flummery, the raising and lowering of the host, candles, the singing boys, the betogged priests, the singing, the intoning, the marching in procession, the mumbling of prayers, as religion? Are these of benefit, in cultivating morality and the spiritual nature?

The advocacy of ritualism, the accentance of the churches, of these dead forms, is a strange step backward. Even the Methodists, who in the beginning would not that the sisters wear a flower on their bonnets, or an ornamental ribbon, are drifting in this direction. The tendency of the leaders of thought has been toward the casting aside of symbolism, forms, ceremonies. and adherence to the plain statement of truth. The Protestant church set out in this direction. There appears, however, to be a reaction all along the line; and a return to the methods the Catholics have adhered to, because experience has taught them that they hold the ignorant and credulous by the mystery with which they envelop their system, The masses want show and not religion, and the priests give them what they

Hot and Cold at the Same Breath.

Edgar Saltus, in the Chicago American, has a brief article on what he facetiously calls "The Spook Congress," held in Brooklyn. Having thrown out this sop to the public, that they may be sure he is not on the "spook" side, and not to be classed with the Spiritualistic crowd, he gives himself away in the following manner:

"Yes, indeed. It is probable that our descendants will look back upon us not as we look back on the monera, but as we do regard the ape. To us the ape is embryonic, rudimentary, absurd. So. no doubt, ages hence shall we appear to future man. By that time spook congresses will not be derided; they will be out of date. For precisely as we have developed certain faculties, so shall humanity to be develop more. Among them clairaudience and clair-voyance, perhaps, for these faculties are as potential within us as sight and hearing were potential in the monera that could neither see nro hear."

This is a specimen of blowing hot and cold at the same time, and denying and affirming so as to leave the reader he wildered in attempting to find what the writer is at! But to thus strongly affirm that man is endowed with the faculty of spirit-seeing and spirit-hearing is a brave step toward a full reception of Spiritualism. "Continuity of Life a Cosmic Truth." By Prof. W. M. Lockwood. The work of a strong, logical thinker, on a deeply important subject. Price, cloth, $1.

"Handy Electrical Dictionary." practical handbook of reference, containing definitions of every used electrical term or phrase. Price 25 cents. "The Commandments Analyzed." W. H. Bach. The Commandments are not only analyzed, but contrasted with other Bible passages, showing great incongruities. Price 25 cents

"The Truth Seeker Collection of Forms and Ceremonies for the Use of Liberals." For sale at this office. Price 25 cents.

How the Priest Became a Protestant. The cause of Father Chiniquy's leaving the Catholic church is told by himself substantially as follows: He wrote his submission to O'Regan's successor, Bishop Smith of Dubuque, promising to obey the authority of the church according to the words and commandments of God, as we find them expressed in the Gospel of Christ." The unsuspecting bishop accepted the submission, saying, "How happy I am to see this submission. How happy the pope and all his bishops in the United States will be to hear it, for we feared that both you and your people would separate from the church by refusing to submit to her authority"

Chiniquy promised to be a more faithful priest than ever and all was peace between him and his church. But by and by a critical Jesuit eye discovered that the submission was not what the church required. Chiniquy was summoned to Dubuque to see the bishop, and the following dialogue ensued:

"Have you the testimonial letter I addressed you?"
"Yes, my lord."

"Please show it to me."

"With pleasure; here it is." The bishop took it and threw it into he stove. Chiniquy tried to save it from the flames but it was too late. He hen said:

"How can you take from me a document which is my property and destroy It without my permission? "I am our superior and have no account to give you."

"Yes, my lord, you are a bishop and I poor priest, but there is a God in eaven who is as much above you as he s above me, and in the presence of God protest against this iniquity." 'Have you come here to lecture me?" "No, my lord, I have come at your command, but I want to know if it is to insult me, as you have done, that you requested me to come here again?" "I ordered you to come here again be cause you deceived me the last time you came here. You gave me an act of submission that you know very well is not an act of submission. I accepted it then. I reject it to-day."

"How can you say I deceived you? The document was written in good plain English. It is there on your table. f you were deceived, it was by yourself. "What do you mean, Mr. Chiniquy, by the words, 'We submit ourselves to your authority according to the word of God as we find it in the gospel of Christ?" "I mean what you see there, that neither I nor my people will ever submit ourselves to anybody except according to the eternal laws of truth, justice and holiness, as we find them expressed in the Bible." "Such language is sheer Protestantism. I cannot accept such a conditional submission. Give me one in which you simply say you will submit yourselves to my authority and promise to do anything I bid you.' "That would not be an act of submission, but of adoration. I do absolutely refuse to give it."

"Then you can no longer be a Roman Catholic priest." "May God Almighty be forever blessed."

Father Chiniquy returned to St. Anne where, on the next Sunday, he narrated the facts to his congregation in a sermon two hours in length, at the conclu sion of which every one of the thousand persons present signified their intention of quitting the church of Rome by rising up. That was in 1858, and expriest Chiniquy claims to have made 35,000 converts from Romanism to Protestantism, chiefly through the reading of the authorized Catholic version of the Bible.

At the assembly lately held by the Presbyterian church, the article on infant depravity and damnation was stricken out. It has been a bone of contention for some years, the younger and more sensitive generation being ashamed of the depravity of their creed! The majority of the old mossbacks have been against any change, but slowly the protestation has grown louder, until at last progress is triumphant.

After the vote, it is reported that a minister said in explanation, that the church had not shifted or changed its foundations; it was the same in belief as it had been since its beginning! It is most advantageous to make one's self believe that defeat is victory, and be able to crow over the success of an adversary!

And now the deed is done, we cannot help thinking what suffering the infamous belief has done in its time. What utter depravity, or perhaps better, blight of superstition the belief indicates! What suffering it has caused! Mothers weeping in grief that could not be soothed, because hopeless over the eternal punishment of children dying without baptism. As though the sprinkling of an unthinking infant by a minister, would send it from hell to heaven!

Nor can we help thinking what the result would be if a majority of these Presbyterian ministers had voted the ther way. Have infants been damned up to the moment of this vote? Are they now saved? Or has the creed been wrong, and infants been going to heaven? The church leaders have contended that the Bible proved this part of their creed. Now they say it does not. If this article has been entirely unsupported, and no one discovered it by the Bible; no one discovered it until they were enlightened by knowledge gained outside the bible, who knows but a little more knowledge will show other articles of the Confession of Faith as unsupportable and false? The devil has gone to limbo Hell vanished like a night-mare

Heaven become more inhabitable, Cruelty stricken from the creed. Conduct of life made more than be-

Impelled by the inevitable spirit of the age the church is pushed onward! Let us be thankful that the Presbyterian ministers no longer blaspheme the name of God, by claiming to believe he nas paved hell with the skulls of infants not a span long!

THE SECRET.

Softly the little wind goes by, A whisper-nothing more: Some message from the azure sky Brought down to earth's green door. Fragrant and fresh the wonder-word,

But what it means, who knows? Only the butterfly, the bird, The leaf, the grass, and rose. Theirs the divine felicity,— The gift of wisdom rare.-

The melody, the mystery, The secret in the air. -Frank Dempster Sherman.

MORRIS PRATT INSTITUTE.

Its Claims Are Analyzed by Various Minds.

"IMPORTANT OUESTIONS." and college people in contempt. But I can understand Brother Hull's position

Views of the Secretary of the National Spiritualists Association.

The Progressive answer the same. I trust that the N.S. A. president and other officers and state, camp and local, is 150,000, while prominent workers in the N. S. A. will the total number of Spiritualists in the respond with their able pens to these queries, as no doubt many of them will. Quite enough to handsomely lines in any official capacity, and I disthe N. S. A., I prefer to remain silent cates of our cause in its early years. for the present on this subject; but as a long-time medium and active worker in the cause of Spiritualism, and as a workers for the cause of Spiritual member of one of the foremost chartered societies of the National Association, my views individually upon the Brother Francis, may perhaps find a place in the multitude of answers that The Progressive Thinker was the place in the multitude of answers that The Progressive Thinker may be flooded with upon this important subject.— She Expresses Very Definite and Posinamely, of the need and place for a tive Opinions. spiritual college, such as the Morris Pratt Institute. Individually I have not been strongly impressed with the great necessity of establishing the college, hence have not personally contributed towards it. As a member of the N. S. A. board I voted in favor of the association donating the three hundred dollars it gave to the Morris Pratt College for any further contribution to the position, since I must speak to the point in expressing my views, or not at all. Now, then, Editor Francis pertinently and opportunely asks, if the Spiritualists should be called upon to support a taught can be found far better in our public schools and colleges throughout the country-said schools being nonsectarian, as we know they are. Emphatically, I personally answer No, to portance of Spiritualists sustaining any such school. Should Spiritualists be asked to pay physical culture daily if we choose, and zines and papers devoted to such culture that will give us all necessary in pattern thereafter.

instruction on the theme.
Should Spiritualists be called upon to think not, especially as our best writers and every time this idea is put forth it lege do better for Spiritualism than Hudson Tuttle, Moses Hull, Lyman C. Howe, J. Clegg Wright, Geo. A. Fuller, Prof. Lockwood, Mrs. Richmond, Mrs. Selves for public speaking so far as Selves for Prof. Lockwood, Mrs. Richmond, Mrs. Selves for public speaking so far as Russegue, Sarah Byrnes, Juliette Yeaw, Lizzie Harlow—and hundreds of others, heaven-inspired, eloquent, earnest, self-posture, etc., are concerned. All of sacrificing, noble—are doing on the lesse are taught in the schools of our know which attracts me most. Be that lesses in No. platform when they can get the oppor- land, and as regards tunity and anywhere near a proper which according to authority, means, mediumship, like those of Tuttle. Bach. give to the students, classes in psychic unfoldment and training are no more tecostal days of early Spiritualism and its noble mediumship. I have only the kindest thought and best wishes for the happiness of every teacher and worker in the Morris Pratt the year, with its dozen pupils shows that the college is needed or even wanted by more than a handful of Spiritual-

I also believe that any sensitive or grammar, rhetoric or deportment can college or other public institutions, by studying, taking observations and trainng self along the proper line for unfoldment, all the while attracting willng and able helpers from both sides of life. As for the would-be public workers who are illiterate and glory in their crude mentality, they will not give time or thought to college work; they are too intent on making the dollar, or in tryng to build up their evanescent fame to care "whether school keeps or not." Much more might be said on this imheard from and I must not encroach upon their space, nor on the patience of I indebted for many courtesies.

As to maintaining mediums' homes, I ism. With all due deference to Mr. am in favor of doing for the needy mediums all that we possibly can in their Bible, and with equal defender or the Bible, and with equal defender or the time of adversity or encroaching age. whole Hull family as teachers or inthink that any pension that goes into works, and let the student equip him-the home of the aged or disabled sol-dier can be other than well spent, so I of Biblical Spiritualism, let them take needy mediums who have done so much for Spiritualism and for humanity.

editor appear, is a letter from our es- credibly informed that a number of the the college; he has winced beneath the during the year. expressions of many of the crude illitertions from the spirit world. We have on the part of the individual is necesall had to do much wincing in this line sary to success as a public speaker, but also, but it does not alter the fact that the little effort that has been made in those who are the offenders against Spiritualists' training schools in the good English and the rules of rhetoric, past has developed the fact that people can understand Brother Hull's position and sympathize with him. My reference to his feeling article just here is to mention the extravagnt claims, which he considers of the early Spiritualists that there are or were in the To the Editor and Constituents of past years from eleven to fifteen million he Progressive Thinker—Esteemed Spiritualists in this country. Quoting Co-Workers and Friends:—In The Pro- from the World's Almanac, from a stategressive Thinker of June 13, a series of Barrett after he had carefully considjects appears upon the first page. The ered authentic statistics, I give the fol-officers of the N. S. A. are requested to llowing: "The bona-fide membership of these associations, spiritual societies United States and Canada, is 1,500,000. As for myself, I am not writing these mediums homes and colleges, but very far short of the millions claimed as tinctly state that, as the secretary of Spiritualists by the enthusiastic advo-With malice towards none, Mr. Editor, and with kindly feeling for all co-Truth, I remain, cordially yours,

M. T. LONGLEY.

I read with much interest the reports from Clara Stewart and Mrs. Longley, and also the headlines of the same as published in The Progressive Thinker dated June 6, and it seems to me none need question for one moment which of the two institutions-the Whitewater School or the Mediums' Home-is of the N. S. A. trustees I have not voted below collections and at the risk of heing called a "pleader for ignorance," I boldly say with all due reverence to school. I believe in clearly defining my the memory of its founder, that the Morris Pratt Institute is of minor importance to that of a mediums' home. While I believe in education, unfoldment, culture, and refinement as requischool where many of the branches do not think that a Spiritualistic theosites for our speakers and mediums. I logical school is essential for the attainment thereof, nor is such a school cause There is no need for Spiritualism to this query, for I do not see the imways of the old and fast decaying religions that have had their day and ought to pass away. One of the promifor teaching physical culture, etc.? nent factors in propagating error, false why should they? We can all practice traching and orthodox possesses had eaching and orthodox nonsense has seen sectarian schools; and the wonder purchase five-cent editions of maga- is that there could be found an intelligent Spiritualist that would desire to Great stress is laid upon having an Should Spiritualists be called upon to "educated ministry" for our rostrum, and in the study of Bible exegesis? I meaning a theological college training, and speakers on the subject, like my is an insult to the many grand and talvenerable friend, Moses Hull, have ented workers past and present, that, backed by the unseen helpers, have explanation of the Bible and its claims. made Spiritualism the power it now is Is it necessary to educate a large in the world. It may be said that speciass of students as mediums and clai Spiritualist schools are not the all speakers for the platform when we essential to the life and perpetuity of have our veteran workers, cultured, re- Spiritualism. There is nothing taught fined, logical, and eloquent, who are at the Morris Pratt school that cannot vainly seeking remunerative employ- be acquired elsewhere. Our public ment? If the question were not so see school system, while not perfect in all rious it would be absurd! Can any colits workings, is yet the pride of our na-compensation? Yet most of these are science of preaching—as regards learnself-educated, or have been instructed ing to preach, this branch of study is by their helpers and guides of the utterly useless in Spiritualism. The The other questions I might answer in a similar vein to the foregoing. I stand for the HOME CIRCLE. The stand for the HOME CIRCLE. I be speakers, teachers and mediums, and lieve it has been the foundation of much all these have been and are, without of the very best instruction, blessing such schools as the Morris Pratt Instiand phenomena that Spiritualism has tute; and then if one really has a hangiven to the world, and with it, and the kering to "preach," there are plenty of aids which well-written, cheap instructions where this scitions for holding circles and developing ence (?) is taught, without a constant Emma Hardinge Britten and Wallis, sts at large, and would-be aspirants to drain upon the pockets of the Spiritualour rostrum can study the philosophy, needed now than they were in the pen-through its vast and valuable literature, facts and phenomena of Spiritualism through the seance-room and especially through the home circle. It is announced from the Whitewater school that a psychic class is one of the features of the institution, and a School, but I do not think the report of psychic teacher employed to unfold piritual gifts in the pupils, but I make bold to assert that there is no place so nicely adapted to the unfolding of mediumship as the home circle—the seclusion and quietude of the home and medium who wishes to improve in a few congenial souls, and let the teachers be the interested helpers from the lo so without the necessity of attending spirit side. If there are dormant natural powers or gifts of mind or spirit. rest assured that honest effort and perseverance in this line will be rewarded with unfoldment.

It is not necessary that one should travel to Whitewater to find a place in which to develop psychic powers. And then again, does one desire study the Christian Bible, it is the height of absurdity to think one must journey to Whitewater to do so. A strong appeal is made in the Morris Pratt Institute report for funds to keep Moses Hull's Bible Class in existence, for that is his department in the school. our long-suffering editor, to whom I am "exegesis" as taught at Whitewater is not vital to the perpetuity of Spiritual-

As I believe in the National government structors, yet Spiritualism would enecognizing the hardship which the war dure without this school conducted by veterans underwent in defense of the them. Mr. Hull has rendered valuable country and its needs, and as I do not aid to Bible study in his published believe that every dollar we put out for D. M. Bennett's Interrogatories to Jeour aged and needy mediums, to add to hovah; W. H. Bach's Big Bible Stories: their care and comfort is well spent. Thomas Paine's Age of Reason, and the and that it is the crime of Spiritualists old Bible itself, and they can soon masthat they do not more generally reter its contents sufficiently to use it as spond to the call to sustain mediums a weapon in argument pro or con, for homes, or to help pension the worthy the sacred (?) word is all-sided.

The report of Clara Stewart states that this school started with fifteen In the same issue of The Progressive students. It would be interesting to Thinker in which the questions of the know how many there are now. I am eemed brother, Moses Hull, in behalf original fifteen have left the school, for of the Morris Pratt College. I do not some reason, not deeming it worth wonder he is earnest in this matter. I while to continue the course, while do not doubt his heart and soul are in some, at least one or two, have come in

Now everyone knows that a certain ates who have essayed to give instruct amount of natural endowment or ability are in the main those who hold colleges with not the slightest natural ability.

You Ought to Have Them. To the Editor:—When I ordered the ten premium books I did not expect to receive as fine a lot as they are-elegantly bound, good paper, and fit to grace any man's library—Andrew Carnegie not excepted. Every man or woman who is interested in spiritual things ought to have them. I would not do without them for a good deal, and only wished I could buy 100 books of this kind on different subjects. You certainly are working on the Divine Plan.

H. L. KELLER. Truly, speaking, and it seems a waste of the jects it has in view. people's money to support schools with no guarantee that the pupils possess at question but that the Morris Pratt Instileast some requirement necessary to tute was inaugurated with a view to regarding the above. My appeal is for aid to the Mediums' Relief Fund. If the five thousand and educational purposes, and it was chiefly more dollars donated to the school enterprise could have been placed to the that the institution was not endowed credit of the relief fund, great practical with a fund sufficient to carryit through good would have been the result and no one would have been robbed of education or unfoldment of spiritual gifts. Let it be emphatically reiterated that Spiritualism, grand, helpful, uplifting, ennobling, unfolding, instructing, demonstrating, reforming, redeeming and educating, is with us a mighty power for good all unaided in the past by theological sectarian institutions with their stereotyped processes of educaion, nor does it need them now. The question is, can the Spiritualists afford the expediture necessary to the running of a sectarian school to foster the conventional whims of a half-dozen Spiritualists, and this at the cost of the care of the aged, sick and needy ones in our ranks? Emphatically, no.

CLARA WATSON. Jamestown, N. Y.

THE GREAT QUESTION.

Will J. Erwood Presents His Views to Our Readers.

The question raised by the various writers in recent issues of The Progressive Thinker, as to which instituion, among those commanding our attention at present, it is the duty of Spiritualists to support, has attracted my attention and interest, as I presume it has that of many others. Whatever the effect upon others, it has caused some agitation in the small amount of grey matter that has lodged somewhere between the top of my head and my shoulders, and I feel constrained to say "suthin" if you will allow one of the "uneducated" to "speak out in meetin'." I said a single question had attracted my attention, but that would not begin as it may, the reports and letters in No. 707 brings us face to face with some "mighty" important matters, and I am glad they have come up, as sooner or later they are bound to come before us. Of course such things naturally bring us in contact with financial matters and reducing the whole thing, it is simply a question as to whether we have the "cash" to enable us to have what we want, or no.

It seem to me to be a self-evident fact that, if Spiritualists want to, they can do as much as any other denomination, or organization, if the term suits better and could successfully finance the Na tional Association, the state associations and our local associations and schools. It would almost seem that many of our Spiritualists are afflicted with paralysis whenever they get a goodly sum of "filthy lucre" in their grasp, and are unable to open their hands to let any of it slip out to help the cause, thereby failing to demonstrate the amount of Spiritualism, or interest in Spiritualism, they have.

It is necessary for us to look at all sides of the question raised, that we judge fairly, for surely until one does so he has no right to judge. There is no doubt that opinions differ in regard to the necessity of a Spiritualist school as many are much opposed to the same. On the other hand many are most em phatically in favor of such an institution. As for the support of indigent mediums, there surely cannot, or should not be any question as to the propriety of that. Not only is it proper, but preeminently our duty to take care of those who have grown weary and wavworn in the strife, while endeavoring to advance the cause of Truth. Therefore, I should say, by all means let them be cared for, and I am glad to see the movement on the part of the N. S. A. to carry on that work. There is nothing which will redound more to our credit than this, unless it be that we place our workers upon the highest possible plane, and I question if that is of greater moment than the care of the ones who have "paved the way" for us, with their sacrifice and labor.

Next in importance to caring for our indigent workers, comes the lyceum movement. This is a step in the right direction, and will be no end of an educator if rightly carried out. Then comes the establishment of schools, if the Spiritualist world demand strictly Spiritualistic institutions.

The lyceum is certainly the foundation stone for a finer spiritual movement, and I am more than pleased to know that an effort is being made to arouse interest in the same. As for the on par with the exponents of all other philosophies? Surely none can deny that there is need of an elevation of the standard of workmanship in the spiritial ranks, yet at the same time I would tress of known and avowed Spiritualnot undertake to say positively that we lists. Address do not need Spiritualist training schools. There is a good deal to be thought of on both sides.

I am inclined to think that the home circle is a mighty power, and in some respect preferable to one formed in any nublic institution, and would want to encourage them as much as possible. The little insight I have in the spiritual nor any acquired fitness; indeed people ion as to our duty to the various instiunusually deficient, with not the least tutions and organizations, I think I qualification that tends toward success- would be compelled to say: First duty ful rostrum work; those whose pres to National Association; this duty made ence thereon would in every way be remanifest by strict adherence to local sopellant to an audience possessing ordictety, which strengthens the state, nary intelligence—I say past Spiritualist training school effort has established But with the spiritual movement as the fact that such people have been en- with the United States, in matters of couraged by the "faculty" to take the import to the whole nation, our duty course, when it could only have been lies to the Nation or national issues. known to them—the faculty—that a Therefore I would say most emphaticlife-time of training could not endow ally let us not forget our duty to the Nathem with qualifications for public tional Association and the worthy ob-

In my mind, however, there is no public effort. I know whereof I speak serving the cause of Spiritualism. I know it was the dream of "Father Pratt" to see that building utilized for due, I believe, to oversight on his part, the early stages of its career. Unfortunately, however, this does not alter the case, and it places all concerned in rather a peculiarly trying position.

I like the idea of Dr. Wilkins, that Spiritualists should study present necessities, and that state and other assoclations should be thoroughly organized and financiered if we would accomplish anything. It were better by far to rise by degrees, no matter how slowly, than rise improperly.

There is much talk about the education of mediums; we all need it sadly enough! Who does not? But at the same time is our education to destroy our mediumship? Shall we laugh at the trance medium because sometimes there is a "slip" in grammar or rhetoric? Shall we ignore the Indian control who comes to us, and in his peculiar way imparts what information he can to those seeking for light upon this important subject? It was one such who came through one now in spirit life, and opened my eyes to this light. Shall I forget that, and refuse to countenance such another manifestation? Something within me revolts against such procedure. Even the it be the insignificant (?) table-tipping and rappings that are used as a means to convey information from those we love who have passed into the other life, shall we turn up our nose, and say we will have none of that? Hardly. A noble little woman who, with her good husband, devotes much of her time to the cause, spending time and money, came to my home, and with tears in her eyes asked me if I would advise her to stop her work because she had so poor an education? I knew her work; her honesty and nobility, and prayed her to go on and do all she might be allowed to do.

Did I do right? equivalent experience, and because we may have outgrown some things, imagine that all others must do likewise.

Let us not be too hasty. In my estimation, the grandest thing about our philosophy is that we are allowed to think freely; to investigate all things; to view all sides of the question; to grasp all the knowledge we can hold; and above all to remain untrammeled by creedalism.

I think perhaps we are too much divided in our work. Would it not be better if all institutions which have to do with the welfare of Spiritualism in general, were more directly connected with the N. S. A., and financiered by that body, through the assistance of the Spiritualists at large? This is simply a query, and may bring a storm of protest. Some who read these words may think I oppose one thing, some another, but we cannot all see out of the same eyes, and must look at things differently.

Look at it as we may, Spiritualists, it has simply come to this: We must rally around the flag of Spiritualism and do what is best for the good of the cause. There need be no controversy or "feelng" in the matter: no personalities indulged in to cause unpleasantness. It is simply a matter of duty to the cause. It is also a matter that cannot be decided in a moment, and who shall decide what shall be done is a problem I confess I am unable to solve unless the matter be turned over to the N. S. A. and its directors and associates.

If it were left to me, I would say needed first, thorough organization in all branches from local society to National, including lyceums. After had that we would be in a position to attend to all other things, but without it we will attend to nothing of quence. Then I would say that all offlcers of our state, National and local associations should be business people who understand business operations better than we who are trying to teach and run the business too. My own experience in an executive position has forced me to this conclusion. Perhaps am wrong, and perhaps all are not as incompetent in executive positions as I.

Yours for the advancement of Spiritualism on all lines that tend to uplift humanity. WILL J. ERWOOD. LaCrosse, Wis.

An Appeal for Help. To the Spiritualists of the United States: - Owing to the great desolation that prevails here, and in answer to many letters of inquiry, allow me to say that on account of the awful flood which swept down upon our city, eight thoueducational movement, who does not sand people are homeless, some of them want to see our speakers and mediums losing all they had. The large majority of our Spiritualists were living in the flood district. Any donations sent me will be receipted for and used to relieve the dis-

A SCOTT BLEDSOE, President of the Kansas State Spirit ualist Association. 1618 West Sixth street, Topeka, Kana,

"Meatless Dishes." Very useful.

Price 10 cents. "Just How to Wake the Solar Plea us." By Elizabeth Towns. Valuable philosophy is directly the outcome of for health. Price 25 cents.

a spiritual home circle. "Astral Worship." By J. H. Hill, M. If I were valled upon to give my opin- D. For sale at this office. Price $1.

Magic, White and Black. 12

A Lecture Delivered in Chicago. by C. W. Leadbeater, London, Eng.

WHITE AND BLACK MAGIC - ELEMENTALS -NATURE | thinker is one of the commonest and yet one of the most effectively, the magicient must possess the most perfect con-) ceremonies connected with almost every religion in the GICIANS-TALISMANS - SELFISHNESS OF BLACK MAGIC-ORIENTAL MAGICIANS-SOME SAFEGUARDS AGAINST EVIL.

of supernatural means to produce preternatural results." In Theosophy we cannot agree with that definition, because we hold that nothing is supernatural, and that however unusual or curious any phenomenon may be, it happens in obedience to the laws of nature. We perfectly recognize that as yet man knows very few of these laws, and that consequently many things may happen that he cannot explain; but, reasoning from analogy as well as from direct observation, we feel quite certain that the laws themselves are immutable, and that whenever anything to us inexplicable is produced, the inexplicability is due to our ignorance of the laws and not to any contravention of them. Our knowledge is as yet so very that respect of our animal kingdom, to others who equal or simply through the tremendous force of his unalterable conlimited in so many ways, that it is not in the least remark. even greatly surpass the highest intellectual power of man. viction that it can be done and shall be done. Such magiable that we should now and then come into contact with This evolution does not appear normally to descend to the clans are very few, but they undoubtedly exist; and if not beoccurrences that we do not understand. We know only one physical plane; its members, at any rate, never take upon nevolently inclined they may be exceedingly formidable. small fraction of our world—just this lowest physical part of themselves dense physical bodies such as ours. The great They do not need a method by which to gain confidence, they It; and even with that our acquaintance is in reality only majority of those with whom we have to deal possess only appear to possess it in their very nature. wery partial and superficial. But the average man is profoundly unconscious of the extent of his ignorance; and so he is shocked and surprised at any manifestation which transcends the boundaries of his infinitesimal experience.

With regard to this question of Magic many people will express exactly the same doubt as they do with regard to Telepathy, Mind-Cure, Mesmerism, Apparitions, and Spiritualism; they will say, "Is there any such thing as magic?" There are always to be found those who deny the possibility of anything which is outside their own experience. We have never seen these things," they say, "and consequently we know that all who have seen them are either fools or knaves. either fraudulent or deluded." It is useless to waste argument upon people whose minds are in so undeveloped a condition as that; it is better to leave them undisturbed to wallow in the self-satisfaction of their own invincible ignorance. They are in the position of the African king who was indignant at the shameless falsehood of the traveler who asserted that in other lands water sometimes became solid. Ice was outside of his experience, and so he denied the possibility of its existence; and just at the same mental level are the people who ignorantly ridicule what they do not understand.

If we wish to try to improve the definition given in the dictionary, we may describe magic as the employment of forces as yet not recognized to produce visible results. In very many cases it is the control of such forces by the human will. Once more there are persons who would deny that any forces can be directly controlled by the will, and once more it is simply a question of how much the person happens to know. The inexperienced but conceited man will deny anything and everything; the wiser man who has studied has learnt to be more cautious and so for idle assertion he substitutes inquiry and investigation. The adoption of this latter attitude with regard to the production of physical results by as yet unrecognized forces will very speedily show that there are many undoubted instances of this, and that they may be connected by very easy gradations with phenomena which are quite common and readily accepted.

WHITE AND BLACK MAGIC.

If we accept some such definition of Magic as that suggested above, there arises the further question, what is meant by the adjectives white and black? In this association they are simply synonymous with good and evil. The are very many purposes for which they may be utilized, and in France, and at Knock in Ireland, undoubtedly show that recognized forces of nature are no more good and evil in so long as the tasks prescribed to them are within their a great many ills, even of purely physical type, will yield be. I also know that there are many others to whom the cerethemselves than are the recognized forces of electricity, steam, or gunpowder. All of these things may be employed for good or ill according to the mental attitude of the man who employs them. Just as gunpowder may be usefully applied to clear away the rocks which obstruct the channel at disposed person to destroy the house of his enemy, so may the unrecognized magical forces be employed by wicked men shielding of his fellows.

Let us see what some of these unrecognized forces are. Last Sunday when I was speaking to you about mesmerism I mentioned the possession by every man of a certain amount of nerve ether and also of a vital fluid which flowed along with this nerve ether. Both of these, you will remember, can be projected under the direction of the human will; so in that way mesmerism itself may claim to be a modified kind of magic, since in it these unseen forces are manipulated by the human will, and visible results are undoubtedly produced thereby. The condition of the subject may be affected to a very considerable extent; not only may all sorts of delusion be produced, but the limbs may be made rigid and insensible to pain and the man may be thrown into a deep trance. So that we may really claim these two forces of vitality and nerve ether as among those which can be employed and have been employed by Magic.

Another great force which is used perhaps more frewill be impossible for me to turn aside from my subject in orher to describe fully what Elemental Essence is, since that would require a whole lecture. I can therefore give but the elightest sketch of it now, and refer my hearers to the Theosophical manuals and text books, for fuller information. You will remember that when speaking to you on Reincarnation and on the various bodies of men, I explained how the ego when descending to a new birth drew round himself matter of the various planes, in order that later on he might build wehicles corresponding to each of these levels. It must be remembered that all this matter-like that which the ego draws to himself for his own use, and the great sea of matter which lies outside—is not dead, but instinct with life. This life is essentially divine, for there is no life which is not dievolution than the life which manifests in humanity or in the animal and vegetable kingdom. We must then recognize that all this matter is charged with a kind of living essence; and the study of occultism enables us to distinguish between very many varieties of this strange living essence and to learn that the different kinds may be employed for different purposes in magic. The finer and more plastic matter of the this essence is to a very great extent at the disposal of any. I tion and Devocation—of command and of entreaty. one who learns how to use it.

ELEMENTALS.

Sometimes we read in Theosophical literature of "Elesoon as that force dies away its body of astral or mental meant by the remark that if faith were only sufficient it atmosphere from which they were drawn. These thought when one examines undoubted and authenticated instances at the back is simply the indomitable will of the operator, forms, however, may be exceedingly capable and forceful of what has been achieved by this marvelous power.

SPIRITS AND ANGELS—EVOCATION—TYPES OF MA. effective of the acts of magic. An exceedingly useful and fidence. This is gained in various ways, according to the world. You may remember that in speaking of Buddhism I by Mrs. Besant will be found in Lucifer for September, 1896. speaking, we may classify the magicians under four heads, the Pirit Ceremony; and you will see many signs of it in the The dictionary definition of the word Magic is, "The use tions which are there given will help the inquirer to a ready tions of these. comprehension of the way in which such forces act.

NATURE SPIRITS AND ANGELS.

We have also to consider another class of entities which tains all grades of intelligences, from entities at the level in tion, as it were, by brute force and does that which he wishes astral bodies, although certainly some types come down to rather shun than court the presence of man, since his ill- be managed with comparative ease at another. This natuship with man.

Naturally they possess powers and methods of their own, to put these powers at the service of the student of occultage man. They can therefore readily be dominated by the cures of physical diseases which have been produced through exercise of mesmeric powers, and can then be employed in just such determined efforts of faith as those to which I have very many ways to carry out the will of the magician. There power they will be faithfully and surely executed. All this will no doubt seem strange to many of you, but any student tained sufficient confidence will find his will so much strength and force into their proceedings; and naturally in of the occult will confirm what I have said here as to the ex- strengthened thereby that he will be able to produce the their case the water is heavily charged with powerful magistence of these beings and the possibility that they can be most unexpected results. It should be remembered that it is netism and a very decided magnetic result is produced. I used in very many ways by one who understands them. I his own will which brings the satisfactory result—not the in- myself have very frequently performed this little ceremony the entrance of the harbor, or maliciously used by the evil- have myself made a considerable study of this subject, tervention of the Greater One whose name he speaks. I as a priest of what was called the Ritualistic Section of the and you must therefore pardon me if I appear to speak posi- know quite well that many most earnest Christians would at- Church of England; and I can certainly testify that in my tively and as a matter of course with regard to many things tribute the healing directly to Christ, in whose name it was own case I believed vividly in the efficacy of the operation, says: These characters which have no doubt therefore that the water which I magnet by carried and I have no doubt therefore that the water which I magnet by carried and I have no doubt therefore that the water which I magnet by carried and I have no doubt therefore that the water which I magnet by carried and I have no doubt therefore that the water which I magnet for selfish purposes, or by the good man for the helping and that for the majority of you would seem questionable or be performed; but deeper study of the subject will show them yond human knowledge. To give a full account of all the that cures precisely similar and quite as astonishing have ized was really effective for the purposes intended. Any many classes of these Nature Spirits would be to write a been performed by equally earnest men in the name of Lord one who is physically sensitive may easily tell upon entering kind of natural history of the astral plane, and in order to Buddha, or in the name of Krishna, or of any other of the describe them all we should need many large volumes. Yet great leaders and teachers of the world. It is the trementhe man who wishes to deal fully and efficiently with what dous faith that gives the power; in what or in whom is the is called practical magic must not only be able to recognize faith matters but little. The greater person whose name is immediately upon sight all these thousands of varieties but must also know which of them can most suitably be em- though if he does know and does in any way interfere we ployed for any special piece of work that he may have in may be sure that it will rather be by the strengthening of the

The forces to which I have referred are those most commonly employed in any question of magic; but in addition to them the occult student has at his command enormous reserves of power of various sorts not yet known to the scientific world. There is an etheric pressure, just as there is an of any inherent virtue which the forms possess, but because atmospheric pressure; but the scientific man will never be of the entire confidence of the magician that when he emable to use this force, or even to demonstrate its existence, until he can invent some substance which shall be impervi- any account of the working of the medieval alchemists, you quently than any other is that of the Elemental Essence. It ous to ether, so that he can construct a chamber or vessel will see that they certainly had very many of such ceremoout of which ether can be pumped, precisely as the air is withdrawn from the reservoir of an air pump. There are themselves incapable of obtaining their results without the methods known to occult science by which this can be done surroundings to which they were accustomed. They wore and so a tremendous etheric pressure can be reined in and utilized. Then there are also mighty electric and magnetic they waved round their heads swords magnetized for certain currents, which can be tapped and brought down to the physical plane by him who understands them; and an enormous amount of energy may be liberated by the mere process of transferring matter from one condition to another. So that along different lines there is much energy available in nature for the man who knows how to use it; and all of it He has been told by his teachers or his scriptures that all that its scent might drive away all evil thoughts or influences is available for and readily controllable by the developed this paraphernalia is effective, and that in using it he will human will. One other point that must not be forgotten is that all around us stand those whom we call the dead-those, wine; but it is nevertheless at a very much earlier stage of that is to say, who have only recently put off their physical bodies and are still hovering close about us in their astral vehicles. They may also be influenced, either mesmerically or by persuasion, just as those still in the flesh could be: and very many cases arise in which we have to take account of their action, and of the extent to which their control of the astral forces can be brought into play.

astral and mental planes is very readily sensitive to the ac parts, according to the methods which it employs; and we tion of the human will; so that the living force contained in may characterize these respectively as methods of Evoca-

Such entities are of course only temporary and are in no built into forms either simple or complex according to the sense of the word evolving beings. That is to say, the es. work that they have to do. By this perfect magnetic control sence of which they are composed has an evolution of its own may be gained over any of the classes of Nature Spirits; by as essence; but the entity temporarily built out of it has no this also the wills of others, whether living or dead, may be evolution as an entity, and no power to reincarnate. It may so dominated that they become practically but tools in the a soul, for the matter and its living essence makes a vehicle, the limits of the power of the human will when properly diwhich is energized by the thought which is thrown out; and rected; it is so much more far-reaching than the ordinary depend entirely upon the strength of the thought force pear to him astounding and supernatural. The study of this matter infused with elemental essence will disintegrate, and could remove mountains and cast them into the sea; and shile they last; and their employment by the will of the But in order that this mighty engine of the will may work

TYES OF MAGICIANS.

"The second type of man gains the necessary confidence to the etheric part of the physical plane and clothe them to command from his very thorough knowledge of the subselves with its matter, thus bringing themselves nearer to ject with which he is dealing and of the forces which he is the limit of ordinary human sight. There are vast hosts of employing. He may be called the scientific magician, for foreheads or breasts. If interrogated as to the meaning of these beings, and an almost infinite number of types and he has made a close study of astral and mental physics, he this, they will tell us that it is in order to drive away from classes and tribes among them. Broadly speaking, we may knows all about the different types of elemental essence and them evil thoughts or feelings and to purify them for the divide them into two great classes, (A) Nature Spirits or the various classes of Nature Spirits, so that in every case services in which they are about to take part. The ignorant Fairies, and (B) Angels or, as they are called in the East, he is able to use exactly the most appropriate means to ob- and boastful Protestant probably regards this as an instance Devas. This second class begins at a level corresponding tain the result which he desires with the least possible exerto the human but reaches up to heights far beyond any that tion or difficulty. His thorough familiarity with his subject he knows nothing whatever of the subject. Any student of humanity has as yet touched, so that its connection with makes him feel perfectly at home with it and perfectly cal occultism who will take the trouble to read in the Roman magic is naturally of the slightest kind and belongs solely pable of dealing with any possible emergencies which may to one of the classes of which we shall speak presently. The arise. Many such men also make a great study of appropri- fail to be struck with the fact that here is undoubtedly a defi-Nature Spirits have been called by very many different ate times and seasons as well as of appropriate forces; they nite magical ceremony. For the purpose of the consecration names at different periods and in various countries. We know exactly at what moment it will be easiest to produce a read of them as Fairles, Elves, Pixies, Kobolds, Sylphs, certain result, and so they gain what they need with the least clean salt; and he commences operations by a process which Gnomes, Salamanders, Undines, Brownies, or "Good People," possible expenditure. This whole question of times and seaand traditions of their occasional appearances exist in every sons and of periodical influences which wax and wane, is one country under heaven. They have usually been supposed to of extreme interest; but it would take us too far from the be merely the creations of popular superstition, and it is no main line of our subject if we were to plunge into that this doubt true that very much has been said of them which evening; for it would mean the opening up and the review of would not bear scientific investigation. Nevertheless it is the whole question of Astrology. It is sufficient for us for that all evil influences shall be driven out from them and quite true that such an evolution does exist, and that its the moment if we understand that there are times when, and nembers occasionally, though rarely, manifest themselves to conditions under which, certain efforts can much more easily human vision. Normally they have no connection whatever be made, so that what can be done only with extreme diffiwith humanity or its evolution, and the majority of them culty, or perhaps even cannot be done at all, at one time, may regulated emotions, passions, and desires are to them a rally implies the existence of influences, planetary or other driven out by the time the priest had finished his devotions. source of much disturbance and acute discomfort. Never wise, which are acting upon and within our world; and the theless now and then exceptional circumstances have exhaustive knowledge of all this and of their combinations brought some of them into direct contact and even friend- would naturally be necessary for the worker in practical

Another type of magician attains the confidence neces

referred. The authenticated accounts of the cures at Lourdes fore determined faith. Any man who has in this way ob. mony is intensely real—men who do throw very much invoked may not ever be aware of the circumstances; alfaith and will of his follower than by any special effort of his own power. Yet another class consists of those who believe in the efficacy of certain ceremonies, or of certain formulae. For them and in their hands the formulae or the ceremonies undoubtedly are effective; but in most cases it is not because ploys them the result must inevitably ensue. If you read all who enter shall thereby be brought into a proper and denies, and that the majority of them would have considered robes of certain types, they used certain Kabalistic figures, purposes; they burnt certain drugs or sprinkled certain essences. Now it is quite true that some of these things have a certain potency of their own, but in the vast majority of view of the higher occult physics. In the same way the incases all that they do is to give perfect confidence to the performer and so to strengthen his will to the requisite point. might be showered wherever its perfume penetrated, and certainly succeed. The man by himself might possibly waver through without hesitation. porary creations built up by the action of the human will out vitality and the nerve ether can be directed; by this all the make choice of his materials. If he were dealing with a man on that level by means of definite thought, or through the very well what they were doing. services of the Nature Spirits abiding there. If, on the other hand, he were dealing with a man whose life was intensely emotional, he would find it probably easier to apbe described indeed as consisting for the time of a body and hands of the magicians. Indeed it is scarcely possible to fix proach him and to impress him along that line and consequently he would send thought forms veiled in astral matter object might be charged mesmerically with good or evil inor would employ the services of the lower type of Nature the duration of this thought form as a separate entity will man ever supposes, that the results gained by its means ap. Spirits whose bodies are built of the matter of that plane. garded as a mere superstition, it is nevertheless an undoubt-Again if he were dealing with a man of grossly material ed fact that such influence may be stored in a physical ob, which is its ensouling principle and holds it together. As subject brings one gradually to the realization of what was type, one who had dipped very deeply into the physical ject, and may remain there for a very long period of time. A plane, it might obviously be better to employ the forces and intelligences which clothe themselves most readily in phys. so that this definite rate of vibration will radiate from it prethe essence and matter will simply return to the surrounding oven this oriental description seems scarcely exaggerated | ical matter. But in all these cases alike the motive power through whatever channels he may find it best to work.

weapons he feels so certain of success that he goes straight

We find abundant traces of this magic of command in the illuminative article on the subject of thought forms written type to which the mind of the magician belongs. Broadly drew your attention to a manifestation of it which appears in I should strongly recommend it to the careful study of all though of course in a detailed account we should have to take accounts given to us of old Egyptian ceremonies. Indeed we who are interested in this matter, as the colored illustration the various subdivisions and modificathave obvious relics of it much nearer to us than that, for you may see them appearing again and again in the ritual of the Christian church. It is well known to all students of practical occultism that of all substances water is one of the most First there is a type of man who possesses such iron deter- easily influenced. It may very readily be induced to absorb mination and such entire confidence in himself and in his influences of this particular type, and will retain this unare very frequently employed in magic; and this time we are power to dominate nature by the mere force of his spirit that impaired for a long period of time. We see a close analogy dealing with real and evolving beings-not merely with tem- he gains his end by the mere determined insistance upon it. to this on the physical plane, for we know that water which porary creations. There is a whole kingdom of vivid life He realizes that his will is the true motive force, and he has stood uncovered in a bedroom during the night is totally which does not belong to our human line of evolution at all, neither knows nor cares through what intermediary agencies unfit for drinking purposes, because it has eagerly absorbed but seems to be running parallel with it, and yet to be utilize this will may work. He is careless and may even be quite into itself all the impurities cast off during the night from ing this same world in which we live. This evolution con- ignorant as to methods; he simply rides down all opposi- the physical bodies of the sleepers. It is found that it may equally readily be charged with magnetism of any type, either for good or evil purposes, as will be seen by the accounts of various mesmeric experiments in almost any of the books devoted to that subject. This fact seems to have been perfectly well known to those who established the ceremonies of the early Christian church. Even at the present day upon entering any Roman Catholic church we find at the door a stoup of holy water as it is called; and it will be observed that the faithful as they enter dip their fingers into this water and make with it the sign of the cross upon their of degrading superstition; but, as usual, that shows only that prayer book the office for the making of holy water cannot of holy water the priest is directed to take clean water and is called the exorcising of the salt and the water. For this purpose he has to recite certain forms which, though by courtesy they are called prayers, are in reality adjurations of the strongest type. He adjures the salt and the water successively in the most determined language, commanding that they shall be left perfectly clean and pure; and as he does this he is directed again and again to lay his hand upon the vessels containing the salt and the water. Evidently the whole ceremony is simply a mesmeric one, and the objectionable influence, if there be any, would be very thoroughly Then having purified his elements—having removed from them anything that might be objectionable—he proceeds to magnetize them vigorously for a particular and definite purpose. Once more he recites the most determined adjuraand in many cases they can be either induced or compelled sary to insure obedience to his commands by means of faith ful words to make over the elements with his hand the sign tion and is directed again and again as he uses these poweror devotion. He has so firm a faith in his leader or deity, of the cross, holding strongly in the mind the will to bless. ism. Although they are not as yet individualized, and in that he is absolutely certain that any command pronounced This of course means that he is saturating both the salt and that respect correspond rather to the animal kingdom than in that name must be instantly obeyed. I am not speaking the water with his own magnetic influence specially charged to humanity, yet their intelligence is in many cases quite merely of results which may be produced upon the mental and directed by his will for this certain purpose—that wherequal to that of man. They seem, however, to have usually and upon the astral planes, but also of quite definite and ever this water shall be sprinkled all evil thought or feeling but little sense of responsibility, and the will is generally visible physical effects. You have only to read ecclesiastical shall be driven away before it. Then with one final effort history to come across many kinds of exceedingly wonderful he casts the salt into the water in the form of a cross, and the decoction is completed. Now I have no doubt that there are many priests who simply go through all this ceremonial as the merest matter of form, without putting any thought or strength into it. But a Catholic church and just touching the holy water with the hand, whether or not the priest who consecrated it put real strength and thought into his work. Consecrated water is employed in many other of the church's ceremonies. In baptism, for example, the water is carefully blessed before the ceremony commences; and even in the services of the Church of England you will still find traces of this, for the priest prays that the water shall be sanctified to the mystical washing away of sin, and as he utters these words it is usual for him to make the sign of the cross in the water which is to be employed. It will be remembered also that churches and burial grounds are especially consecrated or set apart for a holy purpose and there also a special effort is made to scatter good influences so that votional frame of mind. Almost every object utilized in the service of the church was originally consecrated in the same manner; the vessels of the altar, the vestments of the priest, the bells, the incense—all had their special services of blessing. In the case of the bells they were permeated with certain rates of vibration and a certain type of magnetism, the idea being that the thoughts and feelings which these suggested should be spread abroad wherever the sound of the bells traveled—a perfectly scientific idea from the point of cense was especially blessed, in order that this blessing from the church in which it is used.

Mesmeric influence is again evident in the ceremony of and feel frightened; but with the proper robes and signs and the ordination of priests; for it will be remembered that not only does the bishop lay his hands upon the head of the candidate, but all the priests who are present also converge A magician of any one of these types has at his disposal their forces upon him and lay their hands upon his head also. the forces of three levels—the mental, the astral, and the Undoubtedly when all present were thoroughly in earnest etheric physical. All of these can be directed by the human this would be no mere outward sign but would pass on from will, and in using any one of them a man will undoubtedly one to the other an exceedingly strong influence of devotion set in motion certain vibrations in the others also. The sci- and loyalty and would help to confirm within the mind of We may usefully divide the subject of Magic into two great entific magician will of course choose among these, and so the newly ordained priest the confidence as to the powers will save himself much exertion. Along the other lines it is which had been given to him. The student of occultism canprobable that the performer hearly always sets in motion not but see that all these are manifestly survivals from a very much more force and flower, and very much more en- time when practical magic was thoroughly understood in the ergy than is at all necessary, for the object in hand; never church. There is hardly a single ceremony among those theless he also attains his results, though it may be at the ex- used either in the Greek, Roman, or the Anglican churches Let us consider the former first. Although it may act penditure of a great deal of superfluous disturbance and un. which has not behind it some true occult significance, though through many different channels, the one great force at the necessary fatigue to himself. Without going into details, it in these days so many people go through them merely as a mentals." Properly speaking the word applies only to tem. back of all magic of this type is the human will. By this the is not difficult to see how the man who understands would matter of form and never even think that there may be of this living essence and the matter in which it inheres. varieties of elemental essence may be guided, selected and of great intellectual development and keen receptivity on the days people were not only less skeptical but also less ignorsomething real and weighty behind them. In these older mental plane, it would obviously be better to approach him ant and those who arranged the ritual of the church knew

TALISMANS.

This leads us to consider the question of talismans, There used to be a universal belief that a jewel or almost any fluences; and though this idea would in modern days be reman can undoubtedly pour his influence into such an object, cisely as light radiates out from the sun. Naturally the influence put into such an object might be either good or evil, helpful or harmful. In very many cases such magnetic ac-

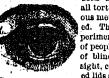

(Continued on seventh page.)

Restores Eugsight.

"Actina," a Wonderful Discovery Which er Chronic or Acute, Without Outting or Drugging.

There is no need for cutting, drugging or probing the eye for any form of disease, for a new system of treating addictions of the eye has been discovered whereby all torturous and barbar ed. There is no risk or ex of people have been cured sight, cataracts, granulat ed lids and other afflictions of the eye through this grand discovery, when inent oculists termed the cases incurable Here are the names and addresses of a few test ses and the names of the diseases cured: Miss leed, 500 Prospect Ave., Kansas City, Mo., eyegight restored. Robert Baker, 80 Dearborn St. Onleago, Ill., blindness prevented. A.O. T. Penhington, Mass. Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., catar-acts cured. W. W. Lauber, Aledo, Ill., astigmatism oured. R. W. Randall, Chicago, Ill., blind-pess prevented. W. W. Owen, Adrian, Mo., blindness prevented. General Alex. Hamilton. Tarrytown, N. Y., neuralgia of eyes cured.

Hundreds of other names can be sent on appli-"Actina" is purely a home treatment and self-administered by the patient, and is sent on trial, post paid. If you will send your name and address to the New York and London Electrio Ass'n, Dept.T. 020 Walnut St., Kansas City. Mo., you will receive absolutely free a valuable book, Prof. Wilson's Treatise on the Eye and

The above is the number of the present issue of The Progressive Thinker, as printed at the top of the first page, right hand corner. If this number corresponds with the figures on your wrapper, then the time you have paid for has expired, and you are requested to renew your subscription. This number at the right hand corner of the first page is advanced each week, showing the number of Progressive Thinkers issued up to Keep watch of the number on

KEEP POSTED

In Current Spiritualistic and Occult

You can do it by reading each week The Progressive Thinker. The Philo-ophy and the Spiritualistic and Occult phenomena it contains each week, is the marvel of the age. No one can afford to be without the paper. Its price is within the reach of all.

The New and the Old. Or the World's Progress in Thought. By Moses Hull. An excellent work by this veteran writer and thinker. Price, 10 cents.

LISBETH.

An Interesting Story of Two Worlds.

Elevating, Fascinating, Instructive Throughout.

different religious beliefs, have moved The whole book is toteresting, fascinating, and instructive.

A. SCHOPENHAUER ESSAYS. Ar. OCHOY LITHIAULK LOOALO, Translated by T. B. Saunders. Cloth, 75 cents. "Schopenhauer is one of the few philosophers who can be generally understood without a commentary. All his theories claim to be drawn direct from facts, to be suggested by observation, and to interpret the world as it is; and whatever view he takes, he is constant in his appeal to the experience of common life. This characteristic endows his style with a freshness and vigor which would be difficult to match in the philosophic writing of any country, and impossible in that of Germany."—Translator.

The Blue Laws of Connecticut. Taken from the Code of 1850, and the public records of the colony of Connecticut previous to 1855, as printed in a compilation of the earliest laws and orders of the general court of Connecticut; also an account of the persecution of witches and Quakers in New England. Some extracts from the Flue Laws of Virginia. Price 25 cents.

THE MISSING LINK IN MODERN SPIRITUALISM.

By A. Leah Underhill, of the Fox Family. By A. Leab Underhill, of the For Family.
Interesting and valuable as a history of the beginning of Modern Spiritualism, by one of the For Sisters. 478 Pages, 16 illustrations, including portraits of the Fox Family. History of the Hydesville rappings, as related by eye-witnesses; remarkable and well-attested manifestations; the "exposures," etc. Handsomely bound in cloth, But few copies remaining. Publishers' price, $1.50. We will send the book postpaid for $1.60.

ORIGIN OF SPECIES,

by means of natural selection, or the preservation of a favored race in the struggle for life. By Charles Darwin. Gilt top, cloth bound. This book is the grandest achievement of modern scientific thought and research. It has passed through many editions in English, has been translated into almost all the languages of Europe, and has been the subject of more reviews, pamphiest and separate books than any oth, volume of the ago. Most of the great scientists of the ago fully support his position. The thought of the town has become a part of the common inheritance of the ago for the ago.

THE OTHER WORLD AND THIS! A compendium of Spiritual Laws. No. 1, New White Cross Literature. By Augusta W. Fietcher. M. D. In this volume the author, in the thirty-nine chapters, discusses a wide variety of subjects pertaining to Spiritualism, from a spiritualistic standpoint. She evinces the powers of a trained thinker, both in mattes of thought and fine literary style, and capability of thought expression. The subjects are well handled with conciseness and yot with clearness. It will prove a rich addition to any Spiritualist's library, and a most excellent book for any one seeking information concerning Spiritualism and its teachings. Price $1.50.

THE SOUL OF THINGS;
Or Psychometric Researches and Discoveries. By Wm and Elizabeth M. F. Denton. A marvelous work. Though concise as a text book it is as fascinating as a work of fiction. The reader will be amazed to see the curious facts here combined in support of this power of the human mind, which will resolve a thousand doubts and difficulties, make geology plain as day, and throw light on all subjects now obsoured by time. Price, $1.50. In three volumes, cloth bound, $1.50 each. Postage, 100 per copy.

Molecular Hupothesis of Nature: The Relation of its Principles to Continued Existence and to the Philosophy of Spiritualism By Prof W. M. Lockwood. Paper, 21 cents.

OUTSIDE THE GATES and other tales and aketohes. By a band of spirit in-telligences, through the mediumship of Merr Theress Sheihamer. An excellent work. Price, $1.00. For male at this office.

The Koran Commonly called the "Alkoran of Mohammed."

Mohammedan Bible. Cloth, 81.60

THE SPIRITUALISTIC FIELD-ITS WORKERS, DOINGS, ETC., THE WORLD OVER.

CONTRIBUTORS.—Each contributor is alone responsible for any assertions or statements he may make. The editor allows this freedom of expression, believing that the cause of truth can be best subserved thereby. Many of the sentiments uttered in an article may be diametrically opposed to his belief, yet that is no reason why they should be suppressed; yet we wish it distinctly understood that our space is inade quate to publish everything that comes to hand, however much we might desire to do so. That must account for the non-appearance of YOUR article.

WRITE PLAINLY .- We would like to impress upon the minds of our correspondents that The Progressive Thinker is set up on a Linotype machine that must make speed equal to about four compositors. That means rapid work, and it is essential that all copy, to insure insertion in the paper, all other requirements being favorable, should be written plainly with ink on white paper, or with a typewriter, and only on one side of the paper.

ITEMS.—Bear in mind that items for the General Survey will in all cases be adjusted to the space we have to occupy, and in order to do that they will generally have to be abridged more or less; otherwise many items would be crowded out. Sometimes a thirty-line item is cut down to ten lines, and ten lines to two lines, as occasion may re-

Take due notice, that all items for this page must be accompanied by the full name and address of the writer. It will not do to say that Secretary or Correspondent writes so and so, without giving the full name and address of the writer. The items of those who do not comply with this request will be cast into the waste basket.

Keep copies of your poems sent to this office, for they will not be returned if we have not space to use them.

W. F. Jamieson is engaged to give his lecture "The Good Features of Modern Spiritualism from an Agnostic's Viewpoint," at Lily Dale, N. Y., camp-meeting, Aug. 20. He will also give daily instruction for a week in his new system, Science-English. Mrs. Jamieson will be there as a healer.

Dr. J. H. Randall has removed to 1142 Washington Boulevard, where he can be addressed for engagements in or out of

E. J. Schellhous writes: "It may be interesting to your many readers to know that the seances of the Star Circle for the production of matter for the Magazine are ready to begin. An enterprise of unique character, and carried on after the manner of the production of the books, Rending the Vail, Beyond the Vail, and the third book soon to be published. Mr. Aber's address is 3422 East Tenth street, Kansas City, Mo. All letters addressed to him will receive prompt attention. Other seances for visitors will be held each week."

Prof. LaLonde writes: "The Christian Spiritual Union Church holds its meet ings ever Sunday evening in Ericson's hall, 6155 Wentworth avenue, and has fine audiences, Mrs. L. J. Vaughn is our pastor and test medium. Our platform is free for all good workers. The music is conducted by Prof G. LaLonde. We had with us June 7, Mrs. J. Lindsey, of Grand Rapids, Mich., an old and tried worker in the field of Spiritualism. She will remain with us until June 15. We hope to have her with us again soon. Mrs. L. J. Vaughn is an inspirational speaker and test medium. She is located at 6750 Wentworth avenue."

M. F. Hammond, lately from the East, is now temporarily stopping in Chicago, and has been lecturing for the Progressive Society of Spiritualists on the North Side. Mr. Hammond is well and favorably know in the West, and will answer calls to lecture and attend funerals. He would like engagements at the various camps. He can be addressed at present in care of The Progressive Thinker.

Mrs. Alice Baker writes from Cleveland. Ohio: "The Church of the Soul, 221 Superior street, closed its meetings, May 31 until after the warm weather. after a very successful season's work, with Mrs. Alice Baker as pastor. Mrs. Baker is still confined to home (or near home) work, on account of the long and severe illness of her mother. She. perfectly helpless and very weak and will never be any better in the body. Baker's home address is the De vonshire, Brownell street, Suite 5. She will officiate at funerals, perform marriage ceremonies, or answer calls for lectures and give spirit messages. within short distances of Cleveland."

The Daily Republic of Baraboo, Wis., says: "Mrs. Richmond addressed a good and highly appreciative audience last night on the subject of their own choice. 'What is True Spiritualism, and How Does it Benefit Mankind?' This was selected from a large number proposed, but these also received brief and admirable treatment. Of her whole address it might justly be said that its clear presentation, its logic and literary finish, as well as its high spiritual appeal would have reflected great credit on a devout scholar, who had devoted months to its preparation. She will speak again Wednesday night at the same place. These are rare opportunities.'

Mrs. R. Scott writes from Toronto. Canada: "For the past three months, Mrs. M. C. Rynex, of Michigan, has been holding a successful series of meetings in Occident Hall at Queen and Bathhurst, Toronto. She is a lady of rare dignity and sweetness of manner and has impressed all thoughtful hearers with the sincerity of her character and the genuineness of her tests. She expects to remain until July, when she will go to that Mecca of Spiritualism. Lily Dale, and remain there for the season. Mrs. Rynex has done some wonderful things since she came to Toronto, among other things, and perhaps the most wonderful, being to direct Mrs. Deacon, whose husband is a well-known butcher in the city, to a cachet of treasure. made in England many years ago, on property to which Mrs. Deacon is heir. The amount is still unknown as Mrs. Deacon has not yet returned to Canada, but her letters state that the message coming through the lips of Mrs. Rynex has been verified in every particular. Canada is a good field for Spiritualists, and we hope Mrs. Rynex will visit us again."

Dr. Beverly writes: "At Lakeside Hall the crowds continue to come to hear spiritual truths as expounded by well known speakers, while many are attracted by the wonderful psychic phenomena by the best mediums in the city. Demonstrations are given that should convince the most skeptical. Special music has been secured and some of the finest artists in the city have donated the meetings and who says he was their services to delight the audience. greatly benefited by one of the read-Everybody should devote at least one ings."

UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE THIS OFFICE WILL BE CLOSED ON SAT-URDAY AFTERNOONS.

Take due notice that items for this contain the full name and address of the writer. Otherwise they may be cast into the waste basket.

day in the week to spiritual truth, and no better place can be found to hear and enjoy these precious truths. All are made welcome.'

H. F. Coates writes: "I wish to announce that our meetings will be held as usual through the summer months, at 3 and 8 p. m., at Kenwood Hall, 4308 Cottage Grove avenue. Our attendance is very good and an unusual amount of interest is manifested which leads me to think that our cause is growing. Sunday evening, June 7, we had present Mrs. Anna L. Gillespie, and Mrs. Cutter, who followed Dr. Hewitt's lecture with a few remarks and messages. Miss Williams recited a very beautiful poem. Our aim is to supply the platform with the best talent and feel the public will not be disappointed in visiting our hall.

Mrs. A. A. Averill writes from Lynn. Mass.: "The Lynn (Mass.) Spiritualists Association opened meetings for the summer season at Unity camp, Saugus Center, on Sunday, June 7. Very large audiences were in attendance, taxing the electric cars to their utmost carrying capacity. A very eloquent address was delivered by Elizabeth Harlow. Others participating were Mrs. Ida Pye, Mrs. Dr. Chase, Mrs. Albert Lewis, Mrs. Mrs. Dr. Chase, Mrs. Albert Lewis, Mrs. Maude Litch, Mr. A. T. Hill and Mrs. Melinda Johnson, vocal soloist. Dr. Alex Caird, president of the society, presided in his usual graceful manner. A very enjoyable feature of these meetings is the song service under the direction of Harry C. Chase, pianist, with W. H. Thomas, cornetist. These meetings will be held every Sunday during the summer and are free to the public. Good talent will be present at each meeting. Sunday, June 21, Miss Susie C. Clark will deliver an address, and June 28, Mrs. May S. Pepper will be present. The Ladies Social Union, Mrs. Dr. Caird, president, hold a test seance in the grove every Wednesday afternoon.

The Paw Paw Valley Spiritual Association will hold a meeting at Lake Cora, Sunday, June 28. There will be speaking at 10:30 and 2 p. m., by Dr. P. r. Johnston, of Battle Creek, and others are expected to take part in the meeting. The singing will be under the direction of Minnie Reid Marvin, of Lansing. Everybody invited to come. A 10-cent fee will be charged at the gate. M. L. O'Dell, president; E. C. Towers, vice-president; S. Hunter, secretary. June 9, at the residence of the bride's parents, 7343 Vincennes Road, Chicago, was celebrated the wedding of Mr. Earl J. Dunn and Miss Georgia M. Walker, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends, Dr. J. O. M. Hewitt officiating. The ceremony was neat and simple, but beautiful in arrangement and home decorations, and all was such as was befitting a Spiritualistic wedding. Parents, bride and groom, and most of the party present have long been Spiritualists and no effort was spared to make the occasion worthy of our faith. May the young couple be blest and guided by the risen

Mrs. Jennie C. Titus writes from Pittsburg, Pa.: "Mrs. R. W. Barton, of Rochester, N. Y., has just closed a three weeks' engagement with the First Spir-itualist church. While here she made many friends and her tests and lectures

The societies in that country would do well to engage the services of these mediums. They were very convincing. She is serving leave for the eastern camps, July 1." the First Spiritual Church of Williams port for June and July, and can be addressed at 307 Centre street, for engagements for the fall work." Titus Merritt writes from New York:

"The First Association of Spiritualists, also the Spiritual and Ethical Society, closed their meetings for the summer May 31. The former has been very successful under the leadership of the well-known psychometrist and clairvoyant medium, Miss Margaret Gaule, of No. 2 W. 98th street, this city. The latter also eminently successful with Mrs. Helen T. Brigham, the gifted inspirational speaker and poetical improvisator, well known wherever Anglo-Saxon (American rather) predominate. Miss Gaule proposes to continue meeting at the Tuxedo the Sundays of June. The one held on the 7th inst. was well attended, assisted by Mrs. Brigham. The expression of the audience as they made their exit indicated that they liked that method of conducting meetings, that is, a short, concise address. followed by psycho-clairvoyant delineation (usually called tests). I am proud of the many able competent speakers and mediums in our ranks, but what would they amount to without good listeners and workers and the spiritual press to shed the light?"

E. R. Keech writes from Rockford. "The Rockford Religio Philo-Mich .: sophical Society had a very pleasant meeting, May 31, with D. A. Herrick speaker, and Mrs. Belle Fuller, messages, both of Grand Rapids. Mrs. Sheets not being well enough to fill the engagement. There was about $150 subscribed on the debt of $400 incurred in remodeling their hall. For this the society feels very grateful." Alice St. Cyr writes from Springleld, Mass.: "In the thriving little city of Springfield, Mass., there is a society known as the First Church of Progressive Spiritualists, that has a large body of earnest and enthusiastic workers. Its hall is located in the most central part of the city, and is known as Foot's Hall. I wish to make special mention of the Ladies' Aid which is a part of this society. Nearly every Wednesday afternoon you will find the ladies at the hall, not only working, preparing the Wednesday evening supper, which is served from 5:30 to 7:30 o'clock, but providing the provisions, laboring harmoniously together. A great deal of credit must be given to our speaker, Mr. never been responsible for the awful Ralph Chester, of Calcutta, India, who wars that have devastated the country. has done so much for Spiritualism here, They have ever stood for peace. To for under his ministrations our society is flourishing. Starting with a few nembers we have made rapid progress. In the way of membership, and the lec-tures are attended by the best people of Springfield, for Mr. Chester's work is above the ordinary. His platform tests are very remarkable. He was lately presented with a handsome gold watch fob set with a diamond. The presenta-tion was made by E. A. Merchant in behalf of a man who has been attending greatly benefited by one of the read-

When writing for this paper use a pen or typewriter.

TAKE NOTICE.

Dr. J. C. Phillips writes from Mt. Pleasant Park, Iowa: "Will write a word about our beautiful park which never looked nicer than at present. C. W. Stewart, one of our oldest and most radical speakers, with Mr. and Mrs. Folsom, came last week from St. Louis, and are now located on the park. Last page in order to insure insertion must Sunday Brother Stewart at 2:30 in our pavilion,, gave a lecture on 'The Philosophy of Spiritualism,' and I must say I never heard a more philosophical and scientific discourse than the one given. At the conclusion of lecture Mrs. Josie Folsom was blindfolded with a heavy bandage, and taking her seat on the platform, about thirty-five cards with the names of the spirit friends of those present were placed upon the table in front of the medium. She gave the names of twenty-five spirits and many things in connection with the cards, and then told who the card belonged to. I think she is a very fine psychic, and so far as I can learn gave universal satisfaction to all present. In the evening the new-comers attended the Philosoph ical Society's meeting down in the city. J. H. Bailey presided at the afternoon meeting and the writer sang from C. P. Longley's Echoes."

Nellie Bandle writes from Chardon Ohio: "Dr. Nellie C. Mosier, Kent, Ohio whose name is so familiar to unlimited numbers, passed over to the Summer Land, June 3, after undergoing a surgi cal operation for removal of tumor. She rallied for a brief period to recognize loving friends by her side. She had been a sufferer for years, but her energy and heart-work carried her many times beyond her strength. She laid down her life work at Buffalo, April 30. loved by all with whom she came in contact. She leaves a large circle to mourn her loss, a husband and two sons in her immediate family. One dying request was through the columns of the press to contradict the statement that she had received financial assistance from either State or National Associa tion, as had been published by some local paper. Though gone from our midst her good works will follow her, and messages of love, unsurpassed in their accuracy, will never be forgotten."

Mrs. S. Garber writes from Des Moines, Iowa: "The first milestone of our society has been reached. We held our first annual convention and the election of officers, June 7. The following officers were elected: Thomas Mc-Clure, president; S. A. Garber, vicepresident; E. L. Crosby, secretary; Mrs. S. A. Garber, treasurer; H. Malcolm, James Wellchell, Mrs. Lizzie Merrill, trustees. The society is in a very flourishing condition. We have about 70 members, with an average attendance of 40. We have quite a number of investigators among the students of Still College of Osteopaths, together with many visiting strangers. We start on our new year with courage and enthus iasm, feeling that we are backed by a force stronger than anything on the material side of life." Mrs. S. Parkinson writes from San Francisco, Cal.: "As a reader of your most interesting paper, I feel in justice energetic, capable and instructive me diums we have had in San Francisco for some time. I refer to Dr. L. H. Freedman, the renowned Australian healer. His wife is a talented message medium. Dr. Freedman and his wife have ministered to large audiences for the past three Sundays, in Odd Fellows' Hall, Market street. The Doctor is a practical speaker, and one who greatly nterests investigators. The audiences are charmed with his beautiful voice. Mrs. Freedman is an excellent accompanist. The Doctor informs me that he and his wife contemplate visiting Eng-

Prof. J. Stanley Grimes says: "Dowieism is impudence mixed with hypnotism. Dowie is not even clever among intelligent persons; he is simply a big man among those who are not overbright, who have been hypnotized by him. Christian Science indicates a diseased brain to a greater or less extent. Man must have a religion and he will hunt for something which satisfies his mind. Persons of a certain type have become advocates of Christian Science. The time will come when every minister will be a student of hypnotism. There is nothing dishonorable in its use, because it is an agency which has been given us for good use. Other agencies have been put to wrong pur-

The Syracuse (N. Y.) Journal says: 'The Spiritualists in session in Empire hall say they are greatly encouraged over the work and growth of the order since the last convention, and as Dr. E. F. Butterfield, the local clairvoyant, expressed it to-day, he had hopes of educating every Syracusan as a Spiritualist, but because of advancing age he fears he will be obliged to trust it to some vounger person. 'Syracuse is becoming Spiritualized whether it wants to or not,' said the Doctor in addressing the sixth annual convention of the New York State Association of Spiritualists. 'A Spiritualist is one who has tasted of all the truths of the universe and how delightful it would be if all people could enjoy this. The voice to me is becoming uncertain. I can't talk to him as I did three years ago, but I am glad, however, to know that my time on this earth is short.' 'The Doctor was heartily applauded for his remarks and was referred to as one of the best believers in the faith in the association."

The Reading (Pa.) Eagle says: "Mrs E. J. Demorest addressed a good-sized audience at the Spiritualistic meeting faith in the story, while others are skepin Reifsnyder's hall. Sunday evening. The meeting opened with the singing of 'America.' The topic for discussion was 'The Saviors of Humanity.' These Mrs Demorest characterized as the persons who lived with the best end of the race in view She paid a high tribute to the work of woman along this line. In part she said: It was woman who believed in the Christ. She it was who trusted in Him, who followed Him and who was the last at the cross and the first at the tomb. The women of the world have the women the world is largely indebted for some of the most progressive movements. They have ever been the allies of men in their high endeavors to lift the world to a higher level. In the realm of spirit they have been susceptible to the best impulses and have striven to make the world better. Mrs. Demorest made a strong plea for woman suffrage and gave a number of illustrations in support of her contention. She then referred at some length to the spiritual influences that were at particulars address the manager, Henry work in the world guiding men and wo-man to better things Following the ton.

Always five your full name and address when sending in items and com-munications for publication, otherwise ney will find their way to the waste lecture, a number of tests were given All books advertised in the columns and recognized." Mrs. Demorest's adof The Progressive Thinker are for sale at this office. Bear this in mind. dress for the month is No. 15 No lb Fourth street, Reading, Pa.

Rays of light emanating from the luman body and visible to the eyes of some of the lower animals form the interesting scientific discovery announced as having been made by Prof. A. W. Goodspeed of the Randall Morgan laboratory of physics of the University of Pennsylvania. Divested of its technical terms, the discovery of Prof. Goodspeed means that the rays of light shed from a living human body may have sufficient intensity, although invisible to the human eye, to produce a picture on plate properly sensitized and in a room pitch dark.

The Chicago Record-Herald says: "Almost everyone at some time invesligates what is known as American Spiritualism. That some people believe they can communicate with their loved ones in the other world is a well-known fact, but the fact of that belief is no ground for the seting aside of a person's wishes in his last will and testament." This comment was made by Surrogate Thomas in admitting to probate the will of Mrs. A. D. Thompson who left the bulk of her estate to Joseph H. Mahan, a protege of her husband. Her relatives contested the will on the ground that she was under the influence of Spiritualists and not of sound mind."

Hugh J. Cannot, superintendent of the Mormon Missions in Germany, his wife, his secretary and his assistant secretary were ordered by the police to leave Prussian territory. Similar or-ders were served by the local authorities on eighty-six other missionaries in Prussia, under the decision of the government, as recently cabled, to expel them all. The Chicago American says: "How the fascination of love letters may allure two women into marrying the same man and may exercise such a spell upon them that they try to deceive each other under the guise of friendship into believing that it is not true, and even deny the fact to the parents of the husband, was part of the testimony submitted in the case in which Miss Elsie Patterson, 1519 Wilson avenue, has just secured a divorce from Bert Alvin Chambeau, also known as David Strang. This strange facility of the pen won not only Miss Patterson and Miss M. E. Murphy, of Philadelphia, but, it is said, a third woman as well And all of them for a long time kept up the deception, although each of them knew it was being practiced to her own detriment. The letters were part of the evidence. Chambeau, the possessor of this alleged hypnotic power, is a self-styled literary man and actor. Miss Patterson, who has just been given a decree, was formerly a member of the Dearborn Stock Company."

The Chicago Inter-Ocean says: "Joseph Bard for twenty years has lived the life of a hermit in a tiny hut in South Chicago, because he is afraid of evil spirits. Yesterday, when he learned of a threatened change in the street and Bond avenue, where his home is situated, he explained in awestricken whisness the return of the results of the return stricken whispers the nature of this lear. Ever since I have lived here I have longed to be neighborly with the people around me, but the devil has warned me not to. When I permit any one to encroach on my solitude he appears to me in various forms and tortures me as a penalty for my disobedience. Now, then, I am to lose my property, and he has again let me know his displeasure. Last night he appeared to me in the form of a beautiful young girl-one of lis favorite dispuises fore I recognized him in the ghost of Grover Cleveland, and the night before that as William J Bryan. Again and again he warned me that if I permitted anyone to drive me from my home I grounds of the Clackamas County Spirwould suffer eternal punishment. I know he means it, and it is driving me address the president, Geo. Lazalle, Ormad to think of what may happen.' Arrangements have been made by rest dents of South Chicago to humor Bard's strange mania, and secure for him a title to the land on which his dwellingmeasuring only 12 by 5 feet, is situated. Bard is 70 years old. He has wealthy relatives living in Kenwood, but has re fused their invitation to make his home with them." The Times, of Hamilton, Canada, says: "Chatham, June 1.—A very interesting story comes from Raleigh. It seems that for some time past a young woman, alleging herself to be a clairpossessed of all the occult acvoyant, complishments of second sight, has been operating in this districa. The young woman, who, rumor says, is not unprepossessing in appearance, claims to be able to locate oil, minerals, water and gas. Her mode of operation is to pass into a state of trance, and when in this condition it is said she can speak intelligently in any language. The powers of the clairvoyant were first enlisted by oil speculators, but considerable excitement has been aroused by her latest discovery. While operating in a trance on Thursday, she suddenly broke forth: There are jewels on the bank. I can see them. They were put there by the Indians. We will proceed to the wigwam and search for them.' Chanting weird Indian songs, the young woman led the way to a spot on the farm of Oliver Bailey, where she indicated the treasure was to be hidden. This section was formerly owned by George Jacobs, who kept a store and distillery in the early days before the rebellion. Digging operations were commenced on the spot indicated, and yesterday the diggers came upon three coins of strange inscription, and dated 1617. These coins, are held by the owner, and excavating operations are proceeding. The affair is causing considerable excitement and argument. Some profess tical, and even go so far as to allege that the coins were secreted there by the clairvoyant herself."

E. W. Sprague and wife, missionaries for the N. S. A. have a little time in July that is not yet taken. Address them at their home, 618 Newland avenue, Jamestown N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Dye, of Los Angeles, Cal., came to the city last week, and will remain here for a short time Mrs. Dye is well and facvorably known as a magnetic healer of remarkable powers. Mr. Dye has always been active in the work in California. The Spiritualists of Clarke county, Washington, will hold their second annual camp-meeting at Etna, Clarke county, Washington, from August 9 to 31 inclusive. First-class speakers have been engaged and noted mediums representing nearly all phases of mediumship will be present, among whom is Edward Earle, the wonderful independent slate writer, and test medium. Mrs. Lillian Nagle has been engaged as one of the platform test mediums. For full B. Allen, Etns Clarke county, Washing

Mig. Essle Ashby writes from Los Angeles, Cal. "The board of managers of the camp meeting association is working very hard upon the program for its next camp-meeting. We have had to secure new grounds (an improve ment on the old) which has been somewhat of a drawback. The grounds are located about two and one-half miles further out than Sycamore grove was; are about midway between Los Angeles and Pasadena; on two street car lines of 5-cent fare each. We have engaged a number of speakers, such as Moses and Mattie Hull, John W. Ring, of Texas, Mrs. Maud von Frietag and others. We expect to have one of the best camp-meetings yet held in Los Angeles. Last year's camp went behind over $200, but I am thankful to say the new board this year intends to clear this debt before we open our camp. We are all looking forward to one of the most glorious camps yet."

A news item in the Chicago Examiner tells of a remarkable occurrence: John Ross, a burglar, escaped from the bride well, one evening while the prisoners were washing their hands and faces be fore supper. That night John Straka a guard at the bridewell, dreamed of the hiding place of the escaped prisoner Superintendent Sloan and Assistant Superintendent O'Connell asked him to relate his dream, which he did. The three men then went to the barn and found Ross. Straka has been made the official dreamer of the institution.

LIST OF CAMP-MEETINGS.

Bend in Your Dates and Name of Secretary at Once.

Inquiries are already coming to this office in reference to the various camps. Will the officers of each camp please send at once the correct dates, etc., and also the name of the secretary who can be addressed for programmes and full particulars. The notices that do not contain the names of the secretary or president are incomplete.

Island Lake, Mich.

The Island Lake Camp Association desires to announce that the season of 1903 opens July 23, extending through the month of August. Correspondence solicited with a few more good phenom-enal mediums. H. R. LaGrange, secre-

Lake Brady, Ohio. Lake Brady camp opens July 5 and closes August 30. A. G. Keck, secreary, Akron, Ohio.

Chesterfield, Ind.

Chesterfield (Ind.) camp-meeting opens July 16 and closes August 30. for programs and other information address Flora Hardin, secretary, Anderson, Ind.

Camp-meeting in Oregon. The Spiritualists of Oregon will hold their annual camp-meeting from July 4 itualist Association. For particulars, egon City, Oregon.

Mt. Pleasant Park, Clinton, Iowa. The camp session of the M. V. S. A. Mt. Pleasant Park, Clinton, Iowa, will open August 2 and close August 30. For programmes address Mollie B. Anderson, secretary, Clarksville, Mo.

Verona, Park, Me. This camp opens August 2 and closes August 30. A. F. Smith, president, Bangor, Me.; F. W. Smith, secretary, Rockland, Me.

Forest Home, Mich. The fourth annual camp-meeting opens at Snowflake, Mich., Aug. 1, and closes August 23. Write to Mrs. Ruth Eastman, secretary, Mancelona, Mich.

Box 69. Ottawa Camp, Kansas. This camp opens July 30, and closes

August 9. For full particulars address H. W. Henderson, Lawrence, Kansas. The Waukesha Camp, Wis.

This camp opens July 17 and closes August 17. For full particulars address the secretary, Will J. Erwood, No. 1334 Pine street, La Crosse, Wis., or Clara L. Stewart, president, Whitewater, Wis.

Ottawa, Kans. This camp opens July 30 and continues to August 9. For full particulars address H. W. Henderson, president, Lawrence, Kansas, or Jacob Hey, Secretary, Carbondale, Kansas.

Wonewoo, Wis. The Wonewoc camp opens this year on August 13 and continues to the 30th of that month. Address for particulars, Miss Gertrude Spooner, Secretary town, Iowa.

Wonewoc, Wis.

Grand Rapids, Mich.

jary, Franklin, Ned,

Reed's Lake, Grand Rapids, Mich. The West Michigan Spiritualist Association will hold its meeting this year at Grand Rapids, at its grounds, at Reed's Lake, known as the "Pioneer As sembly Grounds." Meeting opens July 4, and closes August 30. For full particulars address D. A. Herrick, presi-

Winfield Camp, Kansas. This camp will be held in Island Park, Winfield, Kansas, commencing July 8, and closing July 13. For full particulars write to Mrs. Maud K. Gates, corner Second and Indiana streets, Highland Park, Winfield, Kansas.

Franklin, Neb.

dent and manager, 296 N. Ionia street,

Marshalltown, lows. This camp begins August 23 and ends lished. Send for it. September 18. For full particulars address E. M. Vail, president, Marshall-

Words and Music. This camp commences July 17, and For the use of meetings, lycoums and home, by 8. W. Tucker. These beautiful sough have stready comforted many broken hearts, and it is hoped that they many he heard in every land. Frico 150; 61.00 per descent. Sec seals at this code. continues until August 2. For full par-ticulars address D. L. Haines, secre-

Grand Ledge, Mich.
This camp opens July 26 and closes August 23. For programmes apply to A. McKelvey, Grand Ledge, Mich.

Lake Helen Camp, Florida. / The Southern Cassadaga Camp-meeting will convene the first of February, and will close the middle of March For information and programmes, address Mrs. J. D. Palmer, corresponding secretary, Willoughby, Ohio.

Saugus Center, Mass. The Lynn Spiritualists Association will hold meetings every Sunday, ending September 28, at Unity Camp, Sau-Center, Mass. Mrs. A. A. Averill, 42 Smith street, Lvnn, Mass.

The Onset Camp. .Opens July 12 and closes August 30.

Maple Dell Park, Ohio.

The American Spiritual Religious and Science Union will hold a camp session Maple Dell, commencing July 25 and closing August 30. Lucy King, corresponding secretary. Address with stamp, Box 45, Mantua, Ohio.

Harmony Grove, Cal.

The seventh annual camp-meeting opens July 26, and closes August 9. We are expecting a very prosperous camp. For particulars address Frank C. Foster, secretary, Escondido, Cal.

Camp-meeting at Etna, Wash. The Spiritualists of Clarke county, Washington, will hold their second an nual camp-meeting in their beautiful grove in Etna, from August 9 to 30. Good speakers and mediums have been engaged. For circulars and information address the secretary, Henry B. Allen, Etna, Clarke county, Washington.

Freeville, N. Y.

The Central New York Spiritualist Association will hold its eighth annual camp-meeting at Freeville, N. Y., Aug. 1 to 16. B. Rhodes, Elmira, N. Y., president; Victoria C. Moore, Dryden, N. Y., secretary.

Lake Pleasant, Mass.

This camp commences August 2 and continues for 30 consecutive days. For information and programs address Albert P. Blinn, 61 Dartmouth street. Bos

Los Angeles, Cal.

The Southern California Spiritualist Camp-meeting Association will hold its camp-meeting in Los Angeles, Cal. from August 16 to September 13. Ad dress all communications to W. F. Vose, No. 1337, East Twenty-third street, sec retary, or Mrs. Essie Ashby, 1306 East Twenty-seventh street, president,

INDUCE

Your Neighbor to Subscribe for The Progressive Thinker. Now is the time to extend the circulation of The Progressive Thinker. It will contain Occult and Spiritualistic news with which every one should be familiar. No other paper published on this earth contains such a vast amount of matter so well adapted to enrich the mind. Send in a subscription now.

HARMONIGS OF EVOLUTION. The Philosophy of Individual Life, Based Upon Natural Science

As taught by modern masters of law. By Florence Huntley. An exceedingly interesting and distinctly valuable contribution to the literature of evolution, unfolding its laws from the deeper and cleaser spiritual aspect, and indicating the defects of the Darwinian theory. Spiritualists and Materialists alike can gain much from its perusal. Price, finely bound in cloth, 22.

THUMBSCREW AND RACK.
Torture implements employed in the 15th and 16th centuries for the promulgation of Christianity, with pictorial illustrations. By George E. Macdonald. Price, 10 cents.

In Tune with the Infinite By Ralph Waldo Trine.

By Ralph Waldo Trine.

Within yourself lies the cause of whatever enters into your life. To come into the full realization of your own awakened interior powers, is to be able to condition your life in exact accord with what you would have it.—From Title-Page.

CONTENTS—I.—Predude: 11. The Supreme Fact of the Universe; 111. The Supreme Fact of Human Life; 11. Fullness of Life—Bodily Health and Vigor; V. The Secret. Power and Effect of Love; VI. Wisdom and Interior Illumination; VII. The Realization of Perfect Feace; VIII. Coming into fullness of power; 13t. Flenny of All Things—The Law of Prosperity; IX. How Men. Have Become Prophete, Secre, Sages, and Saviors; XI. The Basic Principle of All Religions—The Universal Religion: XII. Entering Now into the Realization of the Highest Riches. For sale at thisomice, Price, postpaid, $1.25.

THE VOICES By Warren Sumner Barlow. The Volces contain poems of remarkable beauty and force. They are most excellent. Price $1.00.

I'ldn and the By Rev. Arthur Chambers, Spirit World Associate of King's College, for Christian people who would investigate and learn the facts of Bible teachings as well as modern spirit phenomena. Price, cloth, $1.10.

THE OTHER SIDE OF DEATH Scientifically Examined and

Carefully Described. BY C. W, LEADBEATER.

A Volume of 500 large pages, treating very nterestingly if Life, Death and Immortality, Clairvoyance, Spirit Phenomena, Etc. as viewed by an acknowledged and cultivated exponent of Theosophy. Price $1.50.

THE DESGENT OF MAN. By Charles Darwin. Cloth, glit top, 75 cents. On its appearance it aroused at once a storm of mingled wrath, wonder and admiration. In elegance of style, charm of manner and deep knowledge of natural history, it stands almost without a rival among scientific works.

The Religion of Science. By Dr. Paul Carus. Ver thoughtful and interesting. Price, 25 cents.

Selections from the contents of that ancient book, its commentaries, teachings, poetry, and legends. Also brief sketches of the men who made and commented upon it. By H. Polang. 859 pp. Price, cloth, $1

A GREAT BOOK.

THE HULL-JAMIESON DEBATE.

One of Unflagging Interest Throughout -It Should Be in the Hands of Every Spiritualist and Freethinker.

This book, containing nearly 500 closely printed pages, should have a million circulation. Price $1. It is chockful of rapid-firing ideas, and is the ablest debate, on both sides, ever pub-

THE GOLDEN ECHOES: A New Book of Inspirational

PUBLICATIONS

HUDSON TUTTLE 194

A LIBRARY OF SPIRITUAL SCIENCE.

STUDIES IN THE OUTLYING FIELDS Q1 PSYCHIG SCIENCE.
This work essays to utilize and explain the vast array of facts in its field of research by referring them to a common cause, and from them arise to the laws and conditions of Man's spiritual being. Third edition. Price, 75 cents. RELIGION OF MAN AND ETHICS OF SCI-

Not servile trust to the Gods, but knowledge of the laws of the world, belief in the divinity of man and his eternal progress toward perfection is the foundation of this book. Price, $1.

LIFE IN TWO SPHERES.

In this story the scenes are laid on earth, and in the spirit world, presenting the spiritual philosophy and the real life of spiritual beings. All questions which arise on that subject are answered. Price, 50 cents.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF SRIRIT AND THE SPIRIT WORLD. THE ORIGIN AND ANTIQUITY OF MAN.

Containing the latest investigations and discoveries, and a thorough presentation of this interesting subject. English edition. Price 31. THE SECRETS OF THE CONVENT OF
THE SACRED HEART.
This book was written for an object, and has been pronounced equal in its exposure of the diabolical methods of Catholicism to "Uncis Tom's Cabin." Price, 25 cents.

HERESY, OR LED TO THE LIGHT, A thrilling psychological story of evangeliza-tion and free thought. It is to Protestantism what "The Secrets of the Convent" is to Cata-olleism. Price, 30 conts.

WHAT IS SPIRITUALISM?

How to investigate. How to form circles, and develop and cultivate mediumship. Names of eminent Spiritualists. Their testimony. Eight page tract for mission work. Single copies, cents; 100 for $1.25.

FROM SOUL TO SOUL.

By Emma Rood Tuttle. This volume contains the best peems of the author, and some of the most popular songs with the music by eminen composers. The peems are admirably adapted for recitations. 225 pages, beautifully bound.

Price, $1.

THE LYCEUM GUIDE. THE LYCEUM GUIDE.

For the home, the lyceum and societies. A manual of physical, intellectual and spiritual culture. By Emma Rood Tuttle. A book by the aid of which a progressive lyceum, a spiritual or liberal society may be organized and conducted without other assistance Price, 50 cents; by the dozen, 40 cents. Express charges unusid.

unpaid.

ANGELL PRIZE CONTEST RECITATIONS.

For humane education, with plan of the Angell Prize Oratorical Contests. By Emma. Rood Tuttle. Price, 25 cents.

All books sent postpaid. Address HUDSON TUTTLE, Publisher, Berlin Heights, Ohio. ZELMATHE MYSTIC, or White Magto Versus Black. By Alwin M. Thurber. Cecult philosophy clothed in story form; aims to give a better un-derstanding of Magic, black and white. 880 pa-ges, large and plain. Cloth, $1.25.

SPIRITUAL SONGSTER. By Mattie E. Hull. Thirty-eight of Mrs. Hull's evetest songs, adapted to popular nuclo, for the use of congregations, circles and familes. Price, 10 cents, or 87 per hundred.

The Development of the Spirit After Transition. By the late M. Faraday. Theorigin of religions, and their influence upon the mental development of the human race. Price, 10 cents.

"THE DREAM CHILD,"

A Fascinating Romance of Two Worlds. By Florence Huntley. Price, cloth, 75 cents. Books. like 'The Dream Child' spur humanity on tomake more and more demands of this nature, and will open up new heights and depths of spiritual knowledge.—Ella Wheeler Wilcox. Will, I believe, take its place beside Bulwer's "Zanoni' and the 'Seraphita' of Balzac.—Daily Capital. Topeks, Kansas. Although simple and unvarnished with any inflammable descriptions, enthralls the mind to the exclusion of other thoughts, until rejuctantly the reader closes the last page.—Minneapolis Sunday Times.

ESOTERIC LESSONS.

This work includes "Personified Un-thinkables," "First Lessons in Reality," and "A Tour Through the Zodiac." This is an interesting production of oc-cult thought and will well repay careful study and meditation by all occultists. Price, Cloth, $1.50. For sale at this

OLD AND NEW PSYCHOLOGY By W. J. Colville. Beports of twenty-four distinct lectures, recently delivered in New York, Brooklyn, Boston, Philadelphia and ether prominent cities of the United States, have contributed the basis of this volume. Price, $1.00.

A Few Words About the Devil. And other Essays. By Charles Bradlaugh. With the story of his life as told by himself, and the history of his parliamentary struggle. With portrait. Paper, 50c.

WOMAN: A Lecture Delivered to Ladies the present status of woman, physically, mentally, morally and spiritually. The divine law of true harmonial marriage, etc. Price, 10c.

The Spiritual Wreath.

A collection of words and music for the choir, congregation and social circle. By S. W. Tucker. Comprises sixty or more gems of song. Price 15 cents. COSMIAN HYMN BOOK.

A collection of original and selected Hymns for Liberal and Ethical Societies for Schools and the Home. Compiled by L. K. Washburn. This volume meets a public want. It comprises This volume meets a public want. It comprises 258 choice selections of poetry and music, embodying the highest moral sentiment, and free from all sectarianism. Price, 50 cents.

THE SPIRITUAL ALPS And How We Ascend Them. How to reach that altitude where spirit is supreme and all things are subject to it. By Moses Hull. Prior in cloth. 40 cents; paper 25 cts. For sale at this office.

What All the World's a-Seeking. RALPH WALDO TRINE.

RALPH WALDO TRINE.

Each is building his world from within; thought is the builder; for thoughts are forces,—subtic, vital, irresistible, omnipotent,—and according as used do they bring power or impotence, peace or pain, success or failure.—From Title-page.

The above books are beautifully bound in gray-green raised cloth, stamped in deep old-green and gold, with gitt top. Price, $1.25. For sale at this office. PROGRESSION Or How a Spirit Ad-tances in Spirit Life, The evolution of Man. By Michael Faraday.

Talleurand's Letter to the Pone. This work will be found especially interesting to all who would desire to make a study of Romanism and the Bible. The historic facts staped, and the keen, seathing review of Roming ideas and practices should be read by all. Price 25 cents.

"AS IT IS TO BE,"

A VERY SUGGESTIVE WORK

It Beams With Spiritual Truths,

This is a beautiful book, by Cora Lynn Daniels, and it scintillates with grand spiritual thought. An idea of: this work can be obtained by reading the titles of a few of the chapters therein:

The Process of Dying; Light and Spirit; The Law of Attraction; Senses of the Spirit; What Is Unconscious Will; Fear; Astrology; The God-Soul of Man; The Drama; A Day in Heaven Price $1. For sale at this office. Psychopathy, or Spirit Healing.

A series of lessons on the relations of the spirit to its own organism, and the interrelation of human beings with reference to health, disease and healing. By the spirit of Dr. Benjamin Rush, through the mediumship of Mrs. Cora L. V. Richmond. A book that every healer, physician and Spiritualist should read. Price, $1.50.

MAGIG, WHITE AND BLAGK.

(Continued from fifth page.)

tion resembles that of a cordial—that is to say that it is these directions must be very deeply and constantly affected highly stimulant; in other cases it is arranged for the special by it. purpose of calming and soothing the subject so that he may tact with himself. Anything therefore which has been in always a very real and very serious evil side. We shall find It about; but nevertheless and quite apart from man's faith the moment that those regular meals are intermitted trouble in it, it is possible for a talisman to produce an effect even instantly manifests in some way or other. I myself heard of upon those who do not know of its presence. When charged one case in which spontaneous fires broke out in the various by a really powerful mesmerist certain charms will retain huts of the village as soon as they neglected to look after the magnetism for a very long period of time. I have myself their tribal delty in the usual way. In such cases there is seen in the British Museum in London, Gnostic charms which undoubtedly an entity posing as the deity—an entity who enstill radiated quite a powerful and perceptible influence, although they must have been magnetized at least 1700 years ago; and some Egyptian Scarabosi are still effective even such sacrifices are usually of two kinds, either there is a sacthough they are much older than that. Naturally here also rifice of some living creature in which blood is poured out, it is possible to charge an object for evil as well as good; or else food of some kind, and preferably flesh food, is burnt and any one who will take the trouble to read Ennemoser's so that the fumes of it may arise. This distinctly implies History of Magic will find various instances quoted therein. Another side of the subject is that connected with charms or mantrams. These are forms of words by means of which certain occult results are supposed to be achieved. Here also, as in the case of the talisman, definite effects are sometimes undoubtedly produced; and also as with the talisman this result may be produced in either of two ways, or both of them may contribute towards it. In the great majority of burnt sacrifices is only a Nature Spirit of an exceedingly low cases the formula does nothing beyond strengthening the will of the person who uses it, and impressing upon the mind of the subject the result which it is desired to achieve. The confidence of the operator that his formula must produce its effect, and the belief of the subject that such effect will be produced are frequently quite sufficient for the purpose. 1 ought, however, to mention that there is a much rarer type we find that such sacrifices have naturally been discontinued. of mantram in which the sounds themselves produce a defi- It is surely scarcely necessary to insist upon the fact that no nite effect. Naturally each sound sets up a definite vibra developed being of any sort, no angel or deva could for one tion, and an orderly succession of such vibrations following moment have exacted or consented to receive any form of one another according to the predefermined scheme, may be offering which involved death and suffering. No beneficent so arranged as to evoke definite feelings or emotions or delty has ever yet delighted in the foul scent and fumes of thoughts within the man. Many of the Sanskrit mantrams used in India are of this nature. It is obvious that in this case the charm would be untranslatable, that it must be employed in the original language and that it must be correctly. pronounced by one who understands how it was intended to sary for the success of such a mantram that the person who uses it should understand the meaning of the words, or even that the sounds should make intelligible words at all. Instances in which such succession of sounds do not make in. of the powers whatever he may happen to desire at the motelligible words will be found in some of the Gnostic writings, ment. Much of the witchcraft of primitive tribes is of this he had done this, but he was quite unable to give any satisnever be forgotten that along whatever line the nature, and here also there is no magician works, by whatever means he obtains his confidence, the forces at his command may be employed for evil magician. I have myself seen instances of this, and indeed or for good according to the intention which lies behind I once took the trouble to learn quite an elaborate ritual of them. We have spoken chiefly of the pleasanter side of the this nature, which, if put into practice, would have given me subject, dealing principally with cases in which the will of the services of an entity which undertook to procure whatthe operator was employed in order to help; but we must ever its coadjutor might require. Not only would it furnish not forget that there have been and are cases of evil will and him with boundless wealth, but it would also carry out his it is important for us to understand this, because of the fact wishes with regard to either his friends or his enemies, that such will may often be unconsciously exercised. That, From what I myself saw in connection with other practitionhowever, belongs to the practical application of the subject to ourselves with which I hope to deal next week when up to very high limits; but the conditions required were such speaking upon the Use and Abuse of Psychic Powers.

be sounded. On the other hand it is not in the least neces-

INVOCATION.

Let us turn now to the second type of magic, that which works by invocation—that which does not command but persuades. It will at once be seen that this type of magic has suppliant himself does nothing; he simply begs or bribes is not at his command nor are the various forms of forces there are many very interesting developments of it. such as etheric pressure or the use of the elemental essence. or to have facts or conditions modified by means of some voke from above some help for the soul."

the life of the Brahman. The whole of that life is practically indeed the result showed that his trust in his unseen friend one continuous prayer; for to every one of his acts, even the was fully justified. The man belonged distinctly to the lower, smallest, a special form of petition is assigned. Though very classes and seemed quite uneducated. He were no clothing much more elaborate and detailed, it is somewhat on the whatever excepting a small loin cloth so that it would be utlines of the form which is given for us in certain Catholic terly impossible to suppose that he had somehow concealed convents, where the novice is instructed to pray every time some fruit about his person. We sat upon a flat roof with that he eats that his soul may be nourished with the bread nothing but the sky above us, and yet each fruit as we asked of life; every time that he washes his hands to form the aspi- for it was instantly thrown down among us as though it had ration that his soul also may be kept pure and clean; every fallen from that sky. In this way the whole of our purchase time that he enters a church to pray that his whole life may was duly delivered to us, in the order in which we called for be one long service; every time that he sows a seed, to think it; and that although we were at a distance of some miles of the seed of the word of God which is to be sown in the from the shop in which it had undoubtedly been left. first place in his own heart and which he in turn is then to sow in the hearts of others; and so on. The life of the Brah-larger scale and is carried into very much greater detail. No one can doubt that he who really and honestly carries out all

We shall observe that although the invocatory magician is overcome his fears or his agitation. Such a talisman may much more limited in his field of action that the one who probe magnetized, for example, with the special object of ceeds to command, he has nevertheless the choice of several strengthening a man to resist a certain temptation—say classes of entities to whom his appeal can be directed. He that towards sensuality; and there is no doubt whatever that may beg help, for example, from Angels, from Nature Spirwhen properly charged it would have a very powerful influ- its, or from the dead. We know how frequently and how ence in the direction intended. Here we have at once the readily our Roman Catholic friends invoke help from the philosophy of relics. Every one of us has his especial rates guardian angels whem they believe to be always about them. of mental and astral vibration, and any object which has That is undoubtedly an effort at invocatory magic, and it may been long in contact with us will be permeated with these in many cases obtain a definite response; although whether rates of vibration, and capable of radiating them in turn, or it does so or not, at any rate a result is produced by the conof communicating them with especial energy to any other fidence of the one who offers the prayer in the efficacy of his person who may wear the object or bring it into close con-supplication. That is the good side of such magic; but it has close contact with some great saint or some especially devel- that showing itself with painful prominence in the Voodoo oped person will bear with it much of his own individual or Obeah ceremonies of the negroes. In these the magicians magnetism, and will naturally tend to reproduce in the man are endeavoring to invoke outside aid in order to work evil or woman who wears it something of the same state of feel- upon the physical plane; and it is unquestionable that they ing which existed in the man from which it came. I have sometimes meet with a considerable amount of success in myself known of many instances in which such a talisman their nefarious efforts. I have myself seen a good deal of was very effective—in which, for example, it was possible by this in South America, and am therefore able personally to its means to calm and soothe persons prostrated by nervous testify that results are produced along this most undesirable disease, so that they were enabled to gain the repose of line of activity. The same thing may occasionally be seen which they stood in such desperate need. We must never in India, more especially among the hill tribes. There it is forget also that in very many cases the faith of the wearer by no means uncommon to find tribal gods worshiped. And in the talisman also comes into play and contributes its the worship very frequently takes the shape of propitiatory quota to the result. If a person is impressively informed by sacrifies, in return for which the tribal delty undoubtedly someone in whom he has perfect confidence that a certain sometimes produce results upon the physical plane, You talisman will undoubtedly produce a certain result, then his will read, for example, of villages in which all goes well so own firm expectation of that result tends very much to bring long as the village god receives his accustomed offerings; but joys the worship paid to him or finds real pleasure and profit in the sacrifices which are offered. It will be noticed that that the tribal delty is a very low grade of entity possessing a vehicle upon the etheric portion of the physical plane—a vehicle through which he can absorb these physical fumes and either draw definite nourishment from them or experience pleasure from partaking of them. It may be taken as an absolutely certain rule that every delty under whatever name he may masquerade, who claims blood sacrifices or type; for it is only to such an entity that such abominations could by any possibility be pleasing.

It will be remembered that in the earlier days of the Jewish religion horrible holocausts of this nature were frequently offered; but as we come down nearer to the present age and the Jewish race has taken its place in civilization, blood; and the higher types of religion have consistently avoided such horrors.

SELFISHNESS OF BLACK MAGIC

The distinguishing characteristic of that evil side of Magic which has usually been called "black" is that its object is entirely selfish. There are many cases in which it is nothing more than this-that is to say in which its object is not to do evil for evil's sake, but simply to obtain for the possessor ers, I know that these offers could certainly be made good that it would have been quite impossible for any right thinking man to go further into the matter. The ritual required was quite easy of accomplishment, but the agreement with the entity would have had to be cemented with human blood in the first instance, and the creature would afterwards have needed regular food involving the sacrifice of lower forms of ples of the black art on a lower scale. All of this may be at its command fewer resources than the other. Here the life. Much more of such magic exists in many parts of the world than is usually suspected. On the other hand without some one else to do something. The thought form therefore such horrors as were involved in the type just mentioned,

It is no uncommon thing to find in the East men who He confines himself to obtaining the services of definite living entitles whether human or nonhuman. Efforts in this human entity, who in consideration of an occasional triffing direction are made much more commonly than we might at provision of food will perform small phenomena of various first sight suppose; for you will observe that whenever a kinds for the person to whom it is especially attached. Usuman tries to produce a result to obtain anything for himself ally there are curious restrictions connected with the compact. Almost invariably the human partner in this bond is agency outside of the physical plane, he is in reality using bound to give to no one the name or description of his unseen invocatory magic, although no such name may have ever coadjutor; and oddly enough in a large number of cases the entered his mind. A very great deal of the ordinary kind of condition is attached that no money, or not more than a fixed prayer for selfish purposes is in reality an example of this. and nominal amount may ever be obtained by the coadjutor's I am of course speaking here only of that lower variety of help or accepted for any exhibition of his peculiar powers. prayer to which alone the name can properly be applied— I remember, for example, a man possessing such a partner that which definitely asks for something. The word prayer who was brought to me while in the East. In this case the is derived from the Sanskrit Prashna, through the Latin entity attached showed his power principally by bringing to Precor and is connected with the German Fragen; so that its his human partner any objects that might be indicated, in original and proper meaning can be only a definite request, precisely the same way that such things are frequently Very often people quite incorrectly apply the name of prayer brought at a Spiritualistic seance. Fortunately, however, to what is in reality meditation or worship—the contempla- one of the stipulations which formed part of their agreement tion of the highest ideal known to the worshiper and the en. was that the unseen partner should never be asked to bring deavor to raise his own mind and heart upwards towards that anything which was not honestly the property of his friend object of worship. But the more ordinary prayer for definite on the physical plane; otherwise a system of wholesale roband frequently for physical gains, is certainly an attempt to bery would have been perfectly easy, and it would have been draw down influences from higher planes to produce visible absolutely impossible to trace or punish the thefts. The results, and so comes clearly within our definition of magic. example of this power which was shown to me was quite con-It will frequently happen when two nations are engaged in clusive. I went with the magician into a fruiterer's shop and a war, that each of them will pray for its own success and bought a selection of fruit of various kinds, and had it laid for the destruction of the opposing armies; and this is ceresside for me until I should send to fetch it. All that was retainly an effort to enlist invisible forces upon its side. For quired was that the magician should see the fruit, so that he tunately, however, this idea of calling in extraneous influmight know exactly what there was. Then driving directly ences may be used in a good as well as evil way, and natu- home with my magician—of course leaving the fruit behind rally we find that many efforts are made in this way to in me in the shop—we asked whether he would be able to produce for us the various items of the purchase in any order Perhaps the most striking instance of this is to be found in that we required. He seemed quite confident of this, and

ORIENTAL MAGICIANS

be done in this direction; land for the production of many of next week, "The Use and Abuse of Psychic Powers." the feats of the occidental conjurer a considerable amount of machinery is required, and often a particular position or arrangement of his andtence. The Oriental juggler has to work under exceedingly different conditions. His performances are usually in the open air, even upon the stone pavement of a courtyard and in the midst of an excited crowd which presses closely upon him on every side. It will readily be seen that under clircumstances such as those many of the resources of his European competitor would not be available. No doubt most men have heard of the celebrated mango trick in which a tree grows, or appears to grow, from a seed before the eyes of the spectators, and even bears fruit which is handed round and tasted. Then again there is the basket trick in which a child is concealed under the basket and then apparently cut to pieces, though when the basket is raised it is found to be empty and the child comes running in quite unharmed from behind the spectators. And we read how in some cases a rope is thrown up into the air and appears to remain miraculously suspended, the conjuror himself, and usually one of his assistants, climbing up the rope and disappearing into space. Now some of these feats are manifestly impossible; and on inquiring more closely into the matter we find that the phenomena described ard produced by means of what is commonly called glamor—a kind of power of wholesale mesmerism without the usual preliminaries of passes, or of trance. That this is the way in which some of these tricks are performed I have myself proved by various experiments; so that we need not consider any of these under our present head of invocatory magicthough it is possible that in some cases this power of glamor is exercised not by the conjuror himself, but by the unseen partner who has at his command the various resources of the astral plane. Many tricks on a much smaller scale than the above however, appear to be performed directly by the astral coadjutor. I recollect, for example, a little experiment of which I was a witness, which I think must have belonged to this category. Once more our magician wore almost nothing in the way of clothing, and therefore could not have concealed about him any apparatus by which his marvels could of no value to him at any time. Not that the father would be performed. I was asked to produce a silver coin and to lay it upon the palm of my hand. I held it towards the magician who breathed upon it but did not touch it, and then motioned me back to my seat some fifteen feet away. I was then instructed to cover this coin with my other hand, and as I did so the juggler began to mutter rapidly some incomprehensible words. Instantly I felt the sense of something exceedingly cold swelling between my hands and forcing them apart. In a momont or two this curious cold mass began to stir between my hands, and I opened them to see what was there. To my horror I found that a huge black scorpion had taken the place of the coin. Instinctively I threw him to the ground, and after erecting his tail angrily he scuttled away. Another man present went through exactly the same performance, except that in his case as he opened his hands a small but very active snake was found neatly coiled up between them. Now this was by no means a performance of the same nature as the production of a living rabbit out of one's hat by the ordinary juggler; for in this case the conjurer was some fifteen feet away, and the coin was obviously a coin and nothing else after we had withdrawn far beyond his reach. The result might have been produced by the same power of glamon to which I have previously referred; but certain circumstances connected with it make that to my mind highly improbable, and I suspect it to be a case of genuine substitution by some astral entity. Another curious little case of the omployment of this sort of traditional magic by a man quite uneducated and entirely ignorant of the methods by which it worked, came under my notice some years later. It happened that I had received a somewhat severe wound from which the blood was pouring plentifully. A passing coolie hastily snatched a leaf from a shrub at the roadside, pressed it for a moment to the wound and muttered half a dozen words, and the flow of blood instantly and entirely ceased. Naturally I asked the man how factory reply. All he could say was that this charm which he was forbidden to disclose had been handed down in his family for two generations, and his belief was that there was a spirit of some sort summoned by the charm, who produced the required result. I inquired whether the leaf selected had any part in the success of his experiment, but he answered that any leaf, or a fragment of paper or cloth would have done equally as well. He evidently believed that the effect was wholly due to the form of words employed; and it may have been that it was his own confidence in this which enabled his will to produce the physical result.

In none of the cases which I have described was there anything especially evil or selfish about the magic employed; but I fear that there are very many instances in which the work done in such ways is much less innocent.

Many of the witch stories of medieval times and the curious supposed compacts with the devil were probably examparalleled in certain parts of the world at the present day; and the wiseacres who dismiss all accounts of such things as merely superstitious fancy are, as usual, speaking of that which they do not in the least understand. There is, however, no need that any should be nervous with regard to such performances, or should fear that they may be injured in this way by those whose enmity they have incurred. No doubt results are produced, for example, by the Voodoo or Obeah enchantments among the negroes; but it is very rarely indeed that the practitioners are able to affect the incredulous white man. There are cases in which this has been done; but it should be remembered that it can only be done when the evil from without finds something in the victim upon which it can act. The man whose soul is pure and strong cannot be touched by any such machinations. Thus evil thoughts and practices denoted by envy and hatred may work harm among one of two lines. They may either produce fear in the victim and so throw him into a pitiable condition in which disease, and evil of many sorts may very readily descend upon-kim.

48AFEGUARDS.

The man who is perfectly fearless would have a very much greater capability of Pesisong all such things, precisely as the man who has no tear of contagious disease is very much less likely to be affected byit than the man who is always in terror of it. Any clairvogant who watches the conditions produced both in the astral body and in the etheric part of the physical vehicle has nervousness and fear will understand quite well why this appuid pe, and will see that the immunity of the fearless man is quite readily explicable on purely scientific grounds. Another and even more deadly way in which such forces may actuson a person for evil is that they may stir up within him vibrations of the same nature as their own. So if the man has within himself the seeds of envy, jealousy, hatred, sensmallty these feelings may be roused to the point of frenzy and harmay be induced in that way to commit actions on which in his calmer moments he would look with horror. But purity of thought guards a man entirely from such dangers, and it is therefore quite unnecessary that any man should be nervous with regard to the of fects which may be produced upon him by others. A very far more real danger is that we may ourselves unconsciously yield to such undesirable feelings with regard to other people, and so may, without especial intention, be causing evil results for them. That is a much more imminent peril, and one against which we can perfectly guard ourselves only byseeing to it that no thought of malice, or anger, of envy, or of Hence, complete resignation to God's will belongs to prayer, jealousy shall for an instant be allowed to harbor itself with. God is not moved by our prayers.—Uberweg.

For the rest, the man who is pure and true gives no handle good thou mayst for physic. It is wholesome to the body man is precisely that life, except that it is on a very much . Very many of the more inexplicable feats of the Indian his heart. If his life and his thought be in harmony with the ness. Fenn. for any evil influences to selze, no door for its entrance into and good for the mind; it prevents the bitter fruit of idle jugglers are performed under some such arrangement as Divine Will, then he may be very certain that no black mathis. Of course I am perfectly aware that any clever Euro gician in the world can harm him. Our danger is not in the pean juggler can entirely deceive the eyes of the average least that we shall be injured, but far more that by want of man and can produce results of the most wonderful nature control over ourselves, our own thoughts and desires, we may by methods which are entirely inexplicable to the untrained. sometimes do harm to others. This practical side of this Nevertheless there are cargain definite limits as to what can subject, however, belongs more especially to our topic for

A SERIOUS QUESTION.

How Shall We Abate the Causes of Crime?

After thirty-five years of studying the primary cause of crime in its many forms, hoping to discover the best cure and prevention, we are forced to the conclusion, that there exists but one approximately correct method, which is, to adopt (and put into practice) a system of education for parents, beginning with this generation, teaching them something of the stupendous duty devolving upon them as progenitors of all future generations, as well as an imperative responsibility, that every man and woman assumes, when accepting the far-reaching relationship of a parent.

We hear much concerning the duty of mothers regarding the religious training of their children. We would call attention of every thinking person to the fact, that it is as much the duty of every father, to assume the responsibility of the moral and spiritual education of his children (especially the sons) as it is for the mother to perform her part of the care and teaching in the numerous other departments of child

In early life the writer was a teacher in village schools when the teachers boarded with the scholars, being a close observer of their home training and conduct toward other members of the family. Also noticing the treatment received from the parents. I have often heard fathers say to their boys (after the mother had given them good advice and encouragement), "Oh, never mind what your mother said; she L.D. Frice, is cent. For sale at this cince. is only a woman. She doesn't know anything about it; I am the one for you to mind." By such teachings one parent can uproot more good in five minutes than another could implant in six months, at the same time imbuing the mind of the child with the thought that mother's advice and judgment is do so with the knowledge, or desire of instilling in the mind of the child that he did not desire it to love and respect its mother, but that it should consider its father was the one worthy of the strict obedience. I have also heard mothers give expression to similar remarks, which I deem quite wrong, hence I repeat, the one great requisite for the benefit of all classes is, that every person before becoming a parent, should be taught to realize the great responsibility that awaits them in assuming such a position.

We can never hope for an improvement in the masses, for war to cease, for crime to abate, for a decrease of prisons of all kinds, with their inmates of every description, until we first learn and practice the wisest and most humane system of dealing with all classes of beings.

We should also educate the future parents (which are now the rising generation), fathers as well as mothers, how best to impart the highest and best possible conditions to their offspring during the embryotic period, if we wish an improvement in future generations of our race. The world will then be populated with law-abiding citizens instead of those always living under the ban of civil or military discipline..

We sometimes hear the subject spoken of as one that is worthy of more attention and freer discussion than it receives, but how very few are willing to lend their presence for an hour to talk, or give a word of encouragement in its behalf, far less do or say anything towards its promulgation. Every avenue is closed and sealed to the few who are willing to give time and ability, and if necessary would cheerfully become martyrs, suffer the ostracism of fashionable soclety, accept the condemnation of the "mock modesty masses who hide themselves beneath the mantle of social purity," these few have the benefit of humanity and the betterment of the masses ot heart, but are the masses ready for the innovation? As long as the Comstock law is unimpeachable the press is afraid to open its doors to a free discussion of this most despised, but none the less most important question of the age, despised most only by those who are the most ignorant of its magnitude. They are subjects of sympathy.

If the press would admit a free and full exchange of thought along these lines, pro and con, there might be something written that would serve as a mental "eye opener," causing the scales of indifference and prejudice to fall therefrom arousing them from their Rip Van Winkle lethargy into activity, which would aid in bringing about in time, a much needed radical change in our social as well as our criminal and postal regulations.

ELIZABETH S. W. BUCHANAN. Lake Helen, Fla.

SIGNS OF AGE.

There are many signs that tell us when we're getting on in years.

Where erst the whisker flourished pink, the gray one now appears. I fellow feels it in his bones, the stiffness and the ache,

The tendency by day to doze, by nights to lie awake. Now he would rather walk than run, would sooner sit than dance: Athletic sports and lively games no more his joys enhance He hunts the easiest chair, and books whereof the print is bold-

All which are signs, I apprehend, that he is growing old. The girls he meets no longer gaze with fascinated eye,

They guess his age at forty-six and coldly pass him by. He glances timorous, up and down when he would cross the

While e'en the cop shall call him Pop, and urge him to be

He's solved the social problem with a maxim short and sure Were all men self-controlled, like him, all women might be pure.

He holds to thinking higher thoughts and living higher lives, And is a convert to the fad of separate rooms for wives. He holds there is no time in life, no period so blest,

As when the youthful blood has cooled, and passions are a But, oh, devoted mother, wife! your plan is not so bad-

Keep one eye on the children and the other on their dad! There's still another sign to tell that he is ageing some, 'Tis when to celebrate his birth his wife's relations come. They know he's one step farther on toward his grave, and

They want him to remember it, and he would fain forget. -Truth Seeker.

Sorrow is a kind of rust of soul which every new idea contributes in its passage to scour away.—Johnson.

The despotism of custom is on the wane. We are not content to know that things are; we ask whether they ought to be.-J. S. Mill.

Grant me to become beautiful in the inner man, and that whatever outward things I may have may be at peace with those within.—Plato.

The sexes were made for each other, and only in the wise and loving union of the two is the fullness of health and duty and happiness to be expected.-W. Hall. He who prays for anything besides God, prays to an idole

Love, therefore, labor. If thou shouldst not want it for

THE WORLD BEAUTIFUL

Series one, two and three. By Lilian Whiting, Three choice volumes, each come lete in itself, in which spirituality is related to waryday life in such a way as to make the world beautiful.
Price, $1.00 each.

MEDIUMSHIP and its DEVELOPMENT and how to Mesmerize to Assist Development By W. H. Bach. Paper 25 cents; cloth 50 cents.

ITS ATTAINMENT OF Womany form and features

Beauty The cultivation of personal beauty, based on Hygiene and Health Culture, by twenty physicians and specialists, and edited by Albert Turner. A valuable book for women and therefore for the whole world, Price in elegant cloth binding, $1.00. -THE-

By MOSES HULL, A comparison of the Christ-work or Mediumship of Biblical Messiahs and the conditions they required, with similar manifestations in Modern Spiritualism. This is a good work to study for arguments with which to meet the very common orthodox question, "Why do you always require conditions for your spiritual manifestations?" Cloth bound, 55 cents; paper 25 cents. For sale at this office.

Christs of the Past and Present.

Were You Born Under a star? A complete exposition of the science of Astrology, adapted from the Four Books of Ptolemy, the Astronomer on the art of Reading the Stars, with many illustrations. By A. ALPHEUS, Secretary of the Astrological Society of England and America. Handsomely bound in cloth, git top, with beautiful designs stamped on side and back, Price $1.00. For sale at this office.

ORIGIN OF LIFE and How the Spirit Body Grows. By M. Faraday. Price. 10c. For sale at this office

THE TEACHINGS OF JESUS

Out of the Depths Into the Light. By Samuel Bowles; Mrs. Carrie E. S. Twing, modium. This is a very interesting little book, and will be appreciated from start to finish by all who wish to gain spiritual information.

WOMAN: Pour Centuries of Program, A Lecture delivered at the Precent thinker's International Congress, Chicago, Ill., October, 1893. By Susan H. Wixon. Price, 10c.

PSYGHE Is the invention of a practical medium, under spirit guidance, and is designed to develop mediumship. Many, by its use, have resolved long communications from spirit friends, and express great satisfaction. Price, it, and 20 cents extra for expressage.

Discovery of a Lost Trail

BY CHARLES B. NEWCOMB, Author of "All's Right with the World." Cloth 278
Author of "All's Right with the World." Cloth 278
pages. Mr. Newcomb made a distinct success with Pages. Mr. Newcomb made a distinct success with frontrank of the Metaphysical books that are now so popular. The great number who have seen cheered and strengthened by him will welcome another book by the wise teacher whose words of help are doing so much to nake the world better by makin men and women better able to understand and enjoy it. "Discovery of a Lost Trail"

is a simple study of that strange and beautiful thing called life, but grand in its scholarly simplicity. It will be in demand by many who have not previously read metaphysical writings. Price $1.50. For sale of this office.

The Christ Question Settled. Jesus, Man, Medium, Martyr. A symposium by W. E. Coleman, J. S. Loveland, Hudson Tuttle, Moses Hull, J. R. Buchanan, B. B. Hill, Rabbi I. M. Wise, Col. Ingersoli—and what the spirits say about it. By J. M. FEESLES, M. D. Whether this book settles the question or not, it will be found eminently entertaining, and brings together a mass of evidence to establish the historical character of Jesus. A large volume. Price cloth. $1.25.

AUTOMATIC WRITING,
[So-called] with other psychic experiences. By Sara A. Onderwood. With half-tone portrait and specimen pages of the writing. Handsomely bound in cloth. Price, $1. Postage, 100, Palne's Theological Works. cles, etc. Illustrated edition. Post 8vo., 432 pages. Price, cloth, $1.00.

POEMS FROM THE INNER LIFE. By Lizzie Doten. These poems a spirational and as staple as sugar.

ASTRAL WORSHIP By J. H. Hill, M.D. A valuable contribution to the current discussion of religious problems. The author by illustrations and a plansiphere (a representation of the celestial sphere upon a plane with adjustable circles), traces most of the myths which lie at the base of Christianity to their origin in sun and star worship. The astronomical facts given possess great value, the illustrations rare and curious. The book is bound in only one style—heavy boards. Price $1.

LILIAN WHITING'S BOOKS

VERY INTERESTING AND EX-CELLENT WORKS.

Kate Field, A Record. Price $2. A Study of Elizabeth Barrett Browning. Price $1.25.

The World Beautiful. Three Series. Each $1.

After Her Death, New Edition, $1. From Dreamland Sent, And Other Poems. $1. These books are for sale at this office.

STARTLING FACTS, Deeds of Darkness Disclosed

This work devotes special attention to Auricular Confession and its rela-tions to sacerdotal cellbacy, convents, monasteries, morality and civil and religious liberty. It is intended to be an embodiment of facts and documentary evidence of the pernicious influence of the confessional; a trenchant showing up of Romanism, based upon standard Catholic authorities; an eye-opener con-cerning the methods and spirit, the moral turpitude and evil works of Romanism. Cloth, 75 cents.

"NO BEGINNING."

An Excellent Work for Thinkers.

This book, "No Beginning," is by William H. Maple. The Arena says of it: "The argument is unanswerable." The book will at once appeal to the reason of every reader, and leave him more amazed than ever at the prevalence of the theory of Creation. Two has always been a fateful num-Free Thought Ideal says: "We found in full of glittering thoughts for thinkers, and the very death warrant of Christian superstition shines upon its pages.

AFTER HER DEATH. The Story of a Summer. By Lilian Whiting, Pervaded with pure and beautiful spirituality of thought. Instructive and helpful to all who love and seek the higher and spiritual experience. Price, $1.00.

Views of Our Heavenly Home. By Andrew Jackson Davis. A highly inter-sting work. Price, 75 cents. Postage 5 cents.

THE SUNDAY QUESTION. ilcal review, with replies to write at once and engage rooms. We shall treat all chronic cases, but Nervous Diseases and Stomach Troubles Are Our Specialties; though we treat all chronic diseases successfully.

The 6. E. Watkins Medical Gompany W SECOND

Is now open and ready for patients.

E. T. GOVE, Mgr.,

Or to The C. E. Watkins Medical Co.,

Send for Booklet telling all about our beautiful Sanitarium and our methods of curing the sick.

The Doctor

Will diagnose diseases by letter Send him age, sex and Leading Symptom.

kesha camp-meeting have been coming to me from readers of your paper. As they are largely along the same line, I would like, with your permission, to answer them through the columns of your called on Sister Logue and was well revaluable journal. Inquiries are about ceived by her, and now we are to have talent, tents, date of camp, notwithstanding the fact that dates are given they are very badly needed, as there are in camp directory, in some of the pas so many frauds in Butte, and I find one our platform is second to none in the land, and among the many will be found Brother Warne, hunt out the frauds. such workers as Moses and Mattle Hull, I have to thank Brother Warne for Mrs. Catherine McFarlin, Clara L. Stew- not having any at the Iowa State conart, Mrs. S. M. Lowell, Miss Agnes vention held in Ottumwa, for I con-Chaffee, Miss Alfa Bullock. There will sulted him as to the best and the truthbe phenomenal mediums present for ful ones. those who desire to witness some of the phenomenal manifestations. We are negotiating for a couple of the best the different papers (spiritual papers, those who desire to witness some of test and message mediums in the coun- of course).

and at reasonable rates. A restaurant, I was to be in the Rocky Mountains in where first-class meals will be served, January (and so I was) as there was will be conducted on the grounds; in work for me to do out here, and I find way, and a source of pleasure and in are hungry for it. I do not have as known as to hardly need mention, as I hope that ere a year rolls around we one of the most renowned resorts of the will see this city with a good society, country. There are many points of in and with a state organization also. terest within short distances of the I am very sorry to say that Butte is camp grounds. A feature that is worth cursed with those so-called mediums, consideration, is the erection of a new bridge across the Fox river, directly behave been approached many times low the camp-grounds; this brings the since I have been here for such abomfamous White Rock spring, with its inable work, and I do hope to have beautiful grounds, its pure, sparkling chance to speak in Butte and post those water, as well as the establishment people on those frauds; some of them where this water is bottled up to be are claiming to have N. S. A. papers as where this water is bottled up to be are claiming to have N. S. A. papers as shipped to all quarters of the country, with a few minutes' walk. This institution in itself is worth visiting, to say as also the Banner and I assure you nothing of the spring, etc. This year a great comfort to us in this held here in public at the present. also, the gateway is changed, to bring lonely place. the entrance to the grounds nearly two blocks nearer town, which is an item.

There is and has been a great deal blocks nearer town, which is an item. The facilities for reaching the camp and wish to say that I have come in contact Waukesha are unsurpassable. The with many of them and I find that when programs will be completed in a few our teaching is presented to them as a days, and will be found most complete. religion they are not as hard or bitter Send in your names for programs, and as some other faiths. Give the Roman if you contemplate coming, send in your Catholics to know that when you are at application for tent. We will have them a seance you are in the presence of in all sizes, from 10x12 up. Be assured you will make no mistake in visiting more holy than we, and that we are standing in his new and that we are this camp. WILL J. ERWOOD, Secretary W. S. S. A.

We were much interested in the "Two reports that should receive the careful attention of all Spiritualists." in your excellent Progressive Thinker, of June 6. Some of us have contributed our mite to the Morris Pratt Institute, this way. I will help them get meet and would be glad to see an itemized relings if they are of the right kind; all port of expenditures published in your columns, as we find such publication so satisfactory to contributors in other societies and fields of public work, we consider it desirable and business-like. $5,364.29 seems a very liberal amount to most of us-with which to have repaired the building and paid teachers for instructing a class of 10 pupils, in branches so largely taught in our public schools. We see no necessity for ig-Since over the shining threshold norance on the part of our young to-day, whether speakers on Spiritualistic or other platform or pulpit! The crowning glory of our nation being its system of free schools, normals and universi-Ah! who was the first to greet you ties, no excuse for illiteracy in any line of work! However, if Father Pratt Was the scene that first met your vision wished to see that "all expenses were met," it certainly was his privilege to do so, and it was surely a sad mistake of those who had the matter in hand not | Were the dimpled hands outreaching, to have seen to it that his purpose was duly recorded "in black and white," fore proceeding contrary to the "judgment of the board." But as this was not done, we fully endorse your opinion that the woard of trustees are personally responsible for the deficit."

We should deplore, extremely, any action on the part of the N. S. A., that would deplete the fund for our needy mediums, our seers and prophets of to-

With an earnest desire for the best Brave soul who across the river, methods of advancing our glorious cause of Spiritualism, we are, Of which here you caught rare glimpses

READERS of The Progressive Thinker. Waukesha, Wis.

in as good condition as now. The air and surroundings in that high latitude will cure most overworked or sick people. There will be a large turn out from this city. We are pleased to say that the Lake The author shows a wise practicality in Shore has also announced the rate her method of teaching the principle of quoted above, and we think the Nickel ethics. She lliustrates her subject with Plate also. If not announced, it will be. many brief narratives and anecdotes, which render the book more interesting The wide-awake general passenger agent Smith and assistant Luce, are and more easily comprehended. It is never behind. The Lake Shore double Lyceum. In the hands of mothers and track can't be beat for speed, comfort teachers it may be made very useful. tions should be addressed, and safety. It and the Erie are by far Young and old will be benefited by it. Dr. Sholdice holds, serv and sarety, it and the sale at Lily Cloth $1. For sale at this office.

I miss my old state, but I was told by standing in his presence, then you have their most reverent attention, and your meetings will be good, and all messages will be uplifting; such has been my experience. I find the hardest ones to

I will send you a report of the meetings here, and in Butte also. I would like to hear from time to time from speakers and mediums who are coming

ONE YEAR IN HEAVEN.

Dear friend, for that fairer shore

Your weary footsteps passed;

As the harbor came in view?

Me thinks that among the number

And the face of a little child.

you? What beautiful lessons taught?

Has your eager spirit caught?

Do you long sometimes, I wonder,

For the loved ones who to-day

As when first you went away?

Ere the spirit knew release:

A message bearer from heaven,

Where our best beloved are.

For the stream of time flows onward.

"Right Living." By Susan H. Wixon.

ALICE M. WARREN.

And in windings here and there,

Yet it seemeth not afar,

Of shores divinely fair.

Proctorsville, Vt.

And what has the glad year brought

What knowledge gained from a higher

Suil miss you with thoughts as tender

Has found God's own rest and peace.

We know what must be thy mission-

Till these aching hearts are stilled.

The old earthly dream fulfilled-

The city of love, at last.

Familiar or wholly new?

In the golden sunset mild.

source,

And you entered the heavenly city,

And amid the deep silence we listened others may save their postage.

W. J. HICKS.

Only a year since you left us,

P. O. Box 92, Anaconda, Mont.

touch are the Methodists.

beautiful floral designs were contrib-uted by friends and West Side Spiritualist societies, showing expression of

WM. F. SCHUMACHER.

Passed to spirit life, at Medical Lake, Wash., David Leyson, a most excellent husband and father. He leaves a devoted wife and three sons who recognize the grand fact that he has passed to his spirit home to enjoy life immor tal, hence do not mourn him as one who s lost. Mrs. Leyson will remain at the Leyson House and Sanitarium, where she will continue healing the sick.

THOS. HARRIS.

Passed to spirit life, at her home in Winona, June 6, Mrs. Louis Steinborn. For years she was a firm believer in the philosophy of Spiritualism, and a consistent seeker after truth. Services conducted by the writer. WILL J. ERWOOD.

MYSTERIES OF THE SEANCE, and Tricks and Traps of Bogus Mediums -A Plea for Honest Mediums and Clean Work. By a Life-long Spiritualist. Lunt Bros., Publishers, Boston, Mass. Price, 25 cents.

lated, will have a tendency to drive the fakes from our ranks, and will do much to encourage those who never resort to trickery in their work to advance the cause of Spiritualism. Every genuine medium—and there are hundreds of them—will rejoice to learn that many methods adopted by the fakes are lucidly explained, and that, too, by a Spiritualist. This pamphlet will arouse a healthy condition of the investigating mind, and it will then be prepared to search for the truth and more fully realize it when found. It will be an aid to the honest, painstaking investigator. It will assist the skeptic in seeing wherein the truth lies. It will prevent those who are seeking genuine spirit communion from being deceived and swindled. This pamphlet published by Lunt Brothers, Boston Mass, is for sale at this office. Price 25 cents.

SPIRITUALIST MEETINGS.

held here in public halls at the present time.

holds services every Sunday evening at o'clock in Haymarket Theatre Building, 161 W. Madison street. Lecture, spirit communications, and questions answered. Mrs. Maggie Waite, pastor. Church of the Spirit Communion, Kenwood Hall, 4308 Cottage Grove avenue. Conference and messages at 3 p. m. Lecture by Dr. J. O. M. Hewitt at 8 p. m. Messages by H. F. Coates and ices at 183 E. North avenue, corner Burling street, every Sunday at 8 and 8 p. m. Lectures delivered in English and German by Mrs. Hilbert, assisted

Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in Van Buren Opera House, corner of Madison street and California avenue. vited to attend.

Nathan's Hall, 1565 Milwaukee avenue, corner Western avenue, Sunday evenings, 7:30 p. m. Mrs. W. F. Schupages. Price $1. For sale at this office.

holds services every Sunday at 3 and 8 p. m. Lecture and tests by the Rev. Mrs. Schaeffer, at Van Buren Hall, California avenue and Madison street Good music and singing. All are invited to attend.

During June the Englewood Spiritual Union meets at Hopkins' Hall, 528 West Sixty-third street. Conference meeting at 3 p. m. sharp. Lecture and mes-meets every Sunday at 3 o'clock sharp, and 8 o'clock sharp at Lakeside Hall avenue, where truth-seekers and invesigators, as well as Spiritualists can enloy a pleasant afternoon or evening. First-class speakers. Tests and messages by carefully selected mediums.

and other measums, who will from time to time address the meeting and give tests and spirit messages. will be held in Temperance Hall, 330 West Sixty-third street. All are invited to attend and co-operate.

The First Hyde Park Occult Society holds regular meetings every Sunday at Alliance Hall, 323 E. 55th street, between Monroe and Kimbark avenues. The best talent available will be socured to give interest at every meeting. To spread the truth is the object of this especially adapted for use in Children's society. Eva L. Stewart, secretary, 543
Lyceum. In the hands of mothers and E 55th street, where all communica-

"Death, Itan Meaning and Results." By J. K. Wilsonglof the Pennsylvania Bar. An absorbingly interesting volume, of decided value. A narrative of wonderful psychic events in the author's experience. Cloth, 560 pages, illustrated, $1.25. "Right Generation the Key to Kingdom of Heaven on Earth." Ву Dr. M. E. Conger: An appeal to reason and man's highest aspirations. A plea for justice and equality in all the relations of life between men and women. Cloth, 75 ceuts: leatherette, 50 cents. "In the World Calestin," by Dr. T. A. Bland. Interesting, instructive and helpful; spiritually uplifting. Cloth bound; Price $1. 12

"Man and the Spiritual World, as Disclosed in the Bible." By Rev. Arthur Chambers, Associate of King's College, London. An excellent book for Christian people who would investigate and learn the facts of Bible teachings as well as modern spirit phenomena. Price, cloth, $1.25.

"Voltaire's Romances." Translated from the French. With numerous il-lustrations. These lighter works of the brilliant Frenchman, an invincible enemy of the Catholic church, are worthy of wide reading. Wit, philosophy and romance are combined, with the skill of a master mind. Price $1.50. For sale at this office. The new song-book, "The Golden Echoes," by S. W. Tucker, has found its way into many homes, and its beautiful songs have cheered many sorrowing hearts, which they are sure to do when heard and sung. They should be heard in every home in the land. For sale at this office. Price, 15 cents; $1.50 per dozen.

"Why I Am a Vegetarian." By J. Howard Moore. An address before the Chicago Vegetarian Society. Price, 25 "The Veil of Isis," as seen at Atlan

tis: in the Great Temple of Karnac, at Luxor, in Egypt, and in the Jewish Temple at Jerusalem, is Doctor Phelon's latest booklet. Its pages are full of ancient lore, in paper covers. For sale at this office. Sent on receipt of ten cents, silver or stamps.

"Origin of Life, or Where Man Comes From." "The Evolution of the Spirit from Matter Through Organic Processes, or How the Spirit Body Grows." By Michael Faraday. Prince 10 cents. For sale at this office.

"The Kingship of Self-Control." By Wm. George Jordan. It treats of the crimes of the tongue, the Red Tape duty, the supreme charity of the world, the revelation of reserve power, etc. Price 30 cents. For sale at this office.

"The Present Age and Inner Life; Ancient and Modern Mysteries Classified and explained." By Andrew Jack son Davis. We have a few copies of this work by the celebrated seen Cloth, $1.10. "The Romance of Jude. A Story of the Life and Times of the Nazarene and His People." Through the mediumship of Mrs. M. T. Longley. An intensely interesting book. Neatly bound in cloth and gilt. Only 50 cents.

"Right Living." By Susan H. Wixon The author shows a wise practicality in her method of teaching the principle of ethics. She illustrates her subject with many brief narratives and anecdotes which render the book more interesting and more easily comprehended. It is especially adapted for use in Children's especially adapted for use in Children's BIBLE teachers it may be made very useful. Young and old will be benefited by it. Cloth $1. For sale at this office.
"Religious and Theological Works of Thomas Paine;" contains his celebrated "Agenof Reason," and a number of letters and discourses on religious and theological subjects. Cloth binding, 430 pages. Price $1. For sale at this office. "Never-Ending Life Assured by Science." By Daniel Kent Tenney, A

Wm. George Jordan. Another valuable little work. Price 30 cents. For sale at this office.

"Mark Chester; or a Mill and a Million. A Tale of Southern California." By Carlyle Petersilea. A pure psychic story, elevating and reformatory. Paper covers, 40 cents. Cloth, 60 cents. For sale at this office. "The Spiritual Significance, or, Death

as an Event in Life." By Lilian Whiting. One of Miss Whiting's most suggestive, intensely interesting, spiritual books. It is laden with rich, thoughtful spirituality. For sale at this office. Price $1.

Prof. Geo. P. Rudolph, Ph. D., ex-priest of the diocese of Clevland, O. A sharp and pointed letter to Bishop Horstmann. It is good reading, and should be widely distributed, that people may be enlight ened concerning the ways and methods of Rome and its priesthood. Price 18

"Spiritual Fire Crackers, Bible Chestnuts and Political Pin Points." S. Harrington. A pamphlet containing 70 pages of racy reading. Price 25 cents. For sale at the office of The Progressive Thinker.

"Discovery of a Lost Trail." By Chas. B. Newcomb. Excellent in spiritual suggestiveness. Cloth, $1.50. For sale at this office. "Religious and Theological Works of Thomas Paine," Contains his celebrated "Age of Reason," and a number of letters and discourses on religious and the macher, pastor.

Church of the Spiritual Forces holds

"A Conspiracy Against the Republic."

By Charles B. Waite, A. M., author of 'History of the Christian Religion to church leaders to get control of the government. An important work. Paper, 25 cents. For sale at this office.
"Death Defeated; or the Psychic Se eret of How to Keep Young." Peebles, M. D., M. A., Ph. D. Price $1.

"Principles of Light and Color." By
E. D. Babbitt, M. D., LL. D. A truly great work of a master mind, and one whom Spiritualists is should delight to honor. The results of years of deep thought and patient research into Nature's finer forces are here gathered and made amenable to the well-being of humanity. Medical men especially, and scientists, general readers and students of occult forces will find instruction of corner Thirty-first street and Indiana great value and interest. A large, fournound book, strongly bound, and containing beautiful dillustrative plates. For sale at this office. Price, postpaid, $5. It is a wondenful work and you will be delighted with it.

"Mediumship, and Its Development, and How to Mesmerize to Assist Development." By W. H. Bach. Especially useful to learners who seek to know and utilize the laws of mediumship and development, and avoid errors. Price, cloth, 50 cents; paper, 25 cents. For sale at this office. "The Light of Egypt." Volumes and 2. An occult library in itself, a text-book of esoteric knowledge as taught by Adepts of Hermetic Philosophy. Price $2 per volume. For sale at this office,

"The Religion of the Future." By S. Weil. This is a work of far more than ordinary power and value, by a hold, untrammeled thinker. who love deep, clear thought, reverent for truth alone, will be pleased with it. Dr. Sholdice holds services Sunday sale at this office. Price, looth 31; paand well repaid by its perusal. Fer HOROSCOPES

Scientifically accurate and reliable. Captain G.W. Walrond, 1510 Glenarm St., Denver, Col., Est 1500. Female and Children's Diseases Cured without medicine. No charge for consulta-tion: Mics. C. H. COCHEAN, 1671 Wellington St., Chicago, near Clark.

WANTED-BY DETROIT SCHOOL TEACHER: furnished room in Chicago during July and August. Prefer private family sympathizing with all branches of Spiritual research. Address, Student, 63 Sproat st., Dotroit, Mich.

MRS. STODDARD GRAY And Son, DE WITT C. HOUGH. Materializing and Test Mediums, hold seances Sinday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, eight o'clock, Saturdays 2 p. m., at their rosidence, 331 West 57th 5t., New York. Sittings for communications daily, 10 to 5.

YOUR FORTUNE

Typewritten and sent FREE if you will send your birth-date and three stamps for mailing expenses I have astended thousands with my wonderfully correct reading of their life, past and future. I correctly reveal your future love affairs, business success, marriage mate, etc., and give advice on all affairs. Address, SHAGHEN, Bept. T.B., 2152, San Francisco, Cal.

F. N. FOSTER. The well-known SPIRIT PHOTOGRAPHER, s sittings by mail or in person, daily, except day, at 3017 Wabash ave., Chicago. Send for Arcular.

TESTIMONIAL.

Battle Creek, Mich.
Frank N. Foster—My Dear Brother:—I received oday the Spirit Photograph. I recognized two of lour faces at a glance, but the Indian and the Anglent spirit I could not know. Accept my thanks. Yery cordially yours.

J. M. PEEBLES.

DON'T READ THIS. Frances L. Loucks, the only psychic wonder living, hat uses the spiritual X-ray without any leading ymptom to direct, and locates all internal diseases. A trial will convince you. Norvous exhaustion and ost vigor of both sexes successfully treated, as hundreds can testify. Send name, age, sex, complexion and locents in stamps, and receive a correct diagnostis of your case free, worth dollars to you. Address,

FRANCES L. LOUCKS,

SPECIAL NOTICE.

by return mati, and I will

Forward Free of Charge, Valuable Information,

of Interest to All.

C. WALTER LYNN, 855 Grove St., Oakland, Cal.

You Can Have Hyou wear Hagnetized Good Eyesight years I have been fitting and spirit assistance. Sending spectacles. For fifteen to people that live in all parts of this mundane world. If you want the best spectacles write for illustrated Circular, showing styles of frames and prices, also how you can by ME be fitted at Your Own Home. For 5 cents to put postage. Will send sample of magnetized compound, sufficient for 4 oz of eye water. Cures sore eyes, strengthens weak eyes. If requested will send photo of Spirit Yarma.

48 Evanston Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Comically Illustrated Picture

By WATSON HESTON. BOOK.

Nothing else can so completely upset the old superstitious Old Testament Stories as these vivid and lifelike portrayals of them. They present the old myths in the proper absurdness of their absurdity, ridicule their ridiculessness and is fact hold them up to the light af reason. It is a book of 400 pages with 200 full page pictures it will make you laugh off every vestige of the old superstitions; a good way indeed to get rid of them. Price. board, $1; cloth, $1.50.

MOLLIE FANCHER,

THE AGE OF REASON.

Is a most excellent work by Dr. M.L. Sherman, assisted by Prof. W. F. Lyon. Heretofore it has been sold for $2, but the price now has been reduced to $1. It is a book that will interest and instruct. It contains 280 pages, and is full of suggestive thoughts. Dr. Sherman was a medium of rare qualities, and his work is a reflection from the celestial spheres.

Daniel K. Tenney's BOOKS

Assured by Science...........Price, 6 cts.
The best scientific argument in favor of a future life that has ever before been made.

Jehovah Interviewed, Or Orthodoxy from Headquarters ... Price, 6 cts. A newspaper reporter goes up to heaven and in-terviews Jehovah,

Its, Origin, Career and Destiny Price, so cts.

One of the best and most comprehensive summing up of the absurdities of the Christian Theology that has ever before appeared. Holy Smoke in the Holy Land.

The Plan of Salvation. Price, 10 cts.

In this pamphlet Mr. Tenney shows the absurdity of the Christian "Plan of Salvation" in so clear and plain a manner that any Christian who has a spark of reason left cannot fail to see it. "Owed" to the Clergy. Price, 6 cts.

Modern Theology and Its Ideal Jesus

The Hon, Daniel K. Tenney, the author of theso books, has been for many years the leading law-yer in one of the most distinguished law firms in Chicago, and there is not a more able writer in the Liberal ranks

The Development of the Spirit

VEDANTA PHILOSOPHY.

Lectures by the Swami Vivekacanda, on Raja Pogas or Conquering the Internal Nature, and other subjects; also, Patanjali's Yoga Aphorlams, with commentaries and a copious glosary of Banakrit torms. Revised and enlarged, 12mo., Cloth, $1.60. Raja Yoga is an ancient system of Indian Philosophy, and one of the four chief methods that the Vedanta Philosophy offers to obtain freedom and perfection. By sami Vivekananda became a familiar-figure in several American olitics during the three years following the Parliament of Religious, at Chiesgo; he was cordially received in America, where the breadth and depth of his taxohings were soon recognized. His teachings are universal in their application. The book is charged the several and their special contracts.

Bend three two-cent stamps, lock of bair, age, name and the leading cymptom, and your disease will be diagnosed free by spirit power.

Mrs. Dr. Dobson-Barker. Bex 132, San Jose, Cal

Mrs. Dr. Dobson-Barker.

TESTIMONIALS OF CURE. My Dear Mrs. Dobson-Barker:-I want to say, I have been ailing for thirty years and you are the only one that has done me any good.

MARY JANE PEARCE. Perris, Riverside Co., Cal., Feb. 21

Mrs. Dobson-Barker-Kind Friend:-As I tried your treatment four years ago, and it helped me so much, I will write to you again to see if you are still practicing, and if you are I want to send to you for another month's treat-ment, for I can safely say that you did more for me than all the doctors on earth, and I hope you are well and still practicing. May the good angels bless you, is my prayer. Respectfully, MINA M. YANG.

Pee Dee, Ky., Oct. 20, 1902. Stanton, Mich., Jan. 19, 1902. Mrs. Dr. Dobson-Barker—Dear Sister:—I take my pen in hand to let you know how I am. I thank you and your band for I know I would be in my grave now, but you and your band have saved me. I suffered everything. I am happy to say I am a well woman. I was sick a long time; I do my own work; how I would like to see the woman that cured me. I let every one know who cured me. I war sick twenty-five years. I still remain your friend, AMANDA R. GREEN.

DR. J. S. LOUCKS

Is the eldest and most successful Spiritual Physician now in practice. His cures are THE MOST MARVELOUS of this age. His examinations are correctly made, and free to all who send him name, age, sex and lock of hair, and six cents in slamps. He doesn't nek for any leading symptom. A clairvoyant doesn't need any. He positively cures weak men. Address

J. S. LOUCKS, M. D.,

CHART FREE. By a Bohemian Gypsy Astrologer and Clairvoyant. Send age, color of cyes and hair, in own handwriting. Address GEO. WELLES, Box 130. Newark, N. J. 708

A Tried and True Medium. Clairvoyant, Intuitional and Prophetic. Has consented to give readings by mail for a limited time, to earnest inquirers who are seeking for evidences of a future life. Full readings and three questions answered, by mail, $1. Where date of birth is sent, will give an Astro-Psychic Delineation also. Send own handwriting. Address, MRS. E. DE FOREST.

SPIRIT PHOTOGRAPHS ARTISTS,
Send two dollars, your photograph or lock of hair, and receive three finished pictures from some loved ones that are wating to reach you from the summerland,
Mr. and Mrs. A. Normann.—The three photographs were handed me to-day, and I recognize every face upon them, and I can truthfully say those pictures are genuine, and will recommend you to the world; for such evidence is what proves life eternal, Mrs. Dr. Gregor McGregor.
2834 Chicago ave., Minneapolis, Minn.
Address with stamp enclosed and receive proof
MR. & MRS. A. NORMANN,
2721, Elliott av. So., Minneapolis, Minn.

Gives names, dates and circumstances. Speake in various languages: answers mental questions: convincing the most skeptical. Has come to prove immortality and spirit communion. Develops all phases of mediumship. Magnetized by powerful spirit band. Read what the late Hon. I. Donnelly said of the Speaking Dial. Dials now, $1.50. Send for testimonials. P. J. DEMPSEY Inventor, 2817 Columbus ave., Minneapolis, Minn.

Annie Lord Chamberlain's Card. Dear friends, you can greatly help me care for my blind sister. Jennie L. Webb, one of the earliest mediums now in the form, by writing a lotter to a spirit great. Send it to me with $1, and I will try and get grey by independent writing or whispers. Address its. Annie Lord Chamberiain, Milford, Mass.

"NO BEGINNING."

An Excellent Work for Thinkers.

This book, "No Beginning," is by William H. Maple. The Arena says of it: "The argument is unanswerable. The book will at once appeal to the reason of every reader, and leave him more amazed than ever at the preva-lence of the theory of Creation." The Two has always been a fateful num-Free Thought Ideal says: "We found it full of glittering thoughts for thinkers, and the very death warrant of Christian superstition shines upon its pages." Price 75 cents.

MARK GHESTER,

A Mill and a Million.

This is one of Carlyle Petersilea's most interesting works. It is purely a Psychical Romance such as the author is noted for producing. You need it in your library for the purpose of leading your romance-loving children out into the light of occultism. Price, cloth cover, 60 cts. For sale at this office.

The Rohance of July A story of the Life and Times of "The Nazarine" and of his people. Given Through the mediumship of MHS.M.T. LONGLEY, to Ira C. Fuller, and by him dedicated to humanity. It is enough to know this work came through this excellent medium to recommend it. 174 pages of interesting reading. Price, cloth. 50 cents.

JIM, or The Touch of An Angel Mother. BY CARRIE E. S. TWING,

Her dedicatory lines are sufficient to show the spirit of the book as well as the author, it reads, "Because my own children are all under the tender care of the angels, and my heart is hungry for the love of the young. I most lovingly dedicate this book to the children of the world." This book is full of soul clevating and interesting thought. Price, cloth, $1. For sale at this office.

KAREZZA Bithics of Marriage. By Alice B. Stockham, M. plea for a better birthright for children, and aims to lead individuals to seek a higher development of themselves through most sacrelations. It is pure in tone and aim, a should be widely circulated. Price, cloth, $1.

THE WOMAN'S BIBLE

PART I .-- The Pentateuch.

Comments on Genesis, Exodus, Leviticas, Numbers and Deuteronomy, by Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Lillie Devereux Riake, Rev. Phobe Hanaford, Clara Bewick Colby, Ellen Battelle Deitrick, Mrs. Louisa Southworth, Ursula N.

THE WOMAN'S BIBLE .-- PART II. Judges, Kings, Prophets and Apostics. Comments on the Old and New Testaments, from Joshua to Revelation. The comments are keen, bright, spicy, fell of wit, the work of radical thinkers who are not ignorant of the higher criticism. There is not a doll page in either of these books, but each its a galaxy. Of the bright minds of the day and throw a new light on the Bible teachings relating to woman. Frice of each, paper, to canta.

G. WALTER LYNN

Healer and Gifted Psychic.

HEALTH RESTORED

By Common Sense Methode For the Cure of Mental and Physical Aliments.

OBSESSION CURED.

For Free Diagnosis of Disease send five two-cent stamps, age, name sex and own handwriting.

READINGS AND BUSINESS VICE $1.00 and two stamps.

Address 855 Grove 8s., Oakland, Cal

Write for Circular JORY'S TONIC TABLETS

A Itus Nate Toole and Bloof Builder.

An ideal restorative tonic for the oure of General Debility and the various forms of nervous and physical depression, Melancholia, Nervous Dyspepsis, Torpid Liver, Weak Kidneys, Chronic Backache, poor circuiation, poor appetite, poor sleep, poor blood, etc., and for inproving the tone of the general nervous system, the digestive functions and the blood. 80 doses, 76c; 100 doses $1.25! Postage prepaid.

Write for Circular.

JORY'S BOWEL TONIC
For Constipation, Headache, Etc.
Are not a Purgative, but induce a Natural Healthy Action of the Bowels. 86 tablets, 25c. Postage prepaid. Prepared only by

H. M. JORY, Manufacturing Chemist.
6 Eddy Street, San Francisco, Cal.

A Very Interesting Book tor All,
Philosophy of This work contains a graphic series of the very wonderful spiritual developments at the house of Rev. Dr. Phelps, Stratford, Conn., and similar cases in all parts of the country. This volume is the first from the author directly upon the subject of Spiritualism, and has stood the test of many years. Cloth, $1,20; postage 100.

THE TO-MORROW OF DEATH. Or the Future Life According to Science. By Louis Figuier. Translated from the French by S. R. Crockee. A very fuscinating work. This fine volume might well have been entitled Spiritualism Demonstrated by Science. It is written in that poculiar interesting style in which French writers excel when they would popularize scientific subjects in adaptation to the needs of the general reader. The author says "There is a true and respectable idea in Spiritualism," and regards as proved "the fact of communication between superhumans and the inhabitants of earth." Price, $1.50.

STARTLING FACTS, Deeds of Darkness Disclosed

This work devotes special attention to Auricular Confession and its relations to sacerdotal cellbacy, convents, monasteries, morality and civil and religious liberty. It is intended to be an embodiment of facts and documentary evidence of the pernicious influence of the confessional; a trenchant showing up of Romanism, based upon standard Catholic authorities; an eye-opener concerning the methods and spirit, the moral turpitude and evil works of Ro manism. Cloth, 75 cents. The Science of Spirit Return. By Charles Dawbarn. A scientific rehearsal that is truly interesting. Price, 10 cents.

A NEW GATEGHISM, BY M. M. MANGASARIAN.

This is a new "Catechism" in the full sense of the word. There has as yet appeared in the world of lib eral literature nothing like this most wonderful little book or reason. E. P. Powell, the well-known author, the reviewer and critic, says: "The remarkable thing about this 'Catechism' is that it tells the truth." Is deals with the questions of God. Immortality-the Creeds, the Ciergy, the Church, Preyer and Salvati Jesus and his Teaching, the Growth of the Christian Soriptures, and many other philosophical, scientific and ethical questions with the utmost candor, cour-

THE DIAKKA. The Diakka and Their Earthly Victims. By the Seor A. J. Davis. A very interesting and suggestive work. It is an explanation of much that is false and repulsive in Spiritualism, embodying a most important recent interview with James Victor Wilson, a resident of Summer Land. Price, 50 cents.

age and clearness. 188 pages. Cloth 75c; paper, 50c

MRHOMET His Birth, Character and Doctrine. By Edward Gibbon. This is No. 6 of the Library of Liberal Classics. It is conceded to be historically correct, and so exact and perfect in every detail as to be practically beyond the reach of adverse criticism. This work will be found intensely interesting. Price, 25 cents.

BIBLE MARVEL WORKERS, And the wondrous power which helped or made them perform mighty works and utter inspired words, together with some Personal Traits and Characteristics of Prophets, Apostles, and Jesus, or New Readings of "The Mracles. By Allen Putnam. Price, 75 cents.

WISDOM OF THE AGES.

Revelations from Zertoulem, the Prophet of Tlaskanata.

A Mine of Valuable Reflections and Suggestions. This work was automatically transcribed by George A. Fuller, M. D., a gentleman who stands high as a lecturer and medium. It is a mine of valuable reflections and suggestions. paragraphs are short, suggestive and inspiring. Every one of them leads to something higher, grander, nobler,

LIGHT OF EGYPT.

The Second Volume of a Most Valuable Work.

This is the author's posthumous work left in MS. to a few of his private pupils in occultism, and like Volume I. is (a valuable addition and) a library on occult subjects. Spiritual astrology in especially elaborated. Alchemy, Talismans, the Magic Wand, Symbolisma Correspondence, Penetralia, etc., are a few of the subjects treated of in scholarly and masterly manner, showing the author to be familiar with his subjects. You cannot afford to be without it, as well as all his other books. viz.: The Light of Egypt, Vol. I., bound in cloth, $2; paper, $1. The Light of Egypt, Vol. II., bound in cloth only, $2, Celestial Dynamics, cloth, $1.

Apocryphal New Testament,

Being all the Gospels, Epistles, and other pleese now extant, attributed in the first four centu-ries to Jesus Christ, list apostles and their com-panions, and not included in the Now Testamens, by its compilers. Price, cloth, $1.52.

Private Sanitarium

All those who desire te become patients, should

Terms for treatment will be made known on

66 Highland Ave., Newtonville, Mass.

Waukesha Camp-meeting. Dale or Chautauqua, as well as from the Many questions relative to the Wau- west. Cleveland, Ohio. Anaconda, Montana, To the Editor:-I went to Butte and pers, advantages, etc.

The talent that will be presented on that work will be short, I hope, after we Tents can be secured on the grounds Sister Albright while at Clinton, that short, everything is being done to make she was quite right. There is work this camp-meeting a success in every here and plenty of it, and the people ruction to all who attend.

As for Waukesha, it is so widely would like, but do the best I can, and

The Two Reports.

The Railroads and Lily Dale. Since the change at Lily Dale, R. S. One year in the summer country-Wallace, the live division passenger agent of the Erie railroad has estab-To the beauteous hills immortal, lished the low rate of $20 from Chicago, $15.75 from Cincinnati, $5.75 from Cleveland to Lily Dale and return, good to October. The Erie railway was never It touches the silent border

PASSED TO SPIRIT LIFE.

[Obituaries to the extent of ten lines only will be inserted free. All in excess of ten lines will be charged at the rate of fifteen cents per line. About seven words constitute one line 1 Emily Butler, of Andover, Ohio, passed to spirit life, June 6, at the age of 92. She was an advanced Spiritualist, and her beautiful life was a comfort and inspiration to all who were fortunate enough to know her. She desired a Spiritualist service and her every wish was compiled with. The services were held at the home of her son, E. D. Butler, and were conducted by the undersigned.

JOHN WALLACE.

Buried with great honor, Mrs. Kun-gunda Hirschman, a noted medium of the Northwest Side, Chicago, Ill. She passed to spirit life, June 5, aged 44 years. Her body lay in state in the public hall where Spiritualists hold their services, Ashland avenue and 13th street. The society of which she was a member, Licht Der Warehelte, No. 1, turned out in a body and several other Spiritualistic societies of the West Side. Many seekers heard the sermon delivered by Mrs. W. F. Schumacher, which left a deep impression on all present. The hall was draped in purple and white floates. Over the casket hung a cluster of our emblem, the sunflowers, and from it Easter lilies, symthat she had risen. Many sympathy for the bereaved daughter and husband.

The above pamphlet, if widely circu-

The Metropolitan Spiritualist Society

others. Plenty of good music.

The Progressive Society holds serv-by Mrs. Schwann and other good speakers. Tests and good music at all serv-The Spiritual Research meets every Good music and singing. All are in-Spiritual Union Church meets every Sunday at John Schott's Lodge Hall, corner Belmont and Racine avenue. Speaker, Hon. R. Gilray; Charles J. Peterson, Prof. Edwards and Mr. G. A. Cowen, test mediums. Services, 8 p. m. The Spiritualistic Church of the Students of Nature hold services at service at Thurman Club Room, corner of 47th street and Cottage Grove ave | the Year 200," etc. A condensed statenue, every Sunday. Conference at 8 p. ment of facts concerning the efforts of m. Lecture at 8 p. m. Conducted by Isa Cleveland.

Third Church of Progressive Truth

sages at 8 p. m. sharp. Chicago Spiritual Alliance Church

Drake. Mrs. May Elmo, medium.

The Brotherhood of Spiritual Truth Society meets Sunday at 8 p. m. Services conducted by J. K. Hilles and wife Meetings evenings at 7: 45, at 205 Lincoln avenue, | per, 50 cents.

The Brooklyn Enigma. An authentic statement of facts in the life of Mary J. Fancher, the psychological marvel of the nineteenth century. Unimpeachable testi-mony of many witnesses. By Abram H. Dailey. With illustrations. Price, cloth. $1.50.

By Thomas Paine. Being an investigation of True and Fabulous Theology. A new and com-plete edition, from new plates and new type; 186 pages, post 8vo. Paper 25; cloth. 50c. THE GOSPEL OF NATURE

Never-Ending Life,

Theology,

Price, to cts. Susan H. Wixon says: "I have read, first and last, many accounts of Palestine, or "the Holy Land," but have never seen anything in that line that pleased me so well as this description by Daniel K. Tenney."

An address read before the Free Thought Congress held in Paine Hall, Boston, Nov. 17th, 1899. The Master's Masterpiece, Or the Sermon on the Mount Price, 10 cts. This is the most thorough exposition of the fal-lacies of this noted "sermon" that was ever be-fore published.

The absurdities of the reputed teachings of Jesus are here shown up as no other writer has ever presented them before, which will convince any honest reader that the most of them are con-

After Transition. By the late M. Faraday. The origin of religious, and their influence upon the material development of the human race. Transcribed at the request of a band of ancient philosophers. Price, 10 cents.

EPHOGRESSWEIFI One number of The Progressive Thinker is often worth one deliar... It is sent one year for that amount.

The Progressive Thinker is the great Educator of the Present Age... Induce your neighbor to subscribe for it. SPIRITUALISM—Progress, the Universal Law of Nature: Thought, the Solvent of Her Problems.—SPIRITUALISM

VOL. 28.

OHICAGO, ILL., JUNE 27. 1903.

NO. 709.

MORRIS PRATT INSTITUTE.

Answers to Questions Propounded by the Editor.

Pratt Institute during the past year, should create such a disturbed condi-tion of affairs, I am also glad that Brother Francis has put into print the and contradictions, and may feel that it many question he has asked; and that many question he has asked; and that other, no doubt, have weighed careothers, no doubt, have weighed care as a mass ready to accept it in that fully during the year; but I am sur-light? I am reminded of the different prised that he should say: "Notwithstanding the Morris Pratt Institute was advertised widely in all Spiritualist pa-of Denver, requesting me to get Mr. pers, it attracted only a dozen scholars Hull to come to that city to deliver pers, it attracted only a dozen scholars and some of them are charity students. In order to carry on the school with that number, contributions have been called for continuously, and yet there

-First, let me say, the number of stuwork and were not enrolled as in steady he is? attendance; and as for the "charity pu- Fifth. It seems to me this is the five dollars for each of these pupils had been deposited towards their scholar.

Sixth. It may be "exceptionally bad been deposited towards their scholar-ship in advance; and if the school had paid such wages as any ordinary servant girl would have demanded, they could easily have paid their own way. As it is, I am willing to leave it to the ums"; but for several years previous to judgment of any impartial mind to answer if they did not pay their way?

running expenses. I have plainly that it was the cause of non-support of stated in all my articles that we were the home, but there has been ample taught our class as "homlletics," as a that our poor mediums and half-paid that our poor mediums and half-paid that our poor mediums and half-paid obliged to put in a heating plant, time for the thorough establishment of part of the "training" and the trade of plumbing, sewer, furniture, and make a home or homes in the country before repairs on floor, and floors in the base- ever the school was thought of, and Looking back at that ecclesiastical ment, and that the money we were so there certainly had been repeated apliciting was for that purpose. At the time my report was written the one tell me why it was not successful amount was over eight hundred dollars. then? It certainly was not the fault of It is now less than five hundred. fourteen hundred and fifty for heating fund for the support of the school, I beplant, two hundred on the plumbing lieve I am correct when I say every colbill, and nearly one hundred in small lege and university has been started accounts, which includes balance on that way. It is not long since the facoal (one serious item last year) and mous Chicago University was asking for painting the roof (about 18). This funds in that same manner. It is less amount, it seems to me, should not be than two years, I believe, since, Beloit considered so large as to become a bug- College (now fifty years old) first beear, or classed as an incubus.

Now, please allow me to give what might go through the list of schools in bear, or classed as an incubus.

appears to me a reasonable answer to this same manner. Have they all disthe eleven questions asked by our good played bad taste?

tute is to be continued?

By all means, yes. But first, let us have the "large committee of educated and other old writers; but, will say the education of others to take enough in- and often where there are, there is interest in the welfare of the school to do something towards making that school are not satisfactory. The psychic room a possibility to have a course of studies takes the place of the chemist's laboraarranged, rather than stand aside and tory, where psychic laws are tested and condemn those who have not only made taught and the best results watched for, the effort to keep the school on earth, These things cannot be taught in books. but have arranged, as well as taught, All up-to-date thinkers recognize this the studies that have constituted the fact. curriculum during the past year.

of the branches taught can be studied of the magnificent non-sectarian High the teachers have no superiors.

ing because of the illiteracy of the cept it was given "without any strings' pupils are past the school age, it is as attitude in that direction. expensive to attend that as any other Ninth. workers have not gone through the Horse sense would not provide homes Grammar schools. could not enter the High School; and if man sense nor human needs will call they were advanced enough to do so, out sympathy enough to put away the they would be obliged to take up studies selfishness of mankind. that, to the average adult, would be of little or no service, as it does not re- tainly the pride of this country, but quire the many branches that come un- where is there a lawyer, a physician, a der the curriculum of High School now- specialist who is "up-to-date" that has adays, and that pupils are obliged to not attended a school for his special study to be able to speak and teach the profession? Even teachers, nowadays English language acceptably. The must pass a special examination and in students who most appreciate the Mor- order to be admitted as teacher in any ris Pratt Institute are of the class who city schools must have the special have not had these privileges, and yet teachers' course in State Normal, or by having the chance to take such other schools for that purpose. Why studies as are most needed, have made should not Spiritualist speakers as well more progress in the past school year as all others, including orthodox ministhan they could possibly have made in ters, have a special drill and education twice that time in the regular High for their work? All other ministers School; and "refinement and culture" are expected to have, and if not they has marked the lady and gentleman of are soon relegated to the background.

ed in voice and physical culture to any reliable physician in the locality where fitted for until they are tested is a hard he lives and get his opinion whether thing, and I doubt if we will find an av-

To the Editor:—While I regret that taught in books or magazines. I have my report of the work of the Morris grave doubts on that subject. Fourth. Is the Bible an obsolete

We may know of the inconsistencies ones, men of culture and education, who came to me last winter in the city three or four lectures on the Bible. One of them said to me, "I would walk twenty miles to hear Moses Hull talk one hour on the Bible." They will pay is a large deficit which hangs like an his expenses and pay him for his time incubus over the Institute." or four lectures. Would it not be prefdents is incorrect by a count of two regular students and a number who where class pupils, that took special that have made him the teacher that pils," had we taken those who desired strongest point in favor of the school. to come in that way we might easily We have veteran workers who are have had a class of fifty, as fully that scholars—many of them graduates from number have written they wanted to the High Schools and Universities of come if we had a scholarship fund that our country—yet they have missed the would permit them to enter; but, as it very education needed to go out in the was, three scholars have worked out world as a public speaker and lecturer part of their account. Two young ladies on the Spiritualist rostrum. With few have done the dining-room work, caring exceptions this is true, and while these for and waiting on tables, keeping the mediums are all that could be desired, room in order, looking after the dormi- they have used the old method of attory and linen, keeping bath-room and tacking the Bible and all religious sects, class-rooms in order, assisting with instead of learning them and using froning, and otherwise helping when them as articles of defense. They called upon. The other one, a lady who have been used as articles of offense, left her home to become a student, but and the masses will not support the peron account of scarcity of help, went into sons who adopt that method. Hence, the kitchen and cooked for from fifteen many are without employment, that deto seventeen persons for months, with the assistance of Mrs. Weaver, who is the worthy wife of the superintendent.

It is but that to say that receive the worthy wife of the superintendent. It is but just to say that nearly thirty- bring support to the teachers, let us taste to start a Spiritualistic school to hands about as high as our chins, the be supported largely by begging contri-butions while there is not a single endowed home for sick and needy medithe starting of the school, it was attempted to found a home for sick and the importance of neatly tying our Second. The "large deficit" that needy mediums. If the school had been started, it might perhaps be justly said peals made for that purpose. Will some is now less than five hundred an enterprise that had not been given BORN. NOT MANUFACTURED IN bere remains yet two hundred of the birth, and as to the begging to create a PRATT INSTITUTES, OR THEOLOG-

Seventh. We might ask in reply to First. Should not the list of studies this question, why should we support be arranged by a large committee of the different periodicals, magazines, Spiritualists, if the Morris Pratt Insti- etc., when there is the old Banner of Light, nearly fifty years old; A. J. Davis' works, Emma Hardinge Britten's who care enough for the truth is, there are few home circles; harmony and discord, and the results

Eighth. I fail to see what benefit it Second. Should Spiritualists be called will be for the National Association to upon to support a school where many examine the curriculum of the High Schools with a view to remedy the equally as well, if not far better, in any evils of the Morris Pratt Institute, since it is not under the management of Schools now conducted throughout the that body any more than under the illi country? Such schools have the air of nois or any other state association. It refinement, culture and efficiency, and was proposed by "Father Pratt" that the N. S. A take the property for the Educated Spiritualists have for years purpose of making a school of it, but deserted the average Spiritualist meet. they thought they could not take it exspeakers, and their cry has been for ed- to it, and Mr Pratt finally deeded it to ucated teachers. If the public schools a board of trustees who are an incorpocould furnish these, why have we not rated body within themselves I have had them? Brother Francis must not always hoped the N. S. A. would yet forget that to enter High School, one mother the first Spiritualist college or must have a fair understanding of the school, but that hope is now leaving me, Primary, Grammar course, and that if since I have been made to feel its real

Common sense - human Many of our mediums and sense is what we should aim for. Consequently, they for the sick; and I sometimes think hu-

Tenth. The public schools are certhe class of 1903. The teachers are well Eleventh. I would like to ask Brother known and need no words from pen. Francis if he ever found a man or we-Francis if he ever found a man or wo-Third. I would like in reply to ques- man in the printing business who was tion three, to refer any person interest not thoroughly adapted to the work? To "absolutely know" what people are made, and one of the strongest arguments that have heretofore been made s that some of our best mediums are not graduates from any school—Grammar nor High School. Certainly, with an education, they would be able to give their messages to the world much more acceptably.

In conclusion, let me say, I-am not an officer of the N. S. A., but since the Institute is not under the management of the N. S. A., I cannot understand why all Spiritualists should not consider, and answer these questions, and as my article provoked the reply from which I have copied, I feel that it is but just I should be heard in answer to these queries, and trust I may be given a hearing in your next issue.

Respectfully,
CLARA L. STEWART.
Whitewater, Wis.

THE ISSUE.

The Eminent Traveler and Author, or the Morris Pratt Institute.

Noting the issue so plainly put before Spiritualists in last week's Progressive Thinker, touching the comparative merits and necessities of the Pratt Institute, and the "sick, needy mediums," and the "infirm, worn-out speakers," ! have no hesitancy in saying, the mediums and the infirm lecturers first-first and always.

I am an ardent believer in education, an all-round education, one that takes in health, instructions in hygiene, calisthenics, good bread-making and scientific method of planting corn, hoeing and digging potatoes. The teachings at the Morris Pratt Institute, included in the curriculum, involve homiletics—the art of preaching. This reminds me of my homiletic drilling before entering the Christian ministry. Once I remember our lesson was the 24th Psalm of David, the last four verses of which, when studying, we were told to stand up and preach to the class before the professors. We were told when saying, "Who is the king of glory," to raise the right hand and look upward. This implied reverence. And when repeating, "Lift up your heads, O ye gates," we were told to lift our palms open, and at the same time look up towards heaven. We were further told how to pose in the pulpit, how to graciously bend forward in the attitude of prayer; and we were impressed with white cravats, because so much more attractive to the ladies in the audience drilling from my present standpoint, I consider it an injury, rather than bene-

PREACHERS, LIKE POETS, ARE ICAL SEMINARIES.

Predicating greatness upon goodness, mental and moral development, and a high spiritual unfoldment, I pronounce Andrew Jackson Davis and Hudson Tuttle among the greatest, if not the greatest men on earth to-day. They were not educated. I might pronounce almost similar encomiums of greatness upon Colville, Morse, Wallis, Fuller, Edgerly, Ring, Kates, Howe, Sprague, Mrs. Richmond, Mrs. Lillie, Mrs. Hull, Mrs. Hagan-Brown, Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Longley, Mrs. Carpenter, and others who have NEVER BEEN DRILLED IN ANY "HOMILETIC TRAINING SCHOOL." But, afire with energy, self-educated, or educated in scance rooms, and by exalted spiritual intelligences, they have gone forth speaking the truth in living, burning words of eloquence, charming and spiritually uplifting the listening multitude. of these-all of them, in fact-are sen sitives; others are test mediums, dem onstrating a future life and voicing cheering communications of comfort to tearful eyes and mourning hearts. Considering these facts with the ad ditional fact of our numerous High Schools with their physics, their culture and marked efficiency, and others that might be named, I see little more use for the Morris Pratt Institute, with its meager appurtenances and minus "sets" of apparatus for teaching the physical sciences, chemistry, electricity, biology, etc., THAN I DO FOR THE

FIFTH WHEEL TO A WAGON. Certainly, it is needless to say that cherish only the most fraternal feelings to those engaged in this Morris Pratt enterprise, and accordingly I have said and written kindly words of its teachers and their work, and I say now that those who want homiletic training in this institute—a sort of a family institute, should get it and pay for it. This is their privilege; but my first duty is to sick and suffering mediums, to weary-footed lecturers, to the worthy N. S. A., to the Carlisle Indian School, to the pariahs of India, and to the poor, ignorant, yet beautiful Buddhist children of Ceylon. HUMANITY ONE. MY PARISH IS THE WORLD! When in Colombo, Ceylon, a few years ago and learning of the strenuous morts of the missionary sectarists to educate Buddhist girls to bring them into orthodox folds, I gladly contributed $300 to the Museus School near the Cinnamon Gardens, conducted by Mrs. Higgins, a Theosophist, for the education of poor Buddhist girls. A Buddhist monk came once a week, teaching them to walk in the eight-fold oath leading up to Nirvana. These cirls, ranging from seven to fifteen and wenty years of age, were being taught the English language, cooking, cutting garments, sewing, mending, reading, music, and all the better industries of reading, life. But I am wandering.

Concerning this pending "issue," my sympathies are thoroughly on the side of "raising funds for needy mediums," establishing society and lyceum libraries and other practical work. Brothers H. D. Barrett, F. A. Wiggin, A. J. Weaver, and a few other workers are growing body of Spiritualists. all that is desired in that line can be ocation in life where mistakes are not college of university edwared. Brother

TO THE PUBLIC.

A Word From the N. S. A. Secretary, In Re the Morris Pratt College.

As I am receiving letters of inquiry as to how much the N. S. A. is involved in the affairs of the Morris Pratt College, and whether the college is operated under the auspices of the National Association, also if this N. S. A. owns the Whitewater property, a few words of explanation may not be out of place on this subject. First, the N. S. A. does not own the Whitewater college, nor has the N. S.

A. any jurisdiction over the college, its tutorship, or its affairs. Before the college board was established the offer of the college was made to the N. S. A., with the proviso, that ten thousand dol-lars be raised towards its establishment and equipment—an offer which the N. S. A. trustees declined to accept. Subsequently, the college board was formed and the college started entirely independent of the N. S. A. though the latter, to show its good will to the en-terprise, and its interest in the object of education, gave three hundred dollars towards the opening of the college. At N. S. A. convention in Boston, a charter was granted to the Morris Pratt Institute Association, the purpose of which is "To Promote Education," but it was then distinctly understood, that in no way could this chartering of the Association—which is not the college, but the association of the college-affect the N. S. A. as to the work, methods, expense or other affairs of the school or its property. Therefore the N. S. A. has absolutely no responsibility in the matter of the college other than any or every Spiritualist in the land may have in its affairs—or responsibility which rests on individual interest or orbits. est or opinion alone, with no official duty or obligation.

I make these explanations that the public may be disabused; of the idea, that the N. S. A. in any sense includes the work and affairs of the college in its own distinctive work and responsi-MARY T. LONGLEY,

Washington, D. C.

Some Pointed Words in Reference to the Morris Pratt Institute. One of our leading scholars and workers, a college graduate, writes as follows: "Your article in The Progressive Thinker on the Morris Pratt Institute, was timely; in fact, I wanted to put a speakers should be taught the art of ceived their inspiration and educational unfoldment fresh from the spirit world. Finney, and others. I am not saying a word against educated speakers, but personally I prefer an inspirational lecture, full of grand thoughts and sublime ideas, influxed from the spiritual world. to a cold, scholastically prepared sermon, such as I have often heard in Unitarian pulpits. They are comparable only to icicles. They bill. They are not enthusing and uplifting. But pardon me, I am not lecturing, but only showing my appreciation of your position in regard to education and the care of poor mediums and worn-out speak-

SPRING ECHOES.

Ye waft, spring breezes, waft to me Sweet echoes of the long ago, and bear upon your fragrant breath Their tender strains, their rhythmic flow.

see again the orchard blooms, I hear a sudden whir of wings, And half-concealed in yonder copse Her plaintive note the blackbird sings.

At even, the distant reedy marsh Is vocal with the hyla's trill. Each sign of the reviving year, Wakes in my heart an answering

The young girl lingering listening Myself, that bygone time was she, Amid the vernal blooms she stood, Receiving Nature's ministry.

Her music, fragrance and her bloom Of life! "Twas love's baptisma hour. Her living fount of strength unsealed

With its supreme uplifting power. And so May breezes waft to me, Commingling with life's minor keys psalm, whose full vibrations swell With love's immortal harmonies. HELEN R. BARNSDALL. Buffalo, N. Y.

Moses Hull is not, and ret he lectures well and long, especially upon Bible texts and themes. It has never been my misfortune, however, to hear from our platforms such terrific mistakes as that "John Wesley borned Servetus for non-belief in infant damnation;" and others mentioned by Brother Hull. and Universally, do I search for roses rather than thorns, for sound apples in heavily laden orchards, rather than imperfecones; and then pure crystal water tastes just as sweet to me when I am thirsty, from an honest farmer's gourd, as from a tinsel-decorated cup of gold. Often do I tire of sermons from the "educated," but never from hearing the beautiful messages that drop like pearls from sensitives lips—lips aftre with divine truths, fresh and inspiring from the angel howes of immerality. the angel homes of immortality. To me the issue is a very plain one, and the oditor of The Progressive Thinker is to be congratulated for making it so clear and prominent, before the great

S. M. POHBLUS, M. D.

PRESIDENT OF THE N. S..A

He Appeals for a High Standard of Admission to the Morris Pratt Institute.

To the Editor:-My attention has been called to your eleven questions published on the first page of your issue of June 13. It has been suggested that I should, as president of the N. S. A., heed your request at the close of your article by responding to your queries there propounded. As president of the N. S. A., I am, under the constitution of the Morris Pratt Institute, a member of its board of trustees, and I feel as if the position in which I am now placed is rather a delicate one, as my words may be misconstrued by some and considered as captious criticism by others. I am interested in both organizations and desirous that both should prosper, hence my statements must be interpreted in spirit as well as in letter by those who shall read these lines. In response to your first question my answer would be yes.

The reply to the second question would be that it would depend upon circumstances. If our present system of cramming, that now obtains in the high schools of the land, by means of which hundreds of brainy boys and girls are driven into early graves, their eye-sight impaired and their reason dethroned, is to be continued, I should most emphatically declare in favor of having the branches as taught in these high schools represented in the Morris Pratt Institute. Furthermore, there should be a spiritual side to all instruction, and in my experience of seven years as a teacher of district and high schools, I am in a position to declare that this spiritual impress is largely wanting. With these conditions radically changed, a negative answer to your question would be the proper one. Your third query is answered by the suggestion that many students are often ignorant of the means by which they can preserve their health, and if physical culture will tend to instruct them in the care of their own physical forms and mental attributes, I should certainly be in favor of that branch being taught in Spiritualistic schools.

Question four has often been answered in the Spiritualist papers during the past few years. No one denies the contradictions of the Bible, or that some of its pages are obscene. No one denies that aur ancestors made many mistakes in regard to the subject of religion, but as progressive thinkers, we are not obliged to make the mistakes our fathers did, nor are we compelled to deal with contradictions or obscenity that our poor mediums and half-paid in any book unless we so elect. There lecturers should be cared for in their sickness and poverty than that new and by taking possession of them in the right spirit we have the surest weapon preaching. Davis, Tuttle, Mrs. Rich-mond, Colville, Wallis—our ablest speakers to-day, and those in the past were not educated in colleges, but re- the fact that they are Spiritualists and did not know it. I do not know that I am in favor of adding any other special Such was that brilliant man, Selden J. exegesis to the many that now exist, but I am in favor of making use of weapons of warfare held by our opponents when they enter the arena of thought. By so doing we can easily put them to rout, win them to our own standard and lead them to higher and more spiritual states of mind. In dealing with question five, permit me to say that in view of the fact, that we have less than twenty platform speakers in the ranks of Spiritualism to-day under forty years of age, it is apparent that we must do something to find those who will take the places of the "old and eloquent veterans" when they are past labor. I believe they should be given employment so long as they are able to fill their positions as servants of the angel world, but I do not find that that in any way conflicts with the necessity of selecting young and energetic workers to fill the places of these noble veterans when they have passed the period of active service. With regard to question six, my po sition is this: I believe in pensions for our brother and sister speakers and mediums, no particular home or elecmosynary institution into which they would be placed with the feeling that they were objects of public charity. It is true that I have been an earnest advocate of homes for our needy ones for many years, and have contributed to the best of my ability to such objects, and I shall not relax my efforts to establish at least one such institution for the special purpose under consideration but I frankly confess that I now feel that such a home would be largely in the nature of an experiment, and be lieve that the present work of the N. S. A. in pensioning our needy ones is the best method of all those so far brought to my attention. If the fifteen millions of Spiritualists to whom Moses Hull

